<sup>5</sup> From the time that I brought my people out of Egypt, I have never chosen a city in Israel in which a temple should be built for people to worship me there. Nor did I choose anyone to be the leader of my Israelite people.<sup>6</sup> But now I have chosen Jerusalem to be the place for people to worship me, and I have chosen you, David, to rule my Israelite people."

<sup>10</sup> And Yahweh has done what he promised to do. I have become the king of Israel to rule after my father, and I am ruling the people, as Yahweh promised, and I have arranged for this temple to be built for us to worship Yahweh, the God to whom we Israelites belong.<sup>11</sup> I have put the sacred chest in the temple, in which are the stone tablets showing the covenant that Yahweh made with us Israelite people."

hands as he began to pray.<sup>13</sup> Now His workers had built a bronze platform there for him to stand on, which was two and one-third meters square and one and one-half meters high. They had put it in the outer courtyard. Solomon mounted that platform and then knelt down in front of all the people of Israel who had gathered there, and he spread out his arms toward heaven.<sup>14</sup> Then he prayed,

"Yahweh, the God to whom we Israelite people belong, there is no God like you in heaven or on the earth. You solemnly promised in your covenant that you would faithfully love us, and that is what you have done for us who earnestly do what you want us to do.

<sup>15</sup> You have done the things that you promised my father David, who served you very well, that you would do. Truly, you promised to do those things for him, and today we see that by your power you have caused it all to happen.

<sup>16</sup> So now, Yahweh, the God we Israelites worship Israel, as you promised your servant David, my father, please make sure that he will always have a descendant who will be king of Israel. For you promise you would do this if his descendants were faithful to you.<sup>17</sup> So now, God of us Israelite people, cause what you promised David, who served you well, to become true.

<sup>18</sup> But, my God, will you really live on earth among us? This temple I have built cannot contain you; not even the universe and heaven itself can contain you.<sup>19</sup> But Yahweh, my God, please listen to my prayer, while I am pleading with this day and do what I am requesting.<sup>20</sup> Always protect this temple, this place where you said you would be present, in order that you might always hear me when I pray, for I am your servant.<sup>21</sup> Listen to me when I pray, and listen to your Israelite people when they pray, whether we are here, or even if we just face in this direction. Listen from heaven, where you live; and when you hear us pray, forgive us.

not do that; may God punish me if I am not telling the truth,'<sup>23</sup> then please listen from heaven and decide who is telling the truth. Then punish the person who is guilty as he deserves to be punished, and do good to the other person as a reward for his innocence.

<sup>24</sup> And suppose that your Israelite people are defeated by their enemies because they sinned against you, and forced to go to some distant country. Suppose further that they turn away from their sinful behavior and face in the direction of this temple and acknowledge that you have justly punished them; and suppose that they beg you to forgive them.<sup>25</sup> Then please listen to them from heaven and forgive your them for the sins that they have committed, and bring them back to this land that you gave to our ancestors.

<sup>28</sup> And when the people of this land experience famines, or if there is a plague or mildew or locusts or grasshoppers, or when their enemies surround any of their cities in order to attack them—if any of these disaster happens to them—<sup>29</sup> and then if your Israelite people earnestly plead, or if even just one person does so—if they stretch out their hands toward this temple and pray to you because they know the weakness and sorrow in their own hearts—<sup>30</sup> then listen from your home in heaven and forgive them. You alone know what each person is thinking, so reward each person according to everything that he does.<sup>31</sup> Do this in order that they might honor you and conduct their lives as you want them to, all the time that they live in this land that you gave to our ancestors.

because they have heard that you are very great and powerful. If they turn toward this temple and pray,<sup>33</sup> then from your home in heaven please listen to their prayer and do for them what they request you to do. Do that in order that all the people groups in the world will honor and obey you, as your people of Israel do. And do this so that they will know that you are present in this temple that I have built.

<sup>34</sup> When you send your people to go and attack their enemies, if they pray to you, no matter where they are, and if they turn toward this city that you have chosen and toward this temple that I have caused to be built to honor you,<sup>35</sup> then will you please listen from heaven to their prayers. Listen to what they plead for you to do, and give them help.

<sup>36</sup> It is true that everyone sins. So when your people sin against you, and you become angry with them, you might allow their enemies to capture them and take them to their countries, even to countries that are far away.<sup>37</sup> When that happens, while they are in those distant countries, if they say 'We have sinned; we have done things that are wrong and have done things that are very wicked,'<sup>38</sup> suppose that they repent very sincerely and pray facing this land that you gave their ancestors, and facing this city that you chose, and facing this temple that I have built for you to be present in.<sup>39</sup> Then from your home in heaven listen to their prayer, and listen to them while they plead for your help, and do what they ask you to do, and forgive your people who have sinned against you.

<sup>41</sup> Yahweh our God, come and stay in this place with the sacred chest, the chest that shows that you are powerful.

Yahweh God, cause your priests to know clearly that you have rescued them. Cause us your people to rejoice because of all the good things that you do for us.

<sup>42</sup> Yahweh God, do not reject me, the king whom you appointed to be the king of Israel;

do not forget how faithfully were to David, your servant, because of your covenant with him."

7 When Solomon finished praying, fire came down from the sky and burned up the animals that the people had sacrificed, as well as the other offerings. And the power and light of Yahweh filled the temple. <sup>2</sup>The light was extremely bright, with the result that the priests could not enter the temple of Yahweh. <sup>3</sup>When all the Israelite people who were there saw the fire coming down and the light of Yahweh above the temple, they prostrated themselves with their faces touching the stone pavement. They worshiped and thanked Yahweh, saying,

"Yahweh is always good to us;
he will love us forever, as he promised to do."

<sup>4-5</sup> Then the king and all the people who were there dedicated the temple to Yahweh by offering more sacrifices to him. King Solomon offered twenty-two thousand cattle and 120,000 sheep and goats to be sacrificed. <sup>6</sup>The priests stood in their positions, and the other descendants of Levi stood in their positions holding the musical instruments to praise Yahweh, instruments that King David had ordered to be made for praising Yahweh and thanking him. They sang, "He faithfully loves us forever." Opposite the other descendants of Levi the priests stood, blowing their trumpets, while all the Israelite people were standing and listening.

<sup>7</sup> Solomon dedicated the middle part of the courtyard in front of the temple. Then he presented offerings to be completely burned there along with the fat of the animals to be sacrificed to maintain fellowship with Yahweh. The priests burned them there in the courtyard because in addition to those things there were offerings of flour, with the result that there was not enough space on the bronze altar to burn all those sacrifices.

<sup>8</sup> Solomon and the other people celebrated the Festival of Shelters for seven days. There was a huge group of people who celebrated with him. Some of them came from as far away as Lebohamath in the far north and from the border of Egypt in the far south. <sup>9</sup>On the eighth day they gathered again to worship Yahweh. They had celebrated the dedication of the altar for seven days and the Festival of Shelters for seven days. <sup>10</sup>Then on the next day Solomon sent them to their homes. They were very joyful because of all the good things that Yahweh had done for David and Solomon and for all his Israelite people.

<sup>11</sup>In this way, Solomon's workers finished building the temple and Solomon's palace. And Solomon finished doing everything else that he had planned to do. <sup>12</sup>Then Yahweh appeared to him one night in a dream and said to him, "I have heard your prayer, and I have chosen this temple to be the place where my people will offer sacrifices to me.

<sup>13</sup>When I prevent any rain from falling, or when I command locusts to eat all the crops, or when I send a plague among my people, <sup>14</sup>then if the people who belong to me, are sorry for their sins and stop doing them, and if they plead with me for me to forgive, then I will indeed listen from heaven. I will forgive them for having sinned, and I will cause them to prosper again. <sup>15</sup>I will listen to them when they pray to me in this place. <sup>16</sup>I have decided to be present in this temple, and I have set apart it for myself. I will protect it for all time.

<sup>17</sup>And as for you, if you obey me as David, your father, did, and if you do all that I command you to do, and if you obey all my laws and decrees, <sup>18</sup>I will make sure that your descendants will always be kings, which is what I promised to David your father, when I told him, 'Persons from your descendants will always be the kings of Israel.'

<sup>19</sup>What will I do to you Israelites when you stop worshiping me? What will I do when you disobey the decrees and commands I have given to you? And what will I do when you start worshipping other gods? <sup>20</sup>This is what I will do: I will cause you to be driven away from this land that I have given to you, and I will reject the temple that I have set apart for myself. I will make people from all the other people groups laugh about what happened to house where Yahweh was worshipped.

<sup>21</sup> Although this temple is now so magnificent, when that happens, all the people who pass by will be appalled, and they will say, 'Why has Yahweh done terrible things like this to this country and to this temple?' <sup>22</sup> And others will reply, 'It happened because they rejected Yahweh, the God to whom their ancestors belonged, the one who brought their ancestors out of Egypt, and they have chosen to worship other gods and try to please them. And that is why Yahweh has caused them to experience all these disasters.'

8 Solomon's workers took twenty years to build the temple and his palace. <sup>2</sup> Then his workers rebuilt the cities that King Hiram had given back to him, and Solomon sent Israelites to live in those cities. <sup>3</sup> Solomon's army then went to the town of Hamathzobah and captured it. <sup>4</sup> They also rebuilt walls around the city of Tadmor in the wilderness, and in the region of Hamath, for all the towns where they kept supplies. <sup>5</sup> They rebuilt the cities of Upper Beth Horon and Lower Beth Horon, and built walls around them with gates and bars for the gates. <sup>6</sup> They also rebuilt the city of Baalath and all the cities where supplies were kept, and the cities where Solomon's chariots and horses were kept. Solomon's workers built whatever he wanted them to build, in Jerusalem and in Lebanon, and in other places in the area that he ruled.

<sup>7</sup> Solomon forced people from many other groups who were not Israelites to work for him as if they were slaves. They were people from the Heth, Amor, Periz, Hiv, and Jebus people groups. <sup>8</sup> They were descendants of groups whom the Israelites had not completely destroyed. Solomon forced them to become his laborers, and they are still at this present time. <sup>9</sup> But Solomon did not force Israelites to work for him. Israelites became his soldiers and commanders of his chariots and his chariot drivers. <sup>10</sup> They were also King Solomon's chief officials. There were 250 of them, and they supervised the workers.

<sup>11</sup> Solomon brought his wife, who was the daughter of the king of Egypt, to the place that his workers had built for her in the place outside Jerusalem called the city of David. He said, "I do not want my wife to live in the palace that my father King David's workers built, because the sacred chest was in that palace for a while, and any place where the sacred chest has been is holy."

<sup>12</sup> On the altar that Solomon's workers had built in front of the entrance to the temple, Solomon brought many offerings that were to be completely burned. <sup>13</sup> He did that obeying what sacrifices Moses had declared should be made every day, on the Sabbath days, to celebrate each day on which there was a new moon, and on the three other festivals that were celebrated each year: the Festival of Bread with No Yeast, the Festival of Harvest, and the Festival of Shelters. <sup>14</sup> Obeying what his father David had commanded, Solomon appointed the groups of priests for their work, and he appointed the descendants of Levi to lead the people while they sang to praise Yahweh, and while they assisted the priests in their daily work. He also appointed groups of them to guard all the gates, because that was also what David, God's servant, had commanded. <sup>15</sup> The priests and other descendants of Levi obeyed completely everything that the king commanded, including the order to take care of the storerooms.

<sup>16</sup> They did all the work of building the temple that Solomon told them to do, until it was all completed. In the way they finished building the temple.

9 The queen who ruled the Sheba area in Arabia heard that Solomon had become famous, so she traveled to Jerusalem to ask him questions that were difficult to answer. She came with a large group of servants, and she brought camels that were loaded with spices, and valuable gems. When she arrived, she shared her thoughts with him. <sup>2</sup> Solomon answered all her questions. He explained everything that she asked about, even things that were very difficult.

<sup>3</sup>The queen realized that Solomon was very wise. She saw his palace,<sup>4</sup>she saw the food that was served on his table every day, she saw where his officials lived, their uniforms, the servants who served the food and wine, and the sacrifices that he took to the temple to be offered. She was extremely amazed.

<sup>5</sup>She said to the king, "Everything that I heard in my own country about you and about how wise you are is true!<sup>6</sup>But I did not believe it was true until I came here and saw it myself. You are extremely wise and rich, even more than what people told me.<sup>7</sup>The men who work for you are very fortunate! Your servants who are constantly standing in front of you and listening to the wise things that you say are also fortunate!<sup>8</sup>I praise Yahweh your God, who has shown that he is pleased with you by appointing you to be the king of Israel for him. God has always loved the Israelite people, and he desires to assist them forever, so he has appointed you to be their king, in order that you will rule them fairly and righteously."

<sup>9</sup>Then the queen gave to Solomon about four metric tons of gold and a large amount of spices and gemstones. Never had King Solomon received more spices than the queen gave him at that time.

<sup>10-12</sup>King Solomon gave to the queen from Sheba everything that she wanted. He gave her more than she had given to him. Then she and those who came with her returned to her own land.

The men of Hiram worked with the men of Solomon to bring gold from Ophir. They also brought a large amount of al gum wood. The wood was used to make steps for the house of Yahweh, and they also used the wood to make harps and lyres for those who played music. No one in all the land of Judah had ever seen anything like the quality of the al gum wood that was used to make the steps and the instruments.

<sup>13</sup>Each year there was brought to Solomon about twenty-two metric tons of gold. That was in addition to the taxes paid to him by the merchants and traders.<sup>14</sup>Also, the kings of Arabia and the governors of the districts in Israel brought gold and silver to Solomon.

<sup>15</sup>King Solomon's workers took this gold and hammered it into thin sheets and covered two hundred large shields with those thin sheets of gold; they put about six and one-half kilograms of gold on each shield.<sup>16</sup>His workers made three hundred smaller shields. They covered each of them with one and three-quarters kilograms of gold. Then the king put those shields in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

<sup>18</sup>There were six steps in front of the throne. There was a gold footstool that was attached to the throne. At each side of the throne there was an armrest, and alongside each armrest there was a statue of a lion.<sup>19</sup>So there were twelve statues of lions. No throne like that had ever existed in any other kingdom.<sup>20</sup>All of Solomon's cups were made of gold, and all the various dishes in the House of the Forest of Lebanon were made of gold. They did not make things from silver, because during the years that Solomon ruled, silver was not considered to be valuable.<sup>21</sup>The king had a fleet of ships capable of sailing far out on the ocean. It sailed along with Hiram's merchant fleet. Every three years the fleet brought gold, silver, ivory, apes, and baboons.

<sup>29</sup>Lists of all the other things that Solomon did are written in the scrolls written by the prophet Nathan, and by the prophet Ahijah from the city of Shiloh, and in the scroll in which was written the visions of the prophet Iddo (a scroll in which Iddo's visions about Jeroboam son of Nebat were also written). <sup>30</sup>Solomon ruled in Jerusalem over all of Israel for forty years. <sup>31</sup>Then Solomon died; they buried him in the part of Jerusalem called 'the city of David.' And his son Rehoboam became the next king.

10 All the people of northern Israel went to the city Shechem in order to appoint Rehoboam to be their king. So Rehoboam also went there. <sup>2</sup>Now Jeroboam son of Nebat had fled to Egypt to escape from King Solomon. While he was in Egypt he heard about the people wanting to appoint Rehoboam to be their king, and so he returned to Israel from Egypt. <sup>3</sup>So the leaders of the northern tribes summoned Jeroboam, and he went with them to talk to Rehoboam. They said to Rehoboam, <sup>4</sup>"Your father Solomon forced us to work very hard, but if you charge us fewer taxes than we were paying to him, and if you make us work not so much we will serve you faithfully."

<sup>5</sup>He replied, "Come back three days from now, and I will give you my answer." So those leaders and Jeroboam left.

<sup>6</sup>Then King Rehoboam consulted his older men who had advised his father Solomon while he was still alive. He asked them, "What shall I say to answer these men?"

<sup>7</sup>They replied, "If you will be kind to these people and do things that will please them, and if you say kind things to them when you answer them, they will always serve you."

<sup>8</sup>But he did not agree with what the older men advised him to do. Instead, he consulted the younger men who had grown up with him, who were now his advisors. <sup>9</sup>He said to them, "What do you say that I should answer the men who are asking me to reduce the work and taxes that my father required from them?"

<sup>10</sup>The young men who had grown up with him replied, "Those men have said that your father forced them to work very hard for him, so they want you to reduce the work and taxes that your father required from them. But this is what you should tell them: 'My little finger is thicker than my father's waist.' <sup>11</sup>My father required you people to work hard and pay high taxes, but I will make the loads you carry even heavier. My father whipped you with leather whips, but I will whip you with scorpions."

<sup>12</sup>Three days later, Jeroboam and all the leaders came to King Rehoboam again, as he had instructed them to do. <sup>13</sup>The king ignored the advice of the older men and spoke harshly to the Israelite leaders. <sup>14</sup>He told them what the younger men had advised. He said, "My father put heavy burdens of work and taxes on you, but I will put heavier burdens on you. It was as though he beat you with whips, but I will beat you with scorpions!" <sup>15</sup>So the king did not pay any attention to the people's leaders. All this happened in order that what Yahweh wanted would occur, what he had told the prophet Ahijah about Jeroboam becoming king of the ten tribes out of the twelve.

<sup>16</sup>When the Israelite leaders realized that the king did not pay any attention to what they said, they shouted,

"We do not want anything to do with this descendant of King David!"

We will not pay attention to what this grandson of Jesse says!

You people of Israel, let us go home!

As for this descendant of David, he can look after his family himself!"

So the Israelite leaders returned to their homes.

<sup>17</sup>And after that, the only Israelite people whom Rehoboam ruled over were those who lived in the territory of the tribe of Judah, in the countryside and in the cities, towns, and villages.

<sup>18</sup>Then King Rehoboam went with Adoniram to talk to the Israelite people. Adoniram was the man who supervised all the men who were forced to work for Rehoboam. But the Israelite people killed him by throwing stones at him. When that happened, King Rehoboam quickly got in his chariot and escaped to Jerusalem. <sup>19</sup>Ever since that time, the people of the northern tribes of Israel have been rebelling against the descendants of King

David.

11 When Rehoboam arrived in Jerusalem, he gathered 180,000 of the best soldiers from the tribes of Judah and Benjamin. He wanted them to fight against the northern tribes of Israel and defeat them, in order that he could rule all twelve tribes again.

<sup>2</sup> But Yahweh spoke to the prophet Shemaiah and said this to him: <sup>3</sup>"Go and tell this to Solomon's son Rehoboam, the king of Judah, and to all the Israelite people of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin: <sup>4</sup>'Yahweh says that you must not go to fight against the people of Israel; it is as though they are your own relatives. All of you must go home. What has happened is what Yahweh wanted to happen.'" So Shemaiah went and told that to them, and they all paid attention to what Yahweh had commanded them to do; they did not attack Jeroboam and his soldiers.

<sup>13</sup> The priests and other descendants of Levi throughout Israel supported Rehoboam. <sup>14</sup> The descendants of Levi abandoned their property and their pastureland, and they came to Jerusalem and to other places in Judah, because Jeroboam and his sons would not allow them to do the work of priests of Yahweh. <sup>15</sup> Instead, Jeroboam appointed the priests that he wanted to work at the altars he commanded to be built on the hills all around the cities, to offer sacrifices to the idols that he commanded to be made that resembled goats and calves. <sup>16</sup> And people from every tribe in Israel who wanted to worship Yahweh, the God to whom the Israelites belonged, went with the descendants of Levi to Jerusalem to offer sacrifices to Yahweh, the God whom their ancestors worshiped. <sup>17</sup> They caused the kingdom of Judah to be strong, and for three years they were happy that Solomon's son Rehoboam was the king. During that time they conducted their lives righteously as David and Solomon had done previously.

<sup>18</sup> Rehoboam married Mahalath. She was the daughter of David's son Jerimoth, and her mother was Abihail, the daughter of Eliab and granddaughter of Jesse. <sup>19</sup> Rehoboam and Mahalath had three sons: Jeush, Shemariah, and Zaham. <sup>20</sup> Later Rehoboam married Maacah, the daughter of Absalom, and they had four sons: Abijah, Attai, Ziza, and Shelomith. <sup>21</sup> Rehoboam loved Maacah more than he loved any other of his wives and slave wives. Altogether he had eighteen wives and sixty slave wives, and twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters.

<sup>22</sup> Rehoboam appointed his son Abijah to be the leader of his older and younger brothers, because he wanted to appoint Abijah to be the next king. <sup>23</sup> He very wisely sent some of his other sons to other cities in the areas of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin, and to other cities that had walls around them. He gave them plenty of supplies and many wives.

<sup>5</sup> Then the prophet Shemaiah came to Rehoboam and the other leaders of Judah who had gathered in Jerusalem because they were afraid of the army of Shishak. Shemaiah said to them, "Yahweh says this: 'You have abandoned me; so now I am abandoning you, to allow you to be captured by the army of Shishak.'"

humbled themselves, he gave this message to Shemaiah: "Because they have humbled themselves, I will not allow them to be destroyed. Instead, I will soon rescue them. I will not use Shishak's army to completely destroy the people of Jerusalem,<sup>8</sup> but they will conquer Jerusalem and force the people there to do what Shishak wants them to do. As a result, the people of Jerusalem will learn that it is better to serve me than to serve the kings of other countries."

<sup>9</sup> When Shishak's army attacked Jerusalem, they took away the valuable things that were in the temple of Yahweh and in the king's palace. They took everything that was valuable, including the gold shields that Solomon's workers had made.<sup>10</sup> So King Rehoboam's workers made bronze shields to be used instead of the gold ones, and gave the bronze shields to the commanders of the men who guarded the entrance to his palace.<sup>11</sup> After that, whenever the king went to the temple, the guards went with him, carrying those bronze shields. Then when the king left, they would return the shields to the guards' room.

<sup>13</sup> King Rehoboam again obtained complete control in Jerusalem, and continued to be the king of Judah. He was forty-one years old when he became the king. He ruled for seventeen years in Jerusalem, which is the city that Yahweh had chosen from all the tribes in Israel to be the place in which people were to worship him.<sup>14</sup> Rehoboam's mother's name was Naamah. She was from the Ammon people group. Rehoboam did evil things because he did not try to find out what Yahweh wanted him to do.

<sup>15</sup> An account of all the things that Rehoboam did while he was the king, and lists of the members of his family, are in the scrolls written by the prophets Shemaiah and Iddo. The armies of Rehoboam and Jeroboam were constantly fighting each other.<sup>16</sup> When Rehoboam died, he was buried in the part of Jerusalem called the city of David. Then his son Abijah became the king.

13 When Jeroboam had been ruling Israel for almost eighteen years, Abijah became the king of Judah.<sup>2</sup> He ruled in Jerusalem for three years. His mother was Micaiah, the daughter of Uriel from the city of Gibeah.

There was a war between the armies of Abijah and Jeroboam.<sup>3</sup> Abijah went into the battle, taking 400,000 of his capable soldiers, and Jeroboam prepared to fight them, taking 800,000 of his capable troops.

<sup>4</sup> Abijah stood on the top of Mount Zemaraim, which is in the hill country that belonged to the tribe of Ephraim, and he shouted, "Jeroboam and all you other people of Israel, listen to me!<sup>5</sup> You certainly know that Yahweh, whom we Israelites are to worship, made a covenant with David by which he promised that his descendants would always rule over Israel.<sup>6</sup> But Jeroboam, who was only an official of David's son King Solomon, rebelled against his king.<sup>7</sup> And when Solomon's son Rehoboam became king and was still young and inexperienced, a group of worthless scoundrels gathered around you and rebelled against him.

<sup>8</sup> And now you are planning to fight against the kingdom that Yahweh established to be governed by David's descendants. It is true that you have a huge army, and you and your soldiers have brought with you the golden statues of calves that Jeroboam's workers made to be your gods.<sup>9</sup> But you drove out the priests that Yahweh appointed, men who are descendants of Aaron the first high priest. You also drove out the descendants of Levi, and you appointed the priests that you wanted, like the people of other countries do. And so one may even come to set himself apart for the work of a priest, even sacrificing a young bull and seven rams as a sign of his ordination and his dedication to become a priest. But what kind of priest is he? He is consecrated to serve idols that are not gods at all!

week they place on the sacred table the bread to display before Yahweh, and each morning they light the lamps that are on the gold lampstand. We are obeying what Yahweh our God requires us to do. But you have abandoned him; you no longer worship him.<sup>12</sup> Yahweh is with us; he is our leader. The priests whom he has appointed will blow their trumpets to signal that we are ready to fight a battle against you. You Israelite men, do not fight against Yahweh, the God to whom your ancestors belonged, because you will not be successful against him."

<sup>13</sup> While he was speaking, Jeroboam sent some of his troops around the army of Judah. So while the soldiers who were with Jeroboam were in front of the army of Judah, the other soldiers of Israel were behind the army of Judah.<sup>14</sup> When the soldiers of Judah turned and saw that they were going to be attacked from the front and from the rear, they cried out to Yahweh. The priests blew their trumpets,<sup>15</sup> and the men of Judah shouted a loud battle cry. Then Yahweh enabled Abijah and the army of Judah to defeat Jeroboam and the army of Israel.<sup>16</sup> The soldiers of Israel fled from the soldiers of Judah, and God enabled the army of Judah to defeat them.<sup>17</sup> Abijah and his troops struck the capable soldiers of Israel and killed 500,000 of them, the best soldiers there were in Israel.

<sup>19</sup> Abijah's army pursued the army of Jeroboam, and they captured from the people of Israel the cities of Bethel, Jeshanah, and Ephron, and the surrounding villages.<sup>20</sup> During the remaining time that Abijah ruled, Jeroboam did not become powerful again. Then Yahweh caused him to become very ill, and he died.

<sup>21</sup> But Abijah became more powerful. He married fourteen wives and had twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters.

<sup>22</sup> An account of the other things that Abijah did while he was the king, including what he said and what he did, is in the scroll written by the prophet Iddo.

14 When Abijah died, he was buried in the part of Jerusalem called the city of David. His son Asa became the king. While Asa was ruling, there was peace in Judah for ten years.

<sup>7</sup> Asa said to the people of Judah, "We should protect these towns by building walls around them, with watchtowers and gates that have bars. This country still belongs to us because we have requested Yahweh our God to help us. We requested him for his help, and he has given us peace in our entire country." So they built buildings and succeeded in what they did.

<sup>8</sup> Asa had an army of 300,000 men from Judah. They all carried large shields and spears. He also had 280,000 men from the tribe of Benjamin in his army. They also carried shields, and also bows and arrows. They were all brave soldiers.

<sup>11</sup> Then Asa cried out to Yahweh his God, saying, "Yahweh, there is no one like you who can help those who have very little power to resist large armies. We have come to fight against this huge army. Yahweh, you are our God; do not allow anyone to defeat you."

them to the southwest as far as Gerar. A huge number of the soldiers from Ethiopia were killed, with the result that those who were not killed were unable to fight anymore. They were completely defeated by Yahweh and his army, and the men of Judah carried away a great amount of their possessions.<sup>14</sup> The men of Judah were able to destroy the villages near to the city of Gerar because Yahweh had caused the people there to become terrified and unable to fight. The army of Judah took away all the valuable things from those villages.<sup>15</sup> They also attacked the places where the local people who took care of domestic animals had set up their tents, and they took away large flocks and herds of sheep and goats and camels. Then they returned to Jerusalem.

15 The Spirit of God came on Azariah son of Oded.<sup>2</sup> Azariah went to talk with Asa and said to him, "Asa and all you men of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin, listen to me. Yahweh is with you whenever you are with him. If you request him to help you, he will help you, but if you abandon him, he will abandon you.<sup>3</sup> For many years the Israelite people did not have the true God, and they did not have priests or God's laws.<sup>4</sup> But when they experienced trouble, they turned to Yahweh, our God, and requested him to help them. And he helped them.<sup>5</sup> At that time, people were not safe when they traveled, because all the people who lived in those countries were experiencing many difficulties.<sup>6</sup> The people of various nations were crushed by armies of other nations, and people in some cities were crushed by armies from other cities, because God was allowing them to experience many difficulties.<sup>7</sup> But you people, you must be strong and do not become discouraged, because God will reward you for what you do to please him."

<sup>8</sup> Asa was encouraged when he heard what Azariah son of Oded, prophesied. Asa commanded his workers to remove all the detestable idols from everywhere in the tribes of Judah and Benjamin, and from the towns that his soldiers had captured in the hills of the tribe of Ephraim. Asa's workers repaired the altar where people offered sacrifices to Yahweh that was in front of the entrance to the temple in Jerusalem.<sup>9</sup> He gathered together all the people of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin and many people had come from the tribes of Ephraim, Manasseh, and Simeon who were living among them. He was able to do that because many people had left those tribes in Israel, when they realized that Yahweh was helping him.

<sup>10</sup> After Asa had been ruling for almost fifteen years, in the third month of that year, those people gathered in Jerusalem.<sup>11</sup> At that time they sacrificed to Yahweh seven hundred bulls and seven thousand sheep and goats, from the animals that they had captured when they defeated the army of Ethiopia.<sup>12</sup> They solemnly made an agreement to worship very sincerely Yahweh, the God whom our ancestors worshiped.<sup>13</sup> They promised to execute all those who would not worship Yahweh, including those who were important and who were not important, both men and women.<sup>14</sup> They shouted and blew trumpets and other horns while they solemnly promised to do that.<sup>15</sup> All the people who were living in Judah were happy to promise to do that because they had solemnly promised to do it very sincerely. They eagerly asked Yahweh to guide them, and he helped them. So he enabled them to have peace throughout their country.

<sup>16</sup> King Asa's grandmother Maacah had made a disgusting pole for worshiping the goddess Asherah. So Asa commanded his workers to cut down that pole, chop it into pieces, and burn it in the Kidron Valley. He did not allow Maacah to continue to influence the people because she was the mother of the previous king.<sup>17</sup> Although Asa's workers did not get rid of places where people worshiped idols, and those high places remained on the hills throughout Asa's reign. But still, Asa was determined to do what pleased Yahweh all during the years that he was alive.<sup>18</sup> He ordered his workers to bring into God's temple all the silver and gold and other valuable items that he and his father had dedicated to God.

16 When Asa had been ruling Judah for almost thirty-six years, King Baasha of Israel went with his army to attack Judah. They captured the town of Ramah north of Jerusalem and started to build a wall around it, in order to prevent any people from entering or leaving the area in Judah that King Asa ruled.

<sup>2</sup> So Asa told his workers to take all the silver and gold that was in the storerooms of the temple and in his own palace, and take and give it to Ben Hadad, the king of Aram, who was ruling in Damascus. He sent him a message, saying, <sup>3</sup>"I want there to be a peace treaty between me and you, like there was between my father and your father. Look, I am sending you much silver and gold. So please cancel the treaty that you have made with Baasha, the king of Israel, in order that he will take his soldiers away from attacking mine, because he will be afraid of your army."

<sup>7</sup> At that time the prophet Hanani went to King Asa and said to him, "Because you relied on the king of Aram and not on Yahweh our God, the army of the king of Aram has escaped from you. <sup>8</sup> Remember that the huge armies from Ethiopia were very powerful. But when you relied on Yahweh, he enabled your army to defeat them. <sup>9</sup> That happened because Yahweh sees what is happening all over the earth, and he strengthens those who completely trust him. You have done a very foolish thing, so from now on other armies will be fighting your army."

<sup>10</sup> Asa was very angry with the prophet because of what the prophet had said. So he commanded his officials to put Hanani in prison. At that same time, he started to treat some of his people very cruelly.

<sup>11</sup> All the things that Asa did while he was ruling, from the time he started to rule until he died, are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. <sup>12</sup> When Asa had been ruling for almost thirty-nine years, he was afflicted with a disease in his feet. The disease was very severe, but in spite of that, he did not request help from Yahweh. Instead he sought help only from doctors. <sup>13</sup> Asa had been ruling for about forty-one years when he died. <sup>14</sup> People buried him in the tomb that his workers had made for him in the part of Jerusalem called "the city of David." They laid his corpse on a bed covered with spices and various perfumes that had been mixed together. They also lit a huge fire to honor him.

17 Then Asa's son Jehoshaphat became the king of Judah, and he enabled his army to become very strong, with the result that they could resist attacks from the army of Israel. <sup>2</sup> He put soldiers in all the cities in Judah around which they had built walls, and he put soldiers in other places in Judah and in the towns in the tribe of Ephraim that soldiers of his father Asa had captured.

<sup>3</sup> Yahweh helped Jehoshaphat because in his earlier years, when he first began his rule, he did the things that pleased Yahweh just as his ancestor King David had done. Jehoshaphat did not worship Baal. <sup>4</sup> Instead, he sought advice from the God whom his father had worshiped, and he obeyed God's commands and he did not do the evil things that the kings of Israel kept doing. <sup>5</sup> Yahweh enabled him to completely control his kingdom. All the people of Judah brought gifts to him, with the result that he became very rich and was greatly honored. <sup>6</sup> He was completely devoted to doing what pleased Yahweh. His workers got rid of the places on hilltops where idols were worshiped and the places where poles were set up and used to worship the goddess Asherah all throughout Judah.

them to the people in all the towns throughout Judah.

<sup>10</sup>The people in all the kingdoms surrounding Judah became very afraid of what Yahweh might do to punish them if they fought against Judah, so they did not try to fight Jehoshaphat's army. <sup>11</sup>Some people from Philistia brought gifts to Jehoshaphat, and they also brought to him the silver that he demanded that they pay to him. Some Arabs brought to him 7,700 rams and 7,700 goats.

Jehoshaphat also placed in Jerusalem soldiers who were experienced. <sup>14</sup>The leaders and numbers from each tribe were as follows:

From the tribe of Judah, Adnah was the leader of the soldiers, and he commanded 300,000 soldiers.

<sup>17</sup>From the tribe of Benjamin, Eliada, who was a brave soldier, was the leader of the soldiers; he commanded 200,000 men who had bows, arrows, and shields.

18 Jehoshaphat became very wealthy and was greatly honored. But then he arranged for one of his family to marry someone from the family of King Ahab of Israel. <sup>2</sup>Several years later, he went down from Jerusalem to Samaria to visit Ahab. Ahab welcomed him, and the people who had come with him by slaughtering many sheep and cattle for a feast. <sup>3</sup>Then he asked Jehoshaphat, "Will you and your army go with my army to attack the city of Ramoth in the region of Gilead?" Jehoshaphat replied, "My soldiers and I are at your orders. We will go to war when you tell us to go." <sup>4</sup>Then he added, "But we should ask Yahweh first, to find out what he wants us to do."

<sup>5</sup>So the king of Israel gathered all his four hundred prophets and asked them, "Should we go to fight the people of Ramoth, or should we not?"

They replied, "Yes, go and attack them because God will enable your army to defeat them."

<sup>7</sup>The king of Israel replied, "There is still one man here, whom we can ask to find out what Yahweh wants, His name is Micaiah son of Imlah. But I hate him because he never says that anything good about me. He always predicts that bad things will happen to me."

Jehoshaphat replied, "King Ahab, you should not say that!"

<sup>9</sup>Now the king of Israel and the king of Judah were sitting there on thrones, wearing their royal robes. They were sitting by the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets were busy saying words of prophecy to them.

<sup>10</sup>One of them whose name was Zedekiah son of Kenaanah, had made from iron something that resembled the horns of a bull. He proclaimed to Ahab, "This is what Yahweh says: 'With horns like these, your army will keep attacking the army of Aram like a bull attacks another animal, until you completely destroy them.'" <sup>11</sup>All the other prophets of Ahab agreed. They said, "Yes! If you attack Ramoth in Gilead, you will be successful, because Yahweh will enable you to defeat them."

<sup>12</sup>The messenger who went to summon Micaiah said to him, "Listen to me! All the other prophets are predicting the same thing. You had better do as they are doing!"

<sup>13</sup>But Micaiah said, "As surely as Yahweh lives, I will tell him only what he tells me to say."

<sup>14</sup>When Micaiah arrived, the king of Israel asked him, "Should we go to attack Ramoth, or not?"

Micaiah replied, "Sure, go! Yahweh will enable your army to defeat them!"

<sup>15</sup> But King Ahab wished to appear reverent toward Yahweh in front of Jehoshaphat. He said to Micaiah, "I keep telling you to say only what Yahweh tells you to say!"

<sup>16</sup> Then Micaiah replied, "The truth is that in a vision I saw all the troops of Israel scattered on the mountains. They seemed to be like sheep that did not have a shepherd. And Yahweh said, 'Their master has been killed. So tell them all to go home peacefully.'"

Some suggested one thing, and others suggested something else.

<sup>20</sup> Finally one spirit forward and said, 'I can do it!'

Yahweh asked him, 'How will you do it?'

<sup>21</sup> The spirit replied, 'I will go and inspire all of Ahab's prophets to tell lies.' Yahweh said, 'You will be successful; go and do it!'

<sup>22</sup> So now I tell you that Yahweh has caused your prophets to lie to you. Yahweh has decided that something terrible will happen to you.'

<sup>24</sup> Micaiah replied, "You will find out for yourself to which of us Yahweh's spirit has truly spoken on the day when you go into a room of some house to hide from the Aramean soldiers!"

<sup>26</sup> Tell them that I have commanded that they should put this man in prison and give him only bread and water. Do not give him anything else to eat until I return safely from the battle!"

<sup>27</sup> Micaiah replied, "If you return safely, it will be clear that it was not Yahweh who told me what to say to you!" Then he said to all those who were standing there, "Do not forget what I have said to King Ahab!"

<sup>29</sup> King Ahab said to Jehoshaphat, "I will put on different clothes, in order that no one will recognize that I am the king. But you should wear your royal robe." So the king of Israel disguised himself, and they both went into the battle.

<sup>31</sup> So when the soldiers who were driving the Aramean chariots saw Jehoshaphat wearing the royal robes, they thought, "He must be the king of Israel!" <sup>32</sup> So they turned to attack him. But when Jehoshaphat cried out, Yahweh helped him, and they realized that he was not the king of Israel. And God caused them to stop pursuing him.

19 When King Jehoshaphat returned safely to his palace in Jerusalem, <sup>2</sup> the prophet Jehu son of the prophet Hanani, went out of the city to meet the king, and said to him, "It was not right for you to help a wicked man and to love those who hate Yahweh. Because of what you have done, Yahweh is angry with you. <sup>3</sup> But you have done some good things; you got rid of the poles in this country for worshiping the goddess Asherah, and you have been determined to do what pleases God."

out among all the people in the country, from the city of Beersheba in the far south to the hill country of the tribe of Ephraim in the far north, and he convinced them to return to worshiping Yahweh, the God whom their ancestors worshiped.<sup>5</sup> He appointed judges throughout Judah, in each of the cities that had walls around them.<sup>6</sup> He told them, "Make your decisions carefully, because you are judging cases not in order to please people, but to please Yahweh. And he will be watching you whenever you make a decision.<sup>7</sup> So now revere Yahweh and judge cases carefully and do not forget that Yahweh our God never acts unjustly, and that he never does what people want because they offer him money."

<sup>8</sup>In Jerusalem, Jehoshaphat also appointed some priests and other descendants of Levi and some leaders of Israelite families to be judges. He told them to do what Yahweh's laws said was right when they settled disputes. Those men lived in Jerusalem.<sup>9</sup> He told them this: "You must always do your work faithfully, honoring Yahweh.<sup>10</sup> In every dispute that your fellow Israelites who live in the cities want you to settle, you must warn them to not sin against Yahweh by telling lies during the trial—regardless of whether the trial is about murder, or about various laws, or about various royal decrees. If you do not warn them, God will punish you. Do this so that he does not become angry with you or your fellow Israelites.

<sup>11</sup>Amariah, the high priest, will supervise you in any matter that Yahweh is concerned about, and Zebadiah son of Ishmael, the leader of the tribe of Judah, will supervise you in any matter that I am concerned about. And the descendants of Levi will assist you. Act courageously, and I pray that Yahweh will help those who do their work well."

<sup>2</sup>Some men came and told Jehoshaphat, "A huge army is coming to attack your army. They are coming from the region of Edom, from the other side of the Dead Sea. They have already come to Hazazon Tamar!" Another name for that place is Engedi.<sup>3</sup> Jehoshaphat became very afraid, so he decided to ask Yahweh what he should do. He also proclaimed that all the people of Judah should fast.<sup>4</sup> The people of Judah gathered together to request Yahweh to help them. They came to Jerusalem from every town in Judah to seek help from Yahweh.

"Yahweh, the God whom our ancestors belonged to, you rule from heaven. You rule over all the kings and nations on earth. You can do anything; no one can successfully oppose you.<sup>7</sup> Our God, you drove out the people who lived in this land while your Israelite people advanced into it, and you certainly gave it to us who are descendants of Abraham, so that the land would belong to us forever.<sup>8</sup> Our ancestors lived here and built a temple at which to worship you. At that time they prayed:<sup>9</sup> 'If we experience disasters, either from our enemies attacking us, or from disease or hunger, we will assemble at this temple in your presence, for you agreed to be present here. We will plead with you because of the things we are suffering, and you will hear us and will rescue us.'

<sup>10</sup>You would not allow our Israelite ancestors to enter the countries of Ammon, Moab, or Edom when they were traveling from Egypt to Canaan. So our ancestors turned away from those areas and did not attack the people there and did not destroy them. But now they are coming here to attack us.<sup>11</sup> We did good things for them. But now look at how they are repaying us by trying to drive out us from the land that you gave to our ancestors to belong to them and their descendants forever!<sup>12</sup> So, our God, please punish them. We cannot defeat the enormous army that is coming to attack us. We do not know what to do, but we are depending on you to help us."

<sup>14</sup>Then the Spirit of Yahweh came upon Jahaziel son of Zechariah, who was son of Benaiah, who was son of Jeiel, who was son of Mattaniah. He was a descendant of Levi and a descendant of Asaph. He stood up in front of the whole group that was gathered there,<sup>15</sup> and said, "King Jehoshaphat and all you who live in Jerusalem and in other places in Judah, listen! This is what Yahweh says to you: 'Do not be afraid or discouraged because of this huge army that is coming to attack you, because it is not you who will win this battle. It is God who will win it.'<sup>16</sup> Tomorrow march down toward them. They will be climbing up through the pass of Ziz north of En Gedi. You will meet them at the end of the gorge near wilderness of Jeruel.<sup>17</sup> But you will not need to fight this battle. You soldiers from Jerusalem and other places in Judah, just take your positions, and then stand still and watch what will happen. You will see Yahweh rescue you. Do not be afraid or discouraged. March toward them tomorrow, and Yahweh will be with you."

<sup>20</sup> Early the next morning the army left to go to the desert near the town of Tekoa. While they were leaving, Jehoshaphat stood up and said to them, "You people of Jerusalem and other places in Judah, listen to me! Trust in Yahweh our God; if you do that, you will be strong. Trust in what his prophets have said; if you do that, you will be successful."<sup>21</sup> Then, after consulting with the people's leaders, Jehoshaphat assigned some persons to sing praise of Yahweh for his greatness, and for these individuals to lead the entire army to the enemy. They were singing,

"Thank Yahweh,
because he faithfully loves us
forever."

<sup>22</sup> While they began to sing and praise Yahweh, Yahweh caused some enemy soldiers to unexpectedly attack the others from Ammon and Moab and Edom. They defeated the others in their army.<sup>23</sup> Then the soldiers from Ammon and Moab attacked the soldiers from Edom and completely annihilated them. After they finished slaughtering the men from Edom, they slaughtered each other.

<sup>25</sup> So Jehoshaphat and his soldiers went to take the possessions of their enemies, and they saw that there was a lot of equipment and clothing and other valuable things; there was more than they could carry away. There were very many things, with the result that it took three days for them to collect them all.<sup>26</sup> The following day they gathered in Berakah Valley and praised Yahweh there. That is why that valley is still called Berakah, which means praise.

<sup>27</sup> Then while Jehoshaphat led them, all the soldiers who were from Jerusalem and other places in Judah returned to Jerusalem. They were happy because Yahweh had enabled them to defeat their enemies.<sup>28</sup> When they arrived at Jerusalem, they went to the temple, playing harps, lutes, and trumpets.

<sup>29</sup> People in the kingdoms of the nearby countries became very afraid when they heard how Yahweh had fought against the enemies of the Israelites.<sup>30</sup> Then there was peace in the kingdom that Jehoshaphat ruled, because God had enabled him to have peace throughout the country.

<sup>31</sup> Jehoshaphat continued to rule Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king of Judah, and he ruled in Jerusalem for twenty-five years. His mother's name was Azubah, the daughter of Shilhi.<sup>32</sup> He did things that were pleasing to Yahweh, like his father Asa had done, and he did not stop doing those things.<sup>33</sup> But he did not get rid of the places where idols were worshiped on the hills in the countryside, and most of the people still not serious about obeying the God whom their ancestors had worshiped.

<sup>34</sup> A record of the other things that Jehoshaphat did while he ruled, from the beginning until he died, is in the scrolls written by the prophet Jehu son of Hanani. They are also in the scroll on which was written a record of the activities of the kings of Israel.

Ahaziah, the king of Israel, who was a very wicked king.<sup>36</sup> They agreed that their workers would build a fleet of ships to use to buy and sell things with other countries. After those ships were built at Ezion Geber,<sup>37</sup> Eliezer son of Dodavahu of the city of Mareshah, prophesied against Jehoshaphat. He said, "You have made an alliance with Ahaziah, who is a wicked king. Therefore, Yahweh will destroy the ships that your workers have made." And the ships were wrecked, and were never able to sail to other countries.

<sup>4</sup> After Jehoram was completely in control of his father's kingdom, he caused all of his younger brothers to be killed, along with some of the leaders of the nation.<sup>5</sup> Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became the king, and he ruled in Jerusalem for eight years.<sup>6</sup> But he did many of the evil things that the kings of Israel had done. He did many things that Yahweh said were evil, things that the family of Ahab had done, because he married one of Ahab's daughters.<sup>7</sup> However, because of the covenant that Yahweh had made with King David, Yahweh did not want to get rid of the descendants Judah.

<sup>8</sup> While Jehoram was ruling, the people in the region of Edom rebelled against the king of Judah and appointed their own king.<sup>9</sup> So Jehoram and his officers and his men in chariots went to Edom. There, the army of Edom surrounded them. However, Jerhoram and his army attacked them and broke free from them; then they escaped during the night.<sup>10</sup> But the king of Judah was never able to regain control of Edom, and Edom is still not controlled by Judah. The people in the city of Libnah between Judah and Philistia also rebelled against Judah. Those things happened because Jehoram stopped obeying Yahweh, the God whom his ancestors belonged to.

<sup>11</sup> On the hilltops in Judah he had also built high places, where they worshiped idols. He caused the people of Judah to stray away from Yahweh by worshiping foreign gods.

"This is what Yahweh, the God whom your ancestor King David worshiped, says: 'You have not done things that please me like your father Jehoshaphat did or what King Asa did.<sup>13</sup> Instead, you have continually done the evil things that the kings of Israel have done. You have encouraged the people in Jerusalem and other places in Judah to stop worshiping Yahweh and to be unfaithful to him. And you have killed your brothers, men who were better than you are.'

<sup>14</sup> So now Yahweh is about to cause disasters to strike very severely the people in your kingdom and even your own children and your wives, and everything that you own.

<sup>15</sup> And you yourself will have an intestinal disease that will continue to become worse, and you will suffer from it until you die."

<sup>18</sup> After that happened, Yahweh caused Jehoram to be afflicted with an intestinal disease that no doctor could cure.<sup>19</sup> About two years later, while he had great pain, he died because of that disease. The people of Judah had made bonfires to honor his ancestors when they died, but they did not make a bonfire for Jehoram.

<sup>20</sup> Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became the king, and he ruled in Jerusalem for eight years. No one regretted it when he died. His corpse was buried in the part of Jerusalem called the city of David, but he was not buried where the other kings of Judah had been buried.

22 The people of Jerusalem appointed Jehoram's youngest son Ahaziah to be their king, because the men from Philistia who had invaded Judah with some Arabs had killed all of Jehoram's other sons. So Ahaziah started to rule Judah.

<sup>2</sup> Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he became king. He ruled in Jerusalem for one year. His mother's name was Athaliah, a granddaughter of King Omri of Israel.

<sup>3</sup> King Ahab conducted his life just like the members of Ahab's family had done, because his mother encouraged him to do things that are wrong. <sup>4</sup> He did many things that Yahweh said were evil, like the descendants of Ahab had done, because after Ahaziah's father died, they became his advisors. And Ahaziah died as a result of heeding their bad advice. <sup>5</sup> Before he died, he did what they encourage him to do by going with Joram son of King Ahab of Israel, to fight against the army of Hazael, the king of Aram, at Ramoth Gilead. Joram was wounded there by the Arameans.

<sup>6</sup> After he was wounded, Joram went back to the city of Jezreel to recover from his battle wounds. Then King Ahaziah went down to Jezreel to see Joram son of King Ahab, because he had been wounded.

<sup>7</sup> God caused Ahaziah to die as a result of his going to visit Joram. When Ahaziah arrived, he went with Joram to meet Jehu son of Nimshi, whom Yahweh had appointed to kill all the descendants of Ahab. <sup>8</sup> While Jehu and the men who were with him were killing Ahab's descendants, they found the leaders of Judah and the sons of Ahaziah's relatives who had been working for Ahaziah, and they killed all of them also. <sup>9</sup> Then Jehu went to find Ahaziah, and his soldiers found Ahaziah while he was hiding in the city of Samaria. They brought him to Jehu and executed him. Then they buried his corpse, because they said, "He deserves to be buried, because he was a descendant of Jehoshaphat, who tried hard to please Yahweh." After that, there were no descendants of Ahaziah who were powerful enough to become the kings of Judah.

<sup>10</sup> When Athaliah, the mother of Ahaziah, saw that her son had been killed, she commanded that all the members of Ahaziah's family who might become king must be executed.

23 The next year, Jehoiada decided that it was necessary to do something. So he made an agreement with the army commanders of groups of one hundred soldiers: Azariah son of Jeroham, Ishmael son of Jehohanan, Azariah son of Obed, Maaseiah son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat son of Zicri. <sup>2</sup> They went throughout Judah and gathered the descendants of Levi and the leaders of Israelite families from all the cities. When they came to Jerusalem, <sup>3</sup> the whole group went to the temple and made an agreement with the young king there. Jehoiada said to them, "This is the son of the previous king of Judah. So he is the one who must rule, like Yahweh promised that the descendants of King David must do."

<sup>4</sup> So this is what you must do: One-third of you priests and other descendants of Levi who are starting to work on the Sabbath day must guard the temple doors. <sup>5</sup> One-third of you must guard the king's palace, and one-third of you must guard the Foundation Gate. All the other people will be in the courtyard outside the temple. <sup>6</sup> Only the priests and the descendants of Levi who work there are allowed to enter the temple, because they are set apart for that work. All the others must remain in the courtyard, obeying what Yahweh has commanded. <sup>7</sup> You descendants of Levi must stand around the young king, each of you with your weapon in your hand. You must kill anyone else who tries to enter the temple. And stay close to the king, wherever he goes."

<sup>8</sup> So the descendants of Levi and all the men of Judah did what Jehoiada had told them. He did not allow anyone to go home after he finished his work on that day. Each commander took his men, the ones who were finishing their work on that Sabbath day and those who were starting their work on that day. <sup>9</sup>Then Jehoiada gave each of the commanders the spears and the large and small shields that had been put there in the temple by King David. <sup>10</sup>He commanded all the guards to stand in their positions, each with his sword in his hand, all around the king—near the altar and near the temple, from the north side to the south side.

<sup>11</sup>Then Jehoiada and his sons brought Joash out. They put a crown on his head and gave him a scroll on which were written the rules that the kings needed to obey, and they proclaimed that he was now the king. They anointed him with olive oil and shouted, "We desire that the king will live for many years!"

<sup>14</sup>Jehoiada the high priest said to the army commanders, "Kill her, but do not kill her at the temple of Yahweh!" Then he said to them, "Bring Athaliah out between your ranks and kill anyone who tries to follow her!" <sup>15</sup>She tried to flee, but they seized her as she reached the Horse Gate, before the palace, and they killed her there. <sup>16</sup>Then Jehoiada made an agreement that he and the king and all the other people would be Yahweh's people. <sup>17</sup>Then all the people who were there went to the temple of Baal and tore it down. They smashed the altars of Baal. They also killed Mattan, the priest of Baal, in front of those altars.

<sup>18</sup>Then Jehoiada appointed the priests, who were also descended from Levi, to take care of the temple. They were part of the group to whom King David had given various work at the temple, to sacrifice the animals that were to be completely burned on the altar, doing what was written in the laws that Moses had given to them. He also told them to rejoice and sing, which was also what David had commanded. <sup>19</sup>He also put gatekeepers at the gates of the temple in order that anyone who was unacceptable to God would not be allowed to enter.

<sup>20</sup>Jehoiada took with him the army commanders, the important men, the leaders and many others, and brought the king down from the temple. They went into the palace through the Upper Gate, and put the king on his throne. <sup>21</sup>Then all the people of Judah rejoiced. And there was quiet throughout the city, because Athaliah had been killed.

24 Joash was seven years old when he became the king of Judah, and he ruled in Jerusalem for forty years. His mother's name was Zibiah; she was from the city of Beersheba. <sup>2</sup>Joash did what pleased Yahweh all during the years that Jehoiada was the high priest. <sup>3</sup>Jehoiada chose two women to be Joash's wives. And they bore Joash sons and daughters.

<sup>4</sup>Some years later, Joash decided that the temple should be repaired. <sup>5</sup>He summoned the priests and other descendants of Levi and said to them, "Go to the cities of Judah and collect from the people the tax money that they are required to pay each year, and use that money to pay for repairing the temple. Do it immediately." But the descendants of Levi did not do it immediately.

<sup>6</sup>So the king summoned Jehoiada and said to him, "Why have you not required the descendants of Levi to bring to Jerusalem from various places in Judah the annual tax that Moses said that the people of Judah must pay, for taking care of the sacred tent?"

<sup>7</sup>The temple needed to be repaired because the sons of that wicked woman Athaliah had entered into the temple and had wrecked some of the things, and had also used some of the sacred items that were in it for the worship of Baal.

were in the wilderness.<sup>10</sup> All the officials and the other people agreed, and they brought their contributions gladly. They put the money into the chest until it was full.<sup>11</sup> Whenever the descendants of Levi brought the chest to the king's officials, and they saw that there was a lot of money in it, the king's secretary and the assistant to the high priest would take all the money from the chest and then put the chest back in its place. They did this frequently, and they collected a huge amount of money.<sup>12</sup> The king and Jehoiada gave the money to the men who were supervising the work of repairing the temple. Those men hired stoneworkers and carpenters to repair the temple. They also hired men who worked with iron and bronze to repair the things in the temple that were broken.

<sup>13</sup> The men who did the repair work worked hard, and the work of repairing the temple progressed. They rebuilt the temple to make it as it was originally, and they made it stronger.<sup>14</sup> When they had finished the repair work, they brought to the king and to Jehoiada the money that they had not used for the repairs. That money was used to make things to use for performing the sacrifices that were to be completely burned on the altar, and to make bowls and other gold and silver things for the temple. As long as Joash lived, the people continually brought to the temple sacrifices that were to be completely burned on the altar.

<sup>15</sup> Jehoiada became very old. He died when he was 130 years old.<sup>16</sup> He was buried where the kings had been buried, in the part of Jerusalem called the city of David. He was buried there because of the good things that he had done in Judah for God and for God's temple.

<sup>17</sup> After Jehoiada died, the leaders of Judah went to Joash, bowed in front of him, and persuaded him to do what they wanted.<sup>18</sup> So they and the other people stopped worshiping at the temple, and they started worshiping the poles dedicated to the goddess Asherah and other idols. Because they were doing those sinful things, God was very angry with the people of Jerusalem and with the people in other places in Judah.<sup>19</sup> Although Yahweh sent prophets to persuade them to return to him, and although the prophets testified about the evil things that they had done, the people would not pay attention.

<sup>20</sup> Then God's Spirit came upon Zechariah son of Jehoiada the high priest. He stood up front of the people and said, "This is what God says: Why are you violating Yahweh's commandments? You will not be able prosper if you do that. Since you have stopped obeying Yahweh, he will stop taking care of you."

<sup>26</sup> Those who conspired to kill him were Zabad son of Shimeath, who was a woman from the Ammon people group, and Jehozabad son of Shimrith, who was a woman from the Moab people group.<sup>27</sup> An account of the things that were done by the sons of Joash and the many prophecies about Joash and what he did to repair the temple are written in the commentary on the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. Then after Joash died, Amaziah his son became the king.

25 Amaziah was twenty-five years old when he became the king of Judah, and he ruled from Jerusalem for twenty-nine years. His mother was Jehoaddan. She was from Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>Amaziah did many things that pleased Yahweh, but he did not want to do them very much. <sup>3</sup>As soon as he was in complete control of his kingdom, he caused others to execute the officials who had murdered his father. <sup>4</sup>But he did not order their sons to be executed; he obeyed what was in the laws that Moses had written. In those laws Yahweh had commanded, "People must not be executed because of what their children have done, and children must not be executed for what their parents have done. People must be executed only for the sins that they themselves have committed."

<sup>5</sup>Amaziah summoned the men of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin to come to Jerusalem, and there he put them into groups, each clan in a group by themselves. Then he appointed officers to command each group. Some officers commanded one hundred men, and some commanded one thousand men. They counted the men who were at least twenty years old; altogether there were 300,000 men. They were all men who were ready to be in the army, and able to fight well, using spears and shields. <sup>6</sup>Amaziah also hired 100,000 capable soldiers from Israel; he paid almost 3,300 kilograms (or about three and one-third metric tons) of silver for them.

<sup>7</sup>But a prophet came to him and said, "Your Majesty, you must not allow those soldiers from Israel to march with your soldiers, because Yahweh does not help the people of the tribe of Ephraim or from anywhere else in Israel. <sup>8</sup>Even if your soldiers go and fight courageously in battles, God will cause your enemies to defeat you; do not forget that God has the power to help armies or to cause them to be defeated."

<sup>9</sup>Amaziah asked that prophet, "If I do that, what about 3,300 kilograms of silver that I paid to hire those soldiers from Israel?"

The prophet replied, "Yahweh is able to pay you back more money than you paid to hire those soldiers."

his army to the Valley of Salt. There they killed ten thousand soldiers from the Edom people group. <sup>12</sup>The army of Judah also captured ten thousand other soldiers, took them to the top of a cliff, and threw them all down over the cliff, with the result that their bodies were all smashed to pieces.

<sup>13</sup>While that was happening, the soldiers from Israel whom Amaziah had sent home raided cities and towns in Judea, from the city of Samaria to the city of Beth Horon. They killed three thousand people and took away a great amount of valuable things.

<sup>14</sup>When Amaziah returned to Jerusalem after his army had slaughtered the soldiers from Edom, he brought the idols that his enemies had worshiped. He set them up to be his own gods. Then he bowed down to worship them and offered sacrifices to them. <sup>15</sup>Because of that, Yahweh was very angry with Amaziah. He sent a prophet to him, who said, "Why do you worship these foreign gods who were not even able to save their own people when your army attacked them?"

<sup>16</sup>While he was still speaking, the king said to him, "We certainly did not appoint you to be one of my advisors. So stop talking! If you say anything more, I will tell my soldiers to kill you!"

So the prophet said, "I know that God has determined to get rid of you, because you have begun to worship idols, and have not heeded my advice." Then the prophet said nothing more.

<sup>17</sup>Some time later Amaziah, the king of Judah, consulted his advisors. Then he sent a message to Jehoash, the king of Israel. He wrote, "Come and meet me face to face in battle."

<sup>18</sup>But Jehoash replied this to King Amaziah: "One time a thistle growing in the mountains in Lebanon sent a message to a cedar tree, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son in order that he can marry her.' But a wild animal in Lebanon came along and trampled the thistle under his feet. <sup>19</sup>What I mean is that you are saying to yourself that your army has defeated the army of Edom, so you have become very proud. You can be proud of your victory, but you should not fight me. If you do, you will only make trouble for yourself. I will defeat you, and Judah with you."

26 All the people took Uzziah and made him their king, in the place of his father Amaziah. Uzziah was sixteen years old at that time. <sup>2</sup>While he was the king, after his father King Amaziah had died, he had his workers rebuild the city of Elath and brought that city under the protection of Judah.

<sup>3</sup>Uzziah ruled in Jerusalem for fifty-two years. His mother was Jecoliah; she was from Jerusalem. <sup>4</sup>Uzziah did the things that Yahweh said were good, like his father Amaziah had done. <sup>5</sup>He set himself to seek God in the days of Zechariah. Zechariah is the one who taught him to give honor to God. For as long as he sought Yahweh, God made him successful.

<sup>16</sup>But because Uzziah was very powerful, he became very proud, and that caused him to be punished. He disobeyed what Yahweh his God had commanded. He went into the temple to burn incense on the altar where God had said that only the priests should burn incense.<sup>17</sup> Azariah, the high priest, and eighty other brave priests followed him into the temple.<sup>18</sup> They rebuked him and said to him, "Uzziah, it is not right for you to burn incense to Yahweh because you are not set apart to serve as a priest, and only a priest can burn incense to Yahweh. The priests are the descendants of Aaron our first high priest, and you are not one of them! You must leave immediately, because you have disobeyed Yahweh our God, and he will not honor you for what you have done!"

<sup>21</sup> King Uzziah had leprosy until he died. Because he had leprosy, he lived in a house that was not near other houses, and he was not allowed to enter the courtyard of the temple. His son Jotham supervised the palace and ruled the people of Judah.

<sup>22</sup> A record of all the other things that Uzziah did while he was the king of Judah was written by the prophet Isaiah son of Amoz.<sup>23</sup> Because Uzziah was a leper, when he died they would not bury him in the royal tombs. Instead, they buried him in a nearby cemetery that the kings owned. Then his son Jotham became the king of Judah.

27 Jotham was twenty-five years old when he became the king of Judah. He ruled from Jerusalem for sixteen years. His mother was Jerushah, the daughter of the priest Zadok.<sup>2</sup> Jotham obeyed Yahweh and did what Yahweh approved. He followed the example of his father Uzziah in everything he did. (He did not, however, go into the Temple of Yahweh to burn incense as his father had done.) Yet the people of Judah continued to do the things that showed how sinful they had become.

of the temple, and they did a lot of work to repair the wall near the hill of Ophel.<sup>4</sup> They built cities in the hills of Judah, and they built forts and towers for defense in the forests.

<sup>5</sup> During the time that he was the king of Judah, his army attacked and defeated the army of the Ammon people group. Then, every year during the next three years, he required them to pay to him about three and one-third metric tons of silver, 2,200 kiloliters of wheat, and 2,200 kiloliters of barley.

<sup>7</sup> A record of everything else that Jotham did during the time that he was the king, including the wars that his army fought, is written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.<sup>8</sup> After he had ruled Judah for sixteen years, he died when he was forty-one years old.<sup>9</sup> He was buried in Jerusalem, and his son Ahaz became the next king of Judah.

28 Ahaz was twenty years old when he became the king of Judah. He ruled from Jerusalem for sixteen years. His ancestor King David had been a good king, but Ahaz was not like David. He constantly disobeyed Yahweh<sup>2</sup> and was as sinful as the kings of Israel had been. He made idols of the god Baal by having craftsmen cast them in metal.<sup>3</sup> He burned incense in the Valley of Ben Hinnom. He even killed some of his own sons in fires as sacrifices. That imitated the disgusting customs that the people groups who previously lived there had done, people whom Yahweh had drive out when the Israelites were advancing through the land.<sup>4</sup> He offered sacrifices to idols at the houses built upon hilltops and under every big green tree.

Ahaz's son Maaseiah, Azrikam, who was in charge of the palace, and Elkanah, the king's assistant. <sup>8</sup>The soldiers of Israel captured 200,000 of the people of Judah, including many wives and sons and daughters of the soldiers of Judah. They also seized and took back to Samaria many valuable things.

<sup>9</sup>But a prophet of Yahweh, whose name was Oded, was in Samaria. He went out of the city to meet the army as it was returning. He said to them, "Yahweh, the God to whom your ancestors belonged, was angry with the people of Judah, so he has handed them over to you, and you have slaughtered so many in a towering rage. <sup>10</sup>And now you want to sin by causing men and women from Judah to become your slaves, but you have certainly offended Yahweh, our God, in this matter. <sup>11</sup>So listen to me! Send back to Judah your fellow countrymen whom you have captured, because Yahweh is extremely angry with you for what you did to them."

<sup>14</sup>So, while their leaders and others were watching, the soldiers released the prisoners, and also gave back to them the valuable things that they had captured. <sup>15</sup>The leaders assigned some men to take care of the prisoners. These men took some of the clothes that the soldiers had taken from the people of Judah and gave those clothes to the people who were naked. They also gave to the prisoners sandals and other clothes, as well as things to eat and drink, and they gave them olive oil to rub on their wounds. They gave donkeys to those who were very weak, in order that they could ride on them. Then they led them all to Jericho, the city that had many palm trees. Finally those men returned to Samaria.

sage to the king of Assyria requesting help. <sup>17</sup>He did that because the army from the Edom people group had come again and attacked Judah and taken away many of the people of Judah as prisoners. <sup>18</sup>At the same time, men from Philistia raided towns in the foothills and in the southern Judean wilderness. They captured the cities of Beth Shemesh, Aijalon, and Gedereth, as well as those of Soko, Timnah, and Gimzo with its nearby villages. <sup>19</sup>Yahweh allowed those things to happen in order to humble King Ahaz, because he had encouraged the people of Judah to do wicked things and had disobeyed Yahweh very much. <sup>20</sup>Tiglath-Pileser, the king of Assyria, sent his army saying that they would help Ahaz, but instead of helping him, they caused him trouble. <sup>21</sup>Ahaz's soldiers took some of the valuable things from the temple and from the king's palace and from other leaders of Judah, and sent them to the king of Assyria to pay him to help them, but the king of Assyria refused to help Ahaz.

<sup>22</sup>While King Ahaz was experiencing those troubles, he disobeyed Yahweh even more. <sup>23</sup>He offered sacrifices to the gods that were worshiped in Damascus, whose army had defeated his army. He thought, "The gods that are worshiped by the kings of Aram have helped them, so I will offer sacrifices to those gods in order that they will help me." But worshiping those gods caused Ahaz and all of Israel to be ruined.

<sup>26</sup>A record of the other things that Ahaz did while he was the king, from when he started to rule until he died, is written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. <sup>27</sup>Ahaz died and was buried in Jerusalem, but he was not buried in the tombs where the other kings of Israel had been buried. Then his son Hezekiah became the king.

29 Hezekiah was twenty-five years old when he became the king of Judah. He ruled from Jerusalem for twenty-nine years. His mother was Abijah, the daughter of a man whose name was Zechariah.<sup>2</sup> Hezekiah did things that Yahweh considered to be right, like his ancestor King David had done.

<sup>3</sup> During the first month of the first year that Hezekiah was ruling Judah, he unlocked the doors of the temple, and his workers repaired them.<sup>4</sup> Then he gathered the priests and other descendants of Levi in the courtyard on the east side of the temple,<sup>5</sup> and he said to them, "You descendants of Levi, listen to me! Set yourselves apart, and prepare the house of Yahweh so it is a place that honors Yahweh, whom your ancestors worshiped; carry out all the filthiness that is in the holy place.<sup>6</sup> Our ancestors disobeyed God; they did many things that he says are evil, and they did things that are not pleasing to him. They abandoned this place where Yahweh lives, and they have stopped worshiping him.<sup>7</sup> They locked the doors of the temple and extinguished the lamps. They did not burn any incense, and they did not offer any sacrifices that were to be completely burned on the altar in the holy place.<sup>8</sup> Therefore, Yahweh has become very angry with us people of Jerusalem and other places in Judah, and he has caused other people to become frightened and horrified of us. And they ridicule us. You know this very well.<sup>9</sup> That is why our fathers have been killed in battles, and our sons and daughters and our wives have been captured and taken to other countries.<sup>10</sup> But now I intend to make a covenant with Yahweh, our God, in order that he will no longer be angry with us.<sup>11</sup> You who are like my sons, do not waste any time. Do immediately what Yahweh wants you to do. Yahweh has chosen you to stand in his presence and offer sacrifices and burn incense."

From the descendants of Kohath there were Mahath the son of Amasai, and Joel the son of Azariah.

From the descendants of Merari there were Kish the son of Abdi, and Azariah the son of Jehallel.

From the descendants of Gershon there were Joah the son of Zimmah, and Eden the son of Joah.

<sup>13</sup> From the descendants of Elizaphan there were Shimri and Jieel.

From the descendants of Asaph there were Zechariah and Mattaniah.

From the descendants of Jeduthun there were Shemaiah and Uzziel.

Judah, and in order to purify the temple. The king commanded that the priests, who were descendants of Aaron, should offer those animals to be sacrifices to Yahweh on the altar. <sup>22</sup> So first the priests slaughtered those bulls, and took the blood and sprinkled it on the altar. Then they slaughtered the rams and sprinkled their blood on the altar. Then they slaughtered the lambs and sprinkled their blood on the altar. <sup>23</sup> The goats that were slaughtered to be an offering in order that Yahweh would forgive the sins of the people were brought to the king and the others who were there. Then the king and those who were present laid their hands on those goats. <sup>24</sup> Then the priests slaughtered those goats and splashed their blood on the altar, to atone for the sins of Israel. The priests did that because the king had commanded that offerings that would be completely burned on the altar and other sacrifices should be made for all the people of Israel.

<sup>31</sup> Then Hezekiah said, "You have now set yourselves apart for the honor of Yahweh. So come close to the temple and bring animals to be sacrificed, and also bring the other offerings to thank Yahweh for what he has done for you." Then those who wanted to bring animals to be completely burned on the altar brought them.

<sup>33</sup> The other animals that they brought were six hundred bulls and three thousand sheep and goats that were set apart for the honor of Yahweh, to be sacrifices. <sup>34</sup> There were not enough priests to remove the skins from the animals that would be completely burned on the altar. So the descendants of Levi stepped in to help the priests until the work was finished. The Levites were more hard-working and dedicated than the priests were.

In this way the worship at the temple began again. <sup>36</sup> And Hezekiah and all the other people of Judah celebrated, because God had enabled them to do all the repair work very quickly.

30 King Hezekiah, his officials, and all the other people who had gathered in Jerusalem wanted to celebrate the Passover festival. But they were not able to celebrate it at the usual time, because many of the priests had still not been able to perform all the rites of purity for themselves, so they were not allowed to do the work of that festival. Also, not everyone had come to Jerusalem to celebrate it. So they decided to celebrate the festival the following month. <sup>4</sup> The king and all the other people who had gathered thought that this was a good plan. <sup>5</sup> So they decided to send messages to all the cities and villages in Judah and in Israel, from Beersheba in the far south to Dan in the far north, including places in the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh, to invite people to come to the temple in Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover to honor Yahweh, the God whom the Israelite people worshiped. Many of the people had not previously celebrated that festival, even though it had been written in the law of Moses that they should do that.

"You Israelite people, you who survived after being slaves of the kings of Assyria, return to Yahweh, the God whom our great ancestors

Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob worshiped, in order that he may return to you. Your fathers and your fellow countrymen did not faithfully obey Yahweh, the God whom our ancestors worshiped.<sup>7</sup> Do not act like they did, because what they did caused Yahweh to punish them so severely that other people were horrified when they heard of what he had done.<sup>8</sup> Do not be stubborn as our ancestors were. Do what Yahweh desires. Come to Jerusalem to the temple, which he has set apart for his honor forever. Do what pleases Yahweh our God, in order that he will no longer be angry with you.<sup>9</sup> If you return to Yahweh, the people who have captured our brothers and sisters and our children will act kindly toward them, and allow them to return to this land. Do not forget that Yahweh our God is kind and merciful. If you return to him, he will no longer reject you."

the fourteenth day of that month. The priests and the other descendants of Levi who had not performed the rituals to purify themselves, they were ashamed; and they set about to make themselves qualified for the service to Yahweh, and they brought to the temple animals to be completely burned on the altar in the house of Yahweh.

<sup>21</sup> The Israelite people who were there in Jerusalem celebrated the Festival of Unleavened Bread for seven days. They rejoiced greatly as they celebrated, while the priests and other descendants of Levi sang to Yahweh every day and played musical instruments to praise God.

<sup>22</sup> Hezekiah thanked all the descendants of Levi for doing this work for Yahweh, and for very skillfully leading the people who were worshiping. For those seven days the people ate the Passover food and brought offerings to maintain fellowship with Yahweh and praised Yahweh, the God whom their ancestors had worshiped.

<sup>23</sup> Then the whole group decided to celebrate for seven more days; so they celebrated joyfully for seven more days.<sup>24</sup> King Hezekiah provided one thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep to be slaughtered for the people to eat during the festival, and the officials also gave them one thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep and goats. Many priests set themselves apart for serving Yahweh and to honor him, at this festival.<sup>25</sup> All the people of Judah rejoiced, including the priests and other descendants of Levi and all the people from Israel who had come, and including some from other countries who were living in Israel and some from other countries who were living in Judah.<sup>26</sup> Everyone in Jerusalem was very joyful, because nothing like this had happened in Jerusalem since the time when David's son Solomon was the king of Israel.<sup>27</sup> The priests and the other descendants of Levi stood up to bless the people, and God heard them, because their prayers reached up to heaven, the holy place where God lives.

31 After the festival ended, the Israelites who were there went to all the cities in Judah and smashed the stones for worshiping idols, and cut down the poles for worshiping the goddess Asherah. They destroyed the high places where idols were worshiped, and the altars of Baal throughout the tribes of Judah and Benjamin, and also in the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh. After destroying all of them, they returned to their own cities and towns.

<sup>2</sup> Hezekiah divided the priests and other descendants of Levi into groups. He appointed some of the groups to offer sacrifices that would be completely burned on the altar and offerings to maintain fellowship with Yahweh. He appointed some groups to do other work at the temple: Some to lead the people in their worship, some to thank Yahweh, and some to sing songs to praise Yahweh at the gates of the temple.<sup>3</sup> The king contributed some of his own funds to buy animals that would be sacrificed in the morning and in the evening of each day, and on the Sabbath days, to celebrate the new moons, and during the other feasts, according to what was written in the laws that Yahweh gave to Moses.<sup>4</sup> Hezekiah told the people living in Jerusalem to give to the priests and the other descendants of Levi the portions of meat that should be given to them, in order that they could devote all their time to obeying the laws of Yahweh.<sup>5</sup> As soon as he told that to them, they generously gave the first part of their harvest of grain, and the first part of the new wine that they produced, and olive oil and honey, and of the crops that grew in their fields. They brought to the temple a tenth of all their crops.<sup>6</sup> The men of Israel and Judah who were living in various cities in Judah also brought a tenth of their cattle and sheep and goats, and a tenth of other things that they had set them apart for the honor of Yahweh their God, and they piled up all those things in heaps.<sup>7</sup> They started to do that in the third month and finished doing it in the seventh month.<sup>8</sup> When Hezekiah and his officials saw the heaps, they praised Yahweh and requested God to bless the people.

<sup>9</sup> But Hezekiah asked the priests and other descendants of Levi, "What are these heaps of things?"<sup>10</sup> Then Azariah the high priest, a descendant of Zadok, replied, "Since the time that the people started to bring their offerings to the temple, we have had even more food than we need. This has happened because Yahweh has greatly blessed our fellow Israelites, with the result that all this is left over after we priests and other descendants of Levi took all that we need!"

<sup>11</sup> Then Hezekiah ordered that they should prepare storerooms at the temple to hold these supplies.<sup>12</sup> Then they brought into the storerooms all the tithes and offerings and things and the things dedicated to Yahweh which the people had brought. One of the descendants of Levi whose name was Koniah was in charge of those things, and his younger brother Shimei was his assistant.<sup>13</sup> Those two men supervised Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismakiah, Mahath and Benaiah while they did the work. They were appointed by King Hezekiah; Azariah was in charge of everything that was done in the temple.

<sup>14</sup> Kore son of Imnah, another descendant of Levi, who guarded the east gate of the temple, was in charge of the offerings to God that were made voluntarily. He distributed to the priests and other descendants of Levi the offerings and other things that were dedicated to Yahweh.<sup>15</sup> Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah and Shecaniah faithfully assisted him in the towns where the priests lived. They distributed those things to the groups of their fellow priests; they distributed them to everyone, including those who were young and those who were old.

<sup>16</sup> They also distributed things to the males who were at least three years old, those whose names were on the scrolls where lists of family names were written. They were males who were allowed to enter the temple to perform their tasks each day, the tasks that each group had been assigned to do. <sup>17</sup> The names of the priests were on the scrolls where their families' names were written. They also distributed things to groups of descendants of Levi, those who were at least twenty years old. <sup>18</sup> They included all their little children and wives and other sons and daughters whose names were on the scrolls where the family names were written, because they also faithfully had set themselves apart for the honor of Yahweh and his requirements for holiness.

<sup>19</sup> Hezekiah also appointed other men to distribute portions of those offerings to the priests and other descendants of Levi who were living in the pasturelands around the towns of Judah. But they gave things only to those who were descendants of Aaron the first high priest, whose names were on the scrolls containing the names of their families.

32 After King Hezekiah had obeyed Yahweh's instructions and had done all those things, King Sennacherib of Assyria came with his army and invaded Judah. He commanded his soldiers to surround the cities that had walls around them, thinking that they would break through those walls and conquer those cities. <sup>2</sup> When Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib had come with his army and that they intended to attack Jerusalem, <sup>3-4</sup> he consulted with his officials and army leaders. They said to themselves, "Why should we allow the king of Assyria and his army to come and find plenty of water to drink?" So they decided to stop the water from flowing outside the city. A large group of men gathered together and blocked all the springs and the stream that flowed through that area. <sup>5</sup> Then they worked hard to repair all the sections of the city wall that had been broken, and they built watchtowers on the walls higher. They strengthened the Millo, a massive supporting wall on the east side of the city of David. They also made a large number of weapons and shields.

<sup>9</sup> Later, when Sennacherib and all his soldiers were surrounding the city of Lachish, he sent some officers to Jerusalem to give this message to King Hezekiah and to all the people of Judah who were there:

<sup>10</sup> "I am Sennacherib, the great king of Assyria, and this is what I say: While you are staying in Jerusalem, my soldiers are surrounding the city. So what are you depending on to keep you safe?

<sup>11</sup> Hezekiah says to you, 'Yahweh our God will save us from being defeated by the army of you.' He wants you to die from having no food or water. <sup>12</sup> Hezekiah is the one who told his men to get rid of that god's high places on the hills, and his altars in the countryside, saying to you people of Jerusalem and other places in Judah, 'You must worship at only one altar and burn sacrifices on only that altar.'

<sup>13-14</sup> Do you people not know what I and my ancestors have done to all the people groups in other countries? We destroyed them all, and their gods could not save them from me. <sup>15</sup> So do not allow Hezekiah to deceive you like this. Do not believe what he says, because no god of any nation or kingdom has ever been able to rescue his people from being conquered by my army and the armies of my ancestors. So certainly your god will not be able to rescue you from my power."

<sup>16</sup> Sennacherib's officers said more things to insult Yahweh their God and Hezekiah, who served God well. <sup>17</sup> King Sennacherib wrote more letters insulting Yahweh, the God whom the Israelites belonged to. He wrote, "No god of any of these nations I have conquered could save his people from me. Similarly, the god of Hezekiah will not save his people from my power." <sup>18</sup> Then the officers shouted in the Hebrew language to the people who were on the wall, in order to cause them to be very terrified, thinking that as a result the army of Assyria could capture the city without a battle. <sup>19</sup> They belittled the God worshiped by the people of Jerusalem like they belittled the gods of the other people groups of the world, gods which indeed were only idols fashioned by craftsmen.

<sup>22</sup> That is how Yahweh guided and rescued Hezekiah and the people of Jerusalem from the power of Sennacherib, the king of Assyria, and from the power of all their other enemies. That is how he gave them peace with all the countries near them. <sup>23</sup> Many people brought offerings for Yahweh to Jerusalem, and also brought valuable gifts for King Hezekiah. And from that time, Hezekiah was highly respected by the people of all the other nations.

<sup>24</sup> About that time, Hezekiah became very ill. He thought that he was about to die. But he prayed to Yahweh, and Yahweh answered him. He performed a miracle and healed Hezekiah. <sup>25</sup> But Hezekiah was very proud, and he did not thank Yahweh for acting kindly toward him. Therefore Yahweh was angry with him and punished him and the people of Jerusalem and other places in Judah. <sup>26</sup> Then Hezekiah said that he was sorry about being proud, and the people of Jerusalem also said that they were sorry for their sins. So Yahweh did not punish them during the remaining years that Hezekiah was their king.

<sup>27</sup> Hezekiah became very rich and was greatly honored. His workers made storerooms for his silver and gold, for his very valuable stones, and for spices and shields and other valuable things. <sup>28</sup> His workers also built buildings to store the grain and wine and olive oil that people produced and brought to him. They also made stalls for various kinds of cattle, and pens for his flocks of sheep and goats. <sup>29</sup> They built cities and acquired for the king great many flocks of sheep and goats and herds of cattle, because God had enabled him to become very rich.

<sup>32</sup> A record of the other things that happened while Hezekiah was ruling, and the things that he did to please God, is written on the scroll of the vision of Isaiah the prophet. It is also written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. <sup>33</sup> When Hezekiah died, he was buried in the tombs where the most respected kings of Judah were buried. Everyone in Jerusalem and other places in Judah honored him. Then his son Manasseh became the king.

33 Manasseh was twelve years old when he became the king of Judah, and he ruled from Jerusalem for fifty-five years. <sup>2</sup> He did many things that Yahweh said were evil. He imitated the disgusting things that were formerly done by the people groups that Yahweh had expelled from Israel as his people advanced into the land. <sup>3</sup> He commanded his workers to rebuild the high places upon the hills for worshiping idols, the same ones that his father Hezekiah had destroyed. He told them to set up poles to honor the god Baal, and to make poles to honor the goddess Asherah. He also bowed down to worship all the stars.<sup>4</sup> He directed his workers to build altars for foreign gods in the temple itself, about which Yahweh had said, "It is here in Jerusalem that I want people to worship me, forever."<sup>5</sup> He directed that altars for worshiping all the stars be built in both of the courtyards outside the temple.<sup>6</sup> He even sacrificed some of his own sons by burning them in a fire in the Valley of Ben Hinnom. He performed rituals to practice sorcery. He asked fortune tellers for advice. He performed witchcraft. He talked to people who consulted the spirits of people who had died to find out what would happen in the future. He did many things that Yahweh says are very evil, things that caused Yahweh to become very angry.

<sup>7</sup> Manasseh took the carved idol that his workers had made and put it in the temple. That is the temple concerning which God had said to David and to his son Solomon, "My temple will be here in Jerusalem, the city that I have chosen where I want people to worship me, forever.<sup>8</sup> If they will obey all the laws and decrees and regulations that I told Moses to give to them, I will not again force the Israelite people to leave this land that I gave to their ancestors."<sup>9</sup> But Manasseh led the people of Jerusalem and other places in Judah to do things that are wrong, with the result that they did more evil than had been done by the people in the people groups that Yahweh had driven out as the Israelite people advanced through the land.

return to Jerusalem and to rule his kingdom again. Then Manasseh realized that Yahweh is God, who can do anything.

<sup>14</sup> Later, Manasseh's workers rebuilt the eastern section of the outer wall around Jerusalem, and they made it higher. That section extended from spring of Gihon north to the Fish Gate, and around the part of the city that they called Ophel Hill. Manasseh also appointed army officers to guard each of the cities in Judah that had walls around them.

<sup>15</sup> Manasseh's workers removed from the temple the idols and the figures of gods of other nations. He also told them to remove the altars that they had previously built on Mount Zion and in other places in Jerusalem. He had all those things thrown out of the city.<sup>16</sup> Then he told them to repair the altar of Yahweh, and he offered sacrifices to restore fellowship with Yahweh and to thank him. And he told the people of Judah that they must worship only Yahweh.<sup>17</sup> The people continued to offer sacrifices at the high places on the hills, but only to Yahweh their God.

<sup>18</sup> The other things that happened while Manasseh was ruling, including his prayer to God and the messages from Yahweh that the prophets spoke to him, are written in the book of the kings of Israel.<sup>19</sup> What Manasseh prayed and how God pitied him because of what he pleaded to God for—also his sins and ways in which he disobeyed God—also the list of places where he built the houses on the hills for idol worship and set up poles to honor the goddess Asherah and other idols before he humbled himself—these are all written in what the prophets wrote.<sup>20</sup> Manasseh died and was buried in his palace. Then his son Amon became the king of Judah.

<sup>21</sup> Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he ruled in Jerusalem for two years.<sup>22</sup> He did many things that Yahweh said were evil, as his father Manasseh had done. Amon worshiped all the idols that Manasseh's workers had made.<sup>23</sup> But he did not humble himself and turn to Yahweh like his father did. So he became more sinful than his father had been.

<sup>24</sup> Then Amon's officials made plans to kill him. They assassinated him in his palace.<sup>25</sup> But then the people of Judah killed all those who had assassinated Amon, and they appointed his son Josiah to be their king.

34 Josiah was eight years old when he became the king of Judah. He ruled from Jerusalem for thirty-one years.<sup>2</sup> He did things that were pleasing to Yahweh, and conducted his life like his ancestor King David had done. He fully obeyed all the laws of God.

<sup>3</sup> When he had been ruling for almost eight years, while he was still a boy, he began to worship God as his ancestor King David had done. Four years later, he began to get rid of all the houses that were built on the hills for idol worship, and they were all around Jerusalem and in other places in Judah. They also took down the poles that were to give honor the goddess Asherah and the carved idols and metal statues of gods.<sup>4</sup> While he directed them, his workers tore down the altars where people worshiped Baal. They smashed the altars that were near those altars, where people burned incense. They smashed the poles to honor the goddess Asherah and the idols carved from wood or stone and metal statues. They smashed them to bits and scattered the bits over the graves of those who had offered sacrifices to them.<sup>5</sup> They burned the bones of the priests who had offered sacrifices; they burned them on their own altars. In that way Josiah caused Jerusalem and other places in Judah to be acceptable places to worship Yahweh again.<sup>6</sup> In the towns in the tribes of Manasseh, Ephraim, and Simeon, and as far north as the tribe of Naphtali and in the ruins around all those towns,<sup>7</sup> Josiah's workers tore down the pagan altars and the poles to honor the goddess Asherah, and crushed the idols to powder, idols that craftsmen had carved. They also smashed to pieces all the altars for burning incense throughout Israel. Then Josiah returned to Jerusalem.

<sup>8</sup> When Josiah had been ruling for almost eighteen years, he decided to do something else to cause the land and the temple to be acceptable places to worship Yahweh. So he sent Shaphan son of Azaliah and Maaseiah the governor of the city and Joah son of Joahaz, the secretary, to repair the temple of Yahweh.

<sup>9</sup> They went to Hilkiah the high priest and gave him the money that had been brought to the temple. That was the money that the descendants of Levi who guarded the doors of the temple had collected from the people of the tribes of Manasseh and Ephraim and other places in Israel, and also from all the people in Jerusalem and other places in the tribes of Judah and Benjamin—all the people of the land who survived.

<sup>10</sup> Then Hilkiah gave some of the money to the men who had been appointed to supervise the work of repairing the temple. The supervisors paid the men who did the repair work.

<sup>11</sup> They also gave some of the money to the carpenters and builders to buy the cut stones and the timber for the joists and the beams for the buildings that the kings of Judah had allowed to decay.

<sup>14</sup> While they were giving to the supervisors the money that had been taken to the temple, Hilkiah the high priest found a scroll on which was written the laws that Yahweh had given to Moses to give to the people.<sup>15</sup> So Hilkiah said to Shaphan, "I have found in the temple a scroll on which is written the laws that God gave to Moses!" Then Hilkiah gave the scroll to Shaphan.

<sup>16</sup> Shaphan took the scroll to the king and said to him, "Your officials are doing everything that you told them to do.<sup>17</sup> They have taken the money that was in the temple, and they have given it to the men who will supervise the men who will repair the temple."<sup>18</sup> Then Shaphan said to the king, "I have also brought to you a scroll that Hilkiah gave to me." And Shaphan started to read it to the king.

who are still alive in Judah and Israel, about what is written in this scroll that has been found. Because it is clear that Yahweh is very angry with us because our ancestors disobeyed what Yahweh said; they did not obey the laws that are written on this scroll."

<sup>22</sup> So Hilkiah and the others went to consult a woman whose name was Huldah, who was a prophetess who lived in the Second District of Jerusalem. Her husband Shallum son of Tikvah, took care of the robes that were worn in the temple.

<sup>23</sup> When they told her what the king had said, she said to them, "This is what Yahweh, the God whom we Israelites say we worship, says: 'Go back and tell the king who sent you <sup>24</sup>that this is what Yahweh says: "Listen to this carefully. I am going to bring a disaster on Jerusalem and all the people who live here. I will send on them the curses that were written in the scroll that was read to the king of Judah.

<sup>25</sup> I will do that because they have abandoned me, and they burn incense to honor other gods. They have caused me to become very angry because of all the idols that they have made.' "<sup>26</sup> The king of Judah sent you to inquire what I, Yahweh, want. Go and tell him that this is what I, Yahweh, the God whom you Israelites worship, say about what you read:

<sup>27</sup> 'Because you heeded what was written in the scroll, and you humbled yourself when you heard what I said to warn about what would happen to this city and the people who live here, and because you tore your robes and wept in my presence, I have listened to you. <sup>28</sup> So I will allow you to die in peace, without seeing me punish this place and the people living in it.' "

So they took her reply back to the king.

<sup>29</sup> Then the king summoned all the elders of Jerusalem and other places in Judea. <sup>30</sup> They went up together to the temple with the leaders of Judah and many other people of Jerusalem and the priests and other descendants of Levi, from the least important to the most important ones. And while they listened, the king read to them everything that was in the scroll containing God's laws that had been found in the temple.

when they announced something important, and while Yahweh was listening, he repeated his promise to sincerely obey, with his entire inner being, Yahweh and all his commands and regulations and decrees that were written on the scroll.

<sup>32</sup> Then the king said that everyone who lived in Jerusalem and from the tribe of Benjamin should promise that they also would obey those laws. And they did that, agreeing that they would obey the agreement that God, whom their ancestors had worshiped, had made with them.

<sup>33</sup> Josiah instructed his workers to remove all the disgusting idols from all the land of the Israelite people, and he commanded that all those from Israel who were there should worship only Yahweh their God. As long as Josiah was alive, the people did what was pleasing to Yahweh, the God whom their ancestors worshiped.

35 Josiah commanded that the people should celebrate the Passover Festival in Jerusalem. So they slaughtered the lambs for the Passover on the 14th day of the first month. <sup>2</sup> Josiah assigned to the priests to the tasks that they should perform at the temple, and encouraged them to do their work well. <sup>3</sup> The descendants of Levi were the ones who taught all the Israelite people; they had been set apart for Yahweh. Josiah said to them, "Put the sacred chest in the temple that the workers of David's son King Solomon of Israel built. But carry it on poles; do not carry it on your shoulders. And do well your work for Yahweh your God and for his Israelite people. <sup>4</sup> Divide yourselves into your traditional clans, obeying the instructions that King David and his son Solomon wrote.

for the Passover sacrifices. He also provided three thousand bulls from his own herds.

<sup>8</sup> His officials also voluntarily contributed animals for the people and the priests and the other descendants of Levi. Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, the officials who were in charge of the temple, gave to the priests 2,600 lambs and three hundred cattle to be sacrifices for the Passover. <sup>9</sup> Also, Konaniah, along with his younger brothers Shemaiah and Nethanel, and Hashabiah, Jeiel, and Jozabad, the leaders of the descendants of Levi, provided five thousand lambs and five hundred cattle for the other descendants of Levi, to be sacrifices for the Passover.

<sup>10</sup> Everything for the Passover was arranged: The priests and the other descendants of Levi stood in their places in their groups, as the king had commanded. <sup>11</sup> Then they slaughtered the Passover lambs. The priests sprinkled the blood from the bowls that were handed to them, while the other descendants of Levi removed the skins from the animals. <sup>12</sup> They set aside the animals to be completely burned on the altar, in order to give them to the various family groups to offer to Yahweh, obeying the instructions that were written in the laws God gave Moses. They did the same thing with the cattle. <sup>13</sup> Obeying those regulations, they roasted over the fire the lambs for the Passover. And they boiled the meat of the sacred offerings in pots and kettles and pans, and served the meat immediately to all the people who were there. <sup>14</sup> After that, they prepared meat for themselves and for the priests, because the priests were busy until nighttime, sacrificing the offerings to be completely burned and burning the fat parts of the offerings. So the descendants of Levi prepared meat for themselves and for the priests, who were descendants of Aaron, the first high priest.

celebrated the Passover Festival, and they presented offerings to be completely burned on the altar, which was what Josiah had commanded. <sup>17</sup> The Israelites who were there celebrated the Passover on that day, and for seven days they celebrated the Festival of Unleavened Bread. <sup>18</sup> The Passover Festival had not been celebrated like that in Israel since the time that the prophet Samuel lived. And none of the kings of Israel had ever celebrated the Passover like Josiah did, along with the priests, the other descendants of Levi, and all the other people of Judah and Israel who were there with the people who lived in Jerusalem. <sup>19</sup> They celebrated this Passover Festival when Josiah had been ruling for almost eighteen years.

<sup>22</sup> But Josiah would not listen to him. Instead, he disguised himself in order to be able to attack the army of Egypt without anyone recognizing him. He did not pay any attention to what God had told Necho to say. Instead, he and his army went to fight Necho's army at the plain of Megiddo.

<sup>23</sup> Some archers shot King Josiah. He told his officers, "Take me away from here because I am badly wounded." <sup>24</sup> So they took him out of his chariot and put him in another chariot that he had brought with him, and they took him to Jerusalem, where he died. He was buried in the tombs where his ancestors had been buried, and all the people of Jerusalem and other places in Judah mourned for him.

<sup>25</sup> The prophet Jeremiah composed a song to lament for Josiah, and all the men and women singers in Israel still mourn for Josiah by singing that song. That became a custom in Israel; the words of that song are written in a scroll of funeral songs.

pened while Josiah ruled, from the time he started to rule until he died, including how he faithfully was devoted to honoring God by obeying all that was written in the laws of Yahweh, is written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

<sup>2</sup>Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became the king, but he ruled from Jerusalem for only three months. <sup>3</sup>The king of Egypt captured him and prevented him from ruling any longer. He also forced the people of Judah to pay to him a tax of three and one-third metric tons of silver and thirty-three kilograms of gold. <sup>4</sup>The king of Egypt appointed Jehoahaz's younger brother Eliakim to be the king of Judah. He changed Eliakim's name to Jehoiakim. But Necho seized Jehoahaz and took him to Egypt.

<sup>5</sup>Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became the king of Judah, and he ruled from Jerusalem for eleven years. He did many things that Yahweh said were evil. <sup>6</sup>Then the army of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon attacked Jehoiakim's army. They captured Jehoiakim, fastened him with bronze chains, and took him to Babylon. <sup>7</sup>Nebuchadnezzar's soldiers also took valuable things from the temple. They took them to Babylon and put them in King Nebuchadnezzar's palace there.

<sup>8</sup>A record of the other things that happened while Jehoiakim was ruling, the disgusting things that he did and the evil things that people said that he did, is written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. After he was taken to Babylon, his son Jehoiachin became the king of Judah.

<sup>9</sup>Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he became the king of Judah, and he ruled from Jerusalem for only three months and ten days. He did many things that Yahweh said were evil. <sup>10</sup>During the spring of the next year, King Nebuchadnezzar sent soldiers to bring him to Babylon. They also took to Babylon many valuable things from the temple of Yahweh. Then Nebuchadnezzar appointed Jehoiachin's uncle, Zedekiah, to be the king of Judah.

he became the king, and he ruled in Jerusalem for eleven years. <sup>12</sup>He did many things that Yahweh said were evil. He did not humble himself when the prophet Jeremiah spoke to him a message from Yahweh to warn him. <sup>13</sup>He would not return to Yahweh, the God that the people of Israel said that they worshiped. Zedekiah also rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar, who had forced him to solemnly promise using God's name to be loyal to him. Zedekiah became very stubborn. <sup>14</sup>Furthermore, all the leaders of the priests and also the people of Judah became more wicked again, doing all the disgusting things that the people of the other nations did, and causing the temple in Jerusalem that Yahweh had caused to be holy to become an unacceptable place to worship him.

<sup>15</sup>Yahweh, the God whom the ancestors of the people of Judah worshiped, gave messages to his prophets many times, and the prophets gave those messages to the people of Judah. Yahweh did that because he pitied his people and did not want his temple to be destroyed. <sup>16</sup>But the people continually made fun of God's messengers. They despised God's messages. They ridiculed his prophets, until finally God became extremely angry with his people, with the result that nothing could stop him from destroying Judah. <sup>17</sup>He incited the king of Babylonia to attack Judah with his army. They killed the young men with their swords, even in the temple. They did not spare anyone, either young men or young women or old people. God enabled the army of Nebuchadnezzar to defeat all of them. <sup>18</sup>His soldiers took to Babylon all the things that were used in God's temple, big things and little things, all the valuable things, and the valuable things that belonged to the king and his officials. <sup>19</sup>They burned the temple, and they broke down the wall surrounding Jerusalem. They burned all the palaces in Jerusalem and destroyed all the remaining valuable things there.

soil to rest. But the people had not done that. So after the army of Babylonia destroyed Judah, the soil was allowed to rest. That continued for seventy years, fulfilling what Yahweh had told Jeremiah would happen.

<sup>23</sup> "I, Cyrus, the king of Persia, declare that Yahweh, the God who rules in heaven, has enabled me to become the ruler of all the kingdoms of this world. And he has appointed me to command that my workers build a temple for him in Jerusalem, which is in Judah. I am allowing any of his people among you to go to Jerusalem. And I will pray that Yahweh will be with them."

Ezra

1 During the first year that Cyrus ruled the Persian Empire, he did something that fulfilled the prophecy that Jeremiah had spoken. Yahweh motivated Cyrus to write this message, and then Cyrus caused this message to be proclaimed throughout his empire:

<sup>2</sup>"I, King Cyrus, rule the Persian Empire, and I say this: Yahweh, the God who is in heaven, has made me ruler of all the kingdoms on earth. And he has assigned me to make sure that his people build a temple for him in Jerusalem, in Judah. <sup>3</sup>All you people who belong to God may go up to Jerusalem to rebuild this temple for Yahweh, the God who lives in Jerusalem, the God of Israel. <sup>4</sup>The other people who are living where Israelites are now in exile, whose ancestors were exiled here, must contribute silver and gold to those who go. They should also give the Jews the supplies that they will need for the journey to Jerusalem. They should also give them some livestock and gifts of money to help build the temple of God in Jerusalem."

<sup>5</sup>Then God motivated some of the priests and Levites and some of the leaders of the tribes that were descended from Judah and Benjamin to return to Jerusalem. Those whom God motivated got ready to return to Jerusalem and build the temple for him there.

gold bowls, 410 similar silver bowls, and one thousand other objects. <sup>11</sup>All together, there were 5,400 silver and gold items given to Sheshbazzar to take with him when he and the others returned to Jerusalem.

2 King Nebuchadnezzar's soldiers captured many Israelite people and took them to Babylonia. Many years later, some Israelite people returned to Judah. Some returned to Jerusalem, and some returned to other places in Judah. They went to the towns where their ancestors had lived. This is a list of the groups who returned. <sup>2</sup>The leaders of those people who returned were Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum, and Baanah.

<sup>59</sup>There was another group who returned to Judah from Tel Melah, Tel Harsha, Cerub, Addon, and Immer in Babylonia. But they could not prove that they were true Israelites. <sup>60</sup>This group included 652 people who were descendants of Delaiah, Tobiah, and Nekoda.

<sup>61</sup>The descendants of the priests in this group included people belonging to Habaiah's clan, Hakkoz's clan, and Barzillai's clan. Barzillai had married a woman who was a descendant of Barzillai from the region of Gilead, and he had taken for himself the name of his father-in-law's clan.

<sup>62</sup>The people in that group searched in the documents that had the names of the ancestors of all the clans, but these men's names were not found. So they were not permitted do the work that priests did. <sup>63</sup>The governor told them that they would need to ask a priest to consult Yahweh by casting the sacred lots, to determine whether those men were truly Israelites. If the stones showed that those men were Israelites, they would be permitted to eat the shares of the sacrifices that were given to the priests.

vants and two hundred musicians, both men and women, who returned. <sup>66</sup>The Israelites brought with them from Babylonia 736 horses, 245 mules, <sup>67</sup>435 camels, and 6,720 donkeys.

<sup>70</sup>Then the priests, the other descendants of Levi, the musicians, the temple guards, and some of the other people started to live in the towns and villages near Jerusalem. The rest of the people went to the other places in Israel there where their ancestors had lived.

3 After the Israelite people returned to Jerusalem and they began to live in their towns, in the autumn of that year, they all gathered together in Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup>Then Jeshua son of Jehozadak, and his fellow priests, and Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel and his close friends, all began to rebuild the altar of the God of Israel. They did that in order that they could sacrifice burned offerings on it, according to what the prophet Moses had written in the laws that God had given to him. <sup>3</sup>Even though they were afraid of the people who were already living in that area, they rebuilt the altar at the same place where the previous altar had been. They began to offer sacrifices every morning and every evening. <sup>4</sup>Fifteen days after they started to offer these sacrifices, the people celebrated the Festival of Shelters, as Moses had commanded them to do in the decrees that God had given to him. Each day the priests offered the sacrifices that were required for that day. <sup>5</sup>In addition, they presented the regular burned offerings and the offerings that were required for the New Moon festivals and the other festivals that they celebrated as special times each year to honor Yahweh. They also brought other offerings only because they desired to bring them, not because they were required to bring them.

temple building.<sup>7</sup> So the Israelites hired masons and carpenters, and they bought logs from cedar trees from the people of Tyre and Sidon. They gave those people food, wine, and olive oil as payment. They brought the logs down from the mountains in Lebanon to the Mediterranean seacoast and then floated them along the coast of the sea to Joppa. King Cyrus permitted them to do that. Then the logs were brought from Joppa inland up to Jerusalem.

<sup>10</sup> When the builders finished laying the foundation of the temple, the priests put on their robes and stood in their places, blowing their trumpets. Then the Levites who were descendants of Asaph clashed their cymbals to praise Yahweh, just as King David had many years previously told Asaph and the other musicians to do.<sup>11</sup> They praised Yahweh and thanked him, and they sang this song about him:

"He is very good to us!
He honors his covenant faithfulness for Israel, and he will love us forever."

Then all the people shouted loudly, praising him because they had finished laying the foundation of his temple.<sup>12</sup> Many of the old priests, Levites, and leaders of families remembered what the first temple was like, and they cried aloud when they saw the foundation of this temple being laid because they knew that the new temple would not be as beautiful as the first temple. But the other people shouted joyfully.<sup>13</sup> The shouting and the crying were like one very loud sound that even people far away could hear.

4 The enemies of the people of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin heard that they had returned from Babylonia and were rebuilding the temple for Yahweh, the God of Israel.<sup>2</sup> So they went to Zerubbabel the governor and to the other Jewish leaders and said to them, "We want to help you build the temple, because we worship the same God whom you worship. We have been offering sacrifices to him since Esarhaddon, the king of Assyria, brought us here."

<sup>3</sup> But Zerubbabel, Jeshua, and the other Jewish leaders replied, "We will not allow you to help us build a temple for our God. It is we alone who will build it for Yahweh, as Cyrus, king of Persia, told us to do."

<sup>4</sup> Then the people who had been living in that land before the Israelites returned tried to cause the Jews to become discouraged and afraid, so they would stop building the temple.

<sup>5</sup> They bribed government officials to prevent the Jews from continuing to work on the temple. They did that all during the time that Cyrus was king of Persia and also when Darius became king.<sup>6</sup> Then during the first year that Darius' son Ahasuerus was king, the enemies of the Jews wrote a letter to the king saying that the Jews were planning to rebel against the government.

<sup>7</sup> Later, when Ahasuerus' son Artaxerxes became king of Persia, Bishlam, Mithredath, Tabeel and their colleagues wrote a letter to him. They wrote the letter in the Aramaic language, and it was translated into the language of the Persians.

<sup>8</sup> Rehum, the high commissioner, and Shimshai, the provincial secretary, wrote the letter to King Artaxerxes concerning what was happening in Jerusalem.<sup>9</sup> They stated that the letter was from Rehum, Shimshai, and their associates, the judges, and other government officials, who were from Erech, Babylon, and Susa in the district of Elam.<sup>10</sup> They also wrote that they represented the other people groups whom the army of the great and glorious Ashurbanipal had deported and sent to live in Samaria and in other cities in the province west of the Euphrates River.

"This letter is for King Artaxerxes, and comes from the officials serving you who live in the province west of the Euphrates River.<sup>12</sup> Your Majesty, we want you to know that the Jews who came here from your territories are rebuilding the city of Jerusalem. These people are wicked and want to rebel against you. They are now repairing the foundations of the walls and building the walls of the city.<sup>13</sup> It is important for you to know that if they rebuild the city and finish building the walls, they will stop paying any taxes. As a result, there will be less money in your treasury.

<sup>14</sup> Now, because we are loyal to you, and because we do not want you to be humiliated, we are sending this information to you. <sup>15</sup> And, we suggest that you order your officials to search among the records kept by your ancestors. If you do that, you will find out that the people in this city have always rebelled against the government. You will also find out that from long ago these people caused trouble for kings and for rulers of provinces. They have always revolted against those who ruled them. That is the reason that this city was destroyed by the Babylonian army. <sup>16</sup> We want you to know that if they rebuild this city and finish building its walls, you will no longer be able to control the people in this province west of the Euphrates River."

"To you Rehum, the high commissioner, and Shimshai, the provincial secretary, and their colleagues in Samaria and in other parts of the province that is west of the Euphrates River, I send my greetings.

<sup>18</sup> The letter that you sent to me was translated and read to me. <sup>19</sup> So then, I ordered my officials to search the records. I have found out that it is true that the people of that city have always revolted against their rulers, and that the city is full of people who have rebelled and caused trouble. <sup>20</sup> In the past, powerful kings ruled in Jerusalem, and they also ruled over the whole province west of the Euphrates River. They forced the people there to pay them all kinds of taxes. <sup>21</sup> So you must command that the people must stop rebuilding the city. Only if I tell them that they may rebuild it will they be allowed to continue. <sup>22</sup> Do this immediately, because I do not want those people to do anything to harm the things about which I am con-

<sup>23</sup> Messengers took that letter to Rehum and Shimshai and their colleagues and read it to them. Then Rehum and the others went quickly to Jerusalem, and they forced the Jews to stop rebuilding the city wall. <sup>24</sup> The result was that the Jews stopped rebuilding the temple. They did not do any more work to rebuild the temple until the second year after Darius became the king of Persia.

5 At that time two prophets were giving messages from God to the Jews in Jerusalem and other cities in Judah. The prophets were Haggai and Zechariah, who was a descendant of Iddo. They spoke those messages representing the God that the people of Israel worshiped. <sup>2</sup> Then Zerubbabel and Jeshua led many other people to begin to rebuild the temple of God in Jerusalem. God's prophets Haggai and Zechariah were also with them and helped them.

<sup>3</sup> But Tattenai, the governor of the province west of the Euphrates River, and Shethar-Bozenai, his assistant, together with some of their officials went to Jerusalem and said to the people, "Who has permitted you to rebuild this temple?" <sup>4</sup> They also asked the Jews to tell them the names of the men who were working on the temple. <sup>5</sup> However, God was taking care of the Jewish leaders and they were not stopped by their enemies. They were waiting for King Darius to make a royal decree that would either give them permission and his protection so they could finish their work on the temple, or stop their work completely.

"King Darius, we hope that things are going well for you. <sup>8</sup> We want you to know that we went to Judah, where the temple of the great God is being rebuilt. The people are building it with huge stones, and they are putting wooden beams in the walls. The work is being done very carefully, and they are progressing well. <sup>9</sup> We asked the Jewish leaders, 'Who has permitted you to rebuild this temple?' <sup>10</sup> We also requested them to tell us the names of their leaders, in order that we could tell you who they were. <sup>11</sup> But instead of telling us their leaders' names, what they said was, 'We serve the God who created the heaven and the earth. Many years ago a great king of Israel told our ancestors to build a temple here, and now we are rebuilding it.'<sup>12</sup> But God, who rules in heaven, allowed the armies of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, to destroy that temple, because our ancestors did things that caused God to become very angry. Nebuchadnezzar's army took many of the Israelite people to Babylon.<sup>13</sup> However, during the first year that Cyrus king of Babylon started to rule, he decreed that the temple of God should be rebuilt.<sup>14</sup> Cyrus returned to our leaders all the gold and silver objects that had been taken from the temple and put in the temple in Babylon. Those objects were given to a man named Sheshbazzar, whom King Cyrus had appointed to be the governor in Judah.<sup>15</sup> The king instructed him to take the objects back to Jerusalem, to the place from where they had been taken. He also decreed that they should rebuild the temple at the place where it had been before. So Cyrus appointed Sheshbazzar to be the governor in Judah. He also sent all those things made of gold and silver, for Sheshbazzar to put into the new temple.<sup>16</sup> So Sheshbazzar did that. He came here to Jerusalem and supervised the men who laid the foundation of the temple. And since that time, the people have been working on the temple, but it is not finished yet.<sup>17</sup> Therefore, your Majesty, please order someone to search in the place in Babylon where the important records are kept, to find out whether it is true that King Cyrus decreed that God's temple should be rebuilt in Jerusalem. Then you can tell us what you want us to do about this matter."

6 So King Darius commanded someone to search in the place where important records were kept, but those documents were not there in Babylon.<sup>2</sup> They found a scroll in the fortress city of Ecbatana in Media that contained the information that they wanted to know.

This is what was written on that scroll:

<sup>3</sup> "During the first year that Cyrus ruled the empire, he sent out a decree concerning the temple of God that was in Jerusalem. He said that they must build a new temple in the same place where the Israelite people had previously offered sacrifices, where the original foundation of the first temple was. The temple must be twenty-seven meters high and twenty-seven meters wide.<sup>4</sup> The building must be made from large stones. After putting down three layers of stones, a layer of timber must be put on top of them. This work will be paid for by money from the royal treasury.<sup>5</sup> Also, the gold and silver objects that King Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple of God in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon must be taken back to Jerusalem. They must be once again put into God's temple."

"This is a message for Tattenai, the governor of the province west of the Euphrates River, and for his assistant Shethar-Bozenai, and for all your colleagues: Stay away from that area.<sup>7</sup> Do not interfere with the work of building the temple of God. The temple must be rebuilt at the same place where the former temple was. And do not hinder the governor of the Jews or their elders while they are doing this work.<sup>8</sup> Furthermore, I command you to help these leaders of the Jews as they rebuild this temple of God. You must give them funds for the building work from my treasury among you.<sup>9</sup> The Jewish priests in Jerusalem need young bulls and rams and lambs to sacrifice as they make burned offerings to the God of heaven. You must give them the animals that they need. Also, you must be certain to give them the wheat, salt, wine, and olive oil that they need each day for those sacrifices.<sup>10</sup> If you do that, they will be able to offer sacrifices that please the God who is in heaven, and they will pray that God will bless me and my sons.<sup>11</sup> If anyone disobeys this decree, my soldiers will pull a beam from his house. Then they will lift that man up and impale him on that beam. Then they will completely destroy that man's house until only a pile of rubble is left.<sup>12</sup> God has chosen that city of Jerusalem as the place where people will honor him. What I desire is that he will get rid of any king or any nation that tries to change this decree or tries to destroy that temple in Jerusalem. I, Darius, have made this decree. You must completely obey it."

<sup>16</sup>Then the priests and the Levites and all the other Israelite people who had returned from Babylon joyfully dedicated the temple.<sup>17</sup> During the ceremony to dedicate the temple, they sacrificed one hundred young bulls, one hundred rams, and four hundred lambs. They also sacrificed twelve male goats as an offering so that God would forgive the sins of the people of the twelve tribes of Israel.<sup>18</sup> Then the Jewish leaders divided the priests and Levites into groups that would take turns to serve at the temple. They did this according to what Moses had written many years previously in the laws that he wrote.

<sup>19</sup>On the 14th day of the first month, the Jews who had returned from Babylon celebrated the Passover Festival.<sup>20</sup> To qualify themselves for offering the sacrifices, the priests and Levites had already purified themselves by performing certain rituals. Then they slaughtered the lambs for the benefit of all the people who had returned from Babylon, for the other priests, and for themselves.<sup>21</sup> Those who had returned from Babylon and who had separated themselves from the unclean people around them who had a different culture, language, and worship, and they were able now to worship Yahweh, the God of the Israelite people, and to eat the Passover meal.<sup>22</sup> They celebrated the Festival of Unleavened Bread for seven days. The Israelite people throughout the land were joyful because Yahweh had changed the attitude of the king of Assyria toward them, and as a result, the king had helped them to rebuild the temple of God, the God of Israel.

7 Many years later, while Artaxerxes was the king of Persia, Ezra went from Babylon to Jerusalem. He was the son of Seraiah and the grandson of Azariah, and the great-grandson of Hilkiah.<sup>2</sup> Hilkiah was the son of Shallum, who was the son of Zadok, who was the son of Ahitub,<sup>3</sup> who was the son of Amariah, who was the son of Azariah, who was the son of Meraioth,<sup>4</sup> who was the son of Zerahiah, who was the son of Uzzi, who was the son of Bukki,<sup>5</sup> who was the son of Abishua, who was the son of Phinehas, who was the son of Eleazar, who was the son of Aaron, the first high priest.<sup>6</sup> Ezra was a man who knew the laws that Moses wrote very well. Those were the laws that Yahweh, the God of Israel, had given to the Israelite people. He left Babylon after the king had told people to give him anything he requested. Indeed, Yahweh helped Ezra very much in all these matters.<sup>7</sup> Some of the priests, some descendants of Levi, some singers, some gatekeepers, and some men who worked in the temple, and some other Israelite people went up with Ezra to Jerusalem. That was during the seventh year that Artaxerxes was the king of Persia.

rules and regulations that the God who is in heaven gave to the Israelite people.<sup>13</sup> Ezra, I command that when you return to Jerusalem, any of the Israelite people in my kingdom who want to be allowed to go with you. That includes any priests and descendants of Levi who will work in the temple who want to go.<sup>14</sup> I, along with my seven counselors, am sending you to Jerusalem, in order that you can determine what is happening there and in other towns in Judah. You are taking with you a copy of God's laws; make sure that the people are doing everything that is written in those laws.<sup>15</sup> We are also telling you to take with you the silver and gold that I and my advisors are wanting to give to you, in order that you will present it as an offering to the God of Israel who lives in Jerusalem.<sup>16</sup> You should also take any silver and gold that the people in the entire Babylonia province give to you, and the money that the priests and other Israelite people have happily said that they would give to you to be offerings for building the temple of their God in Jerusalem.<sup>17</sup> With this money, you should buy the bulls, rams, lambs, and the grain and wine that the priests will burn on the altar outside the temple of your God in Jerusalem.<sup>18</sup> If there is any silver or gold that remains after you have bought all those things, you and your companions are permitted to use it to buy whatever you desire, but buy only things that you know that God wants you to buy.<sup>19</sup> We have given to you some valuable items to be used in the temple of your God. Take them also to Jerusalem.<sup>20</sup> If you need any other things for the temple, you are permitted to get the money for those things from the royal treasury here.<sup>21</sup> And I, King Artaxerxes, command this to all the treasurers in the province west of the Euphrates River: Give to Ezra the priest who has studied very well the laws of the God who is in heaven, everything that he requests, and give it to him quickly.<sup>22</sup> Give him up to three and one-third metric tons of silver, five hundred bushels of wheat, two and one-fifth kiloliters of wine, the same of olive oil, and all the salt that they need.<sup>23</sup> Be sure that you provide whatever their God requires for his temple, because we certainly do not want him to be angry with me or with my descendants who will later be kings.<sup>24</sup> We are also commanding that none of the priests, descendants of Levi who work in the temple, musicians, temple guards, or other men who work in the temple, will be required to pay any taxes.<sup>25</sup> Ezra, your God has enabled you to become very wise. Using that wisdom, appoint men in the province west of the Euphrates River who will judge cases involving the people, and men who will judge cases involving the government. You must appoint men who know the laws of your God. All of you must teach God's laws to others who do not know them.<sup>26</sup> Everyone who does not obey God's laws or the laws of my government must be punished severely. Some of them will be executed, some will be put in prison, some will be sent out of the country or have all their property taken away from them."

<sup>27</sup> Ezra said, "Praise Yahweh, the God whom our ancestors worshiped! He has caused the king to want to honor his temple in Jerusalem.<sup>28</sup> Because God acted kindly and faithfully toward me, the king and all his advisors and all his powerful officials have also acted kindly toward me. Because God has helped me, I have been encouraged, and I have been able to persuade some of the Israelite leaders to go up to Jerusalem with me."

8 This is a list of the names of the leaders of the clans who came with me up to Jerusalem from Babylonia when Artaxerxes was king of Persia:<sup>2</sup> Gershom, in the clan descended from Aaron's grandson Phinehas. Daniel, in the clan descended from Aaron's son Ithamar. Hattush, a descendant of Shecaniah in the clan descended from King David.<sup>3</sup> Zechariah and 150 other men in the clan descended from Parosh.<sup>4</sup> Eliehoenai son of Zerahiah and two hundred other men in the clan descended from Pahath-Moab.<sup>5</sup> Ben Jahaziel and three hundred other men in the clan descended from Shecaniah.<sup>6</sup> Ebed son of Jonathan and fifty other men in the clan descended from Adin.<sup>7</sup> Jeshaiyah son of Athaliah and seventy other men in the clan descended from Elam.<sup>8</sup> Zebadiah son of Michael and eighty other men in the clan descended from Shephatiah.<sup>9</sup> Obadiah son of Jehiel and 218 other men in the clan descended from Joab.<sup>10</sup> Ben Josiphiah and one hundred sixty other men in the clan descended from Shelomith.<sup>11</sup> Zechariah son of Bebai and twenty eight other men in the clan descended from another man whose name was Bebai.<sup>12</sup> Johanan son of Hakkatan and one hundred ten other men in the clan descended from Azgad.<sup>13</sup> Also Eliphelet, Jeuel, and Shemaiah, who returned here later with sixty other men in the clan descended from Adonikam.<sup>14</sup> Uthai and Zaccur and seventy other men in the clan descended from Bigvai.

<sup>15</sup> Ezra said, "I gathered together all of Jews at the canal that goes from Babylon to Ahava. We set up our tents there and stayed there for three days. During that time I read the lists of names and found out that there were priests going with us, but no other descendants of Levi who could help them in the temple.<sup>16</sup> So I summoned Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, another man named Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah, and Meshullam, who were all leaders of the people. I also summoned Joarib and yet another man named Elnathan (three in all), who were teachers.<sup>17</sup> I sent them all to Iddo, the leader of the descendants of Levi, who was living in Kasiphia, to request that he and his relatives and other men who had worked in the temple in Jerusalem send us some men who would go with us to work in God's new temple.

<sup>21</sup> There alongside the Ahava Canal, I announced a time for us all to fast and pray. I told them that we should humble ourselves in the presence of our God. We prayed that God would protect us while we traveled, and also protect our children and our possessions.<sup>22</sup> Previously we had told the king that our God takes care of all those who truly trust in him, but that he becomes very angry with those who refuse to obey him. So I would have been ashamed to ask the king to send soldiers and men riding on horses to protect us from our enemies while we were traveling along the road.<sup>23</sup> So we fasted and requested God to protect us, and we prayed to him.

<sup>24</sup> I chose twelve of the leaders of the priests, Sherebiah and Hashabiah and ten others.<sup>25</sup> I assigned them to supervise the transport to Jerusalem of the gifts of silver and gold and the other valuable items that the king and his advisors and other officials, and the Israelite people who were living in Babylonia, had contributed for the temple of our God.<sup>26</sup> As I gave these various items to those priests, I weighed each of the items. This was the total: About twenty-one and one-half metric tons of silver, one hundred items made from silver that altogether weighed three and one-third metric tons, three and one-third metric tons of gold,<sup>27</sup> twenty gold bowls that altogether weighed about eight and one-half kilograms, and two items made of polished bronze that were as valuable as ones made of gold.

<sup>28</sup> I said to those priests, 'You are specially set apart for Yahweh, the God whom our ancestors worshiped, and these valuable things are special to him in the same way. The people themselves gave these things to be offerings to Yahweh voluntarily.<sup>29</sup> So guard them carefully, and when we arrive in Jerusalem, weigh them in the presence of the priests, the descendants of Levi who will help the priests, and the other Israelite leaders there. They will then put them in the storerooms in the new temple.'<sup>30</sup> So the priests and descendants of Levi took from me all the gifts of silver and gold and the other valuable items, in order to carry them to the temple in Jerusalem.

tion of each item.

<sup>35</sup>We who had returned from Babylonia offered to God sacrifices on the altar. We offered twelve bulls for all us Israelite people. We also offered ninety-six rams and seventy-seven lambs. We also sacrificed twelve goats to atone for the sins that all the people had committed. These were all completely burned on the altar. <sup>36</sup>Some of us who returned from Babylonia took to the governors and other officials of the province west of the Euphrates River the letter that the king had given to us. After they read the letter, they did all that they were able to do for us Israelite people and for the temple of God."

9 "Some time later, the Jewish leaders came to me and said, 'Many Israelites, and even some priests and other men who are descendants of Levi who work in the temple, have not kept themselves from doing what the other people who are living in this land do. They are doing the same disgusting things that are being done by the Canaan, Heth, Periz, Jebus, Ammon, and Amor people groups, and by the people from Moab and Egypt.<sup>2</sup> Specifically, some Israelite men have married women who are not Israelites, and they have allowed their sons to do the same thing. So we, God's sacred people, have become polluted. And some of our leaders and officials have been the first ones to betray God in this way!'

<sup>3</sup>When I heard that, I was overwhelmed, so I tore my clothes and tore some hair from my head and from my beard. Then I sat down, ashamed of my people since the Israelites knew that God had warned us that he would punish us if we disobeyed what he had said to us about marrying women who are not Israelites. <sup>4</sup>So many of them trembled when they heard that some of those who had returned from Babylonia had sinned like that. They came and sat with me until it was time to offer the evening sacrifices of grain.

<sup>5</sup>When it was time to offer those sacrifices, I was still sitting there, wearing those torn clothes and mourning. I stood up, and then I quickly prostrated myself on the ground. I lifted up my hands to Yahweh, my God,<sup>6</sup> and this is what I prayed:

'Yahweh my God, I am very ashamed to raise my head in front of you. The sins that we

Israelites have committed are very great; it is as though they have risen up higher than our heads. As for our guilt for committing those sins, it is as though it rises up to the heavens.<sup>7</sup> Since the time that our ancestors lived until now, we have been very guilty. That is the reason that we and our kings and our priests have been defeated by the armies of the kings of other lands. They killed some of our people, they captured some, they robbed some, and they caused them all to be disgraced, just as we are today.<sup>8</sup> But now, Yahweh God, you have acted very kindly toward us. You have allowed some of us to survive. You have revived our spirits and allowed us to escape from being slaves in Babylonia and to return safely to live in this sacred place.<sup>9</sup> We were slaves, but you did not abandon us. Instead, because you are always faithful to your covenant with us, you caused the kings of Persia to act very kindly toward us. You have allowed us to continue to live and to rebuild your temple which had been completely destroyed. You have allowed us to start to live safely here in Jerusalem and in other towns in Judah.<sup>10</sup> Our God, what more can we say now? In spite of all that you have done for us, we have disobeyed your commands.<sup>11</sup> They are commands that you gave to your servants, the prophets, to tell to us. They told us that the land that we would occupy was polluted because of the detestable things that were done by the people who lived there. They said that the land was filled from one end to the other with people who did immoral things.<sup>12</sup> They said that we should not allow our daughters to marry their sons! We should not allow our sons to marry their daughters! We should not even try to cause things to go well for those people! They said that if we obeyed these instructions, our nation would be strong, and we would enjoy the good crops that grow on the land, and the land would belong to our descendants forever.<sup>13</sup> But you punished us because we were very guilty for having done wicked things. Still, you have not punished us as much as we deserve to be punished. I say this because you, our God, have allowed some of us to survive.<sup>14</sup> However, some of us are again disobeying your commands, and we are marrying women who do those detestable things. If we continue to do that, surely you will get rid of all of us, with the result that none of us will remain alive.<sup>15</sup> Yahweh, God of Israel, you always do the right thing! We are guilty. We are only a few people who have escaped from Babylonia, but we are praying to you, even though we do not deserve to be in your presence."<sup>16</sup>

10 While Ezra was kneeling down in front of the temple and praying and crying, he was confessing the sins that the Israelite people had committed. Many people, men and women and children, gathered around him and also cried very much.<sup>2</sup> Then Shecaniah son of Jehiel in the clan of Elam, said this to him: "We have disobeyed God. Some of us have married women who are not Israelites. But we can still hope that Yahweh will be merciful to us Israelite people.<sup>3</sup> We will do what you, and the others who have an awesome respect for what our God has commanded, tell us to do. We will do what God told us in his laws. We will make a covenant with our God, saying that we will divorce our wives who are not Israelites, and we will send them away with their children.<sup>4</sup> It is your responsibility to tell us what to do. So get up, and be courageous, and do what is necessary. We will support you."

<sup>5</sup> So Ezra stood up and demanded that the leaders of the priests, the descendants of Levi, and all the other Israelite people solemnly declare that they would do what Shecaniah said that they should do. So they all solemnly promised to do that.<sup>6</sup> Then Ezra went away from in front of the temple and went to the room where Jehohanan lived. He stayed there that night, but he did not eat or drink anything. He was still sad because some of the Israelites who had returned from Babylonia had not faithfully obeyed God's laws.

<sup>7</sup> Then the leaders sent a message to all the people in Jerusalem and in other towns in Judah, saying that all those who had returned from Babylonia should come to Jerusalem immediately.<sup>8</sup> The leaders also said that if any of them did not arrive within three days, they would order that all the property of those people be taken from them, and that they must no longer be considered to belong to the Israelite people; they would be considered to be foreigners.

tribes of Judah and Benjamin gathered in Jerusalem. They were there, sitting in the courtyard in front of the temple. They were shaking because it was raining hard and because they were worried that they would be punished for what they had done.<sup>10</sup> Then Ezra stood up and said to them, "Some of you men have committed an act of treason against God. You have married women who are not Israelites. By doing that, you have made us Israelite people more guilty than we were before.<sup>11</sup> So now you must worship Yahweh, the God whom your ancestors worshiped, and you must do what he wants. Separate yourselves from the people of other nations and from the women from those nations whom you have married."

<sup>12</sup> The whole group answered, shouting loudly, "Yes, what you have said is right! We will do what you have said.<sup>13</sup> But we are a very large group, and it is raining hard. Also, there are many of us who have committed this evil sin. This is something that we cannot take care of in one or two days, and we cannot stand here in this rain.<sup>14</sup> So allow our leaders to decide for all of us what we should do. Tell everyone who has married a woman who is not Israelite to come at a time that you decide. They should come with the elders and judges from each city. If we do that, our God will stop being angry with us because of what we have done."

<sup>16</sup> But all the others who had returned from Babylonia said that they would do it. So Ezra chose leaders of each of the clans, and I wrote down their names. On the first day of the tenth month these men came and sat down to investigate the matter.<sup>17</sup> By the first day of the first month of the next year they had finished determining which men had married women who were not Israelites.

<sup>18</sup> This is a list of the names of the priests who had married non-Jewish women, and the clans to which they belonged. In the clan of Jeshua and his brothers, who were sons of Jehozadak, there were Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib, and Gedaliah.<sup>19</sup> They solemnly promised to divorce their wives, and they each sacrificed a ram to be an offering to atone for their sins.

<sup>22</sup>In the clan of Pashhur there were Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad, and Elasar. <sup>23</sup>The descendants of Levi who had married non-Jewish women were Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (whose other name was Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer. <sup>24</sup>There was Eliashib the musician. Among the temple guards there were Shallum, Telem, and Uri.

clan of Bani there were Meshullam, Malluk, Adaiah, Jashub, and Sheal Jeremoth. <sup>30</sup>In the clan of Pahath-Moab there were Adna, Kelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Binnui, and Manasseh. <sup>31</sup>In the clan of Harim there were Eliezer, Ishijah, Malkijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, <sup>32</sup>Benjamin, Malluk, and Shemariah.

Nehemiah

1 I am Nehemiah son of Hakaliah. I am writing this account of what I did when I returned to Jerusalem. During the twentieth year after King Artaxerxes began to rule the Persian Empire, in the month of Kislev. I was in Susa, the capital of Persia.

2 My brother Hanani came to see me. He and some other men were from Judah. I asked them questions about the small number of Jews who had escaped from the Babylonian exile, and about the city of Jerusalem.

3 They said to me, "The Jews who survived the captivity are living there in Judah with great difficulty and shame. The wall of the city was pushed down at many places so an army could easily come through it, and not only so, but the gates of the city have been completely destroyed by fire."

4 When I heard that, I sat down and cried. For many days I mourned and fasted, and I prayed to the God who is in heaven. 5 I said, "Yahweh, you are the God who is in heaven. You are the great and awesome God, and you keep your sacred bond and promise with everyone who loves you and who obeys your rules and commands. 6 Now please look at me and listen to what I am praying. I pray during the day and at night for your Israelite people. I confess that we have sinned. Even I and my family have sinned against you. 7 We have acted very wickedly. Many years ago your servant Moses gave us your laws and all the decrees you commanded us to do, but we did not keep them.

8 But please remember what you told your servant Moses. You said, 'If you do not live with faith and obedience before me, I will scatter you among the nations. 9 But if you return to me and obey my commands, even if you have been exiled to a very remote place, I will gather all of you up and bring you back to this place where I showed you how great and glorious I am.'

10 We are your servants. We are the people whom you have delivered from slavery by your very great power. You did that because you are able to do whatever you desire. 11 Yahweh, please hear my prayer, I who am your servant. Please hear the prayers of all your people who have great joy when they honor you for who you are and what you do. Now I pray you would give me success when I go to the king; and protect me as I make a request of the king that could put my life in jeopardy. Give me mercy."

I was serving as one of the most trusted servants to the king.

2 In the month of Nisan during the twentieth year of the rule of King Artaxerxes, it was time to serve wine to him during a feast. I took the wine and gave it to the king. I had never looked sad when I was before the king. 2 But that day, the king looked at me and he said to me, "Why are you so sad? You do not look sick. Perhaps your spirit is troubled?" Then I was very afraid.

3 I replied, "O King, may you rule for many, many years! I am sad for a reason, because the city in which my ancestors are buried has been turned to rubble, and all the gates around the city have been burned to ashes."

4 The king replied, "What do you want me to do for you?"

And before I answered him, I prayed to God in heaven. 5 Then I replied, "If you are willing to do it, and if I have pleased you, then you could send me to Jerusalem, where my ancestors are buried, so that I may rebuild the city."

6 The king (with queen sitting beside him) asked me, "If I allow you to go, how long will you be gone? And when will you return?" He gave me permission to go as soon as I gave him the dates of my going there and coming back again.

7 I also said to the king, "As a reward for my faithful service to you, please give me letters addressed to the governors who oversee the area beyond the Euphrates River. Please give them orders to allow me to travel safely through their province on my way to and from Judah. 8 Also, please write a letter to Asaph, who manages all the timber in your forest, and tell him to make beams to repair the gates of the fortress next to the temple, and to repair the walls of the city, and the house in which I will live." The king did what I requested him to do, because God was helping me get what I needed for these repairs.

<sup>9</sup>I left to travel to Judah. The king sent some army officers and soldiers riding on horses to accompany me, to protect me. When we came to the region where the governors ruled, I gave them the letters from the king.

<sup>10</sup>But when two government officials, Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite servant, heard that I had arrived, they were very angry that someone had come to help the people of Israel.

<sup>11</sup>So I came to Jerusalem and stayed there three days. <sup>12</sup>I went out of the city in the evening, and I took a few men with me. We only had one animal, the one that I was riding on. I said nothing to anyone about what God had inspired me to do in Jerusalem.

<sup>13</sup>I passed through the Valley Gate and went outside of the city wall. Then I went around the city and passed by the well called the Jackal's Well. Then I proceeded to the Dung Gate. I inspected all the walls around Jerusalem and found they were all broken open, and the wooden gates all around the wall were burned to ashes. <sup>14</sup>Then I went to the Fountain Gate and to the pool called the King's Pool, but my donkey could not get through the narrow opening. <sup>15</sup>So I turned back and went along the Kidron Valley and I inspected the wall there before I turned back and entered the city again at the Valley Gate.

<sup>16</sup>The city officials did not know where I had gone, or what I had done. I had not said anything about it to the Jewish leaders or the officials or the priests or any of the others who would do the repair work.

<sup>17</sup>I said, "You all know very well the terrible things that have happened to our city. The city is lies in ruins, and even the gates are burned down. Come, let us do the work to rebuild the wall of Jerusalem. If we do that, we will no longer be ashamed of our city." <sup>18</sup>Then I told them about how God had kindly helped me when I talked to the king, and what the king had said to me.

They replied, "Let us get up and build!" So they got ready to do this good work.

<sup>19</sup>But Sanballat, Tobiah the Ammonite servant, and Geshem the Arabian, heard about what we planned to do. They mocked and made fun of us. They said, "What is this work that you are doing? Are you rebelling against the king?"

<sup>20</sup>But I replied, "The God who is in heaven will give us success. But you have no right to this city, you have no deed, you have no lawful claim to it, and you have no historic connection to the city of Jerusalem."

3 Then Eliashib, the high priest of Israel, working with the other priests, rebuilt the Sheep Gate. They set it apart for the honor of Yahweh, and set the doors of the gate in place. Then they rebuilt the wall as far as the Tower of the Hundred, and they set it apart to honor Yahweh. They also rebuilt the Tower of Hananel. <sup>2</sup>Next to them, men from Jericho were rebuilding. Next to them, Zaccur son of Imri, was rebuilding.

<sup>6</sup>Joiada son of Paseah, and Meshullam son of Besodeiah, repaired the Old Gate. They also put in their places the beams above the gate and put in the bolts and the bars for locking the gate. <sup>7</sup>Next to them Melatiah the Gibeonite and Jadon the Meronothite, who were men from Gibeon and Mizpah, made repairs on the portion where the governor of the province beyond the River lived. <sup>8</sup>Next to him, Uzziel son of Harhaiah, and Hananiah, but they worked on a section of the wall as far as the Broad Wall. Harhaiah made things from gold, and Hananiah made perfumes. <sup>9</sup>Next to them, Rephaiah son of Hur, who ruled half of the district of Jerusalem, repaired part of the wall.<sup>10</sup> Next to him, Jedaiah son of Harumaph repaired part of the wall near his house. Next to him, Hattush son of Hashabneiah repaired part of the wall.<sup>11</sup> Malchijah son of Harim, and Hashub son of Pahathmoab, repaired a section of the wall, and also repaired the Tower of the Ovens.<sup>12</sup> Next to him, Shallum son of Hallohesh, who ruled the other half of the district of Jerusalem, repaired part of the wall. His daughters helped him with the work.

<sup>13</sup> Hanun and people from the city of Zanoah repaired the Valley Gate. They put the gates in their places, and also put in the bolts and bars for locking the gate. They repaired the wall for 460 meters, as far as the Dung Gate.

<sup>15</sup> Shallum son of Colhozeh, who ruled the district of Mizpah, repaired the Fountain Gate. He put a roof over the gate, and put in their places the gates and the bolts and the bars for locking the gate. Near the Pool of Siloam he built the wall next to the king's garden, as far as the steps that went down from the city of David.<sup>16</sup> Next to him, Nehemiah son of Azbuk, who ruled half of the district of Beth Zur, repaired the wall as far as the tombs in the city of David, to the pool that was man-made, and to the House of the Heroes.

<sup>30</sup> Next to him, Hananiah son of Shelemiah, and Hanun the sixth son of Zalaph, repaired a section. That was the second section that they repaired. After him Meshullam son of Berechiah repaired the walls in the section that faced the rooms where he lived.<sup>31</sup> Next to them, Malchijah, who also made things from gold, repaired a section as far as the building used by the temple servants and merchants, which was in front of the Appointment Gate and the upper apartments on the corner.<sup>32</sup> Other men who worked with gold, making beautiful things, along with merchants, repaired the last section of the wall as far as the Sheep Gate.

4 When Sanballat heard that we were rebuilding the city wall, the fact that they were rebuilding Jerusalem burned like a fire within him, and he was furious and he spoke of the Jews with disgust.<sup>2</sup> While his counselors and officials of the army troops who had come from Samaria were listening he said, "These Jews can hardly stand on their own legs, what do they think they are doing? Will they rebuild the city and live in it themselves? Will they restore the temple and the all the sacrifices that the priests gave to Yahweh? Will they finish such a great work in only a day? Will they turn these burned and useless rocks into useful material to rebuilt the wall and will they bring life to the city again?

<sup>4</sup>Then I prayed. I said, "Our God, hear us, because they are ridiculing us! Cause the words of their insults to fall back on themselves! Allow their enemies to come and capture them and force them to go to a foreign land! <sup>5</sup>They are guilty. Do not take away their guilt and let them answer for the sin they committed before you. With their insults, they are making those who are rebuilding the walls become very angry!"

<sup>7</sup>But when Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabians, the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites heard that the work on the wall was continuing and that we were filling in the gaps in the wall, they became very angry. <sup>8</sup>They all made a plan together to come and fight against the people of Jerusalem, and to cause confusion within it. <sup>9</sup>But we prayed to our God to protect us, and we put men around the walls to guard the city day and night because of these who were so angry with us for rebuilding the wall.

<sup>10</sup>Then the people of Judah started to say, "The men who are working on the wall have used up all their strength. There is too much heavy rubble that we must move away; we are not able to finish this work. It is too much for us.

<sup>12</sup>The Jews who were living near our enemies came and told us many times, to warn us about the wicked plans our enemies were planning to carry out against us.

<sup>15</sup>Our enemies heard that we knew what they were planning to do and that God had spoiled all their plans to stop our work. So we all returned to work on the wall, at the same places we were working before.

<sup>16</sup>But after that, only half of the men there were doing the work on the wall. The others stood there holding their spears, shields, bows and arrows, and wearing armor for protection. The leaders stood guard behind the people of Judah. <sup>17</sup>Those who were building the wall and those who carried the heavy loads on their backs, all of them built the wall with one hand and held a weapon in the other hand. <sup>18</sup>All who were building the wall had his sword fastened to his side. The man who would blow the trumpet if our enemies attacked was standing at my side.

<sup>19</sup>Then I said to the officials, the other important men, and the other people, "This is a huge job, and we are far apart from each other along the wall. <sup>20</sup>If you hear the man blowing the trumpet, gather around at that place. Our God will fight for us!"

<sup>21</sup>So we continued to work. Half of the men continued to hold their spears all day, from when the sun rose in the morning until the stars appeared at night. <sup>22</sup>At that time, I also said to the people, "Tell every worker and his helper that they must stay inside Jerusalem at night. By doing that, they can guard us at night, and they can work on the wall during the daytime." <sup>23</sup>During that time, I did not put away my clothing, and I always carried my weapon. The same was true of my brothers, my servants, and the men who followed me and served as guards. All of us did the same, even if we just went to get a drink of water.

5 Later, many of the men and their wives cried out for justice because of what some of the other Jews were doing. <sup>2</sup> Some of them said, "We have many children. So we need a lot of grain to be able to eat and stay alive."

<sup>3</sup> Others said, "it has been necessary for us to mortgage the fields and vineyards and houses that we own so that we may get grain to eat during this famine."

<sup>6</sup> I was very angry when I heard these things about which they were so concerned. <sup>7</sup> So I thought about what I could do about it. I told the leaders and officials, "You are charging interest to your own relatives when they borrow money from you. You know that is wrong!" Then I called together a large group of people to bring charges against them. <sup>8</sup> I said to them, "Some of our Jewish relatives have been forced to sell themselves to become slaves of the nations. As much as we have been able, we have been buying them back. But now you are even selling your own relatives so that they might be sold back to us, their fellow Jews!" When I said that to them, they were silent. They did not answer with even a single word.

<sup>9</sup> Then I said to them, "What you are doing is terrible. Should you not obey God and do what is right? If you did, you would prevent our enemies from treating us with disrespect. <sup>10</sup> I and my fellow Jews and my servants have lent money and grain to people. But let us all stop charging interest on any of these loans.

<sup>11</sup> Also, you must give back to them their fields, their vineyards, their olive tree orchards, and their houses that you have taken from them. You must also give back to them the interest that you charged them when they borrowed money, grain, wine, and olive oil from you. You must do this today!"

you have said. We will return to them everything that we forced them to give to us, and we will not require that they give us anything more."

Then I summoned the priests, and I made them give an oath that they would do what they promised. <sup>13</sup> I shook out the folds of my robe and said to them, "If you do not do what you have just now promised to do, I hope that God will shake you like I am shaking my robe."

They all replied, "Amen, let it be so!" And they praised Yahweh. Then they did what they had promised to do.

<sup>14</sup> I was appointed to be the governor of Judea in the twentieth year that Artaxerxes was the king of Persia. From that time until the thirty-second year, during those twelve years neither I nor my officials accepted the money that we were allowed to receive to buy food because of my being the governor. <sup>15</sup> The men who were governors before me had burdened the people by requiring them forty silver coins each day for their food and wine. Even their servants oppressed the people. But I did not do that, because I wanted to give honor and respect to God.

<sup>16</sup> I also continued to work on this wall, and we did not buy any land from the people. All those who worked for me joined me to work on the wall. <sup>17</sup> Also, every day I was responsible to feed at our table the Jews and the officials, one hundred and fifty people; and we also fed the visitors who came from other countries around us. <sup>18</sup> Each day I told my servants to serve us the meat from one ox, six very good sheep, and birds. And every ten days I gave them a large new supply of wine. But I knew that the people were burdened by paying a great deal of money for taxes, so I did not accept the money that I was entitled to as governor.

6 Sanballat, Tobiah, Geshem, and our other enemies heard a report that we had finished rebuilding the wall, and that now there were no more gaps, although we had not yet replaced the doors in the gates. <sup>2</sup> So Sanballat and Geshem sent me a message that read, "Come and talk with us at a place in the plain of Ono north of Jerusalem." But it was no secret that they wanted to harm me.

<sup>3</sup> So I sent messengers to them, to tell them, "I am doing an important work, and I cannot go down there. This work should not be delayed just so I can go down to talk with you. <sup>4</sup> They sent me the same message four times, and each time when I replied to them I said the same thing.

"Some people in the nearby countries have heard a report that you and the other Jews are rebuilding the wall in order to be able start a rebellion against the king of Babylon, and that you are planning to become the king of the Israel. Geshem has told us that this is the truth."

<sup>7</sup> People are also saying that you have appointed some prophets to proclaim in Jerusalem that you, Nehemiah, are now the king in Judea. King Artaxerxes will certainly hear these reports, and then you will be in big trouble. So I suggest that we should meet together to talk about this matter."

<sup>8</sup> When I read that message, I sent the messenger back to Sanballat to say, "None of what you are saying is true. You have made this up in your own imagination." <sup>9</sup> I said that because I knew that they were trying to cause us to be afraid, so that they thought, "They will become so discouraged that they will not work on the wall any more, and the work will never be finished." So I prayed, "O God, give me courage."

<sup>10</sup> One day I went to talk with Shemaiah son of Delaiah and grandson of Mehetabel. I went to talk with him in his house. He was ordered not to leave his house. He said to me, "You and I must enter the temple, and we must go to one of the rooms in the center of the temple, and lock the doors. They are going to come to kill you. They are coming tonight to kill you."

<sup>11</sup> I replied, "I am not that kind of person! I would not run and hide in the temple to save my life! No, I will not do that!" <sup>12</sup> I thought about what he had said, and I saw that God had not told Shemaiah what to say to me. Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. <sup>13</sup> They had hired him to frighten me. They wanted me to disobey God's commands and sin by hiding in the temple. If I did that, they would give me a bad name for what I had done, and then they would humiliate me.

<sup>14</sup> So I prayed, "My God, do not forget what Tobiah and Sanballat have done. And do not forget the prophetess Noadiah and the other prophets who tried to make me be afraid."

<sup>15</sup> We finished rebuilding the wall in the month of Elul, on the twenty-fifth day of the month. We did all the work in fifty-two days.

<sup>17</sup> During this time, the Jewish leaders had been sending many messages to Tobiah, and Tobiah had been sending messages back to them. <sup>18</sup> Many people in Judea had sworn their allegiance to Tobiah. He was the son-in-law of Shecaniah son of Arah, and Tobiah's son Jehohanan married the daughter of Meshullam son of Berekiah. <sup>19</sup> People often talked in my presence about all the good deeds that Tobiah had done, and then they would tell him everything that I said. So Tobiah sent many letters to me to try to cause me to become afraid.

7 After the wall had been finished and we had put the gates in their places, we assigned to the temple guards and to the members of the sacred choir and the other descendants of Levi the work that they were to do. <sup>2</sup> I appointed my brother Hanani as governor of Jerusalem. He was a faithful man who respected God and honored him, more than many others. In addition, Hananiah was appointed commander of the fortress there in Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup> I said to them, "Do not open the gates of Jerusalem until the sun is hot. And close the gates and put the bars across the doors only when gatekeepers are guarding the gates." I also told them to appoint some people who live in Jerusalem to be guards, and to assign some of them to guard stations around the city, and some would guard near their own houses."

houses.<sup>5</sup> God gave me the idea to summon the leaders and officials and other people, and to enroll them by their families in the books of the records of the families. I also found the records of the people who had been the first ones to return to Jerusalem. This is what I found written in those records.

The number of men from the people who returned to Judah are listed next.<sup>8</sup> From the descendants of Parosh, 2,172,

the descendants of Jeshua and Joab,

other name is Hezekiah, 98,

whose other name is Jorah, 112,

whose other name is Gibbar, ninety-five.

these towns also returned:

Men from Bethlehem and Netophah, 188.

<sup>27</sup> There were also men from Anathoth,

128,

and Beeroth, 743,

These priests also returned:

the family of Jeshua, 973,

the descendants of Jeshua, Kadmiel,

Binnui, and Hodeva, seventy-four,

<sup>44</sup> singers who were descendants of Asaph, 148.

<sup>45</sup> Also 138 temple gatekeepers from the descendants of Shallum, Ater, Talmon, Akkub, Hatita, and Shobai, returned.

<sup>46</sup> Temple workers who returned were descendants of these men:

Ziha, Hasupha, Tabbaoth,

<sup>52</sup> Besai, Meunim, Ephusesim who is also called Nephushesim,

<sup>54</sup> Bazluth who is also called Bazluth, Mehida, Harsha,

Solomon who returned were:

Sotai, Sophereth, Perida,

<sup>59</sup> the descendants of Shephatiah, the descendants of Hattil, the descendants of Pochereth

Hazzebaim, the descendants of Amon.

<sup>61-62</sup> Another group of 642 people from the clans of Delaiah, Tobiah, and Nekoda returned from the towns of Telmelah, Telharsha, Kerub, Addon, also known as Addon, and Immer in Babylonia. But they could not prove that they were descendants of Israel.

<sup>70</sup> Some of the leaders of the clans gave gifts for the work of rebuilding the temple. The governor gave eight and one-half kilograms of gold, fifty bowls to be used in the temple, and five-hundred and thirty robes for the priests. <sup>71</sup> The other leaders gave to the treasury one-hundred and seventy kilograms of gold, and the leaders of the clans gave a total of one and one-fifth metric tons of silver. <sup>72</sup> The rest of the people gave one-hundred and seventy kilograms of gold, and one metric ton of silver, and sixty-seven robes for the priests.

<sup>73</sup> So the priests, the Levites who helped the priests, the temple guards, the musicians, the temple workers, and many ordinary people, who were all Israelites, started to live in the towns and cities of Judea where their ancestors had lived.

By the seventh month the people of Israel had gone to their cities and they were living in them.

8 All the people gathered together in the plaza that was close to the Water Gate. Men and women and children who were old enough to understand gathered together. They asked Ezra to bring out the scroll of the law that Moses had written down, and which Yahweh had given as the law for the people of Israel, for them to obey its rules and commands. <sup>2</sup> Ezra, who served God through the sacrifices in the temple, brought out the law and presented it before all the people, to both men and women, and anyone else who could understand what he read. He did this on the first day of the seventh month of that year. <sup>3</sup> So he brought it out and read it to the people. He read it from early in the morning until the middle of the day. All the people listened, men and women, anyone who was able to understand what he read. The people listened with great interest to what Ezra read from the book of the law.

<sup>5</sup> Ezra opened the scroll as he stood on the platform above the people, and all could see him, and as he opened the book all the people stood up. <sup>6</sup> Then Ezra praised Yahweh, the great God, and all the people lifted up their hands and said, "Amen! Amen!" Then they all bowed down with their faces to the ground, and they worshiped Yahweh.

<sup>7</sup> Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, and Pelaiah, were all Levites. They explained the meaning of the laws of Moses to the people who were standing there. <sup>8</sup> They also read from scrolls the law that God gave to Moses, and they translated it into the Aramaic language, making the meaning clear for those who could understand it.

the priest and scribe, and the Levites who were interpreting what was being read to the people, said to them, "Yahweh your God considers that this day is set apart from other days. So do not be sad or cry!" For all the people were crying when they heard the law of Moses read by Ezra.

<sup>10</sup> Then Nehemiah said to them, "Now go home and enjoy some good food and have something sweet to drink. And send some of it to people who do not have anything to eat or drink. This is a day set apart to worship our Lord. Do not be filled with sadness! The joy that Yahweh gives will make you strong."

<sup>12</sup> So the people went away, and they ate and drank, and they sent portions of food to those who did not have any. They were very happy, because they understood the meaning of the words that been read to them.

<sup>13</sup> On the next day, the leaders of the families and the priests and the Levites came together with Ezra to study so they would gain insight from the words of the law. <sup>14</sup> They read in the law how Yahweh had ordered Moses to command the people of Israel to live in temporary shelters that entire month, to remember that their ancestors lived in shelters when they walked in the wilderness. <sup>15</sup> They also learned that they should proclaim in Jerusalem and in all the towns that the people should go to the hills and cut branches from olive trees and from wild olive trees and from myrtle trees, palm trees and shade trees. They should make shelters from these branches to live in during the festival, just as Moses wrote about this.

Then on the eighth day, they followed the decree and called for all the people to come together, so they could bring the festival to an end.

9 On the twenty-fourth day of the same month, the people gathered together. They did not eat food for a while, and they wore clothes they made from bags used to carry wheat and other grains, and they put the dust of the earth on their heads. <sup>2</sup> The descendants of Israel separated themselves away from all the foreigners. They stood there and confessed their own sins and the wicked things their ancestors had done. <sup>3</sup> They stood and for three hours they read from the law of Yahweh, and for another three hours they spoke out loud about their sins before Yahweh, and they bowed down and worshiped him. <sup>4</sup> There were Levites standing on the stairs. They were Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, another Bani, and Kenani. <sup>5</sup> Then the leaders of the Levites called out to the people. They were Jeshua, Bani, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah. They said, "Stand there and give praise to Yahweh your God, who has always lived and will live forever! Yahweh, we praise your glorious name! Your name is more important than everything else that is good and wonderful! <sup>6</sup> You are Yahweh, and no one else. You made the sky and the heavens above everything, and all the angels who do God's will. You made the earth and everything that is on it, and you made the seas and everything that is in them. You give life to everything. All the angel armies in heaven worship you.

<sup>7</sup> Yahweh, you are God. You chose Abram and brought him out of Ur in the Chaldees. You gave him the name Abraham. <sup>8</sup> You saw deep inside of him, and you knew he was a trustworthy person. Then you made a promise to him pledged with blood, promising that you would give to his descendants the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, and the Gergashites. And you, Yahweh, have done what you promised, because you always do what is right.

cry to you for help when they were beside the Sea of Reeds.<sup>10</sup> You performed many kinds of miracles that caused the king, his servants, and all his people to suffer. As a result, you, Yahweh, made a great name for yourself, and it is still known to be great even today!<sup>11</sup> You divided the sea into two parts, and your people walked through the middle of it on dry land. You drowned the soldiers of the Egyptian army under the waters, and they sank as a stone sinks in the deep!<sup>12</sup> During the day you led them with a cloud like a pillar for them to follow, and at night you gave them the light of a pillar of fire, to show them where to walk.

<sup>13</sup> On Mount Sinai you came down from heaven and spoke to them. You gave them many regulations and decrees that are just and reliable, and you gave them commands and laws that are good.<sup>14</sup> You taught them about your holy Sabbath, and you gave them commands, and rules, and a list of laws to obey from your servant Moses. He would tell them to the people.<sup>15</sup> When they were hungry, you gave them bread from heaven. When they were thirsty, you gave them water from a rock. You said to them to go and take the land you promised with a vow to give them.

<sup>16</sup> But our ancestors were very proud and stubborn. They refused even to listen to what you commanded them to do.<sup>17</sup> They refused to listen to you. They forgot about all the miracles that you had performed for them. They became stubborn, and because they rebelled against you, they appointed a leader to take them back to Egypt, where they would be slaves again! But you are a God who forgives again and again. You are slow to be angry, and your love for them is never-ending and it is great. You did not abandon them.<sup>18</sup> So, you did not desert them, even though they melted precious metals and cast an idol that looked like a calf. They presented this calf to the people and said, 'This is your god, who brought you up out of Egypt,' while they cursed God and did what he had forbidden.

in the desert. The bright cloud which was like a huge pillar continued to lead them during the daytime, and the fiery cloud showed them where to walk at night.<sup>20</sup> You sent your good Spirit to instruct them. You did not withhold the manna from them when they were hungry and you provided water when they were thirsty.<sup>21</sup> For forty years you took care of them in the desert. During all that time, they did not have need of anything. Their clothes did not wear out, and their feet did not swell up.

<sup>22</sup> You gave them kingdoms and nations of people. They took possession of even the most distant places in this land. They occupied the land over which King Sihon ruled from Heshbon and the land over which King Og ruled in the Bashan.<sup>23</sup> You caused our ancestors' children to become as numerous as the stars in the heavens, and you brought them into this land, the land you told their fathers to enter and take for themselves so they might live there.<sup>24</sup> They went in and took the land from the people who lived there. You enabled the Israelites to control the Canaanites and their kings so they could do to those people whatever they needed to do.<sup>25</sup> Our ancestors' children captured cities that had walls around them for protection. They took possession of fertile land. They occupied houses that were full of good things and wells that were already dug. They took possession of vineyards, groves of olive trees, and fruit trees. They ate all that they wanted to, and they were satisfied, and they grew fat, and they were delighted because you were so good to them.

<sup>26</sup> But they disobeyed you and rebelled against you. They turned their backs on your law. They killed the prophets who warned them that they should return to you. They said and did very evil things against you.<sup>27</sup> So you handed them over to their enemies to defeat them. But when their enemies caused them to suffer, they called out to you. You heard their cry from heaven, and because you are very merciful, you sent them people to help them, and those leaders rescued them from their enemies.

<sup>28</sup> But after there was a time of peace again, our ancestors again did evil things that you hated. So you allowed their enemies to conquer them and ruled over them. But whenever they cried out to you again to help them, you heard them from heaven, and because you act mercifully you rescued them.

<sup>29</sup> You warned them that they should again obey your laws, but they became proud and stubborn, and they disobeyed your decrees—and it is by obeying them that a person lives. They purposely ignored what you commanded them to do and became stubborn and refused to obey.

<sup>30</sup> You were patient with them for many years. You warned them by the messages your Spirit gave to the prophets. But they did not listen to those messages. So again you allowed the armies of the nations nearby to defeat them. <sup>31</sup> But because you act mercifully, you did not destroy them completely or abandon them. You are a gracious and merciful God!

<sup>32</sup> Our God, you are great! You are mighty! You are awesome! You faithfully love us as you promised in your covenant with us that you fulfill! But now we are having great difficulties in all these things. Do not let our hardships become unimportant to you! They have come on our kings, on our princes, and on our priests, and on our prophets, and on our ancestors, and on all your people, from the days of the kings of Assyria until today. <sup>33</sup> We know that you acted justly each time you punished us. You have treated us faithfully, but we have done evil things. <sup>34</sup> Our kings and the leaders they appointed and our priests and our other ancestors did not obey your laws. They did not heed your commands or the warnings that you gave them. <sup>35</sup> Even when they had their own kings, and they enjoyed the good things that you did for them in this large and fertile land that you gave to them, they did not serve you and they would not stop doing what was evil.

land that you gave to our ancestors, the land that you gave to them in order that they could enjoy all the good things that grow here. But we became slaves here!

<sup>37</sup> Because we have sinned, we cannot eat the things that grow here. The kings who now rule over us are enjoying the things that grow here. They rule us and take our cattle. We must serve them and do the things that please them. We are in great misery.

<sup>38</sup> Because of all this, we, the people of Israel are making a solemn agreement on a scroll. We will write on it the names of our leaders, the names of the Levites, and the names of the priests, and then we will seal it."

10 This is a list of those who signed the agreement:

I, Nehemiah son of Hakaliah, the governor and also Zedekiah.

Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah,

<sup>9</sup> The descendants of Levi who signed it were:

Jeshua son of Azaniah, Binnui from the clan of Henadad, Kadmiel,

<sup>14</sup> The Israelite leaders who signed it were:

Parosh, Pahath-Moab, Elam, Zattu, and Bani.

<sup>28</sup> The rest of the people made a solemn agreement, including the priests, gatekeepers, singers, and temple workers. They also included all the men from other neighboring peoples who had left their people and were living in Israel. These men, along with their wives, their sons and daughters who were old enough to understand what they were doing, promised they would obey God's law. <sup>29</sup> They all joined with their leaders in making this solemn agreement. They agreed to obey all the laws that God had given to Moses. They agreed to follow and to obey everything that Yahweh our God had commanded, and all his decrees and instructions. They promised to do the following.

<sup>30</sup> "We will not allow our daughters to marry people who live in this land who do not worship Yahweh, and we will not allow our sons to marry them.

<sup>31</sup> If people from other countries who live in this land bring us grain or other things to sell to us on Sabbath days or any other sacred day, we will not buy anything from them. And in every seventh year, we will give rest to the fields and we will not plant any crops that one year, and we will cancel all debts to other Jews.

<sup>32</sup> We each also promised ourselves that every year we will pay about 5 grams of silver for those who serve and take care of the temple. <sup>33</sup> With that money they can buy these things: The bread on display before God, the flour that is offered to God by burning it on the altar each day, the animals that were killed and completely burned on the altar, the sacred offerings for the Sabbath days and for celebrating the new moons and other festivals and offerings that are dedicated to God, the animals to be sacrificed to pay the penalty for the sins of the people of Israel, and anything else that is needed for the work of taking care of the temple.

<sup>34</sup> Each year the priests, the descendants of Levi who help the priests, and the rest of us will cast lots to determine for that year which families within the Levites will provide wood to burn on the altar to burn the sacrifices in the house of our

God, as it is written in the law of God.

<sup>35</sup> We promise that each year each family will take to the temple an offering from the first food that we grow in our soil and harvest for food, and from the firstfruits that grow on our trees that year.

<sup>36</sup> We will take to the house of God our firstborn sons and we will also bring firstborn calves and lambs and baby goats to be dedicated to God. That is what is written in God's laws that we must do.

<sup>37</sup> We will also take to the priests at the temple the flour made from the first grain that we harvest each year, and our other offerings of wine, olive oil, and fruit. We will also take the tithes to the descendants of Levi who help the priests. <sup>38</sup> A priest, one who is a descendant of Aaron, will be with the Levites and supervise them when they collect the tithes. Then the descendants of Levi must take a portion of it, ten percent of the things that people bring, and put it in the storerooms in the temple.

<sup>39</sup> The descendants of Levi and some of the people of Israel must take the offerings of grain, wine, and olive oil to the storerooms where the various utensils are kept that are used by those who serve in the temple. That is the place where the priests who are serving at that time, the gatekeepers, and where those who sing in the temple choir, live.

We promise that we will not neglect taking care of the temple of our God."

11 The Israelite leaders and their families settled in Jerusalem. The remainder of the people cast lots to select one family out of ten who would live in Jerusalem, the city set apart for God. The remaining nine lived in the other towns. <sup>2</sup> Those people asked God to bless those who volunteered to live in Jerusalem.

<sup>3</sup> These are the provincial officials who came to live in Jerusalem. But in the cities of Judah everyone lived on his own family property in their towns. Some from Israel, the priests, the Levites, the temple servants, and the descendants of Solomon's servants came to live in Jerusalem. <sup>4</sup> But some of the people of Judah and the people of Benjamin stayed and lived in Jerusalem.

These are from the relatives of Judah:

Athaiah son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel, a descendant of Perez.

<sup>5</sup> And there was Maaseiah the son of Baruch, who was the son of Colhozeh, who was the son of Hazaiah, who was the son of Adaiah, who was the son of Joiarib, who was the son of Zechariah, who was a descendant of Judah's son Shelah. <sup>6</sup> There were 468 men who were descendants of Perez who lived in the city of Jerusalem. These men were very brave and skilled in combat.

<sup>7</sup> One of the men of the tribe of Benjamin who decided to live in Jerusalem was Sallu son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiyah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshaiah. <sup>8</sup> Two of Sallu's relatives, Gabbai and Sallai, also settled in Jerusalem.

Altogether, 928 people from the tribe of Benjamin settled in Jerusalem. <sup>9</sup> Their leader was Zichri. The official who was second in command in Jerusalem was Hassenuah.

Another priest who settled in Jerusalem was Adaiah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malchijah. <sup>13</sup> Altogether, there were 242 members of that clan who were leaders of the clan who settled in Jerusalem.

Another priest who settled in Jerusalem was Amashsai the son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer. <sup>14</sup> There were 128 members of that clan who were valiant soldiers who settled in Jerusalem. Their leader was Zabdiel the son of Haggedolim.

Levites, who supervised the work outside the temple. <sup>17</sup> Another one was Mattaniah, the son of Mika, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph. Mattaniah directed the temple choir when they sang the prayers to thank God. His assistant was Bakbukiah. Another one was Abda, the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun. <sup>18</sup> Altogether, there were 284 Levites in the city set apart for God.

<sup>19</sup> The gatekeepers who settled in Jerusalem were Akkub and Talmon. Altogether, there were 172 of them and their relatives who settled in Jerusalem.

<sup>22</sup> The man who supervised the descendants of Levi who lived in Jerusalem was Uzzi the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Mika. Uzzi belonged to the clan of Asaph, the clan that was in charge of the music in the temple. <sup>23</sup> The king of Persia had commanded that the clans should decide what work each clan should do to lead the music in the temple each day.

nearby villages,<sup>32</sup> in Anathoth, in Nob, in Ananiah,<sup>33</sup> in Hazor, in Ramah, in Gittaim,<sup>34</sup> in Hadid, in Zeboim, in Neballat,<sup>35</sup> in Lod, in Ono, and in Craftsmen's Valley.

<sup>36</sup> Some of the Levites who had lived in Judea were sent to live with the people of Benjamin.

12 These are the names of the priests and descendants of Levi that returned from Babylonia with Zerubbabel and Jeshua the high priest. They included

Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra,

All those men were leaders of the priests and their associates during the time that Jeshua was the leader of all the priests.

<sup>8</sup> Here is a list of the descendants of Levi who returned: Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah. Mattaniah and his brothers led the people in singing songs to thank God.<sup>9</sup> Bakbukiah and Unni, their associates, formed a choir that stood across from the other group when they sang.

<sup>10</sup> Jeshua the high priest was the father of Joiakim, who was the father of Eliashib, who was the father of Joiada,<sup>11</sup> who was the father of Jonathan, who was the father of Jaddua.

<sup>12</sup> When Joiakim was the leader of all the priests, these were the leaders of the families of priests:

Meraiah, of the family of Seraiah, Hananiah, of the family of Jeremiah,
 Jehohanan, of the family of Amariah,
<sup>14</sup> Jonathan, of the family of Malluk, Joseph, of the family of Shecaniah.
<sup>15</sup> More leaders were Adna, of the family of Harim, Helkai, of the family of Meremoth,
 Meshullam, of the family of Ginnethon,
 There was also a leader of the family of Miniamin.
 Piltai, of the family of Moadiah.

Jehonathan, of the family of Shemaiah,

Uzzi, of the family of Jedaiah,

Eber, of the family of Amok,

and Nethanel, of the family of Jedaiah.

<sup>22</sup> During time when Eliashib led the Levites, this is a list of them all: Elisahib, Joiada, Johanan, and Jaddua were the leaders of all the priests. They wrote the names of the families who were descendants of Levi. When Darius was king of Persia, the priests were responsible for recording the names of those who were the heads of families.<sup>23</sup> They wrote the names of the leaders of the families who were descendants of Levi in the book of the annals until the time that Eliashib's grandson Johanan was the leader of all the priests.

<sup>24</sup> These were the leaders of the Levites: Hashabiah, Sherebiah, Jeshua son of Kadmiel, and their brothers who stood across from them to praise and give thanks to God. They did that just as King David, the man who served God, had instructed them.

<sup>27</sup> When we dedicated the wall around Jerusalem, we summoned the descendants of Levi from the places around Israel where they lived, so they could come to celebrate the dedication of the wall. They would sing songs to thank God and many of them made music by playing cymbals and harps and other stringed instruments.<sup>28</sup> We summoned the descendants of Levi who constantly sang together. They came to Jerusalem from nearby areas where they had settled, and from places around Netopahah, southeast of Jerusalem.<sup>29</sup> They came also from three places northeast of Jerusalem, Beth Gilgal and the areas around Geba and Azmaveth. Near Jerusalem the singers built villages where they lived.

formed rituals to make them clean in God's eyes, and they did the same for all the people, and even for the gates of the city and finally, for the wall.<sup>31</sup> Then I gathered together the leaders of Judah on top of the wall, and I appointed them to lead two large groups to march around the city on top of the wall, thanking God. As they faced the city, one group walked to the right toward the Dung Gate.<sup>32</sup> Behind their leaders marched Hoshaiah and half of the leaders of Judah.<sup>33</sup> Those who followed after them were Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam,<sup>34</sup> Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, Jeremiah,<sup>35</sup> and some of the priests' sons who played their trumpets, including Zechariah the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micaiah, the son of Zaccur, a descendant of Asaph.<sup>36</sup> Behind them marched other members of Zechariah's family, including Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani. They all were playing the same kinds of musical instruments that King David had played many years previously. Ezra, the man who knew the Jewish laws very well, marched in front of this group.<sup>37</sup> When they reached the Fountain Gate, they went up the steps to the city of David, past the location of David's palace, and then to the wall at the Water Gate, on the east side of the city.

<sup>42</sup> There was another named Maaseiah, Shemayah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam, and Ezer. The singers sang with Jezrahiah who was their leader.<sup>43</sup> After we went outside the temple, we offered many sacrifices. We men all rejoiced because God had caused us to be very happy. The women and the children also rejoiced. People far away could hear the noise that we made there in Jerusalem.

<sup>44</sup> On that day men were appointed to be in charge of the storerooms where they kept the money that people gave for the temple. They also were in charge of the tithes and the first part of the grain and fruit that was harvested each year. They also brought into the storerooms a part of the harvest from the fields for the priests and the descendants of Levi. This was done because the people of Judah were so happy to have servants serving in the house of Yahweh.<sup>45</sup> The priests and Levites were serving Yahweh in their rituals to purify things, and the musicians in the temple and the gatekeepers also did their work as King David and his son Solomon had declared that they should do.<sup>46</sup> Ever since the time of David and Asaph, there have been directors of the singers, and they sang songs to praise and thank God.<sup>47</sup> During the years of Zerubbabel and in the days of Nehemiah the governor, all Israel contributed the food that the singers and temple gatekeepers needed every day. They set aside what the Levites needed to live on, and the Levites set aside for the descendants of Aaron, the first leader of all the priests, what they needed.

13 On that day the priests read and the people listened, and the passage was read with the laws God gave Moses that said no Amnite or Moabite was ever to be allowed to come into the place where God's people worship.<sup>2</sup> The reason for that was that the people of Ammon and the people of Moab did not give any food or water to the Israelites while the Israelites were going through their areas after they left Egypt. Instead, the people of Ammon and Moab paid money to Balaam to influence him to curse the Israelites. But God turned that attempt to curse Israel into a blessing.<sup>3</sup> So when the people heard these laws being read to them, they sent away all the people whose ancestors had come from other countries.

<sup>4</sup> Previously, Eliashib the priest had been appointed to be in charge of the storerooms in the temple. He was a relative of Tobiah.<sup>5</sup> He allowed Eliashib to use a large room. There they had stored the grain offerings and the incense. They put there the equipment that is used in the temple. They put in there the offerings the people gave for the Levites. They brought in tithes of grain and wine and olive oil that God had commanded for the Levites, for the musicians, and the gatekeepers. And they brought in the gifts to support the other priests.

<sup>6</sup> During that time I was not in Jerusalem. It was the thirty-second year that Artaxerxes was the king of Babylonia, and I had gone back to report to the king what I had been doing. After I had been there a while, I requested the king to allow me to return to Jerusalem.

<sup>7</sup> When I returned, I found out that Eliashib had done an evil thing. He let Tobiah take over a storeroom in the very house of God for his own use. <sup>8</sup> I became very angry. I went to that room and I threw out everything that belonged to Tobiah. <sup>9</sup> Then I commanded that they perform a ritual cleansing of that room to make it pure again. And I also ordered that all the equipment used in the temple and all the grain offerings and incense should be put back in that room, where they belonged.

<sup>10</sup> I also found out that the temple musicians and other Levites had left Jerusalem and returned to their fields, because the people of Israel had not been bringing into the storerooms the food they needed. <sup>11</sup> So I rebuked the officials, saying to them, "Why have you not taken care of the services to be held in the temple? So I got them together and put them back at their stations.

<sup>14</sup> My God, do not forget all these good deeds that I have done for your temple and for the work that is done there!

ers were putting grain, bags of wine, baskets of grapes, figs, and many other things on their donkeys and taking them into Jerusalem. I warned them not to sell things to the people of Judea on Sabbath days. <sup>16</sup> I also saw some people from Tyre who were living there in Jerusalem who were bringing fish and other things into Jerusalem to sell to the people of Judea on the Sabbath day. <sup>17</sup> So I rebuked the Jewish leaders and told them, "This is a very evil thing that you are doing! You are making the Sabbath days into something God never wanted it to be. <sup>18</sup> Your ancestors did things like this, so God punished them. He allowed this city to be destroyed because of their sin! And now by breaking the laws for the Sabbath day, you are going to cause God to be angry with us, and he will punish us even more!"

<sup>19</sup> When it became dark at the gates of Jerusalem, I put some of my men there, so they would make sure that no one could bring any goods into the city to sell on that day. <sup>20</sup> The merchants and sellers of all kinds of goods and merchandise camped outside Jerusalem a few times on Friday evening when the Sabbath begins, hoping to sell something the next day. <sup>21</sup> I warned them, "It is useless for you to stay here outside the walls on Friday night! If you do this again, I will take you and remove you myself!" So after that, they did not come on Sabbath days. <sup>22</sup> I also commanded the descendants of Levi to perform the ritual to purify themselves and to take up their stations to guard the City Gates, to make sure that the Sabbath was kept holy by not allowing merchants to enter it on that holy day.

My God, do not forget what I have done for you! And be kind to me, as kind as your love is for me.

was listening, that they would never again marry foreigners and never allow their children to marry foreigners. <sup>26</sup>I said to them, "Solomon, the king of Israel, sinned as a result of marrying foreign women. He was greater than any of the kings of other nations. God loved him and set him as the king over all the people of Israel. But his foreign wives caused even him to sin. <sup>27</sup>Do you think that we should do what you have done, you who married foreign wives, and do what we know is wrong, and commit a great sin against our God by marrying foreign women who worship idols?"

<sup>28</sup>One of the sons of Joiada, the son of Eliashib the leader of all the priests, married the daughter of Sanballat. So I ran Joiada's son out of Jerusalem.

<sup>29</sup>My God, remember those who brought shame to the priesthood, and they broke the covenant of the priesthood and of the Levites by what they have done!

<sup>30</sup>I took away everything from them that was from other nations and religions, I also established regulations for the priests and descendants of Levi, so they would know what work each of them should do. <sup>31</sup>I made sure that there was wood to be burned on the altar at the set times and days. I also arranged for the people to bring into the storerooms the first portion of the harvest.

My God, do not forget that I have done all these things, and bless me for doing them.

Esther

1 King Ahasuerus ruled a very big empire which had 127 provinces. It extended from India in the east to Ethiopia in the west.<sup>2</sup> He ruled the empire while he lived in the most strongly fortified part of the city of Susa.<sup>3</sup> During the third year after he had become king, he invited all his administrators and other officials to a feast. He invited the armies of Persia and Media to come to the feast. He also invited the governors and other leaders of the provinces.<sup>4</sup> The celebration lasted for 180 days. During that time the king showed to the guests all his wealth and other things that made his kingdom great.

<sup>5</sup> At the end of the feast, the king invited people to another celebration. He invited to the feast all the men who worked in the palace, including both those who did important work and those who did less important work. This celebration lasted for seven days. It was in the courtyard that was part of the palace garden.<sup>6</sup> The garden courtyard was decorated with curtains of white cotton and violet, with cords of fine linen and purple, hanging from silver rings that were suspended from pillars of marble. There were couches of gold and silver arranged on a mosaic pavement that was made from porphyry, marble, mother-of-pearl, and colored paving stones.<sup>7</sup> The guests drank wine from gold cups. Each cup had a different design on it. The king was generous with the wine, and they had much to drink.<sup>8</sup> There was a lot of wine, because the king wanted the guests to drink as much as they wanted, but the rule was, "No one is forced to drink."

<sup>10</sup> On the seventh day of those banquets, when King Ahasuerus was partially drunk from drinking wine, he spoke with Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar, and Karkas (these were the seven servants who filled his personal needs and wishes).<sup>11</sup> He told them to bring Queen Vashti to him, wearing her royal crown. He wanted his guests to see how beautiful she was.<sup>12</sup> But Queen Vashti refused to go to the king. She refused to obey the command that the servants brought to her from the king.

This made the king very angry.<sup>13</sup> So the king talked with the men who were known to be wise, who understood the things that happened in their lives and the laws about these things.<sup>14</sup> Now the ones close to him were Karshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena, and Memukan, seven princes of Persia and Media. They held the highest positions in his kingdom, and the king paid attention to them when they spoke.<sup>15</sup> The king said to them, "Queen Vashti has refused to obey me when I sent my servants to tell her to come here. What do our laws say that we should do to someone who acts like that?"

<sup>16</sup> While the other officials were present, Memukan told the king, "Your majesty, Queen Vashti has insulted you, and she has insulted all the officials and all the people in all the provinces of your Majesty.<sup>17</sup> All the women throughout the empire will hear what she has done, and they will say, 'The king commanded Queen Vashti to come to him, and she refused.' So they will not obey their husbands, and they will show them disrespect.<sup>18</sup> Before this day ends, the wives of all the officials in Persia and Media will hear what the queen did, and they will say to all of your Majesty's officials what the queen has said. They will have contempt and anger for all men.<sup>19</sup> So if it pleases your Majesty, you should write a law, like all the laws of Persia and Media, to be a law that no one can change. This law should say that Queen Vashti will never be allowed to see you again, and you will choose another woman to be queen, a woman who deserves to be queen more than she does.<sup>20</sup> When everyone in your empire hears what you have commanded, all the wives, those who are important and those who are not important, will honor their husbands."

<sup>21</sup> The king and the other officials liked what Memukan suggested, and the king put it into action.<sup>22</sup> Then he sent letters to all the provinces, stating that all men should have complete authority over their wives and their children. He wrote the letters in every language and wrote it in every unique alphabet written in every province.

2 After a while, when King Ahasuerus's anger had quieted down, he remembered Vashti. He also thought about the law he had made because of what she had done.<sup>2</sup> So his personal servants said to him, "Your Majesty, you should send some men to search for beautiful young virgin girls for the king.<sup>3</sup> After they find some, you can appoint some officials in each province to bring them to the place where you keep your wives here in Susa. They are to be cared for by Hegai (the king's eunuch) who is who protects and cares for these women, he can arrange for their cosmetics.<sup>4</sup> Then the young girl who pleases you most can become queen instead of Vashti." The king liked what they suggested, so he did it.

5 At that time there was a Jew living in the city of Susa, whose name was Mordecai. He was the son of Jair who was the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, and he was a member of the tribe of Benjamin.<sup>6</sup> Many years before that, Nebuchadnezzar, who had been king of Babylon, had taken Mordecai and brought him from Jerusalem to Babylon. This was at the same time that he took away King Jehoiachin from Judah, along with many others.<sup>7</sup> Mordecai was caring for his cousin, whose Hebrew name was Hadassah. She had a beautiful face and a lovely figure, and she was called Esther. After her father and mother died, Mordecai took care of Esther as though she were his own daughter.<sup>8</sup> After the king commanded that they search for some beautiful women, servants brought Esther and many other young women to the king's palace in Susa, and put them under the care of Hegai.<sup>9</sup> Hegai was pleased with Esther. He immediately arranged for her to have the cosmetics she wanted, and he arranged for special food to be given to her. He assigned servant girls from the king's palace and arranged for her to stay in the best rooms in the women's part of the palace.

10 Esther did not tell anyone that she was a Jew, or anything about her relatives, because Mordecai had told her not to tell anyone.<sup>11</sup> Every day Mordecai walked near the courtyard of the place where those women stayed. He stood in the courtyard hoping to find out what was happening to Esther.

12 Before these women were taken to the king, for twelve months they received beauty treatments, and for six months they were treated with olive oil mixed with myrrh.

13 When one of these women was summoned to go to the king, she was allowed to have whatever she wished to take with her from the house of the women, when she went to the king's palace.<sup>14</sup> In the evening, she would go to the king, and the next morning she would return to the second house of the women, and to the protection of Shaashgaz, the king's official in charge of the concubines. She would not return to the king again, except when the king wanted her and called her by name.

15 Now when the time came for Esther (the daughter of Abihail, who was the uncle of Mordecai) to go in the king, she did not ask for anything from the house of the women to take with her, but only what Hegai, the king's official in charge of the women, suggested. Now Esther pleased everyone who saw her.

16 Esther was taken up to King Ahasuerus into royal the residence on the tenth month (which is the month of Tebeth), in the seventh year of his reign.<sup>17</sup> The king loved Esther more than any of the other women whom they brought to him. So he put a crown on her head and declared that Esther would be the queen instead of Vashti.<sup>18</sup> To celebrate her becoming the queen, he gave a great feast in her honor, that he prepared for all his officials and servants. He granted relief from paying taxes to all the provinces and gave expensive gifts to all with generosity that only a king can give.

19 Later all those young women were gathered together again. By that time Mordecai was sitting at the king's gate, where the elders and leaders would hold court and settle disputes for others in the kingdom.<sup>20</sup> But Esther still did not tell anyone about her family, or about her people, the Jews. She continued to do what Mordecai had told her to do; she continued to respect him and honor him by doing what he said.<sup>21</sup> One day when Mordecai was at the king's gate, two of the king's officials were there. Their names were Bigthana and Teresh. They were the guards who protected the king, standing just outside the king's own rooms. They became angry with the king, and they were planning how they could do him great harm.<sup>22</sup> But Mordecai heard about what they were planning, he told Queen Esther. Then she told the king, and she told the king that the information came from Mordecai, calling him by name.<sup>23</sup> The king investigated it and confirmed. So the king ordered those two men be hanged from a gallows. When that was done, an official wrote a report about it in the book called The History of the King.

3 After these things happened, King Ahasuerus promoted Haman the Agagite son of Hammedatha above all the other officials and he made it clear that Haman was over all others who served under him.<sup>2</sup> All the other officials bowed down in front of Haman to honor him, and they gave him great honor, as the king commanded they should. But Mordecai refused to bow down to Haman or to give him that kind of honor.

<sup>3</sup> The other officials saw that, and they asked Mordecai, "Why do you disobey the king's command?"<sup>4</sup> They spoke with him day after day and he would not do what they said, or answer them. So they reported to Haman to see if he would tolerate Mordecai's actions, for Mordecai had told them that he was a Jew.

<sup>5</sup> When Haman learned that Mordecai refused to kneel down or prostrate himself to him, he became extremely angry.<sup>6</sup> He was too proud to want to punish only Mordecai. Because the king's servants had made it known that Mordecai was Jewish, Haman wanted all the Jews to be killed. So this matter became an opportunity to kill all the Jews everywhere in Ahasuerus' kingdom.

<sup>8</sup> Then Haman went to the king and said to him, "Your Majesty, there is a certain group of people who live in many areas of your empire whose laws are different from ours. They even refuse to obey your laws. You should certainly not let them stay, but instead get rid of them.<sup>9</sup> If it pleases you, command that they should all be killed. If you do that, I will give 330 metric tons of silver to be weighed out and given into the accounts of those who are in of your treasury."

<sup>12</sup> Then the king's scribes were called together on the thirteenth day of the first month. On that day, an order was written that had everything Haman commanded. The order was sent out to the king's provincial governors—those who were over all the provinces, to the governors of all the various people who were living in the kingdom, and to the officials of all the people. The order was written in every language and in the writing of those languages so they could be read and understood. It was written in the name of King Ahasuerus and was sealed with the his own ring, which he had given to Haman to use.<sup>13</sup> Couriers in every province in the kingdom spread the decree. The order was to kill every Jew, to kill them all, and to destroy the Jewish people, from young to old, children and women. This was to be done on one day—on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month (which is the month of Adar). When the Jews were dead, the rest of the people would be allowed to take all their possessions.

4 When Mordecai found out about those letters, he was so anguished that he tore his clothes and put on the clothes of mourning—rough sackcloth—and he sat in ashes, to show his distress. Then he went into the city, crying very loudly with bitterness and sorrow.<sup>2</sup> He stood outside the king's gate, he was not allowed to enter the palace, because the law forbid anyone dressed in sackcloth to be admitted through the king's gate.<sup>3</sup> In every province of the empire, when the letter from the king was read to the Jewish people, they cried and mourned. They fasted, and wailed loudly, and were filled with sorrow. Many of them lay, dressed in sackcloth and sat in ashes.<sup>4</sup> When Esther's servant women and the male servants came to her and told her about the king's decree and the coming danger, she was very distressed. So she sent to Mordecai some good clothes so he could take off his sackcloth, but he refused to accept them.<sup>5</sup> Then Esther summoned Hathak, one of the king's officials, whom he had appointed serve and protect her. She told him to go out and talk to Mordecai to find out what the trouble was about.<sup>6</sup> Hathak went to Mordecai in the city square in front of the gate to the king's palace.<sup>7</sup> Mordecai told him everything that had happened. He told him how much silver Haman had promised to deposit in the king's treasury in order to kill the Jews.<sup>8</sup> Mordecai also gave Hathak a copy of the decree that had been issued in Susa, so that he might show it to Esther. Mordecai wanted to command Esther to take action about this order from the king and to beg favor from the king. He wanted her to go to the king and try to help the Jewish people.<sup>9</sup> So Hathak went to Esther and told her what Mordecai said.<sup>10</sup> Then Esther ordered Hathak to return to Mordecai, and to tell him this:<sup>11</sup> "All the king's servants and the people of the king's provinces know that no one can come before the king unless the king invites him to come. There is only one result of breaking this law: The person is put to death. The only exception would be that the king would hold out his golden scepter to someone who came before him, and that would be the sign that the king would permit that person to live. About my own contact with the king, I have not been called to come to the king for thirty days."<sup>12</sup> So Hathak went back to Mordecai and told him what Esther had said.<sup>13</sup> Mordecai told Hathak to tell this to Esther: "Do not think that just because you live there in the palace, you will escape when all the other Jews are killed.<sup>14</sup> If you remain silent at this time, someone else will rescue the Jews in some other way, but you and your father's family will die. Who knows, perhaps it was for just for a time like this that you were made queen."<sup>15</sup>

<sup>16</sup> Then Esther sent this message to Mordecai,<sup>17</sup> "Go and gather together all the Jews here in Susa, and tell them to fast for me. Do not eat or drink for three days, night or day. My young girls and I will fast in the same way. Then I will go to the king, even though I know it is against the law. And if I die, I die."<sup>18</sup> Mordecai went and did what Esther told him to do.

5 After three days, Esther put on her royal clothing. Then she went and stood in the inner court of the king's palace, before the front of the king's house. At that time, the king was sitting on his royal throne in his house, facing the entrance to the house.<sup>2</sup> When the king saw Esther the queen standing in the court, the king was glad and welcomed her. He held out to her the golden sceptre that was in his hand. So Esther approached the king and touched the tip of the scepter.<sup>3</sup> Then the king said to her, "What is it that you want Queen Esther? What is your request? I will give you up to half my kingdom, if that is what you request."<sup>4</sup> Esther replied, "Your Majesty, if it pleases you, will you and Haman come to a feast that I have prepared for you?"<sup>5</sup> The king said to his servants, "Go and tell Haman to come quickly and do what Esther has said!" So the king and Haman went to the feast that Esther had prepared.<sup>6</sup> The king said to Esther when the wine of the feast was being served, "What is your petition? It shall be granted you. What is your request? I will give you up to half of my kingdom, if that is what you request."<sup>7</sup> Esther answered, "My petition and my request is this,<sup>8</sup> if you are pleased with me, if you are willing to do this for me: will you and Haman come to another feast I am preparing for you tomorrow. At that time, I will answer your question."

riches he had accumulated. He talked about his many sons, and how he had achieved more than all the other officials and the servants of the king.<sup>12</sup> Then Haman added, "Even Queen Esther invited just two of us, me and the king, to a banquet she prepared for us today. And she is inviting just the two of us to another banquet that she is will give us tomorrow!"<sup>13</sup> Then Haman said, "But these things mean nothing to me as long as I can see Mordecai the Jew sitting there at the king's gate!"<sup>14</sup> Then Zeresh his wife said to Haman and all his friends, "Why do you not quickly set up a gallows? Make it twenty-three meters high. Then in the morning speak to the king for them to hang Mordecai on it. After that, you can go to the banquet with the king and be happy." This idea pleased Haman, and he had the gallows set up.

6 That night the king was unable to sleep, so he summoned a servant and told him to bring the book of the history of all that happened during the time he had been king. So the servant brought the records and read aloud to the king.<sup>2</sup> The servant read about Bigthana and Teresh, the two officials who had guarded the entrance to the king's rooms. He read the account of when Mordecai had found out that they planned to assassinate King Ahasuerus and that he had told the king about it.<sup>3</sup> The king asked, "What was done to honor Mordecai for what he did for the king?" The young men serving the king answered, "Nothing has been done for him."<sup>4</sup> The king said, "Is there anyone in the courtyard?" At that moment, Haman had entered the outer courtyard of the palace. He wanted to talk to the king about hanging Mordecai on the gallows he had just set up.<sup>5</sup> His servants replied, "Haman is in the courtyard." The king said, "Bring him in."<sup>6</sup> When Haman came in, the king asked him, "What should I do for someone whom I want to honor?" Now Haman thought to himself, "Whom would the king like to honor more than me?"<sup>7</sup> So he replied to the king, "For the one you want to honor,<sup>8</sup> you should tell your servants to bring out some robes that you yourself have worn, and to bring out one of the horses you have ridden and that bears a royal crest on his head.<sup>9</sup> Give the robes and the horse to your very important officials so that they may put the royal clothes on that man, and let them lead that man who sits on the horse through the city streets. As he goes, other servants will shout, 'This is what happens when the king wants to honor someone!'"<sup>10</sup> The king replied to Haman, "Hurry, take the robes and horse, as you have said, and do this for Mordecai the Jew who sits at the king's gate! Do not forget anything you have said!"<sup>11</sup> So Haman took the robes and the horse. He put the royal clothes on Mordecai, and Haman led him on the horse through the city streets proclaiming "This is what is done for a man when the king wants to honor him!"<sup>12</sup> Then, Mordecai returned to the king's gate. But Haman hurried to his house. He was mourning and had covered his face.<sup>13</sup> Haman told Zeresh his wife and all his friends about everything that had happened to him. Then his men known for their wisdom, and Zeresh his wife, said to him, "If Mordecai is Jewish, and if you have been humiliated before him, you will not defeat him. You are sure to be defeated by him."<sup>14</sup> While they were still talking, some of the king's officials arrived to quickly take Haman to the feast that Esther had prepared.

7 So the king and Haman arrived at the second feast with Queen Esther.<sup>2</sup> On the second day of the feast, while servants were serving the wine, the king said to Esther, "What is your petition, Queen Esther? I will give you whatever you ask for. What do you want? I would give you up to half of my kingdom."<sup>3</sup> Esther replied, "If you are pleased with me, my king, and if you are willing to do what I ask, save my life! And save the lives of my people.<sup>4</sup> For I and my people have been condemned to destruction by a decree. I and my people, we have been handed over to be annihilated—to be killed, destroyed. If we had only been sold into slavery, I would have kept quiet, for that kind of trouble would not have been worth bothering you about."<sup>5</sup> Then King Ahasuerus said to Queen Esther, "Who is the man who did this? Where is the one whose heart is full of this kind of evil?"<sup>6</sup> Esther replied, "The man who is our enemy is this evil man Haman!"<sup>7</sup> Then Haman was terrified before the king and queen.<sup>7</sup> The king got up in a rage. He left his wine and went outside into the palace garden to decide what to do. But Haman stayed in order to plead with Queen Esther, for her to intervene to save his life. He knew the king had decided to kill him. <sup>8</sup>Then the king returned from the palace garden and went back to where they were serving the wine. Just then Haman had fallen on the couch where Esther was. The king said, "Will he assault the queen in my own house, with me standing by?" As soon as he said this, the servants put a cloth over Haman's face. <sup>9</sup>Then Harbona, one of the king's officials who served him said, "Outside, near Haman's house, there is a gallows. It is twenty-three meters high. Haman made it for Mordecai, the one who spoke to protect the king!" The king said, "Hang him on it." <sup>10</sup>So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then the king became less angry.

8 Later on that same day, King Ahasuerus gave Queen Esther all the possessions of Haman, who had been the Jews' enemy. Mordecai served the king because Esther had by now told the king how she was related to him. <sup>2</sup>When Mordecai came in, the king took off the ring that had his official seal on it, the ring that he had recovered from Haman, and he gave it to Mordecai. Esther appointed Mordecai to be in charge of Haman's property.

because no letter that has my name on it and that is sealed with my ring can ever be revoked." <sup>9</sup>Then the king's scribes were called at that time (in the third month, which is the month of Sivan, on the twenty-third day of the month). Mordecai dictated to them a new decree in order to protect the Jews. It was written to the provincial governors, the governors and officials of the provinces that are from India all the way to Ethiopia, in total, 127 provinces. The letter was written to every province in the way that every language was written. It was also written to the Jews in their writing and language. <sup>10</sup>Mordecai wrote the decree in the name of King Ahasuerus and sealed it with the king's signet ring. He sent the documents by couriers riding on the fast horses that were used in the king's service, bred in the king's stables. <sup>11</sup>The king gave to the Jews living in every city permission to gather together and to fight together to protect their lives. He allowed them to kill any armed men in any province, belonging to any people group, who might attack them or their families, or who might try to take their possessions. <sup>12</sup>This was to be in effect in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which was the month of Adar. <sup>13</sup>The king ordered them to make copies of this decree and to show them to all the people groups. With this decree, he allowed the Jews to get ready to take revenge on their enemies. <sup>14</sup>The king commanded the men who took these letters to all the provinces to ride quickly on the king's horses. And copies of the letter were also posted and read to the people who lived and worked in the palace in Susa. <sup>15</sup>Mordecai left the palace, wearing the blue and white robe and a large gold crown that the king gave him. He also put on a robe of fine purple cloth. When the people in Susa heard the new law, they all shouted and cheered. <sup>16</sup>The Jews in Susa were now happy, instead of being afraid. They rejoiced instead of fearing, and other people honored them. <sup>17</sup>When the new decree arrived in every city and province, the Jews there celebrated and prepared feasts and were very joyful. And many people throughout the empire became Jews, because they had become very afraid of the Jews.

9 It was in the twelfth month, the month of Adar, on the thirteenth day, that the Jews' enemies had hoped to destroy them completely. They would have been following the king's decree. However, it all turned out differently, for the Jews defeated their enemies.<sup>2</sup> The Jews gathered together in their cities in all the provinces of King Ahasuerus to attack those who wanted to harm them. No one could fight against the Jews, because all the people in the areas were afraid of them.<sup>3</sup> All the king's officials everywhere helped the Jews, because they had become afraid of Mordecai and the power that the king had given to him.<sup>4</sup> Mordecai was now the king's most important official in the king's palace, and his fame was spreading throughout the provinces because he was becoming very powerful.<sup>5</sup> So the Jews attacked their enemies and killed them. They defeated all those who hated them, and they were completely victorious.<sup>6</sup> Just in Susa alone, the fortified city, they killed five hundred men.<sup>7</sup> Among those whom they killed were the ten sons of Haman. These were among the dead: Parshandatha, Dalphon, Aspatha,<sup>8</sup> Poratha, Adalia, Aridatha,<sup>9</sup> Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai, and Vaizatha.<sup>10</sup> And the ten grandsons of Hammedatha, the sons of Haman—the enemy of the Jews. The Jews killed them, but they did not take their possessions.<sup>11</sup> At the end of that day someone reported to the king the number of people whom the Jews killed in Susa, the fortified city.<sup>12</sup> Then the king told Queen Esther, "The Jews have killed five hundred people right here in Susa, including Haman's ten sons! What must they have done in the rest of my provinces? Now what else do you ask me to do for you? You tell me. What else do you want? And I will do it."<sup>13</sup> Esther replied, "If it pleases you, allow the Jews here in Susa to do again tomorrow what you commanded them to do today. And also command that the bodies of Haman's ten sons be hanged on the gallows."<sup>14</sup> So the king commanded that the Jews be permitted to kill more of their enemies the next day. After he issued another order in Susa, the bodies of Haman's ten sons were hanged.<sup>15</sup> The Jews in Susa gathered together and killed three hundred more people. But again, they did not take away any of their possessions.<sup>16</sup> That happened on the 14th day of the month of Adar. On the following day, the Jews in Susa rested and celebrated. In all the other provinces, the Jewish people gathered together to defend themselves, and they killed seventy-five thousand people who hated them, but again, they took none of their possessions.<sup>17</sup> On the thirteenth day of the month of Adar, and on the fourteenth day, they rested and made that a day of feasting and celebration.<sup>18</sup> But the Jews who were in Susa came together on the thirteenth and the fourteenth days to fight, but on the fifteenth day they rested and made it a day of feasting and celebration.<sup>19</sup> That is why the Jews of the villages, the Jews who live in the rural towns, observe the fourteenth day of the month of Adar as a day of gladness and celebration, when they send gifts of food to one another.<sup>20</sup> Mordecai wrote down all the things that had happened. Then he sent letters to the Jews who lived throughout the empire of King Ahasuerus.<sup>21</sup> He called them to observe the fourteenth and the fifteenth day of Adar every year,<sup>22</sup> because those were the days when the Jews got victory over their enemies. It was in that month that their sorrow was turned to joy. Mordecai's letter told them that they should celebrate on those days by feasting and giving gifts of food to each other and especially to the poor people.<sup>23</sup> So the Jews agreed to do what Mordecai wrote. They agreed to celebrate on those days every year.<sup>24</sup> They would remember how Haman son of Hammedatha, the Agagite, became an enemy of all the Jews. They would remember how he had made an evil plan to kill the Jews, and that he had cast lots to find a day to crush and destroy them.<sup>25</sup> They would remember that when the king learned about Haman's plan, he arranged that the evil plan to kill the Jews would result instead in Haman's own destruction, that Haman would be killed in place of the Jews, that he and that his sons would be hanged.<sup>26</sup> Therefore they called these days Purim, after the name of Pur (the lots that they cast). So that is what was written in this letter, what they had seen, and what had happened to them.<sup>27</sup> The Jews throughout the empire agreed to celebrate in that manner on those two days every year. They said that they would tell their descendants and anyone who became Jewish to be certain to celebrate this festival every year. They should celebrate just as Mordecai told them to do in the letter that he wrote.<sup>28</sup> They said that they would remember and celebrate on those two days every year, observed in every generation, by every family, in every city, and in every province. They solemnly declared that they and their descendants would never stop remembering and celebrating those days called Purim.<sup>29</sup> Then Mordecai and Queen Esther, who was the daughter of Abihail, wrote a second letter about the Purim festival. Esther used the authority that she had because of being the queen to confirm that what Mordecai had written in the first letter was true.<sup>30</sup> These letters were sent to all the Jews in the 127 provinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus—words of peace and truth—<sup>31</sup> to establish these days of Purim at their appointed times, as Mordecai the Jew and Queen Esther had established, just as the Jews had established for themselves and their descendants, matters that included their times of fasting and lamenting.<sup>32</sup> The command of Esther confirmed these regulations that explained how they should celebrate the Purim festival. The instructions about the feast and the account of these events were written down in the book of history.

10 King Ahasuerus made the people living on land and along the sea pay a tax.<sup>2</sup> And all the great things that Ahasuerus did because of his power have been written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia. Also written there is a history of the great things done by Mordecai, and of the honor that the king gave him.<sup>3</sup> Mordecai the Jew, was second in rank to King Ahasuerus, and all the Jews also considered him to be a very great man. He was respected by his Jewish brothers and sisters, for he sought the welfare of his people, and he spoke to gain security for all of them.

Job

1 In the land named Uz, there was a man named Job. He obeyed God and always avoided doing evil things. <sup>2</sup>He had seven sons and three daughters. <sup>3</sup>He owned seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, one thousand oxen, and five hundred donkeys. He also had many servants. This was the man who was the richest in all the area east of the Jordan River.

<sup>4</sup>Job's sons often held feasts in their houses. Whenever each one made a feast, he would invite all his brothers and sisters to come and eat together. <sup>5</sup>After each celebration, Job would summon them. He would ask Yahweh to purify them from any action they might have committed during their feasting that would make them unacceptable to him. He would get up early in the morning, kill animals, and burn them on the altar as sacrifices, one for each of his children. For Job always said, "Perhaps my children have sinned and said something evil about God in their hearts."

Satan replied, "I have come from the earth, where I been traveling back and forth to see what is happening."

<sup>8</sup>Yahweh said to Satan, "Have you noticed Job, who worships me? No one else on earth honors me and lives in such a right way as he does. He always refuses to do anything evil."

<sup>9</sup>Satan replied to Yahweh, "What you say is true, but Job honors you only because of what you have done for him. <sup>10</sup>You have always protected him, his family, and everything he owns. You make him succeed in whatever work he tries to do, and he has very much livestock all over his land. <sup>11</sup>But if you attacked what he owns and took it away, he would curse you in front of everyone."

<sup>12</sup>Yahweh replied to Satan, "So this is what you want me to do! All right, I will permit you to take away everything that he has. But do not harm him in his own body."

Satan agreed and then left Yahweh in order to plan how he would attack Job.

<sup>16</sup>While he was still talking to Job, another messenger arrived. He said to Job, "Lightning from the sky struck and killed all the sheep and all the men who were taking care of them! I am the only one who has escaped to come and tell you what happened."

<sup>17</sup>While he was still talking to Job, a third messenger arrived. He said to Job, "Three groups of robbers from the region of Chaldea came and attacked us. They stole all the camels and killed all the men who were taking care of them. I am the only one who has escaped to come and tell you what happened."

<sup>18</sup>While he was still talking to Job, a fourth messenger arrived. He said to Job: "Your sons and daughters were feasting in the home of their oldest brother. <sup>19</sup>Suddenly a very strong wind came from the desert and struck the house. The house collapsed on your sons and daughters and killed them all! I am the only one who has escaped to come and tell you what happened."

<sup>20</sup>Then Job stood up and tore his robe and shaved his head because he was very sad. Then he laid down on the ground to worship God.

"When I was born, I was wearing no clothes.

When I die, I will not take any clothes with me.

It is Yahweh who gave me everything that I possessed,
and it is Yahweh who has taken it all away.

But we must always praise Yahweh!"

<sup>22</sup> So in spite of all the things that happened to Job, he did speak not like a foolish man—he did not sin by saying that what God had done was wrong.

2 On another day, the angels came again and gathered together in front of Yahweh; Satan also came again. <sup>2</sup> Yahweh asked Satan, "Where have you come from this time?" Satan replied, "I have come from the earth, where I have been traveling back and forth to see what is happening."

<sup>3</sup> Yahweh asked Satan, "You have you noticed my servant Job, who worships me, have you not?

He continues to honor me; he is very exceptional, for he lives in a way that is more right than anyone else on the earth. He does this even though you persuaded me to attack him for no reason."

<sup>4</sup> Satan replied to Yahweh, "He praises you only because you have helped him. People will give up everything they have to save their own lives. <sup>5</sup> But if you harm his body, he will surely curse you in front of everyone!"

<sup>10</sup> But Job replied, "You talk like people talk who do not know God. We should not only accept the good things that God does for us. We should also accept the bad things." So in spite of all these things that happened to Job, he did not offend God by saying anything against him.

from a distance, they almost did not recognize him. They wailed loudly, they tore their robes, and they threw dust into the air that settled on their heads. They did this to show how sorry they were for him. <sup>13</sup> Then they sat on the ground with Job for seven days. None of them said anything to him, because they saw that he was suffering greatly, and they did not think that anything that they could say would lessen his pain.

3 Finally, Job spoke, and he cursed the day that he was born. <sup>2</sup> He said,

<sup>3</sup> "I wish that the day when I was born could be eradicated, the night when I was born.

<sup>4</sup> I wish that the day when I was born could have been dark.

I wish that God who is in heaven would forget about that day,
and that the sun would not have shone on it.

<sup>5</sup> I wish that thick darkness would have filled that day,
and that death would have come over it like a shadow

and blotted out all light,
and caused the people then to be terrified.

<sup>6</sup> I wish that the night when I was born would be erased from the calendar, that it would never again appear as one night in any month,
and that it would not be included in any calendar.

<sup>7</sup> I wish that no child would again be born on that date,
and that no one would again be happy then.

<sup>8</sup> The magicians who are able to awaken the great sea monster—I want them to curse the day I was born.

<sup>9</sup> I wish that the stars that shone early in the morning on that day after I was born may not shine again.

If only those stars had wished in vain for light to shine,
and that they had not shone on that day.

<sup>10</sup> That was an evil day because my mother's womb was not closed;
instead, I was born, and I have now

- experienced all these terrible things.
- <sup>11</sup> I wish that I had died when I was born; I wish I had perished when I came out from my mother's womb.
- <sup>12</sup> I wish that my mother had never welcomed me. I wish that she had not nursed me at her breasts.
- <sup>13</sup> If I had died at the time when I was born, I would now be asleep, resting peacefully.
- <sup>14</sup> I would be resting with kings who built beautiful tombs which are now in ruins, and I would be resting with their officials who have also died.
- <sup>15</sup> I would be resting with princes who were wealthy, whose palaces were filled with gold and silver.
- <sup>16</sup> I wish that I had been buried like a child who had died in its mother's womb and never lived to see the light.
- <sup>17</sup> After wicked people die, they do not cause any more troubles; those who are very tired now will rest.
- <sup>18</sup> Those who were in prison rest peacefully after they die; they no longer have slave drivers who curse them.
- <sup>19</sup> Rich people and poor people are alike after they die, and those who were slaves no longer have to obey their masters.
- <sup>20</sup> Why does God allow those who are suffering greatly like me to continue to remain alive? Why does he allow them to live, those who are very miserable?
- <sup>21</sup> They long to die, but they do not die. They desire to die more than people desire to find hidden treasure.
- <sup>22</sup> When they finally die and are buried, they are very happy.
- <sup>23</sup> I do not understand why God keeps alive anyone whom he keeps from being happy, anyone whom he forces to live in misery.
- <sup>24</sup> I cry very much; as a result, I cannot eat; I groan as easily as a river flows with water.
- <sup>25</sup> Things that I always worried might happen to me—these things have happened to me; things that I always dreaded have come upon me.
- <sup>26</sup> Now I have no peace in my heart; I have no quietness; I cannot rest; instead, I have only troubles."
- <sup>4</sup> Then Eliphaz replied to Job. He said,
- <sup>2</sup> "Will you please allow me to say something to you? I am not able to remain silent any longer.
- <sup>3</sup> In the past, you have instructed many people, and you have encouraged those for whom it was difficult to trust in God.
- <sup>4</sup> In the past, when you spoke to others who were suffering, you helped them; they were able to rejoice again because of God.
- <sup>5</sup> But now, when you yourself suffer from disasters, you become discouraged. The disasters hit you, and you are stunned.
- <sup>6</sup> You say that you honor God; so you should be trusting in him, for him not to let you suffer. If you really had not sinned, you would have been confident that God would not let these disasters happen to you!
- <sup>7</sup> Think about this: No innocent people ever die when they are still young! God never kills innocent people!
- <sup>8</sup> I have seen this happen: if farmers plant bad seeds, they do not harvest good crops; anyone who starts trouble for others later brings trouble on

- himself.
- <sup>9</sup> These people die when God commands them to,
because he is very angry with them.
- <sup>10</sup> Even though wicked people may be very powerful like young lions, God destroys them.
- <sup>11</sup> They will die like older lions that starve to death when there are no animals left to eat.
Their children will scatter from each other like young lions that separate from each other to find food.
- <sup>12</sup> I heard a message that someone came and whispered to me.
- <sup>13</sup> He spoke to me at night when I was having a bad dream that disturbed me.
It caused me to be afraid and tremble;
it caused all my bones to shake.
- <sup>14</sup> A ghost glided past my face and caused the hair on the back of my neck to stand straight up.
- <sup>15</sup> It stopped, but I could not see what it really looked like.
But I knew that there was some being in front of me, and it said in a quiet voice,
- <sup>17</sup> 'No human being can be more righteous than God.
No man can be better than God, who made him.'
- <sup>18</sup> God cannot be sure that his own angels will always do what is right;
he declares that some of them have done wrong.
- <sup>19</sup> So he certainly cannot trust human beings whom he has made from dust and clay, human beings, whom disaster crushes as easily as you can crush a moth!
- <sup>20</sup> People are sometimes in good health in the morning, but by the evening they are dead.
They are gone forever and no one even pays attention.
- <sup>21</sup> Their families and possessions are like tents that collapse suddenly when you pull up their stakes;

they perish suddenly without anyone ever knowing why."

- 5 "Job, no one will stop you from calling out for someone to help you, but I am certain that no angel will come to you!"
- <sup>2</sup> Foolish people die because they are resentful;
people whom others easily deceive —these people die because they envy others.
- <sup>3</sup> I have seen foolish people who seemed to be successful, but suddenly they experienced disaster because I cursed their home.
- <sup>4</sup> Their sons are never safe;
they always lose to their opponents in court,
because there is no one to defend them.
- <sup>5</sup> Hungry people steal the crops that foolish people harvest;
they even steal the crops that grow among thorns,
and greedy people take away the wealth of those foolish people.
- <sup>6</sup> But it is not the farmland that makes bad things happen;
troubles do not grow up from the ground like plants.
- <sup>7</sup> People make trouble for themselves from the time that they are born;
this is as certain as the fact that sparks shoot up from a fire.
- <sup>8</sup> If I were suffering like you are, I would ask God for help and tell him what I am complaining about.
- <sup>9</sup> He does great things, things that we cannot understand;
we cannot even count the marvelous things that he does.
- <sup>10</sup> He sends rain on the ground;
he makes it rain on our fields.
- <sup>11</sup> He defends those who are humble, and puts those who mourn into places where they are safe.
- <sup>12</sup> He causes crafty people to not be able to do what they plan to do, with the result that they achieve

- nothing.
- <sup>13</sup> The people who think they are wise—he makes their own traps catch them; the result is that they do not succeed.
- <sup>14</sup> It is as though even in the daytime they were living in darkness and were groping around trying to find the road at noontime like people do at night.
- <sup>15</sup> But God saves helpless people from the wicked who say evil things about them; he saves poor people from powerful people harming them.
- <sup>16</sup> So poor people confidently expect that good things will happen to them; but God stops wicked people from saying evil things.
- <sup>17</sup> But those whom God corrects are fortunate; so do not despise it when God, who can do anything, disciplines you.
- <sup>18</sup> He wounds people, but then he puts bandages on those wounds; he hurts people, but he also heals them.
- <sup>19</sup> He will rescue you many times from your troubles, with the result that nothing evil will happen to you.
- <sup>20</sup> When there is little food to eat, he will not allow you to die, and when there is a war, your enemies will not kill you.
- <sup>21</sup> God will protect you when people say false, evil things about you; you will not be afraid when many things around you perish.
- <sup>22</sup> You will be able to laugh when that happens and when there is nothing to eat, and you will not be afraid of wild animals.
- <sup>23</sup> You will not worry about having big rocks in your fields that will make plowing difficult, and you will not worry that wild animals might attack you.
- <sup>24</sup> You will know that things will go well for you in your home; when you look at your livestock, you will see that they are all there.
- <sup>25</sup> You will be certain that you will have many descendants, who will be as numerous as blades of grass.
- <sup>26</sup> You will become very old before you die, like sheaves of grain continue to grow until it is time to harvest and thresh them.
- <sup>27</sup> My friends and I have thought carefully about these things, and we know that they are true, so pay attention to what I have said!"
- 6 Then Job spoke again to Eliphaz:
- <sup>2</sup> "If all my troubles and misery could be put on a scale and weighed,
- <sup>3</sup> they would be heavier than all the sand along the ocean shores. That is why I spoke very rashly about the day that I was born.
- <sup>4</sup> It is as though Almighty God has shot me with arrows. It is as though those arrows have poison on their tips, and that poison has gone into my spirit. The things that God has done to me are like soldiers lined up to attack me.
- <sup>5</sup> Just like a wild donkey does not complain by braying when it has plenty of grass to eat, and an ox does not complain by bellowing when it has food to eat, I would not complain if you were really helping me.
- <sup>6</sup> People complain when they must eat food that has no salt or food that is slimy and tasteless; that is what your words are like, Eliphaz.
- <sup>7</sup> I do not want to eat food like that, because it disgusts me, and I do not like what you have said to me.
- <sup>8</sup> I wish that God would do for me what I have asked of him:
- <sup>9</sup> I wish that he would crush me and let

- me die.
I wish that he would reach out his hand and take away my life.
- <sup>10</sup> If he would do that, I would be comforted because I would know that in spite of the great pain that I have suffered,
I have always obeyed what God, the Holy One, has commanded.
- <sup>11</sup> But now I do not have enough strength to endure all these things. And since I have nothing to hope for in the future, it is difficult for me to be patient now.
- <sup>12</sup> I am not strong like rocks are, and my body is not made of bronze.
- <sup>13</sup> So I am not able to help myself; I am not wise enough for that.
- <sup>14</sup> When a man has many troubles, his friends should be kind to him, even if he stops honoring Almighty God.
- <sup>15</sup> But you, my friends, are not dependable. You are like streams in the wilderness: They spill over their banks in the spring
- <sup>16</sup> when the melting ice and snow make them overflow,
- <sup>17</sup> but when the dry season comes, there is no water flowing in those streams, and the channels dry up.
- <sup>18</sup> The caravans of merchants turn off their road to search for water, but there is no water in those streambeds, so the merchants die in the desert.
- <sup>19</sup> The men in those caravans searched for some water because they were sure that they would find some.
- <sup>20</sup> But they did not find any, so they were very disappointed.
- <sup>21</sup> Similarly, you friends have not helped me at all! You have seen that terrible things have happened to me, and you are afraid that God might do similar things to you.

- <sup>22</sup> After I lost all my wealth, I did not ask any of you for money. I did not plead with any of you to spend some of your money to help me.
- <sup>23</sup> I never asked any of you to rescue me from my enemies, and I did not ask you to save me from those who oppressed me.
- <sup>24</sup> Answer me now, and then I will be quiet; tell me what wrong things I have done!
- <sup>25</sup> When people speak what is true, it can be painful for the listener to hear honest words. But what have all your arguments proven about me?
- <sup>26</sup> I am a man who has nothing to hope for, but you try to correct me, and you think what I say is as useless as the wind!
- <sup>27</sup> You do not sympathize with me at all for the things that I am suffering. You will do anything to get something for yourselves! You would even play a game to see who gets an orphan as a prize!
- <sup>28</sup> Please look at me! I will not lie while I am talking straight to you.
- <sup>29</sup> Stop saying that I have sinned, and stop criticizing me unjustly! You should realize that I have not done things that are wrong.
- <sup>30</sup> Do you think that I am lying? No, I am not lying, because I know what is right to say, and what is wrong."
- 7 "People need to work hard on this earth like soldiers do; all during the time that we are alive, we need to work as hard as any hired worker.
- <sup>2</sup> We are like slaves who keep wanting to be in the cool of evening, and we are like workers who keep waiting to be paid.
- <sup>3</sup> God has given to me many months in which I think that it is useless to remain alive;

- he has assigned to me many nights during which I feel miserable.
- <sup>4</sup> When I lie down at night I say, 'How long will it be until I get up?' But the nights are long, and I toss on my bed until the dawn.
- <sup>5</sup> My body is covered with maggots and scabs; pus oozes out of my open sores.
- <sup>6</sup> My days pass as quickly as a weaver's shuttle; when one day ends, I never expect that things will be better the next day.
- <sup>7</sup> God, do not forget that my life is as short as a single breath; I think that I will never again experience being happy.
- <sup>8</sup> God, you see me now, but some day you will not see me anymore. You will search for me, but I will be gone because I will be dead.
- <sup>9</sup> Like a cloud passes and disappears, people die and descend to the place where dead people are, and they do not return;
- <sup>10</sup> they never return to their houses, and the people who are still alive do not remember them anymore.
- <sup>11</sup> So I will not be silent; while I am suffering, I will speak; I will complain to God about what has happened to me because I am very angry.
- <sup>12</sup> God, why do you watch closely what I am doing? Do you think that I am a dangerous sea monster?
- <sup>13</sup> When I lie down at night, I say to myself, 'I will go to sleep and stop suffering; my pain will be less while I am sleeping.'
- <sup>14</sup> But then you give me dreams that cause me to be afraid; you give me visions that terrify me;
- <sup>15</sup> these things make me wish that someone would strangle me to death, rather than for me to continue to be alive when I am only a

- bunch of bones.
- <sup>16</sup> I detest continuing to be alive; I do not want to live for many more years. Allow me to be alone, because I will be alive for only a very short time.
- <sup>17</sup> We human beings are not very important; so why do you pay so much attention to us?
- <sup>18</sup> You look at us every morning to see what we are doing, and you examine us every moment to see if we are doing what is right.
- <sup>19</sup> When will you stop looking at me and leave me alone for a little time, long enough to swallow my own spit?
- <sup>20</sup> Why do you watch me constantly? If I sin, that certainly does not harm you!
- Why have you set me up like a target to shoot at? Do you consider me to be a heavy load that you are forced to carry?
- <sup>21</sup> If I have sinned, are you not able to forgive me for the wrong things that I have done?
- Soon I will lie in my grave; you will search for me, but you will not find me because I will be dead and gone."
- 8 Then Bildad, from the Shuah area, spoke to Job. He said,
- <sup>2</sup> "Job, how much longer will you talk like this? What you say is as useless as a big wind.
- <sup>3</sup> Almighty God certainly never does anything unfairly. He always does what is right.
- <sup>4</sup> Your children have sinned against him; this is evident because he has punished them for those evil things.
- <sup>5</sup> But now, if only you will earnestly request Almighty God to help you!
- <sup>6</sup> If only you were pure and honest! Then he will surely do something

- good for you and reward you by giving your family back to you and making you prosper.
- <sup>7</sup> Even though you were not very prosperous before,
during the last stage of your life you would become very wealthy.
- <sup>8</sup> I request you to think about what happened long ago
and to consider what our ancestors found out.
- <sup>9</sup> It seems as though we were born only yesterday
and we know very little;
our time here on the earth disappears quickly, like a shadow that is here and then gone.
- <sup>10</sup> So why not allow your ancestors to teach you anything?
Let them tell you what they learned!
- <sup>11</sup> Papyrus certainly does not grow away
from marshland;
reeds certainly cannot grow where there is no water.
- <sup>12</sup> If the water dries up while they are blossoming,
they wither more quickly than any other plant.
- <sup>13</sup> Those who do not pay attention to what God says are like those reeds;
godless people stop confidently expecting that good things will happen to them.
- <sup>14</sup> The things they confidently expect to happen do not happen;
things they trust will help them are
as weak as a spider's web.
- <sup>15</sup> If they think they will be safe because they are wealthy, they will not be safe;
the things they think will keep them safe—those things will disappear.
- <sup>16</sup> Godless people are like plants that are watered before the sun rises:
their shoots spread all over the gardens.
- <sup>17</sup> The roots of those plants twist around the piles of stones
and cling tightly to the rocks.

- <sup>18</sup> But if a gardener pulls those plants out, it is as though the place where they were planted says, 'They were never here!'
- That is what happens to wicked people who do not pay attention to what God says.
- <sup>19</sup> Truly, this is all the joy that evil people have:
other people just come and take their places.
- <sup>20</sup> So, I tell you, Job, God will not reject
you if you honor him,
but he does not help evil people.
- <sup>21</sup> He will always enable you to laugh
and to shout joyfully.
- <sup>22</sup> But those who hate you will be very ashamed,
and the homes of wicked people
will disappear."
- <sup>9</sup> Then Job replied,
But how can anyone say to God, 'I am innocent'?
- <sup>3</sup> If someone wanted to argue with God
about that,
God could ask him a thousand questions
and that person would not be able to answer any of them!"
- <sup>4</sup> God is very wise and powerful;
no one who has tried to argue against him has ever been able to win.
- <sup>5</sup> He even moves mountains in earthquakes without telling anyone in advance.
When he is angry, he turns the mountains upside down.
- <sup>6</sup> He sends earthquakes that shake the ground;
he causes the columns that support
the earth to shake.
- <sup>7</sup> Some days he speaks to the sun, and it does not rise,
and some nights he prevents the stars from shining.
- <sup>8</sup> He alone stretched [stretches] out the sky;
he alone puts his feet on the waves
and stops their violence.

- <sup>9</sup> He set in their places the groups of stars — the Bear, Orion, the Pleiades, and the groups of stars in the southern sky.
- <sup>10</sup> He does great things that we cannot understand; he does more marvelous things than we are able to count.
- <sup>11</sup> He passes by where I am, but I cannot see him; he moves further on, but I do not see him go.
- <sup>12</sup> If he wants to snatch someone away, no one could stop him; no one dares ask him, 'Why are you doing that?'
- <sup>13</sup> God will not very easily stop being angry; he defeated the servants of Rahab, the great sea monster.
- <sup>14</sup> If God took me to court, what could I say to answer him?
- <sup>15</sup> Even though I would be innocent, I would not be able to answer him. All I could do would be to request God, my judge, to act mercifully toward me.
- <sup>16</sup> If I summoned him to come to the courtroom and he said that he would come, I would not believe that he would pay attention to what I would say.
- <sup>17</sup> He sends storms to batter me, and he bruises me many times without any reason.
- <sup>18</sup> It is as though he will not let me get my breath because he causes me to suffer all the time.
- <sup>19</sup> If I tried to wrestle with him, there would be no way to defeat him, because he is stronger than I am. If I called him to appear in court, there is no one who could force him to go there.
- <sup>20</sup> Even though I was innocent, anything I said would cause him to punish me; even though I had not done anything wrong, he would still prove that I was guilty.

- <sup>21</sup> I have not done anything wrong, but that is not important anymore because I do not care what happens to me. I despise living.
- <sup>22</sup> Nothing is important to me because God will get rid of all of us, both those who are innocent and those who are wicked.
- <sup>23</sup> When people experience disaster and it causes them to suddenly die, God laughs at it, even if they are innocent.
- <sup>24</sup> God has allowed wicked people to control what happens in the world. It is as though he had caused judges to be blind, no longer able to judge fairly.
- If it is not God who has done that, who, then, has done it?
- <sup>25</sup> My days pass very quickly, like a fast runner who passes one by; it is as though the days run away, and nothing good ever happens to me.
- <sup>26</sup> My life goes by very rapidly, like a swiftly sailing boat made from reeds or like an eagle that swoops down to seize an animal.
- <sup>27</sup> If I smile and say to God, 'I will forget what I am complaining about; I will stop looking sad and try to be cheerful.'
- <sup>28</sup> then I become afraid because of all that I am suffering because I know that God does not consider that I am innocent.
- <sup>29</sup> He will condemn me anyway, so why should I keep trying in vain to defend myself?
- <sup>30</sup> If I washed myself with snow or cleansed my hands with lye to get rid of my guilt,
- <sup>31</sup> he would still throw me into a filthy pit; as a result it would be as though even my clothes would detest me.
- <sup>32</sup> God is not a human, as I am, so there is no way that I could answer him to prove that I am

- innocent
if we went together to have a trial in a courtroom.
- <sup>33</sup> There is no one to mediate,
no one who has authority over both
of us.
- <sup>34</sup> I wish someone else could stop God
from making me suffer,
and that he would not continue to terrify me.
- <sup>35</sup> If he did that, I would declare that I am innocent without being afraid of him because I know within myself that I really have not done what is wrong like God thinks that I have.
- 10 I detest living any longer.
I will not stop saying why I am complaining.
Since I am very unhappy, I will speak.
- <sup>2</sup> I will say to God, 'Do not just say that you must punish me;
in addition, tell me what wrong
you saw that I have done.'
- <sup>3</sup> Does it please you to oppress me,
to abandon me, whom you created,
and, at the same time, to help wicked people to do the things that they plan to do?
- <sup>4</sup> Do you understand things the way that we humans do?
- <sup>5</sup> Do you live for only a few years, like [as]
we do?
- <sup>6</sup> So why do you continue to search for my faults
and to hunt for my sins?
- <sup>7</sup> You know that I am not guilty,
and that no one can rescue me from your power.
- <sup>8</sup> With your hands you created me and shaped my body,
but now you are deciding that you should not have done that, and you are destroying me instead.
- <sup>9</sup> Do not forget that you made me from a piece of clay;
are you going to cause me to become soil again?
- <sup>10</sup> You certainly formed me when I was conceived,
- and you put me together inside my mother's womb.
- <sup>11</sup> You fastened my bones together with sinews,
and then you covered them with flesh inside my skin.
- <sup>12</sup> You have caused me to be alive; you have faithfully loved me,
and you have carefully preserved
me.
- <sup>13</sup> But you kept secret what you were planning to do to me;
I am certain that you were planning
to do these things to me.
- <sup>14</sup> You were watching to see if I would sin,
so that, if I did sin, you would refuse to forgive me.
- <sup>15</sup> If I am a wicked man, I hope that terrible things will happen to me.
But even if I am righteous, I still must bow my head and feel ashamed because I am very disgraced and feel miserable.
- <sup>16</sup> And if I am proud, you hunt me like a lion hunts for some animal to kill,
and you act powerfully to injure
me.
- <sup>17</sup> You constantly find more witnesses to testify that I have done what is wrong,
and you continually become more
angry with me.
It is as though you are [were] always bringing new troops to attack
me.
- <sup>18</sup> God, why did you allow me to be born?
I wish had died when I was born,
and that no one had ever seen
me.
- <sup>19</sup> I think it would have been better if I had been carried directly from my mother's womb to the grave
than for me to live.
- <sup>20</sup> I think that there are only a few days
for me to remain alive;
so allow me to be alone, in order that I may have a little peace
- <sup>21</sup> before I go to the place from which I will never return,

[a place] where it is always gloomy
and very dark,

<sup>22</sup>a place of darkness and dark shadows
where everything is confused [and] where even the small light
there is like darkness."

11 Then Zophar, the friend from the region of Naamah, said this to Job:

<sup>2</sup>"Should no one answer all that you have said?

Just because you talk a lot, that fact should not persuade us to declare that you are innocent.

<sup>3</sup>Job, should your babbling really cause us to be silent?

When you make fun of what we think, certainly there should be someone to rebuke you and cause you to be ashamed!

<sup>4</sup>You say, 'What I say is true;
God knows that I am innocent.'

<sup>5</sup>But I wish that God would talk and say something to answer you!

<sup>6</sup>God knows everything about
everything,
so I wish that he would tell you the secrets that he knows because he is wise.

It would be good if you realized that God is punishing you less than you deserve!

<sup>7</sup>Tell me, will you ever be able to find out the things about God that are very difficult to understand?

Will you be able to find out everything that there is to know about Almighty God?

<sup>8</sup>What there is to know about God is greater than the distance from earth
to heaven;
so there is no way that you can understand it all.

It is greater than the distance from here
to the place of the dead;
so it is impossible for you to know
it all.

<sup>9</sup>What there is to know about God is wider than the earth
and wider than the ocean.

<sup>10</sup>If God comes to you and puts you in prison and then brings you to a trial,

who can stop him?

<sup>11</sup>He knows which people are worthless;
and when he sees people doing wicked things, he certainly does not ignore them.

<sup>12</sup>Stupid people like you will start to become wise
when wild donkeys start giving birth to people.

<sup>13</sup>Job, repent and make your heart humble;
reach out your hands toward God
and plead with him.

<sup>14</sup>If you have done evil things, stop doing
them;
and do not allow any people in your house to do wicked deeds.

<sup>15</sup>If you do that, surely you will be able to carry your head high, because you will not be ashamed;
you will be strong and not afraid of anything.

<sup>16</sup>You will forget all your troubles;
they will be like the water that has
all flowed away and dried up.

<sup>17</sup>Your troubles will be ended, like the darkness ends at the dawn;
it will be as though the sun were shining brightly on you, like it shines at noon.

<sup>18</sup>You will feel safe, because you will be confident that good things will happen to you;
God will protect you and allow you to rest safely each night.

<sup>19</sup>You will lie down to sleep, and no one will make you afraid.
And many people will come and request you to be kind to them.

<sup>20</sup>But wicked people will not be able to understand why bad things are happening to them;
they will not have any way to escape
from their troubles.
The only thing that they will want to do is to die."

<sup>12</sup>Then Job said to his three friends,

<sup>2</sup>"There is no doubt that you are the people to whom everyone should listen,
and that when you die, there will be

- no more wise people alive.
- <sup>3</sup> But I have as much good sense as you do;
- I am no less wise than you are.
Certainly everyone knows all that you have said.
- <sup>4</sup> My friends all laugh at me now.
Previously I habitually requested God to help me, and he always answered me.
- I am righteous, and I honor God, but now everyone laughs at me.
- <sup>5</sup> It is easy for people like you, who have no troubles, to laugh at people like me;
you make us who are already suffering to have even more troubles.
- <sup>6</sup> Meanwhile, bandits live peacefully, and no one threatens those who cause God to become angry; the god they worship is their own strength.
- <sup>7</sup> But ask the wild animals what they know about God; if they could speak they would teach you.
- If you could ask the birds, they would tell you.
- <sup>8</sup> If you could ask the creatures that crawl on the ground, or the fish in the sea, they would tell you about God.
- <sup>9</sup> All of them certainly know that it is Yahweh who has done this.
- <sup>10</sup> He directs the lives of all living creatures; he gives breath to all us humans to enable us to live.
- <sup>11</sup> When we hear what people like you say, we think carefully about what they say to determine what is good and what is bad, like we taste food to know what is good and what is bad.
- <sup>12</sup> Old people are usually very wise; because they have lived a long time, they understand much.
- <sup>13</sup> And God is wise and very powerful; he has good sense and understands everything.

- <sup>14</sup> If he tears something down, no one can rebuild it; if he puts someone in prison, no one can open the door to let that person to escape.
- <sup>15</sup> When he prevents rain from falling, everything dries up.
When he causes a lot of rain to fall, the result is that there are floods.
- <sup>16</sup> He is the one who is truly strong and wise; he rules over those who deceive others and those whom they deceive.
- <sup>17</sup> He sometimes causes the king's officials to lose their wisdom and grieve because of it' and he causes judges to become foolish.
- <sup>18</sup> He takes from kings the ornaments that they wear and puts loincloths around their waists, causing them to become slaves.
- <sup>19</sup> He also makes priests grieve, and he takes power away from those who rule others.
- <sup>20</sup> He sometimes causes those whom others trust to be unable to speak, and he causes old men to no longer have good sense.
- <sup>21</sup> He causes people to despise those who rule, and he causes those who are powerful to become weak.
- <sup>22</sup> He shows to us things that were secret, even things that were in the world of the dead.
- <sup>23</sup> He causes some nations to become very great, and later he destroys them; he causes the territory of some nations to become much larger, and later he brings others to defeat them and take them prisoner.
- <sup>24</sup> He causes some rulers to become foolish, and then he causes them to wander around, lost, as if they were in the wilderness with no way out.

<sup>25</sup> It is as if they were feeling around in the darkness, without any light; as if they were drunk, not knowing what they should do."

13 "I have seen everything that you have seen, and I have heard and understood all that you have said.

<sup>2</sup> What you know, I also know;
I do not know less than you.

<sup>3</sup> But I would like to speak with Almighty God, not with you;
I would like to argue with him and show him that I am innocent.

<sup>4</sup> As for you, you tell lies and do not allow people to know unpleasant truth, like someone who covers up the bad surface of a wall with whitewash.

You are all like doctors who sell people useless medicine.

<sup>5</sup> I wish that you would be silent; that would be wiser than anything you have said to me.

<sup>6</sup> Listen to what I will say to you now; listen while I am saying what is true about myself.

<sup>7</sup> You are telling lies to help God; you are saying what is false in order to help him!

<sup>8</sup> You would really like to be kind to him by defending what he does, would you not?

It is as if you were trying to prove in a court that he is innocent!

<sup>9</sup> But if he, sitting as the judge, looked closely at you, he would find that what you are doing for him is bad!

You have deceived other people, but do not think that you can lie about him in court and say that you are defending him!

<sup>10</sup> If you say clever things to persuade God to take your side, he will surely rebuke you.

<sup>11</sup> He will certainly bring the full force of his power against you; you will become very afraid of him.

<sup>12</sup> What you have said—the things that you think are so wise—are as useless as ashes;

what you say to defend how you think is no better than clay that quickly crumbles.

<sup>13</sup> So be quiet and allow me to speak; after that, it will not matter what happens to me.

<sup>14</sup> I am ready to risk my life;
I am even willing to risk that God will execute me for what I say.

<sup>15</sup> If he kills me, then I will not have anyone else whom I can confidently expect to help me, but I am going to defend my behavior in his presence anyway.

<sup>16</sup> No wicked person would dare to stand in the presence of God, but because I say that I have not done things that are wrong, perhaps, if I can prove that to God, he will declare me innocent."

<sup>18</sup> I am ready to argue that I am innocent, and I know that you also will declare that I am not guilty.

<sup>19</sup> I certainly do not think that you or anyone else will say that what I say is false; if you did so, then I would speak no more, and I would die.

<sup>20</sup> I am requesting you to do two things for me; if you do them, I will not try to hide from you.

<sup>21</sup> The first thing that I request is that you stop punishing me, and the second thing that I request is that you stop terrifying me.

<sup>22</sup> Speak first, and then I will reply; or allow me to speak first, and then you reply.

<sup>23</sup> What have I done that is wrong? What sins have I committed? Show me how I have disobeyed you.

Why do you act toward me as though I were your enemy?

<sup>25</sup> I am as insignificant as a leaf that the wind blows.

Why are you trying to make me afraid?

Why are you making me suffer?

After all, I am as useless as a bit of dry chaff!

<sup>26</sup> It seems that you are writing things to accuse me of having sinned, and that you are writing down even the bad things I did when I was young.

<sup>27</sup> It is as though you have put my feet in stocks and that you were watching me wherever I walk; it is as though you were following my footprints to see where I have gone.

14 We humans are very frail. We are born, and we live only a short time; we experience much trouble.

<sup>2</sup> We disappear quickly, like flowers that grow from the ground quickly and then wither and die.

We are like shadows that disappear when the sun stops shining.

<sup>3</sup> Yahweh, why do you keep watching me to see if I am doing something that is wrong?

Do you want to take me to court to judge me?

You have decided how many months we will live, and we cannot live longer than the time that you have decided.

<sup>6</sup> So please stop examining us, and allow us to be alone so that we might enjoy our life of hard labor, if a hired worker can possibly do so.

<sup>7</sup> If we cut a tree down,

sometimes we hope that it will sprout again and grow new branches.

<sup>8</sup> Its roots in the ground may be very old, and its stump may decay, <sup>9</sup> but if some water falls on it, it may bud and send up shoots like a young plant.

<sup>10</sup> But when we people lose all our strength and die, we stop breathing, and then we are gone forever.

Until the heavens do not exist any longer; people who die do not wake up, and no one can wake them up.

<sup>13</sup> Yahweh, I wish that you would put me safely in the place of the dead and forget about me, so that I do not suffer any more until you are no longer angry with me.

I wish that you would decide how much time I would spend there, and then remember that I am there.

<sup>14</sup> When we humans die, we will certainly not live again.

If I knew that we would live again, I would wait patiently for you to release me from my sufferings.

<sup>15</sup> You would call me, and I would answer.

You would be eager to see me, one of the creatures that you had made.

<sup>19</sup> and just as water slowly wears away the stones, and just as floods wash away soil, you eventually destroy us; you do

- not allow us to continue to hope that we will keep on living.
- <sup>20</sup> You always defeat us, and then we die. You cause our faces to look ugly after we die, and you send us away.
- <sup>21</sup> When we die, we do not know if our sons will grow up and do things that will cause other people to honor them. Or if they become disgraced, we do not know that either.
- <sup>22</sup> We will feel our own pain; we will not feel anything else; we will be sorry for ourselves, not for anyone else."
- <sup>15</sup> Then Eliphaz replied to Job:
- <sup>2</sup> "If you were truly wise, you would not have replied to us by claiming that you know a lot; what you are saying is just a lot of hot air.
- <sup>3</sup> You should not be saying things that do not benefit anyone; you should not say things that do no one any good.
- <sup>4</sup> You are teaching others not to respect God, and you are keeping them from honoring him.
- <sup>5</sup> You are wicked, and that is why you say what you do; you talk like deceptive people talk.
- <sup>6</sup> Everything that you say shows that God should punish you; it is not necessary for me to prove that.
- <sup>7</sup> Tell me, why do you think you know so much? You do not think that you were the first person who was ever born, do you? You do not think that you were born before God created the mountains, do you?
- <sup>8</sup> Were you listening when God made all his plans? Do you think that you are the only person who is wise?
- <sup>9</sup> What do you know that we others do not know?
- You do not understand anything that is not also clear to us.
- <sup>10</sup> My friends and I are also wise; we acquired wisdom from old gray-haired people, from people who were born before your father was.
- <sup>11</sup> God wants to comfort you and to speak gently to you; that should be enough for you, but it is not enough, is it?
- <sup>12</sup> Why do you allow yourself to be excited by your emotions? Why do your eyes flash with anger?
- <sup>13</sup> You are angry with God, and so you say harsh things against him.
- <sup>14</sup> How can any person, including you, be sinless? How can anyone on the earth be completely righteous?
- <sup>15</sup> God does not even trust his angels; he does not consider the heavens to be completely pure.
- <sup>16</sup> So he certainly does not trust disgusting people, those who commit evil deeds as often as they drink water.
- <sup>17</sup> Job, listen to what I tell you. I will declare to you what I know,
- <sup>18</sup> things that wise men have told me, truths that their ancestors did not keep hidden.
- <sup>19</sup> (God gave this land to those ancestors who were truly wise; no one from another country came and caused them to think wrongly about God.)
- <sup>20</sup> Wicked people suffer with great pain all the time that they are alive; that is what happens to those who oppress others.
- <sup>21</sup> They constantly hear sounds that terrify them; while they are prospering, robbers attack them.
- <sup>22</sup> Wicked people do not really think that they will escape from darkness; they are sure that someone is waiting to kill them with a sword.

- <sup>23</sup> They wander around, searching for food, saying 'Where can I find some?' They know that they will soon experience disasters.
- <sup>24</sup> Because they are afraid of those things happening to them, they worry that these things will attack them as a king's army waits to attack its enemies and causes them to suffer.
- <sup>25</sup> These things happen to them because they shook their fists against Almighty God and thought that they were strong enough to defeat him.
- <sup>26</sup> They stubbornly rush to attack God thinking that a strong shield will protect them.
- <sup>27</sup> But they are so fat that they are unable to fight.
- <sup>28</sup> They have lived in cities that have been abandoned, cities which God declared would become a heap of ruins.
- <sup>29</sup> But they will not remain rich very long; Others will take everything that they own, and even their shadows will disappear from the earth.
- <sup>30</sup> They will not escape from the darkness of death; they will be like trees whose branches burn up. When God gives the command, they will die.
- <sup>31</sup> If they are very foolish, with the result that they trust in things that are really worthless, then things that are worthless will be all that they get.
- <sup>32</sup> While they are still young, they will disappear; they will be like branches that wither and never become green again.
- <sup>33</sup> They will be like vines whose grapes fall off before they are ripe, like olive trees whose blossoms fall off before they produce any fruit.

- <sup>34</sup> Groups of wicked people will not have any descendants, and fires will completely burn up the homes of those who took money from bribes.
- <sup>35</sup> They plan to cause trouble and to do evil things, and in their hearts they are always preparing to deceive people."
- <sup>16</sup> Job replied to Eliphaz and the others,
- <sup>2</sup> "I have heard things like that before; all of you, instead of helping me, are only causing me to feel more miserable.
- <sup>3</sup> Will your speeches, which are only wind, never end? Eliphaz, what bothers you that makes you continue replying like this to me?
- <sup>4</sup> If it were you three and not I who were suffering, I could, in your place, say the things that you are saying. I could make great speeches to criticize you, and I could shake my head at you to ridicule you.
- <sup>5</sup> Then you would see whether my words encouraged you or not; you would see whether they made you feel your pain less.
- <sup>6</sup> But now, if I talk, my pain does not decrease, and if I am silent, my pain still certainly does not go away.
- <sup>7</sup> God, you have now taken away all my strength; you have destroyed all my family.
- <sup>8</sup> You have shriveled me up, and people think that shows me to be a sinner. They see that I am only skin and bones, and they think that proves that I am guilty.
- <sup>9</sup> Because God is very angry with me and hates me, it is as though he were a wild animal that tore me apart with his teeth because he was my enemy.
- <sup>10</sup> People gape at me with their mouths

- open to sneer at me;
they have struck me on the face to ridicule me,
and they crowd around me to threaten me.
- <sup>11</sup> It is as though God has handed me
over to people who refuse to honor
him
and has put me into the power of the wicked.
- <sup>12</sup> Previously, I was living peacefully,
but he crushed me;
it is as though he grabbed my neck and
smashed me to pieces;
it is as though he set me up like a target.
- <sup>13</sup> It is as though I were a target, and that people were surrounding me and shooting arrows at me.
God's arrows pierce my kidneys and cause the bile from my liver to spill onto the ground;
God does not pity me at all.
- <sup>14</sup> It is as though I were a wall that he is breaking through time after time;
he rushes at me like a soldier who is attacking his enemy.
- <sup>15</sup> Because I am mourning, I wear pieces of rough cloth that I have sewed
together,
and I sit here in the dirt, very depressed.
- <sup>16</sup> My face is red because I have cried very much,
and there are dark circles around
my eyes.
- <sup>17</sup> All this has happened to me even though I have not acted violently toward anyone,
and even though I always pray
sincerely to God.
- <sup>18</sup> When I die, I want the ground to act as though I had been murdered;
I want it to cry out against those who killed me,
and I do not want anyone to stop me while I am demanding that God act justly toward me.
- <sup>19</sup> But even now, I know that there is someone in heaven who will testify
for me,

- and he will say that what I have done is right.
- <sup>20</sup> My three friends scorn me,
but my eyes are full of tears while I cry out to God.
- <sup>21</sup> I pray that the one who knows what I have done would come to plead with God for me
as a person pleads for his friend.
- <sup>22</sup> I say this because within a few years I
will die;
I will walk along the road to a place
from which I will never return."
- 17 "My time to live is almost ended; I have no strength left;
those who have dug my grave are waiting for me.
- <sup>2</sup> Those who are around me are making
fun of me;
I must always see them mocking
me."
- <sup>3</sup> "God, it is as though I were in prison;
please pay the money in order that I may be released,
because there is certainly no one else who will help me.
- <sup>4</sup> You have prevented my friends from understanding what is true about
me,
but you will not allow them to triumph over me, saying that I have done wrong things.
- <sup>5</sup> Our ancestors said, 'It often happens that when someone betrays his friends in order to get some of their property,
it is that person's children who will be punished for it,'
so I desire that will be true of these friends of mine who are lying about
me.
- <sup>6</sup> But now people use that saying of our ancestors when they talk about me;
they spit to insult me.
- <sup>7</sup> My eyes have become dim because I am very sad,
and my arms and legs are as thin as shadows.
- <sup>8</sup> People who are truly righteous will be shocked when they see what has

- happened to me;
they will be angry at those who refuse to honor God.
- <sup>9</sup>Those who are truly righteous will continue to do what is right, and those who live righteously will continue to become stronger.
- <sup>10</sup>But all you friends of mine,
I do not find even one among you who is wise.
- <sup>11</sup>My time to live is almost ended; I have not been able to do the things that I planned to do.
As for the things I have most desired, there is no hope of them happening.
- <sup>12</sup>My friends do not know when it is
night and when it is day;
when it is night, they claim that it is daylight;
when it is becoming dark, they claim that it is getting light.
- <sup>13</sup>I know that my home will be the place where dead people are,
where I will sleep in the darkness.
- <sup>14</sup>I can say to the grave, 'Where I am buried, that place will be like a father
to me.'
I can say to the maggots, 'You will be like a mother or younger sisters to me because that is where I will always be.'
- <sup>15</sup>There is certainly no more hope left for
me.
No one expects that I will have any more happiness.
- <sup>16</sup>After I descend to the place where the dead are, I will not be able to expect anything good there.
I and the things I hope for will go down together into the soil."
- <sup>18</sup>Then Bildad replied again: <sup>2</sup>"Please stop talking!
If you would stop talking and listen, we could tell you something.
- <sup>3</sup>Why do you think that we are as stupid
as cattle and as unrighteous?
- <sup>4</sup>By being very angry, you are only hurting yourself.
Do you think that everyone on the

- earth must leave to prove that you are right,
or do you think that God must move the rocks in the mountains to please you?
- <sup>5</sup>What will happen is that the lives of wicked people like you end
as quickly as we can put out a light or extinguish the flame of a fire.
- <sup>6</sup>When the lamps above them in their tents are extinguished,
there will be no light in those tents.
- <sup>7</sup>While they are alive, they walk confidently,
but later it will be as though they stumbled and fell,
because they themselves do not pay attention to the advice that they give to others.
- <sup>8</sup>It will be as though they had walked into their own net
or had fallen into a pit that they themselves dug.
- <sup>9</sup>It will be as though a trap had grabbed their heels and held them fast,
- <sup>10</sup>as though the end of a rope that was hidden on the ground
had sprung up and seized them
when they walked on it.
- <sup>11</sup>Everywhere they go, there will be things that cause them to be terrified;
it will be as though those things were pursuing them and biting
at their heels.
- <sup>12</sup>They will become hungry, with the result that they will be strong no longer.
They will continually experience
disasters.
- <sup>13</sup>Diseases will spread all over their skin;
diseases will cause their bodies to decay.
- <sup>14</sup>When they die, they will be snatched away from their tents
and brought to the one who rules
over the dead.
- <sup>15</sup>Then other people will live in their tents,
but only after they sprinkle sulfur on those tents to get rid of the disease!

- <sup>16</sup>Because they will die and leave no descendants, they will be like trees whose roots have dried up and whose branches have all withered.
- <sup>17</sup>No one on the earth will remember them anymore;
no one on any street will even remember their names.
- <sup>18</sup>They will have to leave the earth, where there is light,
and rush into the place where it is dark.
- <sup>19</sup>They will have no children or grandchildren,
no descendants where they will have previously lived.
- <sup>20</sup>People from the east to the west who hear about what happened to them, everyone, will be shocked and horrified.
- <sup>21</sup>This is what happens to unrighteous people like you, people who do not know God."
- <sup>19</sup>Then Job replied:
- <sup>2</sup>"How long will you three torment me and discourage me by calling me wicked?
- <sup>3</sup>You have insulted me many times; are you not ashamed for saying these things to me?
- <sup>4</sup>Even if it were true that I had done wrong,
I have not injured you!
- <sup>5</sup>If you truly think that you are better than I am,
and if you argue that I must be guilty because I am suffering,
- <sup>6</sup>you should realize that it is God who has caused me to suffer.
It is as though he has a net and that he has caught me in it.
- <sup>7</sup>I cry out, 'People are murdering me!', but no one answers me.
I call out loudly, but there is no one, not even God, who acts fairly toward me.
- <sup>8</sup>It is as though God has blocked my road, and I cannot go anywhere; it is as though he has forced me to try to find the road in the

- darkness.
- <sup>9</sup>He has taken away my good reputation; it is as though he has removed a crown from my head.
- <sup>10</sup>He batters me from every side, and I will soon die.
I no longer expect him to do anything good for me.
- <sup>11</sup>He attacks me because he is very angry at me; he considers me to be his enemy.
- <sup>12</sup>It is as though he were sending his army to attack me; they surround my tent and get ready to attack me.
- <sup>13</sup>God has caused my brothers to abandon me, and for all those who know me to act like strangers to me.
- <sup>14</sup>All my relatives and good friends have left me.
- <sup>15</sup>The people who were guests in my house have forgotten me, and my female servants consider that I am a foreigner whom they do not know.
- <sup>16</sup>When I summon my servants, they do not answer;
When I plead with them to come to help me, they do not come.
- <sup>17</sup>My breath smells very bad to my wife so she stays away from me, and my brothers detest me.
- <sup>18</sup>Even young children despise me; when I stand up to talk to them, they laugh at me.
- <sup>19</sup>My dearest friends detest me, and those whom I love very much have turned against me.
- <sup>20</sup>My body is only skin and bones; I am barely alive.
- <sup>21</sup>I plead with you, my three friends, pity me because God has struck me very hard.
- <sup>22</sup>Why do you cause me to suffer, also?
Do you think you are God?
Why do you never get enough of accusing me of doing wrong?
- <sup>23</sup>I wish that someone would take these words of mine

- and write them permanently in a book in order that people can read them.
- <sup>24</sup>Or else, I wish that someone would carve my words on a rock with a chisel in order that they would last forever.
- <sup>25</sup>But I know that the one who vindicates me in court is alive, and that some day he will stand here on the earth and make the final decision about whether I deserve to be punished.
- <sup>26</sup>And even after diseases have destroyed my body, still, in my body I will see God.
- <sup>27</sup>I will see him myself; I will see him with my own eyes! My emotions overwhelm me as I think about that!
- <sup>28</sup>If you three men say, 'This is how we will cause him to suffer!' and you say, 'He is the one who has caused his own troubles,'
- <sup>29</sup>you should fear that God will punish you; he punishes those like you with whom he is angry; and when that happens, you will know that there is someone who judges people."
- 20 Then Zophar replied again:
- <sup>2</sup>"I am very troubled about what you have said, so I want to reply very quickly.
- <sup>3</sup>By saying these things you have insulted me, but something within my understanding suggests to me how I may reply to you.
- <sup>4</sup>Do you not know that from long ago, ever since God first put people on the earth,
- <sup>5</sup>that wicked people like you do not continue to rejoice for a long time, and that people who refuse to honor God are happy only for a moment?
- <sup>6</sup>Although their reputations reach up to the sky, and their fame goes up as high as the clouds,

<sup>7</sup>they will disappear forever, like their own excrement, and those who knew them will ask, 'Where did they go?'
<sup>8</sup>They will disappear as a dream does, and they will exist no more. They will vanish like dreams that people have during the night.
<sup>9</sup>Those people who now see those wicked people will never see them again; even the people who lived with them will not see them anymore.
<sup>10</sup>Their children will be forced to return the valuable things that they stole from poor people.
<sup>11</sup>The bodies of the wicked were once young and strong, but they will die and be buried in the ground.
<sup>12</sup>Although doing wicked things was like having sweet food in their mouths that they wanted to continue tasting, <sup>13</sup>and although they did not want to stop doing those things,
<sup>14</sup>those evil things will someday become like poison that they swallow, or like the poison from snakes.
<sup>15</sup>Wicked people pile up wealth for themselves, but they do not keep it forever, just like people do not keep down the food that they vomit. God takes their wealth from them.
<sup>16</sup>Doing evil deeds is like swallowing snake poison; doing evil will kill the wicked as the bite of a poisonous snake will kill people.
<sup>17</sup>The wicked will not remain alive to see the abundant blessings from God, which are like a stream that flows.
<sup>18</sup>They will be forced to give back the things that they stole from the poor; they will not be able to continue to enjoy those things. They will not remain happy because of

- what they got from their business <sup>19</sup>because they oppressed poor people and refused to help them, and they took other people's houses by cheating them.
- <sup>20</sup>They were always greedy and never satisfied.
 So when they ate, they ate so much that they never saved anything that they enjoyed.
- <sup>21</sup>When they finished eating their food, there was never anything left over because they had greedily eaten it all; but now their prosperity will end.
- <sup>22</sup>When they are still very wealthy, they will suddenly experience trouble.
 The full power of everyone who lives in misery will crush them.
- <sup>23</sup>When the wicked people are filling their stomachs, God will show that he is very angry with them, and he will punish them; he will bring down suffering on them like the rain that falls on the ground.
- <sup>24</sup>They will try to escape from people who will attack them with iron weapons, but arrows with bronze points will pierce them.
- <sup>25</sup>The arrows will go completely through their bodies and stick out of their backs; the shiny points of the arrows will have blood dripping from them, and those wicked people will be terrified.
- <sup>26</sup>Their valuable possessions will all be destroyed; a fire started by God, not by humans, will burn them up and will destroy the things that are left in their tents.
- <sup>27</sup>The angels in heaven will reveal the sins that those wicked people have committed, and people on earth will stand up and testify against them.

- <sup>28</sup>On the day when God punishes people, all the possessions in the wicked people's houses will be carried away, as if a flood had come.
- <sup>29</sup>That is what will happen to wicked people like you; that is what God has decreed for them."
- <sup>21</sup>Then Job replied in this way:
<sup>2</sup>"Listen to what I say, all of you; that is the only thing that you can do that will comfort me.
- <sup>3</sup>Be patient with me, and allow me to speak.
 Then, after I am finished speaking, you can continue to make fun of me.
- <sup>4</sup>It is certainly not people against whom I am complaining, but God!
 And it is certainly right for me to be impatient!
- <sup>5</sup>Look at me! Does what you see not cause you to be appalled and to put your hands over your mouths and say no more?
- <sup>6</sup>When I think about what has happened to me,
 I am frightened and my entire body shakes.
- <sup>7</sup>But allow me to ask this: 'Why do wicked people continue to live, and become prosperous, and not die until they are very old?'
- <sup>8</sup>They see their children around them, and they watch them while they grow up and start to live in their own houses.
- <sup>9</sup>Wicked people live in their own houses without being afraid, and God does not punish them.
- <sup>10</sup>Their bulls always mate with the cows successfully, and the cows always give birth to calves and never miscarry.
- <sup>11</sup>Wicked people send their young children outside to play, and the children jump around happily like lambs in a pasture.
- <sup>12</sup>The children sing to the sound of tambourines and lyres,

- and they are happy to hear the sound of flutes.
- <sup>13</sup> Wicked people enjoy having good things all the time that they are alive, and they die quietly and go down to the place of the dead.
- <sup>14</sup> While they are alive, they say to God, 'Leave us alone; we do not care about how you desire us to conduct our lives!'
- <sup>15</sup> Why do you, Almighty God, think that we should serve you? What advantage do we get if we pray to you?'
- <sup>16</sup> Wicked people think that they have become prosperous because of what they have done, but I do not want to have anything to do with their thinking.
- <sup>17</sup> How often does it happen that wicked people die, without experiencing disasters? Does God ever punish them because he is angry with them?
- <sup>18</sup> He does not blow them away as wind blows away straw; they are never carried off by a whirlwind.
- <sup>19</sup> You say, 'When people have committed sins, God waits and punishes their children because of those sins;' I say that God should punish those who sin, not their children, in order that the sinners may know that it is because of their own sins that they are being punished.
- <sup>20</sup> I hope that wicked people will live to experience God destroying them, that they will experience Almighty God punishing them.
- <sup>21</sup> After wicked people are dead, they are not at all concerned for their families who are still alive.
- <sup>22</sup> Since God judges everyone, even those who are in heaven, who can teach him anything?
- <sup>23</sup> Some people die while they are very healthy, while they are peaceful and not

- afraid of anything.
- <sup>24</sup> Their bodies are fat; their bones are strong.
- <sup>25</sup> Other people die being very miserable; they have never experienced good things happening to them.
- <sup>26</sup> They die and are buried, and maggots cover their bodies. Everyone dies, so it is clear that dying is not always the punishment for being wicked.
- <sup>27</sup> Listen, I know what you three are thinking, and I know the evil things that you plan to do to me.
- <sup>28</sup> You say, 'What happened to the tents in which wicked people were living? The houses of evil rulers have been destroyed!'
- <sup>29</sup> Have you never asked people who travel much? Do you not believe their reports about what they have seen,
- <sup>30</sup> that wicked people usually do not suffer at the time when there are great disasters; that when God punishes people, someone rescues the wicked? that wicked people are the ones whom someone else rescues when God punishes people?
- <sup>31</sup> There is no one who accuses wicked people, and there is no one who pays them back for all the evil things that they have done.
- <sup>32</sup> When the corpses of wicked people are carried to their graves, people are put there to guard those graves.
- <sup>33</sup> A huge number of people go to the grave site; some go in front of the procession and some come behind, and the wicked ones who have died surely feel good when people throw clods of dirt on their graves.
- <sup>34</sup> So how can you comfort me by talking nonsense? Every reply that you give me is full - of lies!"

- <sup>22</sup> Then Eliphaz replied, saying this:
- <sup>2</sup> "No one can be useful to God!
People who are wise can be useful to themselves, but not to God.
- <sup>3</sup> If you were righteous, that would not please Almighty God, would it?
If you lived a perfect life, that would not help him, would it?
- <sup>4</sup> Do you honor God, and is that why he punishes you?
Is that the reason that he puts you
on trial?
- <sup>5</sup> No, it certainly must be because you are extremely wicked.
It must be that no one can count
the evil things that you have done!
- <sup>6</sup> You must have lent money to others and wrongly forced them to give you things to guarantee that they would pay that money back to you;
you must have taken all their clothes and left them with nothing to wear.
- <sup>7</sup> You must not have given water to those who were thirsty,
and you must have refused to give food to those who were hungry.
- <sup>8</sup> Because you were very powerful, you must have taken over all the people's
land,
and then you began to live on that land, even though others
honored you very much.
- <sup>9</sup> When widows came to you for help,
you must have sent them away
without giving them anything, and you must have oppressed
orphans.
- <sup>10</sup> Because you did all those things, now
there are traps that will catch you;
now things appear that terrify you
and cause you to tremble.
- <sup>11</sup> It is as though it had become very dark,
with the result that you cannot see
anything,
and it is as though a flood covered
you.
- <sup>12</sup> But consider this, Job: God lives high
up in the heavens.
- From there he looks down on the highest stars.
- <sup>13</sup> So why do you say, 'God knows nothing about what we are doing?'
And why do you say, 'Dark clouds keep him from seeing us, so he cannot judge us?'
- <sup>14</sup> Do you think that while he walks on the dome that covers the sky,
where there are thick clouds around him, he cannot see what we do?
- <sup>15</sup> Will you, Job, continue to conduct your life in the old way that evil people have done for many years?
- <sup>16</sup> They suddenly died while they were still young;
they disappeared like everything disappears when there is a flood
- <sup>17</sup> They kept saying to God, 'Leave us alone,' 'Allow us to be alone,'
and they also said defiantly,
'Almighty God can do nothing to harm us!'
- <sup>18</sup> Yet it was God who filled their houses
with good things;
so I cannot agree at all to follow
what the wicked plan.
- <sup>19</sup> When righteous people see that God punishes wicked people, they are glad,
and they laugh at those wicked
people.
- <sup>20</sup> They say, 'Now our enemies have been
destroyed,
and fire has burned up anything left
of their wealth.'
- <sup>21</sup> So, Job, be reconciled to God and make peace with him;
if you do that, good things will
happen to you.
- <sup>22</sup> Allow him to teach you,
and put his words into your mind.
- <sup>23</sup> If you humble yourself and return to God, he will restore you;
if you stop doing all the evil things that you have been doing in your house,
- <sup>24</sup> and if you throw away your gold,

- the fine gold from the dry stream beds in Ophir land,
- <sup>25</sup> then Almighty God will be to be as precious to you as your gold and your silver have been.
- <sup>26</sup> Then you will be happy because of God,
and you will be able to approach him confidently.
- <sup>27</sup> You will pray to him, and he will do what you request him to do;
you will do the things that you promised him that you would do.
- <sup>28</sup> Everything that you decide to do will be successful;
it will be as though a light were shining on the road in front of you.
- <sup>29</sup> God humbles those who are proud, but he saves those who are downcast.
- <sup>30</sup> God rescues those who are not innocent;
they will be rescued because you do what is right."
- 23 Then Job replied and said this:
- <sup>2</sup>"Today I am again complaining bitterly to God;
I continue to groan, but I suffer even more.
- <sup>3</sup>I wish that I knew where I could meet with him
so that I could go to the place where he lives.
- <sup>4</sup>If I could do that, I would tell him why I know that I am innocent;
I would tell him many reasons for that.
- <sup>5</sup>Then I would find out and understand what he would reply to me.
- <sup>6</sup>Would he use his great power to argue with me?
No, he would listen to me carefully.
- <sup>7</sup>I am an honest man, so I would be able to discuss things with him fairly, and then he would declare that I am innocent, and he would not trouble me again.
- <sup>8</sup>However, I have gone to the east, and he is not there;

- I have gone to the west, but I have not found him there.
- <sup>9</sup>I have gone north and I have gone south,
but I have not seen him anywhere for he keeps himself from me.
- <sup>10</sup>He knows how I have conducted my life;
when he has finished testing me, he will see that I am as pure as gold whose impurities have all been burned out.
- <sup>11</sup>I have faithfully walked on the road that he showed me;
I have not turned away from obeying him.
- <sup>12</sup>I have always obeyed what he commanded;
I have hidden away in my inner being the words that he has spoken.
- <sup>13</sup>He never changes. There is no one who can stop him from doing what he desires.
Whatever he wants to do, he does.
- <sup>14</sup>He will finish doing the things that he has planned for me, and I am sure that he has thought about doing many things for me.
- <sup>15</sup>So I am terrified when I am in front of him;
when I think about what he can do, I am very afraid.
- <sup>16</sup>Almighty God has made me very afraid.
- <sup>17</sup>The thick darkness in front of me has not make me silent, even that terrible darkness that covers my face has not kept me from speaking."
- 24 "Why does Almighty God not set a time when he will judge evil people?
The people who obey God never seem to see him judge the evil people.
- <sup>2</sup>Some evil people remove the boundary markers of other people's land, in order to take their land;
they seize other people's sheep and put them in their own pastures.

- <sup>3</sup> Some take away the donkeys that belong to orphans, and they take widows' oxen to guarantee that the widows will pay back the money that they loaned to those widows.
- <sup>4</sup> Some shove poor people off the road, and they force poor people to find places to hide from them.
- <sup>5</sup> The result is that poor people have to search for food in the desert plain like wild donkeys do.
- <sup>6</sup> The poor people harvest leftover grain in other people's fields, and gather leftover grapes from vineyards that belong to wicked men.
- <sup>7</sup> During the night they have nothing to cover their bodies, nothing to keep them warm.
- <sup>8</sup> When it rains in the mountains, they become very wet, so they huddle under the rock ledges to protect themselves from the rain.
- <sup>9</sup> Some evil men snatch poor, fatherless infants away from their mothers; they say 'I will return your babies to you when you repay the money that I lent to you.'
- <sup>10</sup> But the poor people walk around with no clothes on; they are hungry while they are working to carry other people's bundles of grain to the places where their grain will be threshed.
- <sup>11</sup> Poor people are hired by these wicked people to make olive oil for them; they tread on grapes to make juice for wine, but they are not allowed to drink any of it when they are thirsty.
- <sup>12</sup> In the cities, people who are wounded and dying cry out to God for help, but God ignores their prayers.
- <sup>13</sup> Some wicked people avoid the light because they do evil things in the dark; they do not walk on roads that are lit.
- <sup>14</sup> Murderers steal things during the night, and then they rise before dawn in order that they may go out again and kill poor and needy people.
- <sup>15</sup> Those who want to commit adultery wait for evening to come; they say, 'I do not want anyone to see me,' so they keep their faces covered.
- <sup>16</sup> It is during the night that robbers break into houses to steal things, but during the day they hide because they want to avoid being seen in the light.
- <sup>17</sup> All of those people want to do their evil deeds at night, not in the morning when it is light, because they are not afraid of the things that happen during the night that terrify others.
- <sup>18</sup> However, those wicked people will disappear very quickly, and God will curse the land that they owned; no one will go any longer to work in their vineyards.
- <sup>19</sup> Just as the snow melts away when it is hot and there is no rain, those who have sinned will disappear into the place where the dead people are.
- <sup>20</sup> Not even their mothers will remember them; wicked people will be destroyed like trees that are cut down, and maggots will eat their corpses.
- <sup>21</sup> The wicked mistreat women who have been unable to give birth to children who would have grown up to take care of them; the wicked they never help widows.
- <sup>22</sup> But God, by his power, gets rid of mighty people. He causes the wicked people to die.
- <sup>23</sup> God allows them to think that they are secure and safe, but he is watching them all the time.
- <sup>24</sup> They prosper for a little while,

- and then suddenly they are gone;
God will make them die like all the other people;
they will be like stalks of grain that
the farmers have cut off.
- <sup>25</sup> If this is not true, is there anyone who will show that I am a liar
and prove me wrong?"
- 25 Then Bildad also replied:
- <sup>2</sup> "God is very powerful; everyone should honor him very much;
he causes everything to be peaceful
high up in heaven, with no confusion at all.
- <sup>3</sup> Can anyone count the angels who are in his army in heaven?
Is there any person on whom his light does not shine?
- <sup>4</sup> So how can God consider any person to be righteous?
How can he accept any human being?
- <sup>5</sup> Consider this: God does not even think that the full moon is bright,
and he does not even accept the stars in the heavens as worthy of
him.
- <sup>6</sup> So what about humans?
They are as insignificant as maggots.
God does not think more highly of people than he thinks of worms."
- 26 Job replied to Bildad:
- <sup>2</sup> "I am a very weak and helpless man;
you do not really think that you have helped me at all, do you?"
- <sup>3</sup> You certainly do not think that you have given me good advice, do you?—me,
who am not wise at all.
- <sup>4</sup> Who helped you to say all those great
things?
Who inspired you to speak like you
did?
- <sup>5</sup> The spirits of dead people tremble with fear,
those who are under the waters
and everyone who dwells with them.
- <sup>6</sup> God knows all about those who are in
the place of the dead;
there is nothing down there that prevents God from seeing what is there.

- <sup>7</sup> God stretches out heaven
over the empty spaces,
and he places the earth in that huge empty space, but it is not resting on anything.
- <sup>8</sup> He fills the thick clouds with water and prevents that water from bursting the clouds.
- <sup>9</sup> He causes clouds to obscure the moon.
- <sup>10</sup> He separates the light from the
darkness
and puts the horizon to mark the place where the night ends and the daytime begins.
- <sup>11</sup> When he is angry, it is as though he rebuked the pillars that hold up the sky.
They are shocked, and they tremble.
- <sup>12</sup> By his power he calmed the sea;
by his skill he destroyed Rahab, the huge sea monster.
- <sup>13</sup> By his breath he caused the sky to be bright;
by his hand he killed the great dragon in the sea as it was fleeing from him.
- <sup>14</sup> But those events show only a small amount of his power;
it is as though we were hearing only whispers of his powerful voice.
When we hear thunder, we say,
"Who can really understand how great his power is?"
- 27 Job continued speaking to his three friends:
- <sup>2</sup> "Almighty God has refused to treat me
justly.
He has caused me to feel bitter.
But just as surely as he lives,
- <sup>3</sup> I will say this as long as God's Spirit enables me to breathe!
- <sup>4</sup> I will not lie!
I will not say anything to deceive
anyone.
- <sup>5</sup> I will never admit that what you three have said is true;
until the day that I die, I will insist that I have not done things that

- are wrong.
- <sup>6</sup> I will say that I am innocent, and I will never say anything different; my inner being will never reproach me as long as I live.
- <sup>7</sup> I want God to punish my enemies like he will punish all wicked people; I want him to punish those who oppose me like he punishes all unrighteous people.
- <sup>8</sup> When it is time for God to get rid of godless people and to cause them to die, there is absolutely nothing good that they can confidently expect to happen to them.
- <sup>9</sup> When they experience troubles, God will not hear them call out to him for help, will he?
- <sup>10</sup> Will they be happy about what Almighty God does? Will they begin to pray to him frequently? Certainly not!
- <sup>11</sup> I will teach you three something about God's power; I will reveal to you what he is thinking.
- <sup>12</sup> You three have seen for yourselves powerful things that God has done; so I do not understand why you have been saying such nonsense to me.
- <sup>13</sup> I will tell you what Almighty God does to wicked people, what he does to people who mistreat others.
- <sup>14</sup> Even if they have many children, those children will die in wars, or they will die because they do not have enough food to eat.
- <sup>15</sup> Their children who are still alive after they themselves die will perish from diseases, and the wives they leave behind will not even mourn for them.
- <sup>16</sup> Sometimes wicked people accumulate a huge amount of silver and pile up clothes as potters pile up clay,
- <sup>17</sup> but those wicked people will die, and

- then righteous people will wear those clothes, and honest people will get their silver and divide it among themselves.
- <sup>18</sup> The houses that they build are as weak as spider webs; they are like flimsy huts that watchmen live in while they guard people's fields.
- <sup>19</sup> The wicked people are rich when they lie down at night, but when they wake up in the morning, they find out that their money has disappeared.
- <sup>20</sup> Things that terrify them come to them like a flood that they do not expect; during the night a whirlwind carries them away.
- <sup>21</sup> It is as though the wind from the east had picked them up and carried them away from their homes, and they disappear forever.
- <sup>22</sup> That wind strikes them without pitying them while they are running away, trying to escape from its force.
- <sup>23</sup> That wind is like someone clapping his hands at them to mock them, howling at them and forcing them to run away."
- 28 "It is true that there are places where men dig to find silver, and there are places where people refine gold that they have dug.
- <sup>2</sup> People dig iron ore out of the ground, and they also smelt copper.
- <sup>3</sup> Men use lamps while they work far down under the ground to search for the ore inside the mines where it is very dark.
- <sup>4</sup> They dig shafts in places that are far from where people live, where travelers do not go. They work far away from other people, swinging back and forth on ropes as they descend into the mine shafts.
- <sup>5</sup> Food grows on the surface of the ground,

- but down under the ground, where there is no food, the miners make fires to break apart the rocks.
- <sup>6</sup>The stones that are dug from under the ground contain sapphires, and the dirt contains bits of gold.
- <sup>7</sup>Some birds have very good eyes, but even hawks do not know where the mines are, and falcons have not seen those places.
- <sup>8</sup>Lions or other proud wild animals have never gone to those places.
- <sup>9</sup>Miners dig very hard rock; it is as though they turned the mountains upside down to get the ore.
- <sup>10</sup>They cut tunnels through the rocks, and they find precious things.
- <sup>11</sup>They dam up small streams to stop the water from flowing, and they bring up into the light things that are hidden in the ground and in the streams.
- <sup>12</sup>But wisdom: Where can people find that? Where can we find out how to truly understand things?
- <sup>13</sup>Humans do not know what wisdom is truly worth; no one can find it here on this earth where they are living.
- <sup>14</sup>It is as though the water that is under the earth and water that is in the seas said, 'I do not have it!'
- <sup>15</sup>People cannot buy wisdom by paying for it with silver or gold.
- <sup>16</sup>Wisdom is worth much more than fine gold from the land of Ophir, much more than very valuable stones.
- <sup>17</sup>It is worth much more than gold or beautiful quartz; wisdom is more expensive than the finest jewels, and it is worth more than a vase made with pure gold.
- <sup>18</sup>Wisdom is worth more than coral or crystal quartz;
- the price of wisdom is higher than the price of rubies.
- <sup>19</sup>The prices of topaz from Ethiopia and of pure gold are lower than the value of wisdom.
- <sup>20</sup>So from where does wisdom come? Where can we find out how to truly understand things?
- <sup>21</sup>No living humans can see it; and birds cannot see it while they are up in the sky.
- <sup>22</sup>It is as though the places where people go after they die said, 'We have only heard rumors about where to find wisdom.'
- <sup>23</sup>God is the only one who knows how to find wisdom; he knows where it is
- <sup>24</sup>because he can see things even in the most remote places on the earth; he can see everything that is below the sky.
- <sup>25</sup>He decided how strongly the winds should blow, and how much rain should be in the clouds.
- <sup>26</sup>He decided where rain should fall, and what path lightning should take from the clouds down to the ground.
- <sup>27</sup>At that time he saw wisdom and decided that it is very valuable. He examined it and approved it.
- <sup>28</sup>And then he said to human beings, 'Listen! If you have much respect for me, you will be able to become wise; to truly understand everything, you must first turn away from doing what is evil."
- <sup>29</sup>Job spoke again and said this:
- <sup>2</sup>"I wish that I could be as I was previously during the years when God took care of me.
- <sup>3</sup>During those years, it was as though God's lamp shone on me and gave me light while I walked in the darkness.
- <sup>4</sup>At that time I was young and strong, and because God was my friend, he protected where I lived.

- <sup>5</sup> Almighty God was with me during those years when all my children were around me.
- <sup>6</sup> My herds provided me with plenty of milk, and streams of oil flowed from the rock where my servants pressed the olives.
- <sup>7</sup> Whenever I went to the place where the elders gathered at the city gate, I sat down with them,
- <sup>8</sup> and when the young men saw me, they stepped aside respectfully, and the old men also stood respectfully.
- <sup>9</sup> The leaders of the people used to stop talking,
- <sup>10</sup> and even the most important men became quiet and stopped talking in order to hear me speak to them.
- <sup>11</sup> When they all heard what I told them, they said good things about me. When they saw me, they always praised me
- <sup>12</sup> because I had helped those who were poor when they cried out for help, and because I aided those who had no fathers, those who had no one else to help them.
- <sup>13</sup> Those who were suffering and about to die praised me, and I caused widows to sing joyfully, because I helped them.
- <sup>14</sup> I always acted justly; my actions were like a robe that I wore and like a turban that was wrapped around my head.
- <sup>15</sup> It was as though I myself saw for blind people and walked for people who were lame.
- <sup>16</sup> I was like a father to the poor people, and in the courts I defended those who were strangers to me.
- <sup>17</sup> I made wicked people stop oppressing others; it was like someone who breaks the teeth of wild animals and forces them to drop their victims from their teeth.

- <sup>18</sup> At that time I thought, 'Surely I will live in peace until I am very old, and I will die at home with my family.'
- <sup>19</sup> I am like a tree whose roots reach down into the water and whose branches become wet with dew each night.
- <sup>20</sup> People always honor me, and I am always strong like a new bow.'
- <sup>21</sup> When I spoke, people waited to hear what I would say; they remained silent until I advised them what they should do.
- <sup>22</sup> After I finished speaking, they did not say anymore; it was as though my words fell on their ears like drops of rain.
- <sup>23</sup> They waited for me to speak as they wait for rain; they liked what I said as farmers appreciate the final rain in the spring before the dry season.
- <sup>24</sup> When they were sad, I smiled at them to encourage them; they became encouraged when they saw my cheerful face.
- <sup>25</sup> I was their leader, and I decided what things would be good for them to do; I was among them like a king who is among his troops; I was like someone who comforts others who are mourning."
- 30 "But now, men who are younger than I am make fun of me— men whose fathers I greatly despised— their fathers, whom I would not even have allowed to help my dogs guard my sheep.
- <sup>2</sup> They were men who were old and weak; what could I gain from having these men work for me, even when they thought they were strong?
- <sup>3</sup> They were very poor and hungry, so that they chewed on roots at night in dry and desolate places.
- <sup>4</sup> They pulled up plants in the desert and ate them;

- they warmed themselves by burning the roots of broom trees.
- <sup>5</sup> Everyone shouted at them, "Stop, thief!"
and drove them from their area.
- <sup>6</sup> They were forced to live in riverbeds,
in holes in the ground, and in the sides of cliffs.
- <sup>7</sup> In the bushes they howled like animals
because they were hungry,
and they huddled together under thornbushes.
- <sup>8</sup> They were people without good sense,
whose names no one knows;
they were driven out from the land where they were born.
- <sup>9</sup> Now their children sing songs to make
fun of me.
They tell jokes about me.
- <sup>10</sup> They are disgusted with me, and they stay away from me,
but when they see me, they are happy to spit in my face.
- <sup>11</sup> It seems as though God had cut my bowstring and caused me to be unable to defend myself; he has humbled me,
and my enemies have done to me
whatever they wanted.
- <sup>12</sup> Gangs of these people attack me and force me to run away;
they prepare to destroy me.
- <sup>13</sup> They prevent me from escaping,
and there is no one to keep them
from attacking me.
- <sup>14</sup> It is as though I were a city wall and they had broken through it,
as though they had come crashing down on me.
- <sup>15</sup> I am very terrified;
my dignity has been blown away by the wind,
and my prosperity has disappeared
as clouds disappear.
- <sup>16</sup> Now I am about to die;
I suffer every day.
- <sup>17</sup> My bones ache during the nights,
and the pain that torments me never stops.
- <sup>18</sup> It is as though God had grabbed my clothes

- and choked me by the collar of my coat.
- <sup>19</sup> He has thrown me into the mud;
I am not worth anything more than dust and ashes.
- <sup>20</sup> I cry out to you, God, but you do not
answer me;
I stand up and pray, but you do not pay any attention.
- <sup>21</sup> You act very cruelly toward me;
with all of your power you cause
me to suffer.
- <sup>22</sup> You allow the wind to lift me up and blow me away;
and you make a violent storm blow
me around.
- <sup>23</sup> I know that you will cause me to die,
which is what happens to everyone who is alive.
- <sup>24</sup> When people experience disasters,
they sit on a pile of ruins and cry
out for help;
they certainly cry out for help.
- <sup>25</sup> I myself wept for people who were experiencing troubles,
and I felt sorry for poor people.
- <sup>26</sup> However, when I expected good things to happen to me, evil things
happened;
when I waited for light, I experienced darkness instead.
- <sup>27</sup> I am very distressed all the time;
I suffer every day.
- <sup>28</sup> I go about very discouraged;
I stand up and plead for people to help me.
- <sup>29</sup> My wailing is as sad as jackals and ostriches in the wilderness.
- <sup>30</sup> My skin has become dark and is peeling off,
and I have a fever which causes my body to feel as though it were burning up with a fever.
- <sup>31</sup> Previously, I played joyful music on my harp and with my flute,
but now I play only the sad music
of those who mourn."
- <sup>31</sup> "I made to myself a solemn promise that I would not look at a young woman and want to sleep with her.

- <sup>2</sup>If I did not do what I promised,
what would God who is in heaven
give me?
Almighty God would certainly not give me any reward!
- <sup>3</sup>Previously I thought that surely it was unrighteous people who would experience calamities,
and that it was those who do what is wrong who would experience
disasters.
- <sup>4</sup>God certainly sees everything that I do,
so why is he causing me to suffer?
It is as though he were counting every step that I take.
- <sup>5</sup>I solemnly declare that I have never acted wickedly
and have never tried to deceive
people.
- <sup>6</sup>I request only that God judge me fairly;
if he does that, he will know that I
am innocent.
- <sup>7</sup>If it were true that I had turned away
from walking on the right paths, or that I had seen wrong things to do and then did them,
or that my hands were stained
because I had sinned,
- <sup>8</sup>then I hope that when I plant seeds,
someone else will harvest the crops
and eat them,
and that others will uproot the crops that I have planted.
- <sup>9</sup>If it is true that I have been attracted by some other man's wife, or that I have hidden myself and waited outside the door to her house,
- <sup>10</sup>I hope another man will sleep with my own wife
and that she will sleep with him.
- <sup>11</sup>For me to do that would be a terrible
sin,
and the judges would decide that I should be punished.
- <sup>12</sup>My adultery would produce in me a fire like the fire that burns people in hell,
and it would burn up everything
that I own.
- <sup>13</sup>If it is true that I have ever refused to listen to one of my male or female servants

when they complained to me about
something,
<sup>14</sup>I hope that God would stand up and declare that he will punish me;
when he does that, what could I
do?
If he asked me about what I have done, what would I answer?

<sup>15</sup>God, who created me, certainly also created my servants;
surely he is the one who formed
them and me in our mothers'
wombs,
so we all should behave toward each other in the same way.

<sup>16-18</sup>From the time I was young I have taken care of orphans;
All my life I have never given the widowed mothers a reason to lose hope.
So if it is true that I ate all my food myself and did not share some of it with
orphans,
or that I refused to give poor people
the things that they wanted, or that I caused widows to live in despair, then you do to me
whatever you must do to me.

<sup>19</sup>If I had seen people die from cold
because they had no clothes, or that I had seen poor people who did not have clothes to keep them warm,

<sup>20</sup>and they were not able to become warm from clothes made from the wool of my sheep
and they thanked me for it,

<sup>21</sup>or if it is true that I threatened to strike
any orphan
because I knew that the elders at the city gates would approve of me, then do to me whatever you must do to me.

<sup>22</sup>For if those things were true about me,
I hope that my shoulder blade would be torn out
and my arm be torn from my shoulder.

<sup>23</sup>I always feared that God would cause me to experience a great disaster if I did any of those evil things, and I would not have been able to endure the powerful things that he would do to punish me.

<sup>24</sup>If it is true that I trusted in my gold,
<sup>25</sup>or that I rejoiced because I had acquired many things and had become very rich, <sup>26</sup>or that I looked at the sun when it was shining, or that I looked at the beautiful moon,
<sup>27</sup>and I had been tempted to worship them by kissing my hand to honor them,
<sup>28</sup>those things also would be sins for which the judges would say that I must be punished because I would have been rejecting God by doing those things.

<sup>29-30</sup>It is not true that I sinned by requesting God to curse people who hated me and to cause them to die because I was angry with them.

It is not true that I was glad when they were ruined or that I rejoiced when they experienced disasters. No!

<sup>31-32</sup>No one can truthfully that I did not welcome travelers to stay in my house, or that I did not open my doors to them, but that I forced them to sleep in the streets!

All the men who work for me certainly know that I have given food to anyone who needed it!

<sup>34</sup>and I never remained silent and refused to go outside because I was afraid of what people would say about me, and that they would hate me.

<sup>35</sup>I wish that there was someone who would hear what I am saying! I solemnly declare that all that I have said is true. I wish that those who oppose me would write down on a scroll the evil things that they say that I did.

<sup>36</sup>If they did that, I would wear that scroll on my shoulder or on top of my head, in order that everyone could see it.

<sup>37</sup>I would tell God everything that I have done, and I would approach him like a ruler would, without being afraid.

<sup>38</sup>If it is true that I have stolen land, so that its furrows were like someone who shouted out to accuse me;

<sup>39</sup>or that I have eaten the crops that grew in someone else's fields without paying for those crops, so that the farmers who grew those crops died from hunger;

<sup>40</sup>then I wish that thorns would grow in my fields instead of wheat, and that bad weeds would grow instead of barley!"

That is the end of what Job said to his three friends.

32Then those three men stopped replying to Job because they could not convince Job that he had done anything wrong.
<sup>2</sup>Then Elihu son of Barakel, a descendant of Buz, from the clan of Ram, became very angry at Job. He was angry because Job continued to claim that he was innocent, and that God had been wrong to punish him. <sup>3</sup>He was also angry with Job's three friends because they had declared that Job must have done many things that were wrong, but they could not convince him. <sup>4</sup>Now Elihu was younger than the others, so he waited until they had finished speaking before he replied to Job. <sup>5</sup>But when Elihu realized that the three men had no more to say to Job, he became angry.

"I am young, and you all are much older than I am.

So I was timid, and I was afraid to tell you what I was thinking.

<sup>7</sup>I said to myself, 'Let those who are much older speak because older people should be able to say things that are wise.'

- <sup>8</sup> However, the Spirit of Almighty God is within people, and it is he who enables them to be wise.
- <sup>9</sup> Not all people become wise when they are old; not all old people understand what is right.
- <sup>10</sup> That is why I say to you now, 'Listen to me, and allow me to declare what I know.'
- <sup>11</sup> I waited for you all to speak; I wanted to hear the wise things that you would say. I waited while you thought carefully about what you should say.
- <sup>12</sup> I paid attention carefully, but surprisingly, none of you was able to prove that what Job said was wrong.
- <sup>13</sup> So do not say to yourselves, 'We have discovered what is wise!' It is God who must refute Job because you three have not been able to do that.
- <sup>14</sup> Job was replying to you, not to me, so I will not reply to him by saying what you three have said.
- <sup>15</sup> I tell myself this: These three men are confused because they have nothing more to say to Job; they have nothing more to say to him.
- <sup>16</sup> But because you do not speak, I certainly will not wait any longer; you merely stand there and do not reply anymore.
- <sup>17</sup> So now I also will reply to Job and tell him what I know.
- <sup>18</sup> I have plenty to say, and my spirit forces me to say it.
- <sup>19</sup> My inner being is like a container of wine that is stretching more and more from the fermentation, and it will soon burst.
- <sup>20</sup> I must speak in order that I can rest from trying to hold in my words; I must say something to reply to you all.
- <sup>21</sup> I will speak fairly, not favoring any of

- you, and I will not try to flatter anyone.
- <sup>22</sup> I really do not know how to flatter people; if I did that, God would soon destroy me."
- <sup>23</sup> "Now, Job, listen carefully to all that I am going to say.
- <sup>2</sup> I am ready to tell you what I think.
- <sup>3</sup> In my inner being I know that I am speaking honestly and that I am speaking sincerely.
- <sup>4</sup> Almighty God has created me as well as you, and with his breath he has caused me to live.
- <sup>5</sup> So answer what I say if you can; think carefully what you will reply to me.
- <sup>6</sup> God considers that you and I are both the same; he formed both of us from clay.
- <sup>7</sup> So you do not need to be afraid of me; I will not speak against you harshly.
- <sup>8</sup> I have heard you speak, and this is what you have said:
- <sup>9</sup> 'I am innocent, and I have not committed any sins; I am pure, and I have not done things that are wrong.'
- <sup>10</sup> But God finds reasons to accuse me, and he considers that I am his enemy.
- <sup>11</sup> It is as though he had put my feet in stocks, and he watches everything that I do.'
- <sup>12</sup> However, what you have said is wrong, and I will tell you what you have said that is wrong. God is much greater than any human.
- <sup>13</sup> So, why are you arguing against God? He does not have to tell us why he does anything.
- <sup>14</sup> God does, indeed, speak to us in various ways, but we do not pay any attention to what he says.
- <sup>15</sup> Sometimes he speaks to us at night in dreams and visions

- when we are on our beds, heavily asleep.
- <sup>16</sup> He reveals things to us in those times; he terrifies us by warning us about things.
- <sup>17</sup> He tells us those things in order that we may stop doing evil deeds and to prevent us from becoming proud.
- <sup>18</sup> He does not want us to be destroyed; he wants to prevent us from dying while we are still young.
- <sup>19</sup> God also corrects us by forcing us to lie on our beds, suffering much pain and fever in our bones.
- <sup>20</sup> The result is that we do not desire any food, not even very special food.
- <sup>21</sup> Our bodies become very thin so that we look like a skeleton, and our bones stick out so others can count them.
- <sup>22</sup> We know that we will soon die and go to the place where dead people are.
- <sup>23</sup> Yet sometimes an angel may come to one of us, one of the thousands of angels who come to intervene between us and God, to tell us what are the right things for us to do.
- <sup>24</sup> The angel is kind to us and says to God, 'Please release that person, so that he does not descend to the place where dead people are! Do that because I have found a way for you to keep him from dying!'
- <sup>25</sup> Please let his body be strong again; please allow him to be strong like he was when he was young!'
- <sup>26</sup> If that happens, that person will pray to God, and God will accept him; he will enter God's presence joyfully, and then he will tell others how God saved him from dying.
- <sup>27</sup> He will sing as he says to everyone, 'I sinned, and I did things that were not

- right, but God did not punish me in the way that I deserved.
- <sup>28</sup> He has saved me from dying and going to the place where dead people are, and I will continue to enjoy being alive.'
- <sup>29</sup> God does all these things for us many times;
- <sup>30</sup> he preserves us from dying and going to the place where the dead are, in order that we can continue to enjoy being alive.
- <sup>31</sup> So Job, listen to me; do not say anything more; just allow me to speak.
- <sup>32</sup> After I speak, if you have something more that you want to say to me, say it, because I would like to find a way to declare that you are innocent.
- <sup>33</sup> However, if you have nothing more that you want to say, then just listen to me, and I will teach you how to become wise."
- 34 Then Elihu continued by saying this:
- <sup>2</sup> "You men who think that you are very wise, listen to me; listen to what I am saying, you men who say that you know so much.
- <sup>3</sup> When we hear people talk, we think carefully about what they say to know what is good and what is bad, as we taste food to know what is good to eat.
- <sup>4</sup> We must decide who is saying what is right, and we must find out together for ourselves what is good.
- <sup>5</sup> Job has said, 'I am innocent, but God has refused to judge me fairly.'
- <sup>6</sup> Even though I have always done what is right, he is lying about me.
- Even though I have not done what is wrong, he has caused me to suffer, and I - will certainly die because of this.'

- <sup>7</sup> Is there any person like Job, who insults others as easily as people accept a drink of water?
- <sup>8</sup> He habitually associates with people who do what is evil and spends time with wicked people.
- <sup>9</sup> He certainly does these things, because he has said, 'It is useless for people to try to please God.'
- <sup>10</sup> So, you men who claim that you understand everything, listen to me! Almighty God would never consider doing anything that is wicked or wrong!
- <sup>11</sup> He pays back people for what they have done; he gives them what they deserve for the way that they have conducted their lives.
- <sup>12</sup> Truly, Almighty God never does what is wicked; he never calls wrongdoing right.
- <sup>13</sup> No one gave him the authority to rule everything on the earth; no one put him in control of the whole world.
He has always had that authority.
- <sup>14</sup> If he ever thought only about himself and not about us also, and if he ever stopped making us live,
- <sup>15</sup> everyone would die immediately, and their corpses would soon become soil again.
- <sup>16</sup> So, Job, if you say that you understand everything, listen to what I am saying.
- <sup>17</sup> God could certainly never hate what is right and still rule the world.
So you really cannot criticize God, who is righteous and powerful, and you cannot say that what he has done is wrong, can you?
- <sup>18</sup> He tells some kings that they are worthless, and he says to some officials that they are wicked.
- <sup>19</sup> He does not favor rulers more than he favors others;
- he does not favor rich people more than poor people because he created all of them.
- <sup>20</sup> They often die suddenly; he strikes them at midnight and they die; he gets rid of important people without the help of any humans.
- <sup>21</sup> He sees everything that people do; when we walk, he watches every step that we take.
- <sup>22</sup> There is no gloom or darkness in which wicked people can hide from God.
- <sup>23</sup> God does not need to set a time when we will stand in front of him in order that he may judge us. He already knows everything about us.
- <sup>24</sup> He destroys important people without needing to investigate what they have done, and he appoints others to take their places.
- <sup>25</sup> Because he already knows what they have done, he removes them at night and gets rid of them.
- <sup>26</sup> He strikes them because of the wicked things that they have done; many people see him do it.
- <sup>27</sup> He strikes them down because they turned away from doing what he wanted them to do and did not pay attention to any of his commands.
- <sup>28</sup> They mistreated poor people; those poor people cried out to God for help, and he heard them.
- <sup>29</sup> Yet even if God decides to do nothing to punish wicked people, no one can criticize him. God controls all nations and all people.
- <sup>30</sup> He does this so that those who rule over us may honor him, so that our rulers do not oppress us.
- <sup>31</sup> Job, have you or anyone else ever said to God, 'I have certainly committed sin,' but I will not sin anymore; <sup>32</sup> so teach me what sins I have committed;

if I have done anything that is evil,
 I will not do it anymore?

<sup>33</sup> Job, you object to what God has done to you, but do you think that he will do what you want him to do?

It is you who must choose what you should say to God, not I; tell me what you are thinking about this.

<sup>34</sup> People who have good sense, those who are wise and who listen to what I say,
 will say to me,

<sup>35</sup> 'Job is speaking ignorantly;
 what he says is nonsense.'

<sup>36</sup> To your friends of Job, I say this: I think that a court should thoroughly try Job, because he answers us, his friends, as wicked men would answer.

<sup>37</sup> To add to the other sins that he has committed, he is rebelling against God;
 he shows us that he does not honor God;
 he makes long speeches saying that God has punished him unjustly.'

35 Then Elihu also said this:

<sup>2</sup> "Job, do you really think that you have done nothing wrong?
 You say, 'God knows that I am innocent,'
<sup>3</sup> and you also say, 'What good have I received for not sinning?
 What benefit have I received that I would not have had, even if I had sinned?'

<sup>4</sup> Well, I will answer you,
 and I will answer your three friends, too.

<sup>5</sup> Job, look up at the sky;
 look at the clouds that are high above you and realize that God is far above everything, entirely out of your reach.

<sup>6</sup> If you have sinned, that cannot harm

God at all.
 Even if you do wrong things many, many times, that certainly does not hurt him.

<sup>7</sup> In the same way, if you are righteous, does that help God?
 No, nothing you do can help him.

<sup>8</sup> It is other people who can suffer because of the wicked things that you do;
 In the same way, you might help others if you do good things for them.

<sup>9</sup> People cry out because of the many things that others do to make them suffer;
 they call for help because of the things that powerful people do to them.

<sup>10</sup> But no one calls out to God and says, 'Why does God, my creator, not help me?
 He should enable me to sing joyful songs, instead of very sad songs, during the night.

<sup>11</sup> He should be able to teach us more than he teaches the wild animals; he should enable us to become wiser than all the birds are!

<sup>13</sup> It is useless for them to cry out because God, the Almighty One, does not pay any attention to what they say.

<sup>14</sup> So when you complain that you cannot see God, and you tell him that you are waiting for him to decide whether or not you have done wrong, he will not listen to you, either!

<sup>15</sup> Furthermore, you say that because he does not pay attention when people commit sins, he does not become angry and punish them.

<sup>16</sup> My friends, you see that Job has said things that are completely useless, that he says many things without knowing what in the world he is talking about."

<sup>2</sup>"Job, be patient with me a little longer because I have something else to teach you.

I have something else to say in order to prove that God does no wrong.

<sup>3</sup>I will tell you what I have learned from many sources, in order to show that God, my creator, is just.

<sup>4</sup>I will not say anything to you that is false; I, who am standing in front of you, am someone who understands things very well.

<sup>5</sup>Really, God is very powerful, and he does not despise anyone, and he understands everything.

<sup>6</sup>He does not allow wicked people to remain alive—contrary to what you have claimed, and he always acts justly toward those who are suffering.

<sup>7</sup>He always watches over those who are righteous; he makes them prosper, as if they were kings, and he causes others to honor them forever.

<sup>8</sup>However, if people who commit crimes are caught, or if they suffer in prison for having done wrong,

<sup>9</sup>then God shows them what they have done; he shows them the sins that they have committed, and he shows them that they have been arrogant.

<sup>10</sup>He causes them to listen to what he is warning them, and he commands them to turn away from doing what is evil.

<sup>11</sup>If they listen to him and serve him, they will prosper and be happy for all the years that they continue to live.

<sup>12</sup>But if they do not listen to him,

they will die violently because they understand nothing about God and what he wants them to do.

<sup>13</sup>People who fail to honor God continue being angry, and they do not cry out for help even when God is punishing them.

<sup>15</sup>God actually rescues people by causing them to suffer; by afflicting them, he causes them to listen to what he is telling them.

<sup>16</sup>Job, I think that God wants to bring you out of your troubles and allow you to live without distress; he wants your table to be full of very nice food.

<sup>17</sup>However, now he is punishing you as he would punish the wicked; God has judged you very rightly.

<sup>18</sup>Do not let your anger give you an excuse to mock other people, and do not let a large amount of money paid as a bribe compel you to ruin your life.

<sup>19</sup>If that happens, it certainly will not help you to cry out when you are distressed; none of your strength will help you in that case.

<sup>20</sup>Do not wish that it would be nighttime in order that you might mistreat others without anyone knowing it; night is the time when even entire people groups are destroyed!

<sup>21</sup>Be careful not to begin doing evil deeds, because God has caused you to suffer to prevent you from doing evil.

<sup>22</sup>Truly, people praise God because he is so powerful; there is certainly no teacher who teaches what he teaches.

<sup>23</sup>No one has told him what he should

- do,
and no one has said to him, 'You have done what is wrong!'
- <sup>24</sup> People have always sung songs to praise
him,
so you also should never forget to praise him for what he has
done.
- <sup>25</sup> All people have seen what he has done,
but we understand those things
only a little.
- <sup>26</sup> How great God is! We are not able to know how great he is,
and we do not understand how old
he is.
- <sup>27</sup> He draws water up from the earth and puts it in clouds
and causes it to become rain;
- <sup>28</sup> the rain pours down from the sky
and causes abundant showers to fall on everyone.
- <sup>29</sup> No one can understand how the clouds move across the sky or how it thunders in the sky where God lives.
- <sup>30</sup> He causes lightning to flash all around
him,
but he causes the oceans to remain
dark.
- <sup>31</sup> By providing plenty of rain for everyone,
he gives them abundant food.
- <sup>32</sup> It is as though he were holding the lightning in his hands,
and then he commands it to strike
where he wants it to.
- <sup>33</sup> When we hear his thunder, we know that there will be a storm,
and the cattle know it, too.
- 37 "My heart pounds when I think about that.
- <sup>2</sup> Listen, all of you, to the thunder,
which is like God's voice.
- <sup>3</sup> He sends thunder all across the sky,
and he sends lightning to the most distant places on the earth.
- <sup>4</sup> After the lightning flashes, we hear the thunder,
which is like God's powerful voice;
when he speaks, he does not keep back the lightning.

- <sup>5</sup> When God speaks, it causes us to fear him and admire him, as thunder
does;
he does amazing things that we cannot understand.
- <sup>6</sup> He commands the snow to fall on the ground,
and often he makes it rain very
hard.
- <sup>7</sup> When God does that, it prevents people
from working,
in order that all people may know that he is the one who does
these things.
- <sup>8</sup> When it rains, the animals go into their hiding places,
and they stay there until the rain stops.
- <sup>9</sup> The storms come from the place in the south where they start,
and the cold winds come from the north.
- <sup>10</sup> In the winter water freezes when he commands it,
and the lakes become ice.
- <sup>11</sup> God fills the clouds with moisture,
and lightning flashes everywhere
from the clouds.
- <sup>12</sup> He guides the clouds and causes them
to move back and forth
in order that they may accomplish all that he commands them to do all over the world.
- <sup>13</sup> Sometimes God sends rain to punish us, sometimes to water the land that he has made,
and sometimes because he wants to be very kind to us.
- <sup>14</sup> Job, listen to this;
stop and think about the wonderful things that God
does.
- <sup>15</sup> Do you know how God commands the lightning to flash down from his clouds?
- <sup>16</sup> Do you know how God decides where to place the clouds in the sky?
Can you understand all the wonderful things that God
does,
and how he knows everything and he

- knows them completely?
- <sup>17</sup>No, you just sweat there in your hot clothing because even the clothes you wear become very hot.
- Your clothing becomes hot because the heat builds up when the wind comes from the south.
- <sup>18</sup>Can you stretch out the skies like God does and make them as hard as a metal mirror?
- <sup>19</sup>Job, you know so much! So tell us what we should say to God; we do not know anything about how we should defend ourselves.
- <sup>20</sup>Should I ask someone to tell God that I want to speak to him? No, because if I did that, he might destroy me.
- <sup>21</sup>You know that people cannot look directly at the sun when it shines brightly in the sky after the wind has blown the clouds away; likewise we certainly cannot look at the brightness of God.
- <sup>22</sup>God comes out of the north with a light that shines like gold; his glory causes us to be afraid.
- <sup>23</sup>Almighty God has very great power, and we do not know how to go near to him. He always acts righteously, and he will never mistreat us.
- <sup>24</sup>That is the reason that we have an awesome respect for him; he does not pay attention to those who proudly, but wrongly, think that they are wise."
- 38 Then Yahweh spoke to Job from inside a powerful storm. He said to him,
- <sup>2</sup>"Who are you to bring confusion to what I plan to do? You are speaking ignorantly!
- <sup>3</sup>I want to ask you some questions, so act like a man and get ready to answer my questions.
- <sup>4</sup>Where were you when I started to create the earth?"

- Since you know so much, tell me where you were at that time.
- <sup>5</sup>If it was not I who decided how large the earth would be, then who decided? Do you know who stretched a line around the earth to measure it?
- Since you think that you know so much, you should surely know that!
- <sup>6-7</sup>What supports the pillars on which the earth rests? When the stars that shine early in the morning sang together, and someone put in place the stone that causes the earth to stay in its place, and all the angels shouted joyfully when they saw that happen, who laid that cornerstone?
- <sup>8</sup>When the seas poured out from under the earth, who prevented the water from flooding over the land?
- <sup>9</sup>It was I, not you, who caused clouds to come over the seas and caused it to become very dark under those clouds.
- <sup>10</sup>I set limits for the seas, and I put barriers so that the water would not come over the land.
- <sup>11</sup>I pointed to the shore and said to the water, 'I permit you to come up to here, but I do not permit you to come any farther. Your powerful waves must stop here!'
- <sup>12</sup>Job, have you ever commanded the morning to begin? Have you ever told the sun to start rising and begin a new day?
- <sup>13</sup>Have you ever told the dawn to spread out over the whole earth with the result that wicked people run away from the light?
- <sup>14</sup>When it becomes light after the dawn, the hills and the valleys become clear like a seal gives an image to the clay under it, or like the folds in a cloth.

- <sup>15</sup> When it becomes daylight, the wicked do not have the darkness that they like; in the daylight they no longer are able to hurt anyone.
- <sup>16</sup> Job, have you traveled to the springs in the bottom of the ocean from which the water in the seas comes? Have you investigated the very bottom of the oceans?
- <sup>17</sup> Has someone shown you the gates to the place where dead people are, the gates to the place where it is very dark among those who are dead?
- <sup>18</sup> Do you know how big the earth is? Tell me, if you know all these things!
- <sup>19</sup> Where is the road to the place where light comes from? Can you tell me where darkness lives?
- <sup>20</sup> Can you take the light and the darkness to the places where they must do their work every day? Do you know where the road is that goes back to their homes?
- <sup>21</sup> I am sure that you know these things because you were born before the time when all things were created; you must be very old!
- <sup>22</sup> Have you entered the place where I store the snow and the place where I keep the hail?
- <sup>23</sup> I store the snow and the hail in order that I can use them when people are fighting on earth, in times when they are fighting wars.
- <sup>24</sup> Where is the road to the place from which I cause the lightning to flash? Where is the place from where the east wind begins to blow over all the earth?
- <sup>25</sup> Who created the channels in which the rain comes down from the sky? Who makes the roads for the thunder in the air?
- <sup>26</sup> Who causes rain to fall in the desert, in places where no one lives?
- <sup>27</sup> Who sends the rain that gives moisture to barren areas, areas where nothing has grown, so that grass begins to grow again?
- <sup>28</sup> Does the rain have a father? Does the dew also have a father?
- <sup>29</sup> From whose womb does ice come in the winter? Who gives birth to the frost that comes down from the sky?
- <sup>30</sup> In the winter, the water freezes and becomes as hard as a rock, and the surface of lakes becomes frozen.
- <sup>31</sup> Job, can you fasten the chains that hold the stars together in the cluster of the Pleiades stars? Can you unfasten the cords of the stars in Orion? <sup>32</sup> Can you tell the stars and planets when they should shine? Can you guide the stars in the groups of the Big Bear and the Little Bear?
- <sup>33</sup> Do you know the laws that the stars must obey? Can you cause those same laws to rule everything here on the earth?
- <sup>34</sup> Can you shout commands up to the clouds and make rain pour down on you?
- <sup>35</sup> Can you cause flashes of lightning to come down and strike where you want them to strike? Do those flashes say to you, 'Where do you want us to strike?'
- <sup>36</sup> Who enables the clouds to know when they should cause rain to fall?
- <sup>37</sup> Who is skilled enough to be able to count the clouds? Who can tilt the containers of water in the sky to cause the rain to fall?
- <sup>38</sup> so that the dry ground becomes hard as the dry clods become wet and stick together?
- <sup>39-40</sup> When a lioness and her cubs crouch in their dens or hide in a thicket, waiting for some animal to pass by that they can kill,

can you find animals for the lioness to kill so that she and her cubs can eat the meat and not be hungry
anymore?

<sup>41</sup> Who provides dead animals for the raven,
when its young are calling out to me for food,
when they are so weak because of their lack of food that they stagger around in their nests?

39 "Job, do you know at what time of the year the female mountain goats give birth?

Have you watched the wild deer while their calves were being born?

<sup>2</sup> Do you know how many months pass from the time they become pregnant until their calves are born?

and then their labor pangs are done.

and then they leave their mothers and do not return to them again.

<sup>5</sup> Who allows the wild donkeys to go wherever they want away from the cities?

<sup>6</sup> I am the one who has freed them and put them in the desert plain, in places where grass does not grow.

<sup>7</sup> They do not like the noise in the cities; in the desert they do not have to listen to the shouts of those who forced them to work.

<sup>9</sup> Will a wild ox agree to work for you? Will it allow you to keep it penned up at night in the place where you put feed for your animals?

<sup>10</sup> Can you fasten a rope on it so that it will plow furrows in your fields, your fields in the valley?

<sup>11</sup> Since it is very strong, can you for that reason trust it to work for you? Can you go away after you tell it what work it should do and assume that it will do that work?

<sup>12</sup> Can you rely on it to come back from the field bringing your grain to the place where you thresh it?

<sup>13</sup> Think also about the ostriches. They joyfully flap their wings, but they have no love for their own young.

<sup>15</sup> Ostriches never think about the possibility that some wild animal may step on the eggs and crush them.

They are not concerned if their chicks die, that they may have laid their eggs for nothing.

<sup>17</sup> That is because I did not allow ostriches to be wise. I did not enable them to be intelligent.

<sup>18</sup> However, when they get up and begin to run, they scornfully laugh at horses with their riders because the horses cannot run as fast as the ostriches!

<sup>19</sup> Also, think about horses. Job, are you the one who made the horses to be strong?

Are you the one who put flowing manes on their necks?

<sup>20</sup> Are you the one who enabled them to leap forward like locusts? When they snort, they cause people to be afraid.

<sup>21</sup> They paw the ground, rejoicing because they are very strong, as they prepare to rush into battle.

<sup>22</sup> It is as if they were laughing at the thought of being afraid. They are not afraid of anything!

- They do not run away when the soldiers in the battle are fighting each other with swords.
- <sup>23</sup> The quivers containing the riders' arrows rattle against the horses' sides, and the spears and javelins flash in the light of the sun.
- <sup>24</sup> The horses run very quickly, and they speedily cover the ground; they rush into battle as soon as the trumpet is blown.
- <sup>25</sup> They neigh joyfully when they hear someone blowing the trumpet. They can smell a battle even when they are far away, and they understand what it means when the commanders shout their commands to their soldiers.
- <sup>26</sup> Think about big birds. Are you the one who enabled hawks to spread their wings and fly to the south for the winter?
- <sup>27</sup> Do eagles fly high up into the cliffs to make their nests because you commanded them to do that?
- <sup>28</sup> They live in holes in those cliffs. They are safe in those high pointed rocks because no animals can reach them there.
- <sup>29</sup> As they watch carefully from there, they see animals far away that they can kill.
- <sup>30</sup> After an eagle kills an animal, the baby eagles drink the blood of that animal; they gather wherever there are dead people lying on the ground."
- <sup>40</sup> Then Yahweh said to Job,
- <sup>2</sup> "Do you still want to argue with me, the Almighty One? Since you criticize me, you should be able to answer my questions!"
- <sup>3</sup> Then Job replied to Yahweh,
- <sup>4</sup> "Now I realize that I am completely worthless. So how could I answer those questions? I will put my hand over my mouth

- and not say anything.
- <sup>5</sup> I have already said more than I should have said, so now I will say nothing more."
- <sup>6</sup> Then Yahweh again spoke to Job from inside a powerful storm. He said,
- <sup>7</sup> "I want to ask you some questions, so act like a man and get ready to answer my questions.
- <sup>8</sup> Are you going to accuse me and say that I am unjust? Are you going to say that what I have done is wrong, in order that you can say that what you have done is right?
- <sup>9</sup> Do you have the same amount of power as I do? Can your voice sound as loud as thunder, as mine can?"
- <sup>10</sup> If you can do that, then put on the robes that show that you are glorious and are greatly honored!
- <sup>11</sup> Show that you are very angry; show that you have the right to humble people who are very proud!
- <sup>12</sup> Humble those proud people just by looking at them angrily! Crush wicked people quickly!
- <sup>13</sup> Bury them in the ground! Send them to the place where dead people are, where they will not be able to get out!
- <sup>14</sup> If you do that, I will congratulate you and say that truly you can save yourself by your own ability.
- <sup>15</sup> Think also about hippopotamuses. I made you, and I made them also. They eat grass, like oxen do.
- <sup>16</sup> Their legs are very strong, and the muscles of their bellies are very powerful.
- <sup>17</sup> Their tails are stiff like the branches of a cedar tree. The muscles of their thighs are close together.
- <sup>18</sup> Their thigh bones are like tubes made of bronze, and the bones of their legs are like

- bars made of iron.
- <sup>19</sup> Hippopotamuses are among the strongest of the animals that I made, and I, who created them, am the only one who can kill them.
- <sup>20</sup> On the hills grows food for them to eat while many other wild animals play nearby.
- <sup>21</sup> They lie down in the water under the lotus plants; they hide in tall reeds in the swamps.
- <sup>22</sup> The hippopotamuses find shade under the lotus plants, and they are surrounded by willow trees growing in the streams.
- <sup>23</sup> They are not disturbed by raging, flooding rivers; they are not even disturbed when rivers like the Jordan River rush over them.
- <sup>24</sup> No one can catch them with hooks or by piercing their noses with the teeth of a trap!
- <sup>41</sup> "Think also about crocodiles. Can you catch them with a fishhook or fasten their jaws with a rope?
- <sup>2</sup> Can you put ropes through their noses to control them or thrust hooks through their jaws?
- <sup>3</sup> Will they plead with you to act mercifully toward them or use sweet talk in order that you will not harm them?
- <sup>4</sup> Will they make an agreement with you to work for you, to be your slaves as long as they live?
- <sup>5</sup> Can you make them into pets like you do birds? Can you put a leash around their necks so that your servant girls can play with them?
- <sup>6</sup> Will men who partner in selling fish try to sell them in the market? Will they cut a crocodile up into pieces and sell the meat?
- <sup>7</sup> Can you pierce crocodiles through their hides by throwing fishing spears at them? Can you pierce their heads with a harpoon?
- <sup>8</sup> If you grab one of them with your hands, it will give you a battle that you will never forget, and you will never try to do it again!
- <sup>9</sup> It is useless to even hope to subdue them. Anyone who tries to subdue one of them will fall to the ground out of fear.
- <sup>10</sup> No one dares to make a crocodile angry. So, since I am much more powerful than they are, who would dare to cause me to be angry?
- <sup>11</sup> Also, everything on the earth is mine. Therefore, no one is able to give anything to me and require me to pay money for it!
- <sup>12</sup> I will tell you about how strong crocodiles' legs are and how strong their well formed bodies are.
- <sup>13</sup> Can anyone strip off their hides? Can anyone pierce through their double layer of armor?
- <sup>14</sup> Can anyone pry open their jaws, which have terrible teeth in them?
- <sup>15</sup> They have rows of scales on their back which are as hard as rock.
- <sup>16</sup> The scales are very close together; not even air can get between them.
- <sup>17</sup> The scales are joined very closely to each other, and they cannot be separated.
- <sup>18</sup> When crocodiles sneeze, the tiny drops of water that come out of their noses sparkle in the sunlight. Their eyes are red like the rising sun.
- <sup>19</sup> It is as though sparks of fire poured out of their mouths.
- <sup>20</sup> Smoke pours out of their nostrils as steam comes out of a pot that is put over a very, very hot fire.
- <sup>21</sup> Their breath can cause coals to blaze and flames to shoot out from their mouths.
- <sup>22</sup> Their necks are very strong; wherever they go, they make people

- very afraid.
- <sup>23</sup> The folds in their flesh are very close together and are very hard.
- <sup>24</sup> They are fearless because the inner parts of their bodies are as hard as a rock, as hard as the lower millstone on which people grind grain.
- <sup>25</sup> When they rise up, they cause even very strong people to be terrified. As a result, people fall back.
- <sup>26</sup> People cannot injure them with swords; spears, arrows, or other weapons with sharp points cannot injure them, either.
- <sup>27</sup> They certainly are not afraid of weapons made of straw or rotten wood, but they are not even afraid of weapons made of iron or bronze!
- <sup>28</sup> Shooting arrows at them does not cause them to run away. Hurling stones at them from a sling is like hurling bits of chaff at them.
- <sup>29</sup> They are not afraid of clubs anymore than they would be afraid of men throwing bits of straw at them, and they laugh when they hear a spear coming at them.
- <sup>30</sup> Their bellies are covered with scales that are as sharp as broken pieces of pottery. When they drag themselves through the mud, their bellies tear up the ground like a plow.
- <sup>31</sup> They stir up the water and cause it to foam as they churn through it.
- <sup>32</sup> As they go through the water, their wakes glisten. People who see it would think that the foam had become white hair.
- <sup>33</sup> There are no creatures on earth that I have created as fearless as crocodiles.
- <sup>34</sup> They are the proudest of all the

- creatures; they are like kings over all the other wild animals."
- <sup>42</sup> Then Job replied to Yahweh. He said,
- <sup>2</sup> "I know that you can do everything and that no one can stop you from doing what you want to do.
- <sup>3</sup> You asked me, 'Who are you to bring confusion to what I plan to do? You are speaking ignorantly!' It is true that I spoke about things that I did not understand, things that are very amazing, things about which I know nothing.
- <sup>4</sup> You said to me, 'Listen while I talk to you. I want to ask you some questions, so prepare yourself to answer them.'
- <sup>5</sup> I had heard about you previously by rumor, but now it is as though I have seen you with my own eyes.
- <sup>6</sup> Therefore I am ashamed of what I said, and I sit in dust and ashes to show that I am sorry for what I said."
- <sup>7</sup> After Yahweh said these things to Job, he said to Eliphaz, "I am angry with you and your two friends, Bildad and Zophar, because you did not say true things about me, as my servant Job did. <sup>8</sup> So now you must take to Job seven young bulls and seven rams and kill them and burn them on the altar as a sacrifice for yourselves. Then Job will pray for you, and I will do what he requests me to do. I will forgive you for speaking wrongly about me. I will not punish you, even though you deserve to be punished, because what you said about me was not right."
- <sup>9</sup> So Eliphaz, Bildad, and Zophar did what Yahweh commanded them to do, and Yahweh did what Job requested him to do for the three of them.
- <sup>10</sup> After Job prayed for his three friends, Yahweh healed him and caused him to become rich again. Yahweh gave him twice as many things as he had before. <sup>11</sup> Then all his brothers and sisters, and all the people who had known him before, came to his house, and they had a feast together. They consoled him because of all the troubles that Yahweh had allowed to happen to him. Each of them gave Job a piece of silver and a gold ring.

<sup>12</sup>Then Yahweh blessed Job in the second half of his life more than he had blessed him in the first half of his life. He now acquired fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, one thousand oxen, and one thousand female donkeys. <sup>13</sup>And he also had seven more sons and three more daughters. <sup>14</sup>He named the first daughter Jemimah, he named the second daughter Keziah, and he named the third daughter Keren Happuch. <sup>15</sup>In all of the land of Uz, there were no young women who were as beautiful as the daughters of Job, and Job declared that they would inherit some of his possessions, just as their brothers would inherit some.

<sup>16</sup>After that, Job lived 140 more years. Before he died, he saw his great-great-grandchildren. <sup>17</sup>He was very old when he died.

Book One

Psalm

- 1   <sup>1</sup>How fortunate are those who do not do what the wicked people advise them to do,
who do not imitate the behavior of sinful people,
and who do not join with people who ridicule God.
- 2 Instead, those with whom Yahweh is pleased delight in understanding what he teaches us.
They read and think every day and every night about what Yahweh teaches.
- 3 They constantly do things that please God, just as fruit trees that have been planted along the banks of a stream produce fruit at the right time every year.
Like trees that never wither,
they succeed in everything that they do.
- 4 But wicked people are not like that!
Wicked people are as worthless as chaff
that is blown away by the wind.
- 5 Therefore, when God judges all mankind, he will condemn the wicked.
Furthermore, the wicked will not be present when Yahweh gathers all the righteous people together.
- 6 For Yahweh guides and protects righteous people, but the path that the wicked walk on leads them to where God will destroy them forever.
- 2   <sup>1</sup>Why do the leaders of nations rage against Yahweh?
Why do people plan to rebel against him, even though it is in vain?
- 2 The kings of the nations on earth prepare to revolt;
the rulers plot together to fight against Yahweh and against his Anointed One.
- 3 They shout, "We should free ourselves from their control;
we should not let them rule over us any longer!"
- 4 But the one who sits on his throne in heaven laughs at them;
the Lord ridicules those rulers.
- 5 Then, because he is angry with them, he rebukes them.
He causes them to be terrified when they realize that he will furiously punish them.
- 6 Yahweh says, "I have put my king on a throne on Zion, my sacred hill in Jerusalem."
- 7 His king says, "I will proclaim what Yahweh has decreed.
He said to me, 'You are my son;
today I have become your father.'
- 8 Request me to give you the nations so that they belong to you permanently, and I will give them to you.
Even the most remote nations will be yours.
- 9 You will strike them down with an iron rod;
like the potter crashes his pot into pieces when he throws it on the ground, that is how you will break them up into small pieces.
- 10 So then, you kings and other rulers on the earth, act wisely!
Listen to what Yahweh is warning you!
- 11 Worship Yahweh; fervently honor him.

Rejoice about the things he has done, but tremble before him!
<sup>12</sup> Bow down humbly before his son! If you do not do that, he will be angry, and he will suddenly kill you. Do not forget that he can, in one moment, show that he is very angry! But how fortunate are all those who request him to protect them.

A psalm written by David when he was fleeing from his son Absalom <sup>1</sup>Yahweh, I have many enemies!

There are many people who oppose me.

<sup>2</sup> Many people are saying about me, "God will certainly not help him." <sup>3</sup> But Yahweh, you are like a shield that protects me.

You greatly honor me, and you encourage me.

<sup>5</sup> At night I lay down and slept, and I woke up in the morning because you, Yahweh, took care of me all during the night.

My God, come and rescue me again!

You will insult my enemies by slapping them on their cheeks; when you strike them, you will destroy their power, with the result that they cannot hurt anyone.

<sup>8</sup> Yahweh, you are the one who saves your people from their enemies. Yahweh, bless your people!

A psalm written by David for the choir director; a psalm to be accompanied by people playing stringed instruments

<sup>1</sup> God, answer me when I pray to you. You are the one who shows people that I am right to trust in you. You rescued me when I was in great trouble.

Act mercifully toward me and listen to me while I pray.

<sup>2</sup> How long will you people shame me instead of honoring me?

You people love to falsely accuse me.

<sup>3</sup> All those who honor Yahweh—he has chosen them to belong to him.

Yahweh will listen to me when I pray to him.

<sup>4</sup> You should be afraid of Yahweh, but do not allow your fear to cause you to sin.

While you lie on your bed, silently examine what you are thinking in your inner being.

<sup>5</sup> Also, offer to Yahweh the proper sacrifices and continue trusting in him.

<sup>6</sup> Some people ask, "Will someone please bring good things to us?" But I say, "Yahweh, continue to act kindly toward us.

<sup>7</sup> You have caused me to be very happy; I am happier than people who have harvested a great amount of grain and grapes.

<sup>8</sup> It is in peace and security that I will lie down at night and sleep soundly because I know that it is only you, Yahweh, who will keep me safe."

A psalm written by David for the choir director; a psalm to be accompanied by playing flutes

Pay attention to me when I am groaning because I am suffering very much.

<sup>2</sup> You are my king and my God. When I call to you to request you to help me, listen to me because you are the one to whom I pray.

<sup>3</sup> You listen to me when I pray to you each morning, and I wait for you to reply.

- <sup>4</sup>You are not a god who is pleased with wicked people;
you will never welcome those who do what is evil.
- <sup>5</sup>You do not allow those who are proud to come to you to worship you.
You hate all those who do evil things.
- <sup>6</sup>You get rid of liars,
and you despise those who murder others and those who deceive others.
- <sup>7</sup>Yahweh, because you greatly and faithfully love me,
I come into your temple.
I have an awesome respect for you and I will bow down to worship you at your sacred temple.
- <sup>8</sup>Yahweh, because you act righteously toward me,
show me what is right for me to do.
Because I have many enemies,
show me clearly how to live in the right way.
- <sup>9</sup>My enemies never say what is true; in their inner beings they want to destroy others.
They speak threats of violence and death.
They use their tongues to say good things to please people.
- <sup>10</sup>O God, declare that they are guilty and punish them.
Cause them to experience the same disasters that they plan to cause to happen to others.
Get rid of them because they have committed many sins,
and they have rebelled against you.
- <sup>11</sup>But cause that all those who go to you to be protected will rejoice; cause them to sing joyfully to you forever.
Protect those who love you;
they are truly happy because of what you do for them.
- <sup>12</sup>Yahweh, you always bless those who act righteously;
you protect them as a soldier protects himself with his shield.

be accompanied by people playing stringed instruments

- <sup>1</sup>Yahweh, do not correct me when you are angry with me;
do not punish me when you are upset.
- <sup>2</sup>Yahweh, act kindly toward me and heal me because I have become weak.
My body shakes because I am experiencing so much sorrow.
- <sup>3</sup>Yahweh, I am greatly troubled in my inner being.
How long must I endure this?
- <sup>4</sup>Yahweh, please come and rescue me.
Save me because you always keep the promises of your covenant.
- <sup>5</sup>I will not be able to praise you after I die;
no one in the place where the dead are praise you.
- <sup>6</sup>I am exhausted because of my pain.
I cry all night long so that my bed and my pillow are drenched by my tears.
- <sup>7</sup>Because I cry so much, I cannot see well.
My eyes have become weak because I constantly cry in fear of my enemies.
- <sup>8</sup>You people who do evil things, get away from me, because Yahweh heard me when I was crying!
- <sup>9</sup>Yahweh heard me when I called out for him to help me,
and he will answer my prayer.
- <sup>10</sup>When that happens, all my enemies will be ashamed;
they will be the ones who are terrified.
They will turn away from me and suddenly leave me because they will be disgraced.
- <sup>7</sup>
- A psalm that David sang to Yahweh because of a Benjamite named Cush.
- <sup>1</sup>Yahweh my God, I come to you to protect me.
Rescue me, save me from all those who are pursuing me in order to harm me.
- <sup>2</sup>If you do not do that, they will tear me

- into pieces
like a lion does when it attacks the animals it wants to kill;
no one will save me from them.
- <sup>3</sup>Yahweh my God, suppose that I have done anything that is wrong, <sup>4</sup>or that I have done evil to some friend, or that, for no good reason, I have harmed my enemies.
- <sup>5</sup>Then allow my enemies to pursue me and capture me.
Allow them to trample me into the ground and leave me lying dead in the dirt.
- <sup>6</sup>Yahweh, because you are very angry with those who pursue me, arise and attack the ones attacking me!
- Do to them what you have said is just!
- <sup>7</sup>The people of all nations gather around you to attack you,
but you will rule them from where you are in heaven.
- <sup>8</sup>Yahweh, judge the people of all nations!
Yahweh, show that I have done nothing wrong.
- <sup>9</sup>God, you know what every person is thinking in his inner being and because you are righteous, you always do what is just.
- So now stop evil people from doing wicked deeds,
and defend all of us who are righteous!
- <sup>10</sup>God, you protect me as a shield protects soldiers;
you rescue all those who are righteous in their inner being.
- <sup>11</sup>You judge everyone correctly,
and every day you punish wicked people who insult your law.
- <sup>12</sup>Whenever your enemies do not repent, it is as though you sharpen your sword and put a string on your bow to get ready to kill them.
- <sup>13</sup>You are preparing your weapons to kill those whom you strike;
the arrows that you will shoot have flaming tips.
- <sup>14</sup>Wicked people plot their lies and evil

- things,
they plan and take delight in their thoughts like a pregnant woman who is planning to give birth.
- <sup>15</sup>But when they dig a deep pit to trap others,
they themselves will fall into it.
- <sup>16</sup>They themselves will experience the trouble that they want to cause others to have;
they will hurt themselves by the violent things that they want to do to others.
- <sup>17</sup>I praise Yahweh because he always acts righteously;
I sing to praise Yahweh, the one who is much greater than any other god.
- 8
- A psalm written by David for the choir director, to be accompanied by a stringed instrument
- <sup>1</sup>Yahweh our Lord, people all over the world know that you are very great! We see your greatness every time we look toward the heavens!
- <sup>2</sup>You have taught little children and infants to praise you;
they cause your enemies and those who try to get revenge on you to be silent.
- <sup>3</sup>I look up at the sky at night and see the things that you have made—the moon and the stars that you have set in place.
- <sup>4</sup>It is amazing to me that you think about people,
that you are concerned about us humans!
- <sup>5</sup>You made the angels in heaven to be only a little more important than we are;
you caused us to be like kings!
- <sup>6</sup>You put us in charge of everything that you made;
you gave us authority over all things —
- <sup>7</sup>the sheep and the cattle,
and even the wild animals,
- <sup>8</sup>the birds, the fish,

- and everything else that swims in the seas.
- <sup>9</sup> Yahweh our Lord, people all over the world know that you are very great!
- <sup>9</sup>
- A psalm written by David for the choir director, to be sung using the tune 'The death of my son'
- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, I will praise you with all of my inner being.
I will tell others about all the wonderful things that you have done.
- <sup>2</sup> I will sing to celebrate what you, who are much greater than all other gods, have done.
- <sup>3</sup> When my enemies realize that you are very powerful, they stumble, and then they are killed.
- <sup>4</sup> You sit on your throne to judge people, and you have judged fairly concerning me.
- <sup>5</sup> You rebuked the people of other nations, and you have gotten rid of the wicked people; you have erased their names forever.
- <sup>6</sup> Our enemies have disappeared; you destroyed their cities, and people do not even remember them anymore.
- <sup>7</sup> But Yahweh rules forever. He judges people while he sits on his throne.
- <sup>8</sup> He will judge all the people in the world justly; he will be fair when he judges the people of every nation.
- <sup>9</sup> Yahweh will be a refuge for those who are oppressed; he will be like a shelter for them when they have trouble.
- <sup>10</sup> Those who know Yahweh trust in him; he never abandons those who come to him for help.
- <sup>11</sup> Yahweh rules on Mount Zion; praise him and sing to him. Tell the people of all the nations the marvelous things that he has done.
- <sup>12</sup> He does not forget to punish those

- who have murdered others; he will punish them, and he will not ignore people who are crying because they are suffering.
- <sup>13</sup> Yahweh, act mercifully toward me! Look at the ways that my enemies have injured me. Do not allow me to die because of these injuries.
- <sup>14</sup> I want to live in order that I can praise you at the gates of Jerusalem and to rejoice because you rescued me.
- <sup>15</sup> It is as though the wicked people of many nations have dug a pit for me to fall into, but they have fallen into that same pit.
- It is as though they have spread out a net to catch me, but their feet have been caught in that same net.
- <sup>16</sup> Because of what you have done, people know that you make justice happen; you allow wicked people to be trapped by the same evil things that they themselves do.
- <sup>17</sup> Wicked people will all die and be buried in their graves; their spirits will go to be with all those who have forgotten about you.
- <sup>18</sup> But you will not forget those who are needy; what they confidently expect will never be in vain.
- <sup>19</sup> Yahweh, do not allow our enemies to conquer us just because they are strong; You see what the people do and you bring justice to them all.
- <sup>20</sup> Yahweh, teach them that they must be afraid of you and honor you. Cause them to know that they are only human beings.
- 10 Yahweh, why do you keep yourself far away from us? Why do you not pay attention when we have troubles?
- <sup>2</sup> Proud, wicked people, have a terrible - desire within them to make poor people suffer.

- God, make them fall into their own traps, so that what they did to others may be done to them!
- <sup>3</sup>The wicked person boasts about the evil things he wants to do.
- He desires to own the things that others have, and he does not want them to own more things than he has.
- He boasts about all the things he owns, while he curses you, Yahweh.
- <sup>4</sup>The wicked person is so proud he never looks for God and if he did look for God, he would not find him.
- He is too proud to even think about God.
- <sup>5</sup>But, looking at the life of the wicked man, it seems that everything he does is successful.
- He cannot even understand your commands, God, and then he mocks his enemies.
- <sup>6</sup>In his mind he thinks, "Nothing bad can happen to me! As long as I live, I will never have troubles."
- <sup>7</sup>When he speaks he always curses and tells lies, and he makes threats against others. When he talks, he only speaks about hurting or destroying other people.
- <sup>8</sup>He makes plans to attack the people living in the villages, people who have done nothing wrong. He waits in places where he can hide while he keeps looking for more people he can attack, people who cannot defend themselves.
- <sup>9</sup>He waits for his victims like a lion who crouches down, and just like the lion, he hides in the bushes. He is like the hunter who spreads
- out the net so he can catch helpless people and drag them away.
- <sup>10</sup>The helpless people are crushed by the wicked person's plans and all the things he does. He is powerful, and when he opposes the helpless people, he always takes away from them whatever he wants.
- <sup>11</sup>The wicked person says, "God cannot remember what I did. His eyes are covered, and he cannot see anything that I have done."
- <sup>12</sup>Yahweh, arise! God, strike him down! Do not forget those who are suffering!
- <sup>13</sup>Why does the most wicked person curse you, God, and turn away from you? Does he think, "God can never punish me"?
- <sup>14</sup>God, you do see the trouble and the distress that the wicked person causes. And you will strike the wicked man and punish him for all that he does.
- <sup>15</sup>God, destroy the power of the person who is wicked and evil! Make him pay for those evil things he did, those things that he thought God would not find out about him.
- <sup>16</sup>Yahweh is king forever! He will drive out foreign people from his land.
- <sup>17</sup>Yahweh, when the people who suffer cry out to you, you listen. You hear them when they pray and you encourage them.
- <sup>18</sup>You defend the orphans and oppressed people when the strong and the wicked work to do them harm. And so, no one has to worry or be terrified anymore.
- <sup>11</sup>
- A psalm written by David for the choir director
- <sup>1</sup>I trust that Yahweh will protect me. So I do not fly off to the mountains

- like birds do.
- <sup>2</sup> It is true that wicked people have hidden in the darkness, that they have pulled back their bowstrings and aimed their arrows to shoot them at people who honor Yahweh.
- <sup>3</sup> When wicked people do not suffer for disobeying the laws, what can righteous people do?
- <sup>4</sup> But Yahweh is sitting on his throne in his sacred temple in heaven, and he sees everything that people do.
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh examines what righteous people do and what wicked people do, and he hates those who love to injure others.
- <sup>6</sup> He will send down from the sky flaming coals and burning sulfur on the wicked; he will send scorching hot winds to punish them.
- <sup>7</sup> Yahweh does everything that is right, and he loves those who do what is right; such people will come into his presence.

A psalm written by David for the choir director

- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, help us! It seems like people who honor you are no more, that those who are loyal to you have all vanished.
- <sup>2</sup> Everyone tells lies to other people; they deceive others by flattering them, but they tell lies.
- <sup>3</sup> Yahweh, we wish that you would cut off their tongues so that they cannot continue to boast.
- <sup>4</sup> They say, "By telling lies we will get what we want; we control what we say, so no one can tell us what we should do!"
- <sup>5</sup> But Yahweh replies, "I have seen the violent things that they have done to helpless people; I have heard those people groaning, so I will arise and rescue the people who are wanting me to help

them."

<sup>6</sup> Yahweh, you always do what you have promised to do; what you have promised is as precious and pure as silver that has been heated seven times in a furnace to get rid of all the impure material.

- <sup>7</sup> Yahweh, we know that you will protect us who honor you from those wicked people, <sup>8</sup> those who strut around proudly, while people praise them for doing evil deeds.

A psalm written by David for the choir director

- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, how long will you continue to forget about me? Will you hide yourself from me forever?
- <sup>2</sup> How long must I endure anguish within myself? Must I be miserable every day? How long will my enemies continue to defeat me?
- <sup>3</sup> Yahweh my God, look at me and answer me. Restore my strength, or I will die.
- <sup>4</sup> Do not allow my enemies to boast and to say, "We have defeated him!" Do not allow them to defeat me, with the result that they will rejoice about it!
- <sup>5</sup> But I trust that you will faithfully love me; I will rejoice when you rescue me.
- <sup>6</sup> Yahweh, you have done many good things for me, so I will sing to you.

A psalm written by David for the choir director

- <sup>1</sup> Only foolish people say to themselves, "There is no God!" People who say those things only do corrupt deeds; there is not one of them who does what is good.
- <sup>2</sup> From heaven Yahweh looks down at everyone; he looks to see if anyone is very wise, wise enough to desire to know him.

- <sup>3</sup> Everyone turns away from Yahweh.
They are depraved and do disgusting,
filthy things.
- No one does what is good.
- <sup>4</sup> Will those evil people never learn what God will do to punish them?
- They act violently toward Yahweh's people and want to consume them
like one who eats food consumes it,
and they never pray to Yahweh.
- <sup>5</sup> But some day they will become very terrified
because God helps those who act righteously and will punish those who reject him.
- <sup>6</sup> Those who do evil may prevent helpless people from doing what they plan to
do,
but Yahweh protects them.
- <sup>7</sup> Out of Zion Yahweh will come and rescue the Israelite people!
He will make his people free again
and will bring them back to their home.
- On that day all of us Israelite people will rejoice, and we, who are also called the descendants of Jacob, will be happy.
- 15
- A psalm written by David
- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, who are allowed to enter your sacred tent?
Who are allowed to live on your sacred mountain?
- <sup>2</sup> Only those who always do what is right and do not sin may do that,
those who always speak the truth.
- <sup>3</sup> They do not slander others.
- They do not do to others things that are
wrong,
and they do not say bad things
about anyone.
- <sup>4</sup> People who honor God hate those whom he has rejected,
but they respect those who have a fearful respect for Yahweh.
- They do what they have promised to do even if it causes them trouble to do
that.
- <sup>5</sup> They lend money to others without charging interest,

- and they never accept bribes in order to lie about people who have not done anything wrong.
Those who do those things will always live in safety.
- 16
- A psalm written by David
- <sup>1</sup> God, protect me
because I go to you to keep me safe!
- <sup>2</sup> I said to Yahweh, "You are my Lord;
all the good things that I have come from
you."
- <sup>3</sup> People who try to be holy who live in this land are wonderful;
I delight to be with them.
- <sup>4</sup> Those who choose to worship other gods will have many things that cause them to be sad.
I will not join them when they make sacrifices to their gods;
I will not even join them in speaking the names of their gods.
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh, you are the one whom I have chosen,
and you give me great blessings.
You protect me and control what happens to me.
- <sup>6</sup> Yahweh has given me a wonderful place
in which to live;
I am delighted with all the things that he has given me.
- <sup>7</sup> I will praise Yahweh, the one who teaches me;
even at night he tells my heart what is right for me to do.
- <sup>8</sup> I know that Yahweh is always with me.
Nothing will take me from his side.
- <sup>9</sup> Therefore I am glad; I am honored to praise him,
and I can rest securely
- <sup>10</sup> because you, Yahweh, will not allow me to remain in the place where the dead people are,
and you will not allow me, someone who has been faithful to the covenant, to stay there.
- <sup>11</sup> You will show me the road that leads to where I receive eternal life,
and you will make me joyful when I am with you.
- I will have pleasure forever when I am at your right hand.

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh, listen to me while I plead with you to act justly toward me.

Hear me while I call out to you to help me.

Pay attention to what I say while I pray because I am speaking honestly.

<sup>2</sup> You are the one who is able to declare that I am innocent; please agree to do what is right for me.

<sup>3</sup> If you come to me at night to learn what I think, if you see what I think in my heart, you will know that I have determined to never tell any lies; you will find that I do not think evil things.

I have always acted in the power of what you have instructed me;

I have not acted like those who do not know your law.

<sup>5</sup> I have always done what you told me to do;

I have never failed to do those things.

<sup>6</sup> O God, I am praying to you because you answer me;

please listen to what I am saying.

<sup>7</sup> Continue to show me your love as you promised you would do.

By your great power you protect all who trust in you; you keep them safe from their enemies.

<sup>8</sup> Protect me as carefully as people protect their own eyes;

protect me like birds protect their babies under their wings.

<sup>9</sup> Do not allow wicked people to attack me, those enemies of mine who surround, wanting to kill me.

<sup>10</sup> They are proud of their riches and success,

but they have no mercy on anyone.

<sup>11</sup> They have hunted for me and found me.

They surround me, watching for an opportunity to throw me to the ground and kill me.

<sup>12</sup> They are like lions that are ready to tear apart the animals that they capture; They are like young lions that are hiding, waiting to jump on their prey.

<sup>13</sup> Yahweh, arise, attack my enemies, and defeat them! With your sword save me from those wicked people!

<sup>14</sup> Yahweh, by your power rescue me from those people who are interested only in things here in this world.

But you provide plenty of food for those whom you love dearly; their children also have many things that their grandchildren will inherit.

<sup>15</sup> Yahweh, because I act in the right way, I will be with you one day. When I awake after I die, I will see you face to face, and then I will be happy.

A psalm written by God's servant David. He sang it after Yahweh had rescued him from Saul and his other enemies.

<sup>2</sup> Yahweh is like a huge rock; when I am on top of it, my enemies cannot reach me. He is like a strong fortress; I run into it to be safe.

He protects me like a shield protects a soldier; he is the one whom I trust to keep me safe; he defends me by his great power!

<sup>3</sup> I called out to Yahweh, who deserves for me to praise him, and he rescued me from my enemies.

<sup>4</sup> All around me were dangerous situations in which I might die; it was as though there were huge waves that almost crashed on me and killed me.

<sup>5</sup> It was as though the place where dead people are had ropes that were wrapped around me, or it was as though there was a trap that would seize and kill me.

<sup>6</sup> But when I was very distressed, I called

- out to Yahweh, and far off in his temple he heard me.
- He listened to me when I cried out for help.
- <sup>7</sup> Then Yahweh became angry, and the earth quaked, and the mountains shook to their very foundations!
- <sup>8</sup> He was so angry that it was as though smoke poured out from his nostrils, as though burning coals came out of his mouth!
- <sup>9</sup> He opened the sky and came down with a black cloud under his feet.
- <sup>10</sup> He flew, riding on the back of an angel traveling fast, which the wind was blowing along.
- <sup>11</sup> Darkness was all around him like a blanket; dark clouds, full of water moisture, covered him.
- <sup>12</sup> Hailstones and flashes of lightning were around him; hail and burning coals fell down from the sky.
- <sup>13</sup> Then Yahweh shouted loudly from the sky, and to his enemies, it sounded like thunder. Yahweh, the Supreme God, rained hailstones on them and caused lightning to flash against them.
- <sup>14</sup> He shot his arrows at them and caused them to scatter; his flashes of lightning caused them to become very confused.
- <sup>15</sup> The bottom of the ocean became visible, and the water uncovered the foundations of the earth when Yahweh rebuked his enemies with the breath that came in his anger!
- <sup>16</sup> It was as though he reached down from heaven and grabbed me and pulled me up out of the deep ocean.
- <sup>17</sup> He rescued me from my strong enemies who hated me; they were very strong, and I could not defeat them by myself.
- <sup>18</sup> When I was distressed, they attacked me, but Yahweh defended me.
- <sup>19</sup> He made me completely safe; he rescued me because he was pleased with me.
- <sup>20</sup> Yahweh has rewarded me because I do what is right; he has blessed me

- because I am innocent.
- <sup>21</sup> I have obeyed Yahweh's laws; I have not abandoned him.
- <sup>22</sup> I have followed his decrees; I have not stopped obeying them.
- <sup>23</sup> He knows that I have not done what is wrong and that I have kept myself from sinning.
- <sup>24</sup> So he rewards me because I do what is right; he knows that I have not committed sins.
- <sup>25</sup> Yahweh, you are faithful to those who faithfully do your covenant; you always do what is good to those who do not do evil.
- <sup>26</sup> You are kind to those who are honest toward others, but you act wisely toward those who act dishonestly.
- <sup>27</sup> You save those who are humble, but you humiliate those who are proud.
- <sup>28</sup> You keep me alive, and you will continue to do so.
- <sup>29</sup> You enable me to be strong, so that I can attack and defeat a line of enemy soldiers; with your help I can scale the walls that surround my enemies' cities.
- <sup>30</sup> Everything that Yahweh my God does is perfect. We can depend on him to do what he promises.
- He is like a shield to protect all those who go to him to be safe.
- <sup>31</sup> Yahweh is the only one who is God; only he is like a huge rock on top of which we can be safe.
- <sup>32</sup> God is the one who enables me to be strong and who keeps me safe on the roads that I walk on.
- <sup>33</sup> He enables me to walk swiftly without stumbling as a deer walks in the mountains.
- <sup>34</sup> He teaches me how to use a strong bow in order that I can use it to fight in battles.
- <sup>35</sup> Yahweh, you protect and save me with your shield; you are strong and have therefore kept me safe. I have become strong because you have helped me.
- <sup>36</sup> You have made a safe path for me, with the result that now I do not slip.
- <sup>37</sup> I pursued my enemies and caught

- them; I did not stop until I had defeated them all.
- <sup>38</sup> When I strike them, they are not able to get up again; they lie on the ground, defeated.
- <sup>39</sup> You have enabled me to be strong in order that I can fight battles and defeat my enemies.
- <sup>40</sup> You delivered my enemies to me, for me to strike them on their necks. I have gotten rid of all those who hated me.
- <sup>41</sup> They shouted for someone to help them, but no one saved them. They shouted out to Yahweh, but he did not help them.
- <sup>42</sup> I crushed them to powder, and they became like the dust that the wind blows away; I threw them out like people throw dirt out into the streets.
- <sup>43</sup> You enabled me to defeat those who fought against me and appointed me to be the ruler of many nations; people whom I did not know about previously are now slaves in my kingdom.
- <sup>44</sup> When foreigners hear about me, they cringe and they obey me.
- <sup>45</sup> They are no longer courageous, and from their holes where they were hiding they come to me trembling.
- <sup>46</sup> Yahweh is alive! Praise the one who is like a huge rock on top of which I am safe! Exalt the God who saves me!
- <sup>47</sup> He enables me to get revenge on my enemies; he causes me to defeat nations and to rule over them.
- <sup>48</sup> It is Yahweh who rescues me from my enemies. He has lifted me up high so that violent men could not reach me and harm me.
- <sup>49</sup> So I praise him, and I tell the nations the great things that he has done.
- <sup>50</sup> He has enabled me, his king, to powerfully defeat my enemies; he faithfully loves me as he promised in his covenant.
- He loves me, David, the one he has chosen to be king, and he will faithfully love my descendants forever.

- <sup>19</sup> A psalm written by David for the choir director
- <sup>1</sup> When people look at everything that God has placed in the skies, they can see that he is very great; they can see the great things that he has created.
- <sup>2</sup> Day after day it is as though the sun proclaims the glory of God, and night after night it is as though the moon and stars say that they know that God made them.
- <sup>3</sup> They do not really speak; they do not say any words. There is no sound from them for anyone to hear.
- <sup>4</sup> But what they declare about God goes throughout the world, and even people who live in the most distant places on earth can know it.
- The sun is in the skies where God placed it;
- <sup>5</sup> it rises each morning like a bridegroom who is happy as he comes out of his bedroom after his wedding. It is like a strong athlete who is very eager to start running in a race.
- <sup>6</sup> The sun rises at one side of the sky and goes across the sky and sets on the other side; nothing can hide from its heat.
- <sup>7</sup> The instructions that Yahweh has given us are perfect; they revive us. We can be sure that the things that Yahweh has told us will never change, and by learning them people who have not been previously taught will become wise.
- <sup>8</sup> Yahweh's laws are fair; when we obey them, we become joyful.
- The commands of Yahweh are clear, and by reading them we start to understand how God wants us to behave.
- <sup>9</sup> It is good for people to revere Yahweh; that is something that they will do

- forever.
 What Yahweh has decreed is fair,
 and it is always right.
<sup>10</sup> The things that God has decided are more valuable than gold,
 even the finest gold.
 They are sweeter than honey
 that drips from honeycombs.
<sup>11</sup> Furthermore, by reading them I learn what things are good to do and what things are evil,
 and they promise a great reward
 to us who obey them.
<sup>12</sup> But here is no one who can know all his errors;
 so Yahweh, forgive me for these things which I do that I do not realize are wrong.
<sup>13</sup> Keep me from doing things that I know are wrong;
 do not let me keep doing the evil
 things I want to do.
 If you do that, I will no longer be guilty
 for committing such sins,
 and I will not commit the great sin
 of rebelling terribly against you.
<sup>14</sup> O Yahweh, you are like a huge rock on top of which I can be safe; you are the one who protects me.
 I hope that the things that I say and what I think will always please
 you.
- 20
- A psalm written by David for the choir director
- <sup>1</sup> We desire that Yahweh may help you when you call out to him when you have troubles!
 We desire that God, whom our ancestor
 Jacob honored, may keep you safe
 from your enemies.
<sup>2</sup> We desire that he may reach out from his sacred temple and help you and aid you from where he lives on Mount Zion.
<sup>3</sup> We desire that he may accept all the offerings that you give him to be burned on the altar
 and all your other offerings.
<sup>4</sup> We desire that he may give to you what you desire in your heart,
 and that you may be able to

- accomplish all that you desire
 to do.
<sup>5</sup> When you defeat your enemies, we will shout joyfully.
 We will lift up a banner proclaiming that it is God who has helped you.
 May Yahweh do for you all that you request him to do.
<sup>6</sup> I know now that Yahweh rescues me,
 the one whom he has chosen to be king.
 From his holy place in heaven he will
 answer me,
 and he will save me by his great
 power.
<sup>7</sup> Some kings trust that because they have chariots they will be able to defeat
 their enemies,
 and some trust that their horses will enable them to defeat their
 enemies,
 but we will trust in the power of Yahweh our God.
<sup>8</sup> Some will stumble and fall down, but we will be strong and not be moved.
<sup>9</sup> Yahweh, help the king defeat our
 enemies!
 Answer us when we call out to you
 to help us!
- 21
- A psalm written by David for the choir director
- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, the man you made king is glad because you have caused him to be strong.
 He rejoices because you have enabled him to defeat his
 enemies.
<sup>2</sup> You have given him everything he most desired,
 and you have not refused to do
 what he requested you to do.
<sup>3</sup> You have done so many wonderful things for him.
 You placed a gold crown on his head.
<sup>4</sup> He asked you to let him live for a long
 time,
 and you have enabled him to live
 for a long time.

<sup>5</sup> His power as king is very great because you have allowed him to win victories over his enemies.
<sup>6</sup> You will bless him forever, and you have caused him to be joyful in your presence.
<sup>7</sup> Yahweh, you are God Almighty, and the king trusts in you. Because you faithfully love him, disastrous things will never happen to him.
<sup>8</sup> You will enable him to kill all his enemies, all those who hate him.
<sup>9</sup> When you appear, you will throw them into a fiery furnace. Because you are angry with them, you will swallow them up; the fire will burn them up.
<sup>10</sup> You will remove their children from this earth; their descendants will all disappear.
<sup>11</sup> They wanted to harm you, but what they plan will never succeed.
<sup>12</sup> You will cause them to run away by shooting arrows at them.
<sup>13</sup> Yahweh, show us that you are very strong! When you do that, we will sing and praise you because you are very powerful.

A psalm written by David for the choir director, to be sung to the tune 'Doe of the Dawn'

<sup>1</sup> My God, my God, why have you abandoned me? Why do you stay so far from me, and why do you not listen to me? Why do you not hear me when I am suffering and groaning?
<sup>2</sup> My God, every day I call to you during the daytime, but you do not answer me. I call to you during the night; I am not silent at all.
<sup>3</sup> But you are holy. You sit on your throne as king, and we the people of Israel praise you.
<sup>4</sup> Our ancestors trusted in you.

Because they trusted in you, you rescued them.

<sup>5</sup> When they called out to you for help, you saved them. They trusted in you, and they were not disappointed.
<sup>6</sup> But you have not rescued me! People despise me and consider that I am not a man; they think that I am a worm! Everyone scorns me and despises me.
<sup>7</sup> Everyone who sees me makes fun of me. They sneer at me and insult me by shaking their heads at me as though I were an evil man. They say, <sup>8</sup> "He trusts in Yahweh, so Yahweh should save him!" He says that Yahweh is very pleased with him; if that is so, Yahweh should rescue him!
<sup>9</sup> You, God, have been with me since I was in my mother's womb, and you taught me to trust you when I was at my mother's breasts.
<sup>10</sup> It was as though you had adopted me right when I was born. You have been my God ever since I was born.
<sup>11</sup> So do not stay far from me now because enemies who will cause me much trouble are near me, and there is no one else who can help me.
<sup>12</sup> My enemies surround me like a herd of wild bulls. Fierce people, like those strong bulls that graze on the hills in the region of Bashan, surround me.
<sup>13</sup> They are like roaring lions that are attacking the animals that they want to eat; they rush toward me to kill me; they are like lions that have their mouths open, ready to chew their victims to pieces.
<sup>14</sup> I am completely exhausted, and all my bones are out of their

- joints.
 I no longer expect that God will save me;
 I am completely discouraged.
- <sup>15</sup> My strength is all dried up like a broken piece of a clay jar that has dried in the sun.
 I am so thirsty that my tongue
 sticks to the roof of my mouth.
 God, I think that you are about to let my body die and become dust!
- <sup>16</sup> My enemies are like wild dogs that surround me.
 A group of evil men has encircled me, ready to attack me.
 They have pierced through my hands and my feet.
- <sup>17</sup> I am so weak and thin that I can count
 all my bones.
 My enemies stare at me and gloat about what has happened to
 me.
- <sup>18</sup> They looked at the clothes that I was wearing
 and gambled to determine which piece each of them would get.
- <sup>19</sup> Yahweh, be concerned for me!
 You who are my source of strength,
 come quickly and help me!
- <sup>20</sup> Rescue me from those who want to kill me with their swords.
 Save my life from the power of those who are like wild dogs.
- <sup>21</sup> Snatch me away from my enemies who are like lions with jaws open and ready to chew me up!
 Grab me away from those men who are like wild oxen that attack
 other animals with their horns!
- <sup>22</sup> If you save me from them, I will declare to my fellow Israelites how great you are.
 I will praise you among the group of your people gathered together to worship you.
- <sup>23</sup> You people who have an awesome
 respect for Yahweh, praise him!
 All you who are descended from Jacob, honor Yahweh!
 All you Israelite people, revere him!
- <sup>24</sup> He does not despise or ignore those
- who are suffering;
 he does not hide his face from
 them.
 He has listened to them when they cried
 out to him for help.
- <sup>25</sup> Yahweh, in the great gathering of your people, I will praise you for what you have done.
 In the presence of those who have an awesome respect for you, I will offer the sacrifices that I promised.
- <sup>26</sup> The poor people whom I have invited to the meal will eat as much as they want.
 All who come to worship Yahweh
 will praise him.
 I pray that God will enable you all to live a long and happy life!
- <sup>27</sup> I pray that people in all nations, even in the remote areas, will think about Yahweh and turn to him,
 and that people from all the clans in the world will bow down
 before him.
- <sup>28</sup> For Yahweh is the king!
 He rules all the nations.
- <sup>29</sup> All the rich people on the earth will celebrate and bow before him.
 Some day they will die, for they cannot avoid it,
 but they will prostrate themselves
 on the ground in his presence.
- <sup>30</sup> People in the future generations will also serve Yahweh.
 They will tell their children about what Yahweh has done.
- <sup>31</sup> People who are not yet born, who will live in future years, will learn how Yahweh rescued his people.
 People will tell them, "Yahweh did
 it!"
- 23
- A psalm written by David
- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, you care for me like a shepherd cares for his sheep,
 so I have everything that I need.
- <sup>2</sup> You enable me to rest in peace
 as when a shepherd leads his sheep to places where there is plenty of green grass for them to eat,

as when he lets them lie down beside streams where the water is flowing slowly.
<sup>3</sup>You renew my strength.
You show me how to live in the right way,
in order that I can honor you.
<sup>4</sup>Even when I am walking in very dangerous places
where I might die,
I will not be afraid of anything
because you are with me.
You protect me like a shepherd protects his sheep.
<sup>5</sup>You prepare a great feast for me
in a place where my enemies can see
me.
You welcome me
as a guest whom you honor.
You have given me very many blessings!
<sup>6</sup>I am certain that you will be good to me and act mercifully toward me
as long as I live;
then, O Yahweh, I will live in your home
forever.

A psalm written by David

<sup>1</sup>The earth and everything in it belongs to Yahweh;
all the people in the world belong
to him, too;
<sup>2</sup>he built the land on the water,
above the water that is deep below.
<sup>3</sup>Who will be allowed to go up onto Mount Zion in Jerusalem,
in order to stand and worship in Yahweh's holy temple?
<sup>4</sup>Only those whose actions and thoughts are pure,
who have not worshiped idols,
and who do not tell lies when they have solemnly promised to tell the truth.
<sup>5</sup>Yahweh will bless them.
When God judges them, he will rescue them and say that they have done nothing wrong.
<sup>6</sup>They are the people who come to God,
they are the ones who desire to worship God,
and serve the God of Jacob.
<sup>7</sup>Open up the temple gates

in order that our glorious king may enter!

<sup>8</sup>Do you know who the glorious king is?
It is Yahweh, the one who is very strong;
It is Yahweh, who conquers all his enemies in battles!

<sup>9</sup>Open up the temple gates
in order that our glorious king may
enter!

<sup>10</sup>Do you know who the glorious king is?
It is Yahweh, commander of the
angel armies;
he is our glorious king!

<sup>2</sup>My God, I trust in you.

Do not allow my enemies to defeat me
and shame me.

Do not allow my enemies to defeat me
and rejoice over me.

<sup>3</sup>Do not allow any of those who trust in you to be ashamed.

Cause those who act treacherously
toward others to be disgraced.

<sup>4</sup>Yahweh, show me the way that I should conduct my life,
teach me how to act in the manner
that you want me to act.

<sup>5</sup>Teach me to conduct my life by obeying your truth
because you are my God, the one who saves me.

All during the day I trust in you.

<sup>6</sup>Yahweh, do not forget how you have acted mercifully to me and have faithfully loved me because of your covenant with me;
that is the way that you have acted toward me from long ago.

<sup>7</sup>Forgive me for all the sinful things I did and the ways that I rebelled against you when I was young;
I request this because you faithfully
love your people and do good things for them, as you promised in your covenant.

Yahweh, do not forget me!

<sup>8</sup>Yahweh is good and fair,
so he shows sinners how they

- should conduct their lives.
- <sup>9</sup> He shows humble people what is right for them to do and teaches them what he wants them to do.
- <sup>10</sup> He always faithfully loves us and does what he has promised for those who obey his covenant and who do what he requires.
- <sup>11</sup> Yahweh, forgive me for all my sins, which are many, in order that I may honor you.
- <sup>12</sup> To all those who have an awesome respect for you, you show them the right way to conduct their lives.
- <sup>13</sup> They will always be prosperous, and their descendants will continue to live in this land.
- <sup>14</sup> Yahweh is a friend of those who have an awesome respect for him, and he teaches them the covenant that he made with them.
- <sup>15</sup> I always request Yahweh to help me, and he rescues me from danger.
- <sup>16</sup> Yahweh, pay attention to me and be merciful to me because I am alone, and I am greatly distressed because I am suffering.
- <sup>17</sup> I have many troubles that make me afraid; rescue me from them.
- <sup>18</sup> Note that I am distressed and troubled, and forgive me for all my sins.
- <sup>19</sup> Note that I have many enemies; you see that they hate me very much.
- <sup>20</sup> Protect me and rescue me from them; do not allow them to defeat me with the result that I would be ashamed;
- I have gone to you to get refuge.
- <sup>21</sup> Protect me because I do what is good and honest and because I trust in you.
- <sup>22</sup> God, rescue us Israelite people from all of our troubles!

- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, show that I am innocent. I always do what is right;

- I have trusted in you and never doubted that you would help me.
- <sup>2</sup> Yahweh, examine what I have done and test me; thoroughly evaluate what I think in my inner being.
- <sup>3</sup> I never forget that you are true to your covenant and faithfully love me; I conduct my life according to your faithfulness.
- <sup>4</sup> I do not spend my time with liars, and I stay away from hypocrites.
- <sup>5</sup> I do not like to be with evil people, and I avoid wicked people.
- <sup>6</sup> Yahweh, I wash my hands to show that I am innocent. As I join with others marching around your altar,
- <sup>7</sup> we sing songs to thank you, and we tell others the wonderful things that you have done.
- <sup>8</sup> Yahweh, I love to be in the house where you live, in the place where your glory appears.
- <sup>9</sup> Do not get rid of me like you get rid of sinners; do not cause me to die like you cause those who murder people to die,
- <sup>10</sup> people who are ready to do wicked things and those who are always taking bribes.
- <sup>11</sup> But as for me, I always try to do what is right. So act kindly toward me and rescue me.
- <sup>12</sup> I stand in places where I am safe, and when all your people gather together, I praise you.
- 27

A psalm written by David

- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh is the one who gives me life and the one who saves me, so I do not need to be afraid of anyone. Yahweh is the one to whom I go for refuge, so I will never be afraid.

<sup>2</sup>When those who do evil come near me
to destroy me,
they stumble and fall down.

<sup>3</sup>Even if an army surrounds me,
I will not be afraid.

Even if they attack me,
I will trust in God.

<sup>4</sup>There is one thing that I have requested
from Yahweh;
this is the one thing that I desire:
that I may worship in Yahweh's house
every day during my life,
that I may see how wonderful Yahweh is,
and that I may ask him what he wants me to do.

<sup>5</sup>He will protect me when I have
troubles;
he will keep me safe in his sacred tent.

He will set me safely on a high rock.

<sup>6</sup>Then I will triumph over my enemies.
I will shout joyfully as I offer sacrifices in his sacred tent,

and I will praise Yahweh as I sing.

<sup>7</sup>Yahweh, listen to me while I call to you.
Act kindly toward me and answer
my prayer.

<sup>8</sup>Within my inner being I desire to worship you,
so, Yahweh, I will come to your temple to pray to you.

<sup>9</sup>I am your servant;
do not be angry with me, or turn away from me.

You have always helped me.

You are the one who has saved me,
so do not abandon me now.

<sup>10</sup>Even if my father and mother desert
me,

Yahweh always takes care of me.

<sup>11</sup>Yahweh, teach me to do what you want me to do,
and lead me on a safe path
because I have many enemies.

<sup>12</sup>Do not allow my enemies to do to me
what they want;
they say many false things about me
and threaten to do violent things to me.

<sup>13</sup>I would have died if I had not trusted

you
to be good to me as long as I live.

<sup>14</sup>So trust in Yahweh!
Be strong and courageous,
and wait expectantly for him to help you!

A psalm written by David

<sup>1</sup>Yahweh, I call out to you;
You are like a huge rock on top of which I am safe.

Do not refuse to answer me because if you are silent, I will soon be with those who are in their graves.

<sup>2</sup>Listen to me when I call out for you to help me,
when I lift up my hands as I face your very holy place in your sacred tent.

<sup>3</sup>Do not drag me away with wicked
people,
with those who do wicked deeds,
with those who pretend to act peacefully toward others
while in their inner beings, they hate them.

<sup>4</sup>Punish those people in the way that they deserve for what they have done;
punish them for their evil deeds.

<sup>5</sup>Yahweh, they do not pay attention to the wonderful things that you have done and that you have created;
so get rid of them permanently and do not let them appear again!

<sup>6</sup>Praise Yahweh
because he has heard me when I called out for him to help me!

<sup>7</sup>Yahweh makes me strong and protects me like a shield;
I trust in him, and he helps me.
So I was glad in my inner being,
and from my inner being I praise
him as I sing to him.

<sup>8</sup>Yahweh causes us to be strong and protects us;
he saves me, the one he appointed to be king.

<sup>9</sup>Yahweh, save your people;
bless those who belong to you.
Take care of them like a shepherd takes care of his sheep;

take care of them forever.

29

A psalm written by David

- <sup>1</sup> Mighty people, praise Yahweh!
Praise him because he is very glorious and powerful.
<sup>2</sup> Praise Yahweh with the glory his names
deserves.
Bow down and worship Yahweh
because he is holy and his holiness shines out from him
with wonderful beauty.
<sup>3</sup> Yahweh's voice is heard above the oceans;
the glorious God thunders.
He appears over the huge oceans.
<sup>4</sup> His voice is powerful and majestic.
<sup>5</sup> Yahweh's voice breaks great cedar trees,
the cedars that grow in Lebanon.
<sup>6</sup> He causes earthquakes to shake the region of Lebanon as a young cow
jumps;
he causes Mount Hermon to shake
as a young bull jumps.
<sup>7</sup> Yahweh's voice tells the lightning to flash.
<sup>8</sup> His voice causes the desert to shake;
he shakes the wilderness of Kadesh.
<sup>9</sup> Yahweh's voice makes the large trees
shake,
and strips the leaves from the trees
while the people in the temple
shout, "Praise God!" <sup>10</sup> Yahweh rules over the flood that covered the earth;
he is our king who will rule forever.
<sup>11</sup> Yahweh enables his people to be strong,
and he blesses them by causing things to go well for them.

30

A psalm written by David for the dedication of the temple

- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, I praise you because you rescued me. You did not allow me to die or my enemies to gloat over me.
<sup>2</sup> Yahweh, my God, I called out for you to help me when I was wounded, and you healed me.
<sup>3</sup> You saved me from death. I was nearly dead, but you caused me to become healthy again.

- <sup>4</sup> All you who are faithful to the covenant
with Yahweh, sing to praise him!
Remember what God, the holy one,
has done and thank him!
<sup>5</sup> When he becomes angry, he is angry for only a very short time, but he is good to us all of our lives.
We may cry during the night, but the next morning we will be joyful.
<sup>6</sup> As for me, I was calm when I said to myself, "No one will defeat me!"
<sup>7</sup> Yahweh, because you were good to me, at first you caused me to be secure as though I were a high mountain.
But then I thought that you had turned away from me, and I became afraid.
<sup>8</sup> So I called out to you, and I pleaded for you to help me.
<sup>9</sup> I said, "Yahweh, what will you gain if I die?
In what way will it benefit you if I go to the place where the dead people are?
When I am dead I will certainly not be able to praise you, and I will not be able to tell others that you are trustworthy!"
<sup>10</sup> Yahweh, listen to me, and act mercifully to me! Yahweh, help me!"
<sup>11</sup> But now you have healed me, and you have changed me from being sad to dancing joyfully.
You have taken away the clothes that showed that I was very sad and given me clothes that showed that I was very joyful.
<sup>12</sup> So I will not be silent; I will sing out and praise you.
Yahweh, you are my God, and I will thank you forever.

31

A psalm written by David for the choir director

- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, I have come to you to be protected;
do not allow me to be defeated and
disgraced.
Since you always do what is fair,
rescue me!
<sup>2</sup> Listen to me, and save me right now!
Be like a huge rock on which I can be safe and like a strong fort in which I will be secure.

- <sup>3</sup> Yes, you are like my huge rock and my fort;
guide me and lead me because I worship you.
- <sup>4</sup> You are the one who protects me, so keep me from falling into the hidden traps that my enemies have set for me.
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh, you are a God whom I can trust, so I put myself into your care because you will rescue me.
- <sup>6</sup> Yahweh, I hate those who worship useless idols, but I trust in you.
- <sup>7</sup> I will be very glad because you faithfully love me.
- You see me when I have been afflicted, and you know when I have had troubles.
- <sup>8</sup> You have not allowed my enemies to capture me; instead, you have rescued me from danger.
- <sup>9</sup> But now, Yahweh, act kindly toward me because I am distressed. Because I cry so much, I cannot see well, and I am completely exhausted.
- <sup>10</sup> I have become very weak because I am so miserable; my life is getting shorter. I have become weak because of all my troubles; even my bones are becoming weaker.
- <sup>11</sup> All of my enemies make fun of me, and even my neighbors despise me. Even my friends are afraid of me because they think that you are punishing me. When they see me on the streets, they run away.
- <sup>12</sup> People have forgotten me like they forget people who are dead. They think I am as useless as a broken pot.
- <sup>13</sup> I have heard people slandering me, and they have terrified me. My enemies are making plans to kill me.
- <sup>14</sup> But Yahweh, I trust in you.

- I say confidently that you are the God I worship.
- <sup>15</sup> My whole life is in your hands; save me from my enemies, from those who pursue me.
- <sup>16</sup> Act kindly toward me and rescue me because you always faithfully love me.
- <sup>17</sup> Yahweh, I call out to you, so do not allow others to disgrace me.
- I wish that wicked people may be disgraced; I wish that they may go down to the place where the people are silent and dead.
- <sup>18</sup> I wish that you may cause people who tell lies to be unable to speak. Do that to people who are proud and to those who arrogantly accuse others.
- <sup>19</sup> You have stored up many great and good things to do for those who have great respect for you. You do good things for those who go to you to be protected; everyone sees you doing that.
- <sup>20</sup> You hide people in your presence where it is safe, and you protect them from others who plot to kill them. You hide them in safe places where their enemies cannot speak evil at them.
- <sup>21</sup> Praise Yahweh! When my enemies surrounded the city in which I was living, he showed me wonderfully that he faithfully loves me.
- <sup>22</sup> I was afraid and cried out in a hurry, "I have been separated from Yahweh!" but you heard me and answered my cry for help.
- <sup>23</sup> You people who belong to Yahweh, love him! He protects those who are loyal to him, but he punishes the proud; he punishes them severely as they deserve.
- <sup>24</sup> You who confidently expect Yahweh to do great things for you,

be strong and be courageous!

32

A psalm written by David, which will help people to be wise

- 1 Those whom God has forgiven for rebelling against him and those whose sin God does not look at, these are the ones who are truly fortunate!
- 2 Those whose record of sins Yahweh has erased and those who no longer do deceitful things, these are the ones who are truly fortunate!
- 3 When I did not confess my sins, my body was very weak and sick, and I groaned all day long.
- 4 Day and night, Yahweh, you punished me severely. My strength disappeared like water that evaporates on a hot summer day.
- 5 Then I confessed my sins to you; I stopped trying to hide them. I said to myself, "I will tell Yahweh the wrong things that I have done."
- When I confessed them, you forgave me, so now I am no longer guilty for my sins.
- 6 Therefore the people who honor you should pray to you when they are in great trouble. If they do that, difficulties will not come on them like a great flood.
- 7 You are like a place where I can hide from my enemies; you protect me from troubles and enable me to shout, praising you for saving me from my enemies.
- 8 Yahweh says to me, "I will instruct you about how you should conduct your life. I will teach you and watch over you."
- 9 Do not be stupid like horses and mules that do not understand anything; they need bits

so they will go in the direction you want them to go."

- 10 Wicked people will have many troubles that will make them sad, but those who trust in Yahweh will experience him faithfully loving them all the time.
- 11 So, all you righteous people, rejoice about what Yahweh has done for you; you whose heart are pure, be glad and shout joyfully!

33 You righteous people should shout joyfully to Yahweh because that is what he deserves.

- 2 Praise Yahweh as you play songs on the harp. Praise him as you play harps that have ten strings.
- 3 Sing a new song to him; play those instruments well, and shout joyfully as you play them.
- 4 Yahweh always does what he says that he will do; we can trust that everything that he does is right.
- 5 He loves everything that we do that is just and right. Yahweh helps people all over the earth because he always loves them.
- 6 Yahweh created everything in the sky by commanding it. By what he commanded, he created all the stars.
- 7 He gathered all the water into one huge mass like someone scoops liquid into a container.
- 8 Everyone on the earth should honor Yahweh; everyone on the earth should honor him.
- 9 When he spoke, he created the world. Everything started to exist when he commanded it to be.
- 10 Yahweh stops the other nations from doing the things they want to do. He prevents them from doing the evil things that they plan to do.
- 11 But what Yahweh decides to do will

- last forever.
What he plans to do will never change.
- <sup>12</sup> Yahweh blesses our nation, we who worship him;
How fortunate are we, the nation that belongs to him forever!
- <sup>13</sup> Yahweh looks down from heaven and sees all people.
- <sup>14</sup> From where he rules, he looks down on all the people who live on the earth.
- <sup>15</sup> He forms our inner beings, and he sees everything that we do.
- <sup>16</sup> It is not because a king has a great army that he is able to win battles, and it is not because a soldier is very strong that he is able to defeat his enemy.
- <sup>17</sup> It is foolish to think that because horses are very strong, they will be able to win a battle and save their riders.
- <sup>18</sup> Do not forget that Yahweh watches over those who honor him, those who confidently expect him to faithfully love them.
- <sup>19</sup> He saves them from dying before they should die; he preserves them when there is a famine.
- <sup>20</sup> We trust Yahweh to help us; he protects us as a shield protects a soldier.
- <sup>21</sup> We rejoice because of what he has done for us; we trust in him because he is holy.
- <sup>22</sup> Yahweh, we pray that you will always faithfully love us while we confidently expect you to do great things for us.
- <sup>34</sup> A psalm written by David when he pretended to be insane in front of King Abimelech so that the king would send him away
- <sup>1</sup> I will always thank Yahweh;
I will constantly praise him.
- <sup>2</sup> I will praise Yahweh for what he has done.
All those who are oppressed should listen to me and rejoice.
- <sup>3</sup> Join with me in telling others that Yahweh is great!
You and I should together proclaim how glorious he is!
- <sup>4</sup> I prayed to Yahweh, and he answered my prayer;
he rescued me from all those who caused me to be afraid.
- <sup>5</sup> Those who trust that he will help them will be joyful; they will never have to look down in disgrace.
- <sup>6</sup> I was miserable, but I called out to Yahweh, and he heard me. He rescued me from all my troubles.
- <sup>7</sup> An angel from Yahweh guards those who have an awesome respect for him, and the angel rescues them.
- <sup>8</sup> Try for yourself, and you will experience that Yahweh is good to you! How fortunate are those who trust him to protect them.
- <sup>9</sup> All you who belong to him, have an awesome respect for him! Those who do that will always have the things that they need.
- <sup>10</sup> Lions are usually very strong, but sometimes even young lions are hungry and become weak. However, those who trust in Yahweh will have everything that they need.
- <sup>11</sup> You who are my students, come and listen to me, and I will teach you how to have an awesome respect for Yahweh.
- <sup>12</sup> If any of you wants to enjoy life and have a good long life,
- <sup>13</sup> do not speak what is evil! Do not tell lies!
- <sup>14</sup> Refuse to do evil; instead, do what is good! Always try hard to enable people to live peacefully with each other!
- <sup>15</sup> Yahweh carefully watches over those who act righteously; he always responds to them when they call to him for help.
- <sup>16</sup> But Yahweh works against those who

- do what is evil.
After they die, people here on earth will forget them completely.
- <sup>17</sup> Yahweh hears righteous people when they call out to him;
he rescues them from all their
troubles.
- <sup>18</sup> Yahweh is always ready to help those who are discouraged;
he rescues those who have no hope
for anything good.
- <sup>19</sup> Righteous people may have many
troubles,
but Yahweh rescues them from all
those troubles.
- <sup>20</sup> Yahweh protects them from being harmed;
when their enemies attack them,
they will not break any bones
of those righteous people.
- <sup>21</sup> Disasters will kill the wicked people, and Yahweh will punish those who oppose righteous people.
- <sup>22</sup> Yahweh will save those who serve him.
He will not condemn those who trust in him.
- 35
- A psalm written by David
- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, fight against those who fight against me!
Fight with my enemies when they fight me!
- <sup>2</sup> Be like a shield to protect me
and come to help me!
- <sup>3</sup> Lift up your spear and throw it at those who pursue me!
Promise me that you will enable me
to defeat my enemies.
- <sup>4</sup> Those who are trying to kill me—make others disgrace and dishonor them.
Push back and confuse those who are planning to do evil things to me.
- <sup>5</sup> Send your angel to pursue them and to make them disappear like chaff that the wind blows away.
- <sup>6</sup> Cause the path on which they run to be dark and slippery
as your angel pursues them!
- <sup>7</sup> Although I did not do anything wrong
to them,
they dug a deep pit for me to fall
- into;
they hid a net in which they would
catch me.
- <sup>8</sup> Cause them to suddenly experience
disaster!
Cause their own nets to trap them.
Cause them to fall into the pits that they have dug for me, and make them die
in them!
- <sup>9</sup> Then I will rejoice in what you, Yahweh,
have done for me;
I will be glad that you have rescued
me.
- <sup>10</sup> With my whole inner being I will say,
"There is no one like Yahweh!
No one else can rescue helpless people
from powerful people.
No one else can rescue weak and needy people from those who want to rob them."
- <sup>11</sup> People who tell lies stand in court and accuse me of doing things that I do not know anything about.
- <sup>12</sup> In return for my doing good things for them, they do evil things to me, with the result that I feel that I am
alone.
- <sup>13</sup> When they were ill, I showed that I was sad.
I did not eat any food, and I bowed
my head as I prayed for them.
- <sup>14</sup> I mourned and bowed my head as I prayed
as though it were a friend or my mother for whom I was grieving.
- <sup>15</sup> But when I had troubles, they were all happy about it.
They unexpectedly gathered around to make fun of me.
Strangers kept striking me;
they would not stop.
- <sup>16</sup> People who respect no one ridiculed
me
and snarled at me.
- <sup>17</sup> Lord, how long will you only watch them doing this?
Rescue me from their attacks;
Save me from being killed by these men who are attacking me
as lions attack other animals!

- <sup>18</sup> Then, when many of your people gather,
I will praise you,
and I will thank you in front of all of them.
- <sup>19</sup> Do not allow my enemies, who tell lies about me, defeat me and then rejoice about it!
Do not allow those who hate me when there is no reason to hate me to laugh about how I suffer!
- <sup>20</sup> They do not speak peacefully to people; instead, they look for ways to tell lies about people in our land who do no harm to anyone.
- <sup>21</sup> They shout at me in order to accuse me; they say, "We saw the wrong things that you did!"
- <sup>22</sup> Yahweh, you have seen these things, so do not be silent!
Do not stay far from me!
- <sup>23</sup> Arise, my God, plead my case in court, and successfully defend me!
- <sup>24</sup> Yahweh, my God, because you are righteous, prove that I am innocent so that my enemies will not be able to gloat that I was judged to be guilty.
- <sup>25</sup> Do not allow them to be able to say to themselves, "Yes, we have gotten rid of him just like we desired!"
- <sup>26</sup> Cause those who rejoice about my misfortunes to be completely confused and disgraced; cause those who boast that they are much greater than I am to be disgraced and dishonored!
- <sup>27</sup> But cause those who desire that you declare me innocent to be happy and shout joyfully; cause them to always say, "Yahweh is great! He is delighted to cause things to go well for those who serve him."
- <sup>28</sup> Then I will proclaim that you act in

- the right way,
and I will praise you all the time.
- 36
A psalm written for the choir director by David, a man who served God faithfully
- <sup>1</sup> A continual desire to sin is in the inner beings of wicked people. They consider that they do not need to have an awesome respect for God.
- <sup>2</sup> Because they want to believe good things about themselves, they do not think that God knows and hates their sins.
- <sup>3</sup> Everything that they say is deceitful and full of lies; they no longer do what is good and are no longer wise.
- <sup>4</sup> While they are lying on their beds, they plan to do things to harm others; they are determined to do things that are not good, and they never refuse to do what is evil.
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh, your faithful love for us reaches as high as the heavens; your faithfulness in doing what you have promised extends up to the clouds.
- <sup>6</sup> Your righteous behavior is as permanent as the highest mountains; your acting justly will continue as long as the deepest oceans will continue.
You take care of people and you take care of animals.
- <sup>7</sup> God, your faithful love for us is very precious.
You protect us like birds protect their baby birds under their wings.
- <sup>8</sup> You provide for us plenty of food from the abundant supply that you have; your great gifts flow to us like a river.
- <sup>9</sup> You are the one who causes everything to live; your light is what enables us to know the truth about you.
- <sup>10</sup> Continue to faithfully love those who are faithful to you, and protect those who act righteously.

- <sup>11</sup> Do not allow proud people to attack me,
or allow wicked people to chase me away.
- <sup>12</sup> Look where evil people have fallen on the ground, defeated; they were thrown down, and they will never rise again.
- 37
- A psalm written by David
- <sup>1</sup> Do not be bothered by what wicked people do.
Do not desire to have the things that people who do wrong have
- <sup>2</sup> because they will soon disappear like grass withers in the hot sun and dries up.
Just like some green plants come up but die during the hot summer, evil people will soon die also.
- <sup>3</sup> Trust in Yahweh and do what is good. If you do that, then you will live safely in the land he has given you, and that land will be a place where you can be faithful to God as you live your lives.
- <sup>4</sup> Be delighted with all that Yahweh does for you; if you do that, he will give you the things that you desire most.
- <sup>5</sup> Commit to Yahweh all the things that you plan to do; trust in him, and he will do whatever is needed to help you.
- <sup>6</sup> He will show as clearly as the sunlight that you are innocent; he will show as clearly as the sun at noontime that all the things that you have decided are just.
- <sup>7</sup> Be quiet in Yahweh's presence and wait patiently for him to do what you want him to do. Do not be bothered when what evil men do is successful, when they are able to do the wicked things that they plan.
- <sup>8</sup> Do not be angry about what wicked people do.

- Do not want to punish them yourself.
- Do not be envious of such people because you will only harm yourself if you try to do that.
- <sup>9</sup> Someday Yahweh will get rid of wicked people, but those who trust in him will live safely in the land that he has given to them.
- <sup>10</sup> Soon the wicked will disappear. You will look for them, but they will be gone.
- <sup>11</sup> But those who are humble will live safely in their land. They will happily enjoy living peacefully and having the other good things that Yahweh gives them.
- <sup>12</sup> Wicked people plan to harm righteous people; they snarl at them like wild animals.
- <sup>13</sup> But Yahweh laughs at them because he knows that someday he will judge and punish the wicked people.
- <sup>14</sup> Wicked people pull out their swords and they put strings on their bows, ready to kill people who are poor and to slaughter those who live righteously.
- <sup>15</sup> But they will be killed by their own swords, and their bows will be broken.
- <sup>16</sup> It is good to be righteous even if you do not have many possessions, but it is bad to be wicked even if you are very wealthy
- <sup>17</sup> because Yahweh will completely remove the strength of wicked people, but he will sustain people who live righteously.
- <sup>18</sup> Day by day Yahweh protects those who have not done any evil things; the things that Yahweh gives them will last forever.
- <sup>19</sup> They will survive when calamities occur; when there are famines, they will still have plenty to eat.

- <sup>20</sup> But wicked people will die;
 just as the beautiful wild flowers in the fields die under the hot sun
 and disappear like smoke, Yahweh will cause his enemies to suddenly disappear.
- <sup>21</sup> The wicked people borrow money, but they are not able to repay it;
 righteous people, in contrast, have enough money to give generously to others.
- <sup>22</sup> Those whom Yahweh has blessed will live safely in the land that he has given to them,
 but he will get rid of those people whom he has cursed.
- <sup>23</sup> Yahweh protects those who do what is pleasing to him,
 and he will enable them to walk confidently wherever they go;
- <sup>24</sup> even if they stumble, they will not fall
 down
 because Yahweh holds them by his hand.
- <sup>25</sup> I was young previously, and now I am
 an old man,
 but in all those years, I have never seen that righteous people have been abandoned by Yahweh, nor have I seen that their children
 needed to beg for food.
- <sup>26</sup> Righteous people are generous and happily lend money to others,
 and their children are a blessing to
 them.
- <sup>27</sup> Turn away from doing evil, and do what is good.
 If you do that, you and your descendants will live in your land forever.
- <sup>28</sup> This will happen because Yahweh likes to see people doing what is just,
 and he will never forsake righteous
 people.
 He will protect them forever;
 but he will get rid of the children of wicked people.
- <sup>29</sup> Righteous people will own the land that Yahweh promised to give to
 them,
 and they will live there forever.

- <sup>30</sup> Righteous people give wise advice to others,
 and they encourage other people to live rightly.
- <sup>31</sup> They fill their minds with God's laws;
 they do not stray from walking on God's path.
- <sup>32</sup> Those who are evil wait in ambush for righteous people
 in order to kill them as they walk
 by.
- <sup>33</sup> But Yahweh will not abandon
 righteous people
 and let them fall into their enemies'
 hands.
 He will not allow righteous people to be condemned
 when someone takes them to a judge to be put on trial.
- <sup>34</sup> Be patient and trust that Yahweh will help you,
 and walk on his paths.
 If you do that, he will honor you by giving you the land that he promised,
 and when he gets rid of the wicked,
 you will see it happen.
- <sup>35</sup> I have seen that wicked people who act like tyrants sometimes prosper like trees that grow well in fertile soil, <sup>36</sup> but when I looked later, they were gone!
 I searched for them, but Yahweh
 had caused them to disappear.
- <sup>37</sup> Notice the people who have not done
 evil things, those who act righteously;
 their descendants will have peace in
 their inner beings.
- <sup>38</sup> But Yahweh will get rid of the wicked;
 he will also get rid of their descendants.
- <sup>39</sup> Yahweh rescues righteous people;
 in times of trouble he protects
 them.
- <sup>40</sup> Yahweh helps them and saves them;
 he rescues them from being attacked by wicked people because they go to him to be protected.
- 38
A psalm written by David, asking God not to forget him

- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, when you are angry with me,
do not rebuke me and punish me!
- <sup>2</sup> Now it is as though you have shot your arrows at me and wounded me;
it is as though you have struck me
and knocked me down.
- <sup>3</sup> Because you have been angry with me,
I am suffering great pain.
Because of my sin,
my whole body is diseased.
- <sup>4</sup> All my sins are like a flood that covers
my head;
they are like a load that is very heavy; I cannot carry them.
- <sup>5</sup> Because I have done foolish things,
I have sores that have become worse, and they stink.
- <sup>6</sup> Sometimes I am bent over, and sometimes I lie prostrate;
I mourn all day.
- <sup>7</sup> My body is burning with fever,
and I am very ill.
- <sup>8</sup> I am completely exhausted, and I have no strength.
I am very distressed in my inner being, and I groan with pain.
- <sup>9</sup> Yahweh, you know that I desire you to heal me;
you hear me while I am groaning.
- <sup>10</sup> My heart pounds heavily, and all my strength is gone.
I am no longer able to see well.
- <sup>11</sup> My friends and neighbors stay away
from me because of my sores;
even my own family stays far from
me.
- <sup>12</sup> Those who want to kill me set traps to
catch me;
those who want to harm me discuss the ways that they can get rid of
me;
they plot against me all day.
- <sup>13</sup> Now I act like a deaf man and do not listen to what they say.
I act like a man who cannot talk,
and I say nothing to reply to
them.
- <sup>14</sup> I act like a man who does not answer
when people talk to him
because he cannot hear anything.

- <sup>15</sup> But Yahweh, I trust in you.
My Lord God, you will answer me.
- <sup>16</sup> I said to you, "Do not cause me to die
so that my enemies will rejoice!
If troubles overwhelm me, my enemies will do very bad things
to me!"
- <sup>17</sup> I say that because I am about to fall
down,
and I constantly have pain.
- <sup>18</sup> I confess the wrong things that I have
done;
I am very sorry for the sins that I
have committed.
- <sup>19</sup> My enemies are healthy and strong;
there are many people who hate me
for no reason.
- <sup>20</sup> Those who do evil things to me in return for my doing good things to
them
oppose me because I try to do what is right.
- <sup>21</sup> Yahweh, do not abandon me!
My God, do not stay far from me!
- <sup>22</sup> Lord, you are the one who saves me;
Quickly come and help me!
- <sup>39</sup> A psalm written by David for Jeduthun, the choir director
- <sup>1</sup> I said to myself, "I will be careful not to sin by the things that I say.
I will not say anything to complain to
you
while wicked people are near to me
and can hear me."
- <sup>2</sup> So I was completely silent, and I did not even talk about things that were
good;
but it was useless because I began to suffer even more.
- <sup>3</sup> I became very anxious in my inner
being.
As I thought about my troubles, I became more worried.
Then finally I said this:
- <sup>4</sup> "Yahweh, show me how long I will live.
Tell me when I will die.
Tell me how many years I will live!"
- <sup>5</sup> It seems that you have caused me to live
only a short time;
my lifetime seems nothing to you.

- The time that all we humans live is as short as a puff of air.
- <sup>6</sup>Then we disappear like a shadow does.
It seems that all that we do is for
nothing.
- We sometimes get a lot of money,
but we do not even know who will get it after we die.
- <sup>7</sup>So now, Yahweh, I can expect to receive nothing from anyone else.
- You are the only one from whom I confidently expect to receive blessings.
- <sup>8</sup>Deliver me from the sins that I have committed.
- Do not allow foolish people to make fun of me.
- <sup>9</sup>I did not say anything when you punished me
because I knew that you were the one who caused me to suffer.
- <sup>10</sup>But now, please stop punishing me!
If you do not do that, I am about to die because of how you make me suffer.
- <sup>11</sup>When you rebuke someone and punish him for the sin that he has
committed,
you destroy the things he loves like
moths eat away at clothing.
Our lives disappear like a puff of air.
- <sup>12</sup>Yahweh, listen to me while I pray;
pay attention to me while I cry out
to you.
Help me while I am crying.
- I am here on the earth for only a short
time,
like all my ancestors.
- <sup>13</sup>Now please allow me to be alone and do not punish me anymore
so that I may smile and be happy
for a while before I die."

40

A psalm written by David for the choir director

- <sup>1</sup>I waited patiently for Yahweh to help
me,
and he listened to me when I called out to him.
- <sup>2</sup>When I had many troubles, it was as though I was in a deep pit.

- But he lifted me up out of the mud
and slime of that pit;
he set my feet on a solid rock
and enabled me to walk safely.
- <sup>3</sup>He has given me a new song to sing,
a song to praise him who is our
God.
- Many people will find out what he has done for me,
and they will revere and trust him.
- <sup>4</sup>How fortunate are those who trust Yahweh to protect them,
those who do not trust in idols
or join with those who worship
those false gods.
- <sup>5</sup>O Yahweh, my God, you have done
many wonderful things!
No one can list all the wonderful things that you have planned
for us.
- If I tried to tell others about all those wonderful things,
I would not be able to because there would be too many
for me to mention.
- <sup>6</sup>Sacrifices and other offerings are not the things that delight you most.
But you have enabled me to hear your commands.
- Animals burned on the altar and other offerings for our sins are not what you require most.
- <sup>7</sup>So I said to you, "Yahweh, here I am,
to obey the laws that have been written in the scroll,
things that you want me to do."
- <sup>8</sup>O my God, I enjoy doing what you desire;
I am always thinking about your laws within my inner being.
- <sup>9</sup>When all your people were gathered together,
I told them about how you do what is right and how you rescue us.
Yahweh, you know that I have not refused to tell that to them.
- <sup>10</sup>I have not kept within me the news
that you always act justly;
when many of your people have gathered together to worship
you,

I have told them that you are faithful to us and save us.

I have not concealed that you faithfully love us and act loyally toward us.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh, do not stop acting mercifully toward me.

Because you faithfully love me and are loyal to me, protect me always.

<sup>12</sup> I have many troubles; I cannot count them.

I am now suffering the things that happened because I sinned.

I can no longer see because of my tears.

The sins that I have committed are more than the hairs on my head.

I am very discouraged.

<sup>13</sup> O Yahweh, please save me!

Come quickly to help me!

<sup>14</sup> Humble those who are happy about my troubles, and cause them to be disgraced.

Chase away those who are trying to get rid of me.

<sup>15</sup> I hope that those who make fun of me will be dismayed when you defeat them.

<sup>16</sup> But I hope that all those who go to worship you will be very joyful.

I hope that those who love you because you saved them will shout repeatedly,

"Yahweh is great!"

<sup>17</sup> As for me, I am poor and needy, but I know that the Lord has not forgotten me.

O my God, you are the one who saves and helps me, so please come quickly and help me!

41

A psalm written by David for the choir director

<sup>1</sup> How fortunate are those who provide for the poor; Yahweh will rescue those people when they have troubles.

<sup>2</sup> Yahweh will protect them and allow them to live for a long time.

He will enable them to be happy in the land of Israel and will rescue them from their enemies.

<sup>3</sup> When they are sick, Yahweh will strengthen them and will heal them.

<sup>4</sup> When I was sick, I said, "Yahweh, act mercifully toward me and heal me; I know that I am sick because I have sinned against you."

<sup>5</sup> My enemies say cruel things about me; they say, "How soon will he die, and then everyone will forget about him?"

<sup>6</sup> When my enemies come to me, they pretend to be concerned about me. They eagerly listen to all the bad news about me.

Then they go away and tell everyone what is happening to me.

<sup>7</sup> All those who hate me whisper to others about me, and they hope that very bad things will happen to me.

<sup>8</sup> They say, "He will soon die because of his being sick; he will never get up from his bed before he dies."

<sup>9</sup> Even a very close friend, whom I trusted very much, who often ate with me, has betrayed me.

<sup>10</sup> But Yahweh, act mercifully to me, and enable me to become healthy again. When you do that, I will be able to pay back my enemies.

<sup>11</sup> If you enable me to do that, with the result that my enemies do not defeat me, I will know that you are pleased with me.

<sup>12</sup> I will know that it is because I have done what is right that you have helped me, and I will know that you will enable me to be with you forever.

Amen! I desire that it will be so!

Book Two

42

A psalm written by one of the descendants of Korah for the choir director

<sup>1</sup> O God, I need you very much as a deer needs to drink water from a cool stream.

I say to myself, "When will I be able to go back to the temple in Israel and worship in your presence again?"

<sup>3</sup> Every day and every night I weep; the only thing I have to drink is my tears;

and while I do that, my enemies are always asking me, "Why does your God not help you?"

<sup>4</sup> I pray earnestly to God as I remember when I used to go with the crowd of people to the temple in Jerusalem.

I used to lead them as we walked along;

we were all shouting joyfully and singing to thank God for what he had done; we were a large group who were celebrating.

<sup>5</sup> So now I say to myself, "Why am I in a panic?

I confidently expect God to bless me, and again I will praise him, my God, the one who saves me."

<sup>6</sup> But now, Yahweh, I was panicking, so I think about you.

You are there in Israel where the Jordan River rushes down from the bottom of the peaks of Mount Hermon and from Mount Mizar.

<sup>7</sup> But here, the great sorrow that I feel is like water that you send down; it is like a waterfall that tumbles down and floods over me.

<sup>8</sup> I desire that Yahweh will show me each day that he faithfully loves me, in order that each night I may sing to him and pray to him, the God who causes me to live.

<sup>9</sup> I say to God, who is like a huge rock on top of which I am safe, "Why have you forgotten me? You know the hardships that my enemies bring on me."

<sup>10</sup> They are always making fun of me; they keep asking, "Why does your God not help you?"

When they insult me like that, it is like wounds that shatter my bones.

I will confidently expect God to bless me, and I will praise him again, my God, the one who saves me."

<sup>43</sup> God, declare that I am innocent.

Defend me when people say things against me—those people who do not honor you!

Rescue me from people who deceive me and say things about me that are not true.

<sup>2</sup> You are God, the one who protects me; why have you abandoned me?

It does not seem right that I should always have to be sad because of my enemies acting cruelly toward me.

<sup>3</sup> Speak true words that help me to live.

Give a command that will allow me to go back to Zion, your sacred hill in Jerusalem,

and to your temple where you live.

<sup>4</sup> When you do that, I will go to your altar to worship you, my God, who causes me to be very joyful.

There I will praise you, the God whom I worship, and I will play my harp.

<sup>5</sup> So why am I sad and discouraged?

I confidently expect God to bless me, and again I will praise him, my God, the one who saves me.

<sup>44</sup>

A psalm written by one of the descendants of Korah for the choir director.

<sup>1</sup> God, we ourselves have heard

- what our parents and grandparents told us.
- They told us about the miracles that you performed long ago.
- <sup>2</sup> They told us how you expelled the ungodly people and enabled us to live in their land.
- They told us that you punished those ungodly people and enabled your own people to possess the land.
- <sup>3</sup> It was not by using their own swords that they conquered the people that lived in that land, and it was not by their own power that they were victorious; it was only by your power that they did those things; and they were sure that you were with them, showing that you were pleased with them.
- <sup>4</sup> You are my king and my God; Make us, your people, able to defeat our enemies.
- <sup>5</sup> It is by your power that we knock our enemies down and tramp on them.
- <sup>6</sup> I do not trust that I can save myself by using my bow and arrows and my sword.
- <sup>7</sup> No, it is you who have rescued us from our enemies; it is you who have caused those who hate us to become ashamed because they were defeated.
- <sup>8</sup> We have always been proud about what God has done for us, and we will thank him forever.
- <sup>9</sup> But now you have rejected us and caused us to be disgraced; when our armies march out to fight a battle, you no longer go with them.
- <sup>10</sup> You have caused us to run away from our enemies, with the result that they captured the things that belonged to us.
- <sup>11</sup> You have allowed us to become like sheep that were ready to be slaughtered; you scattered us far away among

- other nations.
- <sup>12</sup> It is as though you sold us, your people, to our enemies for a very small price, although you did not gain any profit from selling us!
- <sup>13</sup> People who live in nations near us make fun of us; they laugh at us and deride us.
- <sup>14</sup> They make jokes using the name of our country, they shake their heads to indicate that they despise us.
- <sup>15</sup> All day I am disgraced; from seeing my face, people know that I am ashamed.
- <sup>16</sup> I hear what those who sneer at me and revile me say; I am ashamed in front of my enemies and those who want to harm me.
- <sup>17</sup> All these things have happened to us even though we have not forgotten you, and we are not the ones who disobeyed the covenant you made with our ancestors.
- <sup>18</sup> We have not stopped being loyal to you, and we have not stopped doing what you want us to do.
- <sup>19</sup> But it is as though you have allowed us to be helpless among wild animals and you have abandoned us in a deep dark ravine.
- <sup>20</sup> If we had forgotten to worship our God, or if we had spread out our hands to worship a foreign god,
- <sup>21</sup> you certainly would have known that because you know even what we secretly think.
- <sup>22</sup> But it is because we belong to you that our enemies are constantly killing us.
- They act toward us as though we were only sheep that they were going to slaughter.
- <sup>23</sup> So Yahweh, arise! Why are you asleep? Get up! Do not reject us forever!
- <sup>24</sup> Why are you not looking at us?

Why are you forgetting that we are suffering, that our enemies are oppressing us?

<sup>25</sup> We are in complete panic; we cannot do anything; we are as good as dead.

<sup>26</sup> Do something! Come and help us! Rescue us because you love us as you promised to do.

45

A love song written by one of the descendants of Korah for the choir director, to be sung to the tune "Lilies."

<sup>1</sup> In my inner being I am aroused by something beautiful to write about, a song that I will sing to the king. The words of this song will be written by me, a skilled writer.

<sup>2</sup> O King, you are the most handsome man in the world, and you always speak eloquently! So we know that God has always blessed you.

<sup>3</sup> You who are a mighty warrior, put on your sword!

You are glorious and majestic.

<sup>4</sup> Ride on like a great king to defend the truth that you speak and the fair decisions that you make!

Because you fight in many battles, you will learn to do deeds that your enemies will fear.

<sup>5</sup> Your arrows are sharp, and they pierce the hearts of your enemies.

Soldiers of many nations will fall at your feet.

<sup>6</sup> The kingdom that God will give to you will remain forever.

You rule over people justly.

Therefore God, your God, has chosen you to be king and has caused you to be happier than any other king.

<sup>8</sup> The perfume of various spices is on your robes.

Musicians entertain you in ivory palaces

by playing stringed instruments.

At your right hand stands your bride, the queen, wearing beautiful ornaments of gold that comes from Ophir.

<sup>10</sup> Now I will say something to your bride:

"Listen to me carefully!

Forget the people who live in your home country, forget your relatives!

<sup>11</sup> Because you are very beautiful, the king will desire to be with you. He is your master, so you must obey him.

<sup>12</sup> The people from the city of Tyre will bring gifts to you; their rich people will try to persuade you to do favors for them.

<sup>14</sup> O king, while she is wearing a gown that has many colors, her woman servants will lead her to you.

She will have many other young women who accompany her.

<sup>15</sup> They will be very joyful as they are led along to enter your palace.

<sup>16</sup> Someday, your sons and your grandsons will become kings, just as your ancestors were.

You will enable them to become rulers in many countries.

<sup>17</sup> As for me, I will enable people in every generation to remember the great things that you have done, and people will praise you forever.

46

A psalm written by one of the descendants of Korah for the choir director.

<sup>1</sup> God is the one who protects us and causes us to be strong; he is always ready to help us when we have troubles.

<sup>2</sup> So, even if the earth shakes,

- we will not be afraid.
 Even if the mountains fall into the middle of the sea, <sup>3</sup> and if the water in the sea roars and foams,
 and if the hills shake violently,
 we will not be afraid!
- <sup>4</sup> Blessings that come from God are like a river that makes everyone in the city joyful, there where we worship him. It is the city where the temple of God, who is greater than any other god, exists.
- <sup>5</sup> God is in this city, and it will never be destroyed; he will come to help the people in that city at dawn every day.
- <sup>6</sup> Sometimes the people of many nations are terrified; kingdoms are overthrown; God speaks loudly like thunder, and the earth melts.
- <sup>7</sup> But Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, is with us; the God whom Jacob worshiped is our refuge.
- <sup>8</sup> Come and see the things that Yahweh does! Come and see the things he has destroyed all over the earth.
- <sup>9</sup> He stops wars all over the world; he breaks bows and arrows; he destroys spears; he burns up shields.
- <sup>10</sup> God says, "Be quiet and remember that I am God! People of all nations will honor me. People all over the earth will honor me."
- <sup>11</sup> So never forget that Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, is with us; the God whom Jacob worshiped is our refuge.
- 47
A psalm written by one of the descendants of Korah for the choir director
- <sup>1</sup> You people all over the world, clap your hands!
 Shout joyfully to praise God!
- <sup>2</sup> Yahweh, who is much greater than any

- other god, is awesome; he is a king who rules over all the world!
- <sup>3</sup> He enabled us to defeat the armies of the people groups that lived in Canaan.
- <sup>4</sup> He chose for us this land where we now live; we Israelite people, whom he loves, are proud that we own this land.
- <sup>5</sup> God has gone up into his temple. The people shouted joyfully and blew trumpets as he went up.
- <sup>6</sup> Sing songs to praise our God! Sing to praise him! Sing to God, our king!
- <sup>7</sup> God is the one who rules over everything in the world; sing a psalm to him!
- <sup>8</sup> God sits on his sacred throne as he rules over the people of all ethnic groups.
- <sup>9</sup> The rulers of those people groups gather in front of God's people, the people descended from Abraham. God has more power than the weapons of all the kings on the earth; he is great, and all people everywhere will honor him.
- 48
A psalm written by one of the descendants of Korah
- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh is great, and he deserves to be greatly praised in the city where he lives, which is built on Zion, his sacred hill.
- <sup>2</sup> That city on a high hill is beautiful; it is the city where the true God, the great king, lives, and it causes people all over the world to rejoice when they see it.
- <sup>3</sup> God is in the strong towers there, and he shows that he protects the people in that city.
- <sup>4</sup> Many kings gathered with their armies to attack our city,
- <sup>5</sup> but when they saw it, they were amazed; they became terrified, and ran away.

<sup>8</sup>We had heard that this city was glorious, and now we have seen that it is.
It is the city in which Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, lives.
It is the city that God will preserve forever.
<sup>9</sup>God, here in your temple we think about how you love us as you promised to do.
<sup>10</sup>People all over the earth will praise you because you rule powerfully and justly.
The people in all the cities of Judah should rejoice because you judge people fairly.
<sup>12</sup>You Israelite people should walk around Mount Zion and count the towers there;
<sup>13</sup>notice the walls there and examine their strongest parts so that you can tell your children about them.
<sup>14</sup>Say to your children, "This is the city of our God, the one who lives forever; he will guide us during all of our lives."

49

A psalm written by one of the descendants of Korah for the choir director.

<sup>1</sup>You people of all people groups, listen! You people all over the world, <sup>2</sup>important people and unimportant people, rich people and poor people, everyone, listen to what I am saying.
<sup>3</sup>For what I am thinking is very sensible, and what I say will enable you to become wise.
<sup>4</sup>I think about wise words to tell you, and while I play my harp, I explain what they mean.

<sup>5</sup>I do not worry when I am in trouble, when I am surrounded by my enemies.
<sup>6</sup>These are evil men who trust that things will always go well for them because they are wealthy and who boast about being very rich.
<sup>7</sup>They may be rich, but no one can pay God money so that he can live forever! No one can pay God enough so that God will allow him to continue to live <sup>8</sup>because that cost is too much, and he will never be able to pay enough.
<sup>9</sup>No one can pay God enough money so that he will live forever and never die and be buried!
<sup>10</sup>We see that foolish and stupid people die, but we see that wise people also die; they all leave their wealth, and others inherit it.
<sup>11</sup>They once had houses on land that they owned, but now their graves are their homes forever, the place where they will stay for all time!
<sup>12</sup>Even if people are great, that cannot prevent them from dying; people all die, the same as the animals do.
<sup>13</sup>That is what happens to those who foolishly trust in what they have accomplished, to those who are delighted in all that they possess.
<sup>14</sup>They are certain to die just like sheep when a shepherd leads them away to be slaughtered. In the morning the righteous people will rule over them, and then those wealthy people will die and their bodies will quickly decay in their graves; they will be where dead people are, far from their homes.
<sup>15</sup>But it is certain that God will rescue me so that I am not held fast in the place of the dead;

he will take me to himself.

<sup>16</sup> So do not be dismayed when someone becomes rich and the houses where they live become more and more luxurious;

<sup>17</sup> for when he dies, he will take nothing with him;
his wealth will not go with him.

<sup>18</sup> While a rich person is alive, he congratulates himself,
and people praise him for being successful,

<sup>19</sup> but he will die and join his ancestors, who will never see daylight again.

<sup>20</sup> Even if someone is great, that cannot prevent him from dying;
he will die, the same as the animals do.

A psalm written by Asaph

<sup>3</sup> Our God comes to us, and he is not silent. A great fire is in front of him, and a storm is around him.

<sup>4</sup> He comes to judge his people. He shouts to the angels in heaven and to the people on the earth.

<sup>5</sup> He says, "Summon those who faithfully worship me, those who made a covenant with me by offering sacrifices to me."

<sup>7</sup> God says, "My people, listen! You Israelite people, listen, as I, your God, say what you have done that is wrong.

<sup>8</sup> I am not rebuking you for making sacrifices to me, for the offerings that you always burn on the altar for me.

your barns and the goats from your pens that you sacrifice,

<sup>10</sup> because all the animals in the forest belong to me, and all the cattle on a thousand hills also belong to me.

<sup>11</sup> I know and own all the birds in the mountains, and all the creatures that move around in the fields.

<sup>12</sup> So if I were hungry, I would not tell you to bring me some food because everything in the world belongs to me!

<sup>13</sup> I do not eat the flesh of the bulls that you sacrifice, and I do not drink the blood of the goats that you offer to me.

<sup>14</sup> The sacrifice that I really want is that you thank me and do all that you have promised to do.

<sup>15</sup> Pray to me when you have troubles. If you do that, I will rescue you, and then you will praise me.

<sup>16</sup> But I say this to the wicked people: Why do you recite my commandments or talk about the covenant that I made with you?

<sup>17</sup> For you have refused to allow me to discipline you, and you have rejected what I told you to do.

<sup>18</sup> Every time that you see a thief, you become his friend, and you spend much time with those who commit adultery.

<sup>21</sup> You did all those things, and I did not say anything to you, so you thought that I was a sinner just like you.

But now I rebuke you and accuse you, right in front of you.

<sup>22</sup> So, all you who have ignored me, pay attention to this, because if you do not, I will tear you to pieces, and there will be no one to rescue you.

<sup>23</sup> The sacrifice that truly honors me is to thank me for what I have done; and I will save those who always do the things that I want them to."

51

A psalm written by David for the choir director, concerning the time when the prophet Nathan rebuked David after he had committed adultery with Bathsheba.

<sup>1</sup> O God, act mercifully toward me because you love me faithfully; because you are very merciful, forget the ways that I disobeyed you!

<sup>2</sup> Make me acceptable to you again, even though I did wrong things; forgive the guilt of my sin and accept me.

<sup>3</sup> I say that because I know the ways that I have disobeyed you; I cannot forget them.

<sup>4</sup> You, you only, are the one I that have really sinned against, and you have seen the evil things that I have done.

When you say that I am guilty, you are right, and when you judge me, you justly say that I deserve to be punished.

<sup>5</sup> I have been a sinner since the day that I was born; truly, I have been like that since my mother conceived me.

<sup>6</sup> What you desire is that in my inner being I desire what is true in order that you can teach me in my inner being how to act wisely.

<sup>7</sup> Forgive the guilt of my sins, and after that happens, I will be completely acceptable to you; if you forgive me, then I will be absolutely right with you.

<sup>8</sup> Allow me to rejoice again;

you have made me immeasurably sad,

but now let me rejoice again.

<sup>9</sup> Do not continue to remember the sins that I have committed; forget the evil things that I have done.

<sup>10</sup> O God, make me want to do the things that you approve of. Make me want to do only what is right.

<sup>11</sup> Do not reject me as one of your people, and do not make your holy Spirit leave me.

<sup>12</sup> Make me happy again by rescuing me from my guilt, and always help me by making me sincerely want to obey you.

<sup>13</sup> If you do that, I will teach other sinners what you want them to do; they will repent and obey you.

<sup>14</sup> O God, you are the one who saves me; forgive me for being guilty of causing someone who was not my enemy to die.

When you do that, I will sing joyfully about your being very good and righteous.

<sup>15</sup> O Yahweh, help me to speak in order that I may praise you.

<sup>16</sup> When people only bring sacrifices to you, that does not please you. If that were enough to please you, I would do the same.

But you are not pleased with burnt offerings alone.

<sup>17</sup> The sacrifice that you really want is for people to be truly humble and sorry for having sinned.

O God, you will not refuse that kind of sacrifice.

<sup>18</sup> O God, be good to the people who live in Jerusalem; make them able to rebuild the city walls.

<sup>19</sup> When that happens, they will bring you the proper sacrifices: normal animal sacrifices and sacrifices to be completely burned.

They will burn young bulls on your altar,

and you will be pleased.

A psalm written by David for the choir director when Doeg went to Saul and said, "David has gone to talk with Ahimelech, the high priest."

- <sup>1</sup> You proud man, you think that you are strong;
you boast about the trouble that you make for others,
but God faithfully protects people from you every day.
- <sup>2</sup> All during the day you plan to get rid of others;
what you say is like a sharp blade,
and you are always deceiving others.
- <sup>3</sup> You like doing what is evil more than you like doing what is good,
and you like telling lies more than you like telling the truth.
- <sup>4</sup> You, the one who says things to deceive people,
you like to say things that hurt people!

<sup>5</sup> But God will get rid of you forever;
he will grab you and drag you from your home
and take you away from this world where people are alive.

<sup>6</sup> When righteous people see that, they will be awestruck, and they will laugh at what happened to you, and say,

<sup>7</sup> "Look what happened to the man who would not ask God to protect him;
he trusted that his great wealth would save him;
he grew more powerful by wickedly hurting other people."

<sup>8</sup> But I am secure because I worship in God's temple;

I am like a strong green olive tree.
I trust in God, who faithfully loves us forever.

<sup>9</sup> God, I will always thank you for everything you have done.
I will wait patiently because you are so good,
especially when I stand before your faithful people.

53

A psalm written by David for the choir director, to be sung using a tune called "Mahalath."

<sup>1</sup> Only foolish people say to themselves,
"There is no God!"

People who say that are corrupt; they commit terrible sins;
there is not one of them who does what is good.

<sup>2</sup> God looks down from heaven and sees humans;
he looks to see if any man is very wise and seeks to know God.

<sup>3</sup> But everyone has turned away from God. They are depraved and do disgusting, filthy things.
No one does what is good.

<sup>4</sup> Will all these evil people never learn what God will do to them?

They hurt Yahweh's people with terrible violence. They had no guilt in what they did. They had the same expression on their faces as people eating bread at dinner.

And what is worse is that they never prayed to Yahweh.

<sup>5</sup> But someday those people will become very terrified,
although they have nothing to fear.

For God will cause those who attack you to die,
and he will scatter their bones.

They have rejected God,
so he will cause them to be defeated and completely disgraced.

<sup>6</sup> I wish that God would come and rescue the Israelite people!
God, when you bless your people again,
all the Israelite people, all the descendants of Jacob, will rejoice.

54

A psalm written by David for the choir director, to be accompanied by stringed instruments; it was written when the people of Ziph went to Saul and told him that David was hiding in their area.

<sup>1</sup> God, by your power save me from my enemies, and show people that I have not done anything that is wrong!

<sup>2</sup> God, listen to my prayer;

listen to what I say to you <sup>3</sup>because strangers are trying to attack
 me;
 proud men are wanting to kill me,
 men who have no respect for you.
<sup>4</sup>But God is the one who helps me; Yahweh defends me from my
 enemies.
<sup>5</sup>He will cause the evil things that they want to do to me to happen to them instead;
 because you faithfully do what you have promised to me, destroy
 them.
<sup>6</sup>Yahweh, I will gladly give an offering to you because I want to,
 and I will thank you, for you are good to me;
<sup>7</sup>you have rescued me from all my
 troubles,
 and I have seen that you have defeated my enemies.

55

A psalm written by David for the choir director,
 to be accompanied by stringed instruments

 and do not turn away from me
 while I am pleading with you.
<sup>2</sup>Listen to me and answer me because I am overwhelmed by all my troubles.
<sup>3</sup>My enemies terrify me;
 wicked people oppress me.
 They cause me to have great
 troubles;
 they are angry with me, and they hate me.
<sup>4</sup>I am terrified,
 and I am very much afraid that I
 will die.
<sup>5</sup>I am very fearful and I tremble;
 I am completely terrified.
<sup>6</sup>I said, "I wish that I had wings like a dove!
 If I had wings, I would fly away and find a place to rest.
<sup>7</sup>I would fly far away
 and live in the wilderness.
<sup>8</sup>I would quickly find a safe place where my enemies could not strike me like a strong wind and rainstorm."

<sup>9</sup>Lord, confuse my enemies and cause
 their plans to fail.
 I saw them hurting others by their violence and causing riots
 throughout the city.
<sup>10</sup>During each day and night they march around on top of its walls, committing crimes and causing trouble.
<sup>11</sup>They destroy things everywhere.
 They oppress people and defraud
 people in the marketplaces.
<sup>12</sup>If it were an enemy who was making
 fun of me,
 I could endure it.
 If it were someone who hates me, who
 despises me,
 I could hide from him.
<sup>13</sup>But it is someone who is just like me,
 my companion,
 someone who was my friend who is doing this to me.
<sup>14</sup>We previously had many good talks
 together;
 we walked around together in God's temple.
<sup>15</sup>I desire that my enemies will go down
 alive
 to the place where the dead people are.
 I want this because they do evil
 things in their homes.
<sup>16</sup>But I will ask Yahweh, my God, to help
 me,
 and he will save me.
<sup>17</sup>Each morning, noontime, and evening
 I tell him what I am concerned about, and I moan,
 and he hears my voice.
<sup>18</sup>He saves my life and makes me safe
 when I am fighting a terrible battle against my enemies.
 There are many enemies coming to fight against me!
<sup>19</sup>God is the one who has ruled everything forever,
 and he will put those who fought against me in their place.
 He will cause my enemies to be defeated and disgraced

because they do not change their evil behavior and because they do not have any respect for God.

<sup>20</sup> My companion, whom I mentioned previously, betrayed his friends and broke the agreement that he made with them.

<sup>21</sup> What he said was as easy to listen to as butter is easy to swallow, but in his inner being he hated people; his words were as soothing as olive oil, but they hurt people as sharp swords do.

<sup>22</sup> Put your troubles in Yahweh's hands, and he will take care of you; he will never allow disaster to destroy righteous people.

<sup>23</sup> God, you will cause murderers and liars to die before they have lived half as long as they expect to live; but as for me, I will trust in you.

56

A psalm written by David for the choir director, concerning the time the Philistines seized David in Gath; to be sung using the tune "Dove on distant oaks."

<sup>1</sup> God, act mercifully toward me because men are attacking me! All day long an enemy presses closer and closer to me because they want to take my life.

<sup>2</sup> All day long my enemies seek to crush the life from me, there are many enemies attacking me!

<sup>3</sup> But whenever I am afraid, I trust in you.

<sup>4</sup> God, I praise you because you do what you have promised; I trust in you, and then I am not afraid.

Ordinary humans certainly cannot harm me!

<sup>5</sup> All day long my enemies claim that I said things that I did not say; they are always thinking of ways to harm me.

<sup>6</sup> In order to cause trouble for me, they hide

and watch everything that I do, waiting for an opportunity to kill me.

<sup>7</sup> So, God, punish them for the wicked things that they are doing; show that you are angry by defeating those people!

<sup>8</sup> You have counted all the times that I have been wandering alone; it is as though you have put all my tears in a bottle so that you can see how much I have cried.

You have counted my tears and written the number in your book.

<sup>9</sup> When I call out to you, my God, my enemies will be defeated; I know that will happen because you are fighting for me.

<sup>10</sup> I praise you that you do what you have promised; Yahweh, I will always praise you for that.

<sup>11</sup> I trust in you, and as a result, I will not be afraid.

I know that humans cannot really harm me!

<sup>12</sup> I will bring to you the offering that I promised; I will bring an offering to you to thank you

<sup>13</sup> because you have rescued me from being killed; you have kept me from stumbling. And so I will continue to live with God every day in his light that gives me life.

57

A psalm written by David for the choir director, when David went into a cave to escape from Saul; to be sung using the tune "Do not destroy."

<sup>1</sup> God, act mercifully toward me! Act mercifully toward me because I am coming to you to protect me.

I request you to protect me as little birds are protected under their mother's wings until the storm is ended.

<sup>2</sup> God, you who are greater than all other gods,

- I cry out to you, the one who enables me to be all that you desire.
- <sup>3</sup> You will answer me from heaven and
rescue me,
but you will cause those who oppress me to be defeated and
disgraced!
- God will always faithfully love me
as he has promised me.
- <sup>4</sup> Sometimes I am surrounded by my enemies, who are as ready to kill me
as lions are to kill people;
they are like lions that chew to bits
the animals that they kill.
- But my enemies are human, and they have spears and arrows, not teeth;
they say false things about me.
- <sup>5</sup> God, show in the heavens that you are
very great!
Show your glory to people all over
the earth!
- <sup>6</sup> It is as if my enemies have spread a net
to seize me,
and I became very distressed.
It is as if they have dug a deep pit along the path where I walk,
but they themselves fell into it!
- <sup>7</sup> God, I am very confident in you.
I will sing to you,
and I will praise you while I sing.
- <sup>8</sup> It is an honor to wake up and praise
you.
I will arise before the sun rises and praise you while I play my big harp or my lyre.
- <sup>9</sup> Lord, I will thank you among all the
people;
and I will sing songs of praise about you
to many people groups.
- <sup>10</sup> For your love for us is as great as the distance from the earth to
the sky,
and your faithfulness to us goes up to the clouds.
- <sup>11</sup> God, show in the heavens that you are
very great!
Show your glory to people all over
the earth!

To be sung using the tune "Do not destroy."

- <sup>1</sup> When you rulers speak, you never say
what is right;
you people never justly decide disputes.
- <sup>2</sup> No, in your inner beings you think only about doing what is wrong,
and you commit violent crimes everywhere in this land of Israel.
- <sup>3</sup> Wicked people do wrong things and tell lies from the time that they are born.
- <sup>4</sup> What wicked people say injures people
like the venom of a snake.
They refuse to listen to commands;
it is as though they were deaf
cobras.
- <sup>5</sup> As a result, like a snake that does not respond when a charmer plays a flute or when someone sings magic songs, they do not pay attention when others rebuke them.
- <sup>6</sup> God, as for these enemies who want to attack me like young lions,
break the teeth in their mouths!
- <sup>7</sup> Cause them to disappear as water disappears in dry ground!
Cause the arrows that they shoot to have no heads!
- <sup>8</sup> Cause them to become like snails that disappear in the slime;
cause them to be like a baby that is born dead!
- <sup>9</sup> I hope that you will get rid of them
as fast as thornbushes are blown away after they are cut.
- <sup>10</sup> People who do what is right will rejoice
when they see God punish the
wicked people;
they will wash their feet in the blood of wicked people.
- <sup>11</sup> Then people will say, "It is true that there is a reward for righteous people;
and there is indeed a God who judges people justly here on the earth!"
- 59
- A psalm written by David for the choir director, when Saul, wanting to kill David, sent men to watch David's house.
- <sup>1</sup> God, save me from my enemies!

- Protect me from those who want to attack me!
- <sup>2</sup> Keep me safe from men who want to do what is wicked, from men who are murderers!
- <sup>3</sup> Look! They are waiting to kill me! Fierce men have gathered to assault me.
- Yahweh, they are doing that even though I have not done what is wrong!
- <sup>4</sup> It is not because I have committed any sin against them that they run and get ready to attack me. Please look at my situation and help me.
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh my God, commander of the angel armies, the one we Israelites worship, arise and punish the people of all the nations who do not honor you; do not act mercifully toward those wicked people who have acted treacherously toward us.
- <sup>6</sup> They return each evening, snarling like vicious dogs as they prowl around this city.
- <sup>7</sup> They loudly say terrible things; they say things that destroy as much as swords do, because they are saying, "No one will hear us!"
- <sup>8</sup> But Yahweh, you laugh at them. You scoff at the people of the pagan nations.
- <sup>9</sup> God, I have confidence in you because you are very strong; you are my refuge.
- <sup>10</sup> Because you love me, you will come to save me as you have promised; you will allow me to watch while you defeat my enemies.
- <sup>11</sup> But do not kill them immediately; it is good that my people should not forget how you punished them!
- Instead, Lord, you who are like a shield that protects us, scatter them by your power, and then defeat them.
- <sup>12</sup> Because what they say is sinful,

- allow them to be trapped for being proud.
- Because they are always cursing and telling lies,
- <sup>13</sup> because you are angry, get rid of them; destroy them completely so that people will know that you rule over us, your Israelite people, and that you rule over all the earth.
- <sup>14</sup> They return each evening, snarling like vicious dogs as they prowl around this city.
- <sup>15</sup> They roam around, searching for food and if they do not find enough, they growl like dogs.
- <sup>16</sup> But as for me, I will sing about your power; every morning I will sing joyfully about your faithfully loving us. I will sing about how you protected me when I was very distressed.
- <sup>17</sup> God, you are the one who enables me to be strong; you are my refuge; you faithfully love me, just as you have promised in your covenant.
- 60
- A psalm written by David for the choir director, a psalm for teaching, to be sung using the tune "Lily of the promise." David wrote it during the wars in northern Syria, and when Joab's army, after returning from the battle, killed twelve thousand of the Edom people group in Salt Valley.
- <sup>1</sup> I prayed, "God, you have rejected us Israelites! Because you have been angry with us, you have enabled our enemies to break through our ranks. Please enable us to be strong again!"
- <sup>2</sup> It was as though you made a big earthquake in which the ground split open. So now, make us strong again, because it is as though our country is falling apart.
- <sup>3</sup> You have caused us, your people, to suffer very much; it is as though you had taken away

our strength by making us drink strong wine.

<sup>4</sup> But you have raised a battle flag for those who honor you. They will show your banner when they face the enemies' arrows.

<sup>5</sup> Answer our prayers and enable us by your power to defeat our enemies so that we, the people you love, will be saved."

<sup>6</sup> Then God answered my prayer and spoke from his temple, saying, "Because I have conquered your enemies, I will divide the city of Shechem, and I will distribute among my people the land in Succoth Valley.

<sup>7</sup> The region of Gilead is mine; the people of the tribe of Manasseh are mine; the tribe of Ephraim is like my helmet; and the tribe of Judah is like the scepter with which I rule.

<sup>8</sup> The region of Moab is like my washbasin; I throw my sandal into the region of Edom to show that it belongs to me; I shout triumphantly because I have defeated the people of all the region of Philistia.

<sup>9</sup> Because I want to defeat the people of Edom, who will lead my army to their capital city that has strong walls around it?"

<sup>10</sup> So, God, it seems that you have truly abandoned us; it seems that you do not go with us when our armies march out to fight our enemies.

<sup>11</sup> We need you to help us when we fight against our enemies because the help that humans can give us is worthless.

<sup>12</sup> But with you helping us, we will win; you will enable us to defeat our enemies.

and answer my prayer.

<sup>2</sup> While I am discouraged and far from my home, I am calling out to you. Lead me to a place that will be like a high rock on top of which I will be safe.

<sup>3</sup> You have been my refuge; you have been like a strong tower in which my enemies cannot attack me.

<sup>4</sup> Allow me to live close to your sacred tent all during my life! Allow me to be safe as a little bird is safe under its mother's wings.

<sup>5</sup> God, you heard me when I solemnly promised to give offerings to you; you have given to me the blessings that belong to those who have an awesome respect for you.

<sup>6</sup> I am the king of Israel; please allow me to live and rule for many years, and allow my descendants to rule also.

<sup>7</sup> Allow us to rule forever while you observe us; watch over us while you faithfully love us and do for us what you promised.

<sup>8</sup> If you do that, I will always sing to praise you while I offer to you each day the sacrifices that I promised to give to you.

<sup>1</sup> God is the only one who can give me peace in my inner being, and he is the one who saves me from my enemies.

<sup>2</sup> Only he is like a huge rock on which I can be safe; he is like a fortress high up that my enemies cannot climb.

<sup>3</sup> When will you, my enemies, stop attacking me? I feel that I am as weak against you as a leaning wall or a broken-down fence.

- <sup>4</sup> My enemies plan to remove me from my important position so that people no longer honor me.
 They delight in telling lies.
 They bless people by what they say, but in their inner beings they curse those people.
- <sup>5</sup> God is the only one who gives me peace in my inner being; he is the one whom I confidently expect to help me.
- <sup>6</sup> Only he is like a huge rock on which I can be safe; he is like a shelter; my enemies can never reach me there.
- <sup>7</sup> God is the one who saves me and honors me.
 He is like a huge, strong rock on which I can find shelter.
- <sup>8</sup> You my people, always trust in him. Tell him all your troubles because we go to him for safety.
- <sup>9</sup> People who are considered to be unimportant are as unreliable as a breath of air;
 people who are considered to be important also really amount to nothing.
 If you put them all on a scale, it would be as if they weighed less than a puff of air.
- <sup>10</sup> Do not trust in money gained by extorting it from others; do not try to gain anything by robbing others.
 If you become very wealthy, do not trust in your money.
- <sup>11</sup> I have heard God say more than once that he is the one who really has power,
- <sup>12</sup> and that he is the one who faithfully loves us, as he promised. He rewards every one of us according to the deeds that we do.

A psalm written by David when he was in the wilderness in Judah.

- <sup>1</sup> God, you are the God whom I worship. I greatly desire to be with you as a person in a dry hot wilderness

- greatly desires some water.
<sup>2</sup> I have been with you in your temple In order to see that you are loving and powerful.
<sup>3</sup> You always love me, as you promised in your covenant; this is worth more than my entire life, so I will always praise you.
<sup>4</sup> I will praise you all the time that I live; I will lift up my hands to you while I pray.
<sup>5</sup> You fill me up and you meet every need I have.
 My response to you is much like when I eat a delicious banquet of rich foods and the food fills me.
 I will have great happiness when I praise you with the words that I speak about you.
<sup>6</sup> While I lie on my bed, I think about you.
 I think about you all during the night.
<sup>7</sup> For you have always helped me, and I sing joyfully knowing that you protect me as a bird protects her young under her wings.
<sup>8</sup> I follow you closely, and your hand protects me.
<sup>9</sup> But those who are trying to kill me will die and descend into the place of the dead;
<sup>10</sup> they will be killed in battles and their corpses will be eaten by dogs.
<sup>11</sup> But I, the king of Israel, will rejoice in what God has done; and all those who ask God to confirm their word will praise him, but he will not allow liars to say anything.

A psalm written by David for the choir director.

- <sup>1</sup> God, listen to me as I tell you the things about which I am worried. I am afraid of my enemies; please save me from them.
<sup>2</sup> Protect me from what wicked men are planning to do to me;

- protect me from that group of men who do what is evil.
- <sup>3</sup> The hostile things they say are like sharp swords;
their cruel words are like arrows.
- <sup>4</sup> They are not afraid of anyone; they lie about people and slander those who have done no wrong.
They are like someone who suddenly jumps up from where he is hiding and shoots arrows at his enemies.
- <sup>5</sup> They encourage each other about doing the evil things that they are planning to do;
they talk with each other about where they can set traps to catch people.
They say, "No one will see what we are doing
- <sup>6</sup> because we have planned very well the things that we are going to do."
What people can think and plan in their inner beings is truly amazing!
- <sup>7</sup> But it will be as though God will shoot his arrows at them,
and suddenly they will be wounded.
- <sup>8</sup> Because what they say proves they are guilty, God will get rid of them.
Everyone who sees what has happened to them will shake their heads to mock them.
- <sup>9</sup> Then everyone will be afraid to sin because of what might happen to them also;
they will tell others what God has done,
and they themselves will think much about it.
- <sup>10</sup> Righteous people should rejoice because of what Yahweh has done;
they should go to him to find refuge;
and all those who honor him will praise him.

A psalm written by David for the choir director.

<sup>1</sup> God, it is right for us to praise you in Jerusalem

- and to do what we have promised you that we would do
- <sup>2</sup> because you answer our prayers.
People everywhere will come to you
- <sup>3</sup> Our many sins are like a very heavy burden to us, but you forgive us.
- <sup>4</sup> How fortunate are those whom you have chosen to always be in your temple courtyards.
We will be satisfied with all the blessings that you will give us because we worship you in your sacred temple.
- <sup>5</sup> God, when we pray to you, you answer us and save us by doing awesome deeds;
you are the one who rescues us;
people who live in very remote places on the earth, on the other side of the oceans, trust in you.
- <sup>6</sup> You are the one who put the mountains in their places, showing that you are very powerful.
- <sup>7</sup> You are the one who calms the seas when they roar,
and stop the waves from pounding on the shore;
you also calm people when they cause a lot of trouble.
- <sup>8</sup> People who live in very remote places on the earth are awed by the miracles that you perform;
because of what you do, people who live far to the west and far to the east shout joyfully.
- <sup>9</sup> You take care of the soil and send rain, causing many good things to grow;
you fill the streams with water and cause grain to grow.
This is what you have determined would happen.
- <sup>10</sup> You send plenty of rain on the fields that have been plowed,
and you fill the furrows with water.
With showers you soften the hard clods of soil,
and you bless the soil by causing young plants to grow.
- <sup>11</sup> Because you bless the soil, there are very good crops at harvest season;

wherever you have gone, good crops are very abundant.

- <sup>12</sup> The pastures in the wilderness are wet
with the morning dew,
it is as though the hills are singing
joyful songs.
<sup>13</sup> The meadows are covered with sheep
and goats,
and the valleys are full of grain;
it is as though they also sing and shout joyfully.

66

A psalm that is a song for the choir director.

- <sup>1</sup> Tell everyone on the earth that they should sing joyfully to praise God!
<sup>2</sup> They should sing songs that say that God is very great,
and they should tell everyone that he is very glorious!
<sup>3</sup> They should say to God, "The things that you do are awesome!
Your power is very great,
with the result that your enemies
cringe in front of you."
<sup>4</sup> Everyone on the earth will worship
God,
sing to praise him,
and honor him.
<sup>5</sup> Come and think about what God has
done!
Think about the awesome things that he has done among people.
<sup>6</sup> He caused the sea to become dry land,
with the result that our ancestors
were able to walk right through
it.
There we rejoiced because of what he had
done.
<sup>7</sup> He rules forever by his power,
and he keeps watching all the nations to see what evil things they do.
The nations that want to rebel against him should not be proud.
<sup>8</sup> You people of all nations, praise our
God!
Praise him loudly in order that people will hear you as you

praise him.

- <sup>9</sup> He has kept us alive,
and he has not allowed us to fall into disaster.
<sup>10</sup> God, you have tested us;
you have allowed us to experience great difficulties to make our lives become pure
as people put precious metals in a hot fire to burn out what is impure.
<sup>11</sup> It is as if you allowed us to fall into traps,
and you forced us to endure difficult things that were like heavy loads to carry on our backs.
<sup>12</sup> You allowed our enemies to trample on
us;
we experienced difficulties walking through fires and floods,
but now you have made us safe.
<sup>13</sup> I will bring to your temple offerings that are to be completely burned on the altar;
I will offer to you what I promised.
<sup>14</sup> When I was experiencing much trouble, I said that I would bring offerings to you if you rescued me;
and you did rescue me, so I will bring to you what I promised.
<sup>15</sup> I will bring sheep to be burned on the altar,
and I will also sacrifice bulls and
goats;
when they are burning, you will be pleased as the smoke rises up to
you.
<sup>16</sup> All you people who have a reverential respect for God, come and listen, and I will tell you what he has done
for me.
<sup>17</sup> I called out to him to help me,
and I praised him while I was speaking to him.
<sup>18</sup> If I had ignored the sins that I had
committed,
the Lord would not have paid any
attention to me.
<sup>19</sup> But because I confessed my sins, God has listened to me

and has paid attention to my prayers.

<sup>20</sup>I praise God because he has not ignored my
prayers;
he continues to love me as he promised in his covenant to do.

67

A psalm for the choir director, to be accompanied by stringed instruments.

<sup>1</sup>God, act mercifully toward us and bless
us;

act kindly toward us.

<sup>2</sup>Do this in order that everyone in the world may know what you want them to do,

and the people of all nations may know that you have the power to save them.

<sup>3</sup>God, I desire that all people groups may praise you;

I want them all to praise you!

<sup>4</sup>I desire that the people of all nations will be glad and sing joyfully

because you judge the people groups equally,

and you guide all the nations in the world.

<sup>5</sup>God, I desire that the people groups
may praise you;

I want them all to praise you!

<sup>6</sup>Good crops have grown on our land;
God, our God, has blessed us.

<sup>7</sup>Because God has blessed us, I desire that all people everywhere on the earth may have an awesome respect for him.

68

A psalm written by David for the choir director.

<sup>1</sup>God, arise and scatter your enemies,
and cause those who hate you to run away from you.

<sup>2</sup>As wind blows smoke away,
you chase your enemies away.

As wax melts when it is near a fire,
may you cause wicked people to
disappear.

<sup>3</sup>But may the righteous people be joyful;
may they rejoice when they are in God's presence;
may they be happy and very joyful.

<sup>4</sup>Sing to God; sing to praise him;
sing a song for him who rides in the desert plains;

his name is Yahweh; be glad when you are
in his presence.

<sup>5</sup>God, who lives in his sacred temple, is like a father to those who are
orphans,

and he is the one who protects
widows.

<sup>6</sup>He provides families for those who have no one to live with.

He frees prisoners and enables them to be successful,
but those who rebel against him
will be forced to live in a very hot and dry land.

<sup>7</sup>God, you led your people out of Egypt,
and then you marched with them
through the desert.

<sup>8</sup>After you did that,
the earth shook at Mount Sinai when you appeared to your people,
and rain poured down from the sky, and your people worshiped
you.

<sup>9</sup>You caused plenty of rain to fall there in the wilderness,
and so you enabled good crops to grow again on that land that you gave to us Israelites.

<sup>10</sup>Your people built homes there;
because you were good to them,
you provided food for those who were poor.

<sup>11</sup>The Lord spoke this message,
and many people took his message
to other places.

<sup>12-13</sup>They proclaimed, "Many kings and their armies are running away from our army!"

When our army brought back to their homes the things that they captured,

the women who were at home divided up those things among themselves and among their families.

They got statues of pigeons whose wings were covered with silver and whose feathers were covered with pure yellow gold.

But some of the people stayed with the sheep and did not go to fight in the battle.

Why did you not go?

<sup>14</sup> When Almighty God scattered the enemy kings and their armies, it reminded me of a snowstorm on Mount Zalmon!

<sup>15</sup> There is a very high mountain in the Bashan hills,

a mountain that has many peaks.

<sup>16</sup> But the people who live near that mountain should not envy those who live near Mount Zion, the mountain on which God chose to live!

Yahweh will live there forever!

<sup>17</sup> After we defeated all our enemies, it was as though the Lord, surrounded by many thousands of strong chariots, descended from Mount Sinai and came into the sacred temple in Jerusalem.

<sup>18</sup> He ascended the sacred mountain where his temple is and took with him many people who had been captured in battles; he received gifts from the enemies whom he had defeated.

He received gifts even from those who had rebelled against him, and Yahweh, our God, will live there in his sacred temple forever.

<sup>19</sup> Praise the Lord, who helps us carry our heavy loads every day;

he is the one who saves us.

<sup>20</sup> Our God is the God who saves us; He is Yahweh, our Lord, the one who allows us to escape from dying in battles.

<sup>21</sup> But God will smash the heads of his enemies, the long-haired skulls of those who continue to behave sinfully.

<sup>22</sup> The Lord said, "I will bring back the corpses of my enemies who were killed in Bashan, and I will bring back those who sank deep in the ocean and drowned.

<sup>23</sup> I will do that so that you may wash your feet in their blood, and your dogs can also lap up some of your enemies' blood."

<sup>24</sup> God, many people see you march triumphantly into your sacred temple, celebrating that you have defeated your enemies.

You march like a king does, and a large crowd walks with you.

<sup>27</sup> First come the people of the tribe of Benjamin, the smallest tribe, and following them come the leaders of the tribe of Judah and their group, and following them come the leaders of the tribes of Zebulun and Naphtali.

<sup>28</sup> You people of Israel, God made our tribes very strong.

God, help us with your power as you helped us in the past.

<sup>29</sup> Show us that you are strong, there where you are in your temple in Jerusalem; kings bring gifts to you there.

<sup>30</sup> Shout as you defeat your enemies, such as those in Egypt, who are like wild animals living in the reeds.

Shout as you defeat the powerful nations, who are like herds of bulls.

Shame them; make them bow down and give you gifts.

Drive away and scatter the people groups who love to attack other nations.

<sup>31</sup> Then the leaders of Egypt will bring gifts to you, then the people in Ethiopia will rush to lift up their hands to praise you.

<sup>32</sup>You people who are citizens of kingdoms all over the world, sing to God!
Sing praises to Yahweh!
<sup>33</sup>Sing to the God, the one who rides in the sky,
the sky that he created long ago.
Listen as he shouts with a very powerful voice.
<sup>34</sup>Proclaim that God is very powerful; he is the king that rules over Israel, and in the skies he also shows that he is powerful.
<sup>35</sup>God is awesome as he comes out of his sacred temple;
he is the God whom we Israelite people worship.
He gives power and strength to his people.
Praise God!

69

A psalm written by David for the choir director.

<sup>1</sup>O God, save me because I am in great danger.
It is as though the flood water were up to my neck, and I were about to drown.
<sup>2</sup>I continue to sink in the deep mud, and there is no solid ground for me to stand on.
I am in deep water, and the flood is swirling around me.
<sup>3</sup>I am exhausted from calling out for help; my throat is very dry.
Because I have cried so much as I have waited for God to help me, my eyes are swollen from tears.
<sup>4</sup>Those who hate me when there is no reason to hate me are more than the number of hairs on my head!
Those who want to get rid of me are strong, and they tell lies about me.
They demand that I return to them things that I did not steal!
<sup>5</sup>O God, you see the sins that I have committed.
You know that I have foolishly disobeyed your laws.

<sup>6</sup>O Yahweh God, commander of the angel armies, do not allow the wrong things that I have done cause those who trust in you to be disappointed.
O God, whom we Israelite people worship, do not allow me to cause them to be shamed.
<sup>7</sup>People have insulted me because I am devoted to you. They have thoroughly humiliated me.
<sup>8</sup>Even my own older brothers act as if they do not know me; they treat me like a foreigner.
<sup>9</sup>Some people have despised your temple; but because I have tried to keep your temple holy, people have caused trouble for me.
So it is as though those who are insulting you are also insulting me.
<sup>10</sup>When I have humbled myself and fasted to show my sadness about the disgraceful things that they have done to your temple, they just insult me.
<sup>11</sup>When I put on rough sackcloth to show that I am sad, they laugh at me.
<sup>12</sup>Even the elders of the city say bad things about me. The drunkards of the city sing disgusting songs about me.
<sup>13</sup>But Yahweh, I will continue praying to you.
At the time that you choose, answer me and rescue me because you faithfully love me, as you have promised to do.
<sup>14</sup>Do not allow me to sink anymore in the mud.
Rescue me from those who hate me! Lift me up out of these deep waters!
<sup>15</sup>Do not allow the floods to swirl around me; do not allow the deep mud to

- swallow me;
keep me from sinking into the pit
of death.
- <sup>16</sup> O Yahweh, answer my prayer and help
me
because you are good and I can depend on your love for
me.
You have not punished me for what I deserve.
I know you will listen to me!
- <sup>17</sup> Do not hide yourself from me;
answer me quickly
because I am in great trouble.
- <sup>18</sup> Come near to me and save me;
rescue me from my enemies.
- <sup>19</sup> You know that I am insulted and that people shame and dishonor me;
you know who all my enemies are.
- <sup>20</sup> Their insults have deeply offended me,
and I feel helpless.
I searched for someone who would pity
me,
but there was no one.
I wanted someone to encourage me,
but there was no one.
- <sup>21</sup> Instead, they gave me food that tasted
like poison,
and when I was thirsty, they gave me sour wine to drink.
- <sup>22</sup> I hope their own food will kill them;
I hope that this will happen when they think that they are completely safe.
- <sup>23</sup> I hope that their eyes become dim so that they cannot see anything and that their backs will become weaker and weaker.
- <sup>24</sup> Show them that you are very angry
with them!
Because of your great anger, chase
them and catch them.
- <sup>25</sup> Cause their towns to become
abandoned;
may there be no one to live in their
tents.
- <sup>26</sup> Do this because they persecute those whom you have punished,
they look at how those whom you have punished suffer, and they

- tell others about it.
- <sup>27</sup> Keep making a record of all their sins,
do not fail to punish them for the evil things that they have done.
- <sup>28</sup> Erase their names from the book containing the names of those who have eternal life;
do not include them in the list of
righteous people.
- <sup>29</sup> As for me, I have pain and am suffering.
O God, protect me and rescue me.
- <sup>30</sup> When God does that, I will sing as I
praise God,
and I will honor him by thanking
him.
- <sup>31</sup> My doing that will please Yahweh more than sacrificing oxen,
more than offering him full grown bulls.
- <sup>32</sup> Oppressed people will see that God has rescued me,
and they will be glad.
- I desire that all who request God to help them may be encouraged.
- <sup>33</sup> Yahweh listens to those who are needy;
he does not ignore those who have suffered for him.
- <sup>34</sup> I desire that everything will praise God
everything that is in heaven and on earth and all the creatures that are in the seas.
- <sup>35</sup> God will rescue the people of Jerusalem from their enemies, and he will rebuild the towns that are in Judah.
His people will live there and again
possess the land.
- <sup>36</sup> The descendants of his people will inherit it,
and those who love him will live
there safely.
- 70
- A psalm written by David for the choir director,
asking God to help David.
- <sup>1</sup> God, please save me!
Yahweh, come quickly to help me!
- <sup>2</sup> Disgrace those who are happy about my troubles, those who are trying to kill
me.

Chase them away; make everyone shame them, for they want to see me suffer.

<sup>3</sup>I hope that you will cause them to become dismayed and ashamed because they have been happy about my troubles.

<sup>4</sup>But I hope that everyone who prays to you will rejoice because of you. I hope that everyone who waits for you to rescue them will say, "God is great!"

<sup>5</sup>As for me, I am poor and needy; so God, come quickly to help me! Yahweh, you are the one who saves and helps me, so please come quickly!

<sup>1</sup>Yahweh, I have come to you to be safe; never allow me to become ashamed.

<sup>2</sup>Because you always do what is right, help me and rescue me; listen to me, and save me!

<sup>3</sup>Be like a huge rock on top of which I can be safe; be like a strong fortress in which I am safe.

You have commanded your angels to rescue me.

<sup>4</sup>God, rescue me from wicked people, from the power of unjust and evil men.

<sup>5</sup>Yahweh, my Lord, you are the one whom I confidently expect to help me; I have trusted in you ever since I was young.

<sup>6</sup>I have depended on you all my life; you have taken care of me since the day that I was born, so I will always praise you.

<sup>7</sup>The manner in which you have rescued me has been an example to many people because they realize that you have been my strong defender.

<sup>8</sup>I praise you all during the day, and I proclaim that you are glorious.

<sup>9</sup>Now when I have become an old man, do not reject me;

do not abandon me now when I am not strong anymore.

<sup>10</sup>My enemies say that they want to kill me; they talk together and plan how they can do that.

<sup>11</sup>They say, "God has abandoned him; so now we can pursue him and seize him because there is no one who will rescue him."

<sup>12</sup>God, do not stay far away from me; hurry to help me!

<sup>13</sup>Cause those who accuse me to be defeated and destroyed; cause those who want to harm me to be shamed and disgraced.

<sup>14</sup>But as for me, I will continually and confidently expect you to do great things for me, and I will praise you more and more.

<sup>15</sup>I will tell people that you do what is right; all during the day I will tell people how you have saved me, although what you have done is more than I can fully understand.

<sup>16</sup>Yahweh, my Lord, I will praise you for your mighty deeds; I will proclaim that only you always act justly.

<sup>17</sup>God, you have taught me many things ever since I was young, and I still tell people about your wonderful deeds.

<sup>18</sup>Now, God, when I am old and my hair is gray, do not abandon me. Stay with me while I continue to proclaim to my children and grandchildren.

<sup>19</sup>God, you do many righteous deeds; it is as though they extend up to the sky. You have done great things; there is no one like you.

<sup>20</sup>You have caused us to have many troubles and to suffer much, but you will cause us to become strong

- again;
when I am almost dead, you will keep us alive.
- <sup>21</sup> You will cause me to be greatly honored,
and you will encourage me again.
- <sup>22</sup> I will also praise you while I play my harp;
I will praise you, my God, for faithfully doing what you have promised to do.
I will play hymns to praise you, the holy God whom we Israelites worship.
- <sup>23</sup> I will shout joyfully while I sing; with my entire inner being I will sing because you have rescued me.
- <sup>24</sup> All during the day I will tell people that you act righteously because those who wanted to harm me will have been defeated and disgraced.

72

A psalm written by Solomon.

- <sup>1</sup> O God, enable the king whom you appointed in Israel to rule justly.
Show him how to judge matters fairly
- <sup>2</sup> so that he may judge your people fairly and that he may govern your oppressed people justly.
- <sup>3</sup> I desire that all over the country—even on the hills and mountains—people will live peacefully and righteously.
- <sup>4</sup> Help your king to defend the poor people and to rescue needy people and to defeat those who oppress them.
- <sup>5</sup> I desire that your king may live as long as the sun shines, as long as the moon shines, forever.
- <sup>6</sup> I desire that his rule may be enjoyed by the people as they enjoy rain on the growing crops, as they enjoy the showers that fall on the land.
- <sup>7</sup> I hope that people may live righteously during the years that he rules and that the people may live peacefully and prosperously as long as the moon shines.

<sup>8</sup> I hope that the king of Israel may rule the people in all the area from one sea in the east to another in the west and from the Euphrates River to the most remote places on earth.

<sup>9</sup> I hope that those who live in the wilderness may bow down before him and that his enemies may throw themselves on the ground in submission to our king.

<sup>10</sup> I hope that the king of the land of Tarshish and the kings of the islands in the sea may pay taxes to the king of Israel.

I hope that the king of Sheba to the south and the king of Seba to the southwest may bring him gifts.

<sup>11</sup> I hope that all the other kings in the world may bow before the king of Israel and that people of all nations may serve our king.

<sup>12</sup> He rescues poor people when they cry out for help, and he helps those who are needy and those who have no one to help them.

<sup>13</sup> He pities those who are weak and needy; he saves the people's lives.

<sup>14</sup> Our king rescues people from being oppressed and from being treated cruelly because their lives are precious to our king.

<sup>15</sup> I hope that our king may live a long time!

I hope that he may be given gold from Sheba.

I desire that people may always pray for our king and praise him all the time, every day.

<sup>16</sup> I hope that the fields may produce plenty of grain everywhere, even on the tops of the hills in the land where he rules,

- like the grain that grows on the hills in Lebanon.
- I hope that the cities in Israel will be as full of people as the fields are full of grass.
- <sup>17</sup> I desire that the name of the king may never be forgotten.
- I hope that people may remember him as long as the sun shines.
- I hope that all people will praise Yahweh, the God of Israel, just as he has blessed the king of Israel.
- <sup>18</sup> Praise Yahweh, the God whom we Israelites worship; he is the only one who does wonderful things.
- <sup>19</sup> Praise him forever! I desire that his glory may fill the whole world!
- Amen! May it be so!
- <sup>20</sup> This is the end of the prayers written by David, son of Jesse.

Book Three

73

A psalm written by Asaph

- <sup>1</sup> God truly is good to us Israelite people, to those who, with all their inner being, want to do all that he desires.
- <sup>2</sup> As for me, I almost stopped trusting in God;
- I was almost guilty of committing a great sin against him
- <sup>3</sup> because I saw those who proudly said that they did not need God, and I wanted to be like them.
- I saw that they became wealthy even though they were wicked.
- <sup>4</sup> Those people do not suffer from sickness; they are always strong and healthy.
- <sup>5</sup> They do not have the troubles that other people have; they do not have problems as others do.
- <sup>6</sup> So they are proud, as proud as a woman with a beautiful necklace.
- They are as proud of their violent actions as some people are

- proud of their beautiful robes.
- <sup>7</sup> From their inner beings pour out evil deeds, and in their inner beings they are always thinking about more evil things to do.
- <sup>8</sup> They scoff at other people, and they talk about doing evil things to them; they are proud while they plan to oppress others.
- <sup>9</sup> They say evil things about God, who is in heaven, and they talk boastfully about things that they have done here on the earth.
- <sup>10</sup> The result is that people pay attention to them and listen to everything they say.
- <sup>11</sup> Wicked people say to themselves, "God will certainly not know what we have done; people say that he is greater than any other god, but he cannot find out."
- <sup>12</sup> That is what wicked people are like; they never worry about anything, and they are always becoming richer.
- <sup>13</sup> So, God, I think it is useless that I have always done what you want me to and that I have not committed sins.
- <sup>14</sup> During each day I have problems, and every morning you punish me.
- <sup>15</sup> But if I had said these things out loud in front of others, I would have been sinning against your people.
- <sup>16</sup> When I tried to think completely about these things, it was too hard for me to understand them.
- <sup>17</sup> But when I went to your temple, you spoke to me, and I understood what will happen to the wicked people after they die.
- <sup>18</sup> Now I know that you will surely put them in dangerous places where they will fall down and die.
- <sup>19</sup> They will be destroyed instantly; they will die in terrible ways.

- <sup>20</sup>They will disappear as quickly as a dream disappears when a person awakes in the morning;
Lord, when you arise, you will cause them to disappear.
- <sup>21</sup>When I felt sad in my inner being and my feelings were hurt,
- <sup>22</sup>I was stupid and ignorant, and I behaved like an animal toward you.
- <sup>23</sup>But I am always close to you, and you hold my hand.
- <sup>24</sup>You guide me by teaching me, and at the end of my life, you will receive me and honor me.
- <sup>25</sup>You are in heaven, and I belong to you; there is nothing on this earth that I desire more than that.
- <sup>26</sup>My body and my mind may become very weak, but, God, you continue to enable me to be strong; I belong to you forever.
- <sup>27</sup>Those who remain far from you will be destroyed; you will get rid of those who abandon you.
- <sup>28</sup>But as for me, it is wonderful to be near to God and to have Yahweh protect me and to proclaim to others all that he has done for me.

74

A psalm written by Asaph

- <sup>1</sup>God, why have you abandoned us?
Will you keep rejecting us forever?
- Why are you angry with us since we are like sheep in your pasture and you are like our shepherd?
- <sup>2</sup>Do not forget your people whom you chose long ago, the people whom you freed from being slaves in Egypt and caused to become your tribe.
- Do not forget Jerusalem, which is your home on this earth.
- <sup>3</sup>Walk along and see where everything has been totally ruined; our enemies have destroyed everything in the sacred temple.

- <sup>4</sup>Your enemies shouted triumphantly in this sacred place; they erected their banners to show they had defeated us.
- <sup>5</sup>They cut down all the engraved objects in the temple as woodsmen cut down trees.
- <sup>6</sup>Then they smashed all the carved wood with their axes and hammers.
- <sup>7</sup>Then they burned your temple to the ground; they caused that place where you were worshiped to be unfit for people to worship in.
- <sup>8</sup>They said to themselves, "We will destroy the Israelites completely," and they also burned down all the other places where we gathered to worship you.
- <sup>9</sup>All our sacred symbols are gone; there are no prophets now, and no one knows how long this situation will continue.
- <sup>10</sup>God, how long will our enemies make fun of you?
Will they insult you?
- <sup>11</sup>Why do you refuse to help us? Why do you keep your hand inside your cloak instead of using it to destroy our enemies?
- <sup>12</sup>God, you have been our king during all the years since we came out of Egypt, and you have enabled us to defeat our enemies in the land of Israel.
- <sup>13</sup>By your power you caused the sea to divide; it was as though you had smashed the heads of the rulers of Egypt who were like huge sea dragons.
- <sup>14</sup>It was as though you crushed the head of the king of Egypt and gave his body to the animals in the desert to eat.
- <sup>15</sup>You caused springs and streams to flow, and you also dried up rivers that had never dried up previously.
- <sup>16</sup>You created the days and the nights, and you put the sun and the moon in their places.
- <sup>17</sup>You determined where the oceans end and the land begins,

- and you created the summer season
and the winter season.
- <sup>18</sup> Yahweh, do not forget that your enemies laugh at you
and that it is foolish people who despise
you.
- <sup>19</sup> Do not abandon your helpless people into the hands of their cruel enemies;
do not forget your suffering people.
- <sup>20</sup> Continue thinking about the covenant
that you made with us;
remember that there are violent people in every dark place on
the earth.
- <sup>21</sup> Do not allow your oppressed people to be disgraced;
help those poor and needy people
in order that they will again
praise you.
- <sup>22</sup> God, arise and defend yourself by defending your people!
Do not forget that foolish people laugh at
you all during the day!
- <sup>23</sup> Do not forget that your enemies shout angrily at you;
the uproar that they make while they oppose you never stops.

75

A psalm written by Asaph for the choir director,
to be sung using the tune 'Do not destroy'

- <sup>1</sup> We give thanks to you;
our God, we thank you.
You are close to us,
and we proclaim to others the wonderful things that you have done for us.
- <sup>2</sup> You have said, "I have appointed a time
when I will judge people,
and I will judge everyone fairly."
- <sup>3</sup> When the earth shakes
and all the creatures on the earth
tremble,
I am the one who will keep its foundations steady.
- <sup>4</sup> I say to people who boast, 'Stop bragging!'
and I say to wicked people, 'Do not proudly do things to show how great you are!'"
- <sup>5</sup> Do not be arrogant,
and do not speak so boastfully!

<sup>6</sup> The one who judges people does not come from the east or from the west,
and he does not come from the desert.

<sup>7</sup> God is the one who judges people;
he shames and punishes some, and he honors others.

<sup>8</sup> It is as though Yahweh held a cup in his hand;
it is filled with wine that has spices
mixed in it to cause those who drink it to become more drunk;
and when Yahweh pours it out, he will force all the wicked people to drink
it;
they will drink every drop of it; yes,
he will punish them fully.

<sup>9</sup> But as for me, I will never stop saying what the God whom Jacob worshiped has done;

I will never stop singing to praise him.

<sup>10</sup> He promises this: "I will destroy the power of wicked people,
but I will increase the power of righteous
people."

76

A psalm written by Asaph for the choir director,
to be accompanied by stringed instruments

<sup>1</sup> God has made the people in Judah to know him;

the Israelite people honor him.

<sup>2</sup> In Jerusalem is where he resides;
he lives on Mount Zion.

<sup>3</sup> There he broke the flaming arrows that his enemies shot,
and he also broke their shields and swords and other weapons that they used in battles.

<sup>4</sup> God, you are powerful! You are like a great king
as you return from the mountains where you defeated your enemies.

<sup>5</sup> Their brave soldiers were killed, and then those who killed them took away everything that those soldiers had.

Those enemies died;
indeed, none of them were able to fight any longer.

<sup>6</sup> When you, the God whom Jacob worshiped, rebuked your enemies,
their horses and their riders fell

- down dead.
- <sup>7</sup> Truly, you cause everyone to be afraid.
When you are angry and you punish people, no one can endure it.
- <sup>8</sup> From heaven you proclaimed that you would judge people,
and then everyone on the earth was afraid and did not say anything
more
- <sup>9</sup> when you arose to declare that you would punish wicked
people
and rescue all those whom they had
oppressed.
- <sup>10</sup> When you punish those with whom you are angry, your people will praise
you,
and your enemies who survive will worship you on your festival days.
- <sup>11</sup> So give to Yahweh the offerings that you promised to give to him;
all the people of nearby people groups should also bring gifts to him, the one who is awesome.
- <sup>12</sup> He humbles the leaders,
and terrifies all the kings.

77

- A psalm written by Asaph for Jeduthun, the
choir director
- <sup>1</sup> I will cry out to God;
I will cry aloud to him, and he will listen
to me.
- <sup>2</sup> At the time that I had trouble, I prayed
to the Lord;
all during the night I lifted up my hands while I prayed,
but nothing could comfort me.
- <sup>3</sup> When I thought about God, I despaired;
when I meditated about him, I grew discouraged.
- <sup>4</sup> All during the night he prevented me
from sleeping;
I was so worried that I did not know what to say.
- <sup>5</sup> I thought about days that had passed;
I remembered what had happened
in previous years.
- <sup>6</sup> I spent all the night thinking about

- things;
I meditated, and this is what I asked
myself:
- <sup>7</sup> "Will the Lord always reject me?
Will he never again be pleased with
me?"
- <sup>8</sup> Has he stopped faithfully loving me?
Will he not do for me what he promised
to do?
- <sup>9</sup> God promised to act mercifully toward me; has he forgotten that?
Because he is angry with me, has he decided not to be kind to me?"
- <sup>10</sup> I said, "What causes me to be sad the most is that it seems that God, who is greater than any other god, is no longer using his power for us."
- <sup>11</sup> But then, Yahweh, I recall your great
deeds;
I remember the wonderful things
that you did in the past.
- <sup>12</sup> I meditate on all that you have
done,
and I think about your mighty acts.
- <sup>13</sup> God, everything that you do is amazing;
there is certainly no god who is great like you are!
- <sup>14</sup> You are God, the one who performs miracles;
you showed to the people of many people groups that you are powerful.
- <sup>15</sup> By your power you rescued your people from Egypt;
you saved those who were descendants of Jacob and his son Joseph.
- <sup>16</sup> It was as though the waters saw you
and became very afraid,
and even the deepest part of the water shook.
- <sup>17</sup> Rain poured down from the clouds;
it thundered very loudly,
and lightning flashed in all directions.
- <sup>18</sup> Thunder crashed in the whirlwind—
your voice!
Lightning lit up,
and the earth shook violently.

- <sup>19</sup> Then you walked through the sea
in a path that you made through the deep water,
but your footprints could not be seen.
- <sup>20</sup> You led your people as a shepherd leads his flock of sheep
while Moses and Aaron were the leaders of your people.

78

A psalm written by Asaph

- <sup>1</sup> My friends, listen to what I am going to teach you;
pay careful attention to what I will say.
- <sup>2</sup> I am going to give you some sayings that wise people have said.
They will be sayings about things
that happened long ago,
things that were difficult to understand.
- <sup>3</sup> These are things that we have heard and known previously,
things that our parents and grandparents told us.
- <sup>4</sup> We will tell these things to our children,
but we will also tell our grandchildren about Yahweh's power and the glorious things that he has
done.
- <sup>5</sup> He gave laws and commandments to the Israelite people,
those who are the descendants of Jacob,
and he told our ancestors to teach them
to their children.
- <sup>6</sup> He commanded this so that their children would also know them
and so that they would teach them
to their own children.
- <sup>7</sup> In that way, they also would trust in God
and would not forget the things
that he has done;
instead, they would obey his commandments.
- <sup>8</sup> They would not be like their ancestors,
who were very stubborn and kept rebelling against God;
they did not continue firmly trusting in
God,
and they did not worship him

- alone.
- <sup>9</sup> The soldiers of the tribe of Ephraim had bows and arrows,
but they ran away from their enemies on the day that they fought with their
enemies.
- <sup>10</sup> They did not do what they had agreed with God that they would do;
they refused to obey his laws.
- <sup>11</sup> They forgot what he had done;
they forgot about the miracles that they had seen him perform.
- <sup>12</sup> While our ancestors were watching,
God performed miracles in the area around the city of Zoan in Egypt.
- <sup>13</sup> Then he caused the Sea of Reeds to divide,
causing the water on each side to pile up like a wall,
with the result that our ancestors
walked through it on dry
ground.
- <sup>14</sup> He led them by a bright cloud during the day
and by a fiery light during the night.
- <sup>15</sup> He split rocks open in the wilderness and gave to our ancestors plenty of water from deep inside the earth.
- <sup>16</sup> He caused a stream of water to flow
from the rock;
the water flowed like a river.
- <sup>17</sup> But our ancestors continued to sin
against God;
in the wilderness they rebelled against the one who is greater than any other
god.
- <sup>18</sup> By demanding that God give them the food that they desired,
they tried to find out if he would always do what they requested him to do.
- <sup>19</sup> They insulted God by saying, "Can God supply food for us here in this desert?"
- <sup>20</sup> It is true that he struck the rock,
with the result that water gushed
out,
but can he also provide bread and meat
for us, his people?"
- <sup>21</sup> So when Yahweh heard that, he became very angry,
and he sent a fire to burn up some of his Israelite people.

<sup>22</sup> He did that because they did not trust in him,
and they did not believe that he would rescue them.

<sup>23</sup> But God spoke to the sky above them and commanded it to open like a door,

<sup>24</sup> and then food fell down like rain, food that they named "manna."

God gave them grain from heaven.

<sup>25</sup> So the people ate the food that angels eat, and God gave to them all the manna that they wanted.

<sup>26</sup> Later, he caused the wind to blow from the east, and by his power he also sent wind from the south,

<sup>27</sup> and the wind brought birds which were as numerous as the grains of sand on the seashore.

<sup>28</sup> God caused those birds to fall in the middle of their camp.
There were birds all around their tents.

<sup>29</sup> So the people cooked the birds and ate the meat; their stomachs were full because God had given them what they wanted.

<sup>30</sup> But they had not yet eaten all that they wanted.

<sup>31</sup> At that point, God was still very angry with them,
and he caused their strongest men to die;
he got rid of many of the finest young Israelite men.

<sup>32</sup> In spite of all this, the people continued to sin;
in spite of all the miracles that God had performed,
they still did not trust that he would take care of them.

<sup>33</sup> So he made them terrified all their lives; he made them die young.

<sup>34</sup> Whenever God caused some of the Israelites to die,
the others would repent;
they would be sorry and seriously ask

God to save them.

<sup>35</sup> They would remember that God was like a huge rock on which they would be safe, and that he, who was greater than any other god, was the one who protected them.

<sup>36</sup> But they tried to deceive God by what they said;
their words were all lies.

<sup>37</sup> They were not loyal to him;
they ignored the covenant that he had made with them.

<sup>38</sup> But God acted mercifully toward his people.
He forgave them for having sinned and did not get rid of them.

Many times he refrained from becoming angry with them and restrained himself from furiously punishing them.

<sup>39</sup> He remembered that they were only humans who die, humans who disappear as quickly as a wind that blows by and then is gone.

<sup>40</sup> Many times our ancestors rebelled against God in the wilderness and made him very sad.

<sup>41</sup> Many times they did evil things to find out if they could do those things without God punishing them.
They frequently caused the holy God of Israel to become angry.

<sup>42</sup> They forgot about his great power, and they forgot about the time when he rescued them from their enemies.

<sup>43</sup> They forgot about when he performed many miracles in the area near the city of Zoan in Egypt.

so that the people of Egypt had no water to drink.

<sup>45</sup> He sent among the people of Egypt swarms of flies that bit them, and he sent frogs that ate up everything.

<sup>46</sup> He sent locusts to eat their crops and the other things that grew in their - fields.

 47 He sent hail that destroyed the grapevines, and he sent more hail that ruined the figs on the sycamore trees.
 48 He sent hail that killed their cattle and lightning that killed their sheep and cows.
 49 Because God was fiercely angry with the people of Egypt, he caused them to be very distressed. The disasters that struck them were like a group of angels that destroyed everything.
 50 He did not lessen his anger with them, and he did not spare their lives; he sent a plague that killed many of them.
 51 In that plague he caused all the firstborn sons of the people of Egypt to die.
 52 Then he led his people out of Egypt as a shepherd leads his sheep, and he guided them while they walked through the wilderness.
 53 He led them safely, and they were not afraid, but their enemies were drowned in the sea.
 54 Later he brought them to Canaan, his sacred land, to Mount Zion, and by his power he enabled them to conquer the people who were living there.
 55 He expelled the people groups while his people were advancing; he assigned part of the land for each tribe to possess, and he gave the houses of those people to the Israelites.
 56 However, the Israelites rebelled against God, who is greater than any other God, and they did many evil things to see if they could do those things without God punishing them; they did not obey his commandments.
 57 Instead, as their ancestors did, they rebelled against God and were not loyal to him;

- they were as unreliable as a bow that breaks when you try to shoot with it.
 58 Because they worshiped carved images of their gods on the tops of hills, they caused God to become angry.
 59 He saw what they were doing and became very angry, so he rejected the Israelite people.
 60 He no longer appeared to them at Shiloh in the sacred tent where he had lived among them.
 61 He allowed their enemies to capture the sacred chest, which was the symbol of his power and his glory.
 62 Because he was angry with his people, he allowed their enemies to kill them.
 63 Young men were killed in battles, with the result that the young women had no one to marry.
 64 Many priests were killed by their enemies' swords, and the people did not allow the priests' widows to mourn.
 65 Later, it was as though the Lord awoke from sleeping; he was like a strong man who became angry because he drank a lot of wine.
 66 He pushed his enemies back and caused them to be very ashamed for a long time because they had been defeated.
 67 But he did not set up his tent where the people of the tribe of Ephraim lived; he did not choose their area to do that.
 68 Instead he chose the area where the tribe of Judah lived; he chose Mount Zion, which he loves.
 69 He decided to have his temple built there, high up, like his home in heaven; he caused it to be firm, like the earth, and intended that his temple would last forever.
 70 He chose David, who served him faithfully,

and took him from the pastures <sup>71</sup> where he was taking care of his father's sheep,
and appointed him to be the leader of the Israelites,
the people who would always belong to God.
<sup>72</sup> David took care of the Israelite people
sincerely and wholeheartedly,
and he guided them skillfully.

79

A psalm written by Asaph

- <sup>1</sup> God, other people groups have invaded your own land.
They have desecrated your temple,
and they have destroyed all the buildings
in Jerusalem.
<sup>2</sup> Instead of burying the corpses of your people whom they killed, they allowed the vultures to eat the flesh of those corpses,
and they also allowed wild animals
to eat the corpses of your
people.
<sup>3</sup> When they killed your people,
your people's blood flowed like water
through the streets of Jerusalem, and there was almost no one left to bury their corpses.
<sup>4</sup> The people groups that live in countries that surround our land insult us;
they laugh at us and mock us.
<sup>5</sup> Yahweh, how long will this continue?
Will you be angry with us forever?
Will your anger be like a fire burning
within you?
<sup>6</sup> Instead of being angry with us,
be angry with the people groups
that do not know you!
Be angry with kingdoms whose people
do not pray to you <sup>7</sup> because they have killed Israelite
people
and they have ruined your country.
<sup>8</sup> Do not punish us because of the sins that our ancestors committed!
Act mercifully toward us now
because we are very discouraged.
<sup>9</sup> God, you have saved us many times,
so help us now;

rescue us and forgive us for having sinned
so that other people will honor you.
<sup>10</sup> It is not right that the other people groups say about us,
"If their God is very powerful, why does he not help them?"

Allow us to see you punishing the people of other nations in return for their shedding our blood
and killing many of us, your people.

<sup>11</sup> Listen to your people groaning while they are in prison,
and by your great power, free those whom our enemies say they will certainly execute.

<sup>12</sup> In return for their having often insulted you,
punish them seven times as much!

<sup>13</sup> After you do that, we, whom you take care of as a shepherd takes care of his sheep, will continue praising you;
we will continue to praise you from generation to generation
forever.

80

A psalm written by Asaph for the choir director,
to be sung using the tune 'Lilies of the covenant'

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh, you who lead us as a shepherd leads his flock of sheep,
you who sit on your throne in the Very Holy Place in the temple, above the figures of winged creatures,
come and do powerful things for us
Israelite people.

<sup>2</sup> Show yourself to the people of the tribes of Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasseh!
Show us that you are powerful
and come and rescue us!

<sup>3</sup> God, cause our nation to be strong like it was before;
act kindly toward us so that we may be saved from our enemies!

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel
armies,
how long will you be angry with us,
your people, when we pray to
you?

<sup>5</sup> It is as though the only food and drink that you have given us is a cup full of our tears!

<sup>6</sup>You have allowed the people groups that surround us to argue with each other to decide which part of our land each of them will take; they laugh at us.

<sup>7</sup>God, Commander of the angel armies, make our nation strong as it was before!

Act kindly toward us so that we may be saved!

<sup>8</sup>Our ancestors were like a grapevine that you brought out of Egypt; you drove out the other people groups from this land, and you put your people in their land.

<sup>9</sup>As people clear ground to plant a grapevine, you cleared out the people who were living in this land for us to live in it. As the roots of a grapevine go deep down into the ground and spread, you enabled our ancestors to prosper and start living in towns all over this land.

<sup>11</sup>your people ruled all of Canaan, from the Mediterranean Sea in the west to the Euphrates River in the east.

<sup>12</sup>So why have you abandoned us and allowed our enemies to tear down our walls?

You are like someone who tears down the fences around his vineyard, so that all the people who pass by can steal the grapes;

<sup>13</sup>wild pigs can trample the vines, and wild animals can also eat the grapes.

<sup>14</sup>You who are the commander of the angel armies, turn to us!

Look down from heaven and see what is happening to us!

Come and rescue us who are like your grapevine,

<sup>15</sup>who are like the young vine that you planted and caused to grow!

<sup>16</sup>Our enemies have torn down and burned everything in our land; look at them angrily and get rid of them!

<sup>17</sup>But strengthen us people whom you have chosen, us Israelite people, whom you previously caused to be very strong.

<sup>18</sup>When you do that, we will never turn away from you again; revive us, and then we will praise you.

<sup>19</sup>Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, restore us; act kindly toward us and rescue us from our enemies!

A psalm written by Asaph for the choir director

<sup>1</sup>Sing songs to praise God, who enables us to be strong when we fight our enemies;

shout joyfully to God, whom we descendants of Jacob worship!

<sup>3</sup>Blow the trumpets during the festival to celebrate each new moon, each time the moon is full, and during our other festivals.

<sup>4</sup>Do that because that is a decree for us Israelite people; it is a command that God made for the descendants of Jacob.

<sup>5</sup>He made it a law under at the time when God led the descendants of Joseph out of the land of Egypt.

I heard a voice I did not recognize, and it said:

<sup>6</sup>"After the rulers of Egypt forced you Israelites to work as slaves,

I took those heavy burdens off your backs, and I enabled you to lay down those heavy baskets of bricks that you were carrying.

<sup>7</sup>When you were greatly distressed, you called out to me, and I rescued you; I answered you out of a thundercloud.

Later I tested whether you would trust me to give you water when you were in the desert at Meribah.

- <sup>8</sup> You who are my people, listen while I warn you!
I wish that you Israelite people would pay attention to what I say to you!
<sup>9</sup> You must not have any idols of other gods among you; you must never bow to worship any of them!
<sup>10</sup> I am Yahweh, your God; It was not any of those gods who brought you out of Egypt; I am the one who did it! So request what you want me to do for you, and I will do it.
<sup>11</sup> But my people would not listen to me; they would not obey me.
<sup>12</sup> So because they were very stubborn, I allowed them to do whatever they wanted to do.
<sup>13</sup> I wish that my people would listen to me, that the Israelite people would behave as I want them to do.
<sup>14</sup> If they did that, I would quickly defeat their enemies; I would strike dead those who are oppressing them.
<sup>15</sup> Then all those who hate me would cringe before me, and then I would punish them forever.
<sup>16</sup> But I would give you Israelites very good wheat, and I would fill your stomachs with wild honey."

A psalm written by Asaph

- <sup>1</sup> God stands in heaven in a meeting of all the spirits whom he has placed in charge of what he created. He tells them that he has decided this:
<sup>2</sup> "You must stop judging people unfairly; you must no longer make decisions that favor wicked people!
<sup>3</sup> You must defend people who are poor and orphans;

you must act fairly toward those who are needy and those who have no one to help them.

<sup>5</sup> Those rulers do not know or understand anything!

They are very corrupt, and as a result of their corrupt behavior,

it is as though the foundation of the world is being shaken!

<sup>6</sup> I previously said to them, "You think you are gods!

It is as though you are all my sons,

<sup>7</sup> but you will die as people do; your lives will end as the lives of all rulers end."

<sup>8</sup> God, arise and judge everyone on the earth because all the people groups belong to you!

A psalm which is a song written by Asaph

Do not be quiet and say nothing

<sup>2</sup> because your enemies are rioting against you; those who hate you are rebelling against you!

<sup>3</sup> They are secretly planning to do things to harm us, your people; they are conspiring together against the people whom you protect.

<sup>4</sup> They say, "Come, we must destroy their nation so that no one will remember that Israel ever existed!"

<sup>5</sup> They have agreed on what they want to do to destroy Israel, and they have agreed to attack you together.

<sup>6</sup> Your enemies are the people who live in the tents of Edom—the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Hagrites, they conspire together with <sup>7</sup> the people of Gebal, and the Ammonites, and the Amalekites, and the Philistines, and the people of the city of Tyre.

- <sup>8</sup>The people of Assyria have joined them;
they are strong allies of the Moab and Ammon people groups, who are descendants of Abraham's nephew Lot.
- <sup>9</sup>God, do to those people things as you did to the Midian people group, as you did to Sisera and Jabin at the river Kishon.
- <sup>10</sup>You destroyed them at the town of Endor, and their corpses lay on the ground and decayed.
- <sup>11</sup>Do to them things like you did to kings Oreb and Zeeb; defeat their leaders like you defeated Zebah and Zalmunna,
- <sup>12</sup>who said, "We will take for ourselves the land that the Israelites say belongs to God!"
- <sup>13</sup>My God, cause them to disappear quickly like whirling dust, like chaff that the wind blows away!
- <sup>14</sup>As a fire completely burns a forest and as flames burn in the mountains,
- <sup>15</sup>expel them with your storms and cause them to be terrified by your big storms!
- <sup>16</sup>Cause them to be very ashamed so that they will admit that you are very powerful.
- <sup>17</sup>Cause them to be forever disgraced because of being defeated, and cause them to die while they are still disgraced.
- <sup>18</sup>Cause them to know that you, whose name is Yahweh, are the supreme ruler over everything on the earth.

84

- <sup>1</sup>Yahweh, commander of the angel armies,
your temple is very beautiful!
- <sup>2</sup>I would like to be there;
Yahweh, I desire that very much.
With all my inner being I sing joyfully to you, the all-powerful God.

- <sup>3</sup>Even sparrows and swallows have built nests near your temple; they take care of their young babies near the altars where people offer sacrifices to you, Commander of the angel armies, my king and my God.
- <sup>4</sup>How fortunate are those who are always in your temple, constantly singing to praise you.
- <sup>5</sup>How fortunate are those whom you make strong, those who desire very much to make the trip up to Mount Zion.
- <sup>6</sup>While they travel through the dry Valley of Tears, you cause it to become a place where there are springs of water, where the rains in the autumn fill the valley with water, a blessing from you.
- <sup>7</sup>As a result, those who travel through there become stronger knowing that they will appear in your presence on Mount Zion.
- <sup>8</sup>Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, listen to my prayer; God, whom we descendants of Jacob worship, hear what I am saying!
- <sup>9</sup>God, act kindly toward our king, the one who protects us, the one whom you have chosen to rule us.
- <sup>10</sup>For me, spending one day in your temple is better than spending a thousand days somewhere else; standing at the entrance to your temple, ready to go inside, is better than living in the tents where wicked people live.
- <sup>11</sup>Yahweh our God is like the sun that shines on us and like a shield that protects us; he acts favorably toward us and honors us.
- Yahweh does not refuse to give any good thing to those who do what is right.
- <sup>12</sup>Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, how fortunate are those who trust in you!

85

A psalm written by one of the descendants of Korah for the choir director

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh, you have acted kindly toward us people who live in this land; you have enabled us Israelite people to become prosperous again.

<sup>2</sup> You forgave us, your people, for the sins that we had committed; you pardoned us for all our sins.

<sup>3</sup> You stopped being angry with us and turned away from severely punishing us.

<sup>4</sup> Now, God, the only one who can save us, stop being angry with us and help us.

<sup>5</sup> Will you continue to be angry with us forever?

<sup>6</sup> Please enable us to prosper again so that we, your people, will rejoice about what you have done for us.

<sup>7</sup> Yahweh, by rescuing us from our troubles, show us that you faithfully love us.

<sup>8</sup> I want to listen to what Yahweh our God says because he promises that he will enable us, his people, to live peacefully if we do not return to doing foolish things.

<sup>9</sup> He is surely ready to save those who have an awesome respect for him, so that his glory will remain in our land.

<sup>10</sup> When that happens, he will both faithfully love us and faithfully do for us what he promised to do; we will act righteously, and he will give us peace, which will be like a kiss that he gives us.

<sup>11</sup> Here on earth, we will be loyal to God, and from heaven, God will act justly toward us.

<sup>12</sup> Yes, Yahweh will do good things for us, and there will be great harvests in our land.

<sup>13</sup> Yahweh always acts righteously;

he acts righteously wherever he goes.

86

A prayer written by David

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh, listen to what I say and answer me because I am weak and needy.

<sup>2</sup> Prevent me from dying now because I am loyal to you; save me because I serve you and I trust in you, my God.

<sup>5</sup> Lord, you are good to us, and you forgive us; you faithfully love very much all those who pray to you.

<sup>6</sup> Yahweh, listen to my prayer; hear me when I cry out to you to help me.

<sup>7</sup> When I have troubles, I call out to you because you answer me.

<sup>8</sup> Lord, among all the gods whom the heathen nations worship, there is no one like you; not one of them has done the great things that you have done.

<sup>9</sup> Lord, someday people from all the nations that you have established will come and bow down in front of you, and they will praise you.

<sup>10</sup> You are great, and you do wonderful things; only you are God.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh, teach me what you want me to do so that I may conduct my life according to what you say, all of which is right.

Cause me to have an awesome respect for you with all my inner being.

<sup>12</sup> Lord, my God, I will thank you with all my inner being, and I will praise you forever.

<sup>13</sup> You faithfully love me very much as you have promised; you have prevented me from dying and going to the place where

- dead people are.
<sup>14</sup> But God, proud men are trying to attack me; a gang of cruel men are wanting to kill me; they are men who do not have any respect for you.
<sup>15</sup> But Lord, you always act mercifully and kindly; you do not become angry quickly; you faithfully love us very much and always do for us what you have promised to do.
<sup>16</sup> Look down toward me and act mercifully to me; cause me to be strong and save me, the one who serves you faithfully as my mother did.
<sup>17</sup> Yahweh, do something to show me that you are being good to me so that those who hate me will see that you have encouraged me and helped me; as a result, they will be ashamed.

87

- <sup>1</sup> The city is established on his holy mountain.
<sup>2</sup> Yahweh loves that city, Jerusalem, more than he loves any other place in Israel.
<sup>3</sup> All you people in Jerusalem, other people say wonderful things about your city.
<sup>4</sup> And Yahweh said, "I will talk of Rahab and Babylon and the people there who know me. There are some who know me among the people of Egypt and Babylonia, and they live in the lands of Philistia and Tyre and Ethiopia, and they will say, 'Our home is Jerusalem and our land is Zion.'" <sup>5</sup> Concerning Zion, people will say, "All of these people who were born far away, they call Jerusalem their home, and Almighty God will cause that

- city to remain strong."
<sup>6</sup> Yahweh will write a list of the names of the people of various groups who belong to him, and he will say that he considers them all to be citizens of Jerusalem.
<sup>7</sup> They will all dance and sing, saying, "Jerusalem is the source of all our blessings."

88

A psalm that expresses sadness, written for the choir director by Zerah's son Heman, one of the descendants of Korah

- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh God, you who rescue me, all during each day I call out to you to help me, and I cry out to you during each night also.
<sup>2</sup> Listen to my prayer while I cry out to you for help!
<sup>3</sup> I have experienced many troubles, and I am about to die and go where dead people are.
<sup>4</sup> Because I have no more strength, other people believe that I will soon die.
<sup>5</sup> I am like a corpse that has been abandoned; I am like dead people who lie in their graves, people who have been completely forgotten because you do not take care of them anymore.
<sup>6</sup> It is as though you have thrown me into a deep, dark pit, into a place where they throw corpses.
<sup>7</sup> It seems as though you are very angry with me, and it is as though you have crushed me as ocean waves crash down on people.
<sup>8</sup> You have caused my friends to avoid me; I have become repulsive to them. It is as though I were in a prison and cannot escape.
<sup>9</sup> My eyes cannot see well because I cry very much. Yahweh, every day I call out to you to help me;

- I lift up my hands to you while I pray.
- <sup>10</sup> You certainly do not perform miracles for dead people!
- Their spirits do not arise to praise you!
- <sup>11</sup> Corpses in the grave certainly do not tell about your faithfully loving us, and in the place where people are finally destroyed, no one tells about what you faithfully do for us.
- <sup>12</sup> No one in the deep, dark pit ever sees the miracles that you perform, and no one in the place where people have been completely forgotten tells about your being good to us.
- <sup>13</sup> But as for me, Yahweh, I cry out to you to help me; each morning I pray to you.
- <sup>14</sup> Yahweh, why do you reject me? Why do you turn away from me?
- <sup>15</sup> All the time since I was young, I have suffered and have often almost died; I am in despair because of enduring the terrible things that you have done to me.
- <sup>16</sup> I feel that you have crushed me because of your being angry with me; the terrible things that you are doing to me are almost destroying me.
- <sup>17</sup> It is as though they surround me like a flood; they are closing in on me from all sides.
- <sup>18</sup> You have caused even my friends and others whom I love to avoid me, and it is as though the only friend that I have is darkness.

89

A song written by Ethan, from the clan of Ezra

- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, I will sing forever about the ways you faithfully love me; people not yet born will hear that you faithfully do all that you have promised.
- <sup>2</sup> I will tell people that you will faithfully love us forever, and that your being faithful to do what you have promised is as

- permanent as the sky.
- <sup>3</sup> Yahweh said, "I have made an agreement with David, whom I chose to serve me.
- I have made this solemn agreement with him:
- <sup>4</sup> 'I will enable various ones of your descendants to always be kings; the line of kings descended from you will never end.'"
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh, I desire that all those beings who are in heaven will praise you for the wonderful things that you do, and that all your holy angels will sing about how you faithfully do what you promise.
- <sup>6</sup> There is no one in heaven who can be compared with you, Yahweh. There are no angels in heaven who are equal to you.
- <sup>7</sup> When your holy angels gather together, they declare that you must be revered; they say that you are more awesome than all the angels that surround your throne!
- <sup>8</sup> O Yahweh God, commander of the angel armies, there is no one who is as powerful as you are; your faithfully doing all that you promise is like a cloak that always surrounds you.
- <sup>9</sup> You rule over the powerful seas; when their waves rise up, you calm them.
- <sup>10</sup> You are the one who crushed and killed the great sea monster named Rahab. You defeated and scattered your enemies with your great power.
- <sup>11</sup> The heavens are yours, and the earth is yours; everything on the earth is yours because you created it all.
- <sup>12</sup> You created everything from the north to the south. Mount Tabor and Mount Hermon joyfully praise you.
- <sup>13</sup> You are very powerful; you are extremely strong.
- <sup>14</sup> You rule over people fairly and justly; you are always faithfully loving us

- and doing what you promised.
- <sup>15</sup> Yahweh, how fortunate are those who worship you with joyful shouts in their festivals,
who live knowing that you are always watching over them.
- <sup>16</sup> Every day, throughout the day, they rejoice in what you have done, and they praise you for being very good to them.
- <sup>17</sup> You give us your glorious strength; because you act in our favor, we defeat our enemies.
- <sup>18</sup> Yahweh, you gave us the one who protects us;
you, the holy God whom we Israelites worship, he gave us our king.
- <sup>19</sup> Long ago you spoke in a vision to one of your servants, saying,
"I have crowned a famous soldier; I chose him from among all the people to be a king."
- <sup>20</sup> That man is David, the one who will serve me faithfully, and I anointed him with sacred olive oil to make him king.
- <sup>21</sup> My strength will always be with him; with my power, I will make him strong.
- <sup>22</sup> His enemies will never find ways to outwit him, and wicked people will never defeat him.
- <sup>23</sup> I will crush his enemies in front of him and get rid of those who hate him.
- <sup>24</sup> I will always be loyal to him and faithfully love him and enable him to defeat his enemies.
- <sup>25</sup> I will cause his kingdom to include all the land from the Mediterranean Sea to the Euphrates River.
- <sup>26</sup> He will say to me, 'You are my Father, my God, the one who protects and saves me.'
- <sup>27</sup> I will give him the rights as my firstborn son; he will be the greatest king on the earth.
- <sup>28</sup> I will always be loyal to him,

- and my agreement to bless him will last forever.
- <sup>29</sup> I will establish a line of his descendants that will never end, various ones of his descendants will always be kings.
- <sup>30</sup> But if some of his descendants disobey my laws and do not behave as my commands say that they should,
- <sup>31</sup> if they disregard my requirements and do not do the right things that I have told them to do,
- <sup>32</sup> I will punish them severely and cause them to suffer for doing wrong.
- <sup>33</sup> But I will not stop faithfully loving David, and I will always do what I promised him.
- <sup>34</sup> I will not break the agreement that I made with him; I will not change even one word that I spoke to him.
- <sup>35</sup> Once I made a solemn promise to David, and that will never change; because I am God, I will never lie to David.
- <sup>36</sup> I promised that the line of kings descended from him will go on forever; it will last as long as the sun shines.
- <sup>37</sup> That line will be as permanent as the moon that is always watching everything here on earth."
- <sup>38</sup> But Yahweh, now you have rejected him! You are very angry with the king whom you appointed.
- <sup>39</sup> It seems that you have broken the agreement that you made with your servant, David; it seems as though you have thrown his crown into the dust.
- <sup>40</sup> You have torn down the walls that protect his city and allowed all his forts to become ruins.
- <sup>41</sup> All those who pass by plunder his possessions;

his neighbors laugh at him.

<sup>42</sup> You have enabled his enemies to defeat him;
you have made them all happy.

<sup>43</sup> You have caused his sword to become useless,
and you have not helped him in his battles.

<sup>44</sup> You have caused his splendor to end and knocked his throne to the ground.

<sup>45</sup> You have caused him to become old when he is still young and caused him to be very shamed.

<sup>46</sup> O Yahweh, how long will this continue?
Will you hide yourself from us forever?
How long will your anger against us burn like a fire?

<sup>47</sup> Do not forget that life is very short;
Do not forget that you have created all of us to die uselessly.

<sup>48</sup> No one can keep on living and never die;
no one can bring himself back from the place of the dead.

<sup>49</sup> Yahweh, you promised long ago that you would faithfully love me; why are you not doing that?
You solemnly promised this to David!

<sup>50</sup> Yahweh, do not forget that people insult us!
Heathen people curse me!

<sup>51</sup> Yahweh, your enemies insult your chosen king!
They insult him wherever he goes.

<sup>52</sup> I hope that Yahweh will be praised forever!

Amen! May it be so!

A prayer by the prophet Moses

<sup>2</sup> Before you created the mountains, before you formed the earth and everything that is in it, you were eternally God, and you will be God forever.

<sup>3</sup> When people die, you cause their corpses to become soil again; you change their corpses to become dirt like that from which the first man was created.

<sup>4</sup> When you consider time, a thousand years are as short as one day that passes; you consider that they are as short as a few hours in the night.

<sup>5</sup> You cause people to die suddenly; they live only a short time as a dream lasts only a short time. They are like grass that grows up.

<sup>6</sup> In the morning the grass sprouts and grows well, but in the evening it dries up and completely withers.

<sup>7</sup> Similarly, because of the sins that we commit, you become angry with us; you terrify us and then you destroy us.

<sup>8</sup> It is as though you place our sins in front of you; you spread out even our secret sins where you can see them.

<sup>9</sup> Because you are angry with us, you cause our lives to end; the years that we live pass as quickly as a sigh does.

<sup>10</sup> People live for only seventy years; if they are strong, some of them live for eighty years.

But even during good years we have much pain and troubles; our lives soon end, and we die.

<sup>11</sup> No one has really experienced the powerful things you can do to them when you are angry with them, and people are not afraid that you will punish them because of your being angry with them.

<sup>12</sup> So teach us to realize that we live for only a short time in order that we may use our time wisely.

<sup>13</sup> Yahweh, how long will you be angry with us? Pity us who serve you.

<sup>14</sup> Each morning, show us that it is

- enough for us if you love us faithfully as you have promised you would do.
- Show us this so that we may shout joyfully and be happy all during the years that we live.
- <sup>15</sup> Cause us to be now as happy for as many years as you afflicted us and we experienced troubles.
- <sup>16</sup> Enable us to see the great things that you do, and enable our descendants to see your glorious power also.
- <sup>17</sup> Lord, our God, give us your blessings and enable us to be successful; yes, cause us to be successful in everything that we do!
- 91
- <sup>1</sup> Those who live under the protection of God Almighty, will be able to rest safely under his care.
- <sup>2</sup> I will declare to Yahweh, "You protect me; you are like a fort in which I am safe. You are my God, the one in whom I trust."
- <sup>3</sup> He will rescue you from all hidden traps and save you from deadly diseases.
- <sup>4</sup> He will shield you as a bird protects her young under her wings. You will be safe in his care. His faithfully doing what he has promised is like a shield that will protect you.
- <sup>5</sup> You will not be afraid of things that happen during the night that could terrorize you or of arrows that your enemies will shoot at you during the day.
- <sup>6</sup> You will not be afraid of plagues that demons cause when they attack people at night or of other evil forces that kill people at midday.
- <sup>7</sup> Even if a thousand people fall dead alongside you, even if ten thousand people are dying around you, you will not be harmed.
- <sup>8</sup> Look and see
- that wicked people are being punished!
- <sup>9</sup> Yahweh protects me; trust God Almighty to shelter you, too.
- <sup>10</sup> If you do, nothing evil will happen to you; no plague will come near your house
- <sup>11</sup> because Yahweh will command his angels to protect you in whatever you are doing.
- <sup>12</sup> They will hold you up with their hands so that you will not hurt your foot on a big stone.
- <sup>13</sup> You will be kept safe from being harmed by your enemies; it will be as though you were killing strong lions and poisonous snakes by stepping on them!
- <sup>14</sup> Yahweh says, "I will rescue those who love me; I will protect them because they acknowledge that I am Yahweh.
- <sup>15</sup> When they call out to me, I will answer them. I will help them when they are experiencing trouble; I will rescue them and honor them.
- <sup>16</sup> I will reward them by enabling them to live a long time, and I will save them."
- 92
- A psalm that is to be sung on Sabbath days.
- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, it is good for people to thank you and to sing praise to you who are greater than any other god.
- <sup>2</sup> It is good to proclaim every morning that you faithfully love us and to sing songs each night that declare that you always do what you have promised to do,
- <sup>3</sup> accompanied by musicians playing harps that have ten strings and by the sounds made by a lyre.
- <sup>4</sup> Yahweh, you have caused me to be glad; I sing joyfully because of what you have done.
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh, the things that you do are

- great!
But it is difficult to understand all that you think.
- <sup>6</sup>There are things that you do that foolish people cannot know about, things that stupid people cannot
understand.
- <sup>7</sup>They do not understand that although the number of wicked people increases as blades of grass do and that those who do what is evil
prosper,
they will be completely destroyed.
- <sup>8</sup>But Yahweh, you will be king forever.
- <sup>9</sup>Yahweh, your enemies will certainly die,
and those who do wicked things
will be defeated.
- <sup>10</sup>But you have caused me to be as strong
as a wild ox;
you have caused me to be very joyful.
- <sup>11</sup>I have seen you defeat my enemies,
and I have heard those evil men wail
while they were being slaughtered.
- <sup>12</sup>But righteous people will prosper like
palm trees that grow well,
like the cedar trees that grow in Lebanon.
- <sup>13</sup>They are like the trees that people plant
at the temple of Yahweh in Jerusalem, the trees that are close to the courtyard of the temple of our
God.
- <sup>14</sup>Even when righteous people become old, they do many things that please
God.
They remain strong and full of energy like trees that remain full of sap.
- <sup>15</sup>That shows that Yahweh is just;
he is like a huge rock on which I am
safe,
and he never does anything that is wicked.
- <sup>93</sup>
- <sup>1</sup>Yahweh, you have become the King!
The majesty and the power that you have are like robes that a king wears.
You put the world firmly in place, and it will never be moved out of its place.
- <sup>2</sup>You started to rule as king a very long time ago;
you have always existed.
- <sup>3</sup>Yahweh, when you created the world,
you separated the water from the chaotic mass and formed oceans, and the waves of the waters of those oceans still roar,
- <sup>4</sup>but you are greater than the roar of
those oceans,
more powerful than the ocean
waves!
- You are Yahweh, the one who is greater than any other god!
- <sup>5</sup>Yahweh, your laws never change,
and your temple has always been holy.
That will be true forever.
- <sup>94</sup>
- <sup>1</sup>Yahweh, you are able to get revenge on your enemies.
So show them that you are going to punish them!
- <sup>2</sup>You are the one who judges all people
on the earth;
so arise and give them what they deserve.
- <sup>3</sup>Yahweh, how long will those wicked people be glad?
It is not right that they continue being glad!
- <sup>4</sup>They do evil things, and they boast
about doing them;
how long will they be allowed to continue doing that?
- <sup>5</sup>Yahweh, it is as though those wicked
people were crushing us, your people;
they oppress the nation that you have made and that belongs to you alone.
- <sup>6</sup>They murder widows and orphans
and people from other countries who think it is safe to live in our land.
- <sup>7</sup>Those wicked people say, "Yahweh
does not see anything;
the God whom those Israelites worship does not see the evil things that we do."
- <sup>8</sup>You evil people who rule Israel, you are foolish and stupid;
when will you become wise?

<sup>9</sup> God made our ears;
do you think that he cannot hear what you say?
He created our eyes;
do you think that he cannot see the evil things that you do?
<sup>10</sup> He corrects the leaders of other
nations;
do you think that he will not punish you?
He is the one who knows everything;
why do you think that he does not know what you do?
<sup>11</sup> Yahweh knows everything that people are thinking;
he knows that what they think is evil and useless.
<sup>12</sup> Yahweh, how fortunate are those who allow you to discipline them,
those who want you to teach them
your laws.
<sup>13</sup> When those people have had troubles,
you cause those troubles to cease,
and someday it will be as though you will dig pits for the wicked people, and that they will fall into those pits and die.
<sup>14</sup> Yahweh will not abandon his people;
he will not desert those who belong
to him.
<sup>15</sup> Someday judges will decide matters
fairly for people,
and all honest people will be pleased about that.
<sup>16</sup> But when wicked people oppressed
me,
no one defended me!
No one stood up to testify for me
against those evil people.
<sup>17</sup> If Yahweh had not helped me at that
time,
I would have been executed;
my life would have gone to the place where dead people say
nothing.
<sup>18</sup> I said, "I am falling into disaster," but, Yahweh, you held me up by faithfully loving me.
<sup>19</sup> Whenever I am very worried, you comfort me and cause me to be happy.

<sup>20</sup> You have nothing to do with wicked
judges,
those who establish laws that allow people to do what is not right.
<sup>21</sup> They plan to get rid of righteous
people,
and they declare that innocent people
must be executed.
<sup>22</sup> But Yahweh has become like my fortress;
my God is like a huge rock on which I am protected.
<sup>23</sup> He will punish those wicked leaders in return for the things that they have
done;
he will get rid of them because of the sins that they have
committed;
yes, Yahweh our God will wipe them out.

<sup>95</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Come, sing to Yahweh;
sing joyfully to the one who protects us and saves us!
<sup>2</sup> We should thank him as we come before
him
and sing joyful songs as we praise
him.
<sup>3</sup> Because Yahweh is a great God,
he is a great king who rules over all other gods.
<sup>4</sup> He rules over the whole earth
from the deepest places to the highest mountains.
<sup>5</sup> The seas are his because he made them.
He is the one who made the dry
land.
<sup>6</sup> We should come, worship, and bow down before him.
We should kneel before Yahweh,
the one who made us.
<sup>7</sup> He is our God,
and we are the people whom he protects,
like sheep that a shepherd takes care
of.
I desire that today you may hear what Yahweh is saying to you.
<sup>8</sup> He says, "Do not become stubborn as your ancestors did at Meribah,

and as they did at Massah in the wilderness.

<sup>9</sup> There your ancestors wanted to see if they could do evil things without my punishing them.

Even though they had seen me perform many miracles, they tested whether I would continue to be patient with them.

<sup>10</sup> For forty years I was angry with those people, and I said, 'Those people are unreliable. They refuse to obey my commands.'

<sup>11</sup> So because I was very angry; I solemnly said about them, 'They will never enter the land of Canaan where I would have allowed them to rest!'

<sup>2</sup> Sing to Yahweh and praise him! Every day proclaim to others that he has saved us.

<sup>3</sup> Tell about his glory to all people groups; tell all people groups the marvelous things that he has done.

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh is great, and he deserves to be praised very much; he should be revered more than all the gods.

<sup>5</sup> All the gods the other people groups worship are only idols, but Yahweh is truly great; he created the skies!

<sup>6</sup> God shows his splendor and majesty; they shine out from where he rules. Strength and beauty are in his holy house.

Praise Yahweh for his glorious power!

<sup>8</sup> Praise Yahweh as he deserves to be praised; bring an offering and come to his temple.

<sup>9</sup> Bow down before Yahweh because his holiness shines out from him with wonderful beauty.

Everyone on earth should be very afraid in his presence, because he is good and powerful, completely different than us.

<sup>10</sup> Say to all the people groups, "Yahweh is the king!"

He put the world in its place, and nothing will ever be able to move it.

He will judge all the people groups fairly."

<sup>11</sup> All the beings that are in the heavens should be glad, and all the people on the earth should rejoice.

The oceans and all the creatures that are in the oceans should roar to praise Yahweh.

When they do that, it will be as though all the trees in the forests are singing joyfully

That will happen when he comes to judge everyone on the earth.

He will judge all the people fairly according to what he knows is true.

I want everyone on the earth to be glad and the people who live on the islands in the oceans to also rejoice about that!

<sup>2</sup> There are very dark clouds around him; he rules completely, justly, and fairly.

<sup>3</sup> He sends fire in front of him, and he completely burns all his enemies in that fire.

<sup>4</sup> All around the world he sends lightning to flash; people on the earth see it, and it causes them to be afraid and to tremble.

<sup>5</sup> The mountains melt like wax in front of Yahweh, in front of the one who is the Lord, who rules over all the earth.

- <sup>6</sup>The angels in heaven proclaim that he acts righteously, and all the people groups see his glory.
- <sup>7</sup>Everyone who worships idols should be ashamed;
all those who are proud of their false gods should realize that their gods are useless.
- All those gods will bow down to worship Yahweh.
- <sup>8</sup>The people of Jerusalem heard that God is just, and they rejoiced; people in the other cities in Judah also rejoiced because Yahweh judges and punishes wicked people.
- <sup>9</sup>Yahweh is the supreme King over all the earth; he has very great power, and none of the other gods has any power.
- <sup>10</sup>Yahweh loves those who hate what people do that is evil; he protects the lives of his people, and he rescues them when the wicked people try to harm them.
- <sup>11</sup>He makes the righteous people truly live; he causes those who are righteous in their inner beings to rejoice.
- <sup>12</sup>You righteous people, rejoice about what Yahweh has done, and thank him, our holy God!

98

A psalm.

- <sup>1</sup>Sing to Yahweh a new song because he has done wonderful things! By his power he has defeated his enemies.
- <sup>2</sup>Yahweh has declared to people that he has defeated his enemies; he has revealed that he has punished his enemies, and people in all the world have seen that he has done it.
- <sup>3</sup>As he promised to us Israelite people, he has faithfully loved us and been loyal to us.
- People who live in very remote places in all the earth

- have seen that our God has defeated his enemies.
- <sup>4</sup>All you people everywhere should sing joyfully to Yahweh; praise him while you sing and shout joyfully!
- <sup>5</sup>Praise Yahweh while you play the lyres, playing delightful music.
- <sup>6</sup>Some of you should blow trumpets and other horns while others shout joyfully to Yahweh, our king.
- <sup>7</sup>The oceans and all the creatures that are in the oceans should roar to praise Yahweh.
- Everyone on the earth should sing!
- <sup>8</sup>It should seem as though the rivers were clapping their hands to praise Yahweh and that the hills were singing together joyfully in front of Yahweh
- <sup>9</sup>because he will come to judge everyone on the earth! He will judge all the people groups in the world justly and fairly.
- 99
- <sup>1</sup>Yahweh is the supreme king, so all the people groups should tremble in his presence!
- He sits on his throne in the temple above the statues of winged creatures, so the earth should quake!
- <sup>2</sup>Yahweh is a mighty king in Jerusalem; he is also the supreme ruler of all the people groups.
- <sup>3</sup>They should praise him because he is very great; he is holy!
- <sup>4</sup>He is a mighty king who loves what is just; he has acted justly and fairly in Israel.
- <sup>5</sup>Praise Yahweh, our God! Worship him in front of his footstool, the sacred chest in his temple, where he rules people. He is holy!
- <sup>6</sup>Moses and Aaron were two of his priests;

Samuel also was someone who prayed to him.

Those three cried out to Yahweh to help them, and he answered them.

<sup>7</sup> He spoke to Moses and Aaron from the cloud that was like a huge pillar; they obeyed all the laws and commandments that he gave to them.

<sup>8</sup> Yahweh, our God, you answered your people when they cried out to you to help them;

you are a God who forgave them for the sins that they had committed, even though you punished them for the things that they did that were wrong.

<sup>9</sup> Praise Yahweh, our God, and worship him at the temple on his sacred hill; it is right to do that because Yahweh, our God, is holy!

100

A psalm of thanksgiving

We should come before him singing joyful songs.

<sup>3</sup> We should acknowledge that Yahweh is God; it is he who made us, and so we belong to him.

We are the people that he takes care of;

we are like sheep that their shepherd cares for.

<sup>4</sup> Enter the gates of his temple thanking him;

enter the courtyard of the temple singing songs to praise him!

Thank him and praise him

<sup>5</sup> because Yahweh always does good things for us.

He faithfully loves us as he promised us, and he is faithful.

101

A psalm written by David

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh, I will sing to you! I will sing about your faithful and just loyalty to us.

<sup>2</sup> I promise that while I rule people, I will behave in such a way that no one will be able to criticize me. Yahweh, when will you come to help me?

I will do things that are right.

<sup>3</sup> I will not allow anyone who does what is evil to come to me.

I hate the deeds of those who turn away from you; I will completely avoid those people.

<sup>4</sup> I will not be dishonest, and I will not have anything to do with evil.

<sup>5</sup> I will get rid of anyone who secretly slanders someone else, and I will not let anyone near me who is proud and arrogant.

<sup>6</sup> I will approve of people in this land who are loyal to God, and I will allow them to live with me. I will allow to serve me those who behave in such a way that no one can criticize them.

<sup>7</sup> I will not allow anyone who deceives others to work in my palace, and no one who tells lies will be allowed to continually come to work for me.

<sup>8</sup> Every day I will try to get rid of all the wicked people in this land; I will expel them from this city, which is Yahweh's city.

102

A prayer written by someone who was afflicted, when he was discouraged and pleaded for Yahweh to help.

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh, listen to what I am praying; hear me while I cry out to you!

<sup>2</sup> Do not turn away! Listen to me, and answer me quickly now when I am calling out to you!

<sup>3</sup> My life is ending like smoke that disappears; I have a big fever which burns my body as a fire burns.

<sup>4</sup> I feel as though I am drying up like grass that has been mown,

and I do not even think about eating any food.

<sup>5</sup>I groan loudly,
and my bones can be seen under my skin because I have become very thin.

<sup>6</sup>I am like a lonely and despised vulture
in the desert,
like an owl by itself in the abandoned ruins of a building.

<sup>7</sup>I lie awake at night;
because there is no one to comfort
me,
I am like a lonely bird sitting on a housetop.

<sup>8</sup>All during each day my enemies insult
me;
those who make fun of me mention
my name
and say, "May you be like him"
when they curse people.

<sup>9-10</sup>Because you are very angry with me,
I sit in ashes while I am suffering greatly;
those ashes fall on the bread that I
eat,
and what I drink has my tears
mixed with it.

It is as though you have picked me up and thrown me away!

<sup>11</sup>My time to remain alive is short like an evening shadow that will soon be gone.
I am withering as grass withers in the hot sun.

<sup>12</sup>But Yahweh, you are our king who rules forever;
people who are not yet born will remember you.

<sup>13</sup>You will arise and act mercifully toward the people of Jerusalem;
it is now time for you to do that;
this is the time for you to be kind to
them.

<sup>14</sup>Even though the city has been
destroyed,
we who serve you still love the stones that were formerly in the city walls;
because now there is rubble everywhere,
we, your people, are very sad when we see it.

<sup>15</sup>Yahweh, someday the people of other nations will have an awesome respect
for you;
all the kings on the earth will see that you are very glorious.

<sup>16</sup>You will rebuild Jerusalem, and you will appear there with your glory.

<sup>17</sup>You will listen to the prayers of your people who are homeless,
and you will not ignore them
when they plead with you to help
them.

<sup>18</sup>Yahweh, I want to write these words so that people in future years will know what you have done,
in order that people who are not born yet will praise you.

<sup>19</sup>They will know that you looked down from your own place in heaven and saw what was happening on the earth.

<sup>20</sup>They will know that you hear prisoners groaning
and that you will set free those who have been told, "You will be executed."

<sup>21</sup>As a result, people in Jerusalem will praise you for what you have done.

<sup>22</sup>Many people from other people groups and those who are citizens of other kingdoms will gather to worship you.

<sup>23</sup>But now you have caused me to become weak while I am still young;
I think that I will not remain alive
very long.

<sup>24</sup>I say to you, "My God, do not take me away from the earth now before I become old!
You, on the other hand, live forever!"

<sup>25</sup>You created the world long ago,
and you made the heavens with your own hands.

<sup>26</sup>The earth and the heavens will disappear, but you will remain.
They will wear out as clothes wear
out.
You will get rid of them as people get rid of old clothes,

and they will no longer exist.
<sup>27</sup>But you are not like the things that you created because you are always the same; you never die.
<sup>28</sup>Someday our children will live safely in Jerusalem, and their descendants will be protected as they live in your presence."

103

A psalm written by David.

- <sup>1</sup>I tell myself that I should praise Yahweh. I will praise him because he is holy.
- <sup>2</sup>I tell myself that I should praise Yahweh and never forget all the kind things he has done for me.
- <sup>3</sup>He forgives all my sins, and he heals me from all my diseases;
- <sup>4</sup>he keeps me from dying, and he blesses me by faithfully loving me and acting mercifully to me as he promised to do.
- <sup>5</sup>He gives me good things during my entire life. He makes me feel young and strong like eagles.
- <sup>6</sup>Yahweh judges justly all those who have been treated unfairly.
- <sup>7</sup>Long ago he revealed to Moses what he planned to do; he showed to the ancestors of us Israelites the mighty things that he was able to do.
- <sup>8</sup>Yahweh acts mercifully and kindly; he does not quickly get angry when we sin; he is always showing us that he faithfully loves us.
- <sup>9</sup>He will not keep rebuking us, and he will not remain angry forever.
- <sup>10</sup>He has not punished us for our sins as we deserved.
- <sup>11</sup>The skies are very high above the earth, and Yahweh's faithful love for all those who revere him is just as great.
- <sup>12</sup>He has taken away the guilt for our sins and put it as far from us as the east is from the west.

- <sup>13</sup>Just as parents act mercifully toward their children, Yahweh is kind to those who revere him.
- <sup>14</sup>He knows what our bodies are like; he remembers that he created us from dust and that we therefore quickly fail to do what pleases him.
- <sup>15</sup>We humans do not live forever; we are like grass which withers and dies. We are like wild flowers that bloom for a short while;
- <sup>16</sup>but then the hot wind blows over them, and they disappear; no one sees them again.
- <sup>17</sup>But Yahweh will faithfully keep loving forever all those who revere him, as he promised. He will act fairly to our children and to their children;
- <sup>18</sup>he will act that way to all those who obey the covenant he made with them to bless them if they did what he told them to do, to all those who obey what he has commanded.
- <sup>19</sup>Yahweh has taken his seat in the heavens where he rules as king; from there he rules over everything.
- <sup>20</sup>You angels who belong to Yahweh, praise him! You are powerful creatures who do what he tells you to do; you obey what he commands.
- <sup>21</sup>Praise Yahweh, you armies of angels who serve him and do what he desires.
- <sup>22</sup>All you things that Yahweh has created, praise him; praise him in every place where he rules, everywhere! I also will praise Yahweh!

104

- <sup>1</sup>I tell myself that I should praise Yahweh. Yahweh, my God, you are very great! As a king has on his royal robes, you have honor and majesty all around you!

- <sup>2</sup>You created light and you hide behind it.
 You spread out the whole sky as someone sets up a tent.
- <sup>3</sup>You built your palace on the clouds.
 You made the clouds to be like chariots to carry you.
- <sup>4</sup>You caused the winds to be like your messengers, and flames of fire to be like your servants.
- <sup>5</sup>You placed the world firmly on its foundation so that it can never be moved.
- <sup>6</sup>Later, you covered the earth with a flood, like a blanket; and the water covered the mountains.
- <sup>7</sup>But when you rebuked the water, the oceans receded; your voice spoke like thunder, and then the waters rushed away.
- <sup>8</sup>Mountains rose up from the water, and the valleys sank down to the levels that you had determined for them.
- <sup>9</sup>Then you set a boundary for the oceans, a boundary that they cannot cross; their water will never again cover the whole earth.
- <sup>10</sup>You make springs to pour water into ravines; their water flows down between the mountains.
- <sup>11</sup>Those streams provide water for all the animals to drink; the wild donkeys drink the water and are no longer thirsty.
- <sup>12</sup>Birds make their nests alongside the streams, and they sing among the branches of the trees.
- <sup>13</sup>From the heavens you send rain down on the mountains, and you fill the earth with many good things that you create.
- <sup>14</sup>You make grass to grow for the cattle to eat, and you make plants to grow for people. In that way, animals and people get

- their food from what grows in the soil.
- <sup>15</sup>We get grapes to make wine to drink and to make us cheerful; we get olives to make our face shine, and we get grain to make bread to give us strength.
- <sup>16</sup>Yahweh, you send plenty of rain to water your trees, the cedar trees that you planted in Lebanon.
- <sup>17</sup>Birds make their nests in those trees, and storks make their nests in pine trees.
- <sup>18</sup>High up in the mountains the wild goats live, and hyraxes live in the rocks.
- <sup>19</sup>Yahweh, you made the moon to indicate the times for our festivals, and you made the sun that knows when to go down.
- <sup>20</sup>You bring darkness, and it becomes night when all the animals in the forest prowl around looking for food.
- <sup>21</sup>At night the young lions roar as they seek their prey, but they depend on you to give them food.
- <sup>22</sup>At dawn, they go back to their dens and lie down.
- <sup>23</sup>During the daytime, people go to their work; they work until it is evening.
- <sup>24</sup>Yahweh, you have made so many different kinds of things! You were very wise as you made them all. The earth is full of the creatures that you made.
- <sup>25</sup>We see the ocean which is very vast! It is full of many kinds of living creatures, big ones and little ones.
- <sup>26</sup>We see the ships which sail along! We see the huge sea monster which you made to splash around in the sea.
- <sup>27</sup>All of these creatures depend on you to give them the food that they need.

- <sup>28</sup> When you give them the food that they need,
they gather it.
You give them what you have in your hand,
and they eat it and are satisfied.
- <sup>29</sup> But if you refuse to give food to them,
they become terrified.
When you cause them to stop breathing,
they die;
their bodies decay and become soil again.
- <sup>30</sup> When you cause newborn creatures to begin to breathe,
they start to live;
You give new life to all the living creatures on the earth.
- <sup>31</sup> May the glory of Yahweh last forever.
May he rejoice about all the things that he has created.
- <sup>32</sup> He makes the earth shake just by looking at it!
By merely touching the mountains he makes them pour out fire and smoke!
- <sup>33</sup> I will sing to Yahweh as long as I live.
I will praise my God until the day that I die.
- <sup>34</sup> May Yahweh be pleased by all these things that I have thought about him because I rejoice about knowing him.
- <sup>35</sup> However, may sinners disappear from the earth;
may there will be no more wicked people!
But as for me, I will praise Yahweh!
Praise him!
- 105
- <sup>1</sup> Give thanks to Yahweh; worship him and pray to him.
Tell everyone in the world what he has done!
- <sup>2</sup> Sing to him; praise him as you sing to him;
tell others about his wonderful miracles.
- <sup>3</sup> Be proud of Yahweh, who alone is God.
You people who worship Yahweh, rejoice!
- <sup>4</sup> Ask Yahweh to help you and give you

- his strength,
and always seek to be with him!
- <sup>5-6</sup> You people who are descendants of God's servant Abraham, you descendants of Jacob, the people whom God has chosen, think about all the wonderful things that he has done; he performed miracles, and he punished all our enemies.
- <sup>7</sup> He is Yahweh, our God.
He rules and judges people throughout the earth.
- <sup>8</sup> He never forgets the covenant that he made; he made a promise that will last for a thousand generations.
- <sup>9</sup> That is the covenant that he made with Abraham, and he repeated that covenant with Isaac.
- <sup>10</sup> Later he confirmed it again to Jacob as a covenant for the Israelite people that would last forever.
- <sup>11</sup> What he said was, "I will give you the region of Canaan; it will belong to you and your descendants forever."
- <sup>12</sup> He said that to them when there were only a few of them, a tiny group of people who were living in that land like strangers.
- <sup>13</sup> They continued to wander from one place to another, from one kingdom to another.
- <sup>14</sup> But he did not allow others to oppress them.
He warned those kings by saying to them,
- <sup>15</sup> "Do not do harm to the people whom I have chosen!
Do not harm my prophets!"
- <sup>16</sup> He sent a famine to Canaan, and as a result all the people had no food to eat.
- <sup>17</sup> So his people went to Egypt, but first he sent someone there.
He sent Joseph, who had been sold to be a slave.
- <sup>18</sup> Later, while Joseph was in prison in Egypt,

- they put his legs in shackles that hurt his feet,
and they put an iron collar around his neck.
- <sup>19</sup> Joseph was in prison until the time the events he predicted came to pass. This was how Yahweh tested Joseph.
- <sup>20</sup> The king of Egypt sent servants, who set him free; this ruler released Joseph from prison.
- <sup>21</sup> Then he appointed him to take care of everything in the king's household, to take care of everything that the king possessed.
- <sup>22</sup> Joseph was permitted to command the king's important servants to do anything that Joseph wanted them to do, and even to tell the king's advisors the things that they should do for the people of Egypt.
- <sup>23</sup> Later, Joseph's father Jacob arrived in Egypt. He lived like a foreigner in the land that belonged to the descendants of Ham.
- <sup>24</sup> Years later Yahweh caused the descendants of Jacob to become very numerous. As a result, their enemies, the Egyptians, considered that the Israelites were too strong.
- <sup>25</sup> So Yahweh caused the rulers of Egypt to turn against the Israelite people, and they began to oppress his people.
- <sup>26</sup> But then Yahweh sent his servant Moses along with Moses' older brother Aaron, whom Yahweh had also chosen to be his servant.
- <sup>27</sup> Those two performed amazing miracles among the people of Egypt in that land where the descendants of Ham lived.
- <sup>28</sup> Yahweh sent darkness so that the people of Egypt could not see anything, but the rulers of Egypt refused to obey when Moses and Aaron

- commanded them to let the Israelite people leave Egypt.
- <sup>29</sup> Yahweh caused all the water in Egypt to become blood, and his doing that caused all the fish to die.
- <sup>30</sup> Then he caused the land to become full of frogs; the king and his officials even had frogs in their bedrooms.
- <sup>31</sup> Then Yahweh commanded that flies come, and swarms of them descended on the people of Egypt, and gnats also swarmed across the whole country.
- <sup>32</sup> Yahweh sent rain, rain that became hail that fell upon them, and he sent wild fires that burned throughout their land.
- <sup>33</sup> The hail ruined their grapevines and fig trees and shattered all the other trees.
- <sup>34</sup> He commanded locusts to come, and hordes of them came; so many came that they could not be counted.
- <sup>35</sup> The locusts ate every green plant in the land, ruining all the crops.
- <sup>36</sup> Then Yahweh killed the oldest son in every house of the people of Egypt.
- <sup>37</sup> Then he brought the Israelite people out from Egypt; they were carrying heavy loads of jewelry made of silver and gold that the people of Egypt had given to them. No one was left behind because of being sick.
- <sup>38</sup> The people of Egypt were glad when the Israelite people left because they had become very afraid of the Israelites.
- <sup>39</sup> Then Yahweh spread a cloud to cover the Israelites; and at night it became a big fire in the sky to give them light.
- <sup>40</sup> Later the Israelites asked for meat to eat, and Yahweh sent flocks of quail to them, and he gave them plenty of manna, food from the sky, each morning.

<sup>41</sup> One day he caused a rock to open up, and water poured out for them to drink; it was like a river flowing in that desert.

<sup>42</sup> He did that because he kept thinking about the sacred promise that he had given to his servant, Abraham.

<sup>43</sup> So his people were joyful as he brought them out from Egypt; these people whom he had chosen were shouting joyfully as they went.

<sup>44</sup> He gave to them the land that belonged to the people groups that lived there in Canaan, and the Israelites took all their wealth.

<sup>45</sup> Yahweh did all these things so that his people would do all the things that he had commanded them to do.

Praise Yahweh!

Praise Yahweh because he everything he does is good; he faithfully loves us forever as he promised us!

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh, be kind to me when you help your people; help me when you rescue them.

<sup>5</sup> Allow me to see your people become prosperous again and to see all the people of your nation, Israel, become happy again;

allow me to be happy with them!

I want to praise you along with all those others who belong to you.

<sup>6</sup> We and our ancestors have sinned;

we have done what is wicked and evil.

<sup>7</sup> When our ancestors were in Egypt, they did not pay attention to the wonderful things that Yahweh did; they forgot about the many times that he showed that he faithfully loved them.

Instead, when they were at the Sea of Reeds, they rebelled against God, who is greater than any other god.

<sup>8</sup> But he rescued them for the sake of his own reputation so that he could show that he is very powerful.

<sup>9</sup> He rebuked the Sea of Reeds and it became dry, and then while he led our ancestors, they walked through it as though it were as dry as a desert.

<sup>12</sup> When that happened, our ancestors believed that Yahweh had truly done for them what he had promised to do, and they sang to praise him.

<sup>13</sup> But they soon forgot what he had done for them; they did things without waiting to find out what Yahweh wanted them to do.

<sup>14</sup> They intensely wanted food like they formerly ate in Egypt.

They did evil things to find out whether God would punish them or not.

<sup>15</sup> So he gave them what they requested, but he sent a horrible disease upon them.

<sup>16</sup> Later when some of the men became jealous of Moses and his older brother Aaron, who was dedicated to serve Yahweh by being a priest,

<sup>17</sup> the ground opened up and swallowed

- Dathan
and also buried Abiram and his family.
- <sup>18</sup> God sent down from heaven a fire which burned up all the wicked people who supported them.
- <sup>19</sup> Then the Israelite leaders made a gold statue of a calf at Mount Sinai and worshiped it.
- <sup>20</sup> Instead of worshiping our glorious God, they started to worship a statue of an ox that eats grass!
- <sup>21</sup> They forgot about God, who had rescued them by the great miracles that he performed in Egypt.
- <sup>22</sup> They forgot about the wonderful things that he did for them in Egypt and the amazing things that he did for them at the Sea of Reeds.
- <sup>23</sup> Because of that, God said that he would get rid of the Israelites; but Moses, whom God had chosen to serve him, stood up to persuade God not to do that. As a result, God did not destroy them.
- <sup>24</sup> Later, our ancestors refused to enter the beautiful land of Canaan because they did not believe that God would do as he promised and would enable them to take the land from the people who were living there.
- <sup>25</sup> They stayed in their tents and grumbled and would not pay attention to what Yahweh said that they should do.
- <sup>26</sup> So he solemnly told them that he would cause them to die there in the wilderness,
- <sup>27</sup> that he would scatter their descendants among the people of other nations and groups who did not believe in him, and that he would allow them to die in those lands.
- <sup>28</sup> Later the Israelite people started to worship the idol of Baal at Mount Peor, and they ate meat that had been sacrificed to Baal and those other lifeless gods.

<sup>29</sup> Yahweh became very angry because of what they had done, so again he sent a terrible disease to attack them.

<sup>30</sup> But Phinehas stood up and punished the ones who had sinned greatly, and as a result the plague ended.

<sup>31</sup> People have remembered that righteous deed that Phinehas did, and in future years people will remember it.

<sup>32</sup> Then at the springs of Meribah our ancestors caused Yahweh to become angry again, and as a result Moses had trouble.

<sup>33</sup> They caused Moses to become very angry, and he said things that were foolish.

<sup>34</sup> Our ancestors did not destroy the other people groups as he told them to do.

<sup>35</sup> Instead, the men took women from those people groups, and they started to do the evil things that those people did.

<sup>38</sup> They killed children who had done nothing wrong, and offered them as sacrifices to the idols in Canaan.

As a result, the land of Canaan was polluted by those murders.

<sup>39</sup> So by their deeds they made it impossible for God to accept them; because they did not faithfully worship only God, they became like women who sleep with other men instead of sleeping only with their husbands.

<sup>40</sup> So Yahweh became very angry with his people; he was completely disgusted with

- them.
- <sup>41</sup> As a result, he allowed people groups who did not believe in him to conquer them, so those who hated our ancestors started to rule over them.
- <sup>42</sup> Their enemies oppressed them and completely controlled them.
- <sup>43</sup> Many times Yahweh rescued his people, but they continued to rebel against him, and they were finally destroyed because of the sins that they committed.
- <sup>44</sup> However, Yahweh always heard them when they cried out to him, and he listened to them when they were distressed.
- <sup>45</sup> For their sake, he thought about the covenant that he had made to bless them; because he never stopped loving them very much, he changed his mind about punishing them more.
- <sup>46</sup> He caused all those who had taken the Israelites to Babylon to feel sorry for them.
- <sup>47</sup> Yahweh our God, rescue us and bring us back to Israel from among those people groups so that we may thank you and joyfully praise you.
- <sup>48</sup> Praise Yahweh, the God whom we Israelites worship, praise him now and forever! All the people should agree! Praise Yahweh!

Book Five

107

- <sup>1</sup> Give thanks to Yahweh because he always does good things for us! His faithful love for us lasts forever, as he has promised us!
- <sup>2</sup> Those whom Yahweh has saved should tell others that he has rescued them from their enemies.
- <sup>3</sup> He has gathered those of you who were exiled to many lands;

- he has gathered you together from the east and the west, from the north and from the south.
- <sup>4</sup> Some of those who returned from those countries wandered in the desert; they were lost and had no homes to live in.
- <sup>5</sup> They were hungry and thirsty, and they even collapsed in exhaustion.
- <sup>6</sup> When they were in trouble, they called out to Yahweh, and he rescued them from being distressed.
- <sup>7</sup> He led them along a straight road where they walked safely to cities in Canaan where they could live.
- <sup>8</sup> They should praise Yahweh for loving them faithfully and for the wonderful things that he does for people.
- <sup>9</sup> He gives thirsty people plenty of water to drink, and he gives hungry people plenty of good things to eat.
- <sup>10</sup> Some of them were in very dark prisons; they were prisoners, suffering because of chains fastened to their hands and feet.
- <sup>11</sup> They were in prison because they had rebelled against the message of God; they were there because they had despised the advice given by God, who is greater than all other gods.
- <sup>12</sup> That is why God made them suffer hardships so that they would no longer be proud; when they got into trouble, there was no one who would help them.
- <sup>13</sup> When they were in trouble, they called out to Yahweh, and he rescued them from being distressed.
- <sup>14</sup> He broke the chains that were on their hands and feet and brought them out of those very dark prisons.
- <sup>15-16</sup> He broke down the prison gates that

- were made of bronze;
he cut through the prison bars that were made of iron.
- They should praise Yahweh for loving
them faithfully
and for the wonderful things that
he does for people.
- <sup>17</sup> Some of them foolishly rebelled against
God,
so they suffered for their sins.
- <sup>18</sup> They did not want to eat any food,
and they almost died.
- <sup>19</sup> When they were in trouble, they called
out to Yahweh,
and he rescued them from being
distressed.
- <sup>20</sup> When he commanded that they be healed, they were healed;
he saved them from dying.
- <sup>21</sup> They should praise Yahweh for loving
them faithfully
and for the wonderful things that
he does for people.
- <sup>22</sup> They should give offerings to him to show that they are thankful, and they should sing joyfully about
the miracles that he has performed.
- <sup>23</sup> Some of them sailed in ships;
they were selling things in cities far away.
- <sup>24</sup> As they were sailing, they also saw the miracles that Yahweh performed, the wonderful things that he did
when they were on very deep seas.
- <sup>25</sup> He gave orders to the winds, and they became strong
and stirred up high waves.
- <sup>26</sup> The ships in which they were sailing
were tossed high in the air, and then they sank into the troughs
between the high waves;
then the sailors were terrified at the danger.
- <sup>27</sup> They stumbled about and staggered
like drunken men,
and they did not know what to do.
- <sup>28</sup> When they were in trouble, they called
out to Yahweh,
and he rescued them from being
- distressed.
- <sup>29</sup> He calmed the storm
and he stilled the waves.
- <sup>30</sup> They were very glad when it became calm;
and Yahweh brought them safely
into a harbor as they wished.
- <sup>31</sup> They should praise Yahweh for loving
them faithfully
and for the wonderful things that
he does for people.
- <sup>32</sup> They should praise him among the Israelite people when they have gathered together,
and they should praise him in front of the leaders of the country.
- <sup>33</sup> Sometimes Yahweh causes rivers to become dry,
with the result that the land
becomes a wilderness,
and springs of water become dry
land.
- <sup>34</sup> Sometimes he causes land that has produced lots of crops to become salty wastelands,
with the result that they do not produce crops.
He does that because the people who live there are very wicked.
- <sup>35</sup> But sometimes he causes pools of water to appear in deserts,
and he causes springs to flow in very dry ground.
- <sup>36</sup> He brings hungry people into that land, to live there and to build cities
there.
- <sup>37</sup> They plant seeds in their fields,
and they plant grapevines that produce large crops of grapes.
- <sup>38</sup> He blesses the people, and the women
give birth to many children,
and they have large herds of cattle.
- <sup>39</sup> When the number of people became smaller and they were humiliated by
their enemies
by being oppressed and caused to suffer,
- <sup>40</sup> Yahweh shows contempt for the leaders
who oppress them,
and makes them to wander in a wilderness where there are no

roads.

- <sup>41</sup> But he rescues poor people from being in misery and causes their families to increase in number like flocks of sheep.
- <sup>42</sup> People who live rightly see God do these things, and they rejoice; wicked people hear about these things, too, but they have nothing to say against Yahweh in reply.
- <sup>43</sup> Those who are wise should think carefully about these things; they should consider all the things that Yahweh has done to show that he faithfully loves them.

A psalm written by David

- <sup>1</sup> God, I am very confident in you. I will sing to praise you. It is an honor to wake up and praise you.
- <sup>2</sup> I will arise before the sun rises, and I will praise you while I play my harp and my lyre.
- <sup>3</sup> I prayed, "Yahweh, I will thank you among all the people groups; I will sing to praise you among the nations
- <sup>4</sup> because your faithful love for us reaches up to the heavens, and you are as faithful in keeping your promises as the clouds are high above the earth.
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh, show in the heavens that you are very great! Show your glory to people all over the earth!
- <sup>6</sup> Answer our prayers and, by your power, help us to defeat our enemies so that we, the people whom you love, may be saved."
- <sup>7</sup> Yahweh answered our prayers and spoke from his temple, saying, "Because I have conquered your enemies, I will joyfully divide the city of Shechem, and I will distribute among my people the land in the Valley of Succoth.
- <sup>8</sup> The region of Gilead is mine; the people of the tribe of Manasseh are mine;

and the tribe of Judah is like my scepter.

<sup>9</sup> The region of Moab is like my washbasin; I throw my sandal over the region of Edom to show that it belongs to me; I shout triumphantly because I have defeated the people of the region of Philistia."

<sup>10</sup> Because we want to attack the people of Edom, who will lead my army to their capital city that has strong walls around it?

<sup>11</sup> God, we do not want you to abandon us; we want you to go with us when our army marches out to fight our enemies.

<sup>13</sup> But with you helping us, we shall win; you will enable us to defeat our enemies.

109

A psalm written by David for the choir director.

<sup>1</sup> God, you are the one whom I praise, so please answer my prayer

<sup>3</sup> They are constantly saying that they hate me, and they harm me for no reason.

<sup>4</sup> I show them that I love them and that I pray for them, but instead of being kind to me, they say that I have done evil things.

<sup>5</sup> In return for my doing good things for them and loving them, they do evil things to me and hate me.

<sup>6</sup> So appoint a wicked judge who will judge my enemy, and bring in one of his enemies who will stand up and accuse him.

<sup>7</sup> When the trial ends, cause the judge to declare that he is guilty

- and cause even his plea for mercy to be considered a sin.
- <sup>8</sup> Then cause him to die soon; bring someone else to take over his work.
- <sup>9</sup> Cause his children not to have a father anymore, and cause his wife to become a widow.
- <sup>10</sup> Cause his children to leave the ruined homes that they have been living in and to wander around begging for food.
- <sup>11</sup> Cause all the people to whom he owed money to seize his property; cause strangers to take away everything that he worked to acquire.
- <sup>12</sup> Make sure that no one acts with any loyalty toward his memory for the sake of your covenant; make sure that no one pities his children.
- <sup>13</sup> Cause all his children to die, so that no one will live to carry on his name.
- <sup>14</sup> Yahweh, remember and do not forgive his ancestors for the evil things that they did, and do not even forgive the sins that his mother committed.
- <sup>15</sup> Think about his sins continually, but cause everyone living to completely forget who he was.
- <sup>16</sup> I pray these things because that man, my enemy, never acted toward anyone as your covenant says we must; he persecuted poor and needy people and even killed helpless people.
- <sup>17</sup> He liked to curse people. So those terrible things that he requested to happen to others —cause them to happen to him!
- He did not want to bless others, so make sure that no one blesses him!
- <sup>18</sup> He often cursed other people, also; cause the terrible things that he

- wanted to happen to others to happen to him and enter his body as water does, as olive oil soaks into a person's bones when it is rubbed on his skin.
- <sup>19</sup> Cause those terrible things to cling to him like his clothes and be around him like the belt that he wears every day.
- <sup>20</sup> Yahweh, I wish that you will punish all my enemies that way, those who say evil things about me.
- <sup>21</sup> But Yahweh, my God, do good things for me in order that I may honor you; rescue me from my enemies because you faithfully love me as you promised.
- <sup>22</sup> I request you to do this because I am poor and needy and my inner being is full of pain.
- <sup>23</sup> I think that my time to remain alive is as short as an evening shadow that will soon disappear. I will be blown away as a locust is blown by the wind.
- <sup>24</sup> My knees are weak because I have fasted very often, and my body has become very thin.
- <sup>25</sup> The people who accuse me make fun of me; when they see me, they insult me by shaking their heads at me.
- <sup>26</sup> Yahweh, my God, help me! Because you faithfully love me, rescue me!
- <sup>27</sup> When you save me, cause my enemies to know that you are the one who has done it!
- <sup>28</sup> They may curse me, but I ask that you bless me. Cause those who persecute me to be defeated and disgraced, but cause me to be glad!
- <sup>29</sup> Cause those who accuse me to be completely disgraced; cause other people to see that they are disgraced as easily as they see the clothes that they wear!

<sup>30</sup> But I will thank Yahweh very much;
I will praise him when I am among the crowd of people who are worshiping him.

<sup>31</sup> I will do that because he defends poor people like me
and because he saves us from those who have said that we must die.

110

A psalm written by David.

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh said to my lord the king,
"Sit here, close to me, in the place of highest honor
until I completely defeat your
enemies
and make them like a stool for your feet!"

<sup>2</sup> Yahweh will extend your power as king
from Jerusalem to other lands;
you will rule over all your enemies.

<sup>3</sup> On the day that you lead your armies
into battle,
many of your people will volunteer
to join your army.

Your youthful strength will act for you like the dew that waters the earth
early in the morning."

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh has made a solemn promise and he will never change his mind;
he has said to the king, "You will be a priest forever
like Melchizedek."

<sup>5</sup> The Lord stands at your right side;
when he becomes angry, he will defeat many kings.

<sup>6</sup> He will judge and punish the people of
many nations;
many bodies of the killed enemy soldiers will lie on the ground.

He will crush kings all over the earth.

<sup>7</sup> But the king will drink from the stream alongside the road;
he will be refreshed after defeating
his enemies.

I will thank Yahweh with my entire inner
being
every time that those who do what is right come together.

<sup>2</sup> The things that Yahweh has done are wonderful!

All those who are delighted with those
things
desire to study them.

<sup>3</sup> Because he is a great king and does
wonderful things,
people greatly honor him and
respect him;

the righteous things that he does will endure forever.

<sup>4</sup> He has done wonderful things that people will always remember; Yahweh always acts kindly and mercifully.

<sup>5</sup> He provides food for those who have an awesome respect for him;
he never forgets the covenant that he made with our ancestors.

<sup>6</sup> By enabling his people to capture the lands that belonged to other people groups,

he has shown to us, his people, that he is very powerful.

<sup>7</sup> He does everything fairly, as he has promised us,
and we can depend on him to help us when he commands us to do
things.

<sup>8</sup> What he commands must be obeyed
forever;
and he acted in a true and righteous manner when he gave us those commands.

<sup>9</sup> He rescued us, his people, from being slaves in Egypt,
and he made a covenant with us
that will last forever.

He is holy and awesome!

<sup>10</sup> Having an awesome respect for Yahweh
is the way to become wise.
All those who obey his commands will know what is good for them to decide to do.
We should praise him forever!

112

How fortunate are those who have an
awesome respect for him,
those who happily obey his
commands.

<sup>2</sup> Their children will prosper in their

land;
God will bless their descendants.
<sup>3</sup> Their families will be wealthy,
and their righteous deeds will
endure forever.
<sup>4</sup> For those who honor God, it is as if a light were shining on them in the darkness,
on those who are kind, merciful
and righteous.
<sup>5</sup> Things will go well for those who generously lend money to others and who conduct their businesses honestly.
<sup>6</sup> Righteous people will not be overwhelmed because of their
troubles;
other people will always treasure
their memories of them.
<sup>7</sup> They are not afraid when they receive bad news;
they confidently trust in Yahweh.
<sup>8</sup> They are confident and not afraid because they know that they will see God defeat their enemies.
<sup>9</sup> They give things generously to poor
people;
their kind deeds will endure forever,
and they will be exalted and
honored.
<sup>10</sup> Wicked people see those things and are angry;
they gnash their teeth angrily,
but they will disappear and die.
The wicked things that they want to do will never happen.

113
<sup>1</sup> Praise Yahweh!
You people who serve Yahweh, praise
him!
Praise him!
<sup>2</sup> Everyone should praise Yahweh now
and forever!
<sup>3</sup> People who live in the east and people who live in the west,
everyone, should praise Yahweh!
<sup>4</sup> Yahweh rules over all the nations, and high in the heavens he shows that his glory is very great.
<sup>5</sup> There is no one who is like Yahweh, our
God,

who lives in the highest heaven <sup>6</sup> and looks far down through the heavens and sees the people on
the earth.
<sup>7</sup> He lifts poor people up so that they no longer sit in the dirt;
he lifts needy people up so that they no longer sit on heaps of ashes <sup>8</sup> and causes them to be honored by sitting next to leaders,
leaders who rule his own people.
<sup>9</sup> He also enables women who have no children to live in their houses
as happy as mothers with children.
Praise Yahweh!

114

<sup>1</sup> When the Israelite people left Egypt, when the descendants of Jacob left
people who spoke a foreign language, <sup>2</sup> the land of Judah became the place where people worshiped
God;
and Israel became the land that he ruled over.
<sup>3</sup> When they came to the Sea of Reeds, it was as though the water saw them and ran away!
When they came to the Jordan River,
the water in the river stopped flowing so that the Israelites could cross it.
<sup>4</sup> When they came to Mount Sinai and there was a big earthquake,
it was as though the mountains
skipped like goats
and the hills jumped around like lambs.
<sup>5</sup> If someone asks, "What happened at the Sea of Reeds that caused the water to run away?"
What happened that caused the water in the Jordan River to stop flowing?
<sup>6</sup> What happened that caused the mountains to skip like goats and caused the hills to jump around like lambs?"
<sup>7</sup> Indeed, all the earth will tremble before the Lord!
Everyone will tremble in the presence of the God whom Jacob worshiped!
<sup>8</sup> He is the one who caused pools of water to flow from a rock for the Israelite people to drink, and he is the one who caused a spring to flow from a solid rock cliff!

A psalm written by David

<sup>1</sup>Yahweh, people should praise you alone; they must praise you, not us, because you faithfully love us and always do what you have promised to do.

<sup>2</sup>It is not right that other people groups should say about us, "They claim that their God is very powerful, but if that is true, why does he not help them?"

<sup>3</sup>Our God is in heaven, and he does whatever he wants!

<sup>4</sup>But their idols are only statues made of silver and gold, things that humans have made.

<sup>5</sup>Their idols have mouths, but they cannot say anything; they have eyes, but they cannot see anything.

<sup>6</sup>They have ears, but they cannot hear anything; they have noses, but they cannot smell anything.

<sup>7</sup>They have hands, but they cannot feel anything; they have feet, but they cannot walk, and they cannot even make any sounds in their throats!

<sup>8</sup>The people who make those idols are as powerless as those idols, and those who trust in those idols can accomplish nothing, just like their idols!

<sup>9</sup>You, my fellow Israelite people, trust in Yahweh!

He is the one who helps you and protects you like a shield.

He is the one who helps you and protects you like a shield.

<sup>11</sup>All you who have a reverential respect for Yahweh, trust in him! He is the one who helps you and protects you like a shield.

<sup>12</sup>Yahweh has not forgotten us; he will bless us Israelite people!

He will bless the priests,

<sup>13</sup>and he will bless all those who have a reverential respect for him; he will bless important people and people who are considered to be unimportant, everyone!

<sup>14</sup>I wish that Yahweh may give many children to you, my fellow Israelite people, and to your descendants.

<sup>15</sup>I wish that Yahweh, the one who made heaven and the earth, may bless all of you!

<sup>16</sup>The highest heavens belong to Yahweh, but he gave everything that is on the earth to us people.

<sup>17</sup>Dead people are not able to praise Yahweh; when they descend into the place where dead people are, they are unable to speak and cannot praise him.

<sup>18</sup>But we who are alive will thank him, now and forever.

Praise Yahweh!

116

<sup>1</sup>I love Yahweh because he hears me when I cry to him for help.

<sup>2</sup>He listens to me, so I will call out to him all during my life.

<sup>3</sup>Everything around me caused me to think that I would die; I was very afraid that I would die and go to the place where dead people are.

I was very distressed and afraid.

<sup>4</sup>But then I called out to Yahweh, saying, "Yahweh, I plead with you to save me!"

<sup>5</sup>Yahweh is kind and does what is right; he is our God, and he acts mercifully to us.

<sup>6</sup>He protects those who are helpless; when I thought that I would die, he saved me.

 7 I must encourage myself
     because Yahweh has done very good things for me.
 8 Yahweh has saved me from dying and has kept me from troubles that would cause me to cry.
 He has kept me from disaster.
 9 So here on the earth where people are still alive,
     I live, knowing that Yahweh is directing me.
 10 I continued to believe in Yahweh, even when I said, "I am greatly afflicted."
 11 Even when I was distressed and said, "I cannot trust anyone,"
     I continued to trust in Yahweh.
 12 So now I will tell you what I will offer
     to Yahweh
     because of all the good things that he has done for me.
 13 I will offer to him a cup of wine
     to thank him for saving me.
 14 When I am together with many people who belong to Yahweh,
     I will give to him the offerings that I solemnly promised to give to
     him.
 15 Yahweh is very grieved when one of his people dies.
 16 I am one of those who serves Yahweh;
     I serve him like my mother did.
     He has ended my troubles.
 17 So I will offer to him a sacrifice to thank him,
     and I will pray to him.
 18-19 When I am together with many of the people who belong to Yahweh
     in the courtyard outside his temple
     in Jerusalem,
     I will give to him the offerings that I solemnly promised to give to
     him.
 Praise Yahweh!

117
 1 You people of all nations, praise
     Yahweh!
 All you people groups, praise him 2 because he faithfully loves us as he promised to do,

and he will forever do for us what
     he promised that he would do.
 Praise Yahweh!
 118
 1 Tell Yahweh that you thank him very much for the good things that he has done for you!
     He faithfully loves us, his people,
     forever.
 2 You Israelite people should repeatedly shout,
     "He faithfully loves us, his people,
     forever!"
 3 You priests who are descendants of Aaron should repeatedly shout,
     "He faithfully loves us, his people,
     forever!"
 4 All you who revere him should repeatedly shout,
     "He faithfully loves us, his people,
     forever!"
 5 When I was distressed, I called out to Yahweh,
     and he answered me and set me free
     from my worries.
 6 Yahweh is on my side,
     so I will not be afraid of anything.
     No one can do anything that will prevent God from blessing me
     forever.
 7 Yes, Yahweh is on my side,
     so I will look triumphantly at my enemies while he defeats them.
 8 It is better to trust in Yahweh
     than to depend on people.
 9 It is better to trust Yahweh to protect us than to trust that influential people will protect us.
 10 Armies of many nations surrounded
     us,
     but Yahweh enabled us to defeat
     them by his power.
 11 They completely surrounded us,
     but we defeated them all by Yahweh's power.
 12 They swarmed around me like angry
     bees;
     they were like a fire that flares up in
     a thornbush,
     but we defeated them by Yahweh's
     power.

- <sup>13</sup> Our enemies attacked us fiercely and almost defeated us, but Yahweh helped us.
- <sup>14</sup> Yahweh is the one who makes me strong,
and he is the one about whom I always sing;
he has saved us from my enemies.
- <sup>15</sup> Listen to the joyful songs of victory being sung in the tents of the people who honor God!
They sing, "Yahweh has defeated our enemies by his mighty power;
- <sup>16</sup> he has raised his strong right arm to show he is happy over defeating his enemies.
Yahweh has completely defeated them!"
- <sup>17</sup> I will not be killed in battle;
I will live to proclaim the great things that Yahweh has done.
- <sup>18</sup> Yahweh has punished me severely, but he has not allowed me to die.
- <sup>19</sup> You gatekeepers, open for me the gates of the temple so that I may enter and thank Yahweh.
- <sup>20</sup> Those are the gates through which we enter the temple to worship Yahweh; those who honor God enter through those gates.
- <sup>21</sup> Yahweh, I thank you that you answered my prayer and that you saved me from my enemies.
- <sup>22</sup> Yahweh's chosen king is like a stone that the builders rejected when they were building a house, but that stone became the cornerstone.
- <sup>23</sup> This was done by Yahweh, and it is a wonderful thing for us to see.
- <sup>24</sup> This is the day on which we remember that Yahweh acted powerfully to defeat our enemies; we will rejoice and be glad today.
- <sup>25</sup> Yahweh, we plead with you to keep rescuing us from our enemies. Yahweh, please help us accomplish what we want to do.
- <sup>26</sup> Yahweh, bless the one who will come

- with your power.
From the temple we bless all of you.
- <sup>27</sup> Yahweh is God, and he has caused his light to come to us.
Come, bring animal sacrifice and tie it to the horns of the altar.
- <sup>28</sup> Yahweh, you are the God whom I worship, and I will praise you! You are my God, and I will tell everyone that you are great!
- <sup>29</sup> Thank Yahweh because he does good things for us! He will faithfully love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>119</sup>
- <sup>1</sup> How fortunate are those about whom no one can say truthfully that they have done things that are wrong, those who always obey the laws of Yahweh.
- <sup>2</sup> How fortunate are those who obey his weighty commands, those who request him with their entire inner beings to help them to do that.
- <sup>3</sup> They do not do things that are wrong; they behave as Yahweh wants them to.
- <sup>4</sup> Yahweh, you have given us your principles of behavior, and you told us to obey them faithfully.
- <sup>5</sup> I want so much to faithfully keep everything that you command.
- <sup>6</sup> If I did that, I would not be ashamed when I thought about your commands.
- <sup>7</sup> When I learn all of your just regulations, I will praise you with a pure inner being.
- <sup>8</sup> I will obey all your statutes; do not desert me!
- <sup>9</sup> I know how a young person can live in a pure way; it is by obeying your commands.
- <sup>10</sup> I try to serve you with my entire inner being; do not allow me to wander away from what you have commanded.

- <sup>11</sup> I have memorized your commands so that I will not sin against you.
- <sup>12</sup> Yahweh, I praise you; teach me your statutes.
- <sup>13</sup> I have announced to the people all the things that you have commanded us to do.
- <sup>14</sup> I delight in obeying your requirements; I enjoy that more than being very rich.
- <sup>15</sup> I will study everything you have commanded, and I will pay attention to how you have shown me to live.
- <sup>16</sup> I will be happy to obey your statutes, and I will not forget your words.
- <sup>17</sup> Do good things for me, the one who serves you, so that I may continue to live and obey your words during all my life.
- <sup>18</sup> Help me to understand with my mind, to know the wonderful things that are written in your laws.
- <sup>19</sup> I am living here on the earth for only a short time; do not keep me from understanding.
- <sup>20</sup> In my inner being I strongly desire to know your decrees all the time.
- <sup>21</sup> You rebuke those who are proud; you curse those who disobey your commands.
- <sup>22</sup> Do not allow them to continue to insult and scorn me; I request this because I have obeyed your requirements.
- <sup>23</sup> Rulers gather together and plan ways to harm me, but I will meditate on what you have commanded.
- <sup>24</sup> I am delighted with your requirements; it is as though they were my advisors.
- <sup>25</sup> I think that I will soon die; save my life as you have promised me that you would.
- <sup>26</sup> When I told you about all the things I did, you answered me; teach me your statutes.
- <sup>27</sup> Help me to understand how you want me to behave,
- and then I will meditate on your amazing instructions.
- <sup>28</sup> I am very sad, with the result that I have no strength; enable me to be strong again as you promised me that you would do.
- <sup>29</sup> Prevent me from telling lies, and be kind to me by teaching me your laws.
- <sup>30</sup> I have decided that I will faithfully obey you; I am determined to follow your commands.
- <sup>31</sup> Yahweh, I try to carefully cling to your requirements; do not abandon me or let me be disgraced.
- <sup>32</sup> I will eagerly obey your commands because you have helped me understand better and better what you want me to do.
- <sup>33</sup> Yahweh, teach me the meaning of your statutes, and then I will completely obey them.
- <sup>34</sup> Help me to understand your laws so that I may obey them with all my inner being.
- <sup>35</sup> I am happy with your commands, so lead me along the paths that you have chosen for me.
- <sup>36</sup> Cause me to want to do what you command and not to want to become rich.
- <sup>37</sup> Do not allow me to look at things that are worthless; make me able to live as you want me to live.
- <sup>38</sup> Because I am one who serves you, do what you promised to do for me, which is what you also promise to do for all those who honor you.
- <sup>39</sup> I become afraid when my enemies insult me; stop them! But you are right when you punish my enemies.
- <sup>40</sup> I very much desire to obey your principles of behavior; because you are righteous, allow me

- to continue to live.
- <sup>41</sup> Yahweh, show me that you faithfully love me,
and rescue me as you promised you would.
- <sup>42</sup> After you do that, I will be able to reply to those who insult me because I trust in your word.
- <sup>43</sup> Never prevent me from speaking your truth because I have confidence in your regulations.
- <sup>44</sup> I will always obey your laws forever and ever.
- <sup>45</sup> I will always be safe because I have tried to obey your principles of behavior.
- <sup>46</sup> I will tell to kings what you require, and because they are unable to prove me wrong, they will not cause me to be ashamed.
- <sup>47</sup> I am delighted to obey your commands, and I love them.
- <sup>48</sup> I respect your commandments, and I love them; I will meditate on everything you require us to do.
- <sup>49</sup> Do not forget what you said you would do for me, the one who serves you, because what you have said has caused me to confidently expect good things from you.
- <sup>50</sup> When I have been suffering, you comforted me; you did what you promised me, and that kept me alive.
- <sup>51</sup> Proud people are always making fun of me, but I do not turn away from obeying your laws.
- <sup>52</sup> Yahweh, when I think about your regulations that you gave to us long ago, I am comforted.
- <sup>53</sup> When I see wicked people disregard your laws, I become very angry.
- <sup>54</sup> While I have been living here on the earth for a short time,

- I have written songs about your statutes.
- <sup>55</sup> Yahweh, during the night I think about you, and so I obey your laws.
- <sup>56</sup> What I have always done is to obey your principles of behavior.
- <sup>57</sup> Yahweh, you are the one whom I have chosen, and I promise to obey your words.
- <sup>58</sup> With all my inner being I plead with you to be good to me; act kindly to me as you promised that you would do.
- <sup>59</sup> I have thought about my behavior, and I have decided to return to obeying your requirements.
- <sup>60</sup> I hurry to obey your commands; I do not delay at all.
- <sup>61</sup> Wicked people have tried to seize me as a hunter tries to catch an animal with a net, but I do not forget your laws.
- <sup>62</sup> In the middle of the night I awake, and I praise you for your commands because they are fair.
- <sup>63</sup> I am a friend of all those who have an awesome respect for you, those who obey your principles of behavior.
- <sup>64</sup> Yahweh, you faithfully love people all over the earth; teach me your statutes.
- <sup>65</sup> Yahweh, you have done good things for me as you promised that you would do.
- <sup>66</sup> Teach me to think carefully before I decide what to do, and teach me other things that I need to know because I believe that it is right for us to obey your commands.
- <sup>67</sup> Before you afflicted me, I did things that were wrong, but now I obey your words.
- <sup>68</sup> You are very good, and what you do is good; teach me your statutes.
- <sup>69</sup> Proud people have told many lies about me,

- but as for me, I obey your principles of behavior.
- <sup>70</sup> Those people are stubborn, but as for me, I am delighted with your laws.
- <sup>71</sup> It was good for me that you afflicted me because the result was that I learned your statutes.
- <sup>72</sup> The laws that you give to us are worth more to me than gold, more than thousands of pieces of gold and silver.
- <sup>73</sup> You created me and formed my body; help me to be wise so that I may learn your commands.
- <sup>74</sup> Those who have an awesome respect for you will see what you have done for me, because they have confidence in the promises of your word.
- <sup>75</sup> Yahweh, I know that your regulations are right and that you have made me suffer because you love me without end.
- <sup>76</sup> Comfort me by showing that you faithfully love me as you said to me that you would do.
- <sup>77</sup> Act mercifully to me so that I may continue to live because I am delighted with your laws.
- <sup>78</sup> Cause the proud people who falsely accuse me to be shamed; but as for me, I will continue meditating on what you have commanded I should do.
- <sup>79</sup> Cause those who have an awesome respect for you to come back to me so that they may learn what you command.
- <sup>80</sup> Enable me to perfectly obey your statutes so that I may not be ashamed because of not doing that.
- <sup>81</sup> I am waiting for you to save me from my enemies; I confidently expect that you will tell me what you will do.
- <sup>82</sup> My eyes are tired from waiting a long time for you to do what you promised that you would do, and I ask, "When will you help me?"
- <sup>83</sup> I have become as useless as a wineskin that is shriveled from hanging a long time in the smoke inside a house, but I have not forgotten your statutes.
- <sup>84</sup> How long must I wait? When will you punish those who persecute me?
- <sup>85</sup> It is as though proud people, those who do not obey your laws, have dug deep pits for me to fall into.<sup>86</sup> All your commands are trustworthy; but people are persecuting me by telling lies about me, so please help me.
- <sup>87</sup> Those people almost killed me, but I have not stopped obeying your principles of behavior.
- <sup>88</sup> Because you faithfully love me, allow me to continue to live so that I may continue to obey your requirements that you have spoken.
- <sup>89</sup> Yahweh, your word will last forever; it is firmly fixed in heaven.
- <sup>90</sup> You will faithfully continue to act for people who are not yet born; you have put the earth in its place, and it remains firmly there.
- <sup>91</sup> To this day, all things on the earth remain because you decided that they should remain; everything on the earth serves you.
- <sup>92</sup> If I had not been delighted in obeying your laws, I would have died because of what I was suffering.
- <sup>93</sup> I will never forget your principles of behavior because as a result of my obeying them, you have enabled me to continue to live.
- <sup>94</sup> I belong to you; save me from my enemies because I have tried to obey your principles of behavior.

- <sup>95</sup> Wicked men are waiting to kill me,
but I will think about your requirements.
- <sup>96</sup> I have learned that there is a limit for
everything,
but your commands have no limit.
- <sup>97</sup> I love your laws very much.
I meditate on them all during the day.
- <sup>98</sup> Because I know your commands and because I think about them all the time,
I have become wiser than my
enemies.
- <sup>99</sup> I understand more than my teachers do because I meditate on what you command.
- <sup>100</sup> I understand more than many old people do
because I obey your principles of behavior.
- <sup>101</sup> I have avoided all evil behavior
so that I may obey your words.
- <sup>102</sup> I have not refused to obey them because you have taught me while I have studied them.
- <sup>103</sup> When I read your words,
they are like honey that I eat;
yes, they are even sweeter than honey.
- <sup>104</sup> Because I have learned your principles of behavior,
I am able to understand many
things;
therefore I hate all evil things that some people do.
- <sup>105</sup> Your word is a lamp to guide me;
it is like a light that shows me where
to walk.
- <sup>106</sup> I have solemnly promised, and I am solemnly promising it again, that I will always obey your regulations;
they are all fair.
- <sup>107</sup> Yahweh, I am suffering very much;
cause me to be strong again as you have promised to do.
- <sup>108</sup> Yahweh, when I thank you while I pray, it is like a sacrifice to you;
please accept it,
and teach me your regulations.

- <sup>109</sup> My enemies are often trying to kill
me,
but I do not forget your laws.
- <sup>110</sup> Wicked people have tried to seize me as a hunter tries to catch little animals with a trap,
but I have not disobeyed your principles of behavior.
- <sup>111</sup> I have your requirements forever;
because of them, I am joyful in my inner being.
- <sup>112</sup> I have decided to always obey your commands, every one of them.
- <sup>113</sup> I hate people who only say they love
you,
but I love your laws.
- <sup>114</sup> You are like a place where I can hide
from my enemies,
and you are like a shield behind which I am protected from
them;
- I trust in your promises.
- <sup>115</sup> You evil people, go away from me
so that I may obey my God's commands!
- <sup>116</sup> Enable me to be strong as you promised that you would do,
so that I may continue to live.
- I am confidently expecting that you will restore me;
do not disappoint me.
- <sup>117</sup> Hold me up so that I may be safe and always pay attention to your
commands.
- <sup>118</sup> You reject all those who disobey your statutes;
because they make deceitful plans
and they do not keep their word.
- <sup>119</sup> You get rid of all the wicked people on the earth as people get rid of trash;
therefore I love your requirements.
- <sup>120</sup> I tremble because I am afraid of you;
I am afraid because you punish those who do not obey your regulations.
- <sup>121</sup> But I have done what is right and fair;
so do not allow people to oppress
me.
- <sup>122</sup> Be responsible for doing good things
for me,

- and do not allow proud people to oppress me.
- <sup>123</sup> My eyes are tired from waiting a long time for you to rescue me, for you to save me as you promised that you would.
- <sup>124</sup> Do something for me to show that you faithfully love me, and teach me your statutes.
- <sup>125</sup> I am one who serves you; enable me to understand what you want me to know so that I may learn your requirements.
- <sup>126</sup> Yahweh, now is the time for you to punish people because they have disobeyed your laws.
- <sup>127</sup> Truly, I love your commands more than I love gold; I love them more than I love very pure gold.
- <sup>128</sup> So I conduct my life by your principles of behavior, and I hate all the evil things that some people do.
- <sup>129</sup> Your requirements are wonderful, so I obey them with all my inner being.
- <sup>130</sup> When someone explains your words, it is as though they are lighting a light; what they say causes even people who have not learned your laws to be wise.
- <sup>131</sup> I eagerly desire to know your commands as a dog pants with its mouth open, wanting to be fed.
- <sup>132</sup> Listen to me and act kindly to me as you do to all those who love you.
- <sup>133</sup> Guide me as you promised; do not allow evil people to control what I do.
- <sup>134</sup> Rescue me from those who oppress me so that I may obey your principles of behavior.
- <sup>135</sup> Act kindly toward me and teach me your statutes.
- <sup>136</sup> I cry very much

- because many people do not obey your laws.
- <sup>137</sup> Yahweh, you are righteous and your regulations are just.
- <sup>138</sup> You did what was right when you gave us the laws of your covenant promise, and you can be trusted when you made those promises to us.
- <sup>139</sup> I am furious because my enemies disregard your words.
- <sup>140</sup> I have found that your promises are dependable, and I love them.
- <sup>141</sup> I am not important, and people despise me, but I do not forget your principles of behavior.
- <sup>142</sup> You are righteous and you will be righteous forever, and your laws will never be changed.
- <sup>143</sup> I constantly have troubles and I am worried, but your commands cause me to be happy.
- <sup>144</sup> Your requirements are always fair; help me to understand them so that I may continue to live.
- <sup>145</sup> Yahweh, with all my inner being I call out to you; answer me and I will obey your statutes.
- <sup>146</sup> I call out to you, "Save me, and I will keep your commandments."
- <sup>147</sup> Each morning I arise before dawn and call to you to help me; I confidently expect you to do what you have promised.
- <sup>148</sup> All during the night I am awake, and I meditate on your commands and your promises.
- <sup>149</sup> Yahweh, because you faithfully love me, listen to me while I pray; keep me safe because I keep your regulations.
- <sup>150</sup> Those evil people who oppress me are coming closer to me;

- they do not pay any attention to your laws.
- <sup>151</sup> But Yahweh, you are near to me, and I know that your commands will never be changed.
- <sup>152</sup> Long ago I found out about your requirements, and I know that you intended them to last forever.
- <sup>153</sup> Look at me, see that I am suffering very much, and heal me because I do not forget your laws.
- <sup>154</sup> Defend me when others accuse me and rescue me from them; allow me to continue to live as you promised that you would.
- <sup>155</sup> Wicked people do not obey your statutes, so you will certainly not save them.
- <sup>156</sup> Yahweh, you have been merciful by helping me in many ways; allow me to continue to live as you have done until now.
- <sup>157</sup> Many people are my enemies; many people cause me to suffer, but I do not neglect your commands.
- <sup>158</sup> When I look at those who are not faithful to you, I am disgusted because they do not obey your requirements.
- <sup>159</sup> Yahweh, notice that I love your principles of behavior; because you faithfully love me, allow me to continue to live.
- <sup>160</sup> I can rely on everything that you have said; all your regulations will endure forever.
- <sup>161</sup> Rulers persecute me for no reason, but in my inner being I have a very awesome respect for your words.
- <sup>162</sup> I am happy about your words, as happy as someone who has found a great treasure.
- <sup>163</sup> I thoroughly hate all lies but I love your laws.
- <sup>164</sup> I praise you seven times a day for your commandments because they are all just.

- <sup>165</sup> Things go well for those who love your laws; nothing will make them abandon your laws.
- <sup>166</sup> Yahweh, I confidently expect that you will rescue me from my troubles, and I obey your commands.
- <sup>167</sup> I obey what you require us to do; I love it all very much.
- <sup>168</sup> I obey your principles of behavior, and you see everything that I do.
- <sup>169</sup> Yahweh, listen while I pray for you to help me; help me to understand your words.
- <sup>170</sup> Hear me while I pray, and rescue me as you said you would.
- <sup>171</sup> I will always praise you because you teach me your rules.
- <sup>172</sup> I will sing about your words because all your commands are just.
- <sup>173</sup> I request you to always be ready to help me because I have chosen to obey your principles of behavior.
- <sup>174</sup> Yahweh, I eagerly desire for you to rescue me from my enemies; I am delighted with your laws.
- <sup>175</sup> Allow me to continue to live in order that I can continue to praise you so that your regulations will continue to help me.
- <sup>176</sup> I have sinned and turned away from you like a sheep that has left its flock; search for me because I have not forgotten your commands.

- A psalm written for people going up to the temple to worship
- <sup>1</sup> When I was distressed, I called out to Yahweh and he answered me.
- <sup>2</sup> I prayed, "Yahweh, rescue me from those who lie to me and try to deceive me!"
- <sup>3</sup> You people who lie to me, I will tell you what God will do to you and what he will do to punish you.
- <sup>4</sup> He will punish you when soldiers shoot sharp arrows at you;

- arrows that were hardened and made sharp over hot coals from the wood of a broom tree.
- <sup>5</sup> It is terrible for me, living among cruel people like those who live in the regions of Meshech or Kedar.
- <sup>6</sup> I have lived for a long time among people who hate to live with others peacefully.
- <sup>7</sup> Every time I talk about living together peacefully, they talk about starting a war.

121

A psalm written for people going up to the temple to worship

- <sup>1</sup> When we travel toward Jerusalem, I look up toward the hills and I ask myself, "Who will help me?"
- <sup>2</sup> My answer is that Yahweh is the one who helps me; he is the one who made heaven and the earth.
- <sup>3</sup> He will not allow us to fall; God, who protects us, will not fall asleep.
- <sup>4</sup> The one who protects us Israelite people never gets sleepy or sleeps.
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh watches over us; he is like the shade that protects us from the sun.
- <sup>6</sup> He will not allow the sun to harm us during the day, and he will not allow the moon to harm us during the night.
- <sup>7</sup> Yahweh will protect us from being harmed in any manner; he will keep us safe.
- <sup>8</sup> He will protect us from the time that we leave our houses in the morning until we return in the evening; he will protect us now and he will protect us forever.

A psalm written by David for people going up to the temple to worship.

- <sup>1</sup> I was glad when people said to me, "We should go to the temple of Yahweh in Jerusalem!"

- <sup>2</sup> Now we are here, standing inside the gates of Jerusalem.
- <sup>3</sup> We can see that Jerusalem was a carefully built city. Every part of the city was built to fit together within the city as a whole.
- <sup>4</sup> We people of the tribes of Israel who belong to Yahweh can now go up there, as Yahweh commanded that we should do, so we can thank him.
- <sup>5</sup> There are the thrones, the thrones that the kings of Israel sat when they ruled Israel. These are the thrones of the descendants of King David.
- <sup>6</sup> Pray that there will be peace in Jerusalem!
- "I pray that those who love Jerusalem will succeed in life.
- <sup>7</sup> I pray that there may be peace inside the walls of the city and that people who are inside the palaces may be safe."
- <sup>8</sup> For the sake of my relatives and friends, "I pray that people will live peacefully inside Jerusalem."
- <sup>9</sup> And because I love the temple of Yahweh our God, "I pray that things will go well for the people who live in Jerusalem."

123

A psalm written for people going up to the temple to worship

- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, I look up toward you, up to heaven, from where you rule.
- <sup>2</sup> As servants ask their masters for what they need and as maids ask their mistresses for what they need, we ask you, Yahweh our God, for what we need, until you act mercifully toward us.
- <sup>3</sup> Yahweh, act very mercifully toward us because our enemies have acted very contemptuously toward us.

<sup>4</sup> Arrogant people have made fun of us for a long time, and proud people have oppressed us and have acted as though we were worthless.

124

A psalm written by David for people going up to the temple to worship.

<sup>1</sup> You Israelite people, answer this question:
What would have happened to us if Yahweh had not been helping us?
<sup>2</sup> When our enemies attacked us, if Yahweh had not been fighting for us, <sup>3</sup> we would have all been killed because they were very angry with us!
<sup>4</sup> They would have been like a flood of water sweeping us away; it would have been as though the water had covered us, <sup>5</sup> and we would all have drowned in the flood.

<sup>6</sup> But we praise Yahweh because he has not allowed our enemies to destroy us.
<sup>7</sup> We have escaped from our enemies as a bird escapes from the trap that hunters have set; it is as though the trap that our enemies set for us was broken and we have escaped from it!
<sup>8</sup> Yahweh is the one who helps us; he is the one who made heaven and the earth.

A psalm written for people going up to the temple to worship.

<sup>1</sup> Those who trust in Yahweh are like Mount Zion, which cannot be shaken or moved out of its place.
<sup>2</sup> As the hills that surround Jerusalem protect it, so Yahweh protects us, his people, and he will protect us forever.
<sup>3</sup> Wicked people should not be allowed to rule over the land where righteous people live. If they did that, those righteous people would think of doing wrong themselves.

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh, do good things to those who do good things to others and to those who sincerely obey your commands.

<sup>5</sup> But when you punish the Israelites who no longer obey you, you will punish them the same as you punish all the other evildoers.

I wish that things may go well for people in Israel!

126

A psalm written for people going up to the temple to worship.

<sup>1</sup> When Yahweh made Jerusalem prosperous again, it was wonderful; it seemed as though we were dreaming.

<sup>2</sup> We were extremely happy, and we continued shouting joyfully. Then the other people groups said about us, "Yahweh has done great things for them!"

<sup>5</sup> We cried when we planted seeds because it was hard work preparing the soil that had not been plowed for many years; now we want to shout joyfully because we are gathering a big harvest.

<sup>6</sup> Those who cried as they carried the bags of seeds to the fields will shout joyfully when they bring the crops to their houses at harvest time.

A psalm written by Solomon for people going up to the temple to worship.

<sup>1</sup> If people are building a house without Yahweh helping them, they are building it in vain.

Similarly, if Yahweh does not protect a city,
it is useless for guards to stay awake at night.
<sup>2</sup> It is also useless to arise very early and go to sleep late at night so that you can work hard all day to earn money to buy food because Yahweh gives food to those whom he loves even while they sleep.
<sup>3</sup> Children are a gift that comes to parents from Yahweh; they are a reward from him.
<sup>4</sup> If a man has sons while he is still young, when they grow up, they will be able to help him defend his family as a soldier can defend himself if he has a bow and arrows in his hand.
<sup>5</sup> How fortunate is a man who has many sons; he is like a soldier who has many arrows in his quiver.
If a man with his many grown sons is taken by his enemies to the place where they decide matters, his enemies will never be able to defeat that man because his sons will help to defend him.

128

A psalm written for those going up to the temple to worship.

<sup>1</sup> How fortunate are you who have an awesome respect for him and do what he wants you to do.
<sup>2</sup> You will be able to enjoy the food you provide yourself with; you will be fortunate and prosperous.
<sup>3</sup> Your wife will be like a grapevine that bears many grapes; she will give birth to many children. Your children who sit around your table; you will be like a strong olive tree that has many shoots growing up around it.
<sup>4</sup> Like that, Yahweh will bless every man who has an awesome respect for him.
<sup>5</sup> I wish that God in his temple on Mount Zion may help you greatly, and that you will see the people of Jerusalem prospering every day that you live!

<sup>6</sup> I wish that you may live many years and that you may have grandchildren and be able to see them. I wish that things may go well for people in Israel!

129

A psalm written for people going up to the temple to worship.

<sup>1</sup> I say that my enemies have afflicted me ever since I was young. Now I ask you, my fellow Israelites, to repeat those same words:
<sup>2</sup> "Our enemies have afflicted us since our nation began, but they have not defeated us!
<sup>3</sup> Our enemies struck us with whips that cut into our backs as a farmer uses a plow to cuts deep furrows into the ground."
<sup>4</sup> But Yahweh is righteous, and he has freed us from being slaves to wicked people.

<sup>5</sup> I wish that they may all be shamed because we will defeat them—all of Jerusalem's enemies.

<sup>6</sup> I hope that they may be of no value, like grass that grows on the roofs of houses, that dries up and does not grow tall;

<sup>7</sup> no one wants to cut it and tie it up as bundles and carry it away.

<sup>8</sup> People who pass by and see men harvesting grain usually greet them by saying to them, "We wish that Yahweh may bless you!"

But this will not happen to the enemies of Israel.

We, acting as Yahweh's representatives, bless you, our fellow Israelites!

130

A psalm written for people going up to the temple to worship.

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh, I have great troubles, so I call out to you.
<sup>2</sup> Yahweh, hear me while I call out to you to have mercy on me!

<sup>3</sup> Yahweh, if you kept a record of the sins
that we have committed,
not one of us would escape from being condemned and punished!

<sup>4</sup> But you forgive us, with the result that we have an awesome respect for you.

<sup>5</sup> Yahweh has said that he would help me;
I trust what he said, and I wait eagerly for him to do that.

<sup>6</sup> I wait for Yahweh to help me more than watchmen wait for the morning to come;
yes, I wait more eagerly than they
do!

<sup>7</sup> You, my fellow Israelites, confidently expect that Yahweh will bless us.
He will bless us because he has
mercy on us,

and he is very willing to save us.

<sup>8</sup> It is he who will save us Israelite people from being punished for all the sins
that we have committed.

A psalm written by David for people going up to the temple to worship.

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh, I am not proud;
I do not deserve to achieve impressive things in life.
I do not worry about problems that are too difficult for me to solve.

<sup>2</sup> Instead, I am calm and peaceful in my inner being
like a small child who no longer nurses but is happy to be with its mother.
In the same way, I am peaceful within my inner being.

<sup>3</sup> You, my fellow Israelites, confidently expect that Yahweh will do good things for you
now and forever!

A song to sing along the road up to Jerusalem.

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh, do not forget King David and all the hardships he endured!

<sup>2</sup> He made a solemn promise to you,
the mighty God whom our ancestor Jacob worshiped.

<sup>3</sup> He said, "I will not go home,
I will not rest on my bed,

<sup>4</sup> and I will not sleep at all

<sup>5</sup> until I build a place for Yahweh, a home for the mighty God whom Jacob worshiped."

<sup>6</sup> In Ephrathah we heard where the sacred chest was.

So we went and found it near the city of Kiriath Jearim, and we took it to Jerusalem.

<sup>7</sup> Later we said, "Let us go to the sacred tent of Yahweh in Jerusalem;
let us worship there in front of the throne where he is sitting."

<sup>8</sup> Yahweh, come to the place where you live eternally,
to the place where your sacred chest
is,
to the place that shows that you are
very powerful.

<sup>9</sup> I want that the righteous behavior of your priests will always be evident, and that your people will always shout
joyfully.

<sup>10</sup> You chose David to serve you as king of Israel;
do not reject him!

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh, you made a solemn promise to David,
a promise that you will not break.
You said, "I will cause your descendants
to rule as kings like you.

<sup>12</sup> If they obey my covenant with
them
and obey all the commands that I will give them,
the line of kings descended from you will never end."

<sup>13</sup> Yahweh has chosen Jerusalem;
that is where he wants to rule from.

<sup>14</sup> He said, "This is the city where I will live forever;
this is the place where I want to stay.

<sup>15</sup> I will give to the people of Jerusalem all that they need;
I will give enough food to satisfy
even the poor people there.

<sup>16</sup> I will cause the priests to behave in a manner worthy of ones whom I have

- saved;
and all my people who live there will shout joyfully.
- <sup>17</sup> There in Jerusalem I will cause one of David's descendants to become a great king;
he also will be my chosen king,
It is there that I will make David's line of descendants continue.
- <sup>18</sup> I will defeat his enemies and cause them to be very ashamed;
but the crown that my king wears will always shine."

A psalm written for people going up to the temple to worship.

- <sup>1</sup> It is very good and very pleasant for God's people to gather together in peace.
- <sup>2</sup> It is as delightful as the precious oil that ran down from the high priest Aaron's head onto his beard when Moses anointed him, that ran down onto the collar of his robes.
- <sup>3</sup> Gathering together in peace is as delightful as the dew that falls on Mount Hermon and the dew that falls on Mount Zion.
- Yahweh has promised to bless his people there in Jerusalem by making their nation last forever.

134

A psalm written for people going up to the temple to worship.

- <sup>1</sup> All you people who serve Yahweh, who stand up and serve him at night in his temple, come and praise him!
- <sup>2</sup> Lift up your hands to pray to him in the temple and praise him!
- <sup>3</sup> I hope that Yahweh, who created heaven and the earth, may bless you from where he lives in the temple on Mount Zion!

- <sup>1</sup> Praise Yahweh!
You who worship Yahweh, praise him!

- <sup>2</sup> You who stand at the temple of Yahweh our God in its courtyards, ready to serve him, praise him!
- <sup>3</sup> Praise Yahweh because he does good things for us; sing to him because it is a joyful thing to do so.
- <sup>4</sup> He has chosen us, the descendants of Jacob; he has chosen us Israelites to belong to him.
- <sup>5</sup> I say these things because I know that Yahweh is great; he is greater than all the gods.
- <sup>6</sup> Yahweh does whatever he desires to do in heaven, on the earth, and in the seas, down to the bottom of the seas.
- <sup>7</sup> He is the one who causes clouds to appear from very distant places on the earth; he makes lightning bolts to flash with the rain, and he brings the winds from the places where he stores them.
- <sup>8</sup> He is the one who killed all the firstborn males in Egypt, the firstborn of people and of animals.
- <sup>9</sup> There he performed many kinds of miracles to punish the king and all his officials.
- <sup>10</sup> He attacked many nations and killed the powerful kings who ruled them:
- <sup>11</sup> Sihon, the king of the Amor people group, Og, the king of Bashan, and all the other kings in the land of Canaan.
- <sup>12</sup> Yahweh gave us their land, so that it would belong to us, his people Israel, forever.
- <sup>13</sup> Yahweh, your name will endure forever, and people who are not yet born will remember the great things that you have done.
- <sup>14</sup> Yahweh declares that we, his people, are

- innocent,
and he acts mercifully toward us.
- <sup>15</sup> But the idols that the other people groups worship are only statues made of silver and gold, things that humans have made.
- <sup>16</sup> Their idols have mouths, but they cannot say anything;
they have eyes, but they cannot see anything.
- <sup>17</sup> They have ears, but they cannot hear anything,
and they are not even able to breathe.
- <sup>18</sup> The people who make those idols are as powerless as those idols, and those who trust in those idols can accomplish no more than their idols can!
- <sup>19</sup> My fellow Israelites, praise Yahweh!
You priests who are descended from Aaron, praise Yahweh!
- <sup>20</sup> You men who are descended from Levi, you who assist the priests,
praise Yahweh!
- All you who have a reverential respect for Yahweh, praise him!
- <sup>21</sup> Praise Yahweh in the temple on Mount Zion in Jerusalem
where he lives!
Praise Yahweh!
- 136
- <sup>1</sup> Thank Yahweh because he does good things for us;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>2</sup> Thank God, the one who is greater than all other gods;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>3</sup> Thank the Lord who is greater than all other lords;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>4</sup> He is the only one who performs great miracles;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>5</sup> He is the one who, by being very wise,
created the heavens;
he will love us forever as he has

- promised.
- <sup>6</sup> He is the one who caused the ground to rise up above the deep waters;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>7</sup> He is the one who created great lights in the sky;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>8</sup> He created the sun to shine in the daytime;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>9</sup> He created the moon and stars to shine during the nighttime;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>10</sup> He is the one who killed the firstborn males in Egypt;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>11</sup> He led the Israelite people out of Egypt;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>12</sup> With his strong hand he led them out;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>13</sup> He is the one who caused the Sea of Reeds to divide;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>14</sup> He enabled the Israelite people to walk through it on dry land;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>15</sup> But he caused the king of Egypt and his army to drown in it;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>16</sup> He is the one who led his people safely through the wilderness;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>17</sup> He killed powerful kings;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>18</sup> He killed kings who were famous;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>19</sup> He killed Sihon, the king of the Amor

- people group;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>20</sup> He killed Og, the king of the region of Bashan;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>21</sup> He gave their lands to us, his people;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>22</sup> He gave those lands to us people of Israel, who serve him;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>23</sup> He is the one who did not forget about us when our enemies had defeated us;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>24</sup> He rescued us from our enemies;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>25</sup> He is the one who gives food to all living creatures;
he will love us forever as he has promised.
- <sup>26</sup> So thank God, who lives in heaven because he will love us forever as he has promised!

137

- <sup>1</sup> When we had been taken to Babylonia far from Jerusalem, we sat down by the rivers there, and we cried when we thought about the temple on Mount Zion in Jerusalem.
- <sup>2</sup> On the willow trees alongside the rivers we hung our harps because we did not want to play them anymore and because we were very sad.
- <sup>3</sup> The soldiers who had captured us and taken us to Babylonia forced us to sing for them; they told us to entertain them; they said,
"Sing for us one of the songs that you previously sang in Jerusalem!"
- <sup>4</sup> But we thought to ourselves, "We are sad because we have been

- punished by Yahweh and brought to this foreign land; we cannot sing songs about Yahweh while we are here!"
- <sup>5</sup> If I forget about Jerusalem, I hope that my right hand will wither so that I will be unable to play my harp!
- <sup>6</sup> I hope that I will not be able to sing again if I forget about Jerusalem, if I do not consider that Jerusalem causes me to be more joyful than anything else does.
- <sup>7</sup> Yahweh, punish the people of the Edom people group for what they did on the day that the army of Babylon captured Jerusalem.
- Do not forget that they said,
"Tear down all the buildings!
Destroy them completely!
Leave only the foundations!"
- <sup>8</sup> You people of Babylon, you will certainly be destroyed!
How fortunate are those who punish you for what you did to us;
- <sup>9</sup> How fortunate are those who take your babies and smash them to pieces on the rocks.
- 138
- A psalm written by David.
- <sup>1</sup> Yahweh, I thank you with all my inner being.
I sing to praise you, even though many people worship idols.
- <sup>2</sup> When I look toward your sacred temple, I bow down and thank you because you faithfully love us and do all that you have promised.
- You have given cause for people everywhere to honor you and what you have said more than anything else.
- <sup>3</sup> When I called out to you, you answered me; you enabled me to be strong and brave.

- <sup>4</sup>Yahweh, someday all the kings of this earth will praise you because they will have heard what you have said.
- <sup>5</sup>They will sing about what you have done; they will sing and say that you are very great.
- <sup>6</sup>Yahweh, you are supreme, but you take care of people who are considered to be unimportant. However, you do not show yourself to proud people as faithful.
- <sup>7</sup>When I am in the middle of many troubles, you save me. With your hand you rescue me from my enemies who are angry at me.
- <sup>8</sup>Yahweh, you will do for me everything that you promised; you faithfully love us forever. Finish what you started to do for us, your Israelite people!

139

A psalm written by David for the choir director.

- <sup>1</sup>Yahweh, you have examined what is in my inner being, and you know everything about me.
- <sup>2</sup>You know when I sit down and when I stand up. Even though you are far away from me, you know what I am thinking.
- <sup>3</sup>From the time that I rise in the morning until I lie down to sleep at night, you know everything that I do.
- <sup>4</sup>Yahweh, even before I say anything, you know everything that I am going to say!
- <sup>5</sup>You protect me on all sides; you put your hand on me to protect me with your power.
- <sup>6</sup>I am not able to understand that you know everything about me. That is too hard for me to really understand.
- <sup>7</sup>Where could I go to escape from your Spirit? Where could I go to get away from you?
- <sup>8</sup>If I go up to heaven, you will be there. If I lie down in the place where the dead

- people are, you will be there.
- <sup>9</sup>If the sun could carry me across the sky, if I flew west and made a place to live on an island in the ocean,
- <sup>10</sup>you would be there also to lead me by your hand, and you would help me.
- <sup>11</sup>I could wish for the darkness to hide me, or I could wish for the light around me to become darkness.
- <sup>12</sup>But even if that happened, you would still see me. For you the night is as bright as the daytime, because daylight and darkness are no different to you.
- <sup>13</sup>You created all the parts of my body; you put the parts of my body together when I was still in my mother's womb.
- <sup>14</sup>I praise you because you made my body very awesomely and wonderfully. Everything that you do is amazing! I certainly know that very well.
- <sup>15</sup>When my body was being formed, while it was being put together where no one else could see it, you saw it!
- <sup>16</sup>You saw me before I was born. You wrote in your book the number of days that you had decided that I would live. You did that before any of those days had even started!
- <sup>17</sup>God, what you think about me is very valuable. There are a huge amount of things that you think about.
- <sup>18</sup>If I could count them, I would see that they are more than the grains of sand at the seashore.
- When I awake, I am still with you.
- <sup>19</sup>God, I wish that you would kill the wicked people! I wish that violent men would all leave me.
- <sup>20</sup>They say wicked things about you; they slander your name.
- <sup>21</sup>Yahweh, I certainly hate those who

- hate you!
I despise those who rebel against
you.
- <sup>22</sup>I hate them completely,
and I consider that they are my
enemies.
- <sup>23</sup>God, search my inner being;
find out what I am thinking!
- <sup>24</sup>Find out whether there is anything evil
in my inner being,
and lead me along the road that leads to my being with you
forever.
- 140
- A psalm written by David.
- <sup>1</sup>Yahweh, rescue me from being attacked
by evil men;
even more, keep me safe from being attacked by violent people.
- <sup>2</sup>They are always planning to do evil
things,
and they are always encouraging
people to start quarrels.
- <sup>3</sup>By what they say, they injure people as poisonous snakes do.
- <sup>4</sup>Yahweh, protect me from the power of
wicked people.
Keep me safe from violent men
who plan to ruin me.
- <sup>5</sup>It is as though proud people have set a trap for me;
it is as though they have spread
their nets to catch me;
it is as though they have put these things along the road to catch
me.
- <sup>6</sup>I say to you, "Yahweh, you are my God.
Listen to me while I cry out to you to help me."
- <sup>7</sup>Yahweh, my Lord, you are the one who strongly defends me;
you have protected me during battles as though you had put a helmet on my head.
- <sup>8</sup>Yahweh, do not give to wicked people
the things that they desire,
and do not allow them to do the evil things that they plan to do.
- <sup>9</sup>Do not allow my enemies to become
proud;
cause the evil things that they say

- they will do to me to happen to them instead.
- <sup>10</sup>Cause burning coals to fall on their heads!
Cause them to be thrown into deep pits from which they cannot climb out!
- <sup>11</sup>Do not allow those who slander others
to succeed;
cause evil things to happen to violent men and destroy them!
- <sup>12</sup>Yahweh, I know that you will defend
those who are oppressed,
and that you will do what is just.
- <sup>13</sup>Righteous people will surely thank
you,
and they will live in your presence.
- 141
- A psalm written by David.
- <sup>1</sup>Yahweh, I call out to you;
please help me quickly!
Listen to me when I am calling to you.
- <sup>2</sup>Accept my prayer as though it were incense being burned as an offering
to you.
Accept me while I lift up my hands
to pray to you,
just as you accept sacrifices that are offered to you in the evening.
- <sup>3</sup>Yahweh, do not allow me to say things
that are wrong;
guard what I say as a sentry guards a door.
- <sup>4</sup>Prevent me from wanting to do anything that is wrong and from joining with wicked men
when they want to do evil
deeds.
- Do not even allow me to share in eating delightful food with them!
- <sup>5</sup>It is all right if righteous people strike
me or rebuke me
because they are trying to act kindly toward me to teach me to do
what is right;
- if they do that, it will be as if someone honored me by anointing my head
with olive oil;
but I am always praying that you will punish the wicked because of the wicked deeds that they

do.

<sup>6</sup> When their rulers are thrown down from the top of rocky cliffs, they will know that what I am saying here is good.

<sup>7</sup> They will know one day that their bodies will lie scattered on the ground in the place of the dead, just as one scatters clods of earth when he plows a field.

<sup>8</sup> But Yahweh God, I continue to request that you help me. I ask you to protect me; do not allow me to die now!

<sup>9</sup> It is as though people have set traps for me; protect me from falling into those traps. It is as though they have spread nets to catch me; keep me from being caught in those nets.

<sup>10</sup> I wish that wicked people may fall into the traps they have set to catch me while I escape from them.

142

A psalm that David prayed when he was hiding in a cave.

<sup>2</sup> I am bringing to you all my problems; I am telling you all my troubles.

<sup>3</sup> When I am very discouraged, you know what I should do.

Wherever I walk, it is as though my enemies have hidden traps for me to fall into.

<sup>4</sup> I look around, but there is no one who sees me, no one who will protect me, and no one who cares about what happens to me.

<sup>5</sup> So Yahweh, I cry out to you to help me; you are the one who protects me; you are all that I need while I am alive.

<sup>6</sup> Listen to me while I cry out to you for help because I am very distressed.

Rescue me because those who make me suffer are very strong;

I cannot escape from them.

<sup>7</sup> Free me from my troubles so that I may thank you. If you do that, when I am with others who live rightly, I will praise you for having been very good to me.

143

A psalm written by David.

<sup>1</sup> Yahweh, hear me while I pray to you! Because you are righteous and because you faithfully do what you have promised, listen to what I am pleading for you to do for me.

<sup>2</sup> I am one who worships you; do not judge me because you do not consider anyone to be completely innocent.

<sup>3</sup> My enemies have pursued me; they have completely defeated me.

It is as though they have put me in a dark prison where I have nothing good to hope for.

<sup>4</sup> So I am very discouraged in my inner being; I am very dismayed.

<sup>5</sup> I remember what has happened previously; I meditate on all the things that you have done;

I consider all the great deeds that you have performed.

<sup>6</sup> I lift up my hands to you while I pray; I want very much to be with you as much as I would thirst for water in a vast wilderness.

<sup>7</sup> Yahweh, I am very discouraged, so please answer me right now!

Do not keep away from me because if you do that, I will soon be among those who descend to where the dead people are.

<sup>8</sup> Every morning cause me to remember that you faithfully love me because I trust in you.

I pray to you; show me the things that I should do.

<sup>9</sup> Yahweh, I have gone to you for you to protect me,

so rescue me from my enemies.

<sup>10</sup>You are my God;
teach me to do what you want me
to do.

I want your good Spirit to show me the right things to do.

<sup>11</sup>Yahweh, restore me when I am close to dying as you promised to do because you are righteous!

<sup>12</sup>I am one who serves you;
so because you faithfully love me as you
promised to do,
kill my enemies
and get rid of all those who oppress
me.

144

Written by David

<sup>1</sup>I praise Yahweh, who is like a huge rock
on which I am safe!

He trains my hands so that I can use them to fight battles;
he trains my fingers so that I can shoot arrows in a war.

<sup>2</sup>He is the one who protects me as he
promised;
he is like a fortress in which I am
safe,
he protects me as shields protect
soldiers,
and he gives me refuge.

He defeats other nations and then puts them under my power.

<sup>3</sup>Yahweh, we people are so insignificant!
Why do you notice us?

It is amazing to me that you pay attention to humans.

<sup>4</sup>The time that we live is as short as a puff
of wind;
our time to live disappears as a shadow does.

<sup>5</sup>Yahweh, tear open the sky and come down!
Touch the mountains so that smoke may pour out from
them!

<sup>6</sup>Cause lightning to flash with the result that your enemies will run away!

Shoot your arrows at them and cause them to run away in panic.

<sup>7</sup>It is as though my enemies are like a flood around me;
reach your hand down from heaven
and rescue me from them.

They are men from foreign countries
<sup>8</sup>who always tell lies.

Even when they swear to tell the truth,
they tell lies.

<sup>9</sup>God, I will sing a new song to you, and I will play my ten-stringed harp
while I sing to you.

<sup>10</sup>You enable kings to defeat their
enemies;
you rescue those who serve you as I
did.

<sup>11</sup>So I ask you to save me from being killed by the swords that those evil people carry.

Rescue me from the power of those men
from foreign countries
who always tell lies.

Even when they swear to tell the truth,
they tell lies.

<sup>12</sup>I wish that our sons may all grow to full adulthood;

I wish that our daughters may grow up to be as straight and tall
as the pillars that stand in the corners of palaces.

<sup>13</sup>I wish that our barns may be full of many different crops.

I wish that the sheep in our fields may give birth to tens of thousands of baby lambs.

<sup>14</sup>I wish that our cattle may give birth to many calves
without having any miscarriages or deaths when they are born.

I wish that there may not be any time when the people in our streets cry out in distress
because foreign armies are invading.

<sup>15</sup>If good things like that happen to a nation,
the people will be very fortunate.

How fortunate are those who worship
Yahweh as God!

145

A psalm written by David to praise God.

<sup>1</sup>My God and King, I will proclaim that you are very great;

- I will praise you now and forever.
- <sup>2</sup> Every day I will praise you;
Yes, I will praise you forever.
- <sup>3</sup> Yahweh, you are great, and you ought to be praised very much;
we cannot fully realize how great you are.
- <sup>4</sup> Parents will tell their children the things that you have done;
they will tell their children about your mighty deeds.
- <sup>5</sup> I will think about how you are very glorious and majestic,
and I will meditate on all your wonderful deeds.
- <sup>6</sup> People will speak about your powerful and awesome deeds,
and I will proclaim that you are very great.
- <sup>7</sup> People will remember and proclaim that you are very good to us,
and they will sing joyfully that you always act justly.
- <sup>8</sup> Yahweh, you act kindly and mercifully toward us;
you do not quickly become angry;
you faithfully love us very much as you have promised to do.
- <sup>9</sup> Yahweh, you are good to everyone,
and you act mercifully to everything that you have made.
- <sup>10</sup> Yahweh, all the creatures that you made will thank you,
and all your people will praise you.
- <sup>11</sup> They will tell others that you rule very gloriously as our king and that you are very powerful.
- <sup>12</sup> They will do that so that everyone will know about your powerful deeds and that you rule over us gloriously.
- <sup>13</sup> You will never stop being king;
you will rule throughout all generations.
- <sup>14</sup> Yahweh, you help all those who are discouraged,
and you lift up all those who have lost hope.
- <sup>15</sup> All of the creatures that you made expect that you will provide food for them,
and you give them food when they

- need it.
- <sup>16</sup> You give food to all living creatures generously,
and you cause them to be satisfied.
- <sup>17</sup> Everything that Yahweh does, he does justly;
all that he does, he does mercifully.
- <sup>18</sup> Yahweh comes near to all those who call out to him,
to those who call to him sincerely.
- <sup>19</sup> To all those who have an awesome respect for him he gives what they need.
He hears them when they cry out to him and saves them.
- <sup>20</sup> Yahweh protects all those who love him,
but he will get rid of all the wicked people.
- <sup>21</sup> I will always praise Yahweh;
I wish that all people everywhere may praise him forever, for he does everything perfectly.
- 146
- <sup>1</sup> Praise Yahweh.
With my whole inner being I will praise Yahweh.
- <sup>2</sup> I will praise Yahweh as long as I am alive;
I will sing to praise my God all the rest of my life.
- <sup>3</sup> You people, do not trust in your leaders;
do not trust humans because they cannot save.
- <sup>4</sup> When they die, their corpses decay and become soil again.
After they die, they can no longer do the things that they planned to do.
- <sup>5</sup> But how fortunate are those whom God helps, the God whom Jacob worshiped.
These are the people who confidently expect Yahweh, their God, to help them.
- <sup>6</sup> He is the one who created the heavens and the earth,
the oceans and all the creatures that are in them.
He always does what he has promised to do.
- <sup>7</sup> He decides matters fairly for those who are treated unfairly,

and he provides food for those who are hungry.

He frees those who are in prison.

<sup>8</sup> Yahweh enables those who are blind to see again.

He lifts up those who have fallen down.
He loves the righteous people.

<sup>9</sup> Yahweh takes care of those from other countries who live in our land,
and he helps widows and orphans.
But he stops wicked people from what they are doing.

<sup>10</sup> Yahweh will continue to be our king
forever;
you people of Israel, your God will rule forever!

Praise Yahweh!

It is good to sing praises to our God.
It is a delightful thing to do and the right thing to do.

<sup>2</sup> Jerusalem was destroyed, but Yahweh is enabling us to build Jerusalem again.
He is bringing back the people who were taken to other lands.

<sup>3</sup> He enables those who were very discouraged to be encouraged again;
it is as though they have wounds
and he bandages them.

<sup>4</sup> He has determined how many stars
there will be
and gives names to all of them.

<sup>5</sup> Yahweh is great and very powerful,
and no one can measure how much
he understands.

<sup>6</sup> Yahweh lifts up those who have been
oppressed,
and he throws the wicked down to the ground.

<sup>7</sup> Thank Yahweh while you are singing to him to praise him;
on the harps, play music to our
God.

<sup>8</sup> He covers the sky with clouds,
and then he sends rain to the earth and causes grass to grow on the hills.

<sup>9</sup> He gives to animals the food that they need;

he gives food to young crows when they cry out because they are hungry.

<sup>10</sup> He is not impressed with strong horses or with men who can run fast.

<sup>11</sup> Instead, what pleases him are those who have an awesome respect for
him,
those who confidently expect him
to continue to love them as he promised to do.

<sup>12</sup> You people of Jerusalem, praise
Yahweh!

Praise your God!

<sup>13</sup> He guards your city by keeping its gates strong.

He blesses the people who live there.

<sup>14</sup> He causes your people to become wealthy.

He gives you plenty of very good wheat to eat.

<sup>15</sup> He commands things to happen
throughout the earth;
his words quickly reach the place to which he sends them.

<sup>16</sup> He sends snow to cover the ground like a white wool blanket,
and he scatters frost on the ground
as wind scatters ashes.

<sup>17</sup> He sends hail down like pebbles;
when that happens, it is very difficult to endure because the air becomes very cold.

<sup>18</sup> But he commands the wind to blow,
and it blows.
Then the hail melts and the water
flows into the streams.

<sup>19</sup> He sends his message to the descendants of Jacob;
he tells to his Israelite people the things that he has decreed and what he has decided.

<sup>20</sup> He has not done that for any other
nation;
the other nations do not know his laws.

Praise Yahweh!

<sup>148</sup>

Praise him, you angels who are in the heavens;

- praise him, you angels up in the sky!
- <sup>2</sup> All you angels who belong to him, praise him!
All you who are in the armies of Yahweh, praise him!
- <sup>3</sup> Sun and moon, you also must praise him!
You shining stars, you praise him!
- <sup>4</sup> You highest heavens, praise him!
You waters that are high above the sky, praise him!
- <sup>5</sup> I want all of these to praise Yahweh because by commanding that they exist, he created them.
- <sup>6</sup> He set them in place; he commanded that they should be there forever.
They cannot disobey that command!
- <sup>7</sup> Everything on the earth, praise Yahweh!
You huge creatures and everything else that is deep in the ocean,
- <sup>8</sup> fire and hail, snow and frost, and strong winds that obey what he commands,
- I tell all of you to praise Yahweh!
- <sup>9</sup> Hills and mountains, fruit trees and cedar trees,
- <sup>10</sup> all the wild animals and all tame animals, reptiles and other things that creep on the ground, and all the birds, I tell all of you to praise Yahweh!
- <sup>11</sup> You kings on this earth and all the people that you rule, you princes and all other rulers,
- <sup>12</sup> you young men and young women, you old people and children, everyone, praise Yahweh!
- <sup>13</sup> I want them all to praise Yahweh because he is greater than anyone else.
His power controls everything on the earth and in the heavens.
- <sup>14</sup> He caused us, his people, to be strong so that we Israelite people who are very precious to him should praise him,
So praise Yahweh!

- <sup>1</sup> Praise Yahweh!
Sing a new song to Yahweh; praise him whenever his faithful people gather together!
- <sup>2</sup> You Israelite people, be glad because of what God, who created you, has done for you!
You people of Jerusalem, rejoice because of what God, your king, has done for you!
- <sup>3</sup> Praise Yahweh by dancing, by beating tambourines, and by playing harps to praise him!
- <sup>4</sup> Yahweh is pleased with his people; he honors humble people by helping them to defeat their enemies.
- <sup>5</sup> Because they have won battles, God's people should rejoice and sing joyfully all during the night!
- <sup>6</sup> They should shout loudly to praise God; but they should also hold sharp swords in their hands,
- <sup>7</sup> ready to use them to defeat the soldiers of nations that do not worship God and to punish the people of those nations.
- <sup>8</sup> They will fasten their kings and other leaders with iron chains.
- <sup>9</sup> They will judge and punish the people of those nations as God wrote should be done.
Everyone else will honor God's faithful people for doing that!
- Praise Yahweh!
- <sup>150</sup>
- <sup>1</sup> Praise Yahweh!
Praise God in his temple!
Praise him who is in his fortress in heaven!
- <sup>2</sup> Praise him for the mighty deeds that he has performed; praise him because he is very great!
- <sup>3</sup> Praise him by blowing trumpets loudly; praise him by playing harps and small stringed instruments!
- <sup>4</sup> Praise him by beating drums and by dancing.

Praise him by playing stringed instruments and by playing flutes!

<sup>5</sup>Praise him by clashing cymbals; praise him by clashing very loud cymbals!

<sup>6</sup>I want all living creatures to praise Yahweh!

Praise Yahweh!

Proverbs

1 These are the sayings that compare one example with another, to teach moral lessons and to make people wise, from Solomon the king of Israel, who was son of David.

2 The purpose of these sayings is to teach the meaning of wisdom and give examples of moral instruction, so wise teaching can guide you.

3 These sayings offer correction so you may live by wisdom, by the measures of what is right, what is just, and what is fair.

4 They give wise teaching to those who have no experience and to instruct those who do not know how to live a moral life, and to give the young the knowledge they need and to teach them the understanding they do not have—

5 so the wise may listen to these sayings and increase in their learning, and those who already have insight will gain more ways to live according to the lessons of wisdom.

6 They seek to understand the lessons of the proverbs and the meaning of the parables.

These are the words of the wise and their difficult riddles.

7 You must begin your search for knowledge by honoring Yahweh and respecting him, a fool who dishonors himself hates wisdom and fights against the one who corrects him.

8 My son, listen when your father teaches you and do not disobey the rules your mother set down.

9 Their teaching is a wreath upon your head, and beautiful necklaces around your neck, they are priceless gifts from your parents.

10 My son, as sinners try to draw you into their sin with smooth talk and flattery, do not listen to what they say and do not follow them.

11 They may say, "Come with us! Join us! We will hide in wait and we will take the life of one who passes by.

We will hide ourselves and we will rise up and attack a person who has done us no wrong—that will be our sport.

12 Like the grave has power to take even a healthy person and drag them to the place of the dead, we will take their life from them.

We will make them like those who fall into the place where there is no hope of escape.

13 We will find many valuable and expensive items, and we will fill our houses with what we stole from them!

14 So, come, be part of our team! We will split into equal shares, and give to each member of our team, from all the things we stole."

15 My son, do not walk that road with them!

Do not put your foot down on the same path on which they walk!

16 They run to the places where they do terrible things, They hurry so they can commit murder.

17 It is useless to put out a net to trap a bird

while the bird is watching you.

18 These men make plans that turn around and kill them.

They set a trap and the trap catches them.

19 These are the ways of all who gain their riches through theft and deceit;

- the things they stole destroy the lives of the thieves who cling to them.
- <sup>20</sup> Wisdom is like a woman who cries out in the streets.
Wisdom calls out to people in the plazas.
- <sup>21</sup> At the intersection of busy streets she cries out and at the entrance of city gates.
- <sup>22</sup> She cries, "How long will you who have not been taught, will you love being enticed to do what will harm you?
How long will you who think you know more than the wise, have so much joy in the little you know?
How long will you fools refuse to learn?"
- <sup>23</sup> If you pay attention to me when I correct you,
I will tell you all I am thinking.
I will help you understand what I am saying to you.
- <sup>24</sup> But when I called to you, you refused to listen.
I beckoned you and stretched out my hands to you,
but no one paid any attention.
- <sup>25</sup> You refused to listen to my advice
and you did not listen when I corrected you.
- <sup>26</sup> I will laugh at you, when you are experiencing troubles,
when you are terribly afraid,
I will have contempt for you and not compassion.
- <sup>27</sup> When troubles strike you like a powerful storm,
and disasters hit you like a violent wind,
when you experience distress and you go through difficulties,
I will have contempt for you.
- <sup>28</sup> When people call to me to help them,
but I will not answer them.
They will be desperate for my help,
and search everywhere for me,
but they will not find me.
- <sup>29</sup> They reject what I say and they hate

- what I know,
and they made a choice not to show respect to Yahweh.
- <sup>30</sup> They would not obey what I told them to do, and they did not pay attention when I tried to correct them.
- <sup>31</sup> So they will experience the consequences of their actions when they carry out their evil plans.
- <sup>32</sup> Those who have not been taught wisdom are foolish.
Fools choose to make no decision about anything, but be sure of this: Their failure to make a decision will destroy their lives.
- <sup>33</sup> But those who pay attention to me will live in peace and safety, and they will rest and not be afraid of any disaster that may come."
- 2 My son, listen to what I say,
and consider my commands to be as valuable as a treasure.
- <sup>2</sup> Pay attention to wisdom
and try hard to understand what is wise.
- <sup>3</sup> Call out to Yahweh to get insight, plead with him to help you understand more of what he wants you to know.
- <sup>4</sup> Search eagerly for wisdom, like you would search for silver—like you would search for a treasure that someone has hidden.
- <sup>5</sup> If you do that, you will understand how to give Yahweh the respect he deserves,
and you will succeed in knowing God.
- <sup>6</sup> Yahweh is the one who gives us wisdom.
He is the one who tells us things that we need to know and understand.
- <sup>7</sup> He stores up good advice so he can give it to them who honor him by the way they live their lives.
He protects those who do with their lives what they say with their lips.
- <sup>8</sup> He guards justice and works to see it is done,

- and he keeps safe those who are faithful to him.
- <sup>9</sup> You will understand what Yahweh sees is right and what Yahweh determines is just to do,
and he will show you the best way to live.
- <sup>10</sup> Wisdom will fill your life;
knowing what Yahweh wants you to know will cause you to be joyful.
- <sup>11</sup> You will learn to tell the difference between right and wrong and that will keep you safe.
- <sup>12</sup> You will not do what Yahweh forbids you to do, and you will stay away from those who imagine horrible things and talk about them.
- <sup>13</sup> They go the wrong way,
and they walk where there is no light.
- <sup>14</sup> They are glad when they do what is wrong,
they twist good things into bad and enjoy doing what they know is wrong.
- <sup>15</sup> They bend the truth and live by deception
and their lies hide what they have done.
- <sup>16</sup> Wisdom will keep you safe from the adulterous woman, and you will not pay attention when a strange woman invites you to be with her.
- <sup>17</sup> Those women left the husbands they married when they were young, they forgot the promise they made to God to love only the one they married.
- <sup>18</sup> Those who enter her house are taken to their death, because the way to her house takes them where dead people are buried.
- <sup>19</sup> All who go to her to sleep with her have no way to get out of her house, they will be so lost they will never find the way back to life.
- <sup>20</sup> You must live your life in the same way
- that good men are living.
You should do the same things as those who do what is right.
- <sup>21</sup> Those who do what is right will receive the land as a gift from Yahweh, and only those who do what they have promised will stay in the land for a long time.
- <sup>22</sup> Those who do bad things will have no claim to this land, and people who take advantage of others and do not keep their word, they will never have even a small part of the land.
- 3 My son, do not forget the lessons I have taught you.
Keep my commands inside of you, as important guidance for how you will live, <sup>2</sup> because they will help you live a long life, measured in either days or years, and they will bring you peace in addition to all the lessons they teach you.
- <sup>3</sup> Treat others with tenderness and always speak the truth to them.
Let tenderness and truth guide you in every relationship, as if they both were on a necklace you wear, a necklace that guides you in everything you say.
- <sup>4</sup> Then you will experience God's delight in you,
and people will also approve of you.
- <sup>5</sup> Put all your trust in Yahweh,
and do not take action because you made up your mind what you should do;
- <sup>6</sup> but in every choice and decision, look to Yahweh,
and he will show you how you must live.
- <sup>7</sup> Do not think you are wise enough to direct your life,
give Yahweh the reverence he deserves,
and when evil invites you in, turn aside from it.
- <sup>8</sup> Giving Yahweh reverence will make your body healthy and it will give your bones the food it needs.

- <sup>9</sup> When you gain money, honor Yahweh by giving him the tithe; give him the first portion of what you received, to remember it all came from him.
- <sup>10</sup> If you honor Yahweh, your storerooms will be so full that they will overflow, and your barrels will be bursting with all the wine you have made.
- <sup>11</sup> My son, do not hate it when Yahweh corrects you, and when he rebukes you, do not resent it,
- <sup>12</sup> for Yahweh only corrects those he loves, just like parents correct their children whom they love.
- <sup>13</sup> Those who get wisdom are fortunate; with her they also get understanding.
- <sup>14</sup> Wisdom gives you a better profit than owning silver, and she will give you something that is much more valuable than gold.
- <sup>15</sup> Being wise is more precious than jewels and there is nothing you desire that is worth as much as wisdom.
- <sup>16</sup> Wisdom can make you able to live a long life, if you do what she teaches; she is also ready to make you wealthy and to persuade other people to honor you.
- <sup>17</sup> Wisdom is known by how kind she is, and she always directs you to the place where you will find peace.
- <sup>18</sup> Wisdom is like a tree whose fruit gives life to those who hold on to it, and Yahweh gives happiness to those who hold on to it.
- <sup>19</sup> By his wisdom Yahweh laid out the earth from the very beginning, and by his understanding he put everything in the heavens exactly where they should be.
- <sup>20</sup> The deepest part of the oceans broke open according to Yahweh's design, and in the same way, he made the dew so it would fall from the clouds above.
- <sup>21</sup> My son, hold on to good sense in the decisions you make, and do not take your eye off of them.
- <sup>22</sup> They will bring life to you, and a sign of Yahweh's blessings on your life that people can see by your good judgment.
- <sup>23</sup> Your good decisions will take you where you are going in safety, and they will keep you from taking a wrong step on the way.
- <sup>24</sup> When you lie down to sleep, you will not have any fear, and your sleep will be refreshing.
- <sup>25</sup> Do not let a disaster fill you with terror, and do not let the wicked fill you with fear when they come for you.
- <sup>26</sup> Yahweh takes your side to defend you, he will not allow any trap to catch and hold you.
- <sup>27</sup> Give good gifts to those who deserve it, when you can, help them.
- <sup>28</sup> Do not say to your neighbor, "Come back later; perhaps I will help you tomorrow," when you have the money with you and can help them now.
- <sup>29</sup> Do not make plans to harm anyone you know, especially those who live close to you and trust you.
- <sup>30</sup> If a person has done nothing to you, do not argue with him or say he has done something to you, when he has not.
- <sup>31</sup> Do not envy a person who does violence to others, and do not imitate anything he does.
- <sup>32</sup> A lying person is hated by Yahweh for what he does, but Yahweh is a close friend to anyone who lives rightly.
- <sup>33</sup> Yahweh promises punishment to the families of those who do evil things, but he makes happy the families of the good.
- <sup>34</sup> Yahweh makes fools of those who treat others with disrespect,

but he gives his kindness to people who are humble.

<sup>35</sup> Those who are wise will be honored, but foolish people will become well known for their dishonor.

4 Listen, children, listen to what I am teaching you.

If you pay attention, you will learn about what it means to understand.

<sup>2</sup> The lessons I give to you are good teaching given in order.
So do not refuse to learn the lessons
I teach you.

<sup>3</sup> When I was my father's boy,
and the only child of my mother, <sup>4</sup> my father told me, "Put my words deep
within you,
obey my orders to you,
and you will have life.

<sup>5</sup> Hold on to what is wise and whatever helps you understand,
and do not forget the lessons I taught you and do not throw away the insights I spoke to you.

<sup>6</sup> Do not run away from the lessons
which the wise teach you,
because if you become wise,
wisdom will keep you safe.

Love wisdom and it will guard your life.

<sup>7</sup> The most important thing you can do is to study the principles of wisdom and spend all you own so you can grow more and more in your understanding.

<sup>8</sup> Wisdom is to be loved more than anything that is valuable, and she will raise you to a high position—
and wisdom will honor you when you show how much you love
it.

<sup>9</sup> When you have attained wisdom, it will be like a beautiful wreath of honor
on your head;
she will give you a beautiful crown."

<sup>10</sup> Hear, my son, listen and understand what I say to you—

do this, and you will live a long life.

<sup>11</sup> I directed you in the way you should walk and to use the wisdom you were taught;

I led you by the hand down the roads, roads that are the right way for you to go. <sup>12</sup> When you live, you do not have anyone to blame; if you live wisely,
when you use all your effort, you will succeed.

<sup>13</sup> Remember the lessons that discipline taught you,
and do not let them go.

Guard them; for you live your life by
them.

<sup>14</sup> Do not do what wicked people do, nor be with them;
do not be with people who do evil things.

<sup>15</sup> Stay far from those ways;
turn another way and go on another road.

<sup>16</sup> Evil people cannot rest until they have done something that Yahweh said
they must not do.

They will not rest until they force someone to fall, someone who was doing well until they came along.

<sup>17</sup> They get their strength, and they are fed by doing what is wrong;
and they are intoxicated by hurting
others; they get drunk on it.

<sup>18</sup> The path taken by those who do right grows brighter and brighter, like the rising of the sun at dawn,
and it shines brighter and brighter until it is as full as the light of day.

<sup>19</sup> The actions of the wicked are like the darkness—
they stumble because they cannot see what makes them fall.

<sup>20</sup> My son, pay attention to what I am saying to you.
Pay attention to these lessons I am teaching you.

<sup>21</sup> Keep reading them over and over,
and keep them deep within you.

<sup>22</sup> For my words bring a message of life to those who pay attention
to them,
and their message brings health to the entire body.

- <sup>23</sup> Protect your heart with all your strength and guard what you love; guard it, for it becomes a fountain overflowing with life.
- <sup>24</sup> Make it your aim to keep away from you any lying speech, and put any deceptive talk far away.
- <sup>25</sup> Look straight ahead because you are focused on what is good and right, and do not turn aside to the right or to the left.
- <sup>26</sup> Take care about where you will go, and take care to be sure that the way is safe; then you will know what to expect along the way.
- <sup>27</sup> Do not leave the straight road by turning to the left or to the right, and do not follow the way that leads to evil.
- 5 My son, learn the lessons I teach you about wisdom.
I understand much about this, so listen very carefully to what I tell you.
- <sup>2</sup> If you do that, you will learn the difference between what is important and what is not, and you will not mix true knowledge with mistakes when you speak.
- <sup>3</sup> The woman who desires to commit adultery speaks with words that are sweet, and her kisses are smoother than oil,
- <sup>4</sup> but in the end, she is so bitter you can taste it, and she cuts you like a sharp sword.
- <sup>5</sup> She walks down to the place of death; if you follow her, she will lead you all the way to the grave.
- <sup>6</sup> She does not want to take the path that will let her live for a long time. She goes here and there, but where she is going she does not know.
- <sup>7</sup> So now, my sons, pay attention to what I say, and do not forget or disobey the instruction I am giving you.
- <sup>8</sup> Stay far away from the immoral woman;

- do not go near the door of her house.
- <sup>9</sup> If you go to her you will lose the respect of others, and you give your life to someone who will not have mercy on you.
- <sup>10</sup> It may be that others will take all the wealth that you have earned, and it goes into the houses of people you do not know.
- <sup>11</sup> And when you are about to die, you will groan because your flesh and your body are wasting away.
- <sup>12</sup> Then you will say, "I hated it when I was punished for doing wrong; I despised people when they told me how to live.
- <sup>13</sup> I did not obey my teachers and I paid no attention to those who taught me.
- <sup>14</sup> I was almost destroyed by bad things that happened to me; and this was known to everyone who came together to worship Yahweh."
- <sup>15</sup> Just as you drink water from your own cistern, be faithful to your own wife.
- <sup>16</sup> You would not waste your own water by pouring it into the street, or let your water run into the public places.
- <sup>17</sup> Let both your water and your wife be for you alone to enjoy, and not for others to share with you.
- <sup>18</sup> May your fountain be blessed; may you be happy with the woman you married when you were young.
- <sup>19</sup> She is as graceful as a loving deer and as graceful as a young doe. Let her breasts always satisfy your longings, so you are forever enraptured with her love.
- <sup>20</sup> My son, why should you be caught up in the arms of an adulteress? Why should you caress the breasts of another man's wife?
- <sup>21</sup> Yahweh sees everything we do; nothing is hidden from him.

- He sees every path we take; he knows everywhere we go.
- <sup>22</sup> An evil person's sinful desires take hold of him; his sins are like a trap that catches him.
- <sup>23</sup> An evil man will die because he could not say, "No" to his desires; he gets lost because his foolishness has no limits.
- 6 My son, if you provide a guarantee for a neighbor who takes out a loan, or if you give the promise that you will pay for a loan of a person you do not know,
- <sup>2</sup> you laid a trap for yourself by making the promise, and you have been caught by agreeing to a contract for someone you did not know.
- <sup>3</sup> Do this, my son, and deliver yourself from this difficulty: humbly go to your neighbor and beg him to cancel the agreement that you made.
- <sup>4</sup> Do not sleep, and do not rest until you go and talk with him.
- <sup>5</sup> Save yourself, like a deer that escapes from the hunter; or like a bird that flies away from the hand of one who hunts for birds.
- <sup>6</sup> You lazy person, learn something from watching the ants. Become wise and watch what they do.
- <sup>7</sup> The ant has no commander, officer, or ruler telling him what to do,
- <sup>8</sup> but during the summer it works hard, gathering and storing food to eat during the winter.
- <sup>9</sup> But you lazy person, how long will you continue to sleep? When will you rise and go to work?
- <sup>10</sup> You sleep a for a little time, and then you say, "A little more sleep, a little more resting in bed, a little more folding of the hands to take a nap."
- <sup>11</sup> Suddenly poverty will take over your life like a thief who steals everything from you.
- <sup>12</sup> A worthless person — a person who does bad to others—he lives by the lies he speaks to others.
- <sup>13</sup> They tell tales by winking their eyes and they give signals by moving their feet, and they make plans by pointing with their fingers.
- <sup>14</sup> The one who does bad things lays out plans within himself; he stirs up constant conflict wherever he goes.
- <sup>15</sup> His own disaster will overtake him in a second; he will be crushed to the point that he cannot be healed.
- <sup>16</sup> There are six, even seven, things that Yahweh hates.
- <sup>17</sup> Yahweh hates the eyes of the proud, the tongue that tells lies, the hands that shed the blood of the innocent,<sup>18</sup> a heart that plots and makes plans to do evil things to others,
- <sup>19</sup> the witness who breathes out lies when he gives testimony, and the one who causes strife between members of the same family.
- <sup>20</sup> My son, obey the command of your father, and do not walk away from what your mother taught you.
- <sup>21</sup> Keep these lessons and tie them close inside as a part of yourself; tie them around your neck, to remind you how important they are to you.
- <sup>22</sup> When you walk, those lessons will guide you. When you sleep, they will watch over you and protect you. When you wake up in the morning, they will teach you.
- <sup>23</sup> These commands are like a lamp for you, and what we teach you is like a

- light to guide you.
When people correct you, this is to continually teach you the right way to live.
- <sup>24</sup>These lessons keep you from the immoral woman, they tell you about her enticing words and warn you to be on guard.
- <sup>25</sup>Do not throw your desires after such a woman, nor should you desire her beauty; do not let her capture you by the way she looks at you.
- <sup>26</sup>Sleeping with a prostitute may cost you only the price of a loaf of bread, but if you sleep with another man's wife, it may cost you your life.
- <sup>27</sup>Can you carry hot coals in your pockets and not be burned?
- <sup>28</sup>Can you walk on burning coals and not scorch your feet?
- <sup>29</sup>So is anyone who sleeps with another man's wife—he will suffer for doing that.
It is certain he will be severely punished.
- <sup>30</sup>We do not despise a thief if he steals some food because he is very hungry.
- <sup>31</sup>But if he steals something and then is caught by others, he will have to pay back seven times as much as he stole, even if he must sell everything that is in his house to get enough money to repay what he stole.
- <sup>32</sup>But a man who commits adultery is has no good judgment because he is destroying his own self.
- <sup>33</sup>Wounds and shame will come to him; he will never forget how others disgraced him for his deed.
- <sup>34</sup>Because that woman's husband will be jealous, he will become furious, and when he gets revenge, he will not act mercifully toward that man.
- <sup>35</sup>And he will not accept any bribe to stop him.
- 7 My son, obey the words I say to you;
- remember all my orders.
<sup>2</sup>If you obey my commands, you will live.
- Consider my commands to be the most precious thing you possess, and obey them.
- <sup>3</sup>Write down my commands and tie them to your fingers to remind yourself of them; let it be as if you had written them in your inner self.
- <sup>4</sup>Think of wisdom as if it were a woman, one of your own sisters, whom you love; think of understanding as if it were a person, one of your own family, to whom you are loyal.
- <sup>5</sup>If you do this, you will be able to stay away from women whom you must not be with, random women who say nice things to you so that you will sin with them.
- <sup>6</sup>Standing in my house, I looked out of a window, through the wooden shade,
- <sup>7</sup>and I saw some young men who had not yet learned how to live wisely. I especially saw a young man there who had no good judgment.
- <sup>8</sup>He walked down the street near the house on the corner of the road, and he walked toward the house of the adulteress.
- <sup>9</sup>It was the time of day when night and darkness were coming near.
- <sup>10</sup>That was where the woman who was seeking an affair met the young man, and she greeted him. She was dressed as prostitutes dress, with seductive and enticing clothes, and she had secret plans.
- <sup>11</sup>She was loud and wayward, attracting attention. She did not stay in her own home.
- <sup>12</sup>She searched for a man as she walked along the streets one day; on another day she stood in the market place to find a man. At any street corner she waited for

- someone who would commit sin with her.
- <sup>13</sup> When she saw the young man, she firmly took hold of him, and then she kissed him.
- Without any shame and with great boldness, she said,
- <sup>14</sup> "Today I have meat in my house, because I made a sacrifice in the temple to promise friendship with Yahweh.
- In this way I kept my vows to Yahweh,
- <sup>15</sup> and now I have come out here to meet you.
- I was looking for you, and now I have found you!
- <sup>16</sup> I have put on my bed sheets—the finest colored linen fabrics from Egypt.
- <sup>17</sup> I have sprinkled perfumes on my bed — myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon.
- <sup>18</sup> Come! Let us make love all night, until the morning comes.
- Let us enjoy ourselves with many ways of making love, as much as we want.
- <sup>19</sup> My husband is not at home; he has gone away on a long journey.
- <sup>20</sup> He filled a bag with money and took it with him; he will not come back until the middle of the month."
- <sup>21</sup> So she convinced the young man with her persuasive words; because of her smooth and convincing talk, he gave in to what she wanted to do.
- <sup>22</sup> He suddenly decided to follow her inside.
- He followed her like an ox going to the place where its owner will slaughter it, or like a deer
- <sup>23</sup> caught in a trap, where the hunter kills it by shooting an arrow into its inner parts.
- He was like a bird that flies into a trap without knowing that it will die there.
- <sup>24</sup> My sons, listen to me,
- and pay careful attention to what I say to you.
- <sup>25</sup> You must resist her from within you, from deep inside. Do not decide to do what you want and follow her. You must decide that you will never follow her where she goes.
- <sup>26</sup> She has caused many men to be ruined; truly, no one can count the men she destroyed—they are too many to count.
- <sup>27</sup> The road to her house is the road to the grave; it goes down to the place where the dead are kept.
- 8 Listen to Wisdom calling; her voice sounds like that of a woman who shouting in the public square.
- Understanding raises her voice; she sounds like a woman who calls out to be heard.
- <sup>2</sup> On the top of the hills and where the roads come together, there Wisdom stands.
- <sup>3</sup> Wisdom also stands at the gates at the entrance to the city, and she calls out with a loud voice. Wisdom says:
- <sup>4</sup> "I am calling out to everyone; I am shouting to all people!"
- <sup>5</sup> You people who have no training, you must be taught how to live; you must learn so that you can understand completely.
- <sup>6</sup> Listen to me, because I will explain to you some excellent things. I can teach you about what is right —
- <sup>7</sup> for I speak what is true; I detest evil things so much, I hate to even speak about them.
- <sup>8</sup> Everything that I say is right; I do not say anything that changes the meaning of what is good or that leads people away from it.
- <sup>9</sup> My words give good advice to the one who understands the meaning of what I say; those who have learned to tell good from evil will easily know that my words are right.
- <sup>10</sup> Choose what I teach you,

- instead of trying to get much silver; and choose the knowledge I will show you, for it is more valuable than gold.
- <sup>11</sup> For I, Wisdom, am more precious than jewels; nothing is as valuable for you as I am.
- <sup>12</sup> I, Wisdom, live with Common Sense; we are like two people living in the same house.
- I know many things, and I act carefully.
- <sup>13</sup> Everyone who honors Yahweh hates what is evil.
- I am Wisdom, and I hate it when people are proud, when they think they are more important than others.
- I hate it when people act in evil ways, and when they tell lies.
- <sup>14</sup> I give good advice and I have the best wisdom;
- I have true understanding about the nature of things, and I have great strength.
- <sup>15</sup> When kings are wise, they rule well; and when rulers are wise, they make laws that are just.
- <sup>16</sup> By me princes rule, noblemen, and all who govern with justice.
- <sup>17</sup> I am Wisdom, and I love all who love me; those who work hard to find me will find me.
- <sup>18</sup> These people will have lasting riches, and they will live right, because I have riches and honor with me.
- <sup>19</sup> What I can give people is more valuable than fine gold and the best silver.
- <sup>20</sup> I always do what is right and just.
- <sup>21</sup> I give wealth to those who love me, and I fill up their treasures.
- <sup>22</sup> Yahweh created me, Wisdom; he made me when he began to create the world;
- I was the first thing he created in the beginning.
- <sup>23</sup> He made me long ago—at the very first, at the beginning of the earth.
- <sup>24</sup> I was born before the oceans were created,

when there were no springs from which water flowed.

<sup>25</sup> I was born before the hills and mountains were set in place.

<sup>26</sup> I am Wisdom and I was born before Yahweh made the earth, before he made the tiny particles of dust in the earth, I was there.

<sup>27</sup> I was there when Yahweh put the heavens where they are, on the day when he marked on the ocean's surface how far a person at sea can see in every direction.

<sup>28</sup> I was there when Yahweh put the clouds above the earth, and when he made the springs at the bottom of the sea to give water to the oceans.

<sup>29</sup> I was there when he fixed a boundary for the seas, so that the water in the seas would not go past those boundaries, and when he marked out the limits of the dry land.

<sup>30</sup> I was at Yahweh's side as his master craftsman; I made him happy every day, and I always rejoiced when I was with him.

<sup>31</sup> I was delighted with the whole world he created; I was happy with the people he brought into existence, too.

<sup>32</sup> So, you who are my children, listen to me. How fortunate are those who live as I live.

<sup>33</sup> Listen to what I teach you and you will become wise. Do not reject what I have taught you.

<sup>34</sup> How fortunate are those who listen to me, those who wait for me outside my house every day.

<sup>35</sup> Those who find me will find life, and Yahweh will be pleased with them.

<sup>36</sup> But those who do not find me, they hurt themselves. All those who hate me love death."

- 9 Wisdom builds her own house, just like a woman who has built her home; she made seven pillars to support the roof of her house.
- 2 She prepared a meal and set her table; she prepared the animals and cooked them to serve for the dinner, and she made the wine ready for her guests.
- 3 Like a woman who sends out her maids to give the invitations to her guests, Wisdom calls out from the highest place in the city for all to hear, and she says:
- 4 "If you are still immature, come here," and she gives the invitation to those who have no good judgment.
- 5 "Come and eat the food that I have prepared," she says, "and drink the good wine that I have mixed."
- 6 Leave your untrained ways behind you, and live, and I will show you how to walk on the road that will give you understanding.
- 7 If you rebuke someone who says insulting things about other people, he will insult you, too.
- If you offer correction to an evil person, he will hurt you.
- 8 A person who insults others will hate you if you tell him to stop. But if you rebuke a wise person, he will become your friend.
- 9 If you give instruction to a wise person, he will become even more wise. And if you teach a person who does what is right, he will learn even more.
- 10 The first step in getting wisdom is to give Yahweh the respect he deserves, and knowing Yahweh, the Holy One, is the where understanding comes from.
- 11 If you become wise, your days will be filled full, and you will add years to your life.
- 12 If you become wise, you will gain many benefits from it; if you ridicule other people, you - will suffer by yourself."

- 13 A foolish woman talks loudly; she is untaught in the subjects of wisdom and she knows very little.
- 14 She sits at the door of her house or on the highest place in the town,
- 15 and she calls out to the men who are passing by, to those walking down the road, concerned only about where they are going.
- 16 "Any of you who have no experience, come here," she says to those who have no good judgment.
- 17 "If you sleep with me, it will as sweet as drinking water that you have stolen, or eating delicious food all by yourself."
- 18 Any man who accepts her invitation does not know that the dead are in her home, that those who accepted her invitation and went into her house are now in the world of the dead.
- 10 These are the proverbs of Solomon: A child who lives according to wisdom makes his father happy; but if a child does foolish things, he causes his mother to be very sad.
- 2 Riches that you got by being dishonest will not have any value; but when you do what is right, you will be protected from death.
- 3 Yahweh does not allow people who do right to starve, but he will make it impossible for wicked people to get what they want.
- 4 A lazy person who will not work becomes poor; those who work hard become rich.
- 5 He is wise who harvests the crops when they are ready to be gathered; but it would be shameful for him to sleep while others are harvesting the crop.
- 6 Those who do right will receive many

- good gifts from God;
but those who do wicked things cover their violence so they cannot be seen.
- <sup>7</sup> When we remember those who do what is right, we get a blessing from Yahweh;
but we cannot remember the names of the wicked.
- <sup>8</sup> Wise people follow good instructions,
but a fool who talks too much will fail.
- <sup>9</sup> An honest person lives his life and has nothing to hide;
but one who is dishonest—his lies
will be discovered.
- <sup>10</sup> The one who winks his eye signals others to help him do something that is wrong,
and a fool will be ruined because he talks too much.
- <sup>11</sup> A person who does right is like a spring
that gives life-saving water;
but the wicked person hides his brutality by his words.
- <sup>12</sup> Hatred has the power to start many arguments;
but love covers anything that may hurt
us.
- <sup>13</sup> Those who have good sense say what is wise,
but people who do not have good judgment must be punished.
- <sup>14</sup> Wise people continue to learn all that they can,
but when foolish people speak, they will soon experience destruction.
- <sup>15</sup> The wealth that rich people have protects them like a city is protected
by a strong wall around it,
but because people are poor, they have no one to help them.
- <sup>16</sup> If you do what is right, your reward
will lead you to life,
but all that sinful people gain is the ability to sin even more.
- <sup>17</sup> Life can be found by the one who is trained by discipline;
but the one who will not listen to correction wanders away.

- <sup>18</sup> Those who hide their hatred of others,
must lie to cover it up.
and those who repeat slander are foolish.
- <sup>19</sup> When people talk a lot, sin is sure to follow;
if you are wise, you will always be careful about what you say.
- <sup>20</sup> The one who does right
is like pure silver;
there is little value in the heart of the one who does wicked things.
- <sup>21</sup> What those who do right say benefits
many,
but foolish people die because they lack good sense.
- <sup>22</sup> Yahweh gives good gifts that make
some people wealthy,
and he does not make them suffer
for it.
- <sup>23</sup> Foolish people play games when they do what is wrong,
but people with understanding
enjoy wisdom.
- <sup>24</sup> What the wicked fear will happen to
them;
those who do what is right will get what they hoped for.
- <sup>25</sup> Wicked people are like the storm that comes and then it is gone.
but those who do right are like a foundation that lasts forever.
- <sup>26</sup> Like vinegar in our mouths or smoke
in our eyes,
that is what the lazy man is like to the one who hired him. <sup>27</sup> If you give Yahweh
the respect he deserves, you will live
for a long time;
but wicked people die before they become old.
- <sup>28</sup> Those who do right have hope in their joy,
but the wicked can expect their lives to be short.
- <sup>29</sup> Following Yahweh brings protection to those who keep their promises;
but those who do not follow him find out he destroys those who
do what is evil.
- <sup>30</sup> Those who do right will never be defeated,

but wicked people will not have a home.

<sup>31</sup> Wisdom is like a fruit that those who do right bear,
but Yahweh will cut out the deceitful tongue.

<sup>32</sup> Those who do right know the words Yahweh permits them to speak, but wicked people say what Yahweh has forbidden.

11 When people use scales that are not correct;

Yahweh is angry that they are stealing from their customers; he is delighted with those who use correct weights on the scales.

<sup>2</sup> People who are proud live in such a way that always ends in disgrace; people who are humble are the only ones who can learn about wisdom.

<sup>3</sup> People who keep their promises also make choices that lead them in the right way; those who cannot be trusted are destroyed by their own dishonesty.

<sup>4</sup> Your money will not help you on the day Yahweh judges the world; but if you do what is right, you will be kept safe from many dangers, even death.

<sup>5</sup> When people are honest and good, they know where they should go and what they should do; but those who do evil find that their wickedness will destroy them.

<sup>6</sup> God rescues those who do what is right, but those who do what is evil become slaves to their desires.

<sup>7</sup> When a wicked person dies, all he hoped for in the future is lost; what he wanted to accomplish with his strength, will never happen.

<sup>8</sup> The one who does what is right, Yahweh delivers from trouble; and Yahweh gives that trouble to the wicked.

<sup>9</sup> A person who has no kind of religious faith uses his words to destroy his neighbor; but people who do right will be saved by the knowledge they have gathered.

<sup>10</sup> When things go well for those who do what is right, those in their city are happy, and shouts of joy are heard when wicked people die.

<sup>11</sup> When there are people in the city who please God and they give good gifts to others, the city becomes great; but the words spoken by the wicked tear down the city.

<sup>12</sup> The one who treats his friend with contempt has no good judgment; a person who has learned what is important says nothing.

<sup>13</sup> Those who spread gossip tell secrets to others, but a person you can trust will not talk about it.

<sup>14</sup> A nation will be destroyed if it does not have leaders who guide it wisely; but the nation will have victory when it listens to many advisors.

<sup>15</sup> If you promise to pay off a loan that is taken by a stranger, you will lose your money. You will be safe if you refuse to make any kind of agreement to pay someone else's debts.

<sup>17</sup> By their kindness to others kind people give good gifts to themselves, but one who is cruel hurts himself by his cruelty.

<sup>18</sup> Wicked people tell lies to make more money, but those who do what is right will be paid even more because they earned it.

<sup>19</sup> Those who do what is right will live, but those who do what is wrong will die.

<sup>20</sup> Yahweh hates those who take good things and they twist them and they do bad things with them,

- but he is delighted with those who always do what is right.
- <sup>21</sup> It is certain that evil people will not escape their punishment. and the children of those who do right will be kept safe.
- <sup>22</sup> If you see a gold ring in a pig's nose, that is very much like a beautiful woman who does not have good sense.
- <sup>23</sup> Those who do what is right desire things that result in good, but the reward of the wicked is that they will experience Yahweh's wrath.
- <sup>24</sup> If a person sows seed, he can expect to harvest a crop; his few seeds will give him much more; another person does not plant a crop, and he becomes poor.
- <sup>25</sup> Those who give generously to others will prosper; if you share your water with other people, you will have enough for yourself, too.
- <sup>26</sup> People will curse the merchant who will not sell them grain, but they praise the one who sells it.
- <sup>27</sup> If you work hard and go out to find what is good, you will also find good will. but if you look for evil, you will find it.
- <sup>28</sup> Those who trust in their money will fall down, but those who do what is right will grow like a healthy tree.
- <sup>29</sup> Those who bring troubles to their families will inherit nothing, and those who do foolish things will become the servants of those who are wise.
- <sup>30</sup> Those who do what is right will be like a life giving tree, but acts of violence take away life.
- <sup>31</sup> It is sure that those who do what is right will get what they truly deserve; but even more, the person who does bad things and the one who sins against Yahweh, will surely receive what they deserve.

12 The one who wants to learn will welcome correction.

But the one who does not want to be corrected will remain stupid.

People who do well are as stable as a tree with deep roots.

But advice given by wicked people are filled with lies.

<sup>7</sup> Wicked people are put out of power, and they are gone, but those who do what is right will have many generations and that family will continue for a long time.

<sup>8</sup> A person will be praised according to how much wisdom he has; but one who takes good things and twists them into bad will be hated.

<sup>9</sup> It is better to be a humble person, just living your life as a servant to others, than to tell others how important you are, but you have nothing to eat.

<sup>10</sup> People who do what is right care about the feeding and health of their animals, but even when the wicked try to do something for their animals, it becomes an act of cruelty.

- but those who have no good judgment take on projects that bring them nothing.
- <sup>12</sup> Wicked people desire the things that evil people have—things they stole from others.
- But people who do what is right have what they have earned; it is their reward.
- <sup>13</sup> An evil person is trapped by the wicked things he says, but those who do right stay away from much trouble.
- <sup>14</sup> The good words spoken by a person fill his life with good things, just as his hard work brings him a reward.
- <sup>15</sup> Foolish people think that what they are doing is always right; but wise people are willing to listen to advice.
- <sup>16</sup> A foolish person quickly shows how angry he is; but those who have good sense ignore it when someone insults them.
- <sup>17</sup> Speaking the truth is the same as saying what is right, but a dishonest person tell lies.
- <sup>18</sup> When a person speaks without thinking, it is like they are taking stabs at you with a sword; but what wise people say helps to heal the hurts.
- <sup>19</sup> Speaking the truth will never be out of favor, but a lie is over in a moment.
- <sup>20</sup> When evil is planned there must be lies within those who carry it out; but those who give advice that leads to peace, those advisors will celebrate.
- <sup>21</sup> Bad things do not happen to those who do what is right, but wicked people's lives are filled up with troubles.
- <sup>22</sup> Yahweh detests those who tell lies, but he is delighted with those who live faithfully.
- <sup>23</sup> Those with good sense do not reveal all that they know,
- but foolish people shout out their foolish thinking.
- <sup>24</sup> Those who are known for their hard work will gain authority over others, but those who are lazy will be forced to work, even though they hate it.
- <sup>25</sup> When a person is anxious, it is like he is carrying a heavy load, but a good word makes him feel better.
- <sup>26</sup> The one who does right will be a good guide for his friend, but wicked people always get lost.
- <sup>27</sup> Lazy people do not even cook the animal they caught, but those who work hard will acquire wealth that is worth keeping.
- <sup>28</sup> Those who walk in the right way find life and on that road there is no death.
- 13 A wise child pays attention to the teaching his father gives him; but a stubborn child refuses to listen to correction.
- <sup>2</sup> Good things come as the fruit of what one says, but the desire of the deceitful is to consume more and more violence.
- <sup>3</sup> The person who is very careful about what he says preserves his life; the one who talks too much ruins everything.
- <sup>4</sup> People who are lazy are hungry for everything, but they will not get anything. People who work hard will get more than they desired.
- <sup>5</sup> Anyone who does right hates it when other tell lies, but a wicked person brings disgrace on himself.
- <sup>6</sup> Anyone who does right always acts in ways that are respected, but the one who does what Yahweh has forbidden ruins his own wicked life.
- <sup>7</sup> Some people have many possessions, but they have nothing of value;

- but other people give all they have away, and yet have the best kind of riches.
- <sup>8</sup> A rich person may have to use his wealth to buy back his life from a criminal who holds him as a hostage, but a poor person does not listen even when he is threatened.
- <sup>9</sup> The one who does what is right shines like a light that gives joy, but wicked people are like a lamp that will be extinguished.
- <sup>10</sup> Pride works within a person and it results in conflict and arguments, but those who listen to good advice find the wisdom they need.
- <sup>11</sup> People who think too much of themselves will spend all their money; the one who makes his money by working with his hands will find ways to make his money grow.
- <sup>12</sup> When hope for the future is postponed, it makes you sick—you feel you will never receive what you long for, but if you receive what you desire, that will be like a tree that gives life.
- <sup>13</sup> Those who despise good advice bring the punishment for disobeying upon themselves; the one who pays attention to the instruction will receive honor.
- <sup>14</sup> The lesson taught by the wise is like a fountain that gives life to all who drink from it, and they inform you about all the deadly dangers around you.
- <sup>15</sup> Having a mind that understands right and wrong brings you respect, but the one who twists good gifts for bad purposes—he never reaches his destination.
- <sup>16</sup> Those who have good sense always take action from what they know is true; a foolish person proves his decisions are folly, and everyone sees it.
- <sup>17</sup> A wicked messenger will not deliver the message,
- but bitter enemies are brought together when the messages are delivered by a dependable messenger.
- <sup>18</sup> The one who does not learn from the lessons of discipline will be poor, and he will know shame, but the one who takes the lessons of discipline and learns from them, honor will find him.
- <sup>19</sup> When a longing comes true, it is sweet delight to the one with desires; and those who are foolish continue to turn toward evil again and again.
- <sup>20</sup> If you spend time with wise people, by their lives they will show you how you can be wise, as well.
- <sup>21</sup> Sinners run away and disasters chase after them, but those who do what is right find the good is their reward.
- <sup>22</sup> A good person sets apart money to give his grandchildren when he dies, but a sinful person will store up his wealth, not knowing that it will be given to the one who does right.
- <sup>23</sup> A field owned by a poor person can produce much food, but the poor are victims of injustice more than the rich, and the crop is not planted.
- <sup>24</sup> A parent who does not train his child in how he should live does not show him any love, but the one who is careful to train the child in how he should live shows his great love.
- <sup>25</sup> Those who do what is right eat enough food to satisfy their hunger, but the wicked complain that they are always hungry.

14 A wise woman holds her family together, but a foolish woman tears it apart by the foolish things she does.

<sup>2</sup> The one who honors Yahweh in the way he lives, gives to Yahweh the respect he deserves;

- the dishonest person shows his disrespect, and he despises Yahweh.
- <sup>3</sup> Pride grows out of the mouth of the fool, like an offshoot from a tree; but what wise people say preserves their lives.
- <sup>4</sup> Where there are no cattle feeding in the barn, the feeding trough is clean; but if a farmer only has one ox, still he can grow a very great crop.
- <sup>5</sup> You can tell if a witness is reliable, if he tells the truth, but when a witness breathes out lie after lie, he is a false witness and cannot be depended on.
- <sup>6</sup> One who thinks he is better than others, he may seek wisdom, but he will not find it, but the one who has grown in knowledge can easily learn much more.
- <sup>7</sup> Do not stay close to a foolish person: Walk away from him. There is no knowledge to be learned from him.
- <sup>8</sup> The one who has learned much knowledge applies it to his own life; that is wisdom. The foundation of all folly is the lie.
- <sup>9</sup> Fools watch the guilt offering being sacrificed in the temple, and they make fun of it, but those who please Yahweh are glad to share his favor.
- <sup>10</sup> A person keeps close inside all his bitterness and disappointment; and no stranger will ever know all the joy it contains.
- <sup>11</sup> The family of the wicked will be destroyed, but a little tent where the upright live will grow, like a tree grows into something grand.
- <sup>12</sup> A person sees a way, and it appears to be the right way for him to go, but he does not know that it only leads to death.
- <sup>13</sup> A person can be in great pain and still be able to laugh; a time of great joy may end in grief.

- <sup>14</sup> The faithless man will receive from Yahweh what he deserves; but Yahweh will give a good person what is his.
- <sup>15</sup> Those who have had no instruction believe everything they are told, but the man who has learned some knowledge thinks about what he will do.
- <sup>16</sup> A wise person sees evil and is afraid of it, and he turns away from it; the foolish person boldly throws aside every warning.
- <sup>17</sup> Those who get angry quickly do foolish things; people hate those who make evil plans.
- <sup>18</sup> Those who have not been instructed have foolishness handed to them; those who have learned a little knowledge are surrounded by it.
- <sup>19</sup> Evil people will bow down before those who are good, and the wicked people will bow down at the gates of those who do right.
- <sup>20</sup> The poor are hated even by their own companions, but the rich have many friends.
- <sup>21</sup> It is sinful to have contempt for your neighbors; but how fortunate are those who do kind things for the poor.
- <sup>22</sup> Those who plot with evil plans, do they not go astray? But those who make plans for the good will receive love and faithfulness.
- <sup>23</sup> If you work hard, you will make some money, but where there is only talk, it leads to poverty.
- <sup>24</sup> The reward of the wise is the wealth they have, but the folly of fools only brings them more foolishness.
- <sup>25</sup> A witness who tells the truth, saves the lives of the innocent; a lying witness is filled with deceit.
- <sup>26</sup> Those give Yahweh the honor he

- deserves
have much confidence in him;
giving honor to Yahweh will also protect your children.
- <sup>27</sup> Giving Yahweh the honor he deserves is like having a fountain that gives life;
so you can keep away from being trapped by death.
- <sup>28</sup> A king measures his glory by the number of the people in his kingdom,
but if the prince has no people, he is brought to ruin.
- <sup>29</sup> Those who do not quickly become angry have much understanding;
the quick-tempered praise
foolishness.
- <sup>30</sup> Being at peace is good for the whole body,
but having evil within, rots the
bones.
- <sup>31</sup> The one who oppresses a poor person
curses Yahweh who made him,
but those who show favor to a poor person honor Yahweh.
- <sup>32</sup> The wicked person is brought down by his evil actions,
but those who do what is right have
a safe home, even in death.
- <sup>33</sup> Wisdom finds a place to rest in someone who has discernment,
but wisdom lets herself be known
even among fools.
- <sup>34</sup> When a people do what is right, the nation does well,
but sin brings disgrace upon any
people.
- <sup>35</sup> A king is pleased with a servant who does his work with good judgment, but the king is angry with any servant who brings shame to
him.
- <sup>15</sup> A gentle answer turns away anger,
but a harsh reply stirs up anger even
more.
- <sup>2</sup> When wise people speak, they give praise to the value of knowledge;
foolish people continually say
foolish things.
- <sup>3</sup> Yahweh sees everything that is happening;
- he keeps account of the evil and of the good.
- <sup>4</sup> A person who can give healing with what they say is like a tree that gives life;
when someone lies to you, it can feel like they have crushed you.
- <sup>5</sup> A fool has contempt for his father when he disciplines him,
but the one who learns from correction has insight.
- <sup>6</sup> In the families of those who do right
there are great treasures, but the wealth that the wicked have gives them great troubles.
- <sup>7</sup> The wise scatter knowledge about like
the farmer scatters his seed,
but the hearts of fools are not so generous.
- <sup>8</sup> Yahweh hates it when the wicked offer
their sacrifices,
but when those who please him
pray, he is delighted.
- <sup>9</sup> Yahweh hates the way the wicked live,
but he loves the one who runs after
what is right.
- <sup>10</sup> Yahweh will discipline those who lose their way,
and those who hate correction will
die.
- <sup>11</sup> The places of death and destruction are known to Yahweh;
how much more does Yahweh know everything within the minds of the people he has made?
- <sup>12</sup> The one who thinks he is better than anyone, he resents being corrected by
anyone;
he thinks he is so smart, he will never talk with one who is wise.
- <sup>13</sup> When people are happy, they have smiles on their faces,
but sadness is so strong it crushes
the person.
- <sup>14</sup> The longing of the one who is wise is to gain more knowledge,
but foolish people only say foolish
things.
- <sup>15</sup> Every day for one who is oppressed is misery for him,

- but those who have a happy heart,
for them life is a never-ending party.
- <sup>16</sup> It is much better to have only a little and to give Yahweh the honor he deserves,
than to have great wealth along
with much confusion.
- <sup>17</sup> It is better to have a simple meal with vegetables when there is love in the home,
than to enjoy a delicious meal
served by people who hate you.
- <sup>18</sup> When a person is angry, he stirs up
more arguments,
but one who does not quickly become angry, he is able to stop
an argument and make peace.
- <sup>19</sup> The life of a lazy person is like someone trying to walk through a hedge of thorns,
but those who do what pleases Yahweh are like those who are walking on a level highway.
- <sup>20</sup> A wise child brings happiness to his father,
but it is a foolish person who despises his mother.
- <sup>21</sup> Foolish people enjoy their folly;
those who have insight live a good
life.
- <sup>22</sup> When there is no one giving advice,
plans go wrong,
but with many advisors, they will succeed.
- <sup>23</sup> People rejoice when they give a good answer,
and how nice is the right word spoken at the right moment.
- <sup>24</sup> The path leading to life goes up, away
from death;
he follows that way and turns from
the place of the dead.
- <sup>25</sup> Yahweh destroys the generations of proud people,
but he protects the little owned by a widow.
- <sup>26</sup> Yahweh hates what wicked people are thinking about,
but when people say what is kind,
they are pure.

- <sup>27</sup> The thief brings many troubles to his family,
but the one who refuses to accept bribes will live.
- <sup>28</sup> The people who do right think carefully before they answer;
it is like the wicked pour out of their mouths all kinds of evil
when they talk.
- <sup>29</sup> Yahweh is far away from wicked
people,
but he listens to the prayers of those who do what is right.
- <sup>30</sup> When people smile, it makes them
happy,
and good news brings healing to
the body.
- <sup>31</sup> If you pay attention when someone corrects you,
you will stay among those who are
wise.
- <sup>32</sup> The one who refuses to follow discipline, despises himself;
the one who receives correction
gains understanding as well.
- <sup>33</sup> The honor that Yahweh deserves will be the lesson that will teach you wisdom,
and then humility comes before
honor.
- 16 People make plans out of their longings
deep within them,
but it is Yahweh who tells him what will happen.
- <sup>2</sup> A person sees nothing wrong with what he does,
but Yahweh measures every part of what a person does according to his purposes.
- <sup>3</sup> When you work, give all your ideas and your labor to Yahweh,
and your plans will be successful.
- <sup>4</sup> When Yahweh made everything, he made them so they would all accomplish something for him.
He has even made the wicked for the day when there is great
trouble.
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh hates those whose pride comes from deep within them.
But you can be sure of this: They

- will still be punished for their pride.
- <sup>6</sup> Love and faithfulness will cover over sin and forgive sin.
- When people give Yahweh the respect he deserves, they will be able to turn away from doing what is evil.
- <sup>7</sup> When a person pleases Yahweh by the way he lives his life, he even causes that person's enemies to get along with him.
- <sup>8</sup> It is better to have a little money and to follow what is right, than to have a large amount of money and to live by spreading injustice.
- <sup>9</sup> From deep within a person come the plans he makes, but Yahweh leads the person in each step he takes.
- <sup>10</sup> A king can speak with inspired judgment; and when he makes a ruling, it is good and true.
- <sup>11</sup> Honest scales come from Yahweh; it is he who decided how much each unit should weigh.
- <sup>12</sup> We should hate it when kings do wicked things, for the throne is set on a firm foundation when the king does what is right.
- <sup>13</sup> A king is happy when he hears someone speaking what is right; and he loves the one who is direct when he talks.
- <sup>14</sup> If a king becomes angry, his wrath is a danger that can kill; so wise people will try to calm him so that he is not too angry.
- <sup>15</sup> In a king's smile there is life; when he is happy, he is like the cloud that brings the spring rain.
- <sup>16</sup> Becoming wise is better than having gold; getting good understanding is better than having silver.
- <sup>17</sup> The one who lives in the way that is right will turn away from doing evil;
- whoever is careful about how he lives his life will preserve his life.
- <sup>18</sup> Pride happens to someone first, and then he perishes. If someone thinks he is better than others, he will have a terrible fall.
- <sup>19</sup> It is better to be humble and live among the poor than to receive a portion of what proud people took by force.
- <sup>20</sup> Those who think about what they have been taught find many good things in the lesson; how fortunate are those who put their trust in Yahweh.
- <sup>21</sup> One who has wisdom deep inside him is given the title, "discerning," and those who speak in a way that can be understood and can motivate their hearers, teach well.
- <sup>22</sup> When you understand, it is as if you have found a fountain of life within you; but fools find their punishment when their foolishness comes back to them.
- <sup>23</sup> From deep within him, the wise person speaks from the insight he has learned; and so when he speaks he has the power to persuade others.
- <sup>24</sup> Kind words are like a honeycomb; they are sweet for us to take in, and they give healing to our bodies.
- <sup>25</sup> A person lives out his life and he thinks he is doing what is right, but when he comes to the end of his life, all he finds is death.
- <sup>26</sup> A worker's appetite drives him to work harder, his hunger urges him to keep working.
- <sup>27</sup> A worthless man digs and digs until he finds something he can use to embarrass someone and cause them trouble; and what he says about them is like

- a fire that burns the field.
- <sup>28</sup> A person who has no morals stirs up conflict between people; and those who spread rumors pull friends apart.
- <sup>29</sup> A violent person tells lies to his friend, and he leads him down a path that will never find what is good.
- <sup>30</sup> The one who winks the eye is signaling to others it is time to begin their terrible plot; those who press their lips together, they do evil things.
- <sup>31</sup> Gray hair is like a glorious crown; it is given to those who live their lives by doing what is right.
- <sup>32</sup> The one who is slow to get angry is stronger than a warrior; the one who is self-controlled is mightier than one who conquers a city by force.
- <sup>33</sup> The stones making up the "lot" are thrown into a person's lap, but Yahweh decides on which side of the stones they will stop rolling.
- 17 It is better to eat a dry piece of bread and not have strife than to live in a house where quarreling is as regular as feasting.
- <sup>2</sup> A slave who acts wisely will rule over the son of his master if that son does shameful things. That slave will receive a share of the inheritance and will be treated like one of his master's sons.
- <sup>3</sup> Silver is put into the crucible to be refined, and gold is put into the furnace to be made pure, but it is Yahweh who makes people pure.
- <sup>4</sup> Those who do what is evil pay attention to the person who talks in wicked ways, and those who tell lies listen to those who speak in order to make trouble.
- <sup>5</sup> The one who makes fun of those who are poor insults Yahweh who made him; Yahweh will punish those who are happy when someone else has troubles.
- <sup>6</sup> Grandchildren bring honor and respect to the aged, and parents bring honor to their children.
- <sup>7</sup> A fool is not able to give an eloquent speech; even more is it wrong to lie to someone with a royal title.
- <sup>8</sup> A bribe works like magic for the one who is giving the bribe; everything he tries to do by giving bribes succeeds.
- <sup>9</sup> You must learn not to be offended by the one you love, but if you bring up something to your friend that hurt you, and you do it over and over, that will pull the best of friends apart.
- <sup>10</sup> A rebuke to someone with understanding goes deeper into him than trying to teach a fool by hitting him a hundred times with a stick.
- <sup>11</sup> An evil person is only interested in disobeying the rules; he deserves a messenger who will be cruel to him.
- <sup>12</sup> You would be better off meeting a mother bear who had been robbed of her cubs than to meet a fool who is being foolish.
- <sup>13</sup> If someone gives back evil for the good that was given to him, evil will stay in his family.
- <sup>14</sup> Starting a quarrel is like pumping water and letting it run everywhere; it is much better to walk away before it starts.
- <sup>15</sup> When a court sets the wicked free and condemns those who do what is right, Yahweh hates both of these actions.
- <sup>16</sup> There is no benefit for a fool when he pays money to learn about wisdom; no matter how much he tries, he

- will not be able to learn about wisdom.
- <sup>17</sup> A friend loves you all the time, and when you are in trouble, there is no one better than a brother to help you.
- <sup>18</sup> One having no good judgment will make a contract he cannot pay, and he will even may a promise to pay the money his neighbor owes.
- <sup>19</sup> The one who loves to have arguments, that person also loves the sin that lies behind the conflict; one thing leads to another: The one who makes the threshold of his door too high, it is sure to make someone break the bones in his foot.
- <sup>20</sup> A person who is dishonest because of what is within him, he will never find what is good, and the one who tells lies will fall into trouble.
- <sup>21</sup> The father who has a fool brings sadness into his life; the father of a fool cannot live a happy life.
- <sup>22</sup> Being cheerful is like medicine that makes you feel better, but when you are crushed by sadness, it is as if every bone within you could break with only a touch.
- <sup>23</sup> A wicked person accepts a bribe in such a way as no one could see him, so the bribe would change the verdict in his favor.
- <sup>24</sup> The one who has begun to understand, he knows that he must also now go after wisdom. However, the foolish person has bold plans and impossible dreams, and he looks for them no matter how far away they may be.
- <sup>25</sup> A foolish child brings a father great sadness, and regret to the mother who gave birth to him.
- <sup>26</sup> It cannot be good to punish someone

- who does what is right, and if a good man with moral character is punished by the law, this can never be good.
- <sup>27</sup> The one who has learned knowledge, learned to speak well using few words, and the one who has understanding, does not lose his temper.
- <sup>28</sup> When a fool keeps silent, some may think he is very wise; when he keeps his mouth shut, even a fool looks intelligent.
- 18 The one who keeps himself away from other people will only live for his own desires, and he never acts with good judgment.
- <sup>2</sup> A foolish person does not enjoy understanding anything; he only wants to tell others what he thinks.
- <sup>3</sup> A wicked person comes, and with them comes the contempt they have for other people—and then comes shame and disgrace following along.
- <sup>4</sup> The words a man speaks are like the deep waters of an ocean or a fountain that flows with wisdom.
- <sup>5</sup> When the wicked are treated with special honor, it is not good, and it is not good to refuse to give justice to those who do what is right.
- <sup>6</sup> A foolish person says things that start arguments; he says things that make other people want to beat him with a stick.
- <sup>7</sup> A foolish person brings himself to ruin by the things he says; his very words set a trap in which he will be caught.
- <sup>8</sup> When a person gossips, his words are as sweet to other people as candy is in their mouths, and they love to listen to them.
- <sup>9</sup> The person who does a poor job when

- he is working
is a relative to the one who destroys
everything.
- <sup>10</sup> The name of Yahweh is like a castle
that can never be overrun;
those who do what is right run for safety into it, and in the fortress of his name, they are safe.
- <sup>11</sup> The wealthy person depends on his wealth as a city depends on its fortifications;
he thinks it protects him as well as a high wall.
- <sup>12</sup> When a person is about to be ruined, it is his proud heart that brings his
destruction,
but before a person can gain great honor, he must first learn to become humble.
- <sup>13</sup> A person who gives you an answer
before he listens to you—
there is nothing more foolish and nothing that gives him more shame.
- <sup>14</sup> A person may survive a terrible sickness in his body,
but if he feels his inner self is crushed, how can he survive?
- <sup>15</sup> Intelligent people have a desire to get more and more knowledge,
and wise people will find someone to teach them even more knowledge.
- <sup>16</sup> If you take a gift to an important person, you will open the way to allow you to talk to him.
- <sup>17</sup> The first person to present his case before a judge seems right until the other side comes and questions him.
- <sup>18</sup> When there are two strong people
having a dispute,
casting lots can help to settle the dispute.
- <sup>19</sup> If you offend your brother, finding a way to have peace with him again
may be harder than waging a battle to win a city.
and having an argument is more difficult to overcome
than breaking down the bars of a

- castle.
- <sup>20</sup> The words a person speaks can bring satisfaction to himself,
like the food he eats satisfies his stomach.
- <sup>21</sup> People are able to kill others or keep them alive by means of what they say.
And there is danger for those who love the power of their speaking.
- <sup>22</sup> The one who finds a wife, finds something so good it is a gift to bless his life,
and it is Yahweh who gives him this wonderful gift.
- <sup>23</sup> A poor person desperately begs for mercy, but a rich person is rude when he answers.
- <sup>24</sup> One person says that he has many friends, but his life is ruined by them;
but there is a friend who stands
with us through everything,
and he is always close at our side,
even closer than a brother.
- 19 Compare a poor person who keeps his promises,
with a fool who is full of lies.
- <sup>2</sup> And consider, having desire without
knowledge
is like running so fast that you miss the path you want to take.
- <sup>3</sup> The folly of a fool destroys his life,
but he becomes furious with Yahweh for his troubles.
- <sup>4</sup> Those who are wealthy easily find many friends, but a poor person will find that his poverty separates him from the one friend he had.
- <sup>5</sup> A person who lies in order to become a friend will be punished for taking advantage,
just as the one whose every word he speaks is a lie, he will not escape.
- <sup>6</sup> When a person is generous with their gifts, many people will ask for favors, it seems that everyone is a friend of the one who gives many gifts.
- <sup>7</sup> All the brothers of one who is poor hate
him;
and even more do his friends hate

- him, and they go far away from him;
he calls out to them, but they have left.
- <sup>8</sup>The one who makes every effort to learn about wisdom, loves himself; having understanding helps you know what is good and what is not.
- <sup>9</sup>The ones who lie when they give testimony will be punished, but the one whose every word is a lie, he will die.
- <sup>10</sup>When a fool lives in luxury—it is not right, and it is even worse for a slave to rule over princes.
- <sup>11</sup>A person with good sense is slow to get angry, and it is to his honor that he overlooks it when someone does him wrong.
- <sup>12</sup>What is the wrath of the king like? It is like the roaring of a young lion, but his kindness is like the dew on the grass.
- <sup>13</sup>A foolish child will ruin a father. A wife who is always quarreling will upset her husband like water that is constantly dripping.
- <sup>14</sup>We can inherit houses and money from our parents, but a sensible wife is from Yahweh.
- <sup>15</sup>The one who is lazy finds that sleep comes easily to him, but anyone who refuses to work will go hungry.
- <sup>16</sup>The one who follows the command he was taught puts a guard over his life, but the one who does not think about how he lives his life will die.
- <sup>17</sup>One who is kind to the poor, it is as if he were lending to Yahweh; and Yahweh will pay him for what he did.
- <sup>18</sup>Train your children and give them discipline while it is still possible to rescue them; but do not allow them to offend you so much that you consider
- taking their lives.
- <sup>19</sup>A hot-tempered person will pay a price for his anger; if you rescue him after he had has an outburst, you will have to do it again and again.
- <sup>20</sup>Pay attention to good guidance and let others teach you so that you can become wise by the end of your life.
- <sup>21</sup>A person has many plans that come from within him, but Yahweh has his own plans, and he will carry them out.
- <sup>22</sup>A person wants loyalty, and a poor person is better than a liar.
- <sup>23</sup>Anyone who has respect for Yahweh will live a long life; such a person who has this respect for Yahweh will be satisfied, and will come to no harm.
- <sup>24</sup>The lazy person puts his hand in the dish; he is not able to raise his hand up to his mouth to eat.
- <sup>25</sup>If you punish someone who mocks others, an uninstructed person will learn how to be prudent. If you correct someone who has understanding, he will gain more knowledge.
- <sup>26</sup>Someone who steals from his father and alienates his mother brings shame and disgrace to himself.
- <sup>27</sup>My son, if you will not listen to the teaching, you will wander away from the words of knowledge.
- <sup>28</sup>A lying witness laughs at anyone who acts justly, and wicked people act sinfully as easily as they eat food.
- <sup>29</sup>Yahweh is ready to punish those who make themselves out to be better than other people, and he is ready to flog the backs of fools.

- 20 Wine makes you loud, and strong drink makes you foolish; whoever lets alcohol lead them to where they get lost is not wise.
- <sup>2</sup> The king's wrath makes people as afraid as if they were facing a young lion roaring at them; the person who makes a king angry is giving up his own life.
- <sup>3</sup> It is an honor to stay out of an argument, but every fool is ready to join one.
- <sup>4</sup> The lazy person is not willing to plow his crops again in autumn, and when it is harvest time, he looks, but there is nothing growing in his field.
- <sup>5</sup> The purposes within a person's life are like waters in a deep well, but a person who has understanding is able to draw them out.
- <sup>6</sup> Many people proclaim that they can be trusted to do what they promise, but it is very difficult to find one who can really be trusted.
- <sup>7</sup> The person who always does right—how fortunate will be his children who follow after him.
- <sup>8</sup> A king who sits on his throne to act as a judge can distinguish between all the kinds of evil before him just by looking at them.
- <sup>9</sup> No one can truthfully say, "I have kept my heart pure, and I am free from my sins."
- <sup>10</sup> Uneven weights, improperly marked, and unequal measures, that favor the one who is selling, Yahweh hates both of them.
- <sup>11</sup> Also, even a youth is known by how what he does, it is clear whether what he does is pure and respectable or not.
- <sup>12</sup> Ears that hear and eyes that see—Yahweh made them both.
- <sup>13</sup> If you love to sleep all the time, you will become poor; stay awake when you should be at work and you will have plenty

- to eat.
- <sup>14</sup> "It is no good," the buyer says when he is bargaining with you about the price. But after he buys it, he goes and boasts to his friends what a good price he bought it for.
- <sup>15</sup> Consider the value of gold and many expensive jewels, but the words of the one who has knowledge are like precious jewels.
- <sup>16</sup> Take the expensive coat of the person who guarantees a loan for a stranger, so it can be sold if the debt is not paid back. And if he makes a pledge for an immoral woman, hold his coat as a guarantee for the loan he makes.
- <sup>17</sup> Bread gotten by telling a lie, may taste sweet, but later his mouth will be like it was full of gravel, because of his lies.
- <sup>18</sup> Good plans are made in consultation with good advisors, and only with wise advisors giving their advice should anyone go to war.
- <sup>19</sup> A gossip tells secrets, so stay away from people who talk too much.
- <sup>20</sup> If a person curses his father or his mother, his life will be put out as a light that is snuffed out.
- <sup>21</sup> An inheritance that comes to a person quickly, may do some good at the beginning, but later it will do less good for the person who received it.
- <sup>22</sup> Do not say, "I will pay you back for the wrong you did to me." Wait for Yahweh and he will take care of the matter.
- <sup>23</sup> Yahweh detests those who use dishonest scales and weights that are not accurate.
- <sup>24</sup> Yahweh is the one who directs the way a person will go.

- So then, how can someone understand where he is going?
- <sup>25</sup> It is dangerous to declare that something is holy to Yahweh, and it is worse to think about the meaning of holiness only after you have made a vow.
- <sup>26</sup> A king who is wise will separate the wicked from among his people; then he will severely punish those wicked people.
- <sup>27</sup> The life-giving spirit within a man is the light shining from Yahweh within us, it shines deep within and shows what is hidden deep inside us.
- <sup>28</sup> Love and faithfulness preserve the life of the king; his throne is made strong by steadfast love.
- <sup>29</sup> The honor of young people is seen in how strong they are, but the splendor of old people is in their gray hair.
- <sup>30</sup> When we are beaten, the wound that results may cleanse away evil, and beatings make our inmost self clean.
- 21 The motives of the king are directed like a stream of water by Yahweh; he diverts the king like he directs the flow of water, in any way he wants.
- <sup>2</sup> When a person looks at his own life, everything he does may seem right to him, but what matters is what Yahweh thinks about what he does.
- <sup>3</sup> Doing what is right and just is more acceptable to Yahweh than offering sacrifices to him.
- <sup>4</sup> When you show people that you think you are better than they, and add to that the pride you have within you—this shines like a light and it tells others you are a wicked person—they are examples of sin.
- <sup>5</sup> Those who work hard and who carry out their plans will be successful, but everyone who takes action too
- quickly and with little planning, make themselves poor.
- <sup>6</sup> When someone becomes rich because he tells lies, that wealth fades away like the mist; that wealth will kill him.
- <sup>7</sup> When wicked people act with violence, they are destroyed by their own violence, because they refuse to do what is right.
- <sup>8</sup> A guilty person follows a path covered with lies, but the innocent chooses to do what is right.
- <sup>9</sup> It is better to live alone in the corner of a housetop than inside a house with a wife who always wants to argue with you.
- <sup>10</sup> The wicked man craves evil more than anything; and when he looks at his neighbor, the wicked man's eyes reveal that he is not going to be kind to his neighbor.
- <sup>11</sup> When a person who acts like he is better than other people is punished, the simple—who do not know about right and wrong—are taught an important lesson, and if you teach one who is wise, they can learn even more.
- <sup>12</sup> One who does what is right watches the house where evil people live, and he confronts their wickedness and brings them to justice.
- <sup>13</sup> When the poor cried out for help, there was a person who refused to listen to their cries, but when he cried out, because he covered his ears to their cries, no one heard his cries.
- <sup>14</sup> Give a gift to a person who is angry with you, and it may turn away his anger; a secret gift may help a person who is angry at you to calm down.
- <sup>15</sup> When there is justice, those who love what is right are happy, but when there is justice, it brings

- great fear to those who do what is evil.
- <sup>16</sup> A person who does not understand right and wrong, will get lost when he tries to make decisions, he will only rest when he is dead.
- <sup>17</sup> Love pleasure and it will make you poor; you cannot be rich and love to drink wine and eat expensive foods.
- <sup>18</sup> A person who does right is honored much more than a wicked man, and a good man is worth far more than one who never keeps his promise.
- <sup>19</sup> It is better to live alone in a desert than with a wife who is always stirring up conflicts and never stops complaining.
- <sup>20</sup> Those who are wise have very precious treasures and they live very well, but foolish people waste all they have.
- <sup>21</sup> A person who does right and is kind, lives a good life, makes wise decisions, and receives honor from others.
- <sup>22</sup> When a wise leader goes up against a city of mighty warriors, he knows how to bring down the defenses of the city and he conquers it.
- <sup>23</sup> Be careful, if you could put a guard to watch over the words that come out of your mouth and tongue, you would keep away from a lot of trouble.
- <sup>24</sup> The mocker thinks he is better than other people, and his actions come from his pride and his arrogance.
- <sup>25</sup> The things that the lazy person chooses to do will kill him; he refuses to work.
- <sup>26</sup> All day long he desires things—he could not desire for more things—but whoever does right gives gifts to others, and he never holds back anything that is good.
- <sup>27</sup> When the wicked decide to give an offering to Yahweh, Yahweh hates it, and Yahweh hates it even more when the wicked man comes to worship Yahweh in order to get something for himself.
- <sup>28</sup> Those who lie about other people, will die, but the one who takes time to listen —when he says something, people will remember it.
- <sup>29</sup> The wicked man acts as if he were strong, but an honest man has thought about what to do and is certain about it.
- <sup>30</sup> Can there be any wisdom, any understanding, or any advice, that is wiser than Yahweh?
- <sup>31</sup> The groomsman prepares the horse for the day of battle, but the outcome of the battle, the winner or the loser, is determined by Yahweh.
- 22 Being a person who keeps his word is more important than having great riches, and being a person who everyone respects for doing right, is better than having silver and gold.
- <sup>2</sup> People who are rich and people who are poor have at least one thing in common—Yahweh made both of them.
- <sup>3</sup> One who has good sense takes cover when he sees trouble coming, but those who have no experience or knowledge rush ahead into danger.
- <sup>4</sup> When a person is humble and gives Yahweh the respect he deserves, these are his rewards: Riches, and honor, and life.
- <sup>5</sup> Where the perverse walk, their way is like a road covered with thorns, and there are traps in every step. When you guard your own life from evil, you will stay away from all these dangers.
- <sup>6</sup> A child must be shown the way to live and the direction he should go,

- and when he reaches old age, he will stay on that same path.
- <sup>7</sup>The fact is that the rich often have power over the poor, and one who borrows money is almost like a slave to the one who lends him the money.
- <sup>8</sup>If you plant the seeds of wickedness, you can expect a crop of trouble, and when you use a rod to discipline your child, but you use it when you are furious, it will do no good.
- <sup>9</sup>The one who looks for people to help, Yahweh will give many good gifts, because he considered it important to share his food with the poor.
- <sup>10</sup>If you throw out the conceited person, out will go all kinds of conflict with him.
No one will quarrel or insult anyone else when he is gone.
- <sup>11</sup>When a person loves to do something just because he wants to do what is good and right—he is sincere, and his speech is filled with kindness
—the king will be his friend.
- <sup>12</sup>Yahweh gives protection to knowledge, to keep it safe, just as surely as he makes the lying promises of the betrayer fail.
- <sup>13</sup>A lazy person calls out, "There is a lion in the street! If I go out, I will be killed!"
- <sup>14</sup>The words spoken by an adulteress will draw you in, and it will be as if you have fallen into a deep and dangerous pit!
All those who fall into that pit will be in trouble, but what is worse, they will experience Yahweh's anger for what they have done.
- <sup>15</sup>Stupid and silly things are bound up within a child, and they come out in foolishness; but correcting a child with discipline drives the folly far away.
- <sup>16</sup>The one who makes his money by taking advantage of the poor, or by giving more money to the wealthy,
Yahweh will bring him into poverty.
- <sup>17</sup>Now listen to what those who are wise have said;
give it all your attention and learn the knowledge you will need if you are to become wise.
- <sup>18</sup>It will be good for you to make them the guiding principles you live by, and be able to repeat all of them to others.
- <sup>19</sup>The most important thing is for you to trust in Yahweh, and so I am teaching them to you, yes, even to you.
- <sup>20</sup>I have written thirty of these sayings for you to learn; sayings to give you advice and to teach you what you do not know.
- <sup>21</sup>These lessons show you what is true and they teach you with faithful lessons, so you may give reliable and true answers to those who sent you.
- <sup>22</sup>Anyone can rob a poor person. Do not do it.
And do not hurt them who are begging at the city gate,
- <sup>23</sup>for Yahweh stands to defend them, and he will take the life of those who stole from the poor.
- <sup>24</sup>Do not become a friend with one whose life is controlled by his anger, and do not associate with a person who rages in his terrible wrath,
- <sup>25</sup>or you will learn to be like him, and your anger will become like a trap, a trap that will take charge of your life.
- <sup>26</sup>Be careful that you do not shake hands and promise to pay for the debts of others, and do not make or sign a pledge so another person can take out a loan.
- <sup>27</sup>For if you cannot pay it back, they will surely come and take away everything from you, even your bed on which you sleep.

<sup>29</sup>One who learns a trade and is skillful at it will become a servant of kings. Because of his achievements he will not serve mere ordinary people.

23 When you sit down to eat a meal with ruler of a country, think carefully about what is in front of you.

<sup>3</sup>Do not crave the special and expensive food the ruler enjoys; the food will deceive you.

<sup>4</sup>Do not work so much that you are always tired, so you can become rich; be wise and know when you should stop and rest.

<sup>5</sup>As soon as you look at the money, it will be gone; it will be as if it suddenly took up wings and flew up like an eagle, up into the sky.

<sup>6</sup>Do not eat with an evil man—he will gaze at your food for a long time—do not desire his fine food,

<sup>7</sup>because he will be thinking about how much your food cost him, and he will say to you, "Eat and drink," but that is not what he will really be thinking.

<sup>8</sup>When you realize what he is really thinking, you will want to vomit what you have eaten; and you will have wasted all the compliments you gave about the fine meal he prepared.

<sup>9</sup>Do not waste time talking to a fool; he will only despise the wise things that you say.

<sup>10</sup>Again, do not remove the ancient boundary stone. It is a marker for the property lines;

and do not claim land that is set apart for orphans to work, <sup>11</sup>because the One who redeems them is strong, and he will plead their case against you.

<sup>12</sup>Pay attention to what you are learning, and listen to the words of knowledge.

<sup>13</sup>Do not refuse to discipline your children; if you punish them, they will not die,

<sup>14</sup>and if you beat them with the rod of discipline, you may save their lives from death.

<sup>15</sup>My son, if you have taken wisdom deep within yourself,

I will be very happy,

<sup>16</sup>and I will be sincerely glad when you say what is right.

<sup>17</sup>Do not envy sinful people; but give Yahweh the respect he deserves, all day long.

<sup>18</sup>If you respect him, you will have a life in the future, and Yahweh will certainly do for you what you are confidently expecting him to do.

<sup>19</sup>My son, listen to me so you may become wise, and think about the way you live your life.

<sup>20</sup>Do not associate with those who get drunk with wine, or with those who are eat far too much food,

<sup>21</sup>because drunkards and gluttons will become poor; and they will sleep so much that they will have nothing but rags to wear.

<sup>22</sup>Pay attention to your father who brought you into the world, and do not hate your mother when she is old.

<sup>23</sup>When you study wisdom, think of it as buying truth, but never selling it; and the same for wisdom, and with

- discipline, and also with understanding;
- let it be as though you were buying them so you can keep them for the rest of your life.
- <sup>24</sup>The father of a child who does what is right will be very happy; any man who has a wise son will be very happy because of him.
- <sup>25</sup>Make your father and mother proud, and let your mother be glad.
- <sup>26</sup>My son, take what I say and put it deep within you, and pay attention to the way that I live.
- <sup>27</sup>A prostitute is like a very deep pit, that is easy to fall into, but difficult to get out; another man's wife is a narrow pit; just as dangerous as a deep pit, but of a different kind.
- <sup>28</sup>The immoral woman is waiting for you, waiting like a robber waits for his victim; and they cause many men to become liars and traitors to those who love them.
- <sup>29</sup>Who is it who had trouble? Who has sorrows? Who has conflicts and fights? Who has quarreling? Who is wounded for no reason? Whose eyes are always bloodshot because they drank too much or ate too much?
- <sup>30</sup>It is those who drink too much wine and those who drink the mixed wine.
- <sup>31</sup>Do not look with pleasure at red wine when it sparkles in the cup, and it goes down the throat smoothly.
- <sup>32</sup>But, in the last, it bites you like a poisonous snake.
- <sup>33</sup>It makes you see strange things, and within you, you say perverse things when you are drunk.
- <sup>34</sup>You will think you are on a ship that is tossing on the sea; you will be like someone who is trying to sleep up on the rigging of the boat.
- <sup>35</sup>You will say, "I think that someone struck me, but he did not hurt me; They beat me, but I did not feel it. When will I wake up in order that I can drink some more wine?"
- <sup>24</sup>Do not want what evil people have; do not desire them for friends,
- <sup>2</sup>because they are plotting to do violence; they talk about making trouble.
- <sup>3</sup>It takes wisdom to build a house, and by understanding the builder exercises his craft, and a house is made solid on its foundation.
- <sup>4</sup>It takes knowledge to fill the rooms of the house with all the beautiful and expensive decorations.
- <sup>5</sup>A man who has wisdom has strength, and a person with knowledge is mightier than the one who is strong,
- <sup>6</sup>for with wise guidance you can wage a war successfully, and by the advice of many advisors there will be victory.
- <sup>7</sup>Wisdom is something that a fool cannot understand; at the gate where the elders gather, the fool has nothing to say.
- <sup>8</sup>There is a man who does evil and makes plots—he is called the Master of Schemes.
- <sup>9</sup>A foolish plan is not only folly, it is sin; when people tell the truth, they hate those who are conceited and mock everyone.
- <sup>10</sup>When trouble comes, and you are terrified like a coward, then your strength is small.
- <sup>11</sup>Rescue the ones who are being carried away to the slaughter; they stagger and fall—hold them back from the one who would kill them.
- <sup>12</sup>If you say, "I did not know that those people needed any help," then think about this: God knows why we do everything, so he also knows why you said

- those people needed no help. God sees everything you do in this life, so he certainly understands why you said that about those people.
- He will certainly pay you back—and everyone else, too—for the harm they have done.
- <sup>13</sup> My son, eat honey, because it tastes good; the honeycomb is sweet.
- <sup>14</sup> Wisdom is like the honeycomb, it feeds your life, if you can find it. If you can find it, you will have a future, and you will come to the future with hope that will not be cut short.
- <sup>15</sup> Do not be like wicked people who hide and wait to attack the home of those who do what is right. Do not commit a violent attack on the place where the good man rests!
- <sup>16</sup> Even if good people fall down seven times, they always get back up, but when a disaster comes to the wicked, they are ruined by it.
- <sup>17</sup> When your enemy falls, do not rejoice, and do not be happy when he stumbles,
- <sup>18</sup> for Yahweh will see how you treat your enemy, and if he disapproves how you treat him, Yahweh may turn his wrath from your enemy and put it on you.
- <sup>19</sup> Do not worry about those who do what is evil, and do not be jealous of them,
- <sup>20</sup> for there is no future for the wicked; they are like a lamp whose light will soon be put out.
- <sup>21</sup> My son, give to Yahweh and give to the king the respect each of them deserves, and do not associate with anyone who rebels against either Yahweh or the king;
- <sup>22</sup> because disasters will suddenly come upon those rebels,
- and no one knows how terrible the disasters will be that will come from both Yahweh and from the king.<sup>23</sup> Here are more things that wise people have said:
- It is wrong for judges to decide matters unfairly.
- <sup>24</sup> If they say to people who are guilty, "You are innocent," they will be cursed by foreign peoples, and hated by nations.
- <sup>25</sup> But if judges say that guilty people must be punished, things will go well for those judges, and they will receive gifts of goodness.
- <sup>26</sup> Answering honestly—that is the best thing a person can do.
- <sup>27</sup> First, do the work that needs to be done outside, and prepare your fields; and after that, build your house.
- <sup>28</sup> Do not give testimony against your neighbor if there is no reason for it, and do not deceive people when you are telling what you know.
- <sup>29</sup> Do not say, "I will do to him what he did to me; I will pay him back for what he did to me."
- <sup>30</sup> I walked by the field of a lazy man, past the vineyard of a man who had no good judgment.
- <sup>31</sup> Thorns grew there and the stone wall had fallen down.
- <sup>32</sup> When I saw that, I thought about it, and I learned this:
- <sup>33</sup> A little sleep, a little nap, a little folding of the hands to rest—and while you rest,
- <sup>34</sup> poverty will come to you like a thief who steals from you, and poverty will come like an armed soldier who attacks you.
- 25 Here are more wise sayings of Solomon that were written down by the men of Hezekiah, the king of Judah.
- <sup>2</sup> God honors himself when he hides something so people cannot know it. But it is to the honor of kings to

- search out the things that God has hidden.
- <sup>3</sup> What kings think is above the way peasants think; they are like the heavens, they are above us all; and all kings have the same deep burdens that others cannot understand.
- <sup>4</sup> Silver cannot be used by the metal worker, unless the silver is heated and dross is removed from it;
- <sup>5</sup> just as the dross is removed, even so, if wicked men are removed from the kings court, his throne will be more secure, and he will be able to do what is right.
- <sup>6</sup> When you stand in front of a king, do not bring attention to yourself and do not stand in the place set aside for those the king is honoring.
- <sup>7</sup> It is better if someone important invites you, saying, "Come up and sit closer to the king," than to embarrass you in front of an important nobleman by making you move so that you now sit far away from the king.
- When you witness something that gives you concern,
- <sup>8</sup> you should not quickly bring the matter to trial, unless you are very sure about it, because your neighbor may have a good explanation for what you saw.
- <sup>9</sup> If you and your neighbor are having a disagreement, settle it between yourselves, and do not tell others any secret you have learned about;
- <sup>10</sup> for others might find out what you have done, and you would be ashamed; and from that time on, you will have a bad reputation.
- <sup>11</sup> Use the right words and a phrase put together to say exactly what you mean;
- this is as delightful as seeing designs of gold in a silver bowl.
- <sup>12</sup> When a wise person rebukes someone who is willing to listen to him, it is as priceless as a gold ring or jewelry made of finest gold.
- <sup>13</sup> A messenger who is reliable and on time, gives delight to those who sent him, to them he is like the cold of snow at harvest time, that refreshes the ground.
- <sup>14</sup> When someone boasts about a gift he is going to give, but never gives it, he is like the clouds and the wind that do not bring rain.
- <sup>15</sup> With patient persuasion even a ruler's mind can be changed, like the proverb that says, 'a soft tongue can break a bone.'
- <sup>16</sup> If you find some honey, eat just a little, because if you eat too much, you could vomit it up.
- <sup>17</sup> Do not go to your neighbor's house too often; he may get tired of you, and if you do not stop, he could even grow to hate you.
- <sup>18</sup> To falsely accuse others in court is like attacking them with a club used in battle, or with a sword, or with sharp arrows.
- <sup>19</sup> Depending on an unreliable person during times of trouble is like having a bad tooth or a foot that slips and makes you fall.
- <sup>20</sup> Singing a song to someone who is feeling sad, it is as unhelpful as taking off a coat on a very cold day, or pouring vinegar into soda, making it bubble.
- <sup>21</sup> If your enemies are hungry, give them something to eat; if they are thirsty, give them something to drink;
- <sup>22</sup> that will be the equal to pouring coals of fire on his head, without doing him any harm, and Yahweh will reward you for doing that.

- <sup>23</sup> When wind blows from the north, it will certainly rain; it is just as certain that someone who tells secrets about others will make people angry.
- <sup>24</sup> It is better to live alone in the corner of a housetop than inside a house with a wife who always wants to argue with you.
- <sup>25</sup> When you receive news from a far away country, that is like giving cold water to a person who is thirsty.
- <sup>26</sup> A good person who falls before the wicked, that is as bad as a spring that becomes muddied or a fountain that becomes polluted.
- <sup>27</sup> It is not good to eat too much honey; that is like searching for more honor when you already have honor.
- <sup>28</sup> A person who cannot control himself is like a city with no way to keep out enemies; its walls have fallen down.
- 26 When it snows in the summer, or when it rains in the harvest, that is what it is like when a fool gets honor—honor for him comes at the wrong time, and the wrong place.
- <sup>2</sup> A sparrow flies here and there flittering around, and a swallow darts back and forth when it flies, that is like someone speaking a curse against you—but it cannot land on you.
- <sup>3</sup> A horse needs a whip to make it move, and a donkey must have a bridle in its mouth, or it will not carry its load. In the same way, a fool needs someone to beat him on his back to get him to do anything.
- <sup>4</sup> Do not reply to a fool when he is trying to draw you into his foolishness, or you will be just as much a fool as he is.
- <sup>5</sup> Give a fool an answer that will be just as foolish as his question, and that may open his eyes so he - can see that he is not as wise as he thinks.

- <sup>6</sup> If you entrust an important message to be delivered by a fool, that would as foolish as cutting off your own feet, and then taking a drink of poison.
- <sup>7</sup> A lame man cannot use his legs; they hang down and are useless, as useless as when fools are reciting proverbs to one another that they do not understand..
- <sup>8</sup> When you tie a stone into a sling so it cannot be thrown, that is like one who gives honor to a fool, for no matter how much you praise him, it will never do him any good.
- <sup>9</sup> When a drunk man picks up a bush full of thorns and starts to swing it around at people, that is as helpful as a fool reciting proverbs, people stand back and try to get away from him.
- <sup>10</sup> An archer who aims and shoots arrows at people standing around him, is as dangerous as one who hires a fool or he takes so little care that he hires the next person who comes along.
- <sup>11</sup> When you see a dog return to his vomit, that is just like a fool who does the same foolish thing over and over again.
- <sup>12</sup> Do you know someone who has this idea about himself—he thinks he is a very wise person? It is easier to teach a fool than him.
- <sup>13</sup> The lazy person has many reasons for not working—you might hear him say, "But there is a lion in the street!" or "Oh, there is a lion in the market!"
- <sup>14</sup> When you see a door swing back and forth on its hinges,

- that is just like one who is lazy,
when he is lying on his bed,
turning back and forth.
- <sup>15</sup> One who is lazy might reach down
with his hand to get some food, but he does not have the energy to put the food into his mouth.
- <sup>16</sup> The one who is lazy considers himself
to be very wise,
more wise than seven men who are known for their insight.
- <sup>17</sup> Someone who walks by a dog lying on the ground, who then reaches down
and pulls its ears;
he is like someone who hears an argument as he is walking by,
and he gets involved, and becomes
angry
and then he takes sides and joins in
even though he had nothing to do with it.
- <sup>18-19</sup> Who is like an insane person who shoots burning arrows in every direction?
One who lies to his neighbor!
He makes an excuse to his neighbor
and tells him,
"I was only joking;"
but just like the madman's arrows, what he said has set everything on fire.
- <sup>20</sup> The fire goes out when there is no
more wood to burn;
and so arguments stop when no
one is gossiping.
- <sup>21</sup> As charcoal can ignite into burning coal and a log of wood into a fire;
so the one who argues sets anger
ablaze.
- <sup>22</sup> The gossip tells stories that are like
sweet treats to eat;
people eat them like candy until they are filled.
- <sup>23</sup> A shining glaze applied with great heat, covers the clay pot,
and that is like the fiery words that cover an evil heart.
- <sup>24</sup> The one who is filled with hate, by the words he speaks, he hides his true feelings;

- and he stores up more and more lies within himself.
- <sup>25</sup> He may speak kind words, but you should not believe them,
because deep within him is everything that Yahweh despises.
- <sup>26</sup> Even though he covers up his hatred by his lies,
everyone will realize how wicked he
is.
- <sup>27</sup> One who digs a pit will fall into it;
and a stone rolls back on the one who tried to push it up a hill.
- <sup>28</sup> The one who lies hates the people he destroys;
just as much as the person who uses flattery causes terrible
destruction.
- 27 Do not boast about what will happen
tomorrow,
because you do not know what will come to you during that day.
- <sup>2</sup> Do not praise yourself; let someone else
praise you.
It is better for someone you do not know to praise you,
than for you to praise yourself.
- <sup>3</sup> If you think about how heavy a stone can be, or how much sand can weigh
then you will understand that the trouble a fool causes is harder to carry than both of those
things.
- <sup>4</sup> If you think about how cruel can be people who rage at others, and how angry people can attack others like a flood of water,
then think about how jealous
people are even worse;
no one can resist being harmed by a jealous person.
- <sup>5</sup> It is better to offer a rebuke out in the open, than to have a love that is hidden.
- <sup>6</sup> A wound from a friend is better than kisses from an enemy.
- <sup>7</sup> When a person is walking along and he has a full stomach, he may step on a honeycomb because he is not

- hungry;
but if he were very hungry, even bitter things would taste sweet to him.
- <sup>8</sup> When a man wanders away from his home,
he is acting like a bird that stays far from its nest.
- <sup>9</sup> The aroma of perfume and the scent of incense can help to make a person feel happy;
and we most appreciate friends who give us good advice.
- <sup>10</sup> Do not forget your friend or a friend of your father;
and when you have a problem and you need help,
do not go to your brother's home.
When there is trouble, a neighbor who lives close by
is better than a brother who lives far away.
- <sup>11</sup> My son, if you become wise, you will make me happy;
so I will be able to give an answer to anyone who argues against me.
- <sup>12</sup> One who has good sense takes cover when he sees trouble coming,
but those who have no experience or knowledge rush ahead into danger.
- <sup>13</sup> Take a man's garment as security when he is guaranteeing a loan for a stranger.
Hold the garment in pledge to protect yourself from losing your money when he puts up security for an adulteress.
- <sup>14</sup> Whoever shouts out a blessing in a loud voice early in the morning, that blessing will be heard as if it were a curse.
- <sup>15</sup> A wife who continually argues with her husband is as annoying as the constant dripping of water on a rainy day;
- <sup>16</sup> and stopping her from arguing would be as difficult as restraining the wind, or trying to catch oil in one hand.
- <sup>17</sup> Iron is used to sharpen an iron blade, just like a man makes his friend better.
- <sup>18</sup> The farmer who takes care of a fig tree will enjoy its fruit when it is ripe. This is just like the one who protects his master, he will get honor from his master.
- <sup>19</sup> When a person looks in the water, he sees his own face;
similarly when we look at what a person loves, we know what he is like deep inside.
- <sup>20</sup> You know that the Place of the Dead and The Destroyer are never satisfied; and people, too, are never satisfied and always want more.
- <sup>21</sup> Silver is refined in a crucible, and gold is put into a furnace to be made pure; and how a person responds to the praise given to them will tell you what kind of person he is.
- <sup>22</sup> Though you grind a fool as if you were grinding up grain, you will not be able to take his foolishness out of him.
- <sup>23</sup> A good shepherd will know the condition of all his sheep and he will check on them every day.
- <sup>24</sup> Wealth does not last forever.
Does the crown of a king endure for all generations?
- <sup>25</sup> The grass dies out and then the new growth starts to grow;
and on the mountains food for the cattle is stacked up in the barns.
- <sup>26</sup> The lambs will give you warm clothing and the goats will give you enough to pay for the cost of the field.
- <sup>27</sup> There will be milk from the goats that you can drink—that will be food for everyone who lives in your house—and it is food to feed your servant girls, as well.
- 28 A wicked person runs away even when no one is coming after him, but the one who does what is right is as brave as lions.
- <sup>2</sup> The more sin there is in a country, the greater the number of rulers it will have;
but when there is a ruler who has

- understanding and knowledge,
the country can last a long
time.
- <sup>3</sup> When a poor person oppresses other poor people,
it is like a hard rain that destroys the crops and leaves no food for anyone to eat.
- <sup>4</sup> Those who reject the law are the same people who speak well of those who are wicked;
but those who obey the law fight against the wicked.
- <sup>5</sup> As difficult as it is for evil people to understand what is just,
even so those who want to find Yahweh understand everything that is important.
- <sup>6</sup> It is better to be honest and poor,
than to be dishonest in all you do,
and to be rich.
- <sup>7</sup> The one who obeys the law is a child who has understanding of the ways
of wisdom;
but if children go around with friends who are only interested in eating too much, they put their father to shame.
- <sup>8</sup> The person who becomes rich by charging a high rate of interest,
he does not know that he is gathering his money, and it will be given to someone who helps
the poor and is kind to them.
- <sup>9</sup> If you refuse to hear what the law says
to you about how you should live;
then Yahweh is offended by your
prayers.
- <sup>10</sup> If someone tricks an honest person
into doing that is bad,
the one who did that will fall into
his own trap,
but those who have tried to right
will receive many good things.
- <sup>11</sup> A rich person can think of himself as being wise,
but someone who is poor but who has good sense will be able to tell if the rich man is really wise.
- <sup>12</sup> When those who do what is right have a victory, it is a time to celebrate,
- but when those who are wicked rise up in victory, people run and hide.
- <sup>13</sup> The one who tries to cover up his sins
will be found out,
but Yahweh will forgive those who tell their sins to him, and they turn away from doing them.
- <sup>14</sup> How fortunate are those who always honor Yahweh;
but those who refuse to listen to him, who do not want to learn from him, will fall into trouble.
- <sup>15</sup> You know what a roaring lion or a charging bear is like;
they are just like the wicked ruler
who is tearing apart poor
people.
- <sup>16</sup> A king who does not have good sense thinks he is wise when he is cruel and he takes everything away from his
people.
but a person who hates getting anything by breaking the law,
will live a long life.
- <sup>17</sup> If a person is guilty of murdering another
he will live like a fugitive until he dies;
and no one will help him.
- <sup>18</sup> When a person lives his life and is blameless, Yahweh will keep him safe;
but one who lives by his lies will be suddenly ruined.
- <sup>19</sup> A farmer who works his field will have plenty of food to eat;
but anyone who gives his time to worthless dreams, will be very poor.
- <sup>20</sup> Yahweh will give good things to a faithful person;
but he will certainly punish those who become rich quickly.
- <sup>21</sup> It is bad to give a favor to one person
and not to another;
some people will do what is wrong
just to get a piece of bread.
- <sup>22</sup> A man who hates to spend his money
will run to more,
but he does not know that poverty
is coming to him.

- <sup>23</sup> The one who rebukes a person will later be appreciated more than the one who says nice things just to flatter him.
- <sup>24</sup> Anyone who steals things from his father or his mother and says "That is not sinful," he is friend of the one who destroys.
- <sup>25</sup> A greedy person stirs up arguments between people; but the one who trusts in Yahweh will do well.
- <sup>26</sup> One who depends on himself is a fool, those who make wise decisions escape danger.
- <sup>27</sup> One who gives to help the poor, will not lack anything, but many curses will come to whoever turns away and ignores them.
- <sup>28</sup> When wicked people get power, men and women hide; but when the wicked die, there will be more and more of those who do what is right.
- 29 When you rebuke a person who has rejected your words and who refused to listen to you, he will be crushed to the point that he cannot be healed.
- <sup>2</sup> When people live the right way, they become more numerous, but when a wicked ruler starts to govern, the people groan.
- <sup>3</sup> A son who desires to learn about wisdom makes his father very happy; but the son who is a companion of prostitutes will lose all his money
- <sup>4</sup> When a king rules with honest rules and good laws, he causes his nation to be strong, but anyone who asks for bribes ruins his nation.
- <sup>5</sup> One who praises his neighbor to get something from him, is like the one who listens for the sound of his footsteps, so he can catch him in a net.
- <sup>6</sup> A bad person sets a trap with his sin;

- then he falls into it; but one who does right is full of songs and joy.
- <sup>7</sup> The one who does right stands up for the poor and defends them; but wicked people do not see the importance of standing up for the poor.
- <sup>8</sup> People who sneer and mock others are like those who set a city on fire; but those who help people get rid of their anger are wise.
- <sup>9</sup> If a wise person has any conflict with a foolish person, the foolish person screams at him and then laughs at him, and it never ends.
- <sup>10</sup> A murderer hates him who does everything right; and they seek to kill the one who has a good reputation.
- <sup>11</sup> A fool shows all his anger, but a person who is wise holds his anger, and he knows how to calm himself down.
- <sup>12</sup> If a ruler believes the lies that are told to him, he teaches all his officials to be wicked.
- <sup>13</sup> What do a poor person and one who takes advantage of people have in common? Yahweh gives life to both of them.
- <sup>14</sup> If a king judges the poor by listening to the truth, he will build a kingdom that will continue forever.
- <sup>15</sup> If a child is punished, the gift of wisdom is given to him; but when a child is out of control, this brings shame to his mother.
- <sup>16</sup> When wicked people have authority, lawbreaking is common; but those who do what is right will see the day when the wicked will lose their power.
- <sup>17</sup> Discipline your child and he will help you and serve you; you will truly rejoice over him.
- <sup>18</sup> When no prophet receives any vision

- from Yahweh, the people go out of control,
but those who obey the law are fortunate.
- <sup>19</sup> Talk to a slave as much as you want, but though he understands what you are saying, they have learned not to give you an answer.
- <sup>20</sup> Do you see someone who is quick to speak, quick to give an opinion? Yahweh can give a fool more help in the future easier than he can help him who is quick to speak.
- <sup>21</sup> If a slave is excused from his labor and treated better than other slaves by his master from the time he is young; but when he is grown, that slave will give trouble to his master.
- <sup>22</sup> A person who cannot control his anger stirs up many quarrels and uses his rage to rule over others, and so he commits many sins.
- <sup>23</sup> Any person who is proud will be humbled; but the one who is humbled will be given honor.
- <sup>24</sup> A person who helps a thief, hates himself; he overhears the curse, but he does not say anything about it.
- <sup>25</sup> When one is afraid of what people can do, it is like setting a trap for himself. but whoever trusts in Yahweh is safe.
- <sup>26</sup> Many people want to come before a ruler to get help from him, but Yahweh is the only one who gives him true justice.
- <sup>27</sup> Those who do what is right detest a person who treats others in an unfair way; just as the wicked hate those who live good lives.
- 30 These are sayings containing wisdom, the sayings of Agur son of Jakeh. Agur wrote them for Ithiel, yes, to Ithiel and to Ucal.

- <sup>2</sup> I am more like an animal than any human being!
I lack the understanding that a human being has!
- <sup>3</sup> I have not learned about wisdom; I do not know Yahweh, the Holy One.
- <sup>4</sup> Who has ever gone up to heaven and come back down again?
Who can catch the wind in his hand?
Who can gather up the waters in an overcoat?
Who set the limits to the size of the earth?
What is his name? And what is the name of his son?
Do you know?
- <sup>5</sup> Every word of God is proven by a test that it is true;
he is like a shield that protects those who run to him.
- <sup>6</sup> Be careful not to add to Yahweh's words more than he has said;
if you do that, he will correct you and he will prove that you lied about what he said.
- <sup>7</sup> I ask Yahweh for two things, and that he give them to me before I die.
- <sup>8</sup> Put vain pride and lies far away from me;
and do not give me poverty or riches,
just give me the food I need every day. <sup>9</sup> For if I have too much money, it is possible that I will deny my God and say, "Who is Yahweh?"
Or it is possible that I will become so poor that I steal from others and bring disgrace on the name of my God.
- <sup>10</sup> Do not speak badly about a slave when he is standing before his master; if you do, he will curse you, and you will be responsible; you brought it on yourself.
- <sup>11</sup> There are many people who curse their fathers and they do not praise their

- mothers or thank them;
- <sup>12</sup> those people think everything they do should not be criticized, but really they have never been cleansed from their filth.
- <sup>13</sup> These people show how proud they are in their eyes; they make people look at them and they show their pride in their faces!
- <sup>14</sup> These people use their mouths to speak the most hurtful words, like they are cutting and tearing people apart; it is as if they are eating up the poor people from the earth, and swallowing up the needy from humanity.
- <sup>15</sup> There are leeches that suck blood, imagine they had two daughters; they say, "Give to us! Give to us!" There are four things that are never satisfied— they always want more :
- <sup>16</sup> The grave, the place of the dead; the womb of a woman that never conceived a child; soil that badly needs to be watered; and a fire that burns hot and it never says, "The fire is hot enough!"
- <sup>17</sup> The one who dishonors his father, and who disrespects and disobeys his mother. such a person would be killed and have his eyes pecked out by crows, and would be devoured by the vultures.
- <sup>18</sup> There are three wonderful things I can mention; no, there are four that are too amazing and I cannot understand them.
- <sup>19</sup> How eagles fly in the sky; how snakes move over a big rock, how ships can sail on the seas, and how a man is able to win the love of a woman.
- <sup>20</sup> This is what a woman is like who is not faithful to her husband: she eats and then wipes her mouth, and she says, "There is nothing

- wrong in what I have done."
- <sup>21</sup> There are four things that make the earth tremble:
- <sup>22</sup> the earth trembles with a slave becomes a king; the earth trembles when fool has eaten his food and is filled;
- <sup>23</sup> the earth trembles when a woman who is hated by all, gets married, and the earth trembles, when the maid becomes the wife of her master.
- <sup>24</sup> There are four creatures on the earth that are small, but they are very wise.
- <sup>25</sup> Ants are not strong, but they store up food during the summer in order to have it during the winter.
- <sup>26</sup> Rock badgers also are not strong, but they make their homes among the rocks.
- <sup>27</sup> Locusts do not have a king, but they march in rank like soldiers in the army.
- <sup>28</sup> Lizards are very small and you can hold them in your hand, but they get inside kings' palaces.
- <sup>29</sup> There are four animals that walk with great pride and they are very impressive as they walk.
- <sup>30</sup> Lions, which are the strongest among wild animals and are not afraid of any of them.
- <sup>31</sup> Strutting roosters, and male goats, and kings who stand with their soldiers beside them.
- <sup>32</sup> If you have acted foolishly, exalting yourself, or if you been planning to do something evil, put your hand over your mouth! Stop it!
- <sup>33</sup> Just as when you churn milk, and it produces butter, even so, if you hit someone hard on his nose, the result is that his nose will bleed; and, in the same way, when people are angry, they will argue and fight.
- 31 These are sayings of King Lemuel—an oracle his mother taught him.
- <sup>2</sup> She says: You are my son; I carried you

- in my womb;
you are the son, I made promises to Yahweh for you.
- <sup>3</sup>Do not give your strength to women;
and do not tell what your plans are,
to the women who destroy kings.
- <sup>4</sup>Lemuel, kings should be careful about drinking wine;
and a king should never ask,
"Where is the strong drink?"
- <sup>5</sup>They could drink but then they might forget that they made a decree of the king,
and tear down the rights of those who have been taken advantage
of.
- <sup>6</sup>Give strong drink to those who are dying
and to those who are grieving their loss.<sup>7</sup>One who drinks will forget he is poor,
and he will not remember his
trouble.
- <sup>8</sup>Speak for those who cannot speak for themselves,
speak for those who are approaching death.
- <sup>9</sup>Speak out and render judgment
according to what is right;
and plead for justice to come in the cases of the poor and the needy.
- <sup>10</sup>Who can find a wife who is good at many things?
Her value is much more than the jewels she could wear.
- <sup>11</sup>Her husband completely trusts her,
and because of her, he will never be
poor.
- <sup>12</sup>She does good things for him and not evil,
all the days of her life.
- <sup>13</sup>She finds wool and flax in the market,
and she enjoys spinning it to make yarn and fabric.
- <sup>14</sup>She is like the merchant ships
because she brings her food to her home from far away.
- <sup>15</sup>She gets up before dawn to prepare food for her family,
and she gives each servant girl her
- duties for the day.
- <sup>16</sup>She goes out and considers what field
she will buy, and she buys it.
With the money she has made in other ventures,
she plants a vineyard.
- <sup>17</sup>She prepares herself with her strength,
and her arms are strong, able to do hard work.
- <sup>18</sup>She knows when she is getting a good profit from her business.
She keeps a lamp burning all night long.
- <sup>19</sup>She holds the spindle,
and then she spins the thread that she will use.
- <sup>20</sup>She gives an outstretched hand to help
the poor.
- <sup>21</sup>She is not worried about the snow,
for everyone in her house have the best winter coats.
- <sup>22</sup>She makes covers for the beds.
She wears fine purple linen clothes
—the color of royalty.
- <sup>23</sup>Her husband is well known at the city
gates,
and there at the gates he sits with
the other leaders of the town.
- <sup>24</sup>She makes linen garments and she sells
them.
She sells sashes to shop owners.
- <sup>25</sup>She is strong in her character and respected,
and she laughs at what will happen
in the future.
- <sup>26</sup>When she speaks, she says what is wise,
and she lives by the law of kindness.
- <sup>27</sup>She watches over everything that is done in her household,
and nothing in her actions would be anything like laziness.
- <sup>28</sup>Her children speak highly of her;
her husband also praises her.
- <sup>29</sup>He says to her, "There are many women who do admirable things,
but you surpass them all!"
- <sup>30</sup>Elegance can deceive and make you think more highly of a person than you should;
and beauty has no lasting value.
But a woman who honors Yahweh
will be praised for the person

she is.<sup>31</sup> Give her what she has earned,

and her works will praise her among the leaders of the town.

Ecclesiastes

1 These are the words and sayings of the descendant of King David, who is king in Jerusalem. The people call me 'The Teacher.'

2 The Teacher says, "Nothing is permanent.

It is all like the morning mist or the wind;

It goes and comes, but for what reason?

3 What do people gain from all the work that they do here on the earth?"

4 Each year old people die and babies are born,
but the earth never changes.

5 Each morning the sun rises, and each evening it sets,
and then it hurries around to where it started from.

6 The wind blows south,
and then it turns around to start blowing to the north.

It goes around and around in circles.
7 All the streams flow into the sea,
but the sea is never full.

The water returns under the earth and comes up again into the rivers;
then it flows to the sea again.

8 Everything is so unsatisfactory that we do not even want to talk about it.

We see the same things,
and we become bored with them.

We hear the same things,
but we want to hear something more.

9 Everything continues to be the same as it has always been.

Things that happen have happened previously, and they will happen again.

What has been done before will be done again.

There is nothing really new in this world.

10 Sometimes people say, "Look at this!
This is something new!"

But it has existed previously.

It existed before we were born.

11 People do not remember the things that happened long ago,
and in the future, people will not remember what we are doing now.

12 I, the Teacher, have been the king of Israel for many years, ruling in Jerusalem. 13 By using my wisdom, I concentrated on understanding everything that was being done on the earth. It is a task that wears me out, just like anyone else who tries it. 14 It seems that nothing that happens on the earth really enables us to do anything useful. It is like trying to control the wind.

15 Many things that are crooked cannot be caused to become straight.
We cannot count things that we cannot see.

16 I said to myself, "I am wiser than any of those who ruled in Jerusalem before me. I am wiser and know more than any of them!" 17 So I determined to learn more about being wise, and also to learn about doing things that are very stupid and foolish. But I found out that trying to understand those things was also useless, like trying to control the wind. 18 Anyone who becomes very wise also becomes very frustrated. The more one knows, the sadder he becomes.

2 Then I said to myself, "Well, I will try to do everything that I enjoy. I will find out whether doing what I enjoy can truly enable me to be happy." But I found out that doing that was also useless. 2 So I said to myself, "It is foolish to laugh all the time, and continually doing what makes me happy does not bring any lasting benefit." 3 So, after thinking a lot about it, I decided to cheer myself up by drinking a lot of wine. While I was still trying to be wise, I acted stupidly. I tried to learn what people can do to be happy during the short time that they are alive on the earth. 4 I did great things. I caused houses to be built for myself and vineyards to be planted. 5 I made gardens and parks. Then I planted the gardens with many kinds of fruit trees. 6 I built pools of water to store water to irrigate the fruit trees.

<sup>7</sup>I bought male and female slaves. Babies who later became my slaves were born in my palace. I also owned more livestock than any of the previous kings in Jerusalem had owned. <sup>8</sup>I also accumulated large amounts of silver and gold that were acquired from the treasures of kings and rulers of provinces. I owned men and women who sang for me, and I had many wives and concubines, whom men all over the world would enjoy possessing. <sup>9</sup>So I gained more power and wealth than any king who had ruled before me in Jerusalem, and I allowed my wisdom to continue to guide me.

I did everything that I thought would enable me to be happy.

All the things that I enjoyed were like a reward for all my hard work.

<sup>11</sup>But then I thought about all the hard work that I had done to obtain all those things.

I saw that none of my work
brought me any lasting benefit.

It was all like trying to control the wind.

<sup>12</sup>Then I started to think about being wise, and also about being foolish.
I said to myself, "I certainly do not think that anybody will be able to do anything better than I can."

<sup>13</sup>And I thought, "Surely it is better to be wise than to be foolish,
like light is better than darkness, <sup>14</sup>because wise people walk in the daylight and can see where they are going,
but foolish people walk in the darkness and cannot see where they are going."

But I also realized that both wise people
and foolish people eventually die.

<sup>15</sup>So I said to myself,
"I am very wise, but I will die at the end of my life like foolish people do.
So how has it benefited me to be very wise?"

I do not understand why people consider that it is valuable to be wise.

<sup>16</sup>Wise people and foolish people all die.
And after we die, we will all eventually be forgotten."

<sup>17</sup>So I hated being alive, because all the work that we do here on the earth distressed me. It all seemed to be useless, like trying to control the wind.

<sup>18</sup>I also began to hate all the hard work that I had done here on the earth, because when I die, everything that I have acquired will belong to the one who inherits it after me.

<sup>19</sup>And who knows whether that person will be wise or foolish? But even if he is foolish, he will acquire all the things that I worked very hard and wisely to get. <sup>20</sup>I thought about all the hard work that I had done in this world. It seemed useless, and I became depressed.

<sup>21</sup>Some people work wisely and skillfully, using the things that they have learned. But when they die, they leave everything, and someone who has not worked for those things acquires them. That fact also seemed to be senseless and caused me to be discouraged.
<sup>22</sup>So it is useless for people to work for all they do. <sup>23</sup>Every day the work that they do causes them to experience pain and to be worried.
And during the night their minds are not able to rest. That also shows how temporary everything is.

<sup>24</sup>So I decided that the best thing that we can do is to enjoy what we eat and drink, and also to enjoy our work. And I realized that those things are what God intends for us.

<sup>25</sup>There is absolutely no one who is able to enjoy those things if God does not give those things to him. <sup>26</sup>God enables those who please him to be wise, to know many things, and to enjoy many things. But if sinful people work hard and become rich, God can take their money away from them and give it to those who please him. However, the reason for that is also something that is difficult for me to understand. It seems useless that they worked so hard; it is like trying to control the wind.

<sup>3</sup>There is a right time for everything,
a time for everything that we do in this world.

<sup>2</sup>There is the right time for any certain person to be born, and there is the right time for him to die.

There is the right time to plant crops, and there is the right time to harvest crops.

- <sup>3</sup> There is the right time to kill people, and there is the right time to heal people.
- There is the right time to tear things down, and there is the right time to build things.
- <sup>4</sup> There is the right time to cry, and there is the right time to laugh.
- There is the right time to mourn, and there is the right time to dance joyfully.
- <sup>5</sup> There is the right time to throw away stones from a field, and there is the right time to gather stones to build walls.
- There is the right time to embrace people, and there is the right time to keep from embracing them.
- <sup>6</sup> There is the right time to search for things, and there is the right time to stop searching for things.
- There is the right time to keep things, and there is the right time to throw things away.
- <sup>7</sup> There is the right time to tear our clothes because we are grieving, and there is the right time to mend our clothes.
- There is the right time to say nothing, and there is the right time for speaking.
- <sup>8</sup> There is the right time when we should love things that people do, and there is the right time when we should hate things that people do.
- There is the right time for war, and there is the right time for peace.
- <sup>9</sup> What do people gain from all the work that they do? <sup>10</sup> I have seen the work that God has given people to do. <sup>11</sup> God has fixed a time that is right for everything to happen. He has also caused people to realize that there are things that will last forever. But in spite of that, no one can completely understand everything that God has done, from the time that he starts doing things until he finishes them. <sup>12</sup> I know that the best thing for us people to do is to rejoice and to do good things during the time that we are alive. <sup>13</sup> And I also know that everyone should enjoy what they eat and drink, and enjoy the work that they do. Those are gifts that God gives to us. <sup>14</sup> I also know that what God does endures forever. No one can add to what God does, and no one can take away from the things that he does. God does those things in order that people will honor him.

<sup>15</sup> Things that exist now have already existed previously, and things that will happen in the future have already happened previously; God causes us to want to understand mysteries.

<sup>16</sup> Furthermore, I saw that on this earth, even in the courts where we expect judges to make right decisions about what people had done, they did many wicked things.

<sup>17</sup> So I said to myself, "God will judge both righteous people and wicked people. There is certainly a time for him to do that because there is a time for him to do everything."

<sup>18</sup> And regarding humans, I also said to myself, "God is testing us, to show us that in one way people are no different than animals."

<sup>19</sup> What happens to people happens to animals. Animals die, and people die. We all must breathe to remain alive. People have no advantage over animals in that way. Everything disappears so quickly. <sup>20</sup> People and animals all die and are buried. We are all made of soil, and when we die, our corpses become soil again. <sup>21</sup> No one knows if people go up and animals go down to the place where the dead are.

<sup>22</sup> So I think that the best thing for us people to do is to be happy about the work that we do, because that is what God has given to us. I say this because no one of us knows what happens to us after we die.

4 I thought some more about all the suffering that people are made to experience on the earth.

I thought about the tears of people who were oppressed and who had no one to comfort them.

Those who oppress them have power, and there is no one able to comfort the oppressed.

<sup>2</sup> So I thought that those who are already dead are more fortunate than those who are still alive.

<sup>3</sup> And those who have not yet been born are even more fortunate than those two kinds of people, because those who have not been born have not seen all the evil things that are done on the earth.

<sup>4</sup> I also thought about all the hard work that people do and the things they are able to accomplish. And I thought about how someone who works hard sometimes makes his neighbor jealous. I decided that this also is something that is not accomplishing anything useful. It is like trying to control the wind.

So they ruin themselves.

<sup>6</sup> So some say, "It is better to be content with working quietly for a little bit of money, than to work anxiously and try to get a lot of money, which is as useless as trying to control the wind."

<sup>7</sup> I thought about something else that happens on the earth that seems useless.

<sup>8</sup> There are people who live alone; they do not have a family nor even children or any brothers or sisters living with them.

Every day they work very hard without stopping; they make a lot of money, but they are never satisfied with the things that they get.

They ask themselves, "Why am I working so hard; whom am I actually helping?"

Why am I not doing things that I would enjoy doing?

What I have been doing seems useless." This is very bad.

<sup>9</sup> Having someone work with you is better than being by yourself all the time.

If you have a friend, he can help you to do your work.

<sup>10</sup> If you fall down, he can help you get up again.

But if you fall down when you are alone, you will have trouble, because there is no one to help you stand up.

<sup>11</sup> Similarly, if two people lie down together, they can help each other to remain warm.

But someone who sleeps alone will certainly not be warm.

<sup>12</sup> Someone who is alone can easily be attacked and defeated by another person, but two people can help each other and resist someone who attacks them.

Three people can defend themselves even more easily, like a rope that is made from three cords is harder to break than a rope made from two cords.

<sup>13</sup> A young man who is poor but wise is a better person than a foolish old king who refuses to pay attention when people try to give him good advice. <sup>14</sup> It is possible for a young man like that to succeed and some day become king, even if his parents were poor or even if he was in prison in the past. <sup>15</sup> But then some other young man becomes king, and everyone starts to support him. <sup>16</sup> Large crowds of people crowd around him. But after a few years, they will be tired of him, too. So it is all senseless, like trying to control the wind.

5 Be careful when you approach God in his house. Listen well to him. That is better than offering sacrifices to him and then not obeying him, which is foolish.

<sup>2</sup> Do not speak too quickly without thinking about the words you say; and do not be too quick in your heart to complain about something to God.

Remember that God is very different from you and he is in heaven.

You, however, are very limited and you must live all your life here on earth.

So think carefully about what you say to God, and do not speak without thinking about how you should speak to him.

<sup>3</sup> If you are continually thinking and

- worrying about things,
you will have bad dreams about them and not rest well.
- And the more you talk,
the more likely it will be that you will say things that are foolish.
- <sup>4</sup> When you solemnly promise God that you will do something, do not foolishly delay in doing it, because God is not pleased with foolish people. Do all the things that you promise God that you will do. <sup>5</sup> It is better to not promise anything than to promise to do something and then not do it. <sup>6</sup> Do not let the things that you promise to do cause you to sin
by not doing them. And if you promise God that you will do something but then do not do it, do not say to God's priest that it was a mistake for you to promise to do that. If you do that, God can destroy everything you have worked to accomplish. <sup>7</sup> Promising to do something and not doing it is like having a useless dream. Instead, honor God by doing what you promised him that you would do.
- <sup>8</sup> Do not be surprised if you see poor people being oppressed. There are people able to stop others from oppressing them, but even these people are under the power of someone even higher. <sup>9</sup> Even though people throughout the land own their fields, the king forces them to give him some of the crops that they harvest.
- <sup>10</sup> Everyone who tries to get as much money as they can will never think that they have enough.
- They will never be satisfied with the money that they have.
- That fact also makes no sense.
- <sup>11</sup> The more money that people have,
the more they want to spend it.
- People who have a lot of money do not benefit from it,
except to look at it and admire it.
- <sup>12</sup> Those who work hard sleep peacefully
at night,
even if they do not have much food
to eat.
- But rich people do not sleep well because they worry about their money.
- <sup>13</sup> I have seen another terrible thing that happens here on the earth.

- People save up all their money and become rich,
but they are miserable because they store up their money.
- <sup>14</sup> If something happens that causes their money to be gone,
then when they die,
there is no money for their children.
- <sup>15</sup> When we are born,
we do not bring anything with us,
and when we die,
we take nothing with us
from all that we have earned by working
hard.
- <sup>16</sup> That also seems to make no sense.
People bring nothing into the world
when they are born,
and when they leave this world they take nothing with them.
- They have worked hard,
but they receive no lasting benefit.
- <sup>17</sup> Furthermore, rich people are always miserable, sad,
and depressed.
- <sup>18</sup> So the best thing for people to do here on the earth during the few years that God allows them to be alive is to eat, drink, and enjoy their work, because those are the things that he allows them to do. <sup>19</sup> If people are rich and have a lot of possessions, and are able to enjoy the things that they have and to enjoy their work, those things are also gifts from God. <sup>20</sup> Those people do not think much about everything that has happened during their lifetime, because God makes sure that they keep working at what they enjoy.
- 6 I have seen something else here on this earth that troubles people. <sup>2</sup> God enables some people to receive a lot of money and possessions and to be honored by him. They have everything that they want. But God sometimes does not allow them to enjoy those things.
Someone else gets them and enjoys them. That seems senseless and unfair.
- <sup>3</sup> Someone might have a hundred children and live for many years. But if he is not able to enjoy the things that he has acquired, and if he is not buried properly after he dies, I say that a child that is dead when it is born is more fortunate. <sup>4</sup> This is true, even though that dead

baby's birth is meaningless—even though it does not have a name, and its brief life becomes only a sad memory in the future.<sup>5</sup> That baby does not live to see the sun or know anything. But even so, it finds more rest than rich people do who are alive.<sup>6</sup> Even if people should live for two thousand years, if they do not enjoy the things that God gives to them, it would have been better for them never to have been born.

All people who live a long time certainly all go to the same place—to the grave.

<sup>8</sup> So it seems that wise people do not receive more lasting benefits than foolish people do.

And it seems that poor people do not benefit from knowing how to conduct their lives.

<sup>9</sup> It is better to enjoy the things that we already have than to constantly want more things.

Continually wanting more things is senseless, like trying to control the wind.

<sup>10</sup> All the things that exist on the earth have been given names.

Everyone knows what people are like, so it is useless to argue with God, who is stronger than we are.

<sup>11</sup> The more that we talk, the more often we say things that are senseless, so it certainly does not benefit us to talk a lot.

<sup>12</sup> No human being can know everything that is good for himself in this life. People live for a few seemingly meaningless days. Life passes by quickly, like a shadow, and no one knows what is coming after we die. We live for only a short time, and then we disappear like a vapor.

7 It is better that other people honor us than to have fine perfume.

The day that we die is better than the day that we are born.

<sup>2</sup> It is better to go to a house where people are mourning about someone who has died than to go to a house where people are feasting, because everyone will die some day, and people should think about when they will die.

<sup>3</sup> It is better to be sad than to be always laughing, because when we are sad, we can think better about the things that will make us wise and happy.

<sup>4</sup> Wise people go to where others are mourning to comfort them, but foolish people only search for those who are laughing.

<sup>5</sup> It is better to pay attention to someone who is rebuking you than to listen to the songs of a foolish person.

<sup>6</sup> By listening to foolish people laughing we will not learn anymore than by listening to the crackling of thorns being burned under a pot.

Listening to fools is senseless.

<sup>7</sup> When wise people say to others, "You must pay me a lot of money for me to protect you," that causes those wise people to become foolish.

Those who accept bribes become unable to do what is right.

<sup>8</sup> Finishing something is better than starting something, and being patient is better than being proud.

<sup>9</sup> Do not quickly lose your temper, because it is foolish people who become very angry.

There are lasting benefits for anyone on earth who is wise.

<sup>12</sup> We are sometimes protected by being

- wise,
as we are sometimes protected by
having a lot of money.
- However, being wise is better than
having a lot of money,
because being wise prevents us from doing foolish things that would cause us to die.
- <sup>13</sup> Think carefully about what God has
done.
Certainly no one can cause to become straight
the things that God has caused to be crooked.
- <sup>14</sup> When things are going well for you, be
happy,
and when things are not going well
for you,
remember that God is the one who causes good things to happen
and who also causes disasters.
Yet God does not reveal to anyone exactly what his future holds.
- <sup>15</sup> During all the time that I have been alive
I have seen many things that seem senseless.
I have seen righteous people die while they were still young,
and I have seen wicked people remain alive for a very long
time
in spite of their continuing to be wicked.
- <sup>16</sup> So do not think that you are very righteous,
and do not think that you are very
wise,
because if you think those things,
you will destroy yourself.
- <sup>17</sup> If you do what is evil or do what is
foolish,
you might die while you are still young.
- <sup>18</sup> Continue to try to become wise and do
what is right.
Both of those things are found in the person who always respects
God.
- <sup>19</sup> If you are wise, you will be more powerful
than the ten most powerful men in
your city.

- <sup>20</sup> There is no one in this world who always does what is right,
who never sins.
- <sup>21</sup> Do not pay attention to everything
that people say,
because if you do that, you might hear your servant curse you.
- <sup>22</sup> After all, you yourself know very well that you have also cursed other
people.
- <sup>23</sup> I said to myself that I would use my wisdom to study all the things that I have written about,
but I was not able to do it.
- <sup>24</sup> Wisdom seems to be far from me.
There is no one who can truly understand everything.
- <sup>25</sup> But I decided to investigate things and by my wisdom try to understand the reason for everything.
I also wanted to understand why people act wickedly
and why they act very foolishly.
- <sup>26</sup> One thing I learned was that allowing a woman to seduce you is worse than
dying.
A woman who tries to seduce men
is as dangerous as a trap.
If you allow her to put her arms around you, it will be as though she is fastening you with chains.
- Women like that will capture sinful men,
but men who please God will escape from such women.
- <sup>27</sup> This is what I have learned. I tried to learn more and more about things to try to find out the reason for everything,<sup>28</sup> and I continued to try to learn more, but I could not find all that I was searching for. But one thing that I found out was that among one thousand people I found one righteous man, but I did not find even one righteous woman.<sup>29</sup> I have learned only this: That when God created people, they were righteous, but they have found many ways to complicate their own lives.
- 8 I will tell you about those who are truly
wise,
with the result that they can explain
why everything happens.
Being wise enables people to be happy
and enables them to smile.

<sup>2</sup>You solemnly promised God that you would obey what the king commands, so do that. <sup>3</sup>Do not do anything rashly when it concerns the king. And do not join with those who want to rebel against him, because the king will do what he wants to do. <sup>4</sup>We need to obey what the king says more than we need to obey what anyone else says, for no one can say to the king, "Why are you doing that?"

So be wise, and know the correct time to do things and the right way to do them.

<sup>6</sup>Although people experience many troubles, there is a right way to do them and
a right time to do them.

<sup>7</sup>No one knows what will happen in the future, so there is no one who can tell him what is going to happen.

<sup>8</sup>We cannot control our breathing,
and we cannot control when we will stop breathing and die.

Soldiers are not permitted to go home during a battle, and evil people will not be saved by doing what is evil.

<sup>9</sup>I thought about all those things, and I thought about all the other things that happen on this earth. I saw that sometimes people are able to do severe harm to others. <sup>10</sup>I also saw that sometimes after evil people die, they are highly honored at their funerals by the people in the cities where they had done evil deeds. It was difficult to understand why that happens.

<sup>11</sup>If evil people are not immediately punished, it causes other people to also want to do evil things. <sup>12</sup>But even if sinful people commit a hundred crimes, and even if they live for a long time, I know that things will go better for those who honor and revere God. <sup>13</sup>I also know that things will not go well for those who are evil, because they do not honor God. Shadows do not last a long time. Similarly, evil people will not live a long time.

<sup>14</sup>Another thing that sometimes happens on this earth is that bad things happen to righteous people, and good things happen to evil people. It is difficult to understand why that happens. <sup>15</sup>So I decided that I would recommend that people be happy while they are alive, because the best thing that people can do here on this earth is to eat and drink and be happy. Enjoying those things will help people while they do their work, all the days that God has given to them to remain alive here on the earth.

<sup>16</sup>I thought about being wise and about people who work very hard on this earth, working day and night and not taking time to sleep. <sup>17</sup>Then I thought about everything that God has done, and I realized that no one can understand everything that happens here on this earth. Truly, people are not able to fully understand everything that God does, even if they try hard to do that. Even if wise people claim that they understand it all, they cannot.

9 I thought about all those things, and I decided that God controls what happens to everyone, even those who are wise and those who are righteous. No one knows whether others will love them or whether they will hate them.

<sup>2</sup>But we know that some time in the future we will all die.

It does not matter whether we act righteously or wickedly,
whether we are good or whether we are bad,
whether we are acceptable for worshiping God or whether we have done things to cause us to be unacceptable.

It does not matter if we offer sacrifices to God or if we do not.

It does not matter if we do what we have promised God that we will do or if we do not.

We all die.

The same thing will happen to good people and to sinful people, to those who solemnly promise to do things for God and to those who are afraid to make such promises.

<sup>3</sup>It seems wrong that the same thing happens to everyone on this earth. Everyone dies. Furthermore, people's inner beings are full of evil. People do foolish things while they are alive, and then they join those who are dead.

<sup>4</sup>While we are alive, we can expect that good things will happen to us. We despise dogs, but it is better to be a dog that is alive than to be a majestic lion that is dead.

<sup>5</sup>We who are alive know that some day we will die,
but dead people do not know anything.

Dead people do not receive any more rewards,

and people soon forget them.

<sup>6</sup>While they were alive, they loved people, they hated people, they envied people, but they stop doing any of that when they die.

They will never again be a part of anything that happens here on the earth.

<sup>7</sup>So I say, be joyful while you eat your food and drink your wine, because that is what God wants you to do. <sup>8</sup>Wear nice clothes and cause your face to have a good appearance. <sup>9</sup>Enjoy living with your wife whom you love, all during the time that God has given to you to be alive here on this earth. Even though it is difficult to understand why many things happen, this life with your wife is your reward for doing the work that you do here on this earth. <sup>10</sup>Whatever you are able to do, do it with all your energy, because at some point you will die, and in the place of the dead where you are going, no one works or plans to do anything or knows anything or has any wisdom.

The person who runs fastest does not always win the race,
the strongest soldiers do not always win the battle,
the wisest people do not always have food,
the smartest people do not always become rich,

and the people who have studied a lot are not always honored by others.

We cannot always control what things will happen to us and where they will happen.

<sup>12</sup>No one knows when he will die.

Fish are cruelly caught in a net, and birds are caught in snares. Similarly, people experience disasters at times when they do not expect them to happen.

<sup>13</sup>Once I saw here on this earth something that a wise man did that impressed me.

<sup>14</sup>There was a small town, where only a few people lived. The army of a great king came to that town and surrounded it. They built dirt ramps up against the walls in order to climb up and attack the town. <sup>15</sup>In that town there was someone who was poor but very wise. Because of what that person suggested, the town was saved, but people soon forgot about him. <sup>16</sup>So I realized that although being wise is better than being strong, if you are poor, no one will appreciate what you do, and people will soon forget what you said.

people hear him better than they hear a king who is shouting to a foolish crowd.

<sup>18</sup>Being wise is more useful than having a lot of weapons;
however, if a person does just one foolish thing,
he might ruin many good things
that others have done.

10 A few dead flies in a bottle of perfume cause all the perfume to stink.

Similarly, a small amount of acting foolishly can have a greater effect than acting wisely.

<sup>2</sup>If people think sensibly, it will lead them to do what is right; if they think foolishly, it causes them to do what is wrong.

<sup>3</sup>Even while foolish people walk along the road,
they show that they do not have good sense.

They show everyone that they are not wise.

<sup>4</sup>Do not quit your job when a ruler is angry with you.

If you remain calm, he will probably stop being angry.

<sup>5</sup>There is something else that I have seen here on this earth, something that rulers sometimes do that is wrong:

- <sup>6</sup>they appoint foolish people to have important positions, while they appoint rich people to have unimportant positions.
- <sup>7</sup>They allow slaves to ride on horses like rich people usually do,
but they force officials to walk like slaves usually do.
- <sup>8</sup>It is possible that those who dig pits will fall into one of those pits.
- It is possible that someone who tears down a wall will be bitten by a snake that is in that wall.
- <sup>9</sup>If you work in a quarry,
it is possible that a stone will fall on you and injure you.
- It is possible that men who split logs will be injured by one of those logs.
- <sup>10</sup>If your axe is not sharp,
you will need to work harder to cut down a tree,
but by using wisdom, you will succeed.
- <sup>11</sup>If a snake bites someone before the snake is charmed, then that person's ability to charm snakes will not benefit him.
- <sup>12</sup>Wise people say what is sensible, and because of that, people honor them, but foolish people are destroyed by what they themselves say.
- <sup>13</sup>When foolish people start to talk, they say foolish things, and they end by saying things that are both wicked and foolish.
- <sup>14</sup>They talk too much.
None of us knows what will happen in the future,
or what will happen after we die.
- <sup>15</sup>Foolish people become very exhausted by the work that they do, with the result that they are even unable to find the road to their town.
- <sup>16</sup>Terrible things will happen to the people of a nation whose ruler is a foolish young person, whose leaders continually eat, all during the day, every day.
- <sup>17</sup>But how fortunate is a nation if its ruler comes from a noble family,

- if its leaders feast only at the proper times, and if they eat and drink only to be strong, not to become drunk.
- <sup>18</sup>Some men are very lazy and do not repair the beams of their roof, with the result that the roof sags and collapses.
- If they do not repair the roof, water will leak into the house when it rains.
- <sup>19</sup>Eating food and drinking wine makes us laugh and be happy.
If you have enough money, you can buy everything you need.
- <sup>20</sup>Do not even think about cursing the king, or about cursing rich people, even when you are alone in your bedroom.
- It is always possible that a little bird will hear what you are saying and tell those people what you said about them.
- 11 Give generously to others some of the money that you have; if you do that, later you will get back an equal amount.
- <sup>2</sup>Share some of what you have with seven or eight others, because you do not know when you will experience a disaster and will need their help.
- <sup>3</sup>It is true that when clouds are full of water, they pour rain on the earth.
- Similarly, wherever a tree falls on the ground, that is where it will remain.
- <sup>4</sup>If farmers see in what direction the wind is blowing, they will know whether it is wise at that time to plant things or not.
- It is also true that if farmers look at the clouds and see that they are blowing from the west and will bring rain, they will not try to harvest their crops on that day.
- <sup>5</sup>We do not know where the wind comes from or where it goes, and we do not know how bodies are formed in a woman's womb.

Similarly, God is the one who makes everything, and we cannot fully understand what he does.

<sup>6</sup> Start planting your seeds in the morning, and do not stop planting them until the evening, because you do not know which ones will grow better, the ones you plant in the morning or the ones you plant later in the day, or whether both will grow well.

<sup>7</sup> It is very delightful to be alive and see the sun rise every morning.

<sup>8</sup> Even if people live for many years, they should enjoy all of them. But they should not forget that some day they will die and then they will never be able to see any light again, and they do not know what will happen to them after they die.

<sup>9</sup> You young people, be happy while you are still young. Enjoy doing the things that you want to do.

But do not forget that God will judge you one day concerning all the things that you do.

<sup>10</sup> So when you are young, do not worry about anything, and do not pay attention to the pains that you have in your body, because we will not remain young and strong forever.

12 While you are still young, keep thinking about God, who created you. Do that before you are old and you experience many troubles, during the years when you say, "I no longer enjoy being alive."

<sup>2</sup> When you become old, the light from the sun and moon and stars will seem dim to you, and it will seem that the rain clouds always return quickly after it rains.

<sup>3</sup> Then your arms that you use to protect yourself, and your legs that support your body will become weak. Many of the teeth that you use to grind your food will fall out, and your eyes that you use to look out of windows will not see clearly.

<sup>4</sup> Your ears will no longer hear the noise in the streets, and you will no longer be able to hear clearly the sound of people grinding grain with millstones. You will be awakened in the morning by hearing the birds singing, but you will not be able to hear well the songs that the birds sing.

<sup>5</sup> You will be afraid to be in high places and afraid of dangers on the roads that you walk on. Your hair will become white like the flowers of almond trees. When you try to walk, you will drag yourself along like grasshoppers, and you will no longer desire a woman at all.

Then you will die and go to your eternal home, and the people who will mourn for you will be in the streets.

<sup>6</sup> Think much about God now, because soon our lives will end, like silver chains or golden bowls that break easily, or like pitchers that are broken at the water fountain, or like broken pulleys at a well.

<sup>7</sup> Then our corpses will decay and become dirt again, and our spirits will return to God, the one who gave us our spirits.

<sup>8</sup> So I, the Teacher, say again that everything is temporary and useless.

<sup>9</sup> I, the Teacher, was considered to be a very wise man, and I taught the people many things. I assembled and wrote down many proverbs, and I carefully thought about them and put them in order.<sup>10</sup> I searched for words that would be pleasing to hear, and what I have written is reliable and true.

<sup>11</sup> The things that I and other wise people say give directions, and they are like nails that fix things together and last a long time. When people follow clear and understandable directions, they know what is right, and, so then they can do it. The sayings of the wise are like our shepherd who guides us where we need to go.<sup>12</sup> So, my son, pay careful attention to what I have written, and choose carefully what you read that others have written. This work of writing many books is endless. Trying to study them all will be an endless task.

<sup>13</sup> Now you have heard all that I have told you,

and here is the conclusion:

Revere God, and obey his commandments, because those commandments summarize everything that people should do.

<sup>14</sup> And do not forget that God will judge everything that we do, good things and bad things, even things that we do secretly.

Song of Songs

1 This is King Solomon's most beautiful song.

The young woman speaking to herself

2 I wish he would kiss me on my lips,

The woman speaks to her lover

because your love for me is more delightful than wine.

3 The fragrance of the perfume on your skin is very sweet.

And your honor is very great and is spreading,

like the fragrance of the special oil that you have put on your skin.

That is why the other young women are attracted to you.

4 Take me quickly;
take me to your home.

The woman speaking to herself

He is like a king to me;

he has brought me into his bedroom.

The woman speaking to her lover

I am very happy about you;
my love for you is better than wine.

It is not surprising that the other young women adore you.

The woman speaking to the other women

5 You women of Jerusalem,

I am dark but beautiful;
my dark skin is like the tents in Kedar,
or like the beautiful curtains in Solomon's palace.

6 But do not stare at me because the sun has made my skin dark.

my brothers were angry with me,
so they forced me to work out in the sunshine in the vineyards,
so I was not able to take good care of my body.

The woman speaking to her lover

7 You whom I love, where will you take your flock of sheep today?

Where will you allow them to rest at noontime?

I want to know because it is not right for me to wander around like a prostitute

looking for you among the flocks
that belong to your friends.

Her lover answering her

8 You who are the most beautiful of all the women,

if you search for me and do not know where I will take my sheep,

follow the tracks of the sheep.

Then allow your young goats to graze near the shepherds' tents.

9 You are beautiful, my darling, like one of the young female horses that pull the chariots belonging to the king of Egypt.

10 Your earrings are decorations for your cheeks,
and there are strings of beads around your neck.

11 I will make for you some gold earrings that are decorated with silver.

The woman speaking to herself

12 While the king was on his couch,
the smell of my perfume spread around the room.

13 The man who loves me stays between my breasts during the night like a bag of perfume tied around my neck.

14 He is like a bunch of flowers from the vineyards at En Gedi.

Her lover speaking to her

15 You whom I love, you are beautiful;
you are very beautiful!

Your eyes are as delightful as doves.

The woman speaking to her lover

16 You who love me, you are very delightful, you are wonderful!

This green grass in the countryside will be like a couch where we can lie down.

17 Branches of cedar trees will shade us;
the fir branches overhead are like a roof for us.

2 The woman speaking to her lover

1 I am like an insignificant flower in the plains,

like an insignificant lily growing in a valley.

The man speaking to her

<sup>2</sup> Among all the other young women, you, the one whom I love, are like a
lily growing among thorns!

The woman speaking to herself

<sup>3</sup> Among all the other men, this man is the one who loves me; he is like a tree
that grows in the forest.

Under his shade I am safe from the sun.

When he is close to me, it is like eating sweet fruit.

<sup>4</sup> He led me to the room where I feasted
on his love,
where he made love to me as if he were covering me with his love.

The woman speaking to her lover

<sup>5</sup> Refresh me and strengthen me with your lovemaking.

It is like eating raisins and other fruit,
because I want you to love me even
more.

The woman speaking to herself

<sup>6</sup> I hope he puts his left arm under my head
and holds me close with his right arm.

*The woman speaking to the other
women*

<sup>7</sup> You young women of Jerusalem, I want you to take an oath, while the does and gazelles are listening, that you will not cause us to desire love
until the right time comes.

The woman speaking to herself

<sup>8</sup> I hear the voice of the man who loves
me.

It is as though he is leaping over the mountains

and skipping over the hills

<sup>9</sup> like a deer or a gazelle.

Now he is standing outside the wall
of our house,

looking in the window,

and peering through the lattice.

<sup>10</sup> He spoke to me and said,

"You whom I love, get up;
my beautiful one, come with me!"

<sup>11</sup> Look, the winter has ended;
the rain has stopped.

<sup>12</sup> The flowers are blooming throughout the country.

It is now time to sing;
we hear the pigeons cooing.

<sup>13</sup> There are young figs on the fig trees,
and there are blossoms on the grapevines

and their fragrance fills the air.

You whom I love, get up;
my beautiful one, come with me!"

<sup>14</sup> You are like a dove hiding in the rocky cliff.

Show me your face,
and allow me to hear your voice,
because your voice is sounds sweet,
and your face is lovely."

The woman speaking to the man

<sup>15</sup> There are other men who ruin women
as wild dogs ruin vineyards;
do not allow those men to attack
me.

<sup>16</sup> This man whom I love—I belong to him, and he belongs to me.
He takes great pleasure in kissing
my lips,

as sheep love to graze in pastures.

The woman speaking to her lover

<sup>17</sup> You whom I love, you must go away before dawn, when the darkness disappears.

Go away quickly, like a gazelle or like a young deer running on the high hills.

3 The woman speaking to herself

<sup>1</sup> During the entire night while I lay on my bed,
I was longing to see the one I love
with all my heart.

I wanted him to come,
but he did not.

<sup>2</sup> So I said to myself,
"I will get up now and walk around the city,
through the streets and plazas,
to search for the one whom I love
with all my heart."

So I got up and went out to look for him,

- but I could not find him.
- <sup>3</sup> The city watchmen saw me while they were patrolling in the city.
- I asked them, "Have you seen the one whom I love with all my heart?"
- <sup>4</sup> As soon as I walked past them, I found the one whom I love with all my heart.
- I clung to him and would not let him go until I brought him to my mother's house, to the room where my mother had conceived me.
- The woman speaking to the other women*
- <sup>5</sup> You women of Jerusalem, solemnly promise me, while the does and gazelles are listening, that you will not disturb us while we are making love until we are ready to stop.
- The young woman speaking to herself*
- <sup>6</sup> What is that I see coming from the wilderness, something that is stirring up dust like a column of smoke like smoke from burning myrrh and incense made from spices imported by merchants?
- <sup>7</sup> It is Solomon's litter carried by servants and surrounded by sixty bodyguards chosen from the strongest soldiers in Israel.
- <sup>8</sup> They all have swords and they all are trained to use them. Each one has his sword strapped to his side and is prepared for dangers that can happen during the night or day.
- <sup>9</sup> King Solomon commanded his servants to make that litter for him; it was made with wood from Lebanon.
- <sup>10</sup> The canopy that covered it was held up by silver posts, and the back of the litter was embroidered with gold.

- The seat was covered with purple cloth lovingly made by the women of Jerusalem.
- <sup>11</sup> You women of Jerusalem, come and look at King Solomon wearing the headdress that his mother put on his head on the day when he was married, the happiest day of his life.
- <sup>4</sup> The woman's lover speaking to her
- <sup>1</sup> My darling, you are beautiful, you are very beautiful! Underneath your veil, your eyes are as gentle as doves.
- Your long black hair moves from side to side like a flock of black goats moving down the slopes of Mount Gilead.
- <sup>2</sup> Your teeth are very white, as white as sheep whose wool people have just cut, as white as sheep that people have just washed in a stream.
- You have all of your teeth on both sides; none of them is missing.
- <sup>3</sup> Your lips are like a scarlet ribbon, and your mouth is lovely.
- Beneath your veil, your cheeks are round and rosy like the halves of a pomegranate.
- <sup>4</sup> Your long neck is beautiful, like the tower of King David that was built using layers of stone.
- The ornaments on the necklaces around your neck are like a thousand shields hanging on the walls of a tower; each one belongs to a warrior.
- <sup>5</sup> Your breasts are as delicate as two young twin deer eating grass among lilies.
- <sup>6</sup> Until dawn tomorrow morning, when the nighttime shadows disappear,
- I will lie close to your breasts, because they are like two hills that smell like sweet spices.
- <sup>7</sup> My darling, you are completely beautiful; your body is perfectly formed!
- <sup>8</sup> My darling, it is as though you were in Lebanon far away, where I cannot reach you.

Come back to me.

It is as though you were on the top of Mount Hermon
or the nearby peaks, where I cannot go to you.

Come from the mountains, where the lions have their dens
and where the leopards live on the mountains.

<sup>9</sup>You who are most dear to me, when I see you,
you force me to love you
when I see you look at me, when I see a little of the jewelry that you wear around your neck.

<sup>10</sup>My bride, your love for me is delightful!

It more delightful than wine!

The fragrance of your perfume
is more pleasing than any spice!

<sup>11</sup>When you kiss me, it is better than when I eat honey.

Your kisses are as sweet as milk
mixed with honey.

The aroma of your clothes is like the aroma of cedar trees in Lebanon.

<sup>12</sup>You who are most dear to me, you are like a garden that the owner keeps locked
in order that other men cannot enter it;

you are like a spring that is covered in order that others may not drink from it.

<sup>13</sup>You are like an orchard of pomegranate
trees
full of delicious fruit,

and plenty of plants that produce
henna and nard spices,

<sup>14</sup>saffron and calamus and cinnamon

and many other kinds of incense, myrrh and aloes
and many other fine spices.

<sup>15</sup>You are like a fountain in a garden,
like a spring of clear water that flows down from the mountains of Lebanon.

The young woman speaking to her lover

<sup>16</sup>I want the north wind and the south
wind to come,
and blow on my garden,
in order that the fragrance of the spices
will spread through the air.

Similarly, I want the one who loves me to come and enjoy being close to me like someone comes into a garden and enjoys eating the fruit that grows there.

<sup>5</sup>The woman's lover speaking to her

<sup>1</sup>You who are most dear to me,
I have come to be next to you.
It will be as though I am gathering myrrh
with my other spices,
eating my honey and honeycomb,
and drinking my wine and my milk.

The woman's lover speaking to her

Friends, enjoy making love;
fully enjoy all that you do with each other.

The young woman speaking to herself

<sup>2</sup>I was asleep, and I had a dream.

In it I heard my lover knocking at the door.

He said, "You who are dearer to me than my sister, my darling, my dear friend,
my perfect one, my dove,
open the door for me!"

My hair is wet from the dew, from the mist that has fallen during the night."

<sup>3</sup>But I had already taken off my robe;
I did not want to put it on again to open the door.

I had already washed my feet;
I did not want them to get dirty
again.

<sup>4</sup>The one who loves me put his hand
through the opening in the door, and I was thrilled in my inner being that he was there.

<sup>5</sup>I got up to open the door for him, but first I put a lot of myrrh on my hands.

It was dripping from my fingers
while I unlatched the bolt.

<sup>6</sup>I opened the door for the man who loves me,
but he left.

He had turned away and was gone!

I was very disappointed.
I searched for him, but I could not find him;
I called him, but he did not answer.

<sup>7</sup>The city watchmen saw me while they were walking around the city.
They beat me and wounded me because they thought I was a prostitute;
those men who were guarding the city walls took my robe.

The young woman speaking to the women of the city

<sup>8</sup>You young women of Jerusalem, I want you to take an oath that if you see the man who loves me, you will tell him that I want him so much that I feel sick.

The women of the city speaking to the young woman

<sup>9</sup>You who are the fairest among women, why do you think that the one who loves you is better than other men?
In what way is he better than other men? Why do you want us to swear that we will tell him that?

The young woman speaking to the women of the city

<sup>10</sup>It is because the man who loves me is handsome and healthy, outstanding among other men.

His lips are like lilies that have myrrh dripping from them.

<sup>14</sup>His arms are like gold rods that have rounded ends, and that are decorated with precious stones.

His body is like ivory that is decorated with sapphires.

<sup>15</sup>His legs are like marble columns that are set in bases made of pure gold.
He is majestic, like the mountains of Lebanon, like delightful cedar trees.

You young women of Jerusalem, this is why the man who loves me is better than all other men.

6 The women of Jerusalem speaking to the young woman

<sup>1</sup>You who are the most beautiful of the women, where has the one who loves you gone?
If you tell us which direction he went, we will go with you to search for him.

The young woman speaking to herself

<sup>2</sup>The one who loves me has come to me, I, who am like his garden, He has come to enjoy my charms, to enjoy cuddling embracing me and kissing my lips, which are like lilies.

<sup>3</sup>I belong to the one who loves me, and the one who loves me belongs to me. He has pleasure in kissing my lips, like sheep enjoy grazing.

The woman's lover speaking to her

<sup>4</sup>My darling, you are beautiful, as Tirzah the capital city of Israel and Jerusalem the capital city of Judah are beautiful; you make me tremble, just as if I had seen a great army approach.

<sup>5</sup>Stop looking at me like that, because your eyes excite me very much.
Your long black hair moves from side to side like a flock of black goats moving down the slopes of Mount Gilead.

<sup>6</sup>Your teeth are very white like a flock of sheep whose wool has just been shorn

and have come up from being washed in a stream.

You have all of your teeth on both sides;
none of them is missing.

<sup>7</sup> Beneath your veil,
your cheeks are like the halves of a pomegranate.

The woman's lover speaking to himself

<sup>8</sup> Even if a king had 60 queens and 80 concubines

and more young women than anyone can count,

<sup>9</sup> none of them would be like my dove,
who is perfect,
you who are your mother's only daughter,
whom your mother considers to be very precious.

Other young women who see you say that you are fortunate,
and the queens and concubines recognize that you are very beautiful.

*What the queens and the concubines
said*

<sup>10</sup> Who is this who looks like the dawn, who is as beautiful to look at as the moon,
who is an endless mystery?

The woman's lover speaking to himself

<sup>11</sup> I went down to some walnut trees to look at the new plants that were growing in the valley.

I wanted to see if the grapevines had budded
and if the pomegranate trees were blooming.

<sup>12</sup> I was as happy as if I were riding in a chariot belonging to a prince.

The woman's lover speaking to her

<sup>13</sup> You who are the perfect one, come back to us, in order that I may see you!

The young woman speaking to her lover

Why do you want to look at me, the one
who is perfect,
dancing between two rows of dancers?

<sup>1</sup> You, the daughter of a prince,

have lovely feet in your sandals.

Your curved hips are like jewels that have been made by a skilled craftsman.

<sup>2</sup> Your navel is like a round bowl that I hope will always be full of wine mixed with spices.

Your waist is like a pile of wheat
with lilies growing around it.

<sup>3</sup> Your breasts are as delicate as two young twin deer.

<sup>4</sup> Your neck is like a tower made of ivory.
Your eyes sparkle the pools in the city of Heshbon,
near the Bath Rabbim Gate.

Your nose is long, like the tower in Lebanon
that faces Damascus.

<sup>5</sup> Your head is majestic like Mount Carmel.

Your long hair is shiny and black;
it is as though I, your king, am captured by your tresses.

<sup>6</sup> My love, you are so beautiful and lovely with all your delights.

<sup>7</sup> You are stately like a palm tree,
and your breasts are like grape clusters.

<sup>8</sup> I said to myself, "I will climb that palm tree
and take hold of those clusters of dates."

I want your breasts to be also like clusters
of grapes that I can feel;

I want your breath to be like the sweet fragrance of apricots.

<sup>9</sup> I want your kisses to be like very good wine.

When I kiss you, the woman who loves
me,

I want it to be as if it was wine flowing over our mouths and teeth.

The young woman speaking to her lover

<sup>10</sup> I belong to the man who loves me,
and he desires me.

<sup>11</sup> You who love me, let us go to the countryside,
and sleep in a village somewhere.

<sup>12</sup> And let us go early to the vineyards
to see if the grapevines have budded

and if there are blossoms on them
that have opened,
and see if the pomegranate trees are
blooming,
and there I will allow you to make love to me.

<sup>13</sup>The mandrake plants are producing a fragrant odor,
and we are surrounded by delightful pleasures,
new ones and old ones,
pleasures that I have been saving to give to you, the man who loves
me.

8The young woman speaking to her lover

<sup>1</sup>I wish that everyone knew that we love each other, just as they all know that I have a brother,

my own brother, who nursed at my mother's breasts.

Then whenever I met you outside, I could kiss you,

and no one would criticize me.

<sup>2</sup>No one would object if I led you to our mother's house,
to where our mother, who taught
me so many things, lives.

I would like to take you to our mother's house so I could make love to you
there.

That would be as delightful as juice squeezed from pomegranates, as
wine mixed with spices.

The young woman speaking to herself

<sup>3</sup>Oh yes! He will put his left arm under
my head,
and he will hold me close with his right arm.

*The woman speaking to the other
women*

<sup>4</sup>I want you to promise me, you women
of Jerusalem,
that you will not disturb us while we are making love
until we are ready to stop."

The women of Jerusalem speaking

<sup>5</sup>Who is that woman who is coming up from the wilderness,
the woman who is leaning on the man who loves her?

The young woman speaking to her lover

I woke you up when you were under the apricot tree
at the place where your mother
conceived you,
the place where she gave birth to
you.

<sup>6</sup>Keep me close to you,
like a seal on your heart,
or like a bracelet on your arm.
Our love for each other is as powerful as death;
it is as strong as the grave.

It is as though our love for each other bursts into flames
and burns like a hot fire.

<sup>7</sup>Nothing can stop us from loving each
other,
not even a flood.

If a man tried to cause a woman to love him by saying he would give her everything that is in his house,
she would refuse.

*The young woman's brothers speaking
among themselves*

<sup>8</sup>We have a younger sister,
and her breasts are not large yet.
So this is what we should do for her on the day that we promise some young man that he can marry her:

<sup>9</sup>If her chest is as flat as a wall,
we will decorate it by putting silver jewels that are like towers on
her.

If she is as flat as a door,
we will decorate her with bits of cedar wood.

The young woman speaking to herself

<sup>10</sup>My chest was previously flat like a wall, but now my breasts are big like towers.

So I am delightful to my beloved.

The young woman speaking to himself

<sup>11</sup>King Solomon had a vineyard at Baal
Hamon,
and he rented it to people for them to farm it.

He required each one to pay him
one thousand pieces of silver each year for the grapes that they harvested.

<sup>12</sup>But my body is like my own vineyard, and you, my lover whom I call "Solomon," I am giving it to

you.

You do not need to pay me a thousand pieces of silver to enjoy my body,
but I will give two hundred pieces of silver to those who take care of me.

The woman's lover speaking to her
<sup>13</sup>You are staying in the gardens,

my friends are listening to your voice;
so allow me to hear it, too!

The young woman speaking to her lover
<sup>14</sup>You who love me, come to me quickly; run to me like a gazelle or young
deer,
because I am as delightful as hills of spices.

Isaiah

1 The vision of Isaiah son of Amoz, that Yahweh showed him about Judah and Jerusalem during the years of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

2 Hear, O heavens, and listen, O earth, because this is what Yahweh said:

"I have raised people since they were born,

but they have rebelled against me.

3 Oxen know their owners,
and donkeys know who feeds them,
but Israel does not know;

Israel does not understand."

4 Terrible things will happen to this sinful nation, this people group weighted down by their sin, these children of people who do evil things,
these sons who are unjust.

They have left Yahweh,
the Holy One of Israel.

They have turned away from him.

5 Why do you do things for which Yahweh should punish you?

Why do you continue to rebel against him?

You are like someone whose whole mind and heart are sick.

6 From the bottom of the foot to the top of the head, nothing is healthy.

There are open wounds, cuts, and sores that have not been cleaned or bandaged, and no one has put oil on them to heal them.

7 Enemies have ruined your country;
they have burned your towns, and there is no one left.

Foreigners plunder the crops in your fields while you watch;
they destroy everything that they see.

8 The city of Jerusalem has become as small as a shepherd's hut.
It is like a shelter in a vineyard;
it is like a watchman's hut in a field of melons.

It is a city surrounded by its enemies who are waiting to attack it.

9 If Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, had not allowed a few of his people to survive, we would have all been destroyed, like the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed.

10 Listen to what Yahweh has to say to you, you rulers of Sodom!
Listen to the law of our God, you people of Gomorrah!

11 "What do your many sacrifices mean to me?" says Yahweh;
"I do not want any more burnt offerings of rams, or the fat of bulls.

The blood of bulls, lambs, or goats does not make me happy.

12 When you come to my temple to worship me, who has told you to tramp around in my courtyard while you perform all those rituals?

13 Stop bringing to me those offerings, because they are useless to me;
I am disgusted with the incense that the priests burn!

And your feasts to celebrate the new moon each month and your Sabbath days and your other festivals—
I hate them because of the wicked things that you do!

14 I hate all your celebrations of the new moon and the other festivals that you celebrate.

They are like a heavy burden that I am tired of carrying.

15 So when you lift up your hands to pray to me,
I will not look at you.

Even if you pray to me often,
I will not listen to you, because it is as though your hands are covered with the blood of

- people whom you have killed.
- <sup>16</sup> Wash your hearts and become clean!
- Get rid of your evil behavior!
- Stop doing things that are wrong!
- <sup>17</sup> Learn to do deeds that are good and try to cause people to do what is just.
- Stop people from mistreating others, and defend orphans and widows when people take them to court."
- <sup>18</sup> Yahweh says, "You need to think about what you do. Even though your sins are like scarlet red, they will be as white as snow; though your sins are like crimson red, they will be as white as sheep's wool.
- <sup>19</sup> If you are willing to obey me, you will eat good food from the land.
- <sup>20</sup> But if you turn away from me and rebel against me, your enemies will slaughter you." That will happen because Yahweh said it.
- <sup>21</sup> At one time you people of Jerusalem faithfully worshiped only Yahweh, but now you have become like prostitutes who are not faithful to any husband. The people there always acted justly and righteously, but now your city is full of murderers.
- <sup>22</sup> Your silver is no longer pure, and your wine has become mixed with water.
- <sup>23</sup> Your leaders are rebels; they are friends of thieves. They all want to get money and make others to give them gifts in order to decide cases in court in their favor. They do not defend orphans in court, and they do not help widows to get what they should receive.
- <sup>24</sup> Therefore Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the mighty God of Israel, says,

- "I will get revenge against those who are against me, and avenge myself on my enemies.
- <sup>25</sup> I will raise my fist to strike you, and I will punish you severely, as though you were silver and I needed to heat you very greatly to melt you and get rid of the impurities.
- <sup>26</sup> After that happens, I will give you good judges like you had in the past. You will have wise counselors like you had long ago. Then people will call your city a city where people act righteously, a faithful city."
- <sup>27</sup> Because the people of Jerusalem will do what is fair, Yahweh will restore their city, and he will save those who repent because of their righteousness.
- <sup>28</sup> But he will crush rebels and sinners, and those who forsake him will disappear.
- <sup>29</sup> You will be ashamed because you worshiped idols under the oak trees that you thought were sacred, and you will be disgraced because you worshiped idols in the gardens that you loved so much.
- <sup>30</sup> You will be like a very large tree that has withered leaves, like a garden that has dried up because it has no water.
- <sup>31</sup> Those among you who are very strong will become like dry wood, and the work they do will be like a spark. Both they and the evil things that they do will burn up, and no one will be able to put out the fire."
- 2 This is a message that Yahweh gave to Isaiah son of Amoz, in a vision about Judah and Jerusalem.
- <sup>2</sup> In the future, the hill on which Yahweh's temple is built will be the most important place on the earth. It will be as though it is the highest mountain,

as though it has been raised up above all
other hills,
and people from all over the world
will come there.

<sup>3</sup> People from many people groups will say to each other,
"Come, let us go up to the hill,
to the temple of Yahweh,
to worship the God whom Jacob
worshiped.

There he will teach us what he desires us
to know,
in order that our behavior will please him."

They will teach us in Jerusalem;
we will learn there what Yahweh desires to tell us.

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh will listen to the disputes between nations,
and he will settle their arguments.

Then, instead of fighting against each other, they will hammer their swords
into plow blades,
and they will hammer their spears
into pruning knives.

The armies of the nations will no longer fight against each other,
and they will not even train men to fight in battles.

<sup>5</sup> You descendants of Jacob, let us behave in the way that we should because Yahweh is with
us!

<sup>6</sup> Yahweh, you have abandoned us, your
people
who are descendants of Jacob,
because everywhere your people practice
the customs of people who live east
of Israel.
They also perform rituals to find out what will happen in the future, like the people in Philistia do.

They make agreements with foreigners who do not know
Yahweh.

<sup>7</sup> Israel is full of silver and gold;
there are very many treasures here.
The land is full of war horses
and war chariots.

<sup>8</sup> But the land is also full of idols;
the people worship things that they have made with their own hands.

<sup>9</sup> So now they will be humbled;
Yahweh will disgrace them.
Yahweh, do not forgive them!

<sup>10</sup> All you people should crawl into the caves in the rock cliffs!
You should hide in pits in the ground
because you will be afraid of Yahweh
and of his glorious and awesome
power.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh will cause you people to no longer be arrogant
and he will stop you from being
proud.

On that day people will praise and honor
only Yahweh.

<sup>12</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel
armies, has chosen a day when he will judge those who are proud, every one of them,
and he will humble them.

<sup>13</sup> He will get rid of all those who think others should admire them, like the tall cedar trees in Lebanon, and like all the great oak trees in the region of Bashan.

<sup>14</sup> He will get rid of all those who think they are as great as all the high hills,
as great as the high mountains.

<sup>15</sup> He will get rid of all those who think that they are like high towers and high strong walls inside of which they are safe.

<sup>16</sup> He will destroy all those who are rich because they own big ships that carry goods to other countries
and own other beautiful ships, too.

<sup>17</sup> He will cause people to no longer be arrogant,
and he will cause them to stop
being proud.
On that day people will praise and honor only Yahweh.

<sup>18</sup> All idols will disappear then.

<sup>19</sup> When Yahweh comes to terrify the people on the earth,

- they will run to hide in caves in rock cliffs
and in holes in the ground,
because they are afraid of Yahweh
and of his glorious and awesome power.
- <sup>20</sup> On that day, people will get rid of all their gold and silver idols that they made to worship, and they will throw them to the bats and rats.
- <sup>21</sup> Then they will crawl into caves and hide in holes in the cliffs. They will try to escape from Yahweh, who is coming to punish them; They will fear what he will do because he is glorious and awesome, when he comes to come to terrify the people on the earth.
- <sup>22</sup> So do not trust that people will save you, because they are as powerless as a person's breath.
People certainly cannot help you!
- 3 Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, is about to take away from Jerusalem and other places in Judah everything that you depend on—all food and water.
- <sup>2</sup> He will take away heroes and other soldiers, judges and prophets, people who do rituals to find out what will happen in the future and the elders,
- <sup>3</sup> army officers and other important people, advisors, skilled craftsmen, and those who perform rituals of magic.
- <sup>4</sup> Yahweh says, "I will appoint boys to be leaders; young children will rule.
- <sup>5</sup> People will treat each other cruelly; people will fight against their neighbors. Young people will say shameful things against older people, and vulgar people will sneer at people whom others usually honor.

<sup>6</sup> At that time, someone will grab one of his brothers in his father's house and say to him, 'You still have a coat; people respect you for that.
So you be our leader!
You rule this city, which is now a pile of ruins.'

<sup>7</sup> But his brother will reply, 'No, I cannot help you, because I do not have any extra food or clothes in this house.
So do not make me your leader!'"

<sup>8</sup> The people in Jerusalem and the other towns in Judah have disobeyed God, because everything that the people do and say there opposes Yahweh, the powerful and glorious one, and they refuse to obey him. They rebel against him.

<sup>9</sup> They even show on their faces that they oppose Yahweh. They are proud about their sins, like the people of Sodom were long ago; they do not try to hide their sins; they talk about them. Because of their sins, terrible things will certainly happen to them.

<sup>10</sup> You people must tell the righteous people that good things will happen to them; they will enjoy the blessings that they will receive for their good deeds.

<sup>11</sup> But terrible things will happen to wicked people; Yahweh will pay them back for the evil things that they have done.

<sup>12</sup> Youths who have become leaders treat my people cruelly, and women rule over my people. My people, your leaders are misleading you; they are causing you to do all kinds of evil things.

<sup>13</sup> It is as though Yahweh had taken his place in a courtroom and were ready to accuse his people

- of breaking the covenant between themselves and him.
- <sup>14</sup> He will stand up to declare why he should punish the elders and rulers of his people; he says, "The people of Israel are like a vineyard that I planted, but you leaders have made unable to bear any fruit. Your houses are full of things that you have stolen from poor people.
- <sup>15</sup> You should stop making my people suffer. It is as though you were pushing the faces of poor people into the ground."

That is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says.

They walk with tiny steps with bracelets on their ankles that jingle."

<sup>17</sup> So the Lord will cause sores to be on their heads, and he will cause those beautiful women in Jerusalem to become bald.

<sup>24</sup> Instead of smelling nice from perfume, they will stink; instead of beautiful sashes, they will have ropes around their waists.

Instead of having fancy hairdos, they will be bald. Instead of fancy robes, they will wear rough sackcloth, Instead of beauty, scars of branding.

<sup>25</sup> Your men will die by their enemies' swords, and your soldiers will also die in battle.

<sup>26</sup> People will mourn and cry at the gates of the city. The city will be like a woman who sits on the ground because all her friends have deserted her.

4 When that happens, there will be very few unmarried men. So seven unmarried women will grab one man and say, "Allow us all to marry you! We will provide our own food and clothing. All that we want is to no longer be disgraced because of not being married."

<sup>2</sup> But some day, Israel will be very beautiful and great. The people of Israel who will still be there will be very proud of the wonderful crops that will grow in their land. <sup>3</sup> All the people who will remain in Jerusalem, who did not die when the enemy destroyed Jerusalem, will belong to the Lord—all those whose names are listed among those who live there. <sup>4</sup> That will happen when the Lord washes away the guilt of the women of Jerusalem, and when he stops the violence on the streets of Jerusalem by punishing the people of Jerusalem. When he does that, it will be like a fire that burns up all the impure things. <sup>5</sup> Then Yahweh will send a cloud of smoke during the days and a flaming fire during the nights to cover Jerusalem and all those who gather there; it will be like a canopy over God's glorious presence in the city. <sup>6</sup> It will shelter the people from the sun during the daytime and protect them when there are windstorms and rain.

5 Now I will sing a song about Yahweh, my dear friend, and about his vineyard. The vineyard was on a very fertile hillside.

<sup>2</sup> My friend plowed the ground and cleared away the stones.

Then he planted very good grapevines on that ground.
In the middle of the vineyard, he built a watchtower,
and he dug a winepress.
Then he waited each year to harvest some good grapes,
but the vines produced only sour grapes.

<sup>3</sup> Now this is what my friend Yahweh says:
"You people of Jerusalem and other places in Judah,
You are like my vineyard;
so you judge which of us has done what is right.

<sup>4</sup> What more could I have done for you than what I have already done?
I expected you to be doing good deeds,
so it is disgusting that you were doing only evil deeds
like the vineyard that produced only sour grapes!

<sup>5</sup> So, I will now tell you what I will do to Judah, the place that is like my vineyard.
I will cut down the hedges,
and my vineyard will become a pasture.
I will tear down the walls of the cities and allow wild animals to trample the land.

<sup>6</sup> I will cause it to become a wasteland where the vines are not pruned and the ground is not hoed.
It will be a place where briers and thorns grow.
And I will command that no rain will fall on it."

<sup>7</sup> The nation of Israel is like the vineyard of Yahweh who is commander of the angel armies.
The people of Judah are like the garden that was pleasing to him.
He expected them to be doing what is just,
but instead, what he saw was people murdering others.
He expected that they would be doing righteous deeds,

but instead, he heard people shouting for someone to help them, because others were attacking them.

<sup>8</sup> Terrible things will happen to those who keep acquiring houses and fields without paying attention to the laws about who owns the land.
You use your riches to gain more and more property,
and soon there is no more property for others to buy,
and you would be the only land owners there are in that place.

<sup>9</sup> But I heard Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, solemnly declare this:
"Some day, many houses will have no one to live in them,
even the large and beautiful homes will be empty.

<sup>10</sup> The land that grows vines in this place should require ten pairs of oxen to work them, but this land would not produce enough grapes to make even twenty liters of wine.
When ten baskets of seed are sown on that land, that land will only produce one basket of grain at harvest time."

<sup>11</sup> Terrible things will happen to those who get up early each morning to begin drinking alcoholic drinks, and who stay awake until late at night drinking a lot more wine until they are completely drunk.

At their parties, there are people playing harps and lyres and tambourines and flutes, but they never think about what Yahweh does or appreciate what he has created.

<sup>13</sup> So my people will be exiled far away because they do not know about me.
Those who are now very important and honored will starve,
and the other people will die from

- thirst.
- <sup>14</sup> It is as though the place where the dead people are is eagerly looking for more Israelite people,
opening its mouth to swallow them,
and a huge number of people will be thrown into that place, including their leaders as well as a noisy crowd of people who enjoy living in Jerusalem.
- <sup>15</sup> Yahweh will humble everyone; he will humble everyone who is proud.
- <sup>16</sup> But everyone will honor Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the Holy One, because he has acted justly.
God will show that he is holy by doing righteous deeds.
- <sup>17</sup> Then sheep and lambs will be able to find good grass to eat; they will pass through the ruined places to eat the grass.
- <sup>18</sup> Some people who are working hard to sin, working as hard as if they were dragging behind them the wrong and useless things that they are doing.
Terrible things will happen to them!
- <sup>19</sup> They make fun of God and say to him, "Quickly do something to punish us!
We want to see what you will do.
You, the Holy One of Israel, should do what you are planning to do, because we want to know what it is."
- <sup>20</sup> Terrible things will happen to those who say that evil is good, and that good is evil,
that darkness is light and that light is darkness,
that what is bitter is sweet and what is sweet is bitter.
- <sup>21</sup> Terrible things will happen to those who think that they are wise and that they are very clever.
- <sup>22</sup> Terrible things will happen to those
- who think that they are heroes because they are able to drink lots of wine, and who boast about being able to mix good alcoholic drinks.
- <sup>23</sup> If people offer these corrupt judges money so they will not punish the wicked,
they accept that money.
These same judges punish innocent people.
- <sup>24</sup> Therefore, just like fires burn up stubble and dry grass shrivels up and quickly burns in flames,
it will be as though those people have roots that will rot and have flowers that will wither.
That will happen because they rejected the laws of Yahweh, commander of the angel armies;
they have despised the messages of the Holy One of Israel.
- <sup>25</sup> That is why Yahweh is extremely angry with his people;
it is as though his hand is raised and he is ready to smash them.
When he does that, the mountains will shake,
and the corpses of people will be scattered in the streets like manure.
But even when that happens, Yahweh will still be very angry;
he will be ready to punish his people again.
- <sup>26</sup> Yahweh will send a signal to summon armies of nations far away;
it is as though he will whistle to those soldiers who are in very remote places on the earth.
They will come very swiftly toward Jerusalem.
- <sup>27</sup> They will not get tired or stumble.
They will not stop to rest or to sleep.
None of their belts will be loose,
and none of them will have sandals with broken straps,
so they will all be ready to fight in battles.

<sup>28</sup> Their arrows will be sharp, and their bows will be ready to shoot those arrows in a battle.
Because their horses pull the chariots fast, sparks will shoot out from their hooves,
and the wheels of the chariots will spin like whirlwinds.
<sup>29</sup> They will roar like fierce lions that growl and then pounce on the animals they want to kill;
they will carry them off,
and no one will be able to rescue
them.
<sup>30</sup> Similarly, your enemies will roar over the people they are about to kill,
like the sea roars.
On that day, if someone looks across the
land,
he will see only people who are in darkness and distress;
it will be as though even the sunlight is hidden by dark
clouds.

6 During the year that King Uzziah died, Yahweh showed me a vision. In the vision,
I saw Yahweh sitting on a throne, high above everyone else. He was wearing a very long robe that covered the floor of the temple. <sup>2</sup> Above him were hovering several winged creatures.
Each of them had six wings. They covered their faces with two of their wings, they covered their feet with two of their wings, and they flew using two of their wings. <sup>3</sup> They were calling to each other, saying,

"Yahweh, commander of the angel
armies, is holy;
he is completely holy!"

The entire earth is filled with his glory."
<sup>4</sup> When they spoke, the sound of their cries caused the foundation beneath the doorposts of the temple to shake, and the temple was filled with smoke.

<sup>5</sup> Then I said, "Terrible things will happen to me, because everything that I say is sinful, and I live among people who constantly say sinful things. I will be destroyed because I have seen Yahweh, commander of the angel armies!"

<sup>6</sup> Then one of the winged creatures took a hot coal from the altar, using a pair of tongs.
He flew to me <sup>7</sup> and touched my lips with the coal. Then he said, "Look, this coal has touched your lips. Now your guilt is ended, and your sins are forgiven."

<sup>8</sup> Then I heard Yahweh asking, "Whom shall I send to be a messenger to my people?
Who will go and speak for us?" I replied, "I am here. Send me!"

<sup>9</sup> Then he said,
"You will go and say to the people of Israel,
'Listen carefully to what I say, but you will not understand it.'

You will look very carefully,
but you will not understand.'
<sup>10</sup> I will cause you people to be unable to care;
and I will cause you people to not be able to hear,
and I will cause you people to not be able to see.

Otherwise you would see with your eyes and you would recognize what it is you are looking at,
and you would hear with your ears
and be able to understand what you have heard,
and you would care deeply and
with understanding, and you would turn to me so I might save you and not punish
you."

<sup>11</sup> Then I said, "How long do you want me to continue to do that?"

He replied, "Do it until their cities are ruined by their enemies,
until no one is living in their houses,

do it until all the crops are stolen from their fields
and the fields are ruined.

<sup>12</sup> Do it until Yahweh has exiled everyone far away,
and the whole land of Israel is deserted.

<sup>13</sup> If even one tenth of the people survive
and stay there,
their enemies will invade the land
again and burn everything.

But just like when they cut down an oak tree and leave a stump, and new shoots grow from that,

the people who remain in this land
will be a group that is set apart
for me."

7 Ahaz was the son of Jotham and grandson of Uzziah. During the time that Ahaz was the king of Judah, King Rezin of Aram and King Pekah of Israel marched with their armies to attack Jerusalem. But they could not conquer it.

<sup>2</sup> Before they attacked, everyone in the palace in Jerusalem heard news that Aram and Israel were now allies. So King Ahaz and the people over whom he ruled were extremely afraid; they were shaking like trees shake in a windstorm.

<sup>3</sup> Then Yahweh said to me, "Take your son Shear-Jashub, and go to talk with King Ahaz. He is at the end of the aqueduct that brings water into the upper reservoir, near the road to the place where women wash clothes. <sup>4</sup> Tell Ahaz to stop worrying. Tell him that he does not need to be afraid of those two kings, Rezin and Pekah. They are very angry with Judah, but they are unable to harm his country any more than completely burned-out coals could harm him. <sup>5</sup> Yes, they are planning against him and saying, <sup>6</sup> 'We will attack Judah and conquer it. Then we will appoint Tabeel's son to be the king of Judah.' <sup>7</sup> But this is what Yahweh, the Lord, says:

'It will not happen;

'They will not conquer Jerusalem!

<sup>8</sup> The capital of Aram is Damascus, but Damascus is ruled only by its unimportant King Rezin.

And as for Israel, within sixty-five years it will be conquered and completely
destroyed.

<sup>9</sup> Israel's capital is Samaria, and Samaria is ruled only by its insignificant King Pekah.

So you do not need to be afraid of those two countries!

But you must trust me, because if you do not trust me firmly,
you will be defeated."

<sup>10</sup> Later, Yahweh gave me another message to tell to King Ahaz. <sup>11</sup> He said to tell him, "Request me, Yahweh your God, to do something that will enable you to be sure that I will help you. What you request can be in a place that is as high as the sky or as low as the place where the dead people are."

<sup>12</sup> But when I told that to the king, he refused. He said, "No, I will not ask Yahweh to do something to prove that he will help us."

<sup>13</sup> Then I said to him, "You people who are descendants of King David, listen! You are causing me to be tired of being patient. Are you also going to cause my God to stop being patient with you? <sup>14</sup> Yahweh himself will do something for you to prove that he will help you. Listen to this: A young woman will become pregnant and give birth to a son. She will name him Immanuel, which means 'God is with us.' <sup>15</sup> By the time that child is old enough to eat curds and honey, he will be able to reject what is evil and choose what is good. <sup>16</sup> And before that child is old enough to do that, the lands of the two kings that you are very afraid of will be deserted. <sup>17</sup> But then Yahweh will cause you and your family and your entire nation to experience terrible disasters. Those disasters will be worse than any disasters that have occurred since the country of Israel separated from Judah. Yahweh will cause the army of the king of Assyria to attack you!"

<sup>18</sup> At that time, it will be as though Yahweh will whistle to summon the army from the south of Egypt as well as the army of Assyria. They will come and surround your country like flies and bees. <sup>19</sup> They will all come and settle everywhere—in the narrow valleys and caves in the rock cliffs, on land where there are thornbushes as well as on the fertile land. <sup>20</sup> At that time Yahweh will hire the king of Assyria to come with his army from east of the Euphrates River. They will get rid of everything in your land—the crops and the people. They will destroy everything thoroughly; it will be like a barber shaving not only a man's hair but his beard and the hair on his legs. <sup>21</sup> When that happens, a farmer will be able to keep alive only one young cow and two goats. <sup>22</sup> However, those animals will give plenty of milk, with the result that the farmer will have curds to eat. And because there will not be many people left in the land, all the people who remain there will have plenty of milk and honey. <sup>23</sup> Now there are many areas where there are vineyards that are worth one thousand pieces of silver, but at that time there will be only briars and thorns in those fields.

<sup>24</sup>There will be only briars and thorns in the entire land, and wild animals, with the result that men will take their bows and arrows and go there to hunt and kill animals. <sup>25</sup>No one will go to where there previously were gardens on fertile hillsides, because briars and thorns will cover those hillsides. They will be areas where only a few cattle and sheep and goats wander around searching for something to eat.

8 Then Yahweh said to me, "Make a large signboard. And write clearly on it, 'Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz' which means 'quickly plunder and steal everything'." <sup>2</sup>So I requested Uriah the high priest and Jeberekiah's son Zechariah, men who were both honest witnesses, to watch me as I was doing that.

<sup>3</sup>Then I slept with my wife, who was a prophetess, and she became pregnant and then gave birth to a son. Then Yahweh said to me, "Give him the name Maher-Shalal-Hash-Baz, <sup>4</sup>because before he is old enough to say 'papa' or 'mama', the king of Assyria will come with his army and take away all the valuable things in Damascus and in Samaria."

<sup>5</sup>Yahweh spoke to me again and said, "Tell the people of Judah:

<sup>6</sup>I have taken good care of you people, but you have rejected that, thinking that my help was very small, like the small canal through which water flows from the spring of Gihon into Jerusalem.

Instead, you have been happy to request help from King Rezin and King Pekah.

<sup>7</sup>Therefore, I, the Lord, will soon cause the powerful army of the king of Assyria, which will be like a great flood from the Euphrates River, to attack the people of Judah.

Their soldiers will be everywhere in your country, like a river that overflows all its banks.

<sup>8</sup>Those soldiers will go all over Judah, like a river whose water rises as high as a person's neck.

Their army will spread over the land quickly, like an eagle, and they will cover your entire land! But I, your God, will be with you!"

<sup>9</sup>Listen, all you people in distant countries!

You can prepare to attack Judah.

You can prepare for battle, and shout your war cries,

but your armies will be crushed!

<sup>10</sup>You can prepare for what you will do to attack Judah, but what you plan to do will be useless!

You will not succeed, because God is with us!

<sup>11</sup>Yahweh strongly warned me not to act like the other people in Judah did. He said to me,

<sup>12</sup>"Do not say that everything that people do is conspiring against the government, like other people say,

and do not be afraid of the things that other people are afraid of.

<sup>13</sup>I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, am the one you should consider to be holy.

I am the one you should fear, the one you must give an account to.

<sup>14</sup>Yahweh will protect you.

But as for the other people in Israel and Judah,

Yahweh will be like a stone that causes people to stumble, like a rock that causes them to fall down.

And as for the people of Jerusalem, he will be like a trap or a snare.

<sup>15</sup>Many people will stumble and fall down and never get up again.

They will experience great troubles; they will be captured by their enemies."

<sup>16</sup>So I say to you who are my disciples, seal up this scroll on which I have written the messages that God has given to me, and give his instructions to others who have accompanied me.

<sup>17</sup>I will wait to see what Yahweh will do. He has rejected the descendants of Jacob, but I will confidently expect him to help me.

<sup>18</sup>I and the children that Yahweh has given to me are like signs to warn the people of Israel; we are warnings from Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the one who lives in his temple on Mount Zion in Jerusalem.

<sup>19</sup>Some people may urge you to consult those who talk with the spirits of dead people or with those who say that they receive messages from those spirits. They whisper and mutter about what we should do in the future. But God is the one whom we should ask to guide us! It is ridiculous for people who are alive to request spirits of dead people to tell us what we should do! <sup>20</sup>Pay attention to God's instructions and teaching! If people do not say things that agree with what God teaches us, what they say is worthless. It is as though those people are in darkness. <sup>21</sup>They will wander through the land, worried and hungry. And when they become very hungry, they will become very angry. They will look up toward heaven and curse God and will also curse their king. <sup>22</sup>They will look around the land and see only trouble and darkness and things that cause them to despair. And then they will be thrown into very black darkness.

9 However, those in Judah who were distressed will not continue to suffer. Previously, Yahweh humbled the people in the land where the tribes of Zebulun and Naphtali live. But in the future he will honor the people who live in the region of Galilee, along the road between the Jordan River and the Mediterranean Sea, where many foreigners live.

<sup>2</sup>Some day in the future, it will be as though the people who walked in darkness have seen a bright light.

Yes, a bright light will shine on those who live in a land where they now have great troubles.

<sup>3</sup>Yahweh, you will cause us people in Israel to rejoice;

we will become very happy.

We will rejoice about what you have done like people rejoice when they harvest their crops, or like soldiers rejoice when they divide up among themselves the things that they have captured in battle.

<sup>4</sup>You will cause us to no longer be slaves of those who captured us; you will lift the heavy burdens from our shoulders.

It will be as though you have broken the weapons of those who oppressed us, like you did when you destroyed the army of the Midian people group.

<sup>5</sup>The boots that the enemy soldiers wore and their clothing which has stains of blood on them will all be burned up; they will be fuel for a big fire.

<sup>6</sup>Another reason that we will rejoice is that a special child will be born for us, a woman will give birth to a son, and he will be our ruler.

And his names will be 'Wonderful Counselor,' 'Mighty God,' 'Our Everlasting Father,' and 'King who causes us to have Peace.'

<sup>7</sup>His rule and the peace that he brings will never end.

He will rule fairly and justly, like his ancestor King David did.

This will happen because Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, greatly desires that it happen.

<sup>8</sup>The Lord has warned the descendants of Jacob; he has said that he will punish Israel.

<sup>9-10</sup>And all the people in Samaria and other places in Israel will know that, but they are now very proud and arrogant.

They said, "Our city has been destroyed, but we will take away the broken bricks from the ruins and replace them with carefully cut stones.

Our sycamore fig trees have been cut down by our enemies, but we will plant cedar trees in their

- place."
- <sup>11</sup> But Yahweh will bring the armies of Assyria, the enemies of King Rezin of Aram, to fight against Israel and incite other nations to attack Israel.
- <sup>12</sup> The army of Aram will come from the east, and the army of Philistia will come from the west, and they will destroy Israel like a wild animal tears another animal apart and devours it. But even after that happened, Yahweh will still be very angry with them. He will be ready to strike them with his fist again.
- <sup>13</sup> But even though Yahweh will punish his people like that, they still will not return to him and worship him. They still will not request Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, to assist them.
- <sup>14</sup> Therefore, in one day Yahweh will get rid of those who are like Israel's head and those who are like its tail; the ones who are like the top of the palm tree and the ones who are like the bottom.
- <sup>15</sup> The leaders of Israel are the head, and the prophets who tell lies are the tail.
- <sup>16</sup> The leaders of the people have misled them; they have caused the people that they are ruling to be confused.
- <sup>17</sup> For that reason, Yahweh is not pleased with the young men of Israel, and he does not even act mercifully toward the widows and orphans, because they are all ungodly and wicked, and they all say things that are foolish.
- But Yahweh still is angry with them; he is ready to strike them with his fist again.
- <sup>18</sup> When people do wicked things, it is like a brush fire that spreads rapidly.

- It burns up not only briars and thorns; it starts a big fire in the forests from which clouds of smoke will rise.
- <sup>19</sup> It is as though the whole land is burned black because Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, is extremely angry with the Israelite people. They will become like fuel for that great fire, and no one will try to rescue even his own brother from that fire.
- <sup>20</sup> The Israelite people will attack their neighbors who live in houses at the right to get food from them, but they will still be hungry. They will kill and eat the flesh of those who live in houses at the left, but their stomachs will still not be full.
- <sup>21</sup> Israelites of the tribes of Manasseh and Ephraim will attack each other, and then they will both attack the people of Judah. But even after that happens, Yahweh will still be very angry with them; He will be ready to strike them with his fist again.
- 10 Terrible things will happen to you judges who are unjust and who make unfair laws.
- <sup>2</sup> You refuse to help poor people, and you do not allow them to get the things that they should get. You allow people to steal things from widows and do unfair things to children without fathers.
- <sup>3</sup> When I punish you by sending people from distant lands to cause you disasters, to whom will you run to get help? Your valuable possessions will certainly not be safe anywhere.
- <sup>4</sup> You will be able only to stumble along as your enemies take you away with other prisoners, or else your corpses will lie on the ground with others who have been killed.

 But even after that happens, Yahweh will still be very angry with
 you.
 He will still be ready to strike you again
 with his fist.
<sup>5</sup> Yahweh says, "Terrible things will happen to Assyria.
 It is true that their army is like a rod or a club with which I punish
 other nations
 because I am very angry with those
 nations.
<sup>6</sup> Sometimes I send the Assyrians to attack a godless nation,
 to fight against other people who have caused me to be angry.
 I send them to capture people and to seize and take away their possessions, and to trample them like people
 walk on mud in the streets.
<sup>7</sup> But the king of Assyria does not understand;
 he does not realize that he is only
 like a weapon in my hand.
 He only wants to destroy people,
 to get rid of many nations.
<sup>8</sup> He says, 'All of my army commanders will soon be kings of these nations that I conquer!
<sup>9</sup> We destroyed the city of Kalno as we destroyed the city of Carchemish.
 We destroyed the city of Hamath as we destroyed the city of Arpad;
 we destroyed Samaria just like we destroyed Damascus.
<sup>10</sup> We were able to destroy all those kingdoms that were full of the images of their gods, kingdoms whose gods were stronger than the gods in Jerusalem and Samaria.
<sup>11</sup> So we will defeat Jerusalem and destroy the images of gods that are there, just as we destroyed Samaria and the images that were there!"
<sup>12</sup> But I am the Lord, and after I have used Assyria to finish what I want to do to punish the people in Jerusalem, I will punish the king of Assyria because he has been very proud and

arrogant.
<sup>13</sup> He says, 'By my own great power I have done these things.
 I have been able to do them because I am very wise and very intelligent.
 My army removed the barriers at the borders of nations
 and carried away all their valuable
 things.
 My mighty army has humiliated all their
 people.
<sup>14</sup> Like someone who reaches into a bird's nest to take away the eggs,
 we have taken away the treasures of
 other countries.
 The people were not like birds that would have flapped their wings or chirp loudly to protest about their eggs being stolen;
 the people did not object at all to their treasures being stolen.'
<sup>15</sup> But I am Yahweh, and I say that an ax certainly cannot boast about being stronger than the person who uses it,
 and a saw is not greater than the person who uses it.
 A rod cannot control the one who holds
 it,
 and a wooden club cannot lift up a person.
 So the king of Assyria should not boast that he has done these things with his own wisdom and strength.
<sup>16</sup> I am the Lord Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, who will send a plague among the best soldiers of Assyria;
 it will be like a fire that will kill them and get rid of their glory.
<sup>17</sup> Yahweh is like a light for the people of Israel, like a fire;
 the Holy One who rules Israel is like a flame.
 The soldiers of Assyria are like thorns
 and briers,
 and Yahweh will burn them up in one day.
<sup>18</sup> There are glorious forests and fertile farmlands in Assyria, but Yahweh will completely destroy them;

they will be like a very sick person
who shrivels up and then dies.

<sup>19</sup> There will be very few trees left in those forests;
even a child will be able to count
them."

<sup>20</sup> In the future there will be only a few people left in Israel;
not many descendants of Jacob will still be alive.

But they will no longer rely on the king
of Assyria, the king of the nation that tried to destroy them.

Instead, they will faithfully trust in Yahweh, the Holy One who rules
Israel.

<sup>21</sup> Those Israelites will return to their mighty God.

<sup>22</sup> Now, the people of Israel are as numerous as the grains of sand on the seashore,
but only a few of them will return
from the countries to which they will be exiled.

Yahweh has decided to destroy most of the Israelites,
and that is what he must do
because he is completely just.

<sup>23</sup> Yes, the Lord Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, has already decided to destroy the entire land of Israel.

<sup>24</sup> This is what the Lord Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says:

"My people in Jerusalem, do not be afraid of the army of Assyria when they beat you with rods and clubs, like the men of Egypt did to your ancestors long ago.

<sup>25</sup> Soon I will no longer be angry with
you,
and then I will be angry with the people of Assyria and destroy

<sup>26</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will strike them with his whip.

He will do to them as he did when he defeated the army of the Midian people group,
and as he did when he caused the army of Egypt to drown in the Sea of Reeds.

<sup>27</sup> One day in the future, Yahweh will cause the army of Assyria to stop oppressing you, his people;
he will end your suffering and your being slaves of the people of Assyria;

you will become too strong for them.

<sup>28</sup> One day in the future this will be the situation: The army of Assyria has entered northern Judah near Aiath;
they have gone through Migron and stored their supplies at Micmash, north of Jerusalem.

<sup>29</sup> They have crossed through a mountain pass
and set up their tents at Geba.

People in Ramah will tremble because of
they are afraid.

The people of Gibeah, where King Saul was born, have all run
away.

<sup>30</sup> You people of Gallim will cry out for help!
They will shout to the people of the city of Laish near Jerusalem to warn them!

The people of Anathoth will suffer
a lot.

<sup>31</sup> The people of Madmenah north of Jerusalem are all running away, and the people of Gebim close to Jerusalem are trying to hide.

<sup>32</sup> The soldiers of Assyria will stop at the city of Nob outside Jerusalem.
They will shake their fists
as they threaten the people on Mount Zion in Jerusalem.

<sup>33</sup> But listen to this! Yahweh, commander of the angel armies,
with his great power will destroy the mighty army of Assyria.
It is as though they are a huge tree that he will cut down.

<sup>34</sup> He will destroy the soldiers of Assyria as men use big axes to cut down the tall trees in the forests of Lebanon.

11 Like a new branch often grows from the stump of a tree,

there will be a descendant of King David who will be a new king.

<sup>2</sup> The Spirit of Yahweh will always be with him. The Spirit will enable him to be wise and to understand many things; The Spirit will enable him to decide what is good to do and will give him great power. The Spirit will enable him to know Yahweh and to revere him.

<sup>3</sup> He will be glad to obey Yahweh. He will not decide whether someone is righteous or not only by seeing what that person looks like, or by listening to what others say about that person.

<sup>4</sup> He will judge the cases of needy people fairly; and he will act justly toward poor people. He will punish evil people as a result of what he decides; he will get rid of wicked people because of the evil things they have done.

<sup>5</sup> He will always act righteously; the good things he does will be like a belt around his waist. He will always speak what is true; the true words he speaks will be like a sash around his waist.

<sup>6</sup> When he becomes king, wolves and lambs will live together peacefully; leopards, instead of killing baby goats, will lie down with them. Similarly, fat, healthy calves and lions will eat food together; and a young child will take care of them.

<sup>7</sup> Cows and bears will eat together; bear cubs and calves will lie down together. Lions will not eat other animals; instead, they will eat hay like cows do.

<sup>8</sup> Babies will play safely near the holes where cobra snakes live; small children will even put their hands into nests of poisonous snakes, and the snakes will not harm them. <sup>9</sup> No creatures will harm or kill other creatures on Mount Zion, my holy hill; and the earth will be filled with people who know me, as the seas are full of water.

<sup>10</sup> At that time, a descendant of King David will hold up a flag to signal to the people of all people groups that they should gather around him; they will come to him to get his advice, and the place where he lives will be glorious.

<sup>11</sup> At that time, Yahweh will reach out his hand as he did long ago; he will enable those who had been exiled from Israel to return home, from Assyria, from northern Egypt, from southern Egypt, from Ethiopia, from Elam, from Babylonia, from Hamath, and from all the distant countries near the sea.

<sup>12</sup> Yahweh will raise his flag among all the people groups, and he will gather together the people of Israel who were exiled long ago. He will gather from very distant places on the earth the people of Judah whom he had scattered to those places.

<sup>13</sup> Then, the people of Israel and the people of Judah will not be jealous of each other any longer, and they will no longer be enemies of each other.

<sup>14</sup> Their armies will join together to attack the people of Philistia to the west. And together they will attack nations to the east; they will defeat those nations and take away all their valuable possessions. They will capture the areas of Edom and Moab, and they will rule the people of the Ammon people group.

<sup>15</sup> Yahweh will make a dry road through the sea near Egypt.

 It will be as though he will wave his hand
     over the Euphrates River and send a strong wind to cause it to divide into seven streams, with the result that people will be able to walk across those streams.

<sup>16</sup> Because he will make a highway for his people who are living in Assyria, they will be able to return to their own land,
 just like long ago he made a path for the people of Israel
     so that they could go through the water
     when they left Egypt.

12 At that time, you people of Jerusalem will sing this song: "Yahweh, we praise you!"

Previously, you were angry with us,
 but you are not angry now
     and you have comforted us.

<sup>2</sup> Amazingly, you have come to save us, so we will trust in you and not be afraid.

Yahweh our God, you enable us to be
     strong;
     you are the one about whom we sing;
     you have rescued us from our
     enemies."

<sup>3</sup> You, his people, will greatly rejoice
     because he has rescued you,
     like you enjoy drinking water from a fountain.

<sup>4</sup> At that time you will say,
 "We should thank Yahweh! We should praise him!"

We should tell the people of all the people groups what he has
     done;
     we should enable them to know that he is very great!

<sup>5</sup> We should sing to Yahweh, because he has done wonderful things.
 We should enable everyone in the world to know it!

<sup>6</sup> You people of Jerusalem, shout joyfully
     to praise Yahweh,
     because he is the great Holy One whom we Israelite people

     worship,
     and he lives among us!"

13 I, Isaiah son of Amoz, received from Yahweh this message about the city of Babylon:

<sup>2</sup> Lift up a flag on the bare top of a hill,
     to signal that an army should come
     to attack Babylon.

Shout to them and wave your hand to signal to them
     that they should march through the city gates into the palaces of the proud rulers of Babylon!

<sup>3</sup> Yahweh says, "I have commanded those who are set apart to do this work for
     me—

I have summoned the warriors whom I have chosen to punish the people of Babylon because I am very angry with them,
     and those soldiers will be very proud when they do that."

<sup>4</sup> Listen to the noise on the mountains, which is the noise of a huge army marching!

It is the noise made by people of many people groups shouting.
 Yahweh, commander of the angel
     armies, has summoned this army to gather together.

<sup>5</sup> They come from countries that are far
     away,
     from the most remote places on the earth.

They are like weapons that Yahweh will use to punish the people with whom he is very angry,
     and to destroy the entire country of Babylonia.

<sup>6</sup> You people of Babylon will scream
     because you will be terrified, because it will be the time that Yahweh has determined,
         the time for the all-powerful God
         to destroy your city.

<sup>7</sup> Because that will happen, all of your people will be very afraid, with the result that they will be unable even to lift their arms.

<sup>8</sup> All of you will be terrified.

You will have severe pains like a woman has when she is giving birth to a baby.

You will look at each other helplessly, and it will show on your faces that you feel horror.

<sup>9</sup> Listen to this, you people of Babylon: The day that Yahweh has chosen to act in is near, the day on which he will furiously and fiercely punish you because he is very angry with you.

He will cause your land of Babylonia to be desolate, and he will destroy all the sinners in it.

<sup>10</sup> When that happens, none of the stars will shine. When the sun rises, it will be dark, and there will be no light from the moon at night.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh says, "I will punish everyone in the world for the evil things that they do; I will punish the wicked people for the sins that they have committed.

I will stop arrogant people from being proud, and I will stop cruel people from being so arrogant.

<sup>12</sup> And because I will cause most people to die, people will be harder to find than gold, harder to find than fine gold from Ophir in Arabia.

<sup>13</sup> I will shake the sky, and the earth will also move out of its place. That will happen when I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, punish wicked people, when I show them that I am extremely angry with them.

<sup>14</sup> All the foreigners in Babylon will run around like deer that are being hunted, like sheep that do not have a shepherd. They will try to find other people from their countries, and then they will escape from Babylon and return to their own countries.

<sup>15</sup> Anyone who is captured in Babylon will be killed by their enemies' swords.

<sup>16</sup> Their little children will be dashed to pieces on the rocks while their parents watch; their enemies will steal everything valuable from their houses and will force their wives to sleep with them.

<sup>17</sup> Look! I am going to incite the people of Media to attack Babylon. The army of Media will attack Babylon, even if they are offered silver or gold if they promise to not attack it.

<sup>18</sup> With their arrows, the soldiers of Media will shoot the young men of Babylon; they will not even act mercifully toward infants or children!"

<sup>19</sup> Babylon has been a very beautiful city; all the people of Babylonia have been very proud of Babylon, their capital city; but God will destroy Babylon, like he destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah.

<sup>20</sup> No one will ever live in Babylon again. It will be deserted forever. Nomads will refuse to set up their tents there; shepherds will not bring their flocks of sheep to rest there.

<sup>21</sup> Animals that live in the desert will be there; jackals will live in the ruins of the houses. Owls will live in the ruins, and ostriches and wild goats will romp around there.

<sup>22</sup> Hyenas will howl in the ruined towers, and jackals will make their dens in the ruins of the palaces that were previously very beautiful. The time when Babylon will be destroyed is very near;

Babylon will not exist much longer.

14 But Yahweh will act mercifully toward the Israelite people; he will choose the people of Israel to be his people again, and he will allow them to return here and live in their own land again. Then people from many other countries will come here and unite with the Israelite people.<sup>2</sup> People of other nations will help them to return to their own land, and those who come from other countries will work for the Israelite people. Those who captured people of Israel will be captured by Israelite soldiers, and the people of Israel will rule over the people who previously oppressed them.

<sup>3</sup> Some day Yahweh will free you Israelite people from suffering and trouble and from being afraid, and from being cruelly treated as slaves.<sup>4</sup> When that happens, you will make fun of the king of Babylon by singing a song like this:

"You treated us cruelly, but that has ended!

You insulted others and made them suffer, but you can do this no longer!

<sup>5</sup> You evil ruler, Yahweh has destroyed your power, and you will oppress people no longer!

<sup>6</sup> You attacked people many times because you were very angry with them, and you subdued other nations by causing them to suffer without stopping.

<sup>7</sup> But soon everything will be quiet and peaceful on the earth.

Everyone will sing again!

<sup>8</sup> It will be as though even the trees in the forests will joyfully sing this song, the cypress trees and the cedar trees in Lebanon will sing it:

'You have been overthrown, and now no one comes to chop us down.'

<sup>9</sup> The dead people are all eagerly waiting for you to go to the place where they are.

The spirits of the world leaders will be delighted to welcome you;

those who were kings of many nations before they died will stand up to welcome you.

<sup>10</sup> They will all shout to you together, 'Now you are as weak as we are!'

<sup>11</sup> You were very proud and powerful, but all that ended when you died, along with the sounds of harps being played in your palace.

Now in your grave maggots will be under you like a sheet, and worms will cover you like a blanket.'

<sup>12</sup> You have disappeared from the earth like a star that fell from the sky; you were very well known, like the morning star is seen by everyone;

you destroyed many nations, but now you have been destroyed.

<sup>13</sup> You proudly said to yourself, 'I will ascend to heaven, to my throne above God's stars.

I will rule on the mountain where the gods gather together, far in the north.

<sup>14</sup> I will ascend above the clouds and become like God himself!'

<sup>15</sup> But you were not able to do that; Instead, you were carried down to your grave, and you went to the place where the dead people are.

<sup>16</sup> The other dead people there stare at you; they wonder what happened to you.

They say, 'Is this the man who caused the earth to shake and caused the people in many kingdoms to tremble?'

<sup>17</sup> Is this the man who tried to cause the world to become a desert, who conquered its cities and did not allow the people whom he captured to return to their homes?'

<sup>18</sup> All the kings of the earth who have died were greatly honored when they were buried.

<sup>19</sup> Someone will cast you aside, but not

into a grave, like a branch that they throw away.

The dead cover you like a garment, those pierced by the sword, who go down to be among the stones where the dead rest.

<sup>20</sup> Your dead body will not be buried with them because you have destroyed your land and have caused your own people to be killed.

The descendants of wicked people like you will never be spoken of again."

Do not allow them to become rulers, and conquer all the nations in the world, and fill the world with the cities that they rule!"

<sup>22</sup> This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says: "I myself will cause Babylon to be conquered.

I will get rid of Babylon and its people and their descendants.

<sup>23</sup> I will cause Babylon to be a place where owls live, a place full of swamps; I will destroy it completely as though I were sweeping it with a broom.

That is what I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, say."

<sup>24</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, has also solemnly promised this:

"The things that I have planned will surely happen.

<sup>25</sup> When the army of Assyria is in my land of Israel,

I will crush them.

It will be as though I had trampled them on my mountains.

My people will no longer be the slaves of the people of Assyria;

It will be as though I had taken away the burdens that were on their shoulders.

<sup>26</sup> There is a plan for everyone on the earth, a plan to show the power of Yahweh to punish all the nations.

<sup>27</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, has spoken, and no one can change his mind. When Yahweh raises his fist to strike Assyria, no one will be able to stop him."

<sup>29</sup> Do not rejoice, all you people of Philistia, that the enemy army that attacked you has been defeated and that their king is dead.

He was as dangerous as a snake, but there will be another king, who will be more dangerous than a cobra; he will be like a quick-moving poisonous snake.

<sup>30</sup> Those of my people who are very poor will take care of their flocks of sheep, and the needy people will lie down safely, but I will cause you people of Philistia who are still alive to die from famine.

<sup>31</sup> So, you people of Philistia, wail at the gates of your cities! You should be extremely afraid, because a very powerful army will come from the north to attack you; their chariots will stir up the dust like a cloud of smoke.

Each of their soldiers is ready to fight.

<sup>32</sup> If messengers from Philistia come to us Israelite people, this is what we must tell them:

"Yahweh has created Jerusalem, not Philistia, and his people who are oppressed will be safe inside the walls of Jerusalem."

15 Isaiah received this message from Yahweh about the Moab people group: In one night two important cities in Moab, Ar and Kir, will be destroyed.

<sup>2</sup> The people of Dibon, the capital city, will go to their temple to mourn; they will go to their high places set on the hilltops, and there they will weep.

They will wail because of what happened to Nebo and Medeba in the south; they will all shave the hair of their heads, and the men will cut off their beards to show that they are grieving.

<sup>3</sup> In the streets people will wear rough sackcloth, and on their flat rooftops and in the city plazas all people will wail with tears streaming down their faces.

<sup>4</sup> The people of the city of Heshbon and the towns of Elealeh in the north of Moab will cry out; people as far away as the town of Jahaz in the south will hear them wailing.

Therefore the soldiers of Moab will tremble and cry out, and they will be very afraid.

<sup>5</sup> Yahweh feels very sorry for the people of Moab; they will flee to the towns of Zoar and Eglath Shelishiyah in the far south.

They will cry as they walk up to the town of Luhith.

All along the road to the town of Horonaim people will mourn because their country has been destroyed.

The grass there will be withered; the green plants will all be gone, and there will be nothing left that is green.

<sup>7</sup> The people will pick up their possessions and carry them across the brook of the Willows.

<sup>8</sup> Throughout the country of Moab, people will be crying; people as far away as Eglaim in the south and Beer Elim in the north will hear them wailing.

<sup>9</sup> The stream near Dibon will become red from the blood of people who have been killed,

but I will cause the people of Moab to experience even more trouble:

lions will attack those who are trying to escape from Moab and will also attack the people who remain in that country.

16 The rulers of Moab will say to each other,

"We must send some lambs from the city of Sela as a gift to the ruler of Judah to persuade him to not allow his army to attack us anymore.

We should send them through the desert to the king in Jerusalem."

<sup>3</sup> They will cry out, "Help us! Tell us what we should do! Protect us completely, we who are running away from our enemies,

and do not betray us.

<sup>4</sup> Allow those of us who are fleeing from Moab to stay with you; hide us from our enemies who want to destroy us!

Some day there will be no one to oppress us, and our enemies will stop destroying our land."

<sup>5</sup> Then Yahweh will appoint someone to be king who will be a descendant of King David.

As this man rules, he will be merciful and truthful.

He will always do what is fair and quickly do what is righteous.

<sup>6</sup> We people of Judah have heard about the people of Moab; we have heard that they are very proud and conceited; they are insolent, but what they say about themselves is not true.

<sup>7</sup> Some day all the people in Moab will weep. They will all mourn, because there will be no more raisin cakes

in the city of Kir Hareseth.

But more than the cakes, they mourn for the people who lived
there, who were all killed.

<sup>8</sup>The crops in the fields of Heshbon will wither,
and the vineyards of Sibmah will wither also.

The armies of other nations will destroy Moab,
which is like a beautiful grapevine
whose branches spread north to Jazer,
and east to the desert.
Its branches spread very far west,
to the west side of the Dead Sea.

<sup>9</sup>So I will weep for Jazer
and for the grapevines of Sibmah.
I will shed tears for all of you.
I will cry because people will no longer shout joyfully, like they usually do when they gather the fruit that ripens in the summer and the other crops.

<sup>10</sup>People will no longer be glad at harvest
time.

No one will sing in the vineyards;
no one will shout joyfully.
No one will tread on grapes to get grape juice for wine;
there will be nothing to shout
about joyfully.

<sup>11</sup>I cry in my inner being for Moab;
my groaning is like a sad song played on a harp.

I am sad in my inner being for Kir
Hareseth.

<sup>12</sup>The people of Moab will go and pray
at their high places,
but that will not help them.

They will cry out to their gods in their temples,
but no one will be able to rescue
them.

<sup>13</sup>Yahweh has already spoken those things about Moab. <sup>14</sup>But now he says that exactly three years from now, he will destroy all the things that the people of Moab have been proud of. Even though they have a huge number of people in Moab now, only a few people will remain alive, and they will be weak.

17 Isaiah received this message from Yahweh about Damascus, the capital of Aram:

"Listen carefully! Damascus will no longer be a city;
it will be only a heap of ruins!"

<sup>2</sup>The towns near the city of Aroer will be abandoned.
Flocks of sheep will eat grass in the streets and lie down there,
and there will be no one to chase
them away.

<sup>3</sup>The cities in Israel will not have walls around them to protect them.
The power of the kingdom of Damascus will be ended,
and the few people who will remain in Aram will be disgraced like the people in Israel were
disgraced."

That is what Yahweh, commander of the
angel armies, says.

<sup>4</sup>"At that time, Israel will become insignificant.
It will be like a fat person who has become very thin.

<sup>5</sup>The entire land will be like a field where the harvesters have cut all the grain;
there will be nothing left,
like the fields in the Valley of Rephaim after all the crops
have been harvested.

<sup>6</sup>Only a few of the Israelite people will remain,
like the few olives that remain on the top of a tree after the workers have shaken all the other olives to the ground.

There will be only two or three olives in the top branches,
or four or five olives on the other
branches."

That is what Yahweh, commander of the
angel armies, says.

<sup>7</sup>Then at that time, you people of Israel will trust in God, your creator,
the Holy One of Israel.

<sup>8</sup>You will no longer seek to get help from your idols
or worship the idols that you have made with your own hands.

You will never again bow down in front of the poles where you worshiped the goddess Asherah.

You will never again worship at the high places that you have built to burn incense to idols.

<sup>9</sup>The largest cities in Israel will be abandoned, like the land that the Hiv and Amor people groups abandoned when the Israelites attacked them long ago. No people will live there.

<sup>10</sup>That will happen because you have stopped worshiping God, who is like a huge rock on top of which you can be safe.

You have forgotten that he is the one who can hide you.

So now you plant very nice grapevines and even unusual ones that come from other countries.

<sup>11</sup>But even if they sprout leaves on the day you plant them, and even if they produce blossoms on that same morning, at harvest time, there will not be any grapes for you to pick.

All that you will get is much of agony and suffering.

<sup>12</sup>Listen! The armies of many nations will roar like the sea roars.
It will sound like noise of crashing waves.

<sup>13</sup>But even though their loud roaring will be like the sound of crashing waves, when Yahweh rebukes them, they will run far away.

They will flee like chaff on the hills scatters when the wind blows, like tumbleweeds scatter when a windstorm blows.

<sup>14</sup>And even though you people of Israel will be terrified, in the morning your enemies will all be gone.

That is what will happen to those who invade our land and steal our possessions.

18 Terrible things will happen to you people of Ethiopia!
In your land there are many boats at the upper part of the Nile

River.

<sup>2</sup>Your rulers send ambassadors that sail quickly down the river in papyrus boats.

Tell your messengers to go quickly!
Go to people who are tall and who have smooth skins.

People everywhere are afraid of those people, because they conquer and destroy other nations; they are people who live in a land that rivers divide.

<sup>3</sup>You messengers must tell to the people of the world,
to all people everywhere,

"Look when the battle flag is lifted on top of the mountain, and listen when the ram's horn blows to signal that the battle is about to begin."

<sup>4</sup>Listen because Yahweh has told me this:

"I will watch quietly from where I live.

I will watch quietly like the heat that shimmers as it rises on a summer day.

I will work effectively like the cloud of mist that settles during the heat of harvest. <sup>5</sup>Before the harvest, the farmer sees the grapevines making blossoms and the flowers growing into grapes, and he knows that the time is right to cut off the new growth and spreading branches that keep the tree from growing strong.

In the same way I know when the time is right to take action against that nation, and I will send an army to attack it.

<sup>6</sup>All the soldiers in that nation's army will be killed, and their corpses will lie in the fields for vultures to eat their flesh in the summer.

Then wild animals will chew on their bones all during the winter."

<sup>7</sup>At that time, the people of the nation that rivers divide will take gifts to Yahweh in Jerusalem.

Those people are tall and have smooth skins; people everywhere are afraid of those people, because they conquer and destroy other nations, will take gifts to Jerusalem, the city where Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, lives.

19

Isaiah received this message from Yahweh about Egypt:

Listen to this! I, Yahweh, am coming toward Egypt, riding on a fast-moving cloud. The idols in Egypt will tremble when I appear, and the people of Egypt will be extremely afraid.

<sup>2</sup>I will cause the people of Egypt to fight against each other: men will fight against their brothers, neighbors will fight against each other, people of one city will fight against the people of another city, people of one province will fight against the people of another province.

<sup>3</sup>The people of Egypt will become very discouraged, and I will cause their plans to not be successful.

They will plead with idols and sorcerers and those who talk with spirits of dead people to tell them what they should do.

<sup>4</sup>Then I will enable someone who will treat them very cruelly to become their king.

That is what I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, say.

<sup>5</sup>Some day the water in the Nile River will dry up, and the riverbed will become very dry.

<sup>6</sup>The branches of the river will all dry up. The canals along the river will stink because of the withering and rotting reeds and bulrushes.

<sup>7</sup>All the plants along the river and all the crops in the fields bordering the river will dry up; then they will blow away and disappear.

<sup>8</sup>The fishermen will throw into the river lines with hooks on them and nets, and then they will groan and be very discouraged; they will be sad because there will be no fish in the river.

<sup>9</sup>Those who weave cloth from flax will not know what to do because there will be no thread for them to weave.

<sup>10</sup>They will all despair and be very discouraged.

<sup>11</sup>The officials in the city of Zoan in northern Egypt are foolish. The advice that they gave to the king was worthless.

Why do they continue to tell the king that they are wise, that they are descendants of wise kings who lived long ago?

<sup>12</sup>King, where are your wise advisors now? If you had any wise advisors, they could tell you what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, has planned to do to Egypt!

<sup>13</sup>Yes, the officials of Zoan have become foolish, and the leaders in the city of Memphis in northern Egypt have deceived themselves.

All the leaders of the people have caused their people to do wrong things.

<sup>14</sup>Yahweh has caused them to be very foolish, with the result that in everything that they do, it is as though the people of Egypt stagger like a drunken person staggers and slips in his own vomit.

<sup>15</sup>There is no one in Egypt, rich or poor, important or unimportant, who will be able to help them.

<sup>16</sup>At that time, the people of Egypt will be as helpless as women. They will tremble, being terrified because they know that Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, has raised his fist, intending to strike them.<sup>17</sup> The people of Egypt will be afraid of the people of Judah, and anyone who mentions Judah to them will cause them to be terrified, because that will remind them of what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, is planning to do to them.

<sup>18</sup> At that time, people in five cities in Egypt will solemnly declare that they will serve Yahweh. They will learn to speak the Hebrew language. One of those cities will be called "City of the Sun."

<sup>19</sup> At that time, there will be an altar for worshiping Yahweh in the center of Egypt, and there will be a pillar to honor Yahweh at the border between Egypt and Israel.<sup>20</sup> That will be a sign to indicate that Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, is worshiped in the land of Egypt. And when the people cry out to Yahweh to help them because others are oppressing them, he will send to them someone who will defend and rescue them.<sup>21</sup> Yahweh will enable the people of Egypt to know who he is. At that time they will admit that he is God. They will worship him and bring to him offerings of grain and other sacrifices. They will solemnly promise to do things for Yahweh, and they will do what they promise.<sup>22</sup> After Yahweh has punished Egypt, he will cause their troubles to end. The people of Egypt will turn to Yahweh, and he will listen when they plead to him for help, and he will cause their troubles to cease.

<sup>23</sup> At that time, there will be a highway between Egypt and Assyria. As a result, the people of Egypt will be able to travel easily to Assyria, and the people of Assyria will be able to travel easily to Egypt. And the people of both countries will worship Yahweh.<sup>24</sup> And Israel will be their ally. All three nations will be friendly to each other, and the people of Israel will be a blessing to the people of the entire world.<sup>25</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will bless them; he will say, "You people of Egypt are now my people. You people of Assyria, I have established your country. You people of Israel are the people whom I have chosen to belong to me."

20 One year King Sargon of Assyria sent the chief commander of his army to take his soldiers to capture the city of Ashdod in Philistia. At that time,<sup>2</sup> Yahweh told Isaiah,

"Take off the rough sackcloth that you have been wearing and take off your sandals." So Isaiah did that, and then he walked around naked and barefoot for three years.

<sup>3</sup> Then Yahweh said this to the people of Judah: "My servant Isaiah has been walking around naked and barefoot for the past three years. That is to show the terrible disasters that I will cause the people of Egypt and Ethiopia to experience.<sup>4</sup> What will happen is that the army of the king of Assyria will invade those countries and capture many of the people and take them away as their prisoners. They will force all of them, including both the young ones and the old ones, to walk naked and barefoot. They will also force them to have no clothes around their buttocks, which will cause the people of Egypt to be ashamed.<sup>5</sup> Then the people of other countries who trusted that the armies of Egypt and Ethiopia would be able to help them will be very dismayed and afraid.<sup>6</sup> They will say, 'We thought that the armies of Egypt and Ethiopia would help us and defend us, but they have been destroyed, so there is no way that we can escape from being destroyed by the army of the king of Assyria!'"

21 Yahweh gave this message about a land soon to become a desert:

An army will soon come from the southern Judean wilderness to invade that land;
they are an army that causes their enemies to be terrified, an army that will come sweeping through the wilderness from a terrible land.

<sup>2</sup> Yahweh showed me a terrifying vision:
In the vision I saw an army
that will betray people and steal their possessions after they conquer them.

Yahweh said, "You armies from Elam and Media, surround Babylon and prepare to attack it!
I will cause the groaning and suffering that Babylon caused to cease!"

<sup>3</sup> Because of that, my body is full of pain;
my pain is like the pain that women who are giving birth experience.

When I hear about and see what God is planning to do,
I am shocked.

<sup>4</sup> My heart shakes within me, and I tremble with fear.
Early evening is my favorite time of day,
but now terror has taken over and I am afraid.

<sup>5</sup> In the vision I saw that the leaders of Babylonia were preparing a great feast.
They had spread rugs for people to sit on;
everyone was eating and drinking.
But you should get up and prepare your shields, you princes of Babylon, because you are about to be attacked!

<sup>6</sup> Then Yahweh said to me,
"Put a watchman on the wall of Jerusalem,
and tell him to shout what he sees.

<sup>7</sup> Tell him to watch for chariots pulled by pairs of horses, and men riding camels and donkeys, coming from Babylon.
Tell the watchman to watch and listen carefully!"

<sup>8</sup> So I did that, and one day the watchman called out,
"Day after day I have stood on this watchtower, and I have continued to watch during the day and during the night.

<sup>9</sup> A man comes riding in a chariot pulled by two horses.
I called out to him, and he answered,
'Babylon has been destroyed!
All the idols in Babylon lie in pieces on the ground!'

<sup>10</sup> My people in Judah, the army of Babylon has caused you to suffer greatly as though you were grain that was threshed and winnowed.
But now I have told you what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, whom we Israelites worship, told me about Babylon.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh gave this message about Edom:
Someone from Edom has been calling to me saying,
"Watchman, how long will it be before the night is over?"

<sup>12</sup> The watchman, replied,
"It will soon be morning, but after that, it will soon be night again.
If you want to ask your question, then ask it now,
and then come back again."

Give this message to people traveling in caravans from the town of Dedan in northwest Arabia, travelers who camp in the scrub there.
Tell them to bring water for those who are thirsty.

<sup>14</sup> And you people who live in the city of Tema in northwest Arabia, must bring food for the refugees who are fleeing from their enemies.

<sup>15</sup> They are fleeing in order not to be killed by their enemies' swords and not to be shot in battles by arrows.

<sup>16</sup> Yahweh said to me,
"Exactly one year from now, all the greatness of the region of Kedar in Arabia will end.

<sup>17</sup> Only a few of their soldiers who know well how to shoot arrows will remain alive.
That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

22 Yahweh gave this message about Jerusalem, about the valley where Yahweh showed me this vision.
Why is everyone foolishly running up to their flat rooftops?

There are a lot of corpses in the city, but they were not killed by their enemies' swords.
They did not die in battles; instead, they died from diseases and

- hunger.
- <sup>3</sup> All the leaders of the city fled.
But then they were captured
because they did not have bows and arrows to defend themselves.
- Your soldiers tried to flee while the enemy
army was still far away,
but they also were captured.
- <sup>4</sup> That is why I said, "Allow me to cry
alone;
do not try to comfort me about my people being slaughtered."
- <sup>5</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel
armies, has chosen a time when there will be a great uproar, soldiers marching, and people being terrified in the valley where I received this vision.
- It will be a time when our city walls will be battered down
and the people's cries for help will be heard in the mountains.
- <sup>6</sup> The armies from Elam and Kir in Media
will attack,
driving chariots and carrying shields.
- <sup>7</sup> Our beautiful valleys will be filled with
our enemies' chariots,
and the men who drive the chariots
will stand outside our city
gates.
- <sup>8</sup> God will cause the walls that protect the cities in Judah to fall down.
You people of Jerusalem will run to get the weapons that are stored in the building called "the Hall of the Forest."
- <sup>9</sup> You will see that there are many breaks
in the walls of Jerusalem.
You will store water in the lower pool in the city.
- <sup>10</sup> You will inspect the houses in Jerusalem,
and some of them you will tear down to use the stones to repair
the city wall.
- <sup>11</sup> Between the walls of the city you will build a reservoir to store water from the old pool.
But you will never request help from the
- one who made the city;
you have never depended on Yahweh, who planned this city
long ago.
- <sup>12</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel
armies, told you to weep and mourn;
he told you to shave your heads and to wear rough sackcloth
to show that you were sorry for the sins
that you had committed.
- <sup>13</sup> But instead of doing that, you were happy and celebrated;
you slaughtered cattle and sheep
in order to cook their meat and eat
it and drink wine.
- You said, "Let us eat and drink all that we want to,
because it is possible that we will die tomorrow!"
- <sup>14</sup> So Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, revealed this to me: "I will never forgive my people for sinning like this!"
- <sup>15</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, said this to me: "Go to Shebna, the official who supervises the workers in the palace, and give this message to him:
- <sup>16</sup> Who do you think you are?
Who gave you the authority to build a beautiful tomb where you will be buried,
chiseling it out of the rocky cliff
high above this valley?"
- <sup>17</sup> You think that you are a great man, but Yahweh is about to hurl you away.
It will be as though he had seized
you,
- <sup>18</sup> rolled you into a ball,
and thrown you away in a large distant land.
- You will die and be buried there,
and your beautiful chariots will stay
there in the hands of your
enemies.
- And because of what happens to you, your master, the king, will be very ashamed.
- <sup>19</sup> Yahweh says, "I will force you to quit working in the palace;
you will be forced out from your important position.
- <sup>20</sup> Then I will summon Hilkiah's son Eliakim, who has served me well, to replace you. <sup>21</sup>I will make him wear your robe and fasten your sash around him, and I will give to him the authority that you had. He will be like a father to the people of Jerusalem and all the other towns in Judah. <sup>22</sup>I will give to him authority over what happens in the palace where King David lived; when he decides something, no one will be able to oppose it; when he refuses to do something, no one will be able to force him to do it. <sup>23</sup>I will cause his family to be greatly respected, because I will put him firmly in his position as supervisor of the workers in the palace, like a nail that is firmly hammered into a wall. <sup>24</sup>Others will enable him to have much responsibility, with the result that all the members of his family, even the most insignificant ones, will be honored.

<sup>25</sup>Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, also says, "Shebna is like a peg that is firmly fastened to the wall. But there will be a time when I will remove him from his position; he will lose his power, and everything that he promoted will fail." That will surely happen because Yahweh has said it.

23 I, Isaiah, received this message from Yahweh for you, the people in the city of Tyre:

You sailors on ships from Tarshish, weep, because the harbor of Tyre and all the houses in the city have been destroyed.

The reports that you heard in the Island of Cyprus about Tyre are true.

<sup>2</sup> You people who live along the coast, you merchants of the city of Sidon, mourn silently.

Your sailors went across the seas to make you rich, there in Tyre.

This wealth came down the Nile River, and you, Tyre, were the place where the people of all nations traded.

<sup>4</sup> But now you people in Sidon should be ashamed, because you trusted in Tyre, which has been a strong fortress on an island in the sea.

Tyre is like a woman who is saying,

"Now it is as though I have not given birth to any children, or raised any sons or daughters."

<sup>5</sup> When the people of Egypt hear what has happened to Tyre, they will grieve very much.

<sup>6</sup> Sail to Tarshish and tell them what happened; weep, you people who live along the coast.

<sup>7</sup> The people in the very old city of Tyre were previously joyful.

Traders from Tyre established colonies in many distant nations.

<sup>8</sup> People from Tyre appointed kings over other places; their traders were wealthy; they were as powerful and wealthy as kings.

Who caused the people of Tyre to experience this disaster?

<sup>9</sup> It was Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, who did it; he did it in order to cause you people in Tyre to not be proud anymore, to humiliate you men who are honored all over the world.

<sup>10</sup> You people of Tarshish, you must grow crops in your land instead of trading; spread out over your land like the Nile River spreads over the land of Egypt when it floods, because there is no harbor in Tyre for your ships now.

<sup>11</sup> It is as though Yahweh stretched out his hand over the sea and shook the kingdoms of the earth.

He commanded that in Phoenicia all its fortresses must be destroyed.

<sup>12</sup> He said to the people of Sidon, "You will never rejoice again, because you will be crushed; even if you flee to the island of Cyprus, you will not escape from troubles; you will have no peace."

the people who were in that land have disappeared.

The armies of Assyria have caused that land to become a place where wild animals from the desert live.

They built dirt ramps to the top of the walls of the city of Babylon; then they entered the city and tore down the palaces and caused the city to become a heap of rubble.

<sup>14</sup> So wail, you sailors on the ships of Tarshish, because the harbor in Tyre where your ships stop is destroyed!

<sup>15</sup> For seventy years, which is as long as kings usually live, people will forget about Tyre. But then it will be rebuilt. What will happen there will be like what happened to a prostitute in this song:

<sup>16</sup> You harlot, whom people had forgotten,
play your harp well,
and sing many songs,
in order that people will remember you again.

<sup>17</sup> It is true that after seventy years Yahweh will restore Tyre. Their merchants will again earn a lot of money by buying things from and selling things to many other nations.

<sup>18</sup> But their profits will be given to Yahweh.

The merchants will not hoard their money;
instead, they will give it to Yahweh's people, for they will live in his presence,
in order that they can buy food and nice clothes.

24 Some day Yahweh is going to destroy the earth.

He will devastate it and cause it to become a desert,
and he will scatter its people.

<sup>2</sup> He will scatter everyone:
priests and common people,
servants and their masters,
maids and their mistresses,
buyers and sellers,

lenders and borrowers,
people who owe money and people who are owed money.

<sup>3</sup> Nothing that is worth anything will be left on earth;
everything valuable will be destroyed.

That will surely happen because Yahweh has said it.

<sup>4</sup> Everything on the earth will dry up and die;
its important people will become weak and unimportant.

<sup>5</sup> The earth has become unacceptable to Yahweh because the people who live on it have disobeyed his laws;
they have rejected the covenant that he intends to last forever.

<sup>6</sup> Therefore, Yahweh will curse the earth;
the people who live on it must be punished because of the sins that they have committed.

They will be destroyed by fire,
and only a few people will remain alive.

<sup>7</sup> The grapevines will wither,
and there will be no grapes to make wine.

All the people who were previously happy will now groan and mourn.

<sup>8</sup> People will no longer play cheerful songs with tambourines, people will no longer play joyfully on their harps,
and people will no longer shout noisily during their celebrations.

<sup>9</sup> People will no longer sing while they drink wine,
and all their alcoholic drinks will taste bitter.

<sup>10</sup> Towns and cities will be desolate;
every house will be locked to prevent thieves from entering,
for no one will live in them.

<sup>11</sup> Mobs will gather in the streets,
wanting wine;
no one on the earth will be happy anymore.

<sup>12</sup> Cities will be ruined, and all their gates will be battered

- into pieces.
- <sup>13</sup> It will be like that all over the earth:
there will only be a few people still
alive,
like what happens when workers beat all the olives off a tree and there are only a few left,
or when they harvest the grapes and there are only a few left on the vines.
- <sup>14</sup> Those in the west will sing with great happiness;
they will declare that Yahweh is very great.
- <sup>15</sup> Those in the east of Israel will also
praise Yahweh;
those along the coastlines of the sea will praise Yahweh, the God the people Israel worship.
- <sup>16</sup> We will hear people in the most distant places on the earth singing praise to Yahweh, the truly righteous one.
But now, I am very sad.
Weep for me, because I have become thin and weak.
Terrible things are happening!
Treacherous people still betray others everywhere.
- <sup>17</sup> You people all over the earth,
you will be terrified,
and you will fall into deep pits and
traps.
- <sup>18</sup> Those who try to flee because they are terrified
will fall into deep pits,
and those who climb out of the pits
will be caught by traps.
The sky will split open and torrents of rain will fall;
the foundations of the earth will
shake.
- <sup>19</sup> The earth will split apart and be shattered;
it will shake violently.
- <sup>20</sup> It will be as though the earth will stagger like a drunk;
it will shake like a hammock in a windstorm.
It will collapse and not be able to rise
again,
because the guilt of the people who

- rebel against Yahweh is very great.
- <sup>21</sup> At that time, Yahweh will punish the wicked powerful beings in the skies
and the wicked kings on the earth.
- <sup>22</sup> They will all be gathered together and thrown into a dungeon.
They will be shut in that dungeon,
and later they will be punished.
- <sup>23</sup> At that time the light of the moon and
the sun will be lessened;
it will be as though they are ashamed in the presence of Yahweh,
because he, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will rule gloriously on Mount Zion,
in the presence of all the leaders of his people.
- <sup>25</sup> Yahweh, you are my God;
I will honor you and praise you.
You do wonderful things;
you said long ago that you would
do those things,
and now you have done them as you said that you would.
- <sup>2</sup> Sometimes you have caused cities to become heaps of rubble,
cities that had strong walls around
them.
You have caused palaces in foreign countries to disappear;
they will never be rebuilt.
- <sup>3</sup> Therefore, people in powerful nations will declare that you are very great,
and people in nations whose leaders
show mercy to no one will revere you.
- <sup>4</sup> Yahweh, you are like a strong tower
where poor people can find refuge,
a place where needy people can go
when they are distressed.
You are like a place where people can find refuge in a storm
and where they can stay in the shade, out of the hot sun.
People oppress us and show us no mercy,
they are like a storm beating against a wall,
- <sup>5</sup> and like the very strong heat in the dry land.

But you cause the noisy cries of people from foreign nations to be quiet. Like the air cools when a cloud comes overhead, you stop merciless people from singing songs about how great they are.

<sup>6</sup> Here in Jerusalem Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will prepare a wonderful feast for all the people of the world.

It will be a banquet with plenty of good meat and fine well-aged wine.

<sup>7</sup> People here are sad; they are so sad that it is like a dark cloud that hangs over them, like they experience when someone dies.

But Yahweh will enable them to quit being sad.

<sup>8</sup> He will get rid of death forever!

Yahweh our God will cause people to no longer mourn because someone has died.

And he will stop other people insulting and making fun of his land and us his people.

That will surely happen because Yahweh has said it!

We trusted in him, and he has rescued us!

Yahweh, in whom we trusted, has done it; we should rejoice because he has saved us!"

<sup>10</sup> Yahweh will protect and bless Jerusalem.

But he will crush the people in the land of Moab; they will be like straw that is trampled in the manure and left to rot.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh will push down the people of Moab; they will be like a swimmer who pushes down the water with his hands; they will push their hands through the dung but never get out of it.

He will cause them to cease being proud, and he will show that all the things that they have done are worthless.

<sup>12</sup> He will cause armies to tear down the high walls around the cities of Moab; they will fall into pieces and lie in the dust.

26 Some day, people in Judah will sing this song:

"Our city of Jerusalem is strong!

Yahweh protects our city;

He is like a wall that surrounds it.

<sup>2</sup> Open the gates of the city for people who are righteous; allow people who faithfully obey Yahweh to enter the city.

<sup>3</sup> Yahweh, those who trust in you, those who are determined to never doubt you, you will enable them to be perfectly peaceful in their inner beings.

<sup>4</sup> So always trust in Yahweh, because he is forever like a huge rock on top of which we will be safe.

<sup>5</sup> He humbles proud people and destroys cities whose people are arrogant.

He causes those cities to collapse into the dust.

<sup>6</sup> When that happens, poor and oppressed people will trample on the ruins.

<sup>7</sup> But for the righteous people, Yahweh, you do what is right; it is as though you smooth out the paths where they walk.

<sup>8</sup> Yahweh, by obeying your laws we show that we trust you to help us;

and what we desire in our inner beings is that you will be honored.

<sup>9</sup> All during the nights I desire to know you better, and in the mornings I still want to be with you.

When you come to judge and punish people who live on the earth they will learn to do what is right.

<sup>10</sup> But your acting kindly toward wicked

- people does not cause them to do what is good.
- Even in places where people do what is right, the wicked people continue to do what is evil,
and they do not realize that you, Yahweh, are great.
- <sup>11</sup> Yahweh, it is as though your fist was raised up ready to strike them, but they do not realize that. Show them that you are very eager to help your people. If your enemies would realize that, they would be ashamed; make your fire burn them up because they are your enemies.
- <sup>12</sup> Yahweh, we desire that you will allow things to go well for us; all that we have done is what you have enabled us to do.
- <sup>13</sup> Yahweh, our God, other masters have ruled over us, but you are the only one whom we honor.
- <sup>14</sup> Those who ruled us are now gone; they are dead; their spirits have left this earth and they will never live again. You punished those rulers and got rid of them, and people do not even remember them anymore.
- <sup>15</sup> Yahweh, you have enabled our nation to become great; we are more people now, and we have more land, so we thank you.
- <sup>16</sup> Yahweh, when we were distressed, we asked you to help us; when you disciplined us, we could barely speak out any prayer to you.
- <sup>17</sup> Like pregnant women who writhe and cry out when they are giving birth, we suffered very much, too.
- <sup>18</sup> We were pregnant and had severe pain, but nothing good resulted from it. We have not rescued any people or kept their enemies from conquering them, and those in the world who were
- our enemies did not fall in battle.
- <sup>19</sup> But Yahweh's people who have died will become alive again, their corpses will become alive! You whose bodies lie in graves, rise and shout joyfully! His light will be like dew that falls on you, his people who have died, you who are now in the place where the dead people are; he will cause you to live again.
- <sup>20</sup> But now, my fellow Israelites, go home and lock your doors! Hide for a short time, until Yahweh is no longer angry.
- <sup>21</sup> Listen to this: Yahweh will come from heaven to punish all the people on the earth for the sins that they have committed. People will be able to see the blood of those who have been murdered; everyone will at last know all the crimes of murder that have been committed."
- 27 At that time, Yahweh will punish Leviathan, the swift-moving monster, that coiling serpent that lives in the sea. Yahweh will kill it with his sharp, huge, and powerful sword.
- <sup>2</sup> At that time, Yahweh will say, "You Israelite people, who are like a fruitful vineyard, must sing!
- <sup>3</sup> I will protect you like a farmer waters his crops carefully in order that they will grow well.
- I will guard you day and night, in order that no one harms you.
- <sup>4</sup> I am no longer angry with my people; if any of your enemies try to injure you like briars and thorns injure people, I will attack them in battle; I will get rid of them completely,
- <sup>5</sup> unless they request me to protect them; I strongly invite them to make peace with me!"
- <sup>6</sup> There will be a time when the descendants of Jacob will prosper like a plant that has good roots;

they will be like trees that bud and blossom and bear a lot of fruit;
what they do will bless all the people in the world.

- <sup>7</sup> Has Yahweh punished us Israelites like he punished our enemies?
Has he punished us as much as he punished them?
<sup>8</sup> No, he has not done that,
but he did punish us Israelite
people and exiled us;
we were taken away from our land
as though we were struck by a windstorm from the east.
<sup>9</sup> Yahweh did that in order to punish us for our sins
and remove our guilt.
As a result of our being exiled, all the altars to other gods in Israel will be demolished,
and we will be forgiven for the sins
that we have committed.
There will be no more poles for worshiping the goddess Asherah or altars for burning incense to other gods;
they will all be torn down and smashed to bits.
<sup>10</sup> The cities that have strong walls around them will be empty;
like the desert, they will have no
one living in them.
The houses will be abandoned,
and the streets will be full of weeds.
Calves will eat grass there and lie down
there;
they will chew up all the leaves on the trees.
<sup>11</sup> The Israelite people are like dry branches on a tree;
women break them off and use them to make fires under their cooking pots.
Our Israelite people do not have any sense;
so Yahweh, who created them, will not act mercifully toward them
or be kind to them.
<sup>12</sup> However, there will be a time when Yahweh will gather them together again; he will separate them from the people who have conquered them, like people separate wheat from chaff. He will bring them back to Israel, one by one, from the land between the Euphrates River in the northeast and the brook at the border of Egypt in the southwest.<sup>13</sup> At that time, a trumpet will be blown very loudly. And those who were exiled to Assyria and Egypt and who almost died there will return to Jerusalem, to worship Yahweh on Zion, his holy hill.

28 Terrible things will happen to the city of Samaria, the capital of Israel!

It is on a hill above a fertile valley;
the people who live there, who get drunk
by drinking too much wine, are very proud;

it is a beautiful and glorious city,
but some day that beauty will disappear like a flower that wilts and dries up.

<sup>2</sup> Listen to this: Yahweh will cause a great army to attack it.

Their soldiers will be like a huge hailstorm or a very strong wind;
they will be everywhere, like the water of
a huge flood,
and they will smash to the ground
the buildings in Samaria.

<sup>3</sup> The people of Samaria are proud,
but everything that the drunks who live there think is wonderful will be trampled on by their
enemies.

<sup>4</sup> Yes, Samaria is beautiful, set on a hill above a fertile valley, but that beauty
will disappear
like a flower that wilts and dries up.

Whenever someone sees a good fig at the beginning of the season when figs become ripe, he quickly picks and eats it;
similarly, when the enemies of Israel see all the beautiful things
in Samaria,

they will quickly conquer the city
and take away all those things.

<sup>5</sup> At that time, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will be like a glorious wreath of flowers for us Israelite people

who are still alive after being exiled.

<sup>6</sup> He will cause our judges to want to do what is fair when they decide people's cases.

He will enable the soldiers who stand at the city gates to strongly defend the city when our enemies attack it.

<sup>7</sup> But now, our leaders stagger, and the priests and prophets also stagger because of drinking a lot of wine and other alcoholic drinks.

They are not able to think right; they see visions, but they cannot understand what they mean; they are unable to decide things correctly.

<sup>9</sup> Who will he teach so that they can learn about knowledge? Who will listen to him so that he can teach lessons to them so they can learn?

Does he think that we are like little children who no longer drink milk, and that we are like babies who, not long ago, were weaned?

<sup>10</sup> He continually tells us, 'Do this, do that;' first he tells us one rule, then another rule, he tells us only one line at a time."

<sup>11</sup> So now, Yahweh will need to force them to listen to Assyrians speaking to them in a language that they do not understand.

<sup>12</sup> Yahweh told his people long ago, "This is a place where you can rest; you are exhausted from all your travels through the desert, but you will be able to rest in this land."

But they refused to pay attention to what he said.

<sup>13</sup> So Yahweh continues to tell the people of Samaria, one line at a time, "Do this, do that," first one rule and then another rule. But because of their ignoring what God said, they will be attacked and defeated; they will be wounded and snared and captured.

<sup>14</sup> Listen to the word that Yahweh says, you who rule over the people of Jerusalem, you who mock and make fun of me!

<sup>15</sup> You boast and say, "We made a promise with death to ensure that the power of death, when it passes over us, it cannot get to us. We tried to turn our lying words into a shelter in which we could hide.

<sup>16</sup> Therefore, Yahweh our Lord says this: "Listen to this! I am going to place in Jerusalem someone who is like a foundation stone, he is like a stone that has been tested to determine if it is solid. He will be like a valuable stone on which which it will be safe to build a house; and whoever trusts in him will never be disappointed.

<sup>17</sup> I will test you people of Jerusalem to find out if you will act justly and righteously, I will measure your character like a carpenter uses a plumb line to determine if a wall is straight and level.

And then the hail will fall! And it will destroy everything you have. Your shelter will be destroyed because it is built on a foundation of lies, and the water from the storm will wash your shelter away.

<sup>18</sup> I will cancel the covenant that you made with death, and I will bring to an end the covenant you made with the place where the dead dwell. But when the vast flood comes, it will pour over you; and day after day it will pass over you.

<sup>19</sup> When the flood comes, it will pass through and over you like the river

- when it overflows its banks and causes flooding everywhere.
- When you finally understand the message of Yahweh, it will cause you to be terrified, not comforted.
- For the bed is too short to stretch oneself on, and the covering too narrow to wrap oneself in.<sup>20</sup> You have heard people say, "Your bed is very short; you will not be able to sleep in it; your blankets are very narrow; they will not cover you!"
- <sup>21</sup> Yahweh will come and cause you to be defeated; he will do to you like he did to the army of Philistia at Mount Perizim, and like he did to the Amorites at Gibeon Valley.
- What he will do will be very strange and unusual.
- <sup>22</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, has told me that he is going to destroy the entire land.
- So do not ridicule what I say anymore, because if you do that, he will punish you even more severely.
- <sup>23</sup> Listen to what I say; pay attention carefully.
- <sup>24</sup> When a farmer plows some ground, does he never plant seeds? Does he continue to plow it and never plant anything?
- <sup>25</sup> No, he makes the ground very level, and then he plants seeds— caraway seed and cumin and wheat and barley.
- He plants each kind of seed in the correct manner. He does not plant one kind of seed in the way that is not right for it.
- <sup>26</sup> He does that because God has taught him the correct way to do it.
- <sup>27</sup> Moreover, the caraway seed is not threshed with a sledge, nor is a cartwheel rolled over the cumin; but caraway is beaten with a stick, and the cumin with a rod.
- <sup>28</sup> And grain for baking bread is crushed easily, so the farmers do not continue to pound it for a long time. They sometimes cause their horses to pull a cart over it to thresh it, but doing that does not grind the grain.

<sup>29</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, gives us wonderful advice about how to do things; he gives us great wisdom.

So what the farmers do is very smart, but what your leaders are doing is very stupid.

29 This is a message from Yahweh: Terrible things will happen to Jerusalem, the city where King David lived. You people continue to celebrate your festivals each year.

<sup>2</sup> But I will cause you to experience a great disaster, and when that happens, people will weep and lament very much.

Your city will become like an altar to me where people are burned as sacrifices.

<sup>3</sup> I will cause your enemies to come and camp all around your city; they will surround it by building towers and putting in place other things with which to attack you.

<sup>4</sup> Then you will talk as though you were buried deep in the ground; it will sound like someone whispering from under the ground, like a ghost speaking from a grave.

<sup>5</sup> But suddenly your enemies will be blown away like dust; their armies will disappear like chaff that is blown away by the wind.

It will happen very suddenly:

<sup>6</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will come to help you with thunder and an earthquake and a very loud noise, with a strong wind and a big storm and a fire that will burn up

- everything.
- <sup>7</sup> Then the armies of all the nations that will be attacking Jerusalem will quickly disappear like a dream in the night.
- Those who will be attacking Jerusalem will suddenly vanish.
- <sup>8</sup> People who are asleep dream about eating food, but when they wake up, they are still hungry.
- People who are thirsty dream about drinking something, but when they wake up they are still thirsty.
- It will be like that when your enemies come to attack Mount Zion; they will dream about conquering you, but when they wake up, they will realize that they have not succeeded.
- <sup>9</sup> You people of Jerusalem, be amazed and surprised about this! Do not believe what I have said! And continue to be blind about what Yahweh is doing.
- You are stupid, but it is not because you have drunk a lot of wine. You stagger, but not from drinking alcoholic drinks.
- <sup>10</sup> Because Yahweh has prevented the prophets from understanding and telling you his messages, it is as though he had made you go fast asleep.
- <sup>11</sup> Yahweh gave me visions; but for you, they are only words on a scroll that is sealed shut. If you give it to those who can read and request they read it, they will say, "We cannot read it because the scroll is sealed." <sup>12</sup> When you give it to others who cannot read, they will say, "We cannot read it because we do not know how to read."
- <sup>13</sup> So the Lord says, "These people pretend to worship me. They say good things to pretend to honor me, but they do not think about what I desire.
- When they worship me, all they do is recite rules that people
- have made and that they have memorized.
- <sup>14</sup> Therefore, again I will do something to amaze these people; I will perform many miracles. And I will show that the people who tell others that they are wise are not really wise, and I will show that the people who tell others that they are intelligent are not really intelligent.
- <sup>15</sup> Terrible things will happen to those who try to conceal from me, Yahweh, the evil things that they plan to do; they do those deeds in the darkness and they think, 'Yahweh certainly cannot see us; he cannot know what we are doing!'
- <sup>16</sup> They are extremely foolish! They act as though they were the potters and I were the clay! Something that was created should certainly never say to the one who made it, "You did not make me!" A jar should never say, "The potter who made me did not know what he was doing!"
- <sup>17</sup> Soon the forests in Lebanon will become fertile fields, and abundant crops will grow in those fields, and that will happen very soon.
- <sup>18</sup> At that time, deaf people will be able to hear; they will be able to hear when someone reads from a book; and blind people will be able to see; they will be able to see things when it is gloomy and even when it is dark.
- <sup>19</sup> Yahweh will enable humble people to be very joyful again. Poor people will rejoice about what the Holy One of Israel has done.
- <sup>20</sup> There will be no more people who ridicule others and no more arrogant people.

And those who plan to do evil things will be executed.

<sup>21</sup> Those who testify falsely in order to persuade judges to punish innocent people will vanish.

Similar things will happen to those who by lying in court persuade the judges to make unjust decisions.

<sup>22</sup> That is why Yahweh, who rescued Abraham, says about the people of Israel, "My people will no longer be ashamed; no longer will they show on their faces that they are ashamed."

<sup>23</sup> When they see that I have blessed them by giving them many children, and all that I have done for them, they will honor the holy name of the Holy One of Israel, and they will revere me, the God to whom they, the descendants of Jacob, belong.

<sup>24</sup> When that happens, those who are not able to think well will think clearly, and those who complain about what I am doing will accept what I am teaching them."

30 Yahweh says, "Terrible things will happen to you, my people who rebel against me.

You make plans, but what you plan is not what I want.

You have made an alliance with the rulers of Egypt, but you did not ask my Spirit if that was what you should do.

By doing that, you have increased the number of your sins.

<sup>2</sup> You went to Egypt to ask their rulers for help, without asking for my advice.

You have trusted in the army of the king of Egypt to protect you; you have trusted in them like people sit in the shade to protect themselves from the sun.

<sup>3</sup> But the result of your trusting in the king of Egypt is that you will be disappointed and disgraced; because you trust in him, you will be humiliated.

<sup>4</sup> Officials from Judah have gone to the cities of Zoan and Hanes in Egypt to make treaties,

<sup>5</sup> but all those who trust in the king of Egypt will be humiliated, because that nation will not be able to help you; the treaty that you have made requesting help from them will be useless; instead, the result will be that you will be humiliated and disgraced."

<sup>6</sup> Isaiah received from Yahweh this message about the animals in the southern part of Judah, the desert part:

That area is one where people experience a lot of troubles and difficulties, an area where there are male and female lions and various kinds of poisonous snakes.

Caravans go through that area taking donkeys and camels loaded with valuable goods.

They are taking them to Egypt because they hope that the army of Egypt will protect them, but it will be useless.

therefore I call Egypt 'Useless Rahab, the sea monster that does nothing.'

<sup>8</sup> Yahweh told me to write on a scroll a message, in order that it would be a witness to the people of Judah that would endure forever.

<sup>9</sup> It would remind them that they are deceitful and always rebelling against Yahweh, and that they refuse to pay attention to what he tells them.

<sup>10</sup> They tell the people who see visions from Yahweh,

"Stop seeing visions!"

They tell the prophets,

"Do not reveal to us what is right!

Tell us pleasant things;

do not tell us visions about things that are true!"

<sup>11</sup> Stop doing what you have been doing;
stop telling us what the Holy One of Israel says to us!"

<sup>12</sup> Therefore, this is what the Holy One of Israel says:

"You have rejected my message, and you are relying on those who oppress and deceive others.

<sup>13</sup> Therefore, the result of your sin of rejecting me will be that you will suddenly experience disasters;
what will happen to you will be like a cracked wall that suddenly collapses on you."

<sup>14</sup> You will be smashed like a clay jar is smashed when it is dropped and shatters completely, with the result that there is not one piece big enough to sweep out cinders from a stove or to carry a little bit of water from a well.

<sup>15</sup> Yahweh, our God, the Holy One of Israel, also says this:

"I will rescue you from your enemies only if you repent and trust in what I will do for you;
you will be strong only if you quit
worrying and trust in me.

But you do not want to do that.

<sup>16</sup> You said, 'No, we will escape on horses that the army of Egypt will give us!'
So you will try to escape.

You said, 'We will escape from the army of Assyria by riding on swift horses!'
But those who pursue you will also ride swiftly.

<sup>17</sup> As a result, a thousand of you will flee
when only one of them pursues you!
When five of their soldiers threaten to kill
you,

all of you will flee.

Only a few of you will be left, like a single flagpole on top of a mountain, or like one single signal flag on a hilltop."

<sup>18</sup> But Yahweh wants to act kindly toward
you;
he is great because he desires to act
mercifully.

Do not forget he is a God who acts justly; Yahweh is pleased with those who patiently trust in him.

<sup>19</sup> You people who live in Jerusalem, some day you will not cry anymore. Yahweh will be kind to you when you call out to him for help.
He will answer you as soon as he hears you call.

<sup>20</sup> Although now Yahweh has brought poverty on you, he, your teacher, will not hide himself from you. He will teach you many things clearly. <sup>21</sup> And you will hear him speak to you to guide you. Right behind you he will say,
"This is the road on which you should walk;
walk on this road!" <sup>22</sup> When that happens, you will destroy all your idols that are covered with silver or gold. You will throw them away like you throw away a filthy rag, and you will say to them, "We do not need you anymore!"

<sup>23</sup> If you do that, Yahweh will bless you by giving you good rain at the time that you plant your crops. You will have good harvests and plenty of big fields with grass for your cattle to eat. <sup>24</sup> After the wind blows away the chaff, the oxen and donkeys that pull the plow over your ground will have good grain to eat. <sup>25</sup> At that time, when your enemies have been slaughtered and their towers have collapsed, there will be streams flowing down every hill and mountain in Judah. <sup>26</sup> The moon will seem to shine as brightly as the sun, and the sun will seem to shine seven times as brightly as previously.

That is what it will be like when Yahweh causes the suffering of his people to cease; it will be as though he is putting bandages on their wounds and healing them.

<sup>27</sup> It is as though we see Yahweh coming from far away;
he is extremely angry,

and there are thick clouds of smoke
around him.

By what he says he shows that he is
angry;
what he says is like a devastating
fire.

<sup>28</sup> His breath is like a flood that covers his enemies up to their necks.

He will separate the nations in order to destroy some of them;
it is as though he will put horses'
bridles on them so he can lead them away to destruction.

<sup>29</sup> But his people will sing joyfully
like they sing during the nights

when they celebrate a holy festival.

They will be very joyful, like a large group of his people are joyful when they go up to Mount Zion in Jerusalem, along with men playing flutes when they are all going there to worship Yahweh.

He is like a huge rock on top of which we Israelite people are safe.

<sup>30</sup> And Yahweh will enable us to hear him speaking powerfully. He will show us that he is very powerful.

We will see him smash his enemies. Being very angry, he will descend with a big rainstorm and thunder and hail to punish them.

<sup>31</sup> The soldiers of Assyria will be terrified when they hear the voice of Yahweh and when he strikes them with his rod.

<sup>32</sup> And while Yahweh strikes them to punish them, his people will celebrate by playing tambourines and harps.

It will be as though Yahweh will lift up his powerful hand and defeat the Assyrian army in battle.

<sup>33</sup> The Valley of Topheth outside Jerusalem has been prepared for a long time; it is ready for the king of Assyria; the funeral pyre for burning his body is wide and high, and it will be as though Yahweh will light the fire with his breath, which will come out like a stream of burning sulfur.

31 Terrible things will happen to those who rely on Egypt to help them, trusting in their soldiers' horses and their many chariots and their many chariot drivers, instead of trusting that Yahweh, the Holy One of Israel, will help them.

<sup>2</sup> Yahweh is very wise, but he also causes people to experience disaster!

And when he decides to do that, he does not change his mind! He will strike the wicked people and all those who help them.

<sup>3</sup> The soldiers of Egypt that you people of Judah are relying on are humans, not God!

And their horses are only horses; they are not powerful spirits!

So when Yahweh raises his fist to strike the soldiers of Egypt whom you thought would help you, he will also strike you who thought that you would be helped, and you and they will stumble and fall down;

all of you will die together.

<sup>4</sup> But this is what Yahweh said to me: "When a lion stands and growls over the body of a sheep that he has killed, even if a large group of shepherds comes to chase away the lion, even if they shout loudly, the lion will not be afraid and will not leave.

Similarly, I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will come down to fight my enemies on Mount Zion, and nothing will stop me.

<sup>5</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will protect Jerusalem like a mother bird hovers over the baby birds in her nest.

He will defend the city and rescue it from its enemies."

<sup>6</sup> My people, even though you have greatly rebelled against Yahweh, return to him. <sup>7</sup> When you do that, each of you will throw away the idols that you have made in sin, idols that are covered with silver and gold.

<sup>8</sup> The Assyrian soldiers will be killed, but not by swords that men use. They will be destroyed by the sword of God;

and those who are not killed will panic and flee.

And some of them will be captured and forced to become slaves.

- <sup>9</sup> Even their very strong soldiers will be terrified;
their leaders will abandon all hope
and run away from Yahweh's power!
- Yahweh's presence on Mount Zion is like a fire,
like a furnace that blazes in Jerusalem.
This is what Yahweh says about the Assyrian army!
- 32 Listen to this! Some day there will be a righteous king, and his officials will help him to rule justly.
- <sup>2</sup> Each of them will be like a shelter from the wind and a refuge from the storm.
They will be like streams of water in the desert,
like the shade under a huge rock in a very hot and dry land.
- <sup>3</sup> When that happens, those leaders will enable people who have not understood God's truth to understand it, and they will enable those who have not paid attention to God's truth to pay attention to it.
- <sup>4</sup> Even those who act very hastily will have good sense, and those who cannot speak well will speak fluently and clearly.
- <sup>5</sup> At that time, people who are foolish will no longer be admired,
and scoundrels will no longer be respected.
- <sup>6</sup> Foolish people say things that are foolish,
and they plan to do evil things.
Their behavior is disgraceful,
and they say things about Yahweh that are false.
They do not give food to those who are hungry,
and they do not give water to those who are thirsty.
- <sup>7</sup> Scoundrels do things that are evil and that deceive people;
they plan to do evil things;
by telling lies in court they cause poor

- people to have trouble,
even when what the poor people are requesting is fair.
- <sup>8</sup> But honorable people plan to do honorable things,
and they do those honorable things, so they succeed.
- <sup>9</sup> You women of Jerusalem who think that you are very secure and think that everything is going well, listen to what I say!
- <sup>10</sup> After one year is ended, you who now are not worried about anything will tremble,
because there will be no grapes for you to harvest and no other crops to harvest.
- <sup>11</sup> So tremble now, you women who are not worried about anything!
Take off your fancy clothes and put rough sackcloth around your waists.
- <sup>12</sup> You will wail because you are grieving about what will happen in your fertile fields and to your fruitful grapevines,
- <sup>13</sup> because only thorns and thistles will grow in your soil.
Your houses where you had joyful parties and your city where you have been happy will be gone.
- <sup>14</sup> The king's palace will be empty;
there will be no people in the city that now is very noisy.
Wild donkeys will walk around and flocks of sheep will eat grass in the empty forts and watchtowers.
- <sup>15</sup> It will be like that until God pours his Spirit out on us from heaven.
When that happens, the deserts will become fertile fields,
and abundant crops will grow in those fertile fields.
- <sup>16</sup> People will act justly in those desert areas,
and people will act righteously in those fertile fields.
- <sup>17</sup> The result of their acting righteously will be that there will be peace,

the land will be tranquil, and people will be secure forever.

<sup>18</sup> My people will live in their homes peacefully, and safely, and calmly, in places of rest.

<sup>19</sup> Even if a severe hailstorm knocks down the trees in the forest, and all the buildings in the city are blown down,

<sup>20</sup> Yahweh will greatly bless you; you will plant seeds in fields alongside the streams and there will be abundant crops. Your donkeys and cattle will easily find grass to eat when you send them out into pasture.

33 Terrible things will happen to you people of Assyria!

You have destroyed others, but you have not been destroyed yet.

You have betrayed others, but you have not been betrayed yet.

When you stop destroying others, others will destroy you.

When you stop betraying others, others will betray you.

<sup>2</sup> Yahweh, act kindly toward us, because we have patiently waited for you to help us.

Enable us to be strong every day, and rescue us when we have troubles.

When you stand up and show that you are powerful, the people of all nations flee.

we, your people, will take away all our enemies' possessions, like caterpillars and locusts strip off all the leaves of plants.

<sup>5</sup> Yahweh is greater than anyone else, and he lives in heaven, and he will rule justly and righteously in Jerusalem.

<sup>6</sup> When that happens, he will enable you to live securely; he will fully protect your possessions, he will enable you to be wise and to know all that you need to know;

and revering Yahweh will be like a valuable treasure that he will give to you.

<sup>7</sup> But now, look, our messengers are crying out in the streets; our ambassadors have gone to other countries to make peace treaties, but they will cry bitterly because they will not succeed.

<sup>8</sup> No one travels on our roads. The leaders of Assyria have broken their peace treaty with us; they despise the people who made those treaties, and they do not respect anyone.

<sup>9</sup> The land of Judah is dry and barren. The cedar trees in Lebanon are drying up and decaying.

The Plain of Sharon along the coast is now a desert plain.

There are no more leaves on the trees in the areas of Bashan and Carmel.

<sup>10</sup> Yahweh says, "Now I will arise and show that I deserve for everyone to honor me.

<sup>11</sup> You people of Assyria make plans that are as useless as chaff and straw. Your breath will become a fire that will burn you up.

<sup>12</sup> Your people will be burned until only ashes remain, like thornbushes are cut down and burned up.

<sup>13</sup> You people who live far away and you people who live nearby, pay attention to what I have done and realize that I am very powerful."

<sup>14</sup> The sinners in Jerusalem will tremble because they are very afraid; godless people will be terrified.

They say, "None of us can remain alive because this fire is burning everything; it is like the fire on Yahweh's altar that will burn forever!"

- <sup>15</sup> Those who act honestly and say what is right,
those who do not try to become rich by forcing money from people,
those who do not try to get bribes,
those who refuse to listen to people who are planning to murder someone,
those who do not join others who urge them to do what is wrong, <sup>16</sup> they are the people who will live safely; they will find places to be safe in the caves in the mountains.
They will have plenty of food and water.
<sup>17</sup> You people of Judah will see the king wearing all his beautiful robes, and you will see that he rules a land that extends far away.
<sup>18</sup> When you see that, you will think about when you were previously terrified, and you will say, "The officers of Assyria who counted the tax money that we were forced to pay to them have disappeared!
Those men who counted our towers are gone!"
<sup>19</sup> Those arrogant people who spoke a language that we could not understand are no longer here!"
<sup>20</sup> At that time, you will see Mount Zion, the place where we celebrate our festivals;
You will see that Jerusalem has become a place that is calm and safe.
It will be secure,
like a tent that cannot be moved because its ropes are tight and its stakes are firmly in the ground.
<sup>21</sup> Yahweh will be our mighty God; he will be like a mighty river that will protect us because our enemies will not be able to cross it; no one will be able to row across it and no warships will be able to sail across it.

- <sup>22</sup> Yahweh is our judge; he is the one who gives us laws, and he is our king.
He will rescue us.
<sup>23</sup> The ropes on our enemies' boats will hang loose, their masts will not be fastened firmly, and their sails will not be spread out.
The treasures that they have seized will be divided among us, God's people, and even lame people among us will get some.
<sup>24</sup> And the people in Jerusalem will no longer say, "We are sick," because Yahweh will forgive the sins that have been committed by the people who live there.
- 34 You people of all nations, come near and listen;
pay careful attention.
I want the world and everything that is in it to hear what I say.
<sup>2</sup> Yahweh is angry with the people of all nations;
he is furious with all their armies.
He has decided that they must be destroyed,
and he will slaughter them.
<sup>3</sup> Their corpses will not be buried, and as a result their bodies will stink,
and the mountains will collapse because of their blood.
<sup>4</sup> The sky will disappear like a scroll that is rolled up and thrown away.
Stars will fall from the sky like withered leaves fall from grapevines, or like shriveled figs fall from fig trees.
<sup>5</sup> When Yahweh has finished his work of destroying objects in the sky, he will punish the people of Edom, the people group that he has said must be destroyed.
<sup>6</sup> It is as though Yahweh will have a sword that is covered with blood and fat—the blood of lambs and goats and the fat of the kidneys of rams to be sacrificed.

It is as though Yahweh will offer a sacrifice in Bozrah and kill many people in other cities in Edom.

<sup>7</sup> Even wild oxen will be killed, as well as young calves and big bulls.

The ground will be soaked with blood, and the dirt will be covered with the fat of those animals.

<sup>8</sup> That will be the time when Yahweh gets revenge for what those people did to the people of Judah.

<sup>9</sup> The streams in Edom will be full of burning pitch, and the ground will be covered with burning sulfur and burning pitch.

<sup>10</sup> Yahweh will never finish punishing Edom with fire; the smoke will rise forever.

No one will ever live in that land, and no one will even travel through it.

<sup>11</sup> Ravens and various kinds of owls and small animals will live there.

Yahweh will measure that land carefully; he will measure it to decide where to cause chaos and destruction.

<sup>12</sup> There will be no more princes; the people who have authority will have no kingdom to rule; the princes will disappear.

<sup>13</sup> The deserted palaces and fortified buildings will be full of thorns and thistles.

The ruins will be places for jackals and ostriches to live.

<sup>14</sup> Animals that live in the desert and hyenas will be there, and wild goats will bleat to each other.

There will also be creatures that roam around at night and rest there.

<sup>15</sup> Owls will make their nests there and lay their eggs in the nests; and when the eggs hatch, the mother birds will cover them with their wings.

There will also be hawks there, each with its mate.

<sup>16</sup> If you read what is written in the book that contains messages from Yahweh, you will find out what he will do to Edom.

All of those animals and birds will be there, and each one will have a mate, because that is what Yahweh has promised, and his spirit will cause them all to gather there.

<sup>17</sup> He has decided what parts of the land of Edom each will live in, and those are the places where each bird or animal will live.

Their descendants will possess those areas forever, throughout all generations.

35 Some day, it will be as though the desert and other very dry areas are glad; the desert will rejoice and flowers will blossom.

Like the rose,
<sup>2</sup> the desert will produce flowers abundantly; it will be as though everything is rejoicing and singing!

The deserts will become as beautiful as the trees in Lebanon, as fertile as the plains of the Sharon and the area of Carmel.

There people will see the glory of Yahweh;

they will see that he is magnificent.

<sup>4</sup> Say to those who are afraid, "Be strong and do not be afraid, because our God is going to come to get revenge on his enemies; he will pay them back for what they have done, and he will rescue you."

<sup>5</sup> When he does that, he will enable blind people to see and enable deaf people to hear.

<sup>6</sup> Lame people will leap like deer, and those who have been unable to speak will sing joyfully.

Water will gush out from springs in the

- desert,
and streams will flow in the desert.
- <sup>7</sup>The very hot and dry ground will become a pool of water,
and springs will provide water for the dry land.
- Grass and reeds and papyrus will grow in places where the jackals lived previously.
- <sup>8</sup>There will be a highway through that land;
it will be called 'the Holy Highway.'
- People who are not acceptable to God will not walk on that road;
it will be only for those who conduct their lives as God wants them to,
- and no wicked fools will walk on that road.
- <sup>9</sup>There will not be any lions there or any other dangerous animals along that road.

Only those whom Yahweh has set free will walk on it.

<sup>10</sup>Those whom Yahweh has freed will return to Jerusalem;
they will sing as they enter the city,
and they will be extremely joyful forever.

No longer will they be sad or mourn;
they will be completely joyful and glad.

36 When King Hezekiah had been ruling Judah for almost fourteen years, King Sennacherib of Assyria came with his army to attack the cities in Judah that had walls around them. They did not conquer Jerusalem, but they conquered all the other cities. <sup>2</sup>Then the king of Assyria sent a large army with some of his important officials from the city of Lachish to persuade King Hezekiah to surrender. When they arrived at Jerusalem, they stood alongside the aqueduct in which water flows into the upper pool into Jerusalem, near the road to the field where the women wash clothes. <sup>3</sup>The Israelite officials who went out of the city to talk with them were Hilkiah's son Eliakim, the palace administrator, Shebna the king's secretary, and Asaph's son Joah, who wrote down the government decisions.

officials told them to take a message to Hezekiah

from the king of Assyria, the great king. In the message, the king said to the people of Jerusalem, "What are you trusting in to rescue you? <sup>5</sup>You say that you have weapons to fight us and that some other nation has promised to help you, but that is only talk. Who do you think will help you to rebel against my soldiers from Assyria? <sup>6</sup>Listen to me! You are relying on the army of Egypt. But that is like when a man tries to walk while leaning on a broken reed for a walking stick. But it would pierce the hand of anyone who would lean on it! That is what the king of Egypt is like for anyone who relies on him for help. <sup>7</sup>But perhaps you will say to me that you are relying on Yahweh your God to help you. In that case, I would answer that Yahweh is the one whom Hezekiah insulted by tearing down his high places and altars and forcing everyone in Jerusalem and other places in Judah to worship only in front of the altar in Jerusalem."

<sup>8</sup>The Assyrian official talking in front of the city continued: "So I suggest that you make a deal with my master, the king of Assyria. I will give you two thousand horses, but I do not think that you can find two thousand of your own men who can ride on them! <sup>9</sup>You are expecting the king of Egypt to send chariots and men riding horses to assist you. But they certainly would not be able to resist even the most insignificant official in the army of Assyria! <sup>10</sup>Furthermore, do not think that we have come here to attack and destroy this land without Yahweh's orders! It is Yahweh himself who told us to come here and destroy this land!"

<sup>11</sup>Then Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah said to the official from Assyria, "Please speak to us in your Aramaic language, because we understand it. Do not speak to us in our Hebrew language, because the people who are standing on the wall will understand it and become frightened."

<sup>12</sup>But the official replied, "Do you think that my master sent me to say these things only to you, and not to the people standing on the wall? If you reject this message, the people in this city will soon need to eat their own dung and drink their own urine, just as you will,

because you will have nothing else to eat."

<sup>13</sup>Then the official stood up and shouted in the Hebrew language to the people sitting on the wall. He said, "Listen to this message from the great king, the king of Assyria! <sup>14</sup>He says, 'Do not allow Hezekiah to deceive you! He will not be able to rescue you! <sup>15</sup>Do not allow him to persuade you to trust in Yahweh, saying that Yahweh will rescue you, and that the army of the king of Assyria will never capture this city!'

<sup>18</sup>Do not allow Hezekiah to trick you by saying, "Yahweh will rescue us." The gods that people of other nations worship have never rescued any of them from the power of the king of Assyria! <sup>19</sup>Why were the gods of Hamath and Arpad cities, and the gods of Sepharvaim unable to rescue Samaria from my power? <sup>20</sup>No, no god of any nation which our armies have attacked has been able to rescue their people from me. So why do you think that Yahweh will rescue you people of Jerusalem from my power?"

<sup>21</sup>But the Hebrew soldiers who were listening were silent. No one said anything, because King Hezekiah had commanded them, "When the official from Assyria talks to you, do not answer him."

<sup>22</sup>Then Eliakim and Shebna and Joah returned to Hezekiah with their clothes torn because they were extremely distressed. They told him what the official from Assyria had said.

37 When King Hezekiah heard what they reported, he tore his clothes and put on clothes made of rough sackcloth because he was very distressed. Then he went into the temple of Yahweh and prayed. <sup>2</sup>Then he sent Eliakim, Shebna, and the older priests, who were also wearing clothes made of rough sackcloth, to talk to Isaiah the prophet, son of Amoz. <sup>3</sup>They told him, "Say this to Isaiah: 'King Hezekiah says that this is a day when we have great distress. Other nations are insulting and shaming us. We are like a woman who is about to give birth to a baby, but she does not have the strength that she needs to do it. <sup>4</sup>But perhaps Yahweh our God has heard what the official from Assyria said. Perhaps God knows that the king of Assyria has sent his official to insult him, the all-powerful God. Perhaps Yahweh will punish the king of Assyria for what he said. And I, Hezekiah, request that you pray for the few of us who are still alive here in Jerusalem.'"

<sup>5</sup>After those men gave Isaiah that message, <sup>6</sup>he told them to say to the king that Yahweh says: "Those lackeys from the king of Assyria have said evil things about me. But do not let them worry you. <sup>7</sup>Listen to this: I will make Sennacherib hear some news from his own country that will worry him very much. So he will go back there, and I will make other men to assassinate him with their swords."

<sup>8</sup>The official from Assyria learned that his king and the army of Assyria had left the city of Lachish and were now attacking Libnah, a nearby city. So the official left Jerusalem and went to Libnah to report to the king what had happened in Jerusalem.

<sup>9</sup>Soon after that, King Sennacherib received a report that King Tirhakah of Ethiopia was leading his army to attack them. So he sent other messengers to Hezekiah with a letter. In the letter he wrote this to Hezekiah:

<sup>10</sup>"Do not allow your god, on whom you are relying, to deceive you by promising that he will keep my army from capturing Jerusalem."

<sup>11</sup>You have certainly heard what the armies of the kings of Assyria before me did to all the other countries; our armies destroyed them completely. So you really do not think that you will escape from me, do you? <sup>12</sup>Did the gods of those nations rescue them? Did they rescue the region of Gozan, or the cities of Haran and Rezeph in northern Aram, or the people of the region of Eden in the city of Tel Assar? <sup>13</sup>What happened to the king of Hamath and the king of Arpad? What happened to the kings of the cities of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivvah? Did their gods rescue them?"

<sup>14</sup>Hezekiah received the letter that the messengers gave him, and he read it. Then he went up to the temple and spread out the letter in front of Yahweh. <sup>15</sup>Then Hezekiah prayed this: <sup>16</sup>"Yahweh, Commander of the angel armies, the God to whom we Israelites belong, you are seated on your throne above the statues of the cherubim, above the sacred chest. Only you are truly God. You rule all the kingdoms on this earth. You are the one who created everything on the earth and in the sky. <sup>17</sup>So, Yahweh, please listen to what I am saying, and look at what is happening! And listen to what Sennacherib has said to insult you, the all-powerful God!"

<sup>18</sup>Yahweh, it is true that the armies of the kings of Assyria have completely destroyed many nations and ruined their land. <sup>19</sup>And they have thrown all the idols of those nations into fires and burned them. But they were not really gods. They were only idols made of wood and stone, and that is why they were able to be destroyed. <sup>20</sup>So now, Yahweh our God, please rescue us from the power of the king of Assyria, in order that the people in all the kingdoms of the world may know that you, Yahweh, are the only one who is truly God."

<sup>21</sup>Then Isaiah sent a message to tell Hezekiah that Yahweh, whom the Israelites worshiped, said this to him: "Because you prayed about what King Sennacherib of Assyria said,<sup>22</sup> this is what I say to him:

'The people of Jerusalem despise you and make fun of you.

They will wag their heads to mock you while you flee from here.

<sup>23</sup>Who do you think you have been despising and ridiculing?

Who do you think you were shouting at?

Who do you think you were looking at very proudly?

It was I, the Holy One whom the Israelites worship!

You said, "With my many chariots I have gone to the highest mountains, to the highest mountains in Lebanon.

We have cut down its tallest cedar trees and its nicest pine trees.

We have been to the most distant peaks and to its densest forests.

<sup>25</sup>We have dug wells in many countries and drunk water from them.

And by marching through the streams of Egypt,
we dried them all up!"

<sup>26</sup>But I reply to him, 'Have you never heard that long ago I determined those things;

I planned it long ago,
and now I have been causing it to occur.

I planned that your army would destroy cities
and cause them to become piles of rubble.

<sup>27</sup>The people in those cities have no power,
and as a result they are dismayed and discouraged.

They are as frail as grass and plants in the fields,
as frail as grass that grows on the roofs of houses
and is scorched by the hot east wind.

<sup>28</sup>But I know everything about you;
I know when you are in your house
and when you go outside;
I also know that you are raging against me.

<sup>29</sup>So because you have raged against me and because I have heard you speak very proudly, it will be as though I will put a hook in your nose and an iron bit in your mouth in order that I can take you where I wish,

and I will force you to return to your own country, on the same road on which you came here, without conquering Jerusalem."

<sup>30</sup>"This will prove to you, Hezekiah that it is I, Yahweh, who will make all this happen:
This year, you will eat only the crops that grow by themselves, and next year the same thing will happen.

But in the third year you will plant crops and harvest them; you will take care of your vineyards and eat the grapes.

<sup>31</sup> You people who are still here in Judah, will be strong and prosper again.

That will happen because Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, is desiring very much to accomplish it."

'His armies will not enter Jerusalem; they will not even shoot a single arrow into it.

His soldiers will not bring one shield up to Jerusalem, and they will not build high mounds of dirt against the walls of the city to enable them to attack the city.

<sup>34</sup> Instead, their king will return to his own country on the same road on which he came here.

He will not enter this city!

That will happen because I, Yahweh, have said it!

<sup>35</sup> For the sake of my own reputation and because of what I promised King David, who served me well, I will defend this city and prevent it from being destroyed."

<sup>36</sup> That night, an angel from Yahweh went out to where the army of Assyria had set up their tents and killed 185,000 of their soldiers. When the rest of the soldiers woke up the next morning, they saw that there were corpses everywhere. <sup>37</sup> Then King Sennacherib left and returned home to Nineveh in Assyria and stayed there.

<sup>38</sup> One day, when he was worshiping in the temple of his god Nisrok, his two sons, Adrammelek and Sharezer, killed him with their swords. Then they escaped and went to the region of Ararat northwest of Nineveh. And another of Sennacherib's sons, Esarhaddon, became the king of Assyria.

38 About that time, Hezekiah became very ill and was close to dying. So Isaiah went to see him and gave him this message: "This is what Yahweh says: 'You should tell the people in your palace what you want them to do after you die because you will not recover from this illness. You are going to die'"

<sup>2</sup> Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall, and prayed this: <sup>3</sup>"Yahweh, do not forget that I have always served you faithfully with all my inner being, and I have done things that pleased you!" Then Hezekiah started to cry loudly.

<sup>4</sup> Then Yahweh gave Isaiah this message: <sup>5</sup>"Go back to Hezekiah and tell him that this is what I, the God to whom your ancestor King David belonged, say: 'I have heard what you prayed, and I have seen you crying. So listen: I will enable you to live fifteen years more. <sup>6</sup> And I will rescue and this city from the power of the king of Assyria. I will defend this city.'

<sup>7</sup> And this is what I will do to prove that I will do what I have just now promised. <sup>8</sup>I will cause the shadow of the sun to move ten steps backward on the stairs that were built by King Ahaz." So the shadow of the sun on the stairs moved backward ten steps.

<sup>10</sup>I said to myself, "In the middle of my life I am about to walk through the gates of death, and Yahweh is taking from me the rest of my years.

<sup>11</sup>I said, "I will not see Yahweh again in this world where people are alive. I will not see my friends again, or be with others who now are alive in this world.

<sup>12</sup>It is as if my life had been taken away like a tent whose pegs have been pulled up by a shepherd and taken away.

I have to roll up my life like a weaver, like a piece of cloth that a weaver cuts and rolls up, Yahweh has cut off my life."

Between morning and evening he will kill me off.

<sup>13</sup>I waited patiently all during the night,

but my pain was as though I were being torn apart by lions.
Between morning and evening he will kill me off.

<sup>14</sup>I was delirious; I chirped like a swift or a swallow
and moaned like a dove.

My eyes became tired looking up toward heaven for help.

I cried out, 'Yahweh, help me,
because I am distressed!'

<sup>15</sup>But there was really nothing that I could say and ask him to reply to me, because it was Yahweh who sent
this illness.

So now I will live humbly during my remaining years
because I am very anguished within
myself.

<sup>16</sup>Yahweh, the sufferings that you give are
good,
because what you do and what you say bring new life and health to
me.

And you have restored me
and allowed me to continue to live!
<sup>17</sup>Truly, my suffering was good for me;
you loved me,
and as a result you have rescued me from
dying
and have also forgiven all my sins.

<sup>18</sup>Dead people cannot praise you;
they cannot sing to praise you.
Those who have descended to their
graves
cannot expect you to faithfully do things for them.

<sup>19</sup>Only people who are still alive, like I am, can praise you.

Fathers tell their children how you are faithful,
and if I remain alive, I will do the same thing.

<sup>20</sup>Yahweh will fully heal me,
so we will sing praise to him
while others praise him playing musical instruments.

We will do that every day of our lives in the temple of Yahweh."

<sup>21</sup>Isaiah had previously said to Hezekiah's servants, "Prepare an ointment from mashed figs, and spread it on his boil, and then he will recover." So they did that, and Hezekiah recovered.

<sup>22</sup>And Hezekiah had previously asked,
"What will Yahweh do to prove that I will recover and be able to go to his temple?"

39 Soon after that, Baladan's son Marduk-Baladan, the king of Babylon, heard a report that Hezekiah had been very sick but that he had recovered. So he wrote some letters and gave them to some messengers to take to Hezekiah, along with a gift.<sup>2</sup> When the messengers arrived, Hezekiah welcomed them gladly. Then he showed them everything that was in his treasure houses—the silver, the gold, the spices, and the nice-smelling olive oil.
He also took them to see the place where they kept their soldiers' weapons, and he showed them the other valuable things that were in the storehouses. Hezekiah showed them everything that was in the palace or in other places.

<sup>3</sup>Then Isaiah went to King Hezekiah and asked him, "Where did those men come from,
and what did they want?"

He replied, "They came from the far away land of Babylon."

<sup>4</sup>Isaiah asked him, "What did they see in your palace?"

Hezekiah replied, "They saw everything. I showed them absolutely everything that I own
—all my valuable things."

<sup>5</sup>Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Listen to this message from Yahweh, commander of the angel armies:<sup>6</sup> There will be a time when everything in your palace, all the valuable things that your ancestors stored there up until the present time, will be carried away to Babylon. Yahweh says that there will be nothing left.<sup>7</sup> Furthermore, some of your sons will be forced to go to Babylon. They will be castrated in order that they can become servants in the palace of the king of Babylon."

<sup>8</sup>Then Hezekiah replied to Isaiah, "The message from Yahweh that you have given to me is good." He said that because he was thinking, "Even if that happens, there will be peace and safety here during the time that I am alive."

<sup>40</sup>Our God says, "Encourage my people!
Encourage them!"

<sup>2</sup>Speak kindly to the people of Jerusalem;
tell them that their suffering is ended Yahweh has forgiven them for the sins

 that they have committed.
 He has fully punished them for their sins."

<sup>3</sup> Someone is shouting,
 "In the desert plain make the way straight
 for Yahweh to come to you;
 make a smooth road for our God.

<sup>4</sup> Fill in the valleys;
 flatten every hill and every
 mountain.
 Make the uneven ground smooth,
 and make the rough places smooth.

<sup>5</sup> If you do that, it will become known that Yahweh is glorious,
 and all people will realize it at the same time.
 Those things will surely happen because it is Yahweh who has said it."

<sup>6</sup> Someone said to me, "Shout!"
 I replied, "What should I shout?"
 He replied, "Shout that people are like
 grass;
 their faithfulness fades as quickly as flowers in the field.

<sup>7</sup> Grass withers and flowers dry up when Yahweh causes a hot wind from the desert to blow on
 them.
 And all people are like that.

<sup>8</sup> The grass withers and the flowers dry
 up,
 but what our God promises will
 last forever."

<sup>9</sup> All of you who bring good news to Zion,
 shout it from the high mountain!
 Every one of you who brings good news
 to the people who live in Jerusalem, shout out loud the message you have to tell!

Shout it out! Do not be afraid!
 Say to the people living in the cities of Judah, "Here is your God!"

<sup>10</sup> Yahweh your God will be coming with
 power,
 he will rule powerfully.
 When he comes, he will bring with him
 the people whom he has freed from being slaves in Babylonia.

<sup>11</sup> He will take care of his people like a shepherd takes care of his sheep,
 and carries the young lambs in his arms.
 He carries them close to his chest
 and he gently leads the female sheep
 that are nursing their young lambs.

<sup>12</sup> There is no one like Yahweh!
 Who else has measured the water in the oceans in the palm of his hand?
 Who else has measured the sky?
 Who else knows how much soil is in the earth?
 Who else has weighed the mountains and hills on scales?

<sup>13</sup> And who else can advise Yahweh?
 Who can teach him or advise him
 what he should do?

<sup>14</sup> Has Yahweh ever consulted anyone else
 to get advice?
 Does he need someone to tell him
 what is right to do and how to act justly?

<sup>15</sup> Yahweh considers that the nations are as insignificant as one drop from a bucket full of water.
 They are as insignificant as dust on scales.
 He is able to weigh islands
 as though they weighed no more than specks of dust.

<sup>16</sup> There would be not enough wood from all the trees in Lebanon to make a suitable fire for sacrificing animals to him,
 and there are not enough animals in Lebanon to offer as sacrifices to him.

<sup>17</sup> The nations of the world are completely insignificant to him;
 he considers that they are worthless
 and less than nothing.

<sup>18</sup> So to whom can you compare God?
 What image resembles him?

<sup>19</sup> Can you compare him to an idol that is made in a mold,
 and then is covered with a thin
 sheet of gold
 and decorated with silver chains?

<sup>20</sup> A man who is poor cannot buy silver

- or gold for his idol;
so he selects a piece of wood that will not rot,
and he gives it to a craftsman
to carve an idol that will not fall over!
- <sup>21</sup> Have you not heard this?
Do you not understand it?
Are you unable to hear what God said
long ago—
messages that he gave before he created the earth?
- <sup>22</sup> God sits on his throne above the earth,
and the people on the earth below seem to be as small as grasshoppers.
- He spreads out the sky like a curtain;
it is like a tent for him to live in.
- <sup>23</sup> He causes kings to have no more
power,
and he causes the rulers to be worth
nothing.
- <sup>24</sup> They start to rule, like small plants
start to grow and form roots;
but then he gets rid of them
as though they withered when he blew on them,
- like chaff that is blown away by the wind.
- <sup>25</sup> The Holy One asks,
"To whom will you compare me?
Is anyone equal to me?"
- <sup>26</sup> Look up toward the sky:
consider who created all the stars.
Yahweh created them, and at night he causes them to appear;
he calls each one by its name.
Because he is extremely powerful,
all of the stars are there when he calls out their names.
- <sup>27</sup> You people of Israel, why do you complain that Yahweh does not see the troubles that you are experiencing?
Why do you say that he does not act fairly toward you?
- <sup>28</sup> Have you never heard and have you never understood that Yahweh is the everlasting God?
He is the one who created the earth,
even the most distant places on
the earth.

- He never becomes weak or weary,
and no one can find out how much
he understands.
- <sup>29</sup> He strengthens those who feel weak and tired.
- <sup>30</sup> Even youths become faint and weary,
and young men will fall when they are exhausted.
- <sup>31</sup> But those who trust in Yahweh will become strong again;
it will be as though they will soar as eagles do.
They will run for a long time and not become weary;
they will walk long distances and
not faint.
- 41 Yahweh says, "You people who live on islands in the ocean,
be silent in front of me while I ask you some questions!
Then you can be courageous and talk to
me.
We will meet together and decide which one of us is right.
- <sup>2</sup> Who has raised up this king to come from the east?
He is the one who does what is right with every step. He hands nations over to him and he defeats them,
and he tramples their kings under his feet.
He cuts their enemies and they are destroyed so they are like the dust, and his army shoots them with bows and arrows so that they are like the chaff when the wind blows.
- <sup>3</sup> Even though they in danger, they go very swiftly as they pursue their enemies, and nothing stops them.
- <sup>4</sup> Who has enabled rulers to do mighty deeds like that?
Who has done that throughout all generations?
It is I, Yahweh!
I was the first one to do things like that, and I will be the last one to do them.
- <sup>5</sup> People who live on islands in the ocean
are afraid while they watch.

- People in remote areas tremble and gather together.
- <sup>6</sup>They encourage each other and say to each other,
'Be strong!'
- <sup>7</sup>The woodworkers encourage those who make things from gold, and the men who flatten metal encourage those who hammer it on an anvil.
- They all say, 'The idol has been well made!' Then they carefully nail down the idol in order that it will not topple over!"
- <sup>8</sup>Yahweh continues to say, "You people of Israel are my servants; you are descendants of Jacob, whom I chose; you are descendants of Abraham, who I said was my friend.
- <sup>9</sup>I summoned you from very distant places on the earth, and I said, 'I want you to serve me.' I have chosen you, and I will not reject you.
- <sup>10</sup>Do not be afraid, because I will be with you.
- Do not be discouraged, because I am your God. I will enable you to be strong, and I will help you; I will hold you up with my powerful arm by which I will rescue you, and I will be completely right to do so!
- <sup>11</sup>It is certain that all those who are angry with you Israelite people will be disgraced. Those who oppose you will be wiped out; they will all die.
- <sup>12</sup>If you search for those who tried to conquer you, you will not find them, because they will all disappear. Those who attacked you will not exist anymore,
- <sup>13</sup>because it will be as though I will hold you up by your right hand. I am Yahweh, your God, and I say to you, 'Do not be afraid, because I will help you.'

<sup>14</sup>Although others have treated you people of Israel like worms, do not be afraid of your enemies, because I will help you!" This is what Yahweh solemnly says—the one who rescues you, the Holy One of Israel.

<sup>15</sup>He continues to say, "I will cause you to be like a new threshing sledge, very sharp and two-edged. You will tear your enemies to bits causing them to be like bits of chaff on the mountains.

<sup>16</sup>You will toss them up into the air, and a strong wind will blow them away. When that happens, you will rejoice about what I have done for you; you will praise me, Yahweh, the Holy One of Israel.

<sup>17</sup>When poor and needy people need water and they have no water, and their tongues are very dry because they are very thirsty, I, Yahweh, will come and help them. I, the God to whom you Israelite people belong, will never abandon them.

<sup>18</sup>I will cause rivers to flow for them on the barren hills. I will give them fountains in the valleys. I will fill the desert with pools of water. Water from springs will flow into rivers, and the rivers will flow across the dry ground.

<sup>19</sup>I will plant cedars, acacia, and myrtle, in the wilderness—and olive trees I will plant in the desert plain—cypresses, pines, and boxtrees all together.

<sup>20</sup>I will do that in order that people who see it will think about it, and they will know and understand that it is I, Yahweh, who has done it; it is what I, the Holy One of Israel, have done.

- <sup>21</sup>I, Yahweh, the king of Israel am speaking to you nations:
Come and tell me what your idols can do for you! Argue your best in defense of them.
- <sup>22</sup>Bring them here to tell us what is going to happen!
Ask them to tell us what things happened long ago,
in order that we may think about those things,
and learn if those things that they predicted really happened.
- Or ask them to tell us about the future,
in order for us to know what will happen.
- <sup>23</sup>Yes, those idols should tell us what will happen in the future.
If they do that, we will know that they are really gods.
- Tell them to do something—either something good or something bad!
Tell them to do something that will cause us to be amazed and afraid!
- <sup>24</sup>But that is impossible, because idols are absolutely worthless;
they can do nothing,
and I detest those who decide to worship idols."
- <sup>25</sup>"But I have incited a ruler who will come with his army from the north.
I have summoned him to come from his country, which is east of Israel,
and he will call on me for help.
I will enable his army to conquer other rulers;
they will trample those leaders like a man who makes clay pots first tramples the clay.
- <sup>26</sup>Who told you people long ago that this would happen?
Who predicted it, with the result that we can say, "What he predicted was correct!"?
- No one else said that it would happen.
- <sup>27</sup>I was the first one to say to the people of Jerusalem:
'Listen to this! I have appointed a messenger to tell good news to

- you!'
- <sup>28</sup>None of your idols told you that.
And when I asked them questions, none of them was able to give me any answers.
- <sup>29</sup>Think about it: Those idols are all useless, worthless things.
They are as meaningless as the wind."
- 42Yahweh says, "I want you people to know about my servant, whom I encourage.
I have chosen him, and I am pleased with him.
I have given him my Spirit, and he will make certain that all the people groups do what is right.
- <sup>2</sup>He will not show his power by shouting or by talking very loudly.
- <sup>3</sup>He will not get rid of anyone who is weak like a smashed reed, and he will not end the life of anyone who is helpless, like an oil lamp about to stop burning.
- He will faithfully make sure that judges decide cases justly.
- <sup>4</sup>He will not become exhausted or discouraged all during the time that he is causing things to be done justly throughout the earth.
- Even people living on the islands in the oceans will confidently wait for him to teach them his laws."
- <sup>5</sup>Yahweh our God created the sky and spread it out.
- He also created the earth and everything on it.
He gives breath to all the people on the earth and causes them to live.
- And he is the one who says to his special servant,
- <sup>6</sup>"I, Yahweh, have chosen you to show people that I always act righteously.
I will grasp your hand and protect you, and I will present you to my Israelite people to be the one who will put into effect my covenant with them.

You will be like a light to the other nations.

<sup>7</sup> For you will enable blind people to see, you will free those who are in prison and release those who are in dark dungeons.

<sup>8</sup> I am Yahweh; that is my name. I will not allow anyone else to receive the honor that only I deserve.

And I will not allow others to praise idols, for they should praise only me.

<sup>9</sup> Everything that I have prophesied has happened, and now I will tell about other things that will happen.

I will tell you things that will happen before they happen."

All you people who sail across the oceans, and all you creatures that live in the oceans, and all you people who live on islands far away, sing!

You people who live in the region of Kedar in the north of Arabia, you rejoice also!

You people in the city of Sela in Edom, you also should sing joyfully; shout to praise him from the tops of your mountains!

<sup>12</sup> Even people who live on distant islands should honor Yahweh and sing to praise him.

<sup>13</sup> It will be as though Yahweh will march out like a mighty soldier; he will show that he is very angry.

He will shout a battle cry, and then he will defeat all his enemies.

<sup>14</sup> He will say, "I have remained silent for a long time; I have restrained myself from doing what I need to do.

But now, like a woman who is giving birth to a baby, I will cry out and gasp and pant.

<sup>15</sup> I will level off the hills and mountains, and I will cause all the plants and trees to dry up.

I will cause the rivers to become small streams, and little islands will appear in them, and I will cause all the pools to become dry.

<sup>16</sup> My people who have been taken into exile are like blind people, but I will lead them along a road on which they have not walked before,

on a road that they have not seen before.

They have felt very helpless, as though they were walking in the darkness, but I will take away that darkness and I will make smooth the road that is in front of them.

Those are the things that I will do for them;

I will not abandon them.

<sup>17</sup> But those who trust in carved idols, and say to images, 'You are our gods,'

will be completely humiliated."

<sup>18</sup> You Israelite people who have acted toward God like deaf people, listen to what Yahweh says!

"You who have been like blind people, look!

<sup>19</sup> No people are as blind as my people, who should have been serving me.

No people are as much like deaf people as the Israelites, who should have been my messengers.

No people are as much like blind people as those whom I chose to serve me in a covenant.

<sup>20</sup> You see and know what are the right things to do, but you do not do them.

You hear what I say to you, but you do not pay attention."

and have completely plundered all the valuable things, and they have captured Yahweh's people
and taken them away and put them in prison.
They have been captured easily,
because there was no one to protect them;
there was no one to say that they should be allowed to return home.

<sup>23</sup> Who among you will listen carefully to these things?
Who will pay attention from now on?

<sup>24</sup> Who allowed the valuable possessions of the people of Israel to be stolen? It was Yahweh, because he is the one against whom we had sinned;
we did not conduct our lives like he wanted us to,
and we did not obey his laws.

<sup>25</sup> Therefore he was extremely angry with us,
and he caused our soldiers to be destroyed in battles.
It was as though he had lit a fire around us,
but we did not understand what he was trying to tell us.
His anger with us was like a fire that would burn us up,
but we did not pay attention.

43 But now, you people of Israel, listen to Yahweh, the one who established your nation.
The one who caused you to become a nation says this:
"Do not be afraid,
because I have rescued you.
I have called you by your name, in order that you may belong to me. Now you are mine."

<sup>2</sup> When you experience dangerous situations, and you have hardships as terrible as deep rivers to cross,
I will be with you.
When you have very painful troubles, as painful as fire,

you will be able to endure them,
and they will not hurt you,
<sup>3</sup> because I am Yahweh, your God,
the Holy One of Israel, the one who rescues you.
I will sacrifice Egypt in your place;
and Ethiopia and Seba exchange for you.

<sup>4</sup> I will cause other countries to be conquered instead of your country;
I will trade them for you,
in order that you will not be killed,
because you are very precious to me and because I love you.

<sup>5</sup> Do not be afraid, because I am with you.
Some day I will gather your descendants from the east and from the west.

<sup>6</sup> I will command the rulers of the nations to the north and to the south,
'Allow all the people of Israel to return to their country,
from the most distant places on the earth.'

<sup>7</sup> Allow all those who belong to me to return, because I have caused them to become a nation in order that they would honor me;
I am the one who has done that.'

<sup>8</sup> Summon the people who have eyes but act as though they were blind;
summon those who have ears but act as though they were deaf.

<sup>9</sup> Gather people of all nations together, ones from all people groups, and ask them this: 'Has any of their idols foretold the things that are happening now?'
And can any of them predict what will happen in the future?

Then bring people who will testify and say 'I heard them predict things, and what they predicted was what happened,' but they will be lying."

<sup>10</sup> But Yahweh says, "You people of Israel are my witnesses, and you are the ones who serve me.
I chose you in order that you would

- know me, believe in me,
and understand that I am the only one who is truly God.
There is no other true God.
There was no other true God
previously,
and there will never be another true
God.
- <sup>11</sup> I, only I, am Yahweh,
and there is no other one who can save you.
- <sup>12</sup> I said that I would rescue your ancestors,
and then I rescued them, and I proclaimed that I had done it.
No foreign god among you did that!
And you are witnesses that only I, Yahweh, am God.
- <sup>13</sup> I am God, the one who has existed forever and who will exist forever;
no one can snatch people from my hand,
and no one can change what I have
done."
- <sup>14</sup> Yahweh, the Holy One of Israel, is the one who rescues you, and this is what he says:
"For your sake, I will send an army
to attack Babylon.
They will force the people of the city to run away from their city,
and to wail in song instead of rejoice in song.
- <sup>15</sup> I am Yahweh, your Holy One,
the one who caused Israel to become a nation, and the one who is really your king.
- <sup>16</sup> I am Yahweh, the one who opened a path through the water, making a road through the Sea of Reeds.
- <sup>17</sup> Then I summoned the great army of Egypt
to come with all their chariots and horses.
But when they tried to pursue my people,
I caused the waves to flow over them and they drowned;
their lives ended like the light of a candle ends when someone snuffs out the wick.

- <sup>18</sup> But do not think only about what happened in the past, long ago.
<sup>19</sup> Instead, consider the new thing that I am going to do.
I have already started to do it;
can you see it?
I am going to make a road through the
desert.
And I will cause there to be streams
in the wasteland.
- <sup>20</sup> The jackals and ostriches and other wild creatures will thank me
for giving them water in the desert.
I will cause streams to appear in the dry
desert
in order that my people, the ones whom I have chosen, will have
water;
- <sup>21</sup> I will do that for the people whom I have created and chosen to belong to me,
so that they will tell others about the wonderful things I have done for them.
- <sup>22</sup> But now, you descendants of Jacob,
you refuse to request my help.
You people of Israel have become tired of worshiping me.
- <sup>23</sup> You have not brought to me sheep or goats for offerings to burn up on my
altar;
you have not honored me with any
sacrifices,
even though the offerings of grain and incense that I asked you to bring to me were not a burden to you.
- <sup>24</sup> You have not bought for me any fragrant reeds,
and you have not poured out to me
the sweet-smelling fat from any animal sacrifices.
But you have burdened me by all the sins
that you have committed,
and made me weary because of all your iniquities.
- <sup>25</sup> I am the one who is able to forgive you
for all your sins;
I am the only one who can do that,
with the result that I will never think about them again.
- <sup>26</sup> Tell me what I have done that you do not like.

Do you think that when you state your case, you will prove that you are innocent?

<sup>27</sup>No, what has happened is that the first ancestor of you Israelites sinned against me, and since then, all your leaders have rebelled against me.

<sup>28</sup>That is why I will cause your priests to be disgraced; I will allow others to destroy you people of Israel and caused you to be despised."

44 But now, you people of Israel whom Yahweh has chosen to serve him, listen to me.

<sup>2</sup>Yahweh, the one who created you, watched over you while you were being born, and helps you, says this: "You dear people of Israel whom I have chosen, you who serve me, do not be afraid.

<sup>3</sup>I will pour water on your dry land and cause streams to flow.

And I will pour out my Spirit on your descendants and greatly bless them.

<sup>5</sup>Some of them will say, 'I belong to Yahweh,' and others will say, 'We are descendants of Jacob,' and others will write on their hands, 'We belong to Yahweh,' and others will say, 'We are Israelites, and we belong to Yahweh.'

<sup>6</sup>Yahweh, the King of Israel, the one who saves us, commander of the angel armies, says this:

"I am the one who begins everything and who ends everything; there is no other God.

<sup>7</sup>If there is anyone like me, he should proclaim it!

He should speak and tell me now!

He should tell what has happened since I caused my people of Israel to become a nation long ago;

he should also explain why events in the past happened the way they did, and he should predict what will happen in the future.

<sup>8</sup>My people, do not be afraid. Long ago I told you things that would happen; you know that I predicted them, and you can testify that I did that.

There certainly is not any other God. There is no other God who is able to protect you."

<sup>9</sup>All those who make idols are foolish, and the idols that they think highly of are worthless.

And the people who worship those idols —it is as though they were blind, and they will be ashamed for having worshiped those idols.

<sup>10</sup>Only foolish people would make idols in a mold, idols that would never help them at all.

<sup>11</sup>Those who make idols and those who worship them will be ashamed.

Those who make idols are only human beings, but they claim that they are making gods!

They should stand in front of God in a courtroom, and when they hear what he says, they will be terrified, and they will all be disgraced.

They pound them with hammers and shape them.

Because they work very hard, they become hungry and weak; they become very thirsty and feel exhausted.

<sup>13</sup>Then a woodcarver takes a big block of wood and he measures it; then he marks it to show where he will cut it.

He uses a chisel and other tools to carve it to resemble a human.
He causes it to become a very beautiful idol,
and then he puts it in a special house, where he will bow down to it.

<sup>14</sup> Before he carves an idol from that block of wood, he has already cut down a cedar tree,
or he has selected a cypress tree or an oak tree
and allowed it to grow tall in the forest.

Or he has planted a pine tree,
and the rain has watered it and caused it to grow tall.

<sup>15</sup> After he uses part of the tree to make an idol,
he uses the other part to make a fire,
either to warm himself or to bake bread.

But he uses part of the same tree to make for himself an idol to worship!
He makes an idol, and then he bows down to worship it.

<sup>16</sup> He burns part of the wood of that tree to cook his meat and eats it and becomes full,
and he burns part of it to warm
himself,
and he says, "I feel warm while I am watching the flames in the fire."

<sup>17</sup> Then he takes the rest of the wood and makes an idol which is to be his
god.

He bows down to it and honors it,
and prays to it and says,
"You are my god, so save me!"

<sup>18</sup> Those people are very stupid and ignorant.
It is as though they were blind and unable to see,
as though their minds were closed
and unable to think well.

<sup>19</sup> They do not think about what they are doing,
that they are taking a block of wood and burning half of it to warm
themselves
and using some of the rest to bake bread and roast some meat!

They do not say to themselves,
"It is stupid to take the rest of the wood
to make a detestable idol!
It does not make sense to bow down to a block of wood!"

<sup>20</sup> They might as well be eating the ashes
from a fire!
They trust in something that cannot save them;
they do not admit, "In my hand I hold something that is not really a god!"

<sup>21</sup> Yahweh says, "You descendants of Jacob,
you people of Israel who should be serving me,
I created you,
and I will not forget you.

<sup>22</sup> I have gotten rid of your sins
like the wind blows away a cloud.
It is as though your transgressions were a morning mist
that I have blown away.

Return to me
because I have rescued you."

<sup>23</sup> The sun and moon and stars in the sky,
should sing,
and the very deepest places of the earth will sing joyfully!
All the mountains and forests, and all you trees,
should sing loudly,
because Yahweh has rescued the
descendants of Jacob,
and the people of Israel will praise
him.

<sup>24</sup> Yahweh, who saved you and created
you, says this:
"I am Yahweh, the one who created
everything.
I am the only one who stretched out the
sky.
There was no one who was with me
when I created the earth.

<sup>25</sup> I show that the false prophets are liars,
and I show that those who perform rituals to predict the future are fools.
Some people who falsely think that they are wise say that they know much,

but I show that they are foolish.

I tell them to say to the people of Jerusalem, 'Some day people will live here again.'

And I tell them to say to the people in other towns in Judah that I, Yahweh, say,

'Your towns will be rebuilt; I will cause the places that are only ruins to be rebuilt.'

<sup>27</sup> When I say to the rivers, 'Dry up!' they will become dry.

<sup>28</sup> When I say about King Cyrus, 'He will take care of my people like a shepherd takes care of his sheep, he will do all that I want him to do,' he will say about Jerusalem, 'We must rebuild it!'

and he will also say, 'We must rebuild the temple!"

45 Cyrus is the one whom Yahweh has appointed to be the emperor of Persia and to whom he will give great power;

Yahweh will enable him to defeat other nations and to take away the power of their kings.

He will cause gates of cities to be opened, and no one will ever be able to shut them.

<sup>2</sup> This is what Yahweh says to him: 'Cyrus, I will go ahead of you and level the mountains.

I will smash down bronze gates and cut through their iron bars.

<sup>3</sup> I will give you treasures that people have hidden in dark secret places.

I will do that in order that you will know that I am Yahweh, the God to whom the Israelites belong, the God who calls you by your name.

<sup>4</sup> I have summoned you, calling out your name, for the sake of the people of Israel whom I have chosen, who serve me.

Even though you do not know me, I will give you a title that has great honor.

<sup>5</sup> I am Yahweh, and there is no other God. Even though you do not know me,

I will give you power to wage war

<sup>6</sup> in order that everyone in the world, from the east to the west, will know that there is no other God.

I am Yahweh, and there is no other God.

<sup>7</sup> I created the light and the darkness.

I cause there to be peace and I cause there to be disasters.

I, Yahweh, do all those things."

<sup>8</sup> Yahweh also says, "Just like the rain falls on the earth to help it, I will help my people and rescue them; I will cause them to be treated justly.

I, Yahweh, am the one who will cause both of those things to happen.

<sup>9</sup> Terrible things will happen to those who argue with me, because I am the one who created them.

They are like clay pots who are arguing with the Potter who made them; they are just like every other clay pot that is made, and yet they argue with the One who made them and formed them out of the clay.

Can a lump of clay say to the potter who made him,

'Why are you making me like this?'

The clay pot cannot say 'What do you think you are doing, making me this way?' or 'You have no skill and your clay pots are not worth anything!"

<sup>10</sup> And it would be terrible if an unborn baby would say to its father, 'Why are you causing me to be born?'

or if it said to its mother, 'The result of your labor pains will be useless."

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh, the Holy One of the Israelite people, the one who created Israel, says this to them:

"Why do you ask questions about what I do for you, my children?

 Why do you instruct me about the work that I should do?

<sup>12</sup> I am the one who created the earth
 and created people to live on it.
 I stretched out the sky with my hands,
 and I put the stars in their places.

<sup>13</sup> And I have made Cyrus to desire to do things that are right,
 and I will enable him to do all those things easily. No one will be able to stop him.
 His workers will rebuild my city,
 and he will free my people who have been exiled.
 And he will do it without my rewarding
 him!"
 This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says.
<sup>14</sup> And this is also what I, Yahweh, say to you, my people:
 "You will rule the people of Egypt and Ethiopia,
 and the tall people of Seba will become your slaves.
 They will come to you bringing all the things that they sell,
 and it will all be yours.
 They will have chains on their arms as they follow you.
 They will bow down in front of you and
 say,
 'God is with you
 and he is the only God;
 there is no other God.'"
<sup>15</sup> God, although we cannot see you,
 you are the one to whom we Israelite people belong, the one who saves us.
<sup>16</sup> All those who make idols will be humiliated.
 They will all be disgraced together.
<sup>17</sup> But you, Yahweh, will rescue us, your Israelite people,
 and we will be free forever.
 Never again, during all the future, will we again be humiliated and disgraced.
<sup>18</sup> Yahweh is God;
 he is the one who created the sky
 and created and formed the earth.
 He did not want it to remain with nothing living on it;

 he wanted people to live on it.
 He says, "I am Yahweh;
 there is no other God.
<sup>19</sup> What I proclaimed, I did not speak secretly;
 I did not hide what I was saying by speaking in a dark place.
 When I spoke to the descendants of Jacob,
 I did not tell them
 'It will be useless for you to seek for me!'
 I, Yahweh, speak only what is true
 and what is right.
<sup>20</sup> You people who are still alive after experiencing great disasters,
 should come and gather together
 and listen to this:
 The people who carry around their wooden idols
 and pray to them are foolish, because those idols cannot rescue them!
<sup>21</sup> Talk among yourselves and decide what you will say to prove that you should pray to idols.
 And when you do that, I will ask
 you,
 'Who predicted long ago what has now
 happened?
 Did any idol tell you that those things would happen?'
 No, it was only I, Yahweh, who told you, because I am the only God; there is no other God.
 I am a God who acts righteously and saves people;
 there is no other one who does
 these things.
<sup>22</sup> Everyone in the world should ask me to save them,
 because I am the only God who can do that;
 there is no other one.
<sup>23</sup> I have solemnly declared, using my own name;
 I have spoken what is true,
 and I will never change what I have
 said:
 Some day, everyone will bow in front of
 me,

and they will all solemnly promise to be loyal to me.

<sup>24</sup> They will declare,
Yahweh is the one who enables us to live righteously and to be strong."

And all those who have been angry at Yahweh will come to him, and they will be ashamed that they were angry with him.

<sup>25</sup> Yahweh is the only one who will enable us Israelite people in all future times to defeat our enemies, and then we will boast about what he has done for us.

46 It is as though Bel and Nebo, the statues of the gods of Babylonia, were bowing down as they are put on animals and carried away!

The statues are heavy burdens and will cause the animals to become tired!

<sup>2</sup> Gods and animals are all bowed down; the gods can save neither themselves nor the beasts of burden; the gods themselves are going into exile!

<sup>3</sup> Yahweh says, "You descendants of Jacob who were exiled, I am not like the gods of Babylonia that must be carried; instead, it is as though I have carried you since you first became a nation.

I carried you even before you became a nation.

<sup>4</sup> I will be your God, and I will carry you for many years, until it is as though your nation is an old man with gray hair. I caused you to become a nation, and I will sustain you and rescue you.

<sup>5</sup> There is certainly no one to whom I can be compared.

There is no one who is equal to me.

<sup>6</sup> So it is stupid that some people pour out gold and silver from their bags and weigh it on a scale.

Then they hire a man who makes things from gold to make an idol from it. After he makes an idol, they bow down and worship it!

<sup>7</sup> They lift it up and carry it on their shoulders.

They put it in a special place, and it stays there.

It cannot move!

And when someone prays to it, it does not answer.

So obviously it cannot rescue anyone from his troubles!

<sup>8</sup> You people of Judah, do not forget this; keep thinking about it, you sinful people!

<sup>9</sup> Think about the things that I did long ago.

Only I am God; I am God, and there is no one like me.

<sup>10</sup> Only I can tell what will happen in the future before it occurs;

I tell it long before it happens.

I will accomplish everything that I plan to accomplish, and I will do everything that I want to do.

<sup>11</sup> So I will summon Cyrus to come from the east like a swift and powerful eagle; he will come from a distant country.

He will accomplish what I want him to.

He is the one who will do what I have said that I want him to do, what I have planned.

<sup>12</sup> You stubborn people of Israel, you who are completely unable to do what is right,

<sup>13</sup> I will rescue you, and it will not be a long time before that happens.

I will do it soon.

I will rescue Jerusalem and show to you Israelite people that I am glorious."

47 Yahweh also says, "You people of Babylon, you should go and sit in the dust, because your time to rule other countries is almost ended.

People will never again say that Babylonia is beautiful like a very attractive young woman.

- <sup>2</sup>You will be slaves, so take heavy stones and grind grain like slave women
do.
- Take off your beautiful veils
and take off your robes as you prepare to cross streams to go where you will be forced to go.
- <sup>3</sup>You will be naked and very ashamed.
I will have vengeance on you and will not pity you."
- <sup>4</sup>The one who frees us people of Judah, whom we call 'Yahweh, Commander
of the angel armies,'
is the Holy One of Israel.
- <sup>5</sup>Yahweh says, "You people of Babylon,
sit silently in the darkness,
because no one will never again say that your city is like a queen that rules
many kingdoms.
- <sup>6</sup>I was angry with the people who belong
to me,
and I punished them.
I allowed you people of Babylon to
conquer them.
But when you conquered them, you did
not act mercifully toward them.
You oppressed even the old people.
- <sup>7</sup>You said, 'We will rule other nations
forever;
it is as though our city will be the queen of the world forever!'
- But you did not think about the things that you were doing,
or think about what would result.
- <sup>8</sup>You people of Babylon who enjoy pleasures and who live in luxury,
listen to this:
You act as though you were gods, saying,
"I am special, and there is no one better than I am,"
- None of our women will never become
widows,
and none of our children will never be killed in wars.'
- <sup>9</sup>But both of those things will happen to you suddenly:
many of your women will become
widows
and many of your children will die,
even though you perform much sorcery and many kinds of magic to prevent bad things from happening to you.

<sup>10</sup>You felt safe even though you were doing many wicked things, and you said, 'No one will see what we are doing!'
You thought that you were very wise and knew many things,
and you said, 'We are gods, and there are no others like us,'
but you deceived yourselves.
<sup>11</sup>So you will experience terrible things, and you will not be able to prevent them by working magic.
You will experience disasters,
and you will not be able to pay any magician to keep those things
from happening.
A catastrophe will happen to you suddenly,
something that you will not realize
is about to happen.
<sup>12</sup>So continue to perform all your magic spells!
Keep doing the many kinds of sorcery that you have been doing for many years!
Perhaps doing those things will enable you to be successful;
perhaps you will be able to cause
your enemies to be afraid of
you!
<sup>13</sup>But all that has resulted from your doing all the things that the magicians have told you to do is that you have become tired!
The men who look at the stars, announce every new moon, predict what will happen
should come forward and rescue
you from the disasters that you are about to experience.
<sup>14</sup>But they cannot do that, because they are like straw that is burning in a fire;
they cannot save themselves from being burned up in the flames.
They are unable to help you;
they are as useless as stubble that burns, but that fire will burn them up rather than let them
enjoy the heat.
<sup>15</sup>And they will disappoint you, those with whom you faithfully worked and with whom you traveled and traded when you were younger,

and yet all of them keep doing their own
foolish things;
and when you cry out for help,
there is no one who can help
you."

<sup>48</sup>Descendants of Jacob,
who are also descendants of Judah
and are now called the people
of Israel,

listen to Yahweh!

You make solemn promises using the name of Yahweh,
and you request that the God to whom you Israelite people
belong will hear you,
but you do not do it sincerely.

<sup>2</sup>You say that you live in the holy city of Jerusalem
and you insincerely say that you are relying on the God to whom you people of Israel belong,
the one who is Yahweh,
commander of the angel
armies.

<sup>3</sup>"Long ago I predicted what would happen.
And then suddenly, I caused those things to happen.

<sup>4</sup>I knew that you people were very stubborn;
I knew that your heads were as hard
as iron or brass.

<sup>5</sup>That is why I told you those things long ago.

Long before they occurred, I announced that they would occur,

in order that when they happened you could not say
'Our idols did it;
our statue carved out of wood or our idol made of metal caused them to happen.'

<sup>6</sup>You have heard those things that I predicted,
and now you have seen that they have all occurred,
so why do you not admit it?

Now I will tell you new things, things that you have not known
previously.

<sup>7</sup>I am causing them to happen now;
they are not things I did long ago.
So you cannot say, 'We already knew about those things.'

<sup>8</sup>I will tell you about things that you have never heard about or understood before.

Even long ago you did not pay attention to me.

I know that you act very deceitfully;
you have rebelled against me since
you first became a nation.

<sup>9</sup>But for my own sake, in order that I will be honored,
I will not punish you immediately and I will not completely get rid of
you.

<sup>10</sup>I have purified you, but not the way people refine silver.

Instead, I have caused you to suffer very much to get rid of your impure
behavior,

<sup>11</sup>But for my own sake I will delay
punishing you more;

I will delay for my own sake,
in order that my reputation will not be damaged.

I will not allow any person or any idol to be honored as I deserve to be honored."

<sup>12</sup>"You descendants of Jacob, you people of Israel whom I have chosen,
listen to me!

Only I am God;
I am the one who begins everything and who causes everything to end.

<sup>13</sup>I am the one who laid the foundation of the earth.

I stretched out the sky with my hand.

And when I tell the stars to appear,
they all do what I tell them.

<sup>14</sup>All of you, gather together and listen to
me.

None of your idols has told this to
you:

I, Yahweh, have chosen Cyrus to assist

me,
and he will do to Babylon what I want him to do,
and his army will destroy the army of Babylonia.

<sup>15</sup> I have said it;
I have summoned Cyrus.

I have appointed him,
and he will accomplish everything
that he attempts to do.

<sup>16</sup> Come close to me and listen to what I
say.

Long ago I told you plainly what would
happen,
and when those things occurred, I was causing them to happen."

And now Yahweh the Lord and his Spirit have sent me, the prophet Isaiah, to give you a message.

<sup>17</sup> This is what Yahweh, the one who saves you, the Holy God of us Israelites, says:

"I am Yahweh, your God;

I teach you what is important for you to
prosper;
I direct you and lead you to do the things that you should do.

<sup>18</sup> I wish that you had paid attention to my commands!

If you had done that, things would have gone well for you
like a river that flows gently;

you would have been successful again and
again,
like waves that come without ceasing.

<sup>19</sup> Your descendants would have been as many as the grains of sand on the seashore
which no one can count.

I would not have needed to destroy them;
the country of Israel would not have been destroyed.

<sup>20</sup> However, now I tell you, leave Babylon!

Flee from being slaves of the people of Babylonia!

Proclaim this message joyfully;
send it to the most remote places on
the earth:
'Yahweh freed the people of Israel from being slaves in Egypt.'

<sup>21</sup> They were not thirsty when he led them through the desert,
because he split open the rock and caused water to gush out for them to drink.'

<sup>22</sup> But things will not go well like that for wicked people," says Yahweh.

49 All you people who live on islands in the ocean and in other distant areas,
pay attention to what I will say!

Yahweh called me before I was born;
he chose me when I was still in my mother's womb.

<sup>2</sup> When I grew up, he caused my messages to be like a sharp sword.

He has protected me by his hand.

He protects me like someone protects sharp arrows in a quiver.

<sup>3</sup> He said to me, "You will serve my Israelite people,
and you will cause people to honor
me."

<sup>4</sup> I replied, "My work has been useless;
I have used my strength, but I have accomplished nothing worthwhile;
everything that I have done has been in vain.

However, Yahweh can honor me as he pleases;
my God is the one who will reward
me as I deserve."

<sup>5</sup> Yahweh formed me when I was in my mother's womb in order that I would serve him;
he appointed me to bring the people of Israel back to himself.
Yahweh has honored me,

and he is the one who has caused
me to be strong.

<sup>6</sup> He says to me,
"It is not enough for you to serve me
by bringing the descendants of Jacob back to worship me
again;

I also want you to be like a light for the non-Israelites;
I want you to take my message about how to be saved to people all over the world."

<sup>7</sup> Yahweh, the one who saves us,
the Holy God of us Israelite people, says to the one who was despised and rejected by the people of many
nations,
to the one who is the slave of rulers,
"Some day kings will stand up to respect
you when they see you,
and princes will bow down before
you
because you serve me, Yahweh, the one who faithfully does what I promise.
I am the Holy God to whom you Israelites belong, the one who has chosen you."

<sup>8</sup> This is also what Yahweh says:
"At a time when it pleases me, I will answer your prayers.
On the day when I rescue you from your oppressors, I will help
you.
I will protect you and enable you to establish an agreement with other
nations.
And by what you do, I will re-establish your nation of Israel and allow you to live again in your land
that was abandoned.

<sup>9</sup> You will say to those who were captured and exiled,
'Leave Babylonia and return to your own country!'
And you will say to those who are in dark prisons,
'Come out into the light!'
When that happens, they will again be like sheep
that eat grass in green pastures,
on hills where before there was no
grass.

<sup>10</sup> They will not be hungry or thirsty
anymore;
the hot sun will not beat upon
them again.
I, Yahweh, will act mercifully toward
them and lead them;
I will lead them to where there are springs of cool water.

<sup>11</sup> And I will cause the mountains to become as though they were level

roads,
and I will prepare good highways for my people to travel on, to return to Jerusalem.

<sup>12</sup> My people will return from far away;
some will come from the north,
some from the west,
some from southern Egypt."

<sup>13</sup> Because of what Yahweh has promised
to do,
everything should shout joyfully—
the sky and the earth and the mountains should sing, because Yahweh comforts his
people,
and he will pity those who are suffering.

<sup>14</sup> The people of Jerusalem say,
"Yahweh has abandoned us;
he has forgotten about us."

<sup>15</sup> But Yahweh replies,
"That is not true! Can a woman forget the infant that she is nursing?
Can she stop acting kindly toward the child to whom she has given birth?
But even if a woman would do that,
I will not forget you!"

<sup>16</sup> Note that I have written your names
on the palms of my hands;
I am always looking at the walls of
your city.

<sup>17</sup> Soon your children will be returning
there,
and all those who destroyed your city will leave.

<sup>18</sup> You will look around and see all of your children coming back to
you.
As surely as I live,
they will be with you for you to show to people
like a bride shows her wedding ornaments!

<sup>19</sup> Your land has been ruined and caused
to become desolate,
but some day it will be filled with
people,
and those who conquered you will be far away.

<sup>20</sup> The children who were born while you were exiled will return to Jerusalem

- and say,
 'This city is too small for us;
 We need more space to live in!'
- <sup>21</sup> Then you will think to yourselves,
 'It is amazing that we have all these children!'
- Most of our children were dead,
 and the rest were exiled.
 We were left here alone;
 so we do not know where all these children have come from!
 Who raised them?"
- <sup>22</sup> This is what Yahweh our God says:
 "Watch! It is as though I will lift up my hand to signal to those who are not Israelites.
- And they will carry your little sons and daughters on their shoulders
 and bring them back to you.
- <sup>23</sup> Kings will serve you and will tutor your
 children,
 and their queens will take care of your young children.
- They will prostrate themselves in front of
 you
 and lick the dust off your feet.
- When that happens, you will know that I am Yahweh;
 and those who trust in me will never be disappointed."
- <sup>24</sup> There is no one who can snatch valuable things from a soldier who has captured those things in a war;
 there is no one who can force a tyrant to free the people whom he has captured.
- <sup>25</sup> But Yahweh says this:
 "Some day, those who have been captured will go free,
 and the valuable things that tyrants
 have snatched from others will be returned,
 because I will fight against those who fight against you,
 and I will rescue your children.
- <sup>26</sup> And I will cause your enemies to destroy themselves
 instead of murdering others.
- When that happens, everyone in the world will know that I, Yahweh, am

the one who saves you,
 the one who rescues you from your
 enemies;
 everyone will know that I am the mighty God to whom you descendants of Jacob belong."

<sup>50</sup> This is also what Yahweh says:
 "You Israelite people, do not think that I forced your parents to be exiled to Babylonia
 like some men send away their wives
 after giving them a paper on which they state that they were divorcing them!

I certainly did not get rid of you like a man who sells his children to get money to pay what he owes.

No, the reason that I forced you to be exiled
 was to punish you because of the sins that you have committed.

<sup>2</sup> When I came to you to rescue you, why did no one answer when I called out to you?

Was there no one there to buy you back
 and take you home?
 Did you think that I do not have the power to rescue you?

Think about this:
 I can speak to a sea and cause it to
 become dry!
 I can cause rivers to become deserts with the result that the fish in the rivers die from thirst and rot.

<sup>3</sup> I cause the sky to become dark,
 as though it was wearing black clothes because it was mourning because someone had died."

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh our God has taught me to speak
 for him,
 in order that I may encourage those who are weary.
 Each morning he awakens me,
 in order that I may listen to what he teaches me.

<sup>5</sup> Yahweh our God has spoken to me, and I have not rejected what he told
 me;
 I have accepted it.

<sup>6</sup>I allowed people to beat me on my back and to pull out the whiskers in my beard because they hated me.

I did not turn away from them
when they made fun of me and spat
on me.

<sup>7</sup>But because the Lord Yahweh helps me,
I will never be humiliated.

Therefore I am determined to face difficulties,
and I know that nothing will cause
me to be ashamed.

<sup>8</sup>God is near to me; he will show others that I have been right to trust him, so if anyone stands in front of me
and accuses me in a court,
he will not be able to show that I have done anything that is wrong.

<sup>9</sup>The Lord Yahweh defends me in court,
so no one will be able to condemn
me.

All those who accuse me will disappear
like old clothes that have been eaten
by moths.

<sup>10</sup>If you honor Yahweh and do what his servant tells you to
do,
even if you are walking in darkness, and it seems that there is no light, trust in Yahweh your God to help
you; depend on him.

<sup>11</sup>But you people who oppose me by lighting your own fires,
and by carrying your own flaming torches:

go ahead and live according to your own
knowledge,
according to what you think is best.

Yahweh tells you what will happen to
you:

he will make you die in great torment!

51 Yahweh says, "You people who desire to act righteously,
who want to do what I want you to
do,
listen to me!

Think about Abraham!

It is as though he were a huge rock
cliff;

and when you people of Israel became a
nation,

it was as though I had cut you like stones from that rocky cliff.

<sup>2</sup>Think about your ancestor Abraham and his wife Sarah, of whom all of you are descendants.

When I first spoke to Abraham,
he had no children.

But after I blessed him, he had a huge number of descendants.

<sup>3</sup>Some day I, Yahweh, will encourage Abraham's descendants again,
and I will comfort all the people who live in the ruins of Jerusalem.

The deserts in that area will become like Eden;

it will be like the garden of Yahweh.

All the people there will be joyful and
happy;
they will thank me and sing.

<sup>4</sup>My people of Judah, listen carefully to
me,
because I command you to proclaim my laws;
the right things that I will do will be like a light for the people of all the nations. <sup>5</sup>I will soon rescue you and
them;
by my power I will rule over the people of the earth and bless
them.

The people who live in the most distant lands on earth will wait for me to help them.

<sup>6</sup>Look up at the sky,
and look at the earth;
see what they are like now,
because some day the sky will disappear
like smoke,
and the earth will wear out like old clothes wear out,
and people on the earth will die like flies.

But I will rescue you, and you will remain free forever,
and everyone will know what I do and I will always do what is right.

<sup>7</sup>You people who know what things are right to do,

and who know in your inner beings
what is written in my laws,
listen to me!

Do not be afraid of people who taunt you;
do not be disturbed when people
revile you,

<sup>8</sup>because some day they will be destroyed
like clothing that moths have eaten, like wool garments that have been eaten
by worms.

Everyone will know what I do and I will always do what is right;
and I will save you, and you will be saved forever."

<sup>9</sup>Yahweh, wake up and do something for
us!

Show us how strong you are!
Do mighty things
like you did long ago,
when you stabbed Rahab, the sea
monster, and cut it into pieces.

<sup>10</sup>Surely you are the one who dried up
the sea,
and made a path through that deep water
in order that your people could cross it!

<sup>11</sup>And those whom Yahweh will rescue from being exiled in Babylonia will similarly return to Jerusalem singing.
Their being joyful forever will be like a crown on their heads.

They will not be sad or mourn anymore;
they will be completely joyful and
happy.

<sup>12</sup>Yahweh says,
"I am the one who encourages you.
So why are you afraid of humans who will wither and disappear like
grass?

<sup>13</sup>You should not have forgotten me, Yahweh, the one who created your
nation,
the one who stretched out the sky and laid the foundations of the earth.

You should not be afraid of those who are angry with you
and want to destroy you.

You should not be afraid of them now, because those angry people have now disappeared!

<sup>14</sup>Soon you people, whom your enemies have caused to be slaves
in Babylonia, will be freed!

You will not remain in prison, and you will not die of hunger,

<sup>15</sup>because I am Yahweh, your God,
the one who stirs up the sea and causes the waves to roar;
I am Yahweh, commander of the
angel armies!

<sup>16</sup>I have given you my message to proclaim,
and I have protected you by my
hand.

I have done this in order to stretch out
the sky
and lay the foundation of the earth.

And I have done this in order to say to you Israelites,
'You are my people!"'

<sup>17</sup>You people of Jerusalem, wake up!
You have experienced Yahweh severely punishing you.
Yahweh has caused you to suffer much
and to experience disaster.

Yahweh gave you this cup to drink, but this was Yahweh's cup!
He forced you to drink every drop out of that large cup, down to the bottom of the bowl. And that drink made you stagger
like you had drunk strong wine.
This strong wine represents the anger of God, and you are to drink all of it!

<sup>18</sup>Now you do not have any children who are able to take your hand and guide
you. You cannot help yourself.

<sup>19</sup>You have experienced these disasters:
Your country has become desolate;
your cities have been destroyed;
many people have died from
hunger;
many people have been killed by your enemies' swords.

Now there is no one to weep with you and sympathize with you.

<sup>20</sup>Your children have fainted and lie at the corner of every street;

 they are as helpless as an antelope
 that has been caught in a net.
 What has happened to them is because Yahweh has been very angry with
 them;
 he has rebuked them severely.
<sup>21</sup> So now, you people who have suffered
 much,
 you who were acting as if you were drunk
 because you were drinking from his cup.
 But in truth, it is not because you have drunk out of a cup filled with wine, but because of something else that Yahweh will
 do.
<sup>22</sup> Yahweh, your Lord and your God,
 the one who argues your case to defend you, he says this:
 "I have away taken that cup that holds my anger toward you,
 and I made you experience my anger
 when I made you drink from that
 cup.
 But now I have taken it from you so that you will never drink of it again.
<sup>23</sup> Instead, I will cause those who have tormented you to suffer;
 I will severely punish those who
 said to you,
 'Lie down in order that we may walk on you;
 lie down on your stomachs
 in order that your backs will be like streets that we can walk on.'"

52 You people who live in the holy city of Jerusalem, wake up!
 Be strong again!
 Show that your city is beautiful and glorious;
 uncircumcised foreigners, those who do not honor Yahweh, will never again enter your city to attack you.
<sup>2</sup> People of Jerusalem, get up from where you have been sitting in the dust,
 and sit down properly!
 You people who have returned from being exiled,
 take off from your neck the chains

that the Babylonians fastened around your necks,
<sup>3</sup> because this is what Yahweh says:
 "When you were sent as captives to Babylonia,
 no one paid to make that happen.
 So now you will be brought back,
 and no money will be paid to anyone for your release."
<sup>4</sup> Yahweh our Lord also says this:
 "Long ago, my people went to Egypt to live there.
 Later the soldiers of Assyria
 oppressed them.
<sup>5</sup> But now think about what is happening:
 My people are being forced to be slaves again, this time by the people of Babylonia. They have taken my people away, but they never declared any just reason for taking them
 captive.
 And the rulers of Babylon boast
 and make fun of them (as I, Yahweh, have said they would
 do),
 and the other people groups in the world
 despise the mention of my name.
<sup>6</sup> But after that, my people will love me
 and honor me;
 when that happens, they will know that I am the one who said that this would happen. I am the one who speaks, and I say,
 'Yes, this is Yahweh who is speaking
 to you.'
<sup>7</sup> It is a wonderful thing when messengers come from across the mountains and bring good news,
 the news about God giving us peace and saving us,
 the news that the God to whom we Israelite people belong is now showing everyone his power as king!
<sup>8</sup> The watchmen who are guarding the city will shout and sing joyfully,
 because while they are watching,
 they will all see Yahweh returning to Jerusalem.
<sup>9</sup> Jerusalem was ruined,
 but the people who are there now
 should start to sing joyfully,

- because Yahweh will encourage his people;
he will set his people free and bring them back to Jerusalem.
- <sup>10</sup> Yahweh will show all the nations that he is holy and powerful.
- People in the most remote places on earth will know that he has rescued his people.
- <sup>11</sup> So leave the places where you were taken to when you were captured, where everything is unacceptable to God.
- You men who are carrying the items used in the temple of Yahweh, leave there and return to Jerusalem, and purify yourselves in order to be acceptable to worship God.
- <sup>12</sup> But it will not be necessary for you to leave suddenly, to flee in panic, because Yahweh will go in front of you; and he will also protect you from being attacked at the rear while you travel.
- <sup>13</sup> Listen carefully! My servant will act wisely and do all that Yahweh wants him to do, and he will be honored more than anyone else.
- <sup>14</sup> But many people will be appalled when they see what has happened to him. Because he was beaten very badly, his appearance will be changed; people will hardly recognize that he is a human.
- <sup>15</sup> But he will purify the people of many nations by sprinkling them clean; even kings will be silent when they stand in front of him, because they will see someone that no one had told them about before, and they will understand things that they had not heard about before.
- 53 Who will believe what we have heard about God's servant? Who will see what Yahweh does by his great power?
- <sup>2</sup> While God watches, his servant will grow up fragile like a very young tree, like a weak young plant that shoots up, a stem that is growing in dry ground. There will be nothing beautiful or majestic about him, nothing that would cause us to want to look at him.

<sup>3</sup> People will despise and reject him. He will endure much pain, and he will suffer much. Because his face will be very disfigured, people will not want to look at him; he will not even look human any more; people will despise him and think that he is not worth paying any attention to.

<sup>4</sup> But he will be punished for the sicknesses within our lives; he will endure great pain for us. But we will think that he is being punished by God, afflicted for his own sins.

<sup>5</sup> But people will pierce him through and kill him because of the evil things that we did; they will wound him because of our sins. They will beat him in order that things may go well with us; because they will whip him, we will be healed.

<sup>6</sup> All of us have gone away from God like sheep who have strayed away from their shepherd. We have turned away from doing the things that God wants in order to do the things that we want.

We deserve to be punished, but Yahweh will punish him instead for all of our sins.

<sup>7</sup> He will be abused and caused to suffer, but he will not say anything to complain. They will lead him to where they will execute him, like they lead a lamb to where it will be slaughtered.

And like a sheep does not bleat when the shearer cuts off its wool, he will not say anything to defend himself when he is killed.

- <sup>8</sup> After he is arrested and put on trial,
he will be taken away and executed.
And no one at that time will think anything more about him.
For he will die;
he will receive all the penalties
brought on by the curses
against us for the wrong things
we have done.
- <sup>9</sup> Although he will never have done any wrong or deceived anyone, people will place his corpse where wicked people are buried, and in a rich man's grave.
- <sup>10</sup> But it will be Yahweh's will that he be afflicted and caused to suffer. When he dies as an offering for your own
sin,
he will benefit many, many people,
as if they were his children;
he will live a long time after he dies
and becomes alive again,
and he will accomplish everything
that Yahweh has planned.
- <sup>11</sup> When he sees all that he will accomplish because of his suffering,
he will be satisfied.
And because of what will have happened to him, Yahweh's
righteous servant,
he will cause the guilt of many people to be ended,
because he will bear the guilt for
their sins.
- <sup>12</sup> So Yahweh will share with many people
the spoils he has won from his
enemies.
His servant will be like a king who divides the spoils among his
soldiers,
because he put himself in danger of dying
and did in fact die.
Even though people had considered
him to be a sinner,
he removed the guilt of many people,
and he interceded for those who have done things that are
wrong.
- 54 Yahweh says, "You people of Jerusalem, start to sing!

You who are like women who have never given birth to children,
sing loudly and shout joyfully,
because you, who are like childless women who have been abandoned by their husbands, will soon have more
children
than women who have never had any children.

<sup>2</sup> Make your tents larger;
make them wider,
and fasten them firmly with tent
pegs.

<sup>3</sup> You will need to make your city much larger
because soon you and your descendants will spread all over the land.
They will force the people of other nations to leave where they are,
and you will live again in the cities
that people had previously
abandoned.

<sup>4</sup> Do not be afraid; you will no longer be ashamed.
Previously you were ashamed because your enemies conquered you and caused your nation to be like a widow,
but soon you will not even remember
that.

<sup>5</sup> I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the Holy One of Israel, who rules over the whole earth,
the one who created you,
will be like a husband to you.

<sup>6</sup> Your nation was like a woman whose husband left her,
and caused you to be very sad;
you were like a young woman who got married when she was very young,
and then her husband abandoned
her.

<sup>7</sup> I abandoned you people of Jerusalem
for a while,
but now I am saying, 'I will take you back.'

<sup>8</sup> I was very angry with you for a while,
and I turned away from you.
But I will act mercifully toward you and I will faithfully love you

forever.

That is what I, Yahweh, your rescuer, say to you.

<sup>9</sup> During the time that Noah lived, I solemnly promised that I would never again allow a flood to cover the earth.

So now I solemnly promise that I will not be angry with you again and rebuke you.

<sup>10</sup> Even if the mountains and hills shake and collapse, I will not stop faithfully loving you, and I will not cancel my covenant to cause things to go well for you. That is what I, Yahweh, who acts mercifully, say.

<sup>11</sup> You people of Jerusalem, your enemies acted very violently toward you; it was as though your city had been battered by a severe storm, and no one helped you.

But now I will cause your city to be rebuilt with stones made of turquoise, and will cause the foundations of the city to be made of sapphires.

<sup>12</sup> I will cause the towers on the city wall to be made of rubies, and all the gates and outer walls of the city will be made of other very valuable stones.

<sup>13</sup> I will be the one who will teach your children and cause things to go well with you.

<sup>14</sup> Your government will be strong because it will act justly; no one will oppress you; you will not be afraid, because nothing will come near you that will make you fear.

<sup>15</sup> If any army attacks you, it will not be because I have incited them to do that, and you will defeat anyone who attacks you.

<sup>16</sup> Think about this: Blacksmiths fan the coals to make a very hot flame in order to produce weapons that can be used in battles, but I am the one who has produced blacksmiths!

And I am also the one who created people who destroy other people and cities.

<sup>17</sup> You will not be defeated by soldiers using weapons that they have made to attack you, and when others try to accuse you, you will prove that they are wrong, and you will condemn them to punishment.

That is the reward for the people who serve Yahweh.

I will defend them and show everyone else that they are right to trust me; that is what I, Yahweh, promise."

55 "Come here! All you people who are in exile, and listen to me!

If you are thirsty, now is the time for you to come to me and get your water!

Now those who had no money, you can come and buy wine and milk from me, the finest wine and the best milk!

You can get what you need from me, and you can buy it now!

You can buy it even though you do not have any money, and even though you could never afford it!

<sup>2</sup> Why do you spend money to buy things that do not supply what you really need?

Why do you work hard to get money to buy things that do not truly satisfy you?

Pay attention to what I say and acquire what is really good!

If you come to me, then in your heart you will truly be happy.

<sup>3</sup> Listen to me and come to me; pay attention to me, and if you do that, you will have new life within you.

I will make a covenant with you that will last forever to faithfully love you like my love for King David.

<sup>4</sup>By what he did, I showed my power to many people groups;
I caused him to be a leader and commander over the people of
many nations.

<sup>5</sup>And similarly, you will summon people
of other nations to come to you, nations that previously you have not heard about,
and they had not heard about you;
and they will come to you quickly
because they will have heard that I, Yahweh, your God, the Holy
One of Israel, have honored
you.

<sup>6</sup>Seek to know Yahweh while it is still possible for you to do that;
call to Yahweh while he is near!

<sup>7</sup>Wicked people should abandon their wicked behavior,
and evil people should stop thinking what is evil.
They should turn to Yahweh,
and if they do that, he will act
mercifully toward them;
they should turn to Yahweh, their God,
because he will fully pardon them
for all the wicked things that they have done.

<sup>8</sup>Yahweh declares that what he thinks is not the same as what you think,
and what he does is very different from what you do.

<sup>9</sup>Just as you people on the earth can never reach the sky,
the thoughts of Yahweh are that much higher than the way you think.
His ways are always different from what you do.
And so, you can be sure that you can never fully understand the way Yahweh thinks or know the reasons for what Yahweh does.

<sup>10</sup>Yahweh sends the rain and snow down
from the sky,
and they water the ground.
When the ground becomes moist, it causes plants to sprout and grow,

with the result that the soil produces seed for the farmer to plant and grain to produce flour to make bread for people
to eat.

<sup>11</sup>And similarly, the things that I promise to do, I will always cause to happen;
my promises will always come true.
They will accomplish the things for which I spoke them.

<sup>12</sup>This is why you will leave Babylon
joyfully;
you will have peace as Yahweh leads
you out.
It will be as though the hills and mountains sang joyfully,
and the trees in the fields clapped
their hands.

<sup>13</sup>Instead of thornbushes and briars, pine trees and myrtle trees will grow
in your land.
As a result of that, people will honor Yahweh much more;
and what Yahweh does will cause
everyone to remember what he has promised, and they will honor him."

56 Yahweh says to all the people of Judah,
"Do the things that are fair and right,
because I will soon come to rescue
you; I will soon show everyone that you have been right to trust me.

<sup>2</sup>I will bless those who faithfully obey my laws about the Sabbath days.
I will bless those who keep sacred my Sabbath days,
and who do not do any work on
those days,
and who refrain from doing anything that is evil.

<sup>3</sup>Foreigners who have believed in me
should not say,
'Yahweh will surely not allow me to belong to his people.'

And eunuchs should not say,
'Because I am deformed and unable to have children, I cannot belong to Yahweh;
I am like a tree that has completely withered.'

- <sup>4</sup>They should not say that, because I, Yahweh, say this to the eunuchs who obey my laws about the Sabbath,
and who choose to do the things that please me,
and who obey all the other laws of the covenant that I made with the Israelite people:
- <sup>5</sup>I will cause people to put inside the walls of my temple a monument to them;
because of that monument, they will be honored more than they would have if they had children;
they will be honored forever.
- <sup>6</sup>I will also bless those who are not Israelites who join themselves to me,
who serve me and worship and love me,
who obey my laws about the Sabbath,
and who faithfully obey all the other laws of the covenant that I made with the Israelite people.
- <sup>7</sup>I will bring them to my sacred hill in Jerusalem, and cause them to be very joyful in my temple where people pray to me, and I will accept the sacrifices that they burn on my altar and other sacrifices that they offer, because my temple will be a building where people of all nations pray to me.
- <sup>8</sup>I, Yahweh, the Lord, the one who will bring back the people of Israel who have been forced to go to other countries, say this:
I will bring from other countries many more people to join those Israelites whom I have brought back."
- <sup>9</sup>"You surrounding nations have armies that are like animals in the forest; come and attack Israel!
- <sup>10</sup>The Israelite leaders should be like watchdogs to protect the people, but it is as though they were blind.
They understand nothing.

They are all like dogs that cannot bark.
Good watchdogs bark when strangers approach,
but the Israelite leaders do not warn the people that their enemies are coming.
Instead, they just want to lie down and sleep and dream.

<sup>11</sup>And they are like greedy dogs; they never get all that they want.
They are supposed to lead the people, like good shepherds lead their flocks, but they are ignorant, and they each do whatever they want to do.

<sup>12</sup>They say to each other, 'Come, let us go and get some wine and other alcoholic drinks, and let us become drunk!
And tomorrow we will enjoy drinking even more!"

<sup>5</sup>Righteous people die,
and no one is concerned about it.
Godly people die,
and no one understands why.
God takes them away in order that they will not endure more calamities, <sup>2</sup>and now they have peace.
They lived righteously,
and now they rest peacefully in their graves.

<sup>3</sup>Yahweh says, "But you who practice sorcery, come here!
You who worship idols,
listen to me!

<sup>4</sup>Do you realize whom you are ridiculing, and whom you are insulting?
Do you realize to whom you are sticking out your tongues?
You are insulting me, Yahweh!
You are always rebelling against me and always lying, just like your ancestors.

<sup>5</sup>You are eager to sleep together under every tall green tree where you worship your gods.
You kill your children as sacrifices to your idols in the dry riverbeds, and offer them as sacrifices to your idols in the rocky caves.

- <sup>6</sup>You take big smooth stones from the riverbeds and worship them as your gods.
You pour out wine to be an offering to them,
and you bring grain to burn for an offering to them.
Do you think that I enjoy all those things?
<sup>7</sup>You sleep with idols' prostitutes on every hill and mountain, and you go there to offer sacrifices to your gods.
<sup>8</sup>You have put charms behind your doors and doorposts,
and you have deserted me.
You have taken off your clothes and climbed into your bed,
and invited more of your lovers to come to bed with you.
You have paid them to sleep with you,
and you have looked at their private parts.
<sup>9</sup>You have given fragrant oil and lots of perfume to kings, and you sent representatives to distant countries to look for other gods to worship;
you even tried to send messengers to the place of the dead to search for new gods.
<sup>10</sup>You became weary because of doing all those things, but you never said, 'It is useless for us to do that.'
You found new strength for worshiping idols,
so you continued to do so.
<sup>11</sup>Was it because you were afraid of those idols more than you were afraid of me that you lied about what you were doing,
and you do not even think about me?
Was it because I did not punish you for a long time that you are not afraid of me?
<sup>12</sup>You think that the things that you have done are right, but I will tell you the truth:
It will not help you to do any of those

things.
<sup>13</sup>When you cry out for help to your collection of idols,
they will not rescue you.
The wind will blow them away; a single breath will carry them all away.
But those who trust in me will live in the land of Israel,
and they will worship me on Zion, my sacred hill." <sup>14</sup>Yahweh will say, "Prepare yourselves to receive me, like people build and prepare a road for a king to come on.
Get rid of the things that are causing you to sin.
<sup>15</sup>Because this is what I say—I, Yahweh, who am holy and honored more than anyone else, and who live forever:
I live in the highest heaven, where everything is holy,
but I also am with those who are humble and who are sorry for the sinful things that they have done.
I will greatly encourage those who have repented.
<sup>16</sup>I will not accuse people forever;
I will not always be angry with them,
because if I did that, people would become weak;
all the people whom I created and caused to live would die.
<sup>17</sup>I was angry with my people because they sinned by taking with force what belonged to others.
Because I was angry, I punished them and turned away from them,
but they continued sinning.
<sup>18</sup>I have seen the evil things that they continually do,
but I will restore them and lead them.
I will encourage them.
As for those who are mourning,
<sup>19</sup>I will enable them to sing songs to praise me.
I will restore all my people, those who live near Jerusalem and those who live far away,

and I will cause things to go well for
them.

<sup>20</sup> Wicked people do not have peace in
their inner beings;
they are like a sea whose waves are always churning up mud,

<sup>21</sup> and I, Yahweh, say that things will never go well for those who are evil."

<sup>58</sup> Yahweh said to me,
"Shout loudly!
Shout like a loud trumpet!
Shout to warn my Israelite people about
their sins!"

<sup>2</sup> They worship me every day;
they come to my temple because they say that they are eager to know what I want them to do.

They act as though they were a nation
that does things that are righteous, that would never abandon the commands of me, their God.

They request me to decide matters justly,
and they are eager that I should come to them.

<sup>3</sup> They say, 'We have fasted to please you,
but you did not notice our doing
that.'

We humbled ourselves,
but you did not pay any attention!

I will tell you why I did not pay attention.
It is because when you fast,
you do it only to please yourselves,
and you act cruelly toward all your workers.

<sup>4</sup> You fast, but you also quarrel and fight with each other with your fists.
Doing things like that while you fast will certainly not cause me to hear your prayers where I am, high in heaven.

<sup>5</sup> You bow your heads like the tops of reeds bend when the wind blows,
and you wear rough clothes and cover
your heads with ashes like people do when they are grieving.
That is what you do when you are fasting,
but do you really think that will please me?

<sup>6</sup> No, that is not the kind of fasting that I desire.
Instead you should seek to free those who have been unjustly put in prison,
and encourage those who are treated cruelly;
and free those who have been oppressed in any way.

<sup>7</sup> Share your food with those who are hungry
and to allow those who have no houses to stay in your houses.
Give clothes to those who do not have
clothes,
and do not hide yourself from your relatives who need help from
you.

<sup>8</sup> If you do those things,
what you do for others will be like a light
that shines when it dawns.
The troubles that have been caused by your sins will end quickly.
Others will know about your righteous
behavior,
and the glorious presence of Yahweh will protect you from behind
like I protected the Israelite people
when they left Egypt.

<sup>9</sup> Then you will call out to me, and I will quickly answer and say, 'I am here to help you.'

Stop oppressing people;
stop falsely accusing people;
and stop saying evil things about
people.

<sup>10</sup> Give food to those who are hungry,
and give to people who are afflicted
the things that they need.
Your doing that will be like a light that shines in the darkness;
instead of doing evil to people, the good things you do for people will be like the sunshine at noontime.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh will guide you continually, and he will give you good things to satisfy you.
He will enable you to remain strong and healthy.

 You will be like a garden that is well watered,
 like a spring that never dries up.

<sup>12</sup> Your people will rebuild the cities that were destroyed long ago;
 they will build houses on top of the old foundations.
 People will say that you are the ones who are repairing the holes in the city walls,
 and who are repairing the streets where people live.

<sup>13</sup> Do not travel on the Sabbath days, and on Sabbath days do not do only the things that you delight to do.
 Enjoy the Sabbath days, and consider them to be delightful.
 The Sabbath days are my holy days.
 Honor me, Yahweh, in everything that you do on the Sabbath days.

Do not talk about and do things to please yourselves.
 If you do all the things that I have just now told you to do; listen, and I will tell you what I will do for you.

<sup>14</sup> I will enable you to be joyful.
 I will greatly honor you;
 it will be as though you were riding with me above the highest mountains!
 I will give to you the blessings that I gave to your ancestor Jacob.
 Those things will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

59 Listen to this! Yahweh's power is not too little to rescue you.
 He has not become deaf; he can still hear you when you call to him for help.

<sup>2</sup> But you have separated yourselves from your God by the sins that you have committed.
 Because of your sins, he has turned away from you, with the result that he does not pay attention to what you request him to do.

<sup>3</sup> You do violent things to others,

with the result that your hands are stained with their blood.
 You constantly tell lies, and you say evil things about others.

<sup>4</sup> When you accuse someone in court, what you say is not fair and it is not true.
 You accuse people falsely; you depend on the lies you tell.
 You are constantly planning to cause trouble for others, and then you do those evil things that you planned.

<sup>5</sup> What you plan to do to harm people is like the eggs a poisonous snake lays, like a web that a spider catches its victims in.
 Cobras will hatch from those eggs, and insects will fall into the spider's web.

<sup>6</sup> You cannot hide the evil deeds that you have done.
 You are constantly acting violently.
<sup>7</sup> You are very quick to go and do evil deeds,
 and you hurry to murder people who are innocent.
 You are continually thinking about sinning.
 Wherever you go, you destroy things and cause people to suffer.

 You always are dishonest, and those who imitate your behavior never have any peace within themselves.

<sup>9</sup> Because of that, God does not rescue us from our enemies, it seems that he is not acting fairly toward us.
 We expect God to give us light, but all he gives us is darkness.

<sup>10</sup> We are like blind people who have to feel along the wall to be able to walk anywhere.
 We stumble and trip at noontime like we would when it is dark.
 We are like dead people who are among healthy people.

<sup>11</sup> We growl like hungry bears;
we continually moan like doves.

We ask God to do what is just,
but nothing happens.

We want God to rescue us,
but it seems that he is far away.

<sup>12</sup> But these things are happening because it is as though our sins are piled high in the presence of God,
and it is they that testify against us.

We cannot deny it;
we know that we have done many wrong things.

<sup>13</sup> We know that we have rebelled against Yahweh;
we have turned away from him.

We oppress people by what we testify
against them;
we do not allow them to get what they have a right to get.

We think about the lies that we can tell,
and then we tell them.

<sup>14</sup> In our courts, the judges do not decide cases fairly;
no one is acting righteously.

In plazas where people gather together,
no one tells the truth;
it seems that people are not allowed to say what is true.

<sup>15</sup> No one tells the truth,
and people try to ruin the reputations of those who quit doing evil.

Yahweh looked around, and he saw that no one was doing what is just;
he was very displeased.

<sup>16</sup> He was disgusted when he saw that no one tried to help those who were being treated cruelly.

So he used his own power to rescue
them;

it is because he is always righteous that he did that.

<sup>17</sup> It is as though he were a soldier who put on his armor and a helmet;
his continually doing what is right is like his armor, and his ability to rescue people is like his helmet.

His being extremely angry and his being ready to get revenge on those who do evil are like his robes.

<sup>18</sup> He will repay his enemies for the evil
things that they have done.
He will severely punish even those who live far from Jerusalem.

<sup>19</sup> When that happens, people everywhere, from the east to the west, will respect and honor Yahweh, because he will come like a rushing river that is pushed along by the strong wind that Yahweh sent.

<sup>20</sup> And Yahweh says that he will come to Jerusalem to free his people;
he will come to rescue those in Judah who have stopped doing sinful things.

<sup>21</sup> This is what Yahweh says to his people:
"This is the covenant that I will make with you:
My Spirit will not leave you, and you will always have my message. You will be able to declare it, and your children and grandchildren will be able to declare it forever."

60 You people of Jerusalem, stand up!
Yahweh has done glorious things
for you,
and he has acted powerfully for you;
so show others that he is very great!

<sup>2</sup> But spiritual darkness has covered all the other people groups on the earth,
complete darkness,
but Yahweh will show you how great he
is,
and other people will also see it.

<sup>3</sup> People of all people groups will see that he is very great by seeing what he has done for you,
and kings will come to see the wonderful things that have happened to you.

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh says, "Look around, and you will see the people who will be returning from exile!"

Your sons will come from distant
countries;
others will carry your little daughters home.

<sup>5</sup> When you look at this happening,
you will be very joyful in your inner beings,
because people will bring valuable goods

- to you from all around the world.
 They will bring valuable things
     from many nations in ships.
- <sup>6</sup> People will also bring valuable goods to you on herds of camels:
         camels from the Midian and Ephah
             areas of northern Arabia.
- And from Sheba in southern Arabia they will come, bringing gold and frankincense;
     they will all come to praise me,
         Yahweh.
- <sup>7</sup> They will bring flocks of sheep and goats from Kedar in northern Arabia and give them to you.
 They will bring rams from Nebaioth for you to sacrifice on my altars,
 and I will accept them happily.
 At that time I will cause my temple
     to be very beautifully decorated.
- <sup>8</sup> And what are those things that are moving swiftly like clouds?
 They resemble pigeons returning to their nests.
- <sup>9</sup> But they are really ships from Tarshish
     that are bringing your people back here.
 When your people come, they will bring with them all the valuable possessions that they have acquired,
 and they will do that to honor me,
     Yahweh, your God, the Holy One of Israel,
     because I will have greatly honored
         you.
- <sup>10</sup> Foreigners will come and rebuild the walls of your cities,
     and their kings will serve you.
 Although I punished you because I was angry with you,
     these things will happen now because I will act mercifully toward you because I am kind.
- <sup>11</sup> The gates of your cities will be open during the day and also during the night,
     in order that people will be able to bring into your cities valuable
- things from many countries, with their kings being led to you in the processions.
- <sup>12</sup> And the kingdoms and nations whose people refuse to allow you to rule them will be completely destroyed.
- <sup>13</sup> The glorious things in Lebanon will be brought to you—
         lumber from cypress trees and fir trees and pine trees—
     to be used to make my temple beautiful.
 When that is done, my temple will truly be glorious!
- <sup>14</sup> The descendants of those who oppressed you will come and bow down to you;
     those who despised you will prostrate themselves in front of your feet.
- They will say that your city on Mount Zion
         is the City of Yahweh,
         where the Holy One of Israel lives.
- <sup>15</sup> Previously everyone hated you and ignored you,
     but now your city will be majestic
         forever;
- and I will cause you to be joyful forever.
- <sup>16</sup> People of all nations and their kings will gladly bring their wealth to you.
 When that happens, you will realize that I truly am Yahweh,
     the one who saves you and rescues
         you from your enemies,
     and that I am the mighty one to whom you Israelite people belong.
- <sup>17</sup> Instead of metals that are not valuable,
     like bronze and iron,
     I will bring to you silver and gold.
 Instead of wood and stones,
     I will bring you bronze and iron for your buildings.
- There will be peace in your country,
     and your rulers will do what is fair.
- <sup>18</sup> People in your country will no longer
     act violently,
     and people will no longer destroy your land and drive you out of
         it.
- The people in the city will be safe,

and everyone there will praise me.
 19 And you will no longer need the sun
     and moon to give you light, because I, Yahweh, will give you more light than the sun and
     moon;

I will be a glorious light for you forever.
 20 It will seem as though the sun and moon will always be shining, because I, Yahweh, will be an everlasting light for you.

You will never again be sad because of things that happen to you.
 21 Your people will all be righteous,
     and they will occupy the land
     forever,
     because I myself have put you there like people plant trees
     in order that you will show others that I am very great.

22 At that time, the groups that are very small now will become very large clans,
     and small clans will become great
     nations.

All those things will happen because, I, Yahweh, will cause them to happen at the right time."

61 The Spirit of Yahweh our Lord is on
     me;
     he has appointed me to bring good news to those who are
     oppressed,
     to comfort those who are discouraged,
     and to free all those who are as though they are chained by the wrong things that they continually do.

2 He has sent me to tell those who mourn that now is the time when Yahweh will act kindly toward his
     people;
     now is the time when our God will get revenge on their enemies.

3 To all those in Jerusalem who mourn,
     he will give beautiful things to wear on their heads
     instead of ashes that they put on their heads to show that they were sad;

he will cause them to rejoice instead of being sad;

     he will enable them to be happy
     instead of being discouraged.

They will be called 'people who continually do what is right, people who are like tall oak trees
     that Yahweh has planted'

to show others that he is very great.

4 Those who return from Babylon will rebuild the cities that the soldiers from Babylon tore down.

Even though those cities have been destroyed and abandoned for many years,
     they will be restored.

5 Foreigners will be the ones who will take care of your flocks of sheep and
     goats,
     and plow your fields and take care
     of your grapevines.

6 But you are the ones who will be like the priests to serve Yahweh,
     to work for God.

You will enjoy valuable goods that are brought from other nations, and you will be happy that those things have become yours.

7 Previously you were shamed and
     disgraced,
     but now you will have great
     blessings;

previously your enemies humbled you,
     but now you will have many good
     things;

you will be happy because you will be in your land again,
     and you will rejoice forever.

8 "I, Yahweh, am very pleased with those who decide matters fairly;
     I hate those who illegally take things from other people.

I will surely repay my people for all that they have suffered in the past.

And I will make an everlasting agreement
     with them.

9 Their descendants will be honored by people of other nations; their children will be honored by all the
     other nations.

Everyone who sees them will know that they are a nation that I, Yahweh, have blessed."

<sup>10</sup>I greatly rejoice because of what Yahweh has done!

I am happy in all my inner being,
because he has saved me and declared that

I am righteous;
those blessings are like a robe that he has put on me.

I am as happy as a bridegroom in his wedding clothes,
or a bride wearing jewels.

<sup>11</sup>Just as seeds sown in a garden sprout
from the soil and grow, Yahweh our God will cause people
of all nations to act righteously, with the result that they will praise him
for doing that.

62 Because I am very concerned about the people of Jerusalem,
I will do something to help them.
I will not stop praying for them until they are rescued from their oppressors,
until that becomes as apparent to everyone as the dawn every morning, until people can see it as clearly as they see a torch shining brightly
at night.

<sup>2</sup>Some day the people of many nations will know that Yahweh has rescued
you, his people.

Their kings will see that your city is
very great.

And Yahweh will give your city a new name.

<sup>3</sup>It will be as though Yahweh had held you up in his hands in order that everyone can see you.

Under his authority you will be like a crown worn by a king.

<sup>4</sup>Your city will never again be called 'the deserted city,' and your country will never again be called 'the desolate
land';

it will be called 'the land that Yahweh delights in,'
and it will also be called 'married to
Yahweh.'

It will be called that because Yahweh will be delighted with you,

and it will be as though you were his bride.

<sup>5</sup>You people will live in all the country of Judah
like a young man lives with his bride.

And our God will be happy that you belong to him,
like a bridegroom is happy that his bride belongs to him.

<sup>6</sup>You people of Jerusalem, I have placed watchmen on your walls;
they will earnestly pray to Yahweh
day and night.

You watchmen, you must not stop praying
and reminding Yahweh about what he has promised to do.

<sup>7</sup>And tell Yahweh that he should not rest until he causes Jerusalem to be a city that is famous and admired throughout the world.

<sup>8</sup>Yahweh has raised his right hand to solemnly promise to the people of Jerusalem:

"I will use my power and will never again allow your enemies to defeat you;

soldiers from other nations will never come again to take away your grain and the wine that you worked hard to produce.

<sup>9</sup>You yourselves will grow the grain, and you will be the ones who will praise me, Yahweh, while you eat the bread made from the grain.

Inside the courtyards of my temple,
you yourselves will drink the wine
made from the grapes that you harvested."

<sup>10</sup>Go out through the city gates!
Prepare the highway on which people will return from other countries!

Cause the road to become smooth;
clear off all the stones;
set up signal flags to help the people
groups to see the road to Jerusalem.

<sup>11</sup>This is the message that Yahweh has sent to the people of every nation.

Tell the people of Israel, "The one who will rescue you is coming!
 Look! He will be bringing to you your reward;
 those whom he has rescued will be going ahead of him."

<sup>12</sup> They will be called: "Yahweh's own people, and ones whom he rescued."
 And Jerusalem will be known as: "The city that Yahweh loves," and "The city that is no longer abandoned."

63 I ask, "Who is this who is coming from the city of Bozrah in Edom, whose clothes are stained red from blood?
 Who is this who is wearing beautiful robes?"
 He replies, "It is I, Yahweh, declaring that I have defeated your enemies, and I am able to rescue you!"
<sup>2</sup> I ask him, "What are those red spots on your clothes?
 It appears that you have been treading on grapes to make wine."
<sup>3</sup> He replies, "I have been treading on my enemies, not on grapes. I did it myself; no one helped me.
 I punished them because I was very angry with them, and my clothes became stained with their blood.
<sup>4</sup> I did that because it was time for me to get revenge; it was time to rescue my people from those who had oppressed them.
<sup>5</sup> I searched for someone who would enable me to help my people, but I was amazed that there was no one to help me.
 So I defeated their enemies with my own power; I was able to do that because I was very angry.
<sup>6</sup> Because I was extremely angry, I punished the nations; I caused them to stagger like drunk men, and I caused their blood to pour out on the ground."

<sup>7</sup> I will tell about all the things that Yahweh has done for his people because of his faithful love for them, and I will praise him for all that he has done.
 Yahweh has done good things for us people of Israel; he has acted mercifully toward us and he has steadfastly and faithfully loved us.
<sup>8</sup> Yahweh said, "These are my people; they will not deceive me"; so he rescued us.
<sup>9</sup> When we had many troubles, he was sad also.
 He sent his angel from before his presence to rescue us. Because he loved us and was merciful to us, he saved us; it was as though he had picked our ancestors up and carried them all those years during which they were oppressed in Egypt.
<sup>10</sup> But we rebelled against him, and we caused his Holy Spirit to be sad.
 So he became like an enemy who fought against us.
<sup>11</sup> Then we thought about what happened long ago, during the time when Moses led our ancestors out of Egypt. We cried out, "Where is the one who brought our ancestors through the Sea of Reeds while Moses led them?
 Where is the one who sent his Holy Spirit to be among our ancestors?
<sup>12</sup> Where is the one who showed his glorious power and caused the water to separate when Moses lifted his arm above it, with the result that he will be honored forever?
<sup>13</sup> Where is the one who led our ancestors

- while they walked through the seabed?
- They were like horses that were racing along and never stumbled.
- <sup>14</sup> They were like cattle that walk down into a valley to rest, and the Spirit of Yahweh enabled them to go to a place where they could rest.
- Yahweh, you led your people, and you caused yourself to be praised."
- <sup>15</sup> "Yahweh, look down from heaven; look down on us from your holy and glorious home.
- You were previously very concerned about us, and you acted powerfully to help us.
- But it seems that you do not act mercifully and zealously for us anymore.
- <sup>16</sup> You are our father, even if Abraham does not know what is happening to us, and Jacob is not concerned about us, either,
- but Yahweh, you are our father; you rescued us long ago.
- <sup>17</sup> Yahweh, why did you cause us to wander away from your road? Why did you cause us to be stubborn in our inner beings, with the result that we no longer honor you?
- Help us like you did previously, because we are the people who serve you and belong to you.
- <sup>18</sup> We, your holy people, possessed your sacred temple for only a short time, and now our enemies have destroyed it.
- <sup>19</sup> Now it seems as though we never were ruled by you, as though we never belonged to you."
- 64 "Yahweh, I wish that you had come down from the sky; you would have caused the mountains to shake with fear.
- <sup>2</sup> It would have been like fire burning up
- dead wood, or like fire making water to boil.
- Come down in order that your enemies will know who you are, and so that the people of other nations will tremble in your presence.
- <sup>3</sup> You did awesome things that we were not expecting you to do; the mountains shook when you came down onto Mount Sinai.
- <sup>4</sup> Since long ago no one has ever seen or heard about a God like you; you help those who depend on you.
- <sup>5</sup> You help those who joyfully do what is right, those who conduct their lives as you want them to.
- But we did not do that; we continued to sin, and so you became angry with us.
- We have been sinning for a long time. It is only if we continually do what you want us to do that you will save us.
- <sup>6</sup> We have all become people who are not fit to worship you; all of the good things that we have done are only like bloodstained rags.
- Because of our sins, we are all like leaves that dry up and are blown away by the wind.
- <sup>7</sup> None of our people worships you, and no one really tries to persuade you to help him.
- You have turned away from us. It is as though you have abandoned us, so that we keep sinning and become more and more guilty.
- <sup>8</sup> But even so, Yahweh, you are our father. We are like clay that a potter uses, and you created us, like a potter creates pottery.
- <sup>9</sup> Yahweh, do not continue to be angry with us; do not keep thinking about our sins forever.
- Do not forget that we are all your people.
- <sup>10</sup> All of your towns in Judah have become like the wilderness;

even Jerusalem has been destroyed.

<sup>11</sup> Your glorious temple on Mountain Zion, where our ancestors worshiped you, has been completely burned up. And all our other beautiful things have been ruined.

<sup>12</sup> Yahweh, you see all those things, but it seems that you refuse to do anything to help us.

It seems that you will cause us to suffer much more."

"I was ready to reply to my people, but no one requested me to help them.

I was ready to help even those who did not call out to me.

I continued to say, 'I am here to help you!'

<sup>2</sup> It is as though I had continually held out my arms to show that I was ready to help my people who rebelled against me, and who continually did the evil things that they wanted to do.

<sup>3</sup> They boldly continue to do things that cause me to be angry: they offer sacrifices to their idols in their gardens, and they burn incense to them on altars made of bricks and tiles.

They eat the meat of pigs, and their pots are full of the broth of meat that is unacceptable to me.

<sup>5</sup> Then they say to others, 'Stay away from me; do not come near me, because I am very holy, with the result that you should not touch me.'

People like that are like smoke in my nose from a fire that burns continually.

<sup>6</sup> I have written a record of all the evil things that they have done.

And I will not remain silent about

all those things;

I will certainly punish these people
<sup>7</sup> for the sins that they and their ancestors have committed.

They have mocked me by burning incense to their idols on the hilltops. So I will punish them like they deserve for doing those things."

<sup>8</sup> This is also what Yahweh said: "When there is a cluster of nice grapes on a vine, people do not throw them away, because they know that there is good juice in those grapes.

Similarly, because there are some people in Judah who faithfully serve me, I will not get rid of all of them.

<sup>9</sup> I will spare some of the descendants of Jacob who are living on the hills of Judah.

I have chosen them, and they will possess that land; they will worship me, and they will live there.

<sup>10</sup> Then all the land from the Plain of Sharon near the Mediterranean Sea and as far east as the Valley of Achor near Jericho will become pastureland, where their cattle and sheep will rest.

<sup>11</sup> But it will be different for you who have abandoned me, you who do not worship me on Zion, my sacred hill, you who worship Gad and Meni, the gods who you say will bring you good luck and good fortune.

<sup>12</sup> It is I, not Meni, who will decide what will happen to you; you will all be slaughtered by swords.

That will happen because you did not answer when I called out to you.

I spoke to you, but you did not pay attention. Instead, you did things that I said are evil; you chose to do things that do not please me.

<sup>13</sup> I, Yahweh the Lord, will give to those

- who worship and obey me things to eat and drink,
and they will be happy;
but all you evil people will be hungry and thirsty,
and you will be sad and disgraced.
- <sup>14</sup> Those who worship and obey me will sing joyfully, but you evil people will wail loudly because you will be suffering in your inner beings.
- <sup>15</sup> Those whom I have chosen will use your names when they curse people; I, Yahweh the Lord, will get rid of you. But I will give to those who worship and obey me a new name.
- <sup>16</sup> The people in this land have had many troubles, but I will cause those troubles to occur no more. Therefore those who request me to bless them and those who solemnly promise to do something should never forget that I am God, who faithfully do what I promise to do.
- <sup>17</sup> Note this: Some day I will create a new heaven and a new earth. They will be very wonderful, with the result that you will no longer think about all the troubles you had previously.
- <sup>18</sup> Be glad and always rejoice because of what I will do: Jerusalem will be a place where people rejoice; the people who live there will always be happy.
- <sup>19</sup> I will rejoice about Jerusalem, and I will be delighted with my people. People will no longer weep or cry because of being distressed.
- <sup>20</sup> No child will die when it is still an infant; all people will live until they are very old. People will consider that anyone who is a hundred years old is still young; they will consider that anyone who dies who is younger than that has been cursed.

<sup>21</sup> My people will build houses and then live in them. They will plant vineyards and then eat grapes from those vineyards.

<sup>22</sup> The houses that they build, no one will take those houses away from them and live in them. No one will take a vineyard away from its owner. My chosen people will live a long time, like trees do, and they will enjoy the things that they have done—the houses that they have built and the crops that they have planted.

<sup>24</sup> Before they call to me to help them, I will answer; I will answer their prayers while they are still praying for me to do something for them.

<sup>25</sup> No one will be harmed or injured anywhere on Zion, my sacred hill: wolves and lambs will eat grass together peacefully; lions will eat hay like oxen do, and they will not attack people. Snakes will not hurt anyone; they will lie on the ground and eat only dirt. That is surely what it will be like because I, Yahweh, have said it."

66 Yahweh also said this:
"All of heaven is like my throne, and the whole earth is like my footstool. So you could certainly not build a house that would be adequate for me to live in and rest!"

<sup>2</sup> I have created everything; all things exist because I made them. That is true because I, Yahweh, have said it.

The people I am most pleased with are those who are humble, who patiently endure it when they suffer, and who tremble when they hear me rebuking them.

<sup>3</sup> You have chosen to continually do the things that you want to do: some of you slaughter oxen to sacrifice them to me, but you also bring human sacrifices to your idols!

You sacrifice lambs to me, but you kill dogs to offer them to your gods.

You offer grain to me, but you also bring pigs' blood to your idols.

You burn incense to me, but you also praise your idols.

You delight to do those disgusting things.

<sup>4</sup> When I called out to you, you did not answer.

When I spoke, you did not pay attention.

You did many things that I say are evil, and you chose to do things that I did not like.

So now I will punish you by causing you to experience the things that you yourselves have done, that you yourselves are afraid of."

<sup>5</sup> But you people who tremble when you hear what Yahweh says, listen to what he says now:

"Some of your people hate you and drive you away because you belong to me.

They make fun of you, and they say, 'Yahweh should show his glorious power!'

We want to see him do something to cause you to be truly happy.'

But some day those people will be very disgraced."

<sup>6</sup> At that time, you will listen to the noise in the city.

You will hear the shouting in the temple.

It will be the sound of Yahweh paying back his enemies.

<sup>7</sup> No one ever heard that a woman gave birth to a baby when she was just starting to have birth pains.

<sup>8</sup> Certainly no one ever heard about such a thing happening, and no one has ever seen it happen.

Similarly, no one ever heard that a nation was created in one instant, not in one day.

But Jerusalem is like a woman who gives birth to children as soon as she starts to have birth pains.

<sup>9</sup> Women certainly do not bring infants to the time when they are ready to be born and then do not allow them to be born.

Similarly, Yahweh will do for Jerusalem what he has promised to do:

he will cause Jerusalem to be full of people again.

That will happen because Yahweh has said it.

<sup>10</sup> You people in Jerusalem, rejoice! And all you people who love Jerusalem should also be happy.

You people who were sad because of what happened to Jerusalem, you should now be glad.

<sup>11</sup> You people in Jerusalem will have everything that you need, like a baby that gets all it needs from its mother's breasts.

You will enjoy all the abundant and glorious things in the city.

<sup>12</sup> Yahweh has promised, "I will cause Jerusalem to be full of valuable things that come from other nations; those things will pour into Jerusalem; it will be like a big flood.

I will take care of the people of Jerusalem like women care for the babies that they nurse.

<sup>14</sup> When you see those things happen, you will rejoice.

Your old bones will become strong again

like in the springtime, when the grass grows.

When that happens, everyone will know that Yahweh has power to help those who worship and obey him, but that he is angry with his enemies.

<sup>15</sup> Yahweh will come down with flames of fire, and his chariots will come down like a whirlwind; he will be extremely angry, and he will punish his enemies by burning them in a fire.

<sup>16</sup> It is as though Yahweh had a big sword, and he will judge and execute many people.

<sup>17</sup> Yahweh says, "Some of you will prepare yourselves to enter the garden of idols by washings and special diets and clothing, and you follow into that place, those who eat the meat of pigs and mice, and other things that I have forbidden you to eat. I promise you, I will stop them and they will not do this any more!"

<sup>18</sup> I know all the evil things that they all think and do. It is now time for me to gather together the people who live in all nations and who speak all languages, and to show them that I am very great.

<sup>19</sup> I will do something among them to show everyone who they are, and those whom I have spared will go to various distant countries: To Tarshish, Put, Lud (home of archers), Meshech, Tubal, Javan, and to distant islands. I will send them to proclaim to nations that have never heard about me that I am very great and glorious. <sup>20</sup> Then they will bring back here your relatives who have been exiled, like the offerings that my Israelite people used to bring in the correct manner to the temple. They will travel to Jerusalem, where my holy mountain is; they will come on horses and in chariots, in wagons, on mules and on camels. <sup>21</sup> I solemnly promise that I will appoint some of them to be priests, and others to do other work in my temple. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it.

<sup>22</sup> I also promise that just like the new heaven and the new earth will last forever, you will always have descendants, and you will always be honored. <sup>23</sup> At every festival to celebrate the Sabbath each week and the new moon each month, everyone will come and worship me. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it. <sup>24</sup> Then they will go out of Jerusalem and look at the corpses of those who rebelled against me. The maggots in those corpses will never die, the fire will never stop burning them, and everyone who sees their corpses will detest them."

Jeremiah

1 This is the message of Jeremiah son of Hilkiah, who wrote this. He was a priest, from the town of Anathoth in the area where the tribe of Benjamin lives. <sup>2</sup>Yahweh started to give him these messages when Josiah had been ruling Judah for almost thirteen years. <sup>3</sup>Yahweh continued to give him messages when Josiah's son Jehoiakim was the king, and he continued to do that until Zedekiah had been the king of Judah for almost eleven years. It was in the fifth month of that year that the people of Jerusalem were exiled to Babylonia.

<sup>4</sup>One day Yahweh gave me this message,

<sup>5</sup>"I knew you before I finished forming you in your mother's womb.
I set you apart for my honor before you were born, and I appointed you to be my prophet for all the nations."

<sup>6</sup>I replied, "O, Yahweh my God, do you not see that I am not qualified to speak for you? I am very young!"

<sup>7</sup>Yahweh replied, "Do not say that you are too young, because you must go to everyone to whom I will send you, and you must tell them everything that I tell you to say. <sup>8</sup>And you must not be afraid of the people to whom you will speak, because I will protect you from being harmed by them. This will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it!"

<sup>9</sup>Then it was as though Yahweh touched my mouth and said, "Listen to me! I have put my message into your mouth. <sup>10</sup>Today I am appointing you to warn nations and kingdoms. You will tell them that I will completely destroy and get rid of some of them and that I will establish others and cause them to be prosperous."

<sup>11</sup>Then Yahweh showed something to me, and said, "Jeremiah, what do you see?"

I replied, "I see a branch from an almond tree."

<sup>12</sup>Yahweh said, "That is correct. And because the word for 'almond' resembles the word for 'watching', it means that I am watching what will happen, and I will make certain that what I have said to you about destroying nations will happen."

<sup>13</sup>Then Yahweh spoke to me again and said, "What do you see now?"

I replied, "I see a pot full of boiling water. It is in the north, tipping toward me."

<sup>14</sup>Yahweh replied, "Yes! It means that from the north great trouble will spread over this land, like boiling water pouring from a pot.

I am summoning the armies of the kingdoms that are north of Judah to come to Jerusalem.

Their kings will set up their thrones at the gates of this city to indicate that they are now the kings of Judah. Their armies will attack and break down the walls of this city, and they will do the same thing to all the other towns in Judah.

<sup>16</sup>I will punish my people because of all the evil things that they have done; they have abandoned me and they offer offerings of worship to false gods.

They worship idols that they have made with their own hands!

<sup>17</sup>So, get up and put on your clothes to get ready for action! Then go to the people of Judah and tell them everything that I tell you to say. Do not be afraid of them, because if you are afraid of them, I will punish you as an example right in front of them! <sup>18</sup>But listen! I will cause you to be strong, like a city that has strong walls around it. You will be as strong as an iron pillar or a bronze wall. Even the royal officials, the priests, and the general populace will not be able to defeat you. <sup>19</sup>They will oppose you, but they will not be able to defeat you, because I will be with you and will protect you. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it!"

2 Yahweh gave me another message <sup>2</sup>to proclaim to everyone in Jerusalem. He said that I should tell them this,

"I, Yahweh, remember in your favor that you followed me and trusted in our covenant long ago.

You tried to please me like a bride

tries to please her husband;
 You loved me,
 and you followed me through the
 desert.

<sup>3</sup> At that time you Israelites were set apart
 to me;
 you belonged to me like the first part of the harvests belong to
 me.

I promised to punish all those who harmed you, my people,
 and send disasters on them.
 This is the way it will always be since I, Yahweh, said that it would happen."

<sup>4</sup> Listen to what Yahweh says, descendants of Jacob, all you people of Israel. You must listen to what Yahweh says.

<sup>5</sup> He says,
 "What sin did I commit that caused your ancestors to turn far away
 from me?

They worshiped worthless idols,
 and they themselves became worthless.

<sup>6</sup> They should have said,
 'We need Yahweh. He is the one who brought us safely out of Egypt'

and led us through a desert plain where there were a lot of pits.

We need Yahweh. He is the one who led us
 where there was no water and where it was very dangerous,
 through a land where no one lives
 or even travels.'

<sup>7</sup> But when I, Yahweh, brought you into a very fertile land,
 in order that you could enjoy all the fruit and other good things that you would harvest,
 you caused the land that I promised to give to you to be unfit for me and to become disgusting to me.

<sup>8</sup> Your priests also did not ask if I was still with them.
 Those who teach God's laws are not faithful to me themselves!
 And your leaders have rebelled

against me.
 Your prophets gave you messages from their god Baal,
 and they worship worthless idols.

<sup>9</sup> So I, Yahweh, will accuse you in court.
 In future years, I will also bring your children and your grandchildren to trial!

That will happen because I, Yahweh, have said that it will happen.

<sup>10</sup> If you go west to the island of Cyprus, or if you go east to Kedar land,
 and if you ask people in those places,
 they will tell you that no people
 from their countries have ever done the wicked things that you people have done!

<sup>11</sup> No people of any nation have ever abandoned their gods that they thought were glorious and started to worship gods that are not really gods,
 but you people have abandoned me, your glorious God,
 and are worshiping gods that are useless.

<sup>12</sup> It is as though everything in the sky is dismayed about what you have done;
 it is as though they tremble and are very horrified. I, Yahweh, see and declare this to you.

<sup>13</sup> You, my people, have done two evil
 things:
 you have rejected me, the one who is like a fountain where you can obtain fresh water,
 and you are worshiping gods that are like pits in the ground that are cracked and which are not able to hold any water.

<sup>14</sup> You Israelite people, you were certainly not slaves when you were born;
 so why were you captured by your
 enemies?

<sup>15</sup> Your enemies roared like lions,
 and they destroyed your land.
 Now your towns have been burned,
 and no one lives in them.

<sup>16</sup> Soldiers from Memphis and Tahpenes, cities in Egypt, have defeated you and shaved your heads to show that

- you are their slaves.
- <sup>17</sup> But it is because you abandoned me,
Yahweh your God,
that these disasters have happened to you, since I had been leading your to safety.
- <sup>18</sup> So why are you trying to make an alliance with the rulers of Egypt who live near the Shihor?
- Why are you trying to make an alliance with the rulers of Assyria who live near the Euphrates River?
- <sup>19</sup> It is because you have been very wicked
that I will punish you.
It is because you have turned away from me that I will condemn
you.
- When I do that, you will realize that bitter and evil things will happen to you because you have forsaken me, Yahweh, your God,
and you no longer have an awesome
respect for me.
- That will certainly happen because I, the Lord, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies in heaven, have said it.
- <sup>20</sup> Long ago, you stopped obeying me
and you would not allow me to lead
you.
You refused to worship me, even though I saved you from being slaves.
- Instead, you worship idols that are under trees on the top of every hill.
You love and worship those idols
instead of me just like an unfaithful man loves a prostitute instead of his wife.
- <sup>21</sup> It is as though you were the best
grapevine that I could plant, and I planted you so you would grow from the very best seed.
So how could you change yourself from the best grapevine into becoming like a vine that is disgusting and rotten?
- <sup>22</sup> Your guilt from your sins is like very bad stains on a cloth,
and you cannot get rid of those stains even by using very strong soap.

This is true because I, Yahweh, have said
it.

<sup>23</sup> You say that you have not sinned.
You claim to be acceptable to God
and that you have not worshiped
the images of Baal.

But think about the disgusting things that you do very eagerly in Hinnom Valley outside Jerusalem.
You are like desperate female camels running here and there to find male camels to mate with.

<sup>24</sup> You are like wild female donkeys that live in the desert.
They sniff the air to find where the male donkeys are,
and there is no one who can restrain their lust.

The male donkeys that want to mate
with them only wear themselves out chasing after them;
because at mating time they find them easily.

<sup>25</sup> You constantly run here and there to find idols to worship, with the result that your sandals are worn out,
and your throats have become dry.
I told you to stop doing that but you said
that you could not stop,
and you said that you loved those foreign gods
and had to worship them!

<sup>26</sup> A robber is disgraced when he is caught.
And all of you, including your kings and priests and prophets,
are similarly disgraced.

<sup>27</sup> You call a piece of wood that is carved to become a sacred idol, your 'father,'
and you call a stone that you have set up, your 'mother.'

You have rejected me
but when you experience troubles,
you call for me to rescue you!

<sup>28</sup> Why do you not shout to the gods that you made?
Why do you not plead with them to rescue you
when you experience disasters?
For you have as many gods as you have cities and towns in Judah!

<sup>29</sup>You complain that it was wrong for me not to have rescued you, but you have all rebelled against me, Yahweh, the one who is speaking to you right now.

<sup>30</sup>I punished some of you, but you did not learn anything from my doing that.

Instead you have killed many of the prophets that I sent to you, like fierce lions kill other animals.

I have certainly never abandoned you in a desert; I have never left you in a very dark land.

So, why do you, my people, say that you are free from my control and that you will not return to worship me anymore?

<sup>32</sup>A young woman would certainly never forget to wear her jewelry, and a bride would never forget to wear her wedding dress, but you my people have forgotten me for many years.

<sup>33</sup>You know how to easily find gods from other countries whom you can love. You can find them more easily than a prostitute can find men to sleep with. You could teach her about infidelity!

<sup>34</sup>You also have the blood of poor people on your clothes; the very people you have murdered; people who were innocent! You did not catch them robbing you!

<sup>35</sup>Yet you say, 'I have done nothing wrong!' I am sure that Yahweh will not be angry with me for much longer.'

But I will punish you severely for claiming that you have not sinned.

<sup>36</sup>Previously you requested the army of Assyria to help you, but they were not able to help you.

Now you have requested the army of Egypt to help you,

but they will not be able to help you, either.

<sup>37</sup>They will capture you, and you will be their prisoners, very ashamed with your hands on your heads.

That will happen because Yahweh has rejected those nations that you are relying on, and they will not be able to help you at all."

3 "People know that if a man divorces his wife and then she marries another man, her first husband certainly must not take her back again to be his wife again.

She would be ceremonially unclean and she has broken the law of Yahweh.

This nation is like this woman.

But you have more idols than prostitutes have men whom they have slept with! So, why should I accept you if you return to me? It is Yahweh who says this.

<sup>2</sup>"Look up at the barren hilltops. On every hilltop you have given yourselves to the idols in the way a prostitute gives herself to her lovers.

You sat along the roadsides like an Arab nomad who is always waiting in the desert for someone to come; but you are waiting to have sex with those who pass by.

Your unfaithfulness is the worship of idols, and your prostitution is just like your idol worship.

The whole land is made unacceptable to Yahweh, and your worship of idols is your prostitution and your wickedness is what made you unclean.

<sup>3</sup>That is why I have not sent you any rain at the times of the year when you needed it.

But you are like prostitutes who are not at all ashamed for what they have done.

<sup>4</sup>Now each of you says to me, 'You are my father!

You have loved me ever since I was young!

<sup>5</sup> So surely you will not be angry with me forever!

You promised you would not obey me, and you did what you said! And you sinned over and over again!

But you will not quit sinning!"

<sup>6</sup> One day when Josiah was the king of Judah, Yahweh said to me, "Have you seen what the people of Israel have done? They have turned away from me, like a woman who has abandoned her husband and sleeps with other men. They have gone up on every hilltop and under every shady tree and worshiped idols there. <sup>7</sup> I thought that they would return to me, but they did not. And their brothers, the people of Judah, were watching all of this. <sup>8</sup> So I sent the people of Israel away to other countries, as a man writes a note saying that he is divorcing his wife and then sends her away because she has committed adultery. But I realized that, just as the people of Israel, the people of Judah were not at all afraid of me. Instead, they acted just as the people of Israel had done. They also turned away from me and began worshiping idols, just as women who leave their husbands and go to other men. <sup>9</sup> They did not care that worshiping idols offended me, so they have made the entire land unacceptable to me by worshiping idols of wood and stone. <sup>10</sup> The people of Judah have pretended to return to me, but they have not been sincere. This is true because I, Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>11</sup> Then Yahweh said to me, "Jeremiah, the people of Israel have turned away from me, but what the people of Judah have done is worse.

<sup>12</sup> So go and tell this to the people of Israel,

'Yahweh says this to you Israelite people who have turned away from him:

I am merciful.

I will not continue to be angry with you forever.

So return to me.

<sup>13</sup> But you must admit that you are guilty, and that you have rebelled against me, Yahweh, your God, that you have worshiped idols under big trees everywhere,

and you have not obeyed me. You have turned away from me.

<sup>14</sup> But you belong to me, so come back to me, my children! If you do, I will take you, one from each city and two from each clan, and bring you back to Jerusalem.

<sup>15</sup> If you do that, I will appoint for you leaders with whom I am pleased who will guide you well because they will know and understand what pleases me.

<sup>16</sup> And when you become very numerous in your land, you will not need to talk about the Sacred Chest that contained the Ten Commandments.

You will not think about it, and you will not want to make a new one.'

<sup>17</sup> At that time people will say that my throne is in Jerusalem.

People from all nations will come there to worship me, and they will no longer stubbornly do the evil things that they desire in their inner beings.

<sup>18</sup> At that time you people of Israel and Judah will return from being exiled in lands to the north.

You will return to the land that I gave to your ancestors to belong to them forever.

<sup>19</sup> You people of Israel, I wanted to accept you to be my children.

I wanted to give you this delightful land. It is a land more desirable than the land of any other nation!

I wanted you to call me your father, and I wanted you to never stop honoring me.

<sup>20</sup> But you have abandoned me like women who have abandoned their husbands."

That is what Yahweh said, and I told it to the people of Israel.

<sup>21</sup> Then God said, "People will hear a noise on the barren hilltops. It will be the noise made by people weeping and pleading for God to be merciful to them.

They will be admitting that they have forgotten Yahweh their God, and that they turned away from behaving as God wanted them to.

<sup>22</sup> You Israelite people, come back to me! If you do that, I will cause you to never turn away from me again."

The people will reply, "We are returning to you,

because you are Yahweh, our God.

<sup>23</sup> When we worshiped idols on the mountains, we did not get any help. Even though we shouted very loudly in our worship, every promise we believed turned out to be lies and only lies.

We now know that trusting in Yahweh our God is the only way Israel will be rescued!

<sup>24</sup> From the time when we were young, the shameful god Baal has taken away from us everything that our ancestors worked hard to acquire.

He has taken away their flocks of sheep and herds of cattle, their sons and their daughters.

<sup>25</sup> So, now we should lie down feeling very ashamed, because we and our ancestors have sinned against Yahweh our God, and we have never obeyed him."

4 Yahweh says, "You Israelite people, if you come back to anyone, it should be to me.

If you get rid of those detestable idols, if you do not go away from me again,

<sup>2</sup> and if you declare, 'Just as surely as Yahweh lives,'

when you take your oaths, and if you are truthful, just, and righteous,

then the people in the other nations of the world will ask me to bless them as I have blessed you,

and they will all come and honor me."

<sup>3</sup> This is what Yahweh says to the people of Jerusalem and the other cities in Judah,

"Cause your inner beings to be ready to receive my messages like farmers plow up hard ground in order that they can plant seed in it.

Just as farmers do not waste good seed by sowing seeds among thorny plants, I do not want to waste my time telling you messages that you are not ready to receive.

<sup>4</sup> Show that your inner beings and your minds are devoted to me.

If you do not do that, my being angry with you because of all the sins that you have committed will be like a fire that will be impossible to extinguish.

<sup>5</sup> Declare this to all the people in Jerusalem and the rest of Judea; blow the trumpets everywhere in the land to warn the people.

Tell them that they should flee to the cities that have high walls around them.

<sup>6</sup> Shout to the people of Jerusalem and run away now. Do not delay, because I am about to bring a terrible disaster upon you that will come from the north.

<sup>7</sup> An army that has destroyed many nations will attack you like a lion that comes out of its den to attack other animals.

The soldiers of that army are already marching toward your land.

They will destroy your cities and leave them without any people still living in them.

<sup>8</sup> So, put on rough clothes and weep and beat your breasts to show that you are very sorry for what you have done, because Yahweh is still very angry with us.

<sup>9</sup> Yahweh declares that at the time when Yahweh punishes you, the king of Judah and all his officials will be very afraid.

The priests and the prophets will be terrified."

<sup>10</sup> Then I replied, "Yahweh my God, you completely deceived the people by telling them that there would be peace in Jerusalem, but now our enemies are ready to slaughter us with their swords!"

<sup>11</sup> When that happens, Yahweh will say to the people of Jerusalem,

"A huge army will come to attack you.

They will not be like a gentle breeze that separates the wheat from the chaff.

They will be like a very hot wind that blows in from the desert.

<sup>12</sup> They will be like a strong blast that I will send.

Now I am declaring that I will punish you."

<sup>13</sup> And the people in Jerusalem will say, "Our enemies are about to rush down on us; their chariots are like whirlwinds.

Their horses are faster than eagles.

It will be terrible for us!

<sup>14</sup> You people of Jerusalem cleanse your inner beings, in order that Yahweh will rescue you.

How long will you continue to think about doing evil deeds?

<sup>16</sup> So I said this to the people in other nations, and also announced it in Jerusalem, "Yahweh says that an army is coming to Jerusalem from far away; they will shout a battle cry against the cities of Judah.

<sup>17</sup> They will set up tents around Jerusalem like people set up temporary shelters around a field at harvest time.

That will happen because the people of Judah have rebelled

against me.

<sup>18</sup> You will be punished very severely; it will be as though a sword has stabbed your hearts.

But you are causing those things to happen to you because of the evil things that you have done."

<sup>19</sup> Then I said to myself, "I am extremely anguished; the pain in my inner being is very severe.

My heart beats wildly!

But I cannot remain silent because I have heard our enemies blowing their trumpets to announce that the battle against Judah will start immediately!

<sup>20</sup> Disasters will occur one after another until the whole land is ruined.

Suddenly all our tents will be destroyed; even the curtains inside the tents will be ripped apart.

<sup>21</sup> How long will this battle continue? How long will I continue to see the enemy battle flags and hear the sound of their trumpets being blown?

<sup>22</sup> Yahweh says: My people are very foolish! They do not have a relationship with me.

They are like stupid children who do not understand anything. They very cleverly do what is wrong, but they do not know how to do what is good.

<sup>23</sup> God gave me a vision in which I saw that the earth was barren and without form.

I looked at the sky, and there was no light there.

<sup>24</sup> I looked at the mountains and hills, and they shook and moved from side to side.

<sup>25</sup> I looked and saw that all there were no more people and all the birds had flown away.

<sup>26</sup> I looked and saw that the fields that previously were fertile had become a desert.

The cities were all ruined;
they had all been destroyed by Yahweh because he was extremely angry."

<sup>27</sup>This is what Yahweh is saying,
"the entire land of Judah will be ruined,
but I will not destroy it completely."

<sup>28</sup>I will do to my people what I said that I would do,

and I will not change my mind.

So when that happens, it will be as though the earth will mourn
and the sky will become very dark.

<sup>29</sup>When the people hear the sound of the enemy cavalry and archers marching,
they will be terrified as they flee
from their cities.

Some of them will find places to hide in
the bushes,
and others will run toward the quarries to escape being killed
by their enemies.

All the cities in Judah will be abandoned;
not one person will remain in
them.

<sup>30</sup>So you who will surely be destroyed,
what will you do then?
Even though you have worn beautiful clothes and jewelry
and paint around your eyes,
those things will not help you,
because the people in other countries that you think love
you really despise you,
and they will try to kill you.

<sup>31</sup>It is as though I already hear the people in Jerusalem crying very loudly, as a woman cries when she is giving birth to her first child;
she gasps for breath and pleads for someone to help her,
and she shouts, 'Something terrible is happening to me; they are about to murder me!"'

5 Yahweh said to the people of Jerusalem,
"Go up and down every street.
Search in the marketplaces to find
people who do what is fair,
who try to be faithful to me.
If you find even one person like that,
I will forgive the people of Jerusalem and not destroy their

city.

<sup>2</sup>But when the people there swear an official oath by Yahweh's life,
they are lying."

<sup>3</sup>So I prayed, "Yahweh, you are certainly searching for people who are faithful
to you.

You punished your people, but they did not pay any attention.

You crushed them, but they ignored what you were telling them to do.

They were extremely stubborn and refused to return to you."

<sup>4</sup>Then I thought, "We cannot expect these people to act righteously,
because they are poor;
they do not have any sense.

They do not know the way Yahweh wants them to conduct their lives;
they do not know what God requires them to do.

<sup>5</sup>So, I will go and talk to their leaders, because they surely know how God wants them to conduct their lives."

But they also have stopped obeying
Yahweh,
and they will not allow him to lead
them.

<sup>6</sup>Because of that, lions will come out of the forests and kill them;
wolves from the desert will attack
them;
leopards that lurk outside their cities will maul anyone who walks outside the cities.

Those things will happen because the people have sinned very much against
God
and have turned away from him
very frequently.

<sup>7</sup>Yahweh says, "I cannot forgive these
people;
even their children have abandoned
me.

When they solemnly declare something,
they ask their gods to show that what they say is true.

I gave my people everything that they needed,

but they often went to the high places on the hills, where they worshiped their idols and committed adultery there.

<sup>8</sup> Just like well fed male horses neigh, wanting to mate with female horses, each of the men desires to sleep with his neighbor's wife.

<sup>9</sup> Should I not punish them for this? I will certainly get revenge on this nation whose people behave like that!

Go along the rows in their vineyards and get rid of most of the people, but do not kill all of them.

These people do not belong to me, so get rid of them, like a gardener lops off branches from a vine.

<sup>12</sup> They have lied about me and said, 'He cannot do anything to help us! He will not punish us! He will not send disasters on us! We will not experience wars or famines!'

They do not have messages from God!

And because they have not believed me, all of these things will happen to them!"

<sup>14</sup> So, this is what Yahweh, the commander of the armies of angels in heaven, has said to me,

"Because my people are saying those things,
I will give you a message to tell them that will be like a fire, and these people will be like wood that the fire will burn up completely!"

<sup>15</sup> Listen to Yahweh's declaration, you people of Israel:
I will bring the army of a distant nation to attack you.

It is a very powerful nation that has existed for a long time.

They speak a language that you do not know, and which you will not be able to understand.

<sup>16</sup> Their soldiers are all very strong, and the arrows from their quivers will send many Judean men to their graves.

<sup>17</sup> They will eat the food that you have harvested from your fields, even though it should be your own children who eat your bread.

They will kill your flocks of sheep and herds of cattle.

They will eat your grapes and your figs.

They will also destroy your cities that have high walls around them and kill the people with their swords.

<sup>18</sup> But even when those things happen, I will not get rid of all of you.

<sup>19</sup> And when the people ask, 'Why is Yahweh doing this to us?' you will tell them, 'You rejected him and worshiped foreign gods in your own land, so now you will become slaves of foreigners in a land that is not your land."

<sup>20</sup> Yahweh instructed me to proclaim this message to the people of Israel and Judah, <sup>21</sup> "Listen to this, you people who are foolish, and you who have no understanding!

You have eyes, but you cannot see. Yes, you have ears, but you cannot hear anything.

<sup>22</sup> Why do you not have any awesome respect for me?

You should tremble when you are in my presence!

I, Yahweh, am the one who put a barrier along the shores so that the waters of the ocean cannot cross it and flood the land.

The waves roll and roar, but they cannot go past that barrier.

<sup>23</sup> But you people are not like the waves that obey me.

You people are very stubborn and rebellious,
and have constantly turned away
from me.

<sup>24</sup> You do not say to yourselves,
'Let us have an awesome respect for Yahweh our God,
the one who sends us rain at the
times that we need it,
the one who causes the grain to become ripe at the harvest season.'

<sup>25</sup> It is because of the wrong things that you have done, that those good things have not happened.

It is because of the sins that you have committed that you have been prevented from receiving those blessings.

<sup>26</sup> Among my people are wicked people who hide along the roads to ambush
people
like men who hunt birds put nets
to catch them.

<sup>27</sup> Like a hunter has a cage full of birds
that he has captured,
their homes are full of things that they have gotten by deceiving
others

so now they are very rich and powerful.

<sup>28</sup> They are big and fat because they eat rich food, and there is no limit to the evil deeds that they have done.

In court, they do not help ordinary people get judges to decide fairly for them, and they do not try to defend orphans.

They do not even want to listen to them in court.

<sup>29</sup> So I will certainly punish them for doing those things.

I, Yahweh, declare that I will certainly get revenge on their nation.

<sup>30</sup> Very appalling things are happening in this country:

<sup>31</sup> Prophets speak only lies
and priests rule by their own authority,

yet you people like that!
But when you start to experience
disasters, what will you do?

6 You people in Jerusalem who are from the tribe of Benjamin,
flee from this city!

Blow the trumpets in the city of Tekoa
south of Jerusalem!

Send up a smoke signal in the city of Beth Hakerem
to warn the people of the coming
danger!

A powerful army will come against you
from the north,
and they will cause great
destruction.

<sup>2</sup> Jerusalem is like a beautiful woman,
but it will soon be destroyed.

<sup>3</sup> Enemy kings, the shepherds of foreign people groups, will come with their armies and set up their tents around the city,
and each king will choose a part of the city for his soldiers to destroy as shepherds divide their pastures for their flocks of sheep.

<sup>4</sup> The kings will tell their troops,
'Make the sacrifices necessary to get ready for battle.

We should attack them before
noontime,

but even if we arrive there late in the afternoon,

<sup>5</sup> we will attack them at night
and tear down their fortresses."

<sup>6</sup> Yahweh, the commander of the armies of angels in heaven, says this,

"I will command those soldiers to cut down the trees outside Jerusalem and to build ramps up to the top of the city walls!"

This city must be punished
because everyone there continually oppresses others.

<sup>7</sup> Its people keep doing wicked deeds,
just as a well keeps producing
water.

The noise from people doing violent and destructive actions is heard everywhere.

I continually see people who are suffering and wounded.

<sup>8</sup> Listen to what I am warning you, you people of Jerusalem, because if you do not listen, I will reject you and cause your land to become desolate, a land where no one lives."

<sup>9</sup> Yahweh, the commander of the angel armies, says this, "Your enemies will cause your country to become as desolate as a vineyard from which all the grapes have been completely stripped from the vines.

Their soldiers will seize the possessions of those who remain in Israel after the others have been exiled like farmers go to the vines again to pick any grapes that were left.

<sup>10</sup> Who can I, Jeremiah, speak to? Who would listen to me, even if I spoke to them?

The ears of the Israelite people are unable to hear what I have to tell them.

See! the message Yahweh gave me to tell them is offensive to them.

When they hear the message of Yahweh, they hate what I tell them!"

<sup>11</sup> After hearing this I became very angry, as Yahweh is angry, and I could not hold myself back any longer.

So Yahweh said to me, "Tell the children in the streets and the young men who gather together.

Tell the men and their wives; tell the very old people, also.

<sup>12</sup> Tell the men that I will give their houses to their enemies, and I will give their property and their wives to them, also, when I punish the people who live in this land!

<sup>13</sup> Everyone is trying to get money by tricking others, from the least important people to the most important people.

Even my prophets and priests, they all lie

to get what they want.

<sup>14</sup> They act as though the sins of my people are like small wounds that they can easily treat.

They tell the people that everything will go well with them, but that is not true; things will not go well with them.

<sup>15</sup> They should be ashamed about the disgusting things that they do, but they are not ashamed at all. They do not even know how to blush.

So, they also will be among those who will be killed. They will be destroyed when I punish them."

<sup>16</sup> This is also what Yahweh said to the Israelite people,

"Stand at the crossroads and look at the people who pass by.

Ask them what was the good behavior that their ancestors had long ago.

And when they tell you, behave that way.

If you do that, you will find rest for yourselves.

But you said that you did not want to do that!

<sup>17</sup> I sent my prophets who were like watchmen.

They told you to listen carefully when the trumpets blow to warn you that your enemies are approaching, but you did not want to listen.

<sup>18</sup> Therefore, you people in the other nations, listen to this:

Pay attention to what is going to happen to the Israelite people.

<sup>19</sup> Listen, all of you!

I am going to cause disasters to happen to the Israelite people.

That is what will happen to them because they have refused to listen to what I told them.

They have refused to obey my laws.

<sup>20</sup> You Israelite people, when you burn frankincense that came from Sheba and when you offer to me sweet-smelling anointing oil that came from far away,

I will not be pleased with your sacrifices.

I will not accept the sacrifices that are completely burned on the altar;
I am not pleased with any of your sacrifices.

<sup>21</sup> Therefore, I will put obstacles on the roads on which my people will travel.

Men and their sons and people's neighbors and friends will stumble over those obstacles and fall down;

everyone will die."

<sup>22</sup> Yahweh also says this,
"You will see a huge army marching toward you from the north.

An army of a great nation very far away is preparing to attack you.

<sup>23</sup> They have bows and arrows and spears; they are very cruel, and do not act mercifully to anyone.

As they ride along on their horses, the horses' feet sound like the roaring of the ocean waves; they are riding in battle formation to attack you people of Jerusalem."

"We have heard reports about the enemy; so we are very frightened, with the result that we are weak.

We are very afraid, and worried, like women who are about to give birth to babies.

<sup>25</sup> So, do not go out into the fields! Do not go on the roads, because the enemy soldiers have swords and they are everywhere; they are coming from all directions, and we are extremely afraid."

<sup>26</sup> So I, Jeremiah, say to you, "My dear people, put on rough clothes and sit in ashes to show how much you are grieving. Mourn loudly and cry very much, as a mother would cry when her only son has died.

For your enemies are very near, and they are going to destroy everything."

<sup>27</sup> Then Yahweh said to me, "Jeremiah, I have caused you to become like someone who heats metal very hot to completely burn the impurities.

You will examine my people's behavior.

<sup>28</sup> You will find out that they are very stubborn rebels:

they are always slandering others.

Their inner beings are as hard as bronze or iron;

they all continually deceive others.

<sup>29</sup> A metalworker causes the bellows to blow very hard to make the fire very hot to completely burn up the impurities.

But just as a fire does not cause all the waste material to run off, it is impossible to separate the people from their wicked deeds.

7 Yahweh gave me another message. He said to me, <sup>2</sup> "Go to the entrance of my house and give this message to the people: You people of Judah, who worship here, listen to this message from Yahweh. <sup>3</sup> This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says to you: 'If you improve your ways and start doing what is right, I will allow you to remain living in your land. <sup>4</sup> But some people are repeatedly saying to you, 'The temple of Yahweh is here, so we will be safe; he will not allow us and the temple to be destroyed.' But do not pay attention to what they say, because they are deceiving you. <sup>5</sup> I will act mercifully to you only if you change your behavior and stop doing evil things, and if you start to act fairly toward others, <sup>6</sup> and if you stop oppressing foreigners who live in your country, and orphans and widows, and if you stop murdering people and worshiping foreign gods. <sup>7</sup> If you do what I have told you, I will allow you to stay in this land that I promised to your ancestors long ago that it would belong to them and their descendants forever.

<sup>8</sup> People are repeatedly telling you, 'The temple is here, so we are safe,' and you are trusting that what they are saying is true. But those people are deceiving you; what they say is worthless. <sup>9</sup> You think that you can steal things, murder people, commit adultery, tell lies in court, and worship Baal and all those other gods that you did not know about previously.

<sup>10</sup> Then you think you can come here and stand in front of this temple, which is my temple, and say 'Nothing bad will happen to us!', while you continue to do all those disgusting things. <sup>11</sup> Perhaps you do not know that you have made this temple, which is my temple, to become like a cave where thieves hide. But I, Yahweh, am telling you that I have seen all these things!

<sup>12</sup> Long ago I put my sacred tent in the district of Shiloh, to be a place where people would worship me. Think about how I destroyed it because my people, the Israelite people, did many wicked things there. <sup>13</sup> And while you were continually doing those wicked things, I told you about it many times, but you refused to listen. I called out to you, but you refused to answer me. <sup>14</sup> Therefore, just as I destroyed Shiloh, I will now destroy this temple that was built for people to worship me, this temple that you trust in, in this place that I gave to you and your ancestors. <sup>15</sup> And I will expel you from this land and send you to other countries far away from me, just as I did to your relatives, the people of Israel."

<sup>16</sup> Yahweh said to me, "Jeremiah, do not pray for these people any longer. Do not call out on their behalf or plead for me to help them, because I will not pay any attention to you. <sup>17</sup> Do you see the wicked things that they are doing in the streets of Jerusalem and in the other towns in Judah? <sup>18</sup> The children gather firewood and their fathers make fires on the altars to burn sacrifices. The women knead dough to make cakes to offer to their goddess Asherah who is called the Queen of Heaven. And on their altars they pour out offerings of wine to their other idols. All of those things cause me to become extremely angry! <sup>19</sup> But I am not the one whom they are hurting; they are really hurting themselves by doing these things for which they should be very ashamed!" <sup>20</sup> So Yahweh the Lord says this: "Because I am extremely angry with what happens at this place, I will punish these people severely; my being very angry will be like a fire that will not be extinguished, and I will destroy the people, their animals, their fruit trees, and their crops."

mander of the armies of angels, the God of Israel, says: "Take away your offerings that you bring to burn completely on your altars and your other sacrifices; do not give them to me; eat them yourselves! <sup>22</sup> When I led your ancestors out of Egypt, it was not offerings to be completely burned on the altar or other sacrifices that I wanted from them. <sup>23</sup> What I told them was, 'Obey me; if you do that, I will be your God and you will be my people. If you do the things that I want you to do, everything will go well for you.' <sup>24</sup> But your ancestors would not pay any attention to me. They continued to do the evil things that they wanted to do, everything that in their stubborn inner beings they desired to do. Instead of coming closer to me, they went further away from me. <sup>25</sup> From the day that your ancestors left Egypt until now, I have continued to send my prophets to you repeatedly. <sup>26</sup> But you, my people, have not listened to me or paid attention to what I said; you have been stubborn, and you have done more sinful things than your ancestors did."

<sup>27</sup> Then Yahweh said to me, "When you tell all this to my people, they will not listen to you. When you call to them, they will not answer. <sup>28</sup> Say to them, 'You people of Judah have not obeyed Yahweh, your God; you have not accepted it when he tried to correct you. No one among you is truthful; you do not say anything that is true; you speak only lies.'

<sup>29</sup> So, tell them to cut off their hair to show that they are mourning; tell them to go up into the barren hills and sing a sad funeral song.

Because I have completely rejected this generation of people who have made me angry." <sup>30</sup> Yahweh says this: "The people of Judah have done many things that I say are evil. They have set up their disgusting idols in my temple, causing it to become an unacceptable place to worship me.

<sup>31</sup> They have built altars at Topheth in Hinnom Valley outside Jerusalem, and they sacrifice their sons and daughters on those altars. I never commanded them to do that; it was not even in my thoughts! <sup>32</sup> So they should beware! There will be a time when that place will no longer be called Topheth or the Hinnom Valley; instead, it will be called the Valley of Slaughter. There will be a huge number of people who will be buried there, with the result that there will be no space to bury more bodies.<sup>33</sup> The corpses of my people that are not buried and are left on the ground will be eaten by vultures and wild animals, and there will be no one to shoo them away.<sup>34</sup> There will be no one singing and laughing anymore in the streets of Jerusalem; there will be no more joyful voices of bridegrooms and brides in Judah, because the land will be completely destroyed."

8 Yahweh says, "After your enemies have destroyed you, then they will break open the graves of your kings and other officials who lived in Judah, and the graves of your priests and prophets and other people who lived there.<sup>2</sup> They will take out their bones from their graves and dishonor them by scattering them on the ground under the sun and the moon and the stars—those are the gods which my people loved and served and worshiped. No one will gather up their bones and bury them again; they will remain scattered on the ground like dung.<sup>3</sup> And all the people of this wicked nation who are still alive and whom I have exiled to other countries will say, 'We would prefer to die than to continue to stay alive here in these countries.' That will be true because I, Yahweh, have said it."

4 Yahweh said to me, "Jeremiah, tell the people that this is what I, Yahweh, am saying to them: 'When people fall down, they get up again, do they not?'

When people are going along a road and find out that they are walking on the wrong road, they go back and find the correct road, do they not?

5 Yes, they do, so why do these people of Judah continue trusting in those idols that have deceived them?

They continue turning away from me and betray my covenant, even though I have warned them of what will happen.

6 I have listened carefully to what they say, but they do not say what they should say. Not one of them is sorry for having sinned.

No one says, "I have done wicked things." They are sinning and doing what they want to;

Charging into sinful behavior with the excitement of a horse that is running into a battle.

7 Even the stork knows when the seasons change, and the dove, the swallow, and the crane understanding the time of their migration!

But my people do not know what I, Yahweh, require them to do.

8 Your men who teach you the laws that Moses wrote have been saying false things about those laws.

So, why do they continue saying, "We are very wise because we have the laws of Yahweh"?

9 Those teachers, who think that they are wise, will be ashamed and dismayed when they are taken to other countries by their enemies

Because they sinned by rejecting what I told them. Truly, they were not very wise to do that!

10 So, I will give their wives to other men; I will give their fields to the enemy soldiers who conquer them.

All the people, including those who are least important and those who are most important, they all are trying to get money by tricking others

Even my prophets and priests, they all lie to get what they want.

11 They act as though the sins of my people are like small wounds that they can easily treat.

They tell the people that everything will go well with them, but that is not true; things will not go well with them.

12 They should be ashamed when they do disgusting things, but they do not even know how to show on their faces that they are ashamed about their sins.

So, they also will be among those who will be killed. They will be destroyed when I punish them.

<sup>13</sup> I will allow their enemies to take away the figs and grapes that the people would have harvested from their fields. Their fruit trees will all wither. They will not receive all the blessings that I prepared for them. This will certainly happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>14</sup> Then the people will say, "Why should we wait here in these small towns? We should go to the cities that have high walls around them, but even if we do that we will be killed there, Because Yahweh our God has decided that we must be destroyed; it is as though he has given us a cup of poison to drink, because we sinned against him.

<sup>15</sup> We hoped that things would go well for us, but things have not gone well. We hoped that we would recover and be strong again, but only things that terrify us are happening to us.

<sup>16</sup> People far north in the Israelite city of Dan can already hear the snorting of the horses of those who are preparing to attack us. It is as though the entire land is shaking as their army approaches;

they are coming to destroy our land and everything in it, the people and the cities."

<sup>17</sup> Yahweh says, "I will send those enemy soldiers to Judah, and they will be like poisonous snakes among you. No one will be able to stop them from attacking you; they will attack you like snakes do, and kill you."

<sup>18</sup> My grief for the people of Judah has overwhelmed any sense of happiness. I am very sad in my inner being.

<sup>19</sup> Throughout our land, the people ask, "Has Yahweh abandoned Jerusalem? Is he, our city's king, no longer there?" Yahweh replies, "If they want me to be in Jerusalem, why do the people worship idols and foreign gods?"

finished, the summer has ended, but Yahweh still has not rescued us from our enemies."

<sup>21</sup> I cry because my people have been crushed. I mourn, and I am completely dismayed.

<sup>22</sup> I ask, "Surely there is medicinal balm in the region of Gilead! Surely there are doctors there!"

But my people have been badly wounded in their spirits, and nothing can heal them.

9 <sup>1</sup> I wish that my head could produce as many tears as water from a spring, and that my eyes were like a fountain of tears, since I cry night and day for all of my people who have been killed by their enemies.

<sup>2</sup> I wish that I could leave my people and forget them, and go and live in a shack in the desert, because they have not remained faithful to Yahweh; they are a mob of people who deceive others.

They are powerful, but not because they are faithful, but they go about doing wicked things. "They do not know me," Yahweh says.

<sup>4</sup> Do not trust your neighbors and even your brothers! They all are as deceitful as Jacob was.

They slander each other and tell lies about each other.

They lie continually and, because of that, they have become skilled liars; they do one oppressive deed after another until they grow tired from sinning so much.

<sup>6</sup> Jeremiah, everyone living around you is a deceiver. Not one of them will admit that I am God.

Listen carefully to what I say: I will test my people, like a metalworker puts metal in a hot fire to completely burn out the impure bits.

Because of all the evil things that my people have done, there is absolutely nothing else that I can do.

They say to their neighbors, 'I hope things will go well for you,' while they are planning to kill them.

<sup>9</sup> Should I not punish them for doing that?

Yes, I should certainly get revenge on the people of a nation that does things like that!"

<sup>10</sup> So, I will weep and wail for the people who live in the mountains and in the pastures, because those areas will be desolate, and no one will live there.

There will be no cattle there to call to each other,

and all the birds and wild animals will have fled to other places.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh also says, "I will cause Jerusalem to become a heap of ruins, and only jackals will live there.

I will destroy the towns of Judah, with the result that they will be completely deserted;

no people will live there."

<sup>12</sup> I said, "Only people who are very wise can understand these things.

Only those who have been taught by Yahweh can explain these things to others.

The wise people are the only ones who can explain why the land will be completely ruined with the result that everyone will be afraid to travel through it."

<sup>13</sup> Yahweh replied, "These things will happen because my people have rejected my laws which I gave to them; they have not obeyed me or my instructions. <sup>14</sup> Instead, they have stubbornly done the things that they wanted in their inner beings to do. They have worshiped the idols that represent the god Baal, which is what their ancestors did. <sup>15</sup> So now listen to what I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God of the Israelites, say: What I will do will be like giving these people bitter things to eat and poison to drink: <sup>16</sup> I will scatter them to many nations which neither they nor their ancestors have known anything about; I will enable their enemies to strike them with swords until I have destroyed them."

"Think about what is happening, then summon those women who mourn when someone has died.

<sup>18</sup> Tell them to come quickly and start to wail, with the result that tears will stream down from your eyes.

We have experienced a terrible disaster! Now we are very ashamed, because our houses have been destroyed by our enemies, and we are being forced to leave our land.'

<sup>20</sup> You women, listen to what Yahweh says.

Pay attention to his words.

Teach your daughters to wail.

Teach each other how to sing funeral songs.

<sup>21</sup> You must learn to sing funeral songs because people will be dying in your houses and in palaces.

There will be no more children playing in the streets,

there will be no more young men gathering in the city squares.

their dead bodies will lie there like grain that has been cut by reapers, and there will be no one still alive to bury them.

"Wise men should not boast about their being wise, strong men should not boast about their being strong;

and rich people should not boast about their being rich.

<sup>24</sup> Instead, those who want to boast should boast about their knowing me and about understanding that I am Yahweh,

that I am kind and just and righteous,
that I faithfully love people,
and that I am delighted with people who act that way.

<sup>25-26</sup> There will be a time when I will punish all those people who have changed their bodies by circumcising them but who have not changed their inner beings: The Egyptian, the Moab, of Edom, and of the Ammon people groups, all those who live close to desert areas far from Judah. I will even punish the people of Israel because they are only circumcised on the outside, and physically, and not on the inside, in their inner self."

10 You people of Israel, listen to what Yahweh says:

<sup>2</sup> "Do not act like the people of other nations act, and do not be terrified by strange things that you see in the sky, even though they cause the people of other nations to be terrified.

<sup>3</sup> The customs of the people of other nations are worthless. For example, they cut down a tree in the forest. Then a skilled worker cuts a section of it and uses his chisel to carve an idol from that section.

<sup>4</sup> Then people decorate the idol with silver and gold.

Then they fasten it securely with nails in order that it will not topple over.

<sup>5</sup> Then the idol stands there like a scarecrow in a field of cucumbers. It cannot speak, and people must carry it, because it cannot walk.

Do not be afraid of idols, because they cannot harm anyone, and they cannot do anything good to help anyone."

<sup>6</sup> Yahweh, there is no one like you. You are great, and you are very powerful.

<sup>7</sup> You are the king of all the nations! Everyone should revere you, because that is what you deserve.

Among all the wise people on the earth and in all the kingdoms where they live, there is no one like you.

<sup>8</sup> Those people who think that they are very wise are stupid and foolish. The idols that they worship are only made of wood! Those idols certainly cannot teach them anything.

<sup>9</sup> People hammer silver from Tarshish and gold from Uphaz into sheets, and then they give those sheets of silver and gold to skilled workers to cover the idols.

Then they put on those idols expensive purple robes that are made by skilled workers.

<sup>10</sup> But Yahweh is the only true God; he is the all-powerful God, the king who rules forever.

When he is angry, all the earth shakes; and the people of the nations cannot endure what he does when he is angry with them.

<sup>11</sup> You Israelite people, tell this to those people: "Those idols did not make the sky and the earth, and they will disappear from the earth."

<sup>12</sup> But Yahweh made the earth by his power; he made firm ground to stand on by his wisdom and stretched out the sky by his understanding.

<sup>13</sup> When he speaks loudly, there is thunder in the sky; he causes clouds to form over every part of the earth.

He sends lightning with the rain and releases the winds from his storehouses.

The images that they make are not real gods; they are lifeless.

<sup>15</sup> Idols are worthless; they are just objects that make a mockery of the true God; there will be a time when they all

- will be destroyed.
- <sup>16</sup> But the God whom we Israelites worship is not like those idols; he is the one who created everything that exists; we, the tribe of Israel, belong to him; he is the commander of the angel armies.
- <sup>17</sup> Yahweh says this to the people of Jerusalem: "The army of your enemies surrounds your city, so gather up your possessions and prepare to leave the city.
- <sup>18</sup> I will soon throw you out of this land and cause you to experience great troubles, with the result that you will begin to think of me again."
- <sup>19</sup> The people replied, "It is as though we have been badly wounded, and we are very grieved; It is as though we have a very serious illness, and we must endure the pain.
- <sup>20</sup> It is as though our great tent is destroyed; the ropes that held it up have been cut; our children have gone away from us and will not return; there are no people left to rebuild our great tent.
- <sup>21</sup> Our leaders have become just like animals; they no longer ask Yahweh to guide them, so they will no longer prosper, and all those over whom they rule will be scattered.
- <sup>22</sup> Listen! Our enemies' armies in the north are making a very great noise as they march toward us. The towns in Judah will be destroyed, and they will become a place where jackals live."
- <sup>23</sup> Yahweh, I know that no person controls what will happen to him; no one is able to direct the events that he will experience.
- <sup>24</sup> So correct us, but do it gently.

Do not correct us when you are angry, because we would die if you did that.

<sup>25</sup> Punish all the nations whose people do not acknowledge that you are God; punish all the nations whose people do not worship you, because they are completely destroying us people of Israel and they are causing our land to soon be only a desert.

11 This is another message that Yahweh told me: <sup>2</sup> "Listen to the agreement that I made with the ancestors of the people of Jerusalem and the other cities in Judah. Then tell that agreement to them again. <sup>3</sup> Then tell them that I, Yahweh, the God whom the Israelite people worship, said that I will curse everyone who does not obey what was written in that agreement that I made with them. <sup>4</sup> It is the same agreement that I made with their ancestors when I brought them out of Egypt. What happened to them in Egypt was terrible; it was as though they were living in a hot furnace. When I brought them out of Egypt, I told them to obey me, and to do everything that I had commanded them to do. I also told them that if they obeyed me, they would be my people and I would be their God. <sup>5</sup> Now tell these people that if they obey me, I will do what I promised to do for their ancestors. I will enable them to continue living in this very fertile land in which they now live."

I replied, "Yahweh, I trust you that what you have said will happen."

<sup>6</sup> Then Yahweh said to me, "Go into the streets of Jerusalem and to the other cities in Judah. Proclaim my message to the people. Tell them to listen to the agreement that I made with their ancestors and to obey it. <sup>7</sup> When I brought their ancestors out of Egypt, I solemnly pleaded with them many times to obey me, and I am still pleading with them now. <sup>8</sup> But they did not obey me or even pay any attention to me. Everyone continued to be stubborn and to do the evil things that they wanted to do. I commanded them to do what was written in the agreement, but they refused. So I punished them in all the ways that I promised that I would."

<sup>9</sup> Then Yahweh said to me, "The people of Jerusalem and the other cities in Judah are rebelling against me. <sup>10</sup> Their ancestors refused to do what I told them to do, and now these people have returned to committing the sins that their ancestors committed. They are worshiping other gods. The people of Israel disobeyed the agreement that I made with their ancestors, and now the people of Judah have done the same thing. <sup>11</sup> So now I, Yahweh, am warning them that I will cause disasters to come to them, and they will not escape. And when they call out for me to help them, I will not pay attention. <sup>12</sup> When that happens, the people in Jerusalem and other cities in Judah will offer sacrifices and burn incense to their gods and ask for their help, but those gods will not be able to save them when those disasters come to them. <sup>13</sup> There are now as many gods in Judah as there are towns in Judah; the people of Jerusalem have erected as many altars to burn incense to those gods as there are streets in Jerusalem.

<sup>14</sup> Jeremiah, do not pray for these people, and do not plead with me to rescue them. If you plead with me, I will not pay attention; and if they call out to me for help when they are in distress, I will not listen to them."

<sup>15</sup> Then Yahweh said,

"The people of Judah whom I love certainly no longer have a right to come to my temple, because they continually do many evil things.

They think that continually making sacrifices of meat to me certainly will protect them from disasters, with the result that they will be able to rejoice.

<sup>16</sup> I previously said that they were like an olive tree full of green leaves with a lot of good olives on it, but now I will send their enemies to attack them furiously; it is as though I will break off their branches, and their city will be destroyed by fire. <sup>17</sup> It is as though the people of Judah and Israel were a beautiful olive tree that I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, planted, but now, by burning incense to their god Baal, they have caused me to become very angry.

So now I have decided to destroy them."

<sup>18</sup> Yahweh revealed to me that my enemies were planning to kill me. <sup>19</sup> Before he did that, I was like a lamb that was being led away to be slaughtered; I did not know what they were planning to do. I did not know that they were saying, "Let us get rid of this tree and its fruit," so I did not know that they intended to kill me, in order that no one would remember me.

<sup>20</sup> Then I prayed, "Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, you judge people justly, and you examine everything that we are thinking.

Allow me to watch you getting revenge on the people who want to kill me, because I trust that you will do for me what is right."

<sup>21</sup> It was the men of my own town, Anathoth, who wanted to kill me, and they told me that they would kill me if I did not stop prophesying what Yahweh told me to say.

<sup>22</sup> So Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, said about them, 'I will punish them. Their young men will be killed in wars, and their children will die because they have no food. <sup>23</sup> I have set a time when I will bring disasters to the people of Anathoth, and when that happens, none of them will remain alive.'

12 Yahweh, whenever I tell you that I am unhappy about what is happening to me, you always act justly.

So now allow me to ask about one more thing that I do not understand:

Why are wicked people often very prosperous?

Why do things go very well for dishonest people?

<sup>2</sup> You allow them to prosper like trees that grow tall and bear a lot of fruit.

They always say good things about you, but in their inner beings, they are really far from you.

<sup>3</sup> But Yahweh, you know me very well. You see what I do and you are able to know what I am thinking.

Set them apart like we separate the sheep
out of the herd so that on the day of slaughter they will be butchered.

<sup>4</sup>This land is becoming very dry and even the grass is withering.
Even the wild animals and the birds have all died
because the people who live in this land are very wicked.
All this has happened because the people
have said,
"Yahweh does not know what has happened to us!"

<sup>5</sup>Then to show me that I needed to be prepared to endure even greater difficulties, Yahweh said to me,
"It is as though you have become exhausted from racing against men;
so how will you be able to race against horses?
If you only prepare to run on open
ground,
what will happen to you when you are running through the thick foliage near the Jordan River?

<sup>6</sup>Already your brothers and other members of your own family oppose
you.
They plot against you and they say bad things about you.
So even if they say nice things about
you,
do not trust them!

<sup>7</sup>I have abandoned my Israelite people,
the people whom I chose to belong
to me.
I have allowed their enemies to conquer
the people whom I love.

<sup>8</sup>My people have become to me like a lion in the forest.
It is as though they roar at me like a lion,
so now I hate them.

<sup>9</sup>My chosen people have become like speckled birds
that are surrounded by vultures
waiting to eat their flesh.
Tell all the wild animals to come and eat the flesh until they are full.

<sup>10</sup>Many rulers from other countries have come with their armies and devastated my people whom I care for like a farmer takes care of his vineyard.

They have caused my beautiful land to become a barren desert where no one
lives.

<sup>11</sup>They have caused it to become completely empty;
So now it is as though I am mourning the death of a loved one.

The whole land is desolate,
and no one worries about it.

<sup>12</sup>The soldiers of our enemies have marched across all the barren
hilltops.

But I, Yahweh, am using those armies to punish your land from one end to the other,
and no one will escape.

<sup>13</sup>It is as though my people planted wheat,
but now they are harvesting thorns.
They have become very tired because of much hard work,
but they have gained nothing from all that work.

They will be very disappointed because their harvests will be very small,
and that will happen because I, Yahweh, am extremely angry
with them."

<sup>14</sup>This is also what Yahweh said to me: "I will punish the evil nearby nations that have been trying to take away the land that I gave to my Israelite people. I will force them to leave their own lands. But I will throw the people of Judah out of their lands, also. <sup>15</sup>But later I will act mercifully toward those nations again, and I will bring them back to their own lands again.
Each clan will come back to its own land.

<sup>16</sup>And if the people of the other nations whose armies have invaded Israel learn the religious customs of my people, and if they learn that I am listening when they solemnly promise that they will do something, like they taught my people to believe that their god Baal was listening when they made solemn promises, I will cause them to become prosperous, and they also will be my people.<sup>17</sup> But I will expel any nation whose people refuse to obey me, and I will destroy that nation and its people. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

13 One day Yahweh said to me, "Go and buy a linen waistcloth. Put it on, but do not wash it."<sup>2</sup> So I bought a very nice waistcloth, which is what Yahweh told me to do, and I put it on.

<sup>3</sup> Then later Yahweh gave me another message. <sup>4</sup> He said, "Go to the Euphrates River and hide your waistcloth in a crevice in the rocks."<sup>5</sup> So I went to the river and did what Yahweh told me to do.

<sup>6</sup> A long time later, Yahweh said to me, "Go back to the river and get the waistcloth that I told you to hide there."<sup>7</sup> So I went to the Euphrates River and dug out the waistcloth from the crevice in which I had hidden it. But it was ruined, and useless.

<sup>8</sup> Then Yahweh gave me this message: <sup>9</sup> "What happened to your waistcloth shows that I will destroy the things that the people of Jerusalem and other places in Judah are very proud of.<sup>10</sup> Those wicked people refuse to pay attention to what I say. They stubbornly do just what they desire to do; they worship other gods. Therefore, they will become completely useless, like your waistcloth.<sup>11</sup> Just like a waistcloth clings closely to a man's waist, I wanted the people of Israel and Judah to cling closely to me. I wanted them to be my people, people who would praise me and honor me. But they would not pay attention to me.

<sup>12</sup> So, tell this to them: 'Yahweh, the God whom you Israelite people worship, says that every leather wineskin should be filled with wine.' And when you tell that to them, they will reply, 'Of course we know that all wineskins should be filled with wine!'<sup>13</sup> And then you must tell them, 'No, that is not what Yahweh means. What he said means that he will cause this land to be filled with people who are drunk. That will include all of you—the king who sits on the throne that King David previously sat on, the priests and the prophets, and even the common people of Jerusalem.'<sup>14</sup> He is saying, 'I will cause a drunken brawl among you. Even parents will brawl with their children. I will not pity you or act mercifully toward you at all; pitying you will not prevent me from getting rid of you."

<sup>15</sup> You people of Judah, pay very careful attention.

Do not be proud, because Yahweh has spoken to you.

<sup>16</sup> It is as though he is ready to bring darkness on you and to cause you to stumble and fall as you walk on the hills when it is becoming dark.

So praise Yahweh your God before that happens.

If you do not do that, you will look for light, but all you will see is darkness and gloom.

<sup>17</sup> And if you still refuse to heed what he says, what will happen to you because of your being proud will cause me to cry when I am alone.

My eyes will be filled with tears because you, Yahweh's people, whom he takes care of like a shepherd takes care of his flock, will all be captured by your enemies and taken to other countries.

"Come down from sitting on your thrones and humbly sit in the dirt, because your enemies will soon snatch from your heads your glorious crowns."

<sup>19</sup> The towns in the southern Judean wilderness will be surrounded by your enemies, and no one will be able to get through their lines to rescue the people in those towns.

You people of Judah will be captured and taken away; you will all be exiled.

<sup>20</sup> You leaders of Jerusalem, open your eyes and look: the enemy armies are ready to march down from the north.

When that happens, what will happen to the people of Judah who are like a - beautiful flock of sheep, people that he gave to you to take care of?

- <sup>21</sup>What will you say when Yahweh appoints people from other countries to rule over you,
people who you mistakenly
thought were your friends?
You will suffer very much pain,
like a woman who is about to give birth to a baby.
- <sup>22</sup>You will ask yourselves, "Why is this happening to us?"
I will reply that it is because of your many sins.
That is why soldiers of the invading armies will lift up the skirts of your women and rape them.
- <sup>23</sup>A man from Ethiopia certainly cannot change the color of his black skin,
and a leopard certainly cannot change its spots.
Similarly, you cannot start doing what is
good,
because you have always done what is evil.
- <sup>24</sup>Yahweh says, "I will scatter you like chaff
that is blown away by the wind
from the desert.
- <sup>25</sup>That is what is certainly going to
happen to you,
the things that I have determined
will happen to you,
because you have forgotten me,
and you are trusting in false gods.
- <sup>26</sup>It is as though I myself will pull your skirts up over your faces and cause you to be very ashamed because everyone will be able to see your private parts.
- <sup>27</sup>I have seen that you act like men who are eager to commit adultery;
you are like male horses that whinny when they desire to mate with a female horse.
I have seen that you worship disgusting
idols in the fields and on the hills.
You people of Jerusalem, terrible things will happen to you because you will not be obedient and live a good life!

How long will it be until you are acceptable to me again?"

14 After there had been no rain in Judah for a long time, Yahweh gave Jeremiah
this message:

<sup>2</sup>The people in Judah are very distressed;
people are sitting on the ground
and mourning;
in all of Jerusalem people are crying
loudly.

<sup>3</sup>The rich people send their servants to wells to get water,
but all the wells are dry.

The servants return with empty pitchers;
they cover their heads
because they are ashamed and
humiliated.

<sup>4</sup>The ground is extremely dry and cracked open
because there has been no rain.

The farmers are ashamed that they cannot raise a crop,
so they also cover their heads.

<sup>5</sup>Even the does abandon their newborn babies,
because there is no grass in the fields for them to eat.

<sup>6</sup>The wild donkeys stand on the barren
hills,
panting like thirsty jackals.

They become blind
because there is no grass to eat.

<sup>7</sup>The people say, "Yahweh, if we have turned away from you and sinned
many times,
we now know that we are being punished because of our sins!"

Please help us
in order that everyone can see that you are very great and keep your promises.

<sup>8</sup>You are the one whom we Israelites confidently expect to do good things
for us
when we have many troubles.

So, why do you not help us?
You act as though you are a stranger
in our land,
like you are someone who is staying
here for only one night.

<sup>9</sup>Are you also surprised about the terrible things that are happening to us?

Why do you act like you are unable to save anyone, even though you are a strong warrior?

Yahweh, you are here among us,
and others know that we are your
people,
so do not abandon us!"

<sup>10</sup> And this is what Yahweh says to those people:

"You love to wander away from me;
you run from one idol to another.
Therefore, now I will no longer accept
you,
and I will punish you for your sins."

<sup>11</sup> Then Yahweh said to me, "Do not pray for these people anymore. <sup>12</sup> When they fast, I will not pay any attention. When they bring to me their offerings of animals to be completely burned on the altar and their offerings of flour, I will not accept them. Instead, I will get rid of them by wars, by famines, and by diseases."

<sup>13</sup> Then I replied to him, "Yahweh my God, their prophets are telling the people that they will not experience wars or famines. They are telling the people that you will surely allow us to have peace in our land for many years."

<sup>14</sup> Yahweh replied to me, "Those prophets say that they are speaking what I tell them to say, but they are telling lies. I did not send them, so what they are saying is false. They say that they have received visions from me, and that they are telling things that I have revealed to them, but that is not true. They are saying foolish things that they have only thought of themselves. <sup>15</sup> So this is what I say about those prophets who are predicting what will happen, saying that I told them those things: They are saying that we Israelites will not die from wars or famines, but I did not send those prophets. And they themselves will die from wars or from famines. <sup>16</sup> And the people to whom they are predicting these things, they and their wives and their sons and their daughters, will also die from wars or from famines. Their corpses will be thrown into the streets of Jerusalem, and there will not be anyone to bury them. I will punish them like they deserve to be punished.

'Day and night my eyes are full of tears.'

I cannot stop crying.
I cry for my people,
who are very precious to me, as if they were my daughters.
I cry for them because they have been severely wounded;
and they will not recover or heal
from this severe wound.

<sup>18</sup> If I go out into the fields,
I see corpses of people who have been slaughtered by our
enemies.

If I walk along the streets of the city,
I see corpses of people who died
from hunger.

The prophets and the priests travel through the land, preaching to
people,
but they do not know what they are
doing."

<sup>19</sup> Then I prayed this:
"Yahweh, have you completely rejected
the people of Judah?
Do you really despise the people of Jerusalem?"

Why have you wounded us very badly,
with the result that we will never be healed?

We hoped that we would have peace,
but there was no peace.

We hoped that there would be a time
when we would be healed,
but all that we received were things
that terrified us.

<sup>20</sup> Yahweh, we admit that we are wicked
people,
and that our ancestors also did
many wicked things.

We have all sinned against you.

<sup>21</sup> But Yahweh, in order that we may honor you,
do not despise us.

Do not dishonor the city where your glorious throne is.

Please do not forget us,
and do not break your agreement
with us.

<sup>22</sup> Those idols that have been brought from other nations certainly cannot bring rain to us,
and the sky certainly cannot cause

rain to fall.

Yahweh our God, you are the only one who can do things like that.
So we will confidently expect you
to help us."

15 Then Yahweh said this to me: "Even if Moses and Samuel could come back from their graves and stand in front of me and plead with me for these Israelite people, I would not act mercifully toward these people. I would tell you to send them away from me. Cause them to leave me! <sup>2</sup> And if they ask you, 'Where shall we go?', tell them, 'This is what Yahweh says:

The ones that I say must die, will die;
The ones that I say must die in wars, will die in wars.

The ones that I say must die from hunger, will die from hunger.

The ones that I say must be captured and taken to other countries, will be captured and taken to other countries.

<sup>3</sup> I will send four things that will get rid of them: I will send enemy soldiers using swords to kill them. I will send wild dogs to drag away their corpses. I will send vultures to eat their corpses. And I will send other wild animals to eat what remains of their corpses. <sup>4</sup> Because of the wicked things that King Manasseh did in Jerusalem, I will cause people in all the kingdoms of the earth to be horrified concerning what will happen in Judah to my people.

<sup>5</sup> You people of Jerusalem, no one will feel sorry for you.

No one will weep for you.

No one will wish that you would not be hurt.

<sup>6</sup> You people have abandoned me;
you have continued to walk away
from me.

So, I will lift up my fist to smash you;
I am tired of acting mercifully toward.

<sup>7</sup> At the gates of your cities, I will scatter
you like a farmer scatters the chaff
from his grain by winnowing it.

You, my people, have refused to turn away from your evil
behavior.

So, I will get rid of you,

and I will even cause your children
to be killed.

<sup>8</sup> I will cause there to be more widows in Judah
than there are grains of sand on the seashore.

I will bring on you an enemy army
that will destroy your young men and cause their mothers to weep.

I will cause you to suddenly experience great suffering and become very terrified.

<sup>9</sup> A woman who has seven children will become faint and gasp for breath;
it will be as though her daylight will become darkness,
because most of her children will be dead,
and she will be disgraced and
humiliated.

And her children who are still alive, I will enable your enemies to kill them.
That will surely happen because I,
Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>10</sup> I said to my mother, "I am very sad;
I wish that you had not given birth to
me;
everyone in this land opposes me
and quarrels with me.

I have not made anyone angry by lending or borrow money and then quarreling about it,
but everyone curses me anyway."

<sup>11</sup> But Yahweh replied to me,
"Jeremiah, I will take care of you.
And at times when you have the most
troubles,

I will come on your behalf and protect you from your enemy.

<sup>12</sup> People of Judah, you know how strong iron is when it is mixed with bronze,
it is very hard and good for weapons.

That iron mixed with bronze metal is just like the strength of your enemies when they attack Judah from the north,
no one will be able to stop them.

<sup>13</sup> I will give all the valuable possessions of your people to their enemies,

- without them paying for it.
 Your people will lose everything valuable because of all the sins that they have committed throughout the country.
- <sup>14</sup> I will tell their enemies to force them to become their prisoners, to take them to other lands that they have not experienced, and force them to become their slaves.
- That will happen because I am extremely angry with your people; my anger is like a burning fire."
- <sup>15</sup> Then I said, "Yahweh, you know what is happening to me.
 Please come and help me.
 Punish those who are persecuting me.
 Please do not continue to be patient with them
 and do not allow me to die now.
 It is for your sake that I am suffering.
- <sup>16</sup> Yahweh my God, you are the commander of the angel armies; when you spoke to me, I was delighted with your message; it caused me to be joyful, and I eagerly accepted what you said because I belong to you.
- <sup>17</sup> When the people were carousing together,
 I never joined them;
 I sat alone, because you are the one who controls what I do.
 I was very angry with those people because of their sins.
- <sup>18</sup> So, why do you allow me to continue to suffer?
 It seems that my wounds cannot be healed.
- Sometimes you help me, sometimes you do not help me.
 It seems that you are as undependable as a brook that has water in it only during certain seasons;
 you are like a spring that has dried up."
- <sup>19</sup> Then Yahweh replied to me saying this:
 "If you begin again to trust in me,

I will restore you,
 in order that you can continue to serve me.
 If you proclaim good messages and not worthless ones,
 you will continue to be the one who speaks what I tell you to say.
 You must cause the people to pay attention to what you say;
 you must not pay attention to what they say.

<sup>20</sup> They will fight against you, but I will protect you, like people are protected from their enemies by a bronze wall.
 They will not defeat you, because I will be with you, and I will protect and rescue you.

<sup>21</sup> Truly, I will keep you safe from those wicked people,
 I will rescue you when you are seized by cruel people.
 That will happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

16 Yahweh gave me another message. He said to me, <sup>2</sup> "Do not get married and have children in this land, <sup>3</sup> because this is what I, Yahweh, say about the children who are born in this city, and about their mothers and fathers: <sup>4</sup> Many of them will die from terrible diseases. And no one will mourn for them. No one will even bury their corpses; the corpses will lie on the ground, scattered like manure. Others will die in wars or from hunger, and then their corpses will become food for vultures and wild animals."

<sup>5</sup> This is also what Yahweh said to me: "Do not go to funerals to mourn or to show those whose relatives have died that you feel sorry for them, because I have stopped protecting them, and I have caused that things will not go well for them. I have stopped faithfully loving them and acting mercifully toward them. <sup>6</sup> Very many people will die in this land, including those who are important and those who are not important. And no one will mourn for them, or even bury their corpses. No one will cut himself or shave his head to show that he is very sad. <sup>7</sup> No one will bring food to comfort those who are mourning, not even if it is their father or their mother who is mourning. No one will give them a cup of wine to cheer them up.

<sup>8</sup> And do not go into the houses where people are feasting. Do not eat or drink anything with them. <sup>9</sup> I want you to do this because this is what I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, say: 'While you are still alive and seeing it happen, I will cause there to be no more singing and laughing in this land. There will be no more joyful voices of bridegrooms and brides.'

<sup>10</sup> When you tell these things to the people, they will ask, 'Why has Yahweh declared that these terrible things will happen to us? What have we done for which we deserve to be punished like this? What sin have we committed against Yahweh our God?'

<sup>11</sup> Then this is what you must tell them that I am replying to them: 'It is because your ancestors turned away from me, Yahweh. They worshiped other gods and served them. They abandoned me and did not obey my commands. <sup>12</sup> But you who are living now have done more wicked things than your ancestors did! Each of you stubbornly does the evil things that he desires and refuses to pay attention to what I say. <sup>13</sup> So, I will throw you out of this land, and I will send you to a land that you and your ancestors have never known about. There you will worship other gods day and night. And I will not act mercifully toward you.'

<sup>14</sup> But there will be a time when people who are solemnly promising to do something will no longer say, 'I will do this, just as surely as Yahweh lives—the one who brought the Israelite people here from Egypt.' <sup>15</sup> Instead, they will say 'I will do this, just as surely as Yahweh lives—the one who brought us Israelite people back to our own land, from the lands to the north and from all the other lands to which he had exiled us.' They will be able to say that because some day I will bring your descendants back to this land that I gave to your ancestors.

<sup>16</sup> But now I am summoning your enemies who will seize them like fishermen catch fish. I am summoning those who will search for them on every mountain and hill, and in every cave, like hunters search for animals to kill. <sup>17</sup> I am watching them carefully. I see every sin that they commit. They will not be able to hide from me. <sup>18</sup> Because of all the wicked things that they have done, I will punish them twice as much as I would punish other people. I will do that because they have caused my own land to become unacceptable to me because of their worshiping lifeless statues of detestable gods, and also because they have filled my land with the other evil things that they have done."

<sup>19</sup> Then I prayed, saying, "Yahweh, you are the one who strengthens me and protects me;

you are the one to whom I go when I have troubles.

Some day people from nations all over the world will come to you and say, 'Our ancestors left us only something that was false;

they worshiped idols that are completely worthless.

<sup>20</sup> No one can make their own gods; the gods that they make are only idols; they are not real gods."

<sup>21</sup> Then Yahweh said, "Now I will show my power to the people of Judah; I will show them that I am truly very powerful.

Then, finally, they will know that I, Yahweh, am the true God."

17 Yahweh said, "It is as though a list of the sins committed by the people of Judah is engraved with an iron chisel, or engraved using the fine point of a very hard stone, on their inner beings and on the altars where they worship their idols.

<sup>2</sup> Even their children remember when they went to the altars, and they went up to the poles that represent the goddess Asherah, and there they worshiped underneath all the big trees and on all the high hills.

<sup>3</sup> I will give my mountain as plunder, along with all your wealth and all your treasures, because of your idolatry and your worship on the hills.

They will take your possessions away because you sinned against Yahweh throughout your land.

<sup>4</sup>The wonderful land that I gave to you will no longer belong to you.

I will tell your enemies to take you to a land that you do not know about, and you will become their slaves.

I will do that because I am extremely angry with you; my being angry is like a fire that will burn forever."

<sup>5</sup>This is also what Yahweh says:

"Those who trust in human beings to help them are cursed, those who rely on their own strength and turn away from me with their inner beings.

<sup>6</sup>They are like dry bushes in the desert, they are people who will not experience any good things.

Those people will live in the barren desert in a salty area, where no one can safely abide.

<sup>7</sup>But Yahweh is pleased with those who trust in him, and who confidently expect him to take care of them.

<sup>8</sup>Those people are like fruit trees that have been planted along a riverbank, trees that have roots that go down into the wet ground beside the water.

They are trees whose leaves remain green when it becomes hot, trees that continue to bear fruit when there are many months in which there is no rain.

<sup>9</sup>Human minds are extremely corrupt, and we cannot change that. It is also completely impossible for anyone to understand that.

<sup>10</sup>But I, Yahweh, search what is in everyone's inner being, and I examine what they are thinking.

I will give all people reward or punishment, what they deserve for what they have done."

<sup>11</sup>I know some people who become rich by doing things that are unjust.

They are like birds that hatch eggs that they did not lay.

So, when those people have lived only half of the years that they expect to live, they will disappear.

Then other people will realize that those people have been foolish.

<sup>12</sup>Yahweh, your temple is like a glorious throne that has been on a high hill since it was built.

<sup>13</sup>You are the one whom we Israelite people confidently expect to bless us, and all those who turn away from you will be disgraced and feel what it is like to be separated from you, because they have abandoned you, who are like a fountain where people obtain fresh water.

<sup>14</sup>Yahweh, please heal me, because if you heal me, I will truly be healed. If you rescue me, I will truly be safe, because you are the only one whom I praise.

<sup>15</sup>People often ridicule me and say, "You tell us messages that you say came from Yahweh, but why have the things that you predicted not happened?"

<sup>16</sup>Yahweh, you appointed me to take care of your people like a shepherd takes care of his sheep; I have not abandoned that work, and you know that I have not previously wanted this time of disaster to come to people who ridicule me.

And you know everything that I have said to your people.

<sup>17</sup>Do not cause me to be terrified! When disasters come, you are the one to whom I will go to be safe.

<sup>18</sup>So now, cause those who persecute me to be ashamed and dismayed, but do not do things to me that will cause me to be ashamed and dismayed.

Cause them to be terrified!

Do to them many things that will completely destroy them!

<sup>19</sup> This is what Yahweh said to me: "Go to the city gates in Jerusalem. First go to the gate where the kings of Judah go in and out of the city, and then go to each of the other gates. <sup>20</sup> Say to the people at each gate, 'You kings of Judah and everyone else who is living in Jerusalem and all you other people of Judah who enter these gates, listen to this message from Yahweh! <sup>21</sup> He says, "Listen to this warning carefully if you want to live! Stop doing work on Sabbath days! Stop carrying loads through these gates on those days! <sup>22</sup> Do not carry loads out of your houses or do any other work on Sabbath days! Instead, cause Sabbath days to be holy. I commanded your ancestors to do that, <sup>23</sup> but they did not listen to me or obey me. When I did things to correct them, they stubbornly refused to pay attention to what I said or to accept it. <sup>24</sup> But I say that if you obey me, and if you do not carry loads through these gates on Sabbath days or do any other work on Sabbath days, and if you dedicate the Sabbath days to me, <sup>25</sup> kings of Judah and their officials will continue to go in and out of these gates. There will always be someone who is a descendant of King David ruling here in Jerusalem. Kings and their officials will go in and out of these gates, riding in chariots and on horses, and there will be people living in this city forever. <sup>26</sup> And people will come to Jerusalem bringing offerings to be completely burned on the altar and other offerings. They will bring to the temple grain offerings and incense and offerings to thank me. People will bring these offerings from the towns in Judah and the villages near Jerusalem and from the land where the tribe of Benjamin lives and from the western foothills and from the southern Judean wilderness. <sup>27</sup> But if you do not pay attention to what I say, and if you refuse to dedicate the Sabbath days to me, and if you continue to carry loads through these gates into the city on Sabbath days, I will burn these gates completely. The fire will spread to the palaces, and no one will be able to put out that fire."'"

18 Yahweh gave another message to me. He said, <sup>2</sup> "Go to the shop of the man who makes clay pots. I will give you a message there." <sup>3</sup> So I went to that shop, and I saw the man who makes pots. He was working at the wheel that he uses to form pots. <sup>4</sup> But when he finished making one jar, it was not as good as he hoped it to be. So, he took the clay and formed it into another jar, shaping it as he desired to.

<sup>5</sup> Then Yahweh gave me this message: <sup>6</sup> "Perhaps the people of Israel think that I cannot do to them like this man who makes pots has done. But what they think is wrong. I can control what happens to them like this man controls what he does with the clay in his hands. <sup>7</sup> There may be a time when I proclaim that I will get rid of a nation or kingdom, like someone pulls up a plant with its roots, and smash it, and destroy it. <sup>8</sup> But if the people of that nation repent of doing evil things, I will not send to them the disasters that I planned to send. <sup>9</sup> And there may be a time when I proclaim that I will establish a nation or kingdom and cause it to be strong. <sup>10</sup> But if the people of that nation start to do evil things and refuse to obey me, then I will not bless them as I said that I would do.

<sup>11</sup> Therefore, Jeremiah, go and warn all the people in Jerusalem and in other places in Judah. Say to them, 'This is what Yahweh says: I am planning a disaster that I will send to you. So, each of you should turn from your evil behavior and start doing what is right, in order that good things will come to you instead!'

<sup>12</sup> But the people will say back to you, 'It is useless for you to say these things to us. We will continue to be stubborn and behave as wickedly as we want to.'"

<sup>13</sup> So this is what Yahweh said in response: "Ask the people who live in other nations if they have ever heard of such a thing.

My Israelite people, who have been pure like virgins, have done a terrible thing!"

The cold streams that flow down from those distant mountains never cease flowing.

<sup>15</sup> But my people are not as reliable as those streams: They have abandoned me.

They burn incense to honor worthless idols.

It is as though they have stumbled as they walked along well known and reliable roads and now, instead, they are walking on dirt paths.

<sup>16</sup>Therefore, their land will become desolate, and people who see it will hiss to ridicule it from now on.

All the people who pass by will be appalled;
they will shake their heads to show that they are shocked.

<sup>17</sup>I will scatter the people when their enemies attack them like dust is scattered by an east wind.

And when they experience all these disasters,
I will turn my back on them and refuse to help them."

<sup>18</sup>Then the people said, "Come, we should plan to attack Jeremiah. We have many priests who teach us God's laws, wise men who give us good advice, and prophets who tell us what will happen. We do not need Jeremiah! So we should slander him and not pay attention to anything that he says."

<sup>19</sup>Then I prayed, "Yahweh, please listen to me!

And listen to what my enemies are saying about me.

<sup>20</sup>I am doing things that are good, so it is disgusting that they are paying me back by doing evil things to me.

It is as though they have dug a pit for me to fall into and die.

Do not forget that one time I stood in front of you and pleaded for you to help them, and I tried to prevent you from punishing them, even though you were very angry with them.

Or cause them to be killed by their enemies' swords!
Cause their wives to become widows,

whose children are all dead!
Cause their husbands to be killed in battles!

<sup>22</sup>Cause people to scream in their homes when enemy soldiers suddenly come into their houses!
Cause all these things to happen to them because they want to kill me.
It is as though they have dug a pit for me to fall into, and they have hidden traps along my path.

<sup>23</sup>Yahweh, you know all the things that they are planning to do to kill me. Do not forgive them for their crimes or blot out the record of their sins. Cause them to be destroyed; punish them because of your being angry with them!"

19 This is another message that Yahweh gave to me: "Go and buy a clay jar from a man who makes them. Then take with you some of the elders of the people and leaders of the priests.<sup>2</sup> Go out of the city past the Broken Pottery Gate, to the place overlooking the dump for broken pottery in the Hinnom Valley. Then give them a message.<sup>3</sup> Say to them, 'This message is for you kings of Judah and other people of Jerusalem. Listen to what Yahweh is saying! The God of Israel, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says that he will bring a terrible disaster on Jerusalem. Those who hear about it will be stunned.<sup>4</sup> That will happen because you Israelite people have stopped worshiping me, and have caused this place to be a place where you worship foreign gods. You burn sacrifices to gods that neither you nor your ancestors nor even the kings of Judah ever heard about. And you have filled this place with the blood of innocent people whom you have killed.<sup>5</sup> You have built houses on the top of many hills to honor your god Baal, and at those places you have killed your own children and offered them to be sacrifices to Baal. I never commanded you to do that, I never spoke about doing that, and never even considered allowing that!<sup>6</sup> So, beware, because I, Yahweh, say that there will be a time when this garbage dump will no longer be called Topheth or Hinnom Valley; it will be called Slaughter Valley.<sup>7</sup> In this place I will ruin the plans of you people who live in Jerusalem and in other places in Judah. I will allow your enemies who want to kill you to kill many of you with their swords. Then I will allow your corpses to remain on the ground to be food for vultures and wild animals.<sup>8</sup> I will completely destroy Jerusalem and cause it to become a heap of ruins that people will despise. All the people who pass by will be appalled, and they will be shocked when they see that the city has been destroyed.<sup>9</sup> I will enable your enemies who want to kill you to surround the city for a long time. Then the food will be all gone, and you people will be extremely hungry, with the result that you people in the city will eat the flesh of your own children and your neighbors' children.'

<sup>10</sup> Jeremiah, after you tell that to them, while the people who are with you are watching, smash the jar that you brought.<sup>11</sup> Then say to them, 'This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says: Just like this jar has been smashed and cannot be repaired, I will smash this city of Jerusalem and other places in Judah. You will bury some of your corpses here in this dump, until there is no more space to bury any more corpses.<sup>12</sup> That is what I will do to this city and to you people who live here. I will make you unfit to worship me, and this city will be like you, just as Topheth is.<sup>13</sup> The houses in Jerusalem and the palaces of the kings of Judah will be unfit, like this place will be. All the houses where you burned incense on the rooftops to honor the stars that you worshiped, and where you poured out wine to be an offering to your gods, will become unfit for anyone who worships me to live in.'

<sup>14</sup> Then I returned from the garbage dump where Yahweh had sent me to tell them that message, and I stood in the courtyard of Yahweh's temple and said this to all the people who were there:<sup>15</sup> "This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says: 'I will bring a disaster to this city and to the villages around it like I promised, because you people have stubbornly refused to pay attention to what I said to you.'"

20 Pashhur son of Immer, was a priest who supervised the temple guards. He heard these things that I had prophesied.<sup>2</sup> So he arrested me. Then he commanded guards to whip me and fasten my feet in stocks at the Benjamin Gate of Yahweh's temple.<sup>3</sup> The next day, when Pashhur released me, I said to him, "Pashhur, Yahweh is giving you a new name. From now on, your name will be 'Surrounded by Terror,'<sup>4</sup> because Yahweh says this to you: 'I will cause you and your loved ones to be terrified. You will watch them being killed by your enemies' swords. I will enable the army of the king of Babylon to capture the people of Judah. Those soldiers will take some of the people to Babylon, and they will kill others with their swords.<sup>5</sup> And I will enable their soldiers to take away other things in Jerusalem: all your wealth and the produce of your hard work. They will take to Babylon all the very valuable things that belonged to your kings.<sup>6</sup> And as for you, Pashhur, they will take you and all your family to Babylon. You and your family and all your friends who have prophesied things that are lies will die there and be buried there."

<sup>7</sup> One day I said this to Yahweh:
"Yahweh, when you chose me to be a prophet, you deceived me so that I would agree to do this work.
You forced me to become a prophet.

But now everyone ridicules me.
They make fun of me all the day.
<sup>8</sup> When I tell people your messages, I shout saying,
'Yahweh is going to cause you to experience violence and destruction!'
So because I tell them those messages from you,
they insult me and scoff at me all the day.

<sup>9</sup> But if I would say, 'I will never mention Yahweh or say anything about him,' it would be as though your message would burn in my inner being like a fire;
it would be like a fire in my bones.

Sometimes I try to remain silent and not proclaim your messages,
but I am not able to do that.

<sup>10</sup> I hear many people whispering about me, saying 'He is the man who proclaims that there will be things that cause us to be terrified everywhere.

We must tell the authorities what he is saying! We must denounce him!

Even my best friends are waiting for me to say something that is wrong.

They are saying, 'Perhaps we can cause him to say something wrong, and if he does, we will be able to defeat him.'

<sup>11</sup> But you, Yahweh, are helping me like a strong warrior, so it is as though he will cause those who persecute me to stumble, and they will not defeat me.

They will be completely disgraced because of being unable to gain any advantage over me; and other people will never forget that they were disgraced.

<sup>12</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, you examine all those who are righteous; you know all that is in their inner beings and what they think.

Allow me to see you getting revenge on those who want to harm me, because I came to you to petition for what is right."

Praise Yahweh!

He rescues poor and needy people, from those who are wicked.

<sup>14</sup> But I hope that the day that I was born will be cursed.

I do not want anyone to celebrate that day when my mother gave birth to me.

<sup>15</sup> And as for that man who brought to my father the news, and caused him to be very happy, by saying

"Your wife has given birth to a son for you,"

I hope that he also will be cursed.

<sup>16</sup> Allow him to be destroyed like the cities that Yahweh destroyed long ago, without acting mercifully toward

them.

Cause that man to hear the people wailing in the morning, and to hear the enemy soldiers shout their battle cries at noon.

<sup>17</sup> I want that to happen to him because he did not kill me when I was born. I wish that I had died in my mother's womb, and that my mother's body would have been like my grave.

<sup>18</sup> I have continually experienced much trouble and sorrow, and I am disgraced now when I am about to die;

why was it necessary for me to be born?

21 Yahweh gave me another message when King Zedekiah of Judah sent a man named Pashhur son of Malkijah, and a priest named Zephaniah son of Maaseiah, to talk to me. They pleaded with me, saying, <sup>2</sup> "The army of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon is attacking Judah. Please speak to Yahweh for us. Ask him if he will help us. Perhaps he will force Nebuchadnezzar's army to leave by performing a miracle for us, like the miracles he performed previously."

<sup>3</sup> I replied to them, "Go back to King Zedekiah. Tell him, <sup>4</sup> 'This is what Yahweh, the God whom we Israelites worship, says: "I will cause your weapons to be useless in fighting against the king of Babylon and his army that is outside the walls of Jerusalem, attacking. I will enable them to enter into the center of this city. <sup>5</sup> I myself will fight against your army with my very great power, because I am very angry with you. <sup>6</sup> I will send a very terrible plague on the people of this city, and on their domestic animals, and many of them will die." <sup>7</sup> And Yahweh says there are many people in this city who want to kill you. So, he will enable the army of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon and other people in this city to capture you, King Zedekiah, and your officials, and all the other people who do not die from the plague. His army will slaughter your soldiers; they will not act mercifully toward you or pity you at all.'

<sup>8</sup> And tell this to all the people: 'Yahweh says that you must decide whether you want to die or to remain alive. <sup>9</sup> Everyone who remains in Jerusalem will die. They will be killed in battles or die from being hungry or from diseases. But those who surrender to the army of Babylon that is surrounding your city will remain alive. They will escape dying.<sup>10</sup> This will happen because I, Yahweh, have decided to cause this city to experience disasters, not to experience something good. The army of the king of Babylon will capture this city and will destroy it completely by fire."

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh also told me to say this to the family of the king of Judah: "Listen to this message from Yahweh!<sup>12</sup> This is what he says to you descendants of King David:

'Every day, make fair decisions for the people whom you judge.

Help those who have been robbed.

Rescue them from robbers and abusers.

If you do not do that,

I will be angry and punish you with a fire that will be impossible to extinguish, because of all the sins that you have committed.

<sup>13</sup> I will fight against you people of Jerusalem, you who live on top of a rocky hill above the valley.

I will fight against you people who boast, saying,
"No one can attack us and break through our defenses."

<sup>14</sup> I will punish you for your wicked deeds like you deserve to be punished;

It will be as though I will light a fire in your forests that will burn up everything around you."

22 This is another message that Yahweh gave to me: "Go down to the palace of the king of Judah and say this to him:<sup>2</sup> You are the king of Judah. You are the ruler, like King David was. You and your officials and your people must listen<sup>3</sup> to what Yahweh says: "Act fairly and justly. Do what is right. Help those who have been robbed. Rescue people from those who oppress them. Stop doing evil deeds. Do not mistreat those who have come here from other countries, and do not mistreat orphans and widows. Stop murdering here in Jerusalem.<sup>4</sup> If you obey these commands carefully, there will always be some descendant of King David who will be ruling here in Jerusalem. The king and his officials and other people will ride through the gates of the city in chariots and on horses.<sup>5</sup> But if you refuse to pay attention to these commands, I, Yahweh, solemnly declare, that this palace will become a pile of rubble."<sup>6</sup>

<sup>6</sup> And this is what Yahweh says about the house of the king of Judah:

"I like this palace, like I like the forests in the region of Gilead and the mountains in Lebanon.

But I will cause this palace to become a desert,
a place that no one lives in.

<sup>7</sup> I will select troops who will destroy this palace;
each soldier will use his own tools to wreck the building.

They will cut into pieces the beautiful big cedar beams
and throw them into a fire."

<sup>8</sup> People from many nations will walk past the ruins of this city and say to each other, "Why did Yahweh destroy this city that was very great?"<sup>9</sup> And other people will reply, "He did it because his people stopped obeying the agreement that they had made with Yahweh their God. Instead, they worshiped other gods."

<sup>10</sup> Yahweh also says, "Do not mourn for King Josiah;
do not cry because he has died.

Instead, mourn for King Jehoahaz, his son,
because he will be captured and taken to another country, and he will never return to see his own country, Judah, again."

<sup>11</sup> Jehoahaz became king after his father, King Josiah, died, but Jehoahaz was captured and taken to Babylonia. And this is what Yahweh says about him: "He also will never return to Judah.<sup>12</sup> He will die in that country where they have taken him as a captive and will never see his own country again."

<sup>13</sup> And Yahweh said to me, "Terrible things will happen to King Jehoahaz's brother, King Jehoiakim.

He unjustly forced men to build his palace.

The rooms on the upper level were built by men who were forced unjustly to do that work;

he forced his neighbors to work for nothing;

he did not pay them anything.

<sup>14</sup> He said, 'I will force my workers to build a huge beautiful palace with very large rooms and many windows.

They will cover the walls with fragrant cedar panels

and paint them bright red.'

<sup>15</sup> But it is certainly not having a beautiful cedar palace that causes a king to be great!

Jehoiakim's father, Josiah, also had plenty of things to eat and drink.

But Josiah always did things that are right and just,

and that is why God blessed him.

<sup>16</sup> Josiah acted justly and helped poor and needy people, so things went well for him.

Yahweh says, "That is the way a person should behave who knows me.

<sup>17</sup> But Jehoiakim, you are greedy and desire only to obtain things by acting dishonestly.

You murder innocent people, you oppress poor people, and you treat people cruelly and violently."

<sup>18</sup> Therefore, this is what Yahweh says about Jehoiakim son of King Josiah:

"When he dies, people will not mourn for him.

They will not say to each other, 'It is very sad; we are so sorry!'

The people whom he ruled will not mourn for him, saying,

'We are sad that our king is dead; we are so sorry that the wonderful things that happened while he was king are ended.'

<sup>19</sup> When he dies, people will do to his corpse what they do to a dead donkey; his corpse will be dragged out of Jerusalem and dumped outside the gates!

<sup>20</sup> You people of Judah, go to the mountains in Lebanon and weep, shout in the mountains of the Bashan region, call out in mourning in the mountains of Moab, because all your friends in those areas have been destroyed.

<sup>21</sup> When you were prosperous, I warned you, but you replied, 'We will not pay attention to what you say.'

You have been acting like that since you were young;

you have never obeyed me.

<sup>22</sup> So, now I will punish all your leaders; it will be as though they have been blown away by the wind.

They will be captured by your enemies and taken to another country.

When that happens, you will truly be ashamed and disgraced because of all the wicked things that you have done.

<sup>23</sup> Now, your king enjoys living in the cedar rooms in his palace, but soon he will be punished, and then he will groan like a woman who is giving birth to a baby."

<sup>24</sup> Yahweh says this: "Jehoiachin son of King Jehoiakim of Judah, as surely as I am alive, I will punish you. Even if you were the ring on my finger that shows that I am the king, I would pull you off. <sup>25</sup> You are afraid of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon and his huge army, because they are wanting to kill you. I will enable them to capture you. <sup>26</sup> I will expel you and your mother from this land, and you will be taken to another country. Neither of you were born there, but you will both die there. <sup>27</sup> You will never return to this land that you will very much desire to return to."

<sup>28</sup> Someone said, "Jehoiachin will be like a broken pot that is despised and which no one wants.

He and his children will be exiled to a foreign land.

<sup>29</sup>I want the people in this land to listen carefully to this message from Yahweh.

"In the record about the kings of Judah, write down that it will be as though this man Jehoiachin had no children, and that he has not been successful during his life, because none of his children will ever become king to rule over the people of Judah."

23 Yahweh declares, "Terrible things will happen to the leaders of my people—those who are like shepherds of the people who are like my sheep—because they have scattered my people and sent them away, and have not taken care of them.<sup>2</sup> So, this is what I, Yahweh, the God whom the Israelite people worship, say to those leaders: 'Instead of taking care of my people and leading them to places where they are safe like a shepherd does for his sheep, you have scattered them. So I will punish you for the evil things that you have done.<sup>3</sup> But later I will gather those who are still alive, from the countries where I have forced them to go. I will bring them back to their own country, where they will have many children, and their number will increase.<sup>4</sup> Then I will appoint other leaders for my people, leaders who will take care of them. And my people will never be afraid of anything again, and none of them will be like a lost sheep that has been driven off by its shepherd.'

<sup>5</sup> Yahweh also says,

"Some day I will appoint for you a righteous man who will be a descendant of King David.

As king, he will do what is just and right for all the people in the nation.

<sup>6</sup> At that time, he will save all the Israelite people from their enemies, and they will be safe.

And his name will be

'Yahweh, the one who does what is right for us.'

<sup>7</sup> Yahweh also says that at that time, people who are solemnly promising to do something will no longer say, "I will do it as surely as Yahweh lives, who rescued the Israelite people from Egypt."<sup>8</sup> Instead, they will say, "I will do it as surely as Yahweh lives, who brought us Israelite people back to our own land, from the land to the northeast and from all the other countries to which he had exiled us." And they will live in their own land again.

<sup>9</sup>I am very sad in my deepest emotions because of the sacred message that Yahweh has spoken about what will happen to of the false prophets;

it is as though all my bones shake.

I stagger like a man who is drunk after drinking a lot of wine,

<sup>10</sup>The land is full of people who commit adultery;

and Yahweh has cursed the land.

Even the pastures in the desert are all dried up, because the people do what is evil, and the false prophets use their power to do things that are not just.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh says, "Even the priests and the prophets are ungodly; they do wicked things even in his temple.

<sup>12</sup> Therefore, it will be as though the paths that they walk on are slippery. It will be as though they are being chased in the darkness, and there they will fall down, because I will cause them to experience disasters at the time that I will punish them. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>13</sup> Previously I saw that the prophets in Samaria were doing something that was wrong; they were prophesying, saying that

Baal gave them the messages that they were proclaiming,

and they were deceiving my people.

<sup>14</sup> And now I have seen the prophets in Jerusalem doing terrible things. They commit adultery and habitually tell lies.

They encourage evil people to continue to do evil things, with the result that the people do not stop sinning.

Those prophets are as wicked as the people in Sodom and Gomorrah were.

<sup>15</sup> So, this is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says about those false prophets:

"I will give those prophets bitter things to eat and poison to drink,
because it is because of them that this land is filled with people who do wicked deeds."

<sup>16</sup> This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says:

"Do not pay any attention to what those false prophets say to you,
because they are just fooling you.
They tell you about visions that they have only thought in their own minds,
not about visions that I have given them.

<sup>17</sup> They habitually say to those who hate me,
'Yahweh says that you will have peace.'

And they say to those who stubbornly do what they want to do,
'Nothing bad will happen to you because of your doing those things.'

<sup>18</sup> But none of them has ever been in a council meeting in heaven in order to listen to a message from me.

None of them has paid attention to anything that Yahweh has said.

<sup>19</sup> So, Yahweh will punish them; it will be like a great storm;
it will come down like a whirlwind,
swirling around the heads of those wicked people.

<sup>20</sup> Yahweh will not stop being angry until he has completely accomplished all that he has planned.

In the future, you will understand all of this clearly."

<sup>21</sup> Yahweh also says, "I have not appointed those prophets, but they run around telling people their messages.

I did not speak to them,
but they continue to prophesy.

<sup>22</sup> If they had been in my council meetings,
they would have been able to speak messages from me,
and they would have caused people to turn away from committing evil deeds."

<sup>23</sup> Yahweh also says, "Am I a God who is only nearby?

No, I am a God who is far away, also.

<sup>24</sup> So, no one can hide in some secret place
with the result that I cannot see him.

I am everywhere, in heaven and on the earth!

That is what I, Yahweh, say!

<sup>25</sup> I have heard those prophets prophesies, saying that they are telling people messages from me. They say, 'Listen to me tell you the dream I received from God last night! I really had this dream!' <sup>26</sup> How long will they continue to do this? How long will those lying prophets continue to prophesy things that come only from their own minds? <sup>27</sup> They think that because of the dreams that they tell to each other, people will forget me, like their ancestors forgot about me when they started to worship Baal. <sup>28</sup> Allow those false prophets to tell people their dreams, but those who have messages that really come from me should proclaim those messages faithfully. I, Yahweh, say that like straw and grain are certainly very different, my messages and the message from those false prophets are certainly very different. <sup>29</sup> It is as though my messages burn like a fire and is like a hammer that smashes rocks into pieces when it affects someone's heart.

<sup>30</sup> Therefore, I, Yahweh say, I oppose all those prophets who steal messages from each other and claim that those messages came from me. <sup>31</sup> I oppose those prophets who speak their own messages but claim that those messages came from me. <sup>32</sup> I oppose those prophets who falsely say that I told them something in a vision, but they are only telling lies that cause my people to sin. I did not send those prophets. I did not even appoint them to be prophets. And they have no messages that will benefit my people at all. That is what I, Yahweh, declare."

<sup>33</sup> Yahweh said to me, "If one of those prophets or priests or one of the other people asks you, 'What problem has Yahweh told you about now?', you must reply, 'He has not given me anything to say to you! Instead, Yahweh says that he will abandon you!' <sup>34</sup> And if any prophet or priest or anyone else falsely says, 'I have a prophecy from Yahweh,' I will punish that person and his family. <sup>35</sup> What you should continually ask each other is, 'When you spoke to Yahweh, what did he reply? What is he saying to us?' <sup>36</sup> But instead you are only concerned with your own ideas and with twisting the true message from the true God, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, whom we worship. <sup>37</sup> This is what you should ask each prophet: 'What did Yahweh reply when you talked to him? What is he saying to us?' <sup>38</sup> If he replies, 'What I told you is a prophecy from Yahweh' then let him know I will punish him, because I told my true prophets not to give any messages to this people right now.

<sup>39</sup> So I, Yahweh, will get rid of you false prophets. I will expel you from my presence. And I will get rid of this city that I gave to you and to your ancestors.

<sup>40</sup> I will cause people to make fun of you forever. People will never forget that you were disgraced."

24 The army of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon captured Jehoiachin, the son of Jehoiakim, the king of Judah, and his officials, and all his skilled workers and took them to Babylon. After that happened, Yahweh gave me a vision. In the vision I saw two baskets of figs that had been placed in front of the temple. <sup>2</sup> One basket was full of good figs, like the kind that ripen first. The other basket was filled with figs that were bad, with the result that they could not be eaten.

I replied, "I see some figs. Some are very good ones, but some are very bad, with the result that no one would eat them."

<sup>4</sup> Then Yahweh me gave me this message: <sup>5</sup> "This is what I, Yahweh, the God whom the Israelite people say that they worship, say: The good figs represent the people of Judah whom I exiled to Babylonia. I sent them there for their own good. <sup>6</sup> and I will not exile them again, instead I will bring them back to this land and let them build up houses and cities again. They will be like plants that grow and prosper and are never cut down. <sup>7</sup> I will enable them to desire to know in their inner beings that I am Yahweh. They will be my people, and I will be their God, because they will return to me sincerely.

<sup>8</sup> But I, Yahweh, also say, the bad figs represent Zedekiah, the king of Judah, and his officials, and all the other people who remain in Jerusalem, and those who have gone to Egypt. I will do to them like people do to rotten figs. <sup>9</sup> I will cause them to experience calamities, with the result that people in every nation on the earth will be horrified, and will hate them because they are evil people. Wherever I scatter them, people will make fun of them, and say that they are disgraced, and ridicule them, and curse them. <sup>10</sup> And I will cause them to experience wars and famines and diseases, until they have disappeared from Israel, this land which I gave to them and to their ancestors."

25 After Jehoiakim had been ruling Judah for almost four years, Yahweh gave me this message for all the people of Judah. It was during the year that King Nebuchadnezzar started to rule in Babylon. <sup>2</sup> Jeremiah spoke this message to all the people in Jerusalem and other places in Judah: <sup>3</sup> "Yahweh has been giving me messages for twenty-three years. He started giving me messages when Josiah son of Amon, had been ruling Judah for almost thirteen years. And I have faithfully told you those messages, but you have not paid any attention to them.

<sup>4</sup> Many times Yahweh has sent to you the prophets who served him, but you have not listened to them or paid any attention to what they said. <sup>5</sup> Each time their message was this: 'Turn from all your evil behavior, from all the evil things that you have continually been doing. If you do that, you will be able to stay in this land that Yahweh gave to you and to your ancestors, to belong to you forever. <sup>6</sup> Do not cause Yahweh to become angry by serving and worshiping idols that you have made with your hands. If you do not cause him to be angry, he will not punish you.'

<sup>7</sup> And Yahweh says, 'But you would not pay attention to the messages that I gave to those prophets. You caused me to become extremely angry by your worshiping idols that you had made with your own hands. That resulted in my punishing you.

<sup>8</sup> So now, I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, say that because you have not paid attention to what I said, <sup>9</sup>I will gather all the armies of the nations that will come from the northeast. I have appointed King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon to lead them. I have appointed him to do my work for me. I will bring those armies to attack this land, all the people living in it, and even nearby countries. I will completely destroy them, and cause them to be places that people are horrified about, and that people will ridicule, places that will be ruined forever. <sup>10</sup>I will cause happy singing and laughing to cease in your land. There will no longer be brides and bridegrooms talking joyfully. There will not be the sound of people grinding grain with millstones. There will be no lamps lit in your houses. <sup>11</sup>All of this land will become a desert where no one will live. And the people of Israel and of the nearby countries will be exiled to Babylonia and work for the kings of Babylon for seventy years.

<sup>12</sup> Then, after they have been in Babylonia for seventy years, I will punish the king of Babylonia and his people for the sins that they have committed. I will cause Babylonia to become a wasteland forever. <sup>13</sup>I will cause them to experience all the terrible things that Jeremiah has written about—all the punishments that he predicted will happen to all those nations. <sup>14</sup>The leaders of many nations will cause the people of Babylonia to become their slaves, like the people of Babylonia caused my people to become slaves. I will punish them like they deserve for having caused my people to suffer."

<sup>15</sup> Then Yahweh, the God of Israel, gave me a vision. In the vision he was holding a cup of wine. He said, "Take from me this cup that is full of wine that represents punishment. I will cause all the leaders of the nations to which I will send you to drink some of the wine in this cup. <sup>16</sup>When they drink the wine, they will stagger and act like crazy people, because they will realize that I will massacre many of their people with swords."

<sup>17</sup> So, in the vision, I took that cup full of wine from Yahweh, and I took it to all the nations to which he sent me, and caused the leaders of those nations to drink some of that wine. <sup>18</sup>I went to Jerusalem and the other towns in Judah, and the king and the other officials drank some of the wine from that cup. And, starting from that day, they all eventually were removed from having authority, and became people whom others ridiculed, who were despised, and cursed. <sup>19</sup>In the vision Egypt had to drink some of the wine, including the king and his officials and many of his people, <sup>20</sup>and foreigners who were living there. In the vision the land of Uz and the cities and kings of Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and Ashdod had to drink some of the wine. <sup>21</sup>Then the vision about the kings of Edom, Moab, and Ammon began. <sup>22</sup>Then there were more visions about the kings of the cities of Tyre and Sidon across the Mediterranean Sea, about the kings who had to drink some of the wine. <sup>23</sup>In the vision the religious leaders of the cities of Dedan, Tema, and Buz, which were cities in Arabia and other distant places, they had to drink some of the wine. <sup>24</sup>In the vision other places in Arabia and the kings of tribes in the desert <sup>25</sup>and the kings of the Zimri, Elam, and Media people groups, <sup>26</sup>and kings in countries to the north that are near to Israel and to countries that are far from Israel, one after the other—all the kingdoms in the world had to drink, and finally the king of Babylon had to drink some of the wine.

<sup>27</sup> Then in the vision Yahweh said to me, "Tell them that this is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God of Israel, says: 'Drink from this cup some of the wine that represents the punishment that I will give you. Drink a lot of it and become drunk and vomit. You will fall down and not get up again, because I will cause you to be killed in wars that I will send to you. <sup>28</sup>If any of those to whom you give this wine refuse to drink it, tell them that Yahweh, commander of the angel armies says that they must drink it. <sup>29</sup>I am starting to bring disaster to my own people. They will not be exempt from punishment, for I am sending wars to all the nations on the earth. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, have said it.'

<sup>30</sup> Now tell them all those things that I have said, and also say this to them:

'Yahweh will shout to them from the highest places like a lion roars!

He will call out with a shout from the holy place where he lives!

He will roar like a lion against his people because of their sins!

Like those who shout so loudly when they are treading the grapes,

he will shout so that everyone who lives on the earth can hear him!

<sup>31</sup> Even people in very remote places around the earth will hear him shouting, because he will say why he will judge and punish all the nations.

He will cause the wicked people to be slaughtered with swords.

That will surely happen because Yahweh has said it.'

<sup>32</sup> Then tell them that this is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says: 'Listen to this!

Disasters will happen to one nation after another.

Punishment from me will arise like a great storm from the most distant places on the earth.

<sup>33</sup> When that happens, the corpses of those whom I have caused to be slaughtered will fill the earth from the east to the west.

And no one will mourn for them, and no one will gather their corpses to bury them. They will be scattered on the ground like manure.

<sup>34</sup> You evil leaders, they call out for someone to help them!

You who were the leaders of my people, fell down and and they rolled in the dust.

Now is time for you to be slaughtered!

You will fall down and be shattered like a fragile vase shatters when it falls to the ground.

<sup>35</sup> Those who should have taken care of my people will not find any place to hide;

there will be no place for the leaders of my people to find safety.

<sup>36</sup> Your who take care of my people now crying out for help, and and those who were the leaders of my people they cry and beg for help— while I, Yahweh, am destroying your nation.

<sup>37</sup> Your peaceful meadows will become a wasteland because Yahweh will severely punish it.

<sup>38</sup> Yahweh will leave his dwelling like a lion leaves its den to attack other animals, and he will cause your land to become desolate.

He is very angry with you and will make your enemies angry at you."

26 Soon after Jehoiakim son of Josiah, became the king of Judah, Yahweh gave me this message: <sup>2</sup>"This is what I, Yahweh, am telling you: Stand in the courtyard in front of my temple, and speak to all the people from the various towns in Judah who come there to worship me. Tell them everything that I tell you; do not omit anything. <sup>3</sup>If you do tell them everything, perhaps they will pay attention, and each one of them will turn away from his evil behavior. Then I will change my mind, and not bring on them the disaster that I was planning to bring on them because of the evil things that they have done. <sup>4-5</sup>Say to them, 'This is what Yahweh says: I sent to you the prophets who serve me, to tell you what you should do. I sent them to you many times, but you have not paid attention to what they said. If you will not pay attention to what I say and do not obey the message that I have given to you, and if you do not pay attention to what the prophets say, <sup>6</sup>I will destroy this temple like I destroyed Shiloh, the place where the sacred tent was put. And I will cause Jerusalem to be a place whose name people in every nation on the earth will say when they curse someone."

<sup>7</sup>Jeremiah did what Yahweh told him to do. The priests, the false prophets, and many other people listened to him as he told them that message outside the temple. <sup>8</sup>But as soon as Jeremiah finished telling them everything that Yahweh had commanded him to say, they all seized him and said, "You must be executed! <sup>9</sup>Why are you prophesying that this temple will be destroyed like Shiloh was destroyed? Why are you saying that this city will be destroyed, and that no one will live here anymore? All the people surrounded Jeremiah as he stood in front of the temple.

<sup>12</sup>Then Jeremiah replied to the officials and the other people. He said to them, "Yahweh sent me to prophesy all the things that you heard me say about what will happen to this temple and this city. <sup>13</sup>But if you change your behavior and stop sinning, and start to obey Yahweh our God, he will change his mind, and not send to you the disasters that he said that he would send. <sup>14</sup>As for me, I am not able to free myself from your grasp. So you can do to me whatever you want to do. <sup>15</sup>But you need to know that if you kill me, you will be killing a man who is innocent. And you and everyone else in this city will be guilty, because the truth is that it was Yahweh who sent me to speak every word that you have heard me say."

<sup>16</sup>Then the officials and the other people said to the priests and the false prophets, "This man does not deserve to be executed, because he has spoken to us the message that Yahweh gave him!"

<sup>17</sup>Then some of the elders stood up and spoke to all the people who were gathered there. <sup>18</sup>They said, "Remember what Micah, the prophet from Moresheth, prophesied during the years that Hezekiah was the king of Judah. He told the people of Judah this:

'This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says:

Some day Mount Zion will be plowed like fields are plowed; Jerusalem will become a heap of ruins.

There will be a large clump of trees on top of the hill where the temple is now.' <sup>19</sup>But did Hezekiah or anyone else in Judah kill Micah for saying that? No! Instead, Hezekiah revered Yahweh, and pleaded that he would act mercifully toward them. So, Yahweh changed his mind about sending to them the terrible disaster that he said he would send. And now if we kill Jeremiah, we are going to bring even worse disaster on ourselves!"

<sup>20</sup>At that time, Uriah son of Shemaiah from the city of Kiriath Jearim was also prophesying from Yahweh. He was predicting that the city and the rest of the land would experience the same disasters that Jeremiah was predicting. <sup>21</sup>When King Jehoiakim and his army officers and officials heard what Uriah was saying, the king sent someone to kill Uriah. But Uriah heard about it, and became very afraid, and he escaped to Egypt. <sup>22</sup>Then King Jehoiakim sent Elnathan son of Acbor along with several other men to Egypt. <sup>23</sup>They captured Uriah and took him back to Jerusalem to King Jehoiakim. The king then commanded a soldier to kill Uriah with a sword. Then they buried his corpse in a place where poor people are buried. <sup>24</sup>However, Ahikam son of Shaphan defended me, and persuaded the officials not to allow the mob to murder Jeremiah.

mals that are on the earth. And I can give those things to anyone whom I want to.<sup>6</sup> And now I am going to enable King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, who does what I want him to do, to control your countries. I am going to enable him to rule everything, even the wild animals.<sup>7</sup> The people of all the nations will work for him, and later for his son, and later for his grandson, until the time for them to rule is finished. Then the armies of many great kings from many nations will conquer Babylon.'

<sup>8</sup> But now I tell you that you must do what the king of Babylon wants you to do, like an ox that has a yoke on its neck must do what its master wants it to do. I will punish any nation that refuses to do that. I will cause those people to experience war and famine and diseases, until the armies of Babylon have conquered that nation.<sup>9</sup> So, do not pay attention to your false prophets and fortune tellers and people who predict what will happen by working magic or by talking with spirits of dead people. Those people say not to serve him because the king of Babylon will not conquer your country.<sup>10</sup> Those people are all liars. If you believe what they say, it will result in your being exiled from your land. I will cause you to be taken from your land, and you will die far away.<sup>11</sup> But the people of any country who do what the king of Babylon wants them to do will remain in their own country and be able to plant their crops as they always have done. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>12</sup> After I gave that message to those ambassadors, I gave the same message to King Zedekiah of Judah. I said to him, "If you want to remain alive, do what the king of Babylon and his officials want you to do.<sup>13</sup> It would be foolish for you not to do that, because the result would be that you and your people would die by your enemies' swords or by famine or diseases, which Yahweh will cause any nation to experience that refuses to allow the king of Babylon to rule them.<sup>14</sup> Do not pay attention to those prophets who say to you, 'Do not obey the king of Babylon since he will not conquer your country.' They are liars.<sup>15</sup> This is what Yahweh says: 'I have not appointed those prophets. They are saying that I gave them messages, but they are lying. So, if you believe them, I will expel you from this land. And you and all those prophets will die in Babylon!'"

<sup>16</sup> Then I spoke to the priests and the other people, and I said, "This is what Yahweh says: 'Do not believe your prophets who tell you that all the gold items that were taken from my temple by soldiers from Babylon will soon be returned from Babylon, because what they are prophesying is a lie.'<sup>17</sup> Do not pay attention to what they say. Surrender to the king of Babylon. If you do that, you will remain alive. If you do not do that, this entire city will be destroyed.<sup>18</sup> If they are really prophets who speak messages from me, tell them to plead to me, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, that the soldiers from Babylon will not be allowed to take away to Babylon the valuable items that still remain in the temple and in the king's palace and in the other palaces in Jerusalem.<sup>19</sup> I say this because the huge pillars that are in front of the temple and the large tank that was called "The Sea" and the ten water carts and all the other items that are used for offering sacrifices are still in this city.<sup>20</sup> King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon left those things here when he exiled Jehoiachin, the son of Jehoiakim, the king of Judah, to Babylon, along with all the other leaders of Jerusalem and the leaders of other places in Judah.<sup>21</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says this about all those valuable things that are still outside the temple and in the palace of the king of Judah:<sup>22</sup> They will all be carried away to Babylon. And they will stay there until I say that they should be brought back to Jerusalem. Then they will be bought back here. That is what I, Yahweh, say."

28 These things occurred when Zedekiah was beginning his rule as king of Judah. It happened on the fourth year and fifth month of his rule, that Azzur's son Hananiah, a prophet from the city of Gibeon, spoke to Jeremiah in the courtyard of the temple, while all the priests and other people were listening. He said,<sup>2</sup> "This is what the Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, whom Israel worships, says: 'I will cause the king of Babylon to stop ruling you.'<sup>3</sup> Within two years, I will cause to be brought back to this temple all the valuable things that King Nebuchadnezzar's soldiers took from this temple and took to Babylon.<sup>4</sup> And I will also bring back to this place Jehoiachin, who was the son of the Jehoiakim, the King of Judah, and all the other people who were captured and taken to Babylon. The king of Babylon has forced you to do what he wants, like someone puts a yoke on the neck of an ox to force it to do what he wants it to do. But I will cause that to end. That will happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>5</sup> Jeremiah replied to Hananiah in front of all the priests and other people whom were standing outside the temple. <sup>6</sup> He said, "I want that to be true! I desire that what you have predicted will happen just as you said! I hope that he will cause men from Babylon to bring back all the valuable things that were in this temple, and all the people who were taken to Babylon. <sup>7</sup> But now listen to what I say to you while all these people are listening. <sup>8</sup> Many years ago, those who were prophets before you and I became prophets spoke messages about many nations and great kingdoms. They predicted that wars and disasters and plagues would occur in those nations. <sup>9</sup> So now you or any other prophet who predicts that things will go well for us must show that your message is correct. Only if what you predict actually happens will we know that you were truly appointed by Yahweh."

<sup>10</sup> Then Hananiah took the yoke off my neck and broke it. <sup>11</sup> Then he said this to all the people who were there: "This is what Yahweh says: 'Just like Hananiah has broken this yoke, within two years I will cause King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon to stop forcing the people to do what he wants, which has been like a heavy yoke on all their necks.' " After Hananiah said that, Jeremiah left the temple area.

<sup>12</sup> Soon after Hananiah had broken the yoke that was around the neck of Jeremiah, Yahweh gave this message to me: <sup>13</sup> "Go and say this to Hananiah: 'Yahweh, Commander of the angel armies, whom Israel worships, says that you have broken a wooden yoke, but that he will replace it with an iron yoke. <sup>14</sup> I have forced the people of all these nations to become slaves of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon. That is like an iron yoke around their necks. I have put everything, even wild animals, under his control.' "

<sup>15</sup> Then Jeremiah went to Hananiah and said to him, "Hananiah, listen to this: Yahweh has not appointed you; instead, you have told lies to the people, and they have believed your lies. <sup>16</sup> Therefore, this is what Yahweh says: 'You will soon die. Before the end of this year, you will die, because you have encouraged people to act against Yahweh.' "

29 After King Jehoiachin, his mother, his palace officials, other officials in Judah and Jerusalem, and all the various kinds of craftsmen had been exiled to Babylon, Jeremiah wrote a letter to the elders, the priests, the prophets and all the other people who had been taken from Jerusalem to Babylon by soldiers of Nebuchadnezzar. <sup>3</sup> He gave the letter to Elasar son of Shaphan, and to Gemariah son of Hilkiah, when they were about to go to Babylon to be ambassadors from King Zedekiah to King Nebuchadnezzar. This is the letter that Jeremiah wrote, the message that Yahweh gave him.

<sup>4</sup> This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says to all you people who were captured here in Jerusalem and taken there to Babylon: <sup>5</sup> "Build houses there, and plan to stay there because you will be there for many years. Plant gardens, and eat the food that is produced in the gardens. <sup>6</sup> Get married and have children. Then when they grow up, choose wives for your sons, and husbands for your daughters, in order that they also may have children. In that way, the number of your people will increase, not decrease. <sup>7</sup> Also, do things that will cause things to go well for the other people there in the city where I sent you. Pray that things will go well for the people in that city, because if things go well for them, things will go well for you, also."

<sup>8</sup> This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says: "There are false prophets and fortune tellers among you. Do not allow them to deceive you. Do not pay attention to them when they tell you their dreams,<sup>9</sup> because they are telling you lies, saying that I have given them the messages that they are telling you. But, I have not appointed them."

you and your children have been in Babylon for seventy years, I will help you, and do for you the things that I promised, and I will enable you to return here to Jerusalem. <sup>11</sup>I, Yahweh, know what I have planned for you. I am planning to cause things to go well for you, not to cause you to experience disasters. I am planning to give you many things that you can confidently expect to receive in the future that your people will survive to see. <sup>12</sup>At that time, when you go to worship me and call out my name in prayer, I will listen to what you pray. <sup>13</sup>If you earnestly desire for me to bless you, you will see that I will answer you. <sup>14</sup>I will help you. I will cause you to no longer be slaves in Babylon. I will gather you from all the nations to which I have exiled you, and I will bring you back here to your own land, to the place from which you were taken."

<sup>15</sup>Some of you say that Yahweh has appointed prophets for you there in Babylon. <sup>16</sup>But this is what Yahweh says about the king who rules here in Jerusalem, and about all the other people who are still living here—your relatives who were not taken to Babylon with you. <sup>17</sup>Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says this: "I will cause them to experience wars and famines and diseases. I will cause them to become like bad figs that are very rotten, with the result that no one can eat them. <sup>18</sup>I will not stop causing them to experience wars and famines and diseases. And I will scatter them all around the world. In every country where I force them to be taken, I will cause them to be people whom others curse and be horrified about and mock. <sup>19</sup>That will happen because they have refused to pay attention to my messages, messages that I gave to the prophets whom I sent to them. And you who have been exiled to Babylon have not paid attention to them, either." That is what Yahweh says.

<sup>20</sup>Therefore, you people who have been exiled from Jerusalem to Babylon, listen to this message from Yahweh. <sup>21</sup>This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships,, says about Ahab son of Kolaiah, and about Zedekiah son of Maaseiah, who are telling lies to you, saying that they are giving messages from him: "They will be seized and taken to King Nebuchadnezzar, who will cause them to be executed while you are watching. <sup>22</sup>Because of what will happen to them, all you people who have been taken from Judah to Babylon will say this when they curse someone: 'I hope that Yahweh will do to you the same thing that he did to Zedekiah and Ahab, whom the king of Babylon caused to be killed by being burned in a fire.' <sup>23</sup>They have done terrible things to my Israelite people. They have committed adultery with their neighbors' wives, and they have spoken lies, saying that they were messages from me. They have said things that I did not tell them to say, and I, Yahweh, have heard them say those things."

<sup>24</sup>Yahweh told me to send this message to Shemaiah, a man from Nehelam who was living in Babylon: <sup>25</sup>"This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says: "You wrote a letter that no one told you to write. You sent it to Zephaniah the priest, son of Maaseiah, and you sent copies to the other priests and all the other people here in Jerusalem. This is what you wrote to him:

<sup>26</sup>Zephaniah, Yahweh has appointed you to be the priest instead of Jehoiada, to supervise those who work in the temple. Anyone who acts like a crazy man and who claims that he is a prophet, you should put his arms and legs and head into stocks. <sup>27</sup>So why have you not done anything to stop Jeremiah, the man from Anathoth, who pretends that he is a prophet among you? <sup>28</sup>He sent a letter to us who are here in Babylon, saying that we will be here for a long time. He said that therefore we should build houses and plan to stay here, and plant gardens, and eat the food that is produced in the gardens."

<sup>29</sup>But when Zephaniah the priest received the letter from you, he brought it to me and read it to me. <sup>30</sup>Then Yahweh gave me this message: <sup>31</sup>"Send this message to all the people from Judah who are there in Babylon: Say that this is what Yahweh says about Shemaiah, the man from Nehelam: 'I did not appoint him, but he has deceived you and caused you to believe the lies that he prophesied. <sup>32</sup>So, I will punish him and his family. He has incited you to rebel against me. Because of that, all of his descendants will soon die. I will do many good things for you, my people, but he and his descendants will not see those things, because they will be dead. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it!"

30 Yahweh gave Jeremiah another message. He said,<sup>2</sup> "I, Yahweh, the God of Israel am telling you to write down everything that I have said to you. <sup>3</sup> I want you to know that some day I will free my people, the people of Israel and Judah, from being slaves in Babylon. I will bring them back to this land that I gave to their ancestors, and this land will belong to them again. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh gave to me another message concerning the people of Israel and Judah. <sup>5</sup> This is what he said:

"I hear people screaming because they are terrified;

there is no peace in the land.

<sup>6</sup> But think about this:

Men certainly do not give birth to babies.

Therefore, why do strong men stand there,

with their faces very white,

with their hands pressed against their stomachs,

like women who are about to give birth to babies?

<sup>7</sup> Terrible things will soon happen; That will be a terrible day!

There has never been such a time.

It will be a time when my Israelite people will experience great trouble, but finally they will be saved from their sufferings."

"At that time it will be as though I will sever the ropes that are around my people, and I will free them from being slaves.

People in other countries will no longer enslave them.

<sup>9</sup> My people will again serve me, Yahweh, their God, and they will serve a king who is a descendant of King David; and I will appoint this king for them.

<sup>10</sup> So, you people of Israel who serve me,

do not be dismayed now, because some day I will bring you back from distant places; I will bring your descendants back home from the land where they had been exiled.

Then you Israelite people will again live peacefully and safely, and there will not be any nation that will cause you to be terrified.

<sup>11</sup> I, Yahweh, say that I will be with you and will rescue you;

I will completely destroy the nations to which I have scattered you.

But I will not completely destroy you.

I will punish you for your many sins, but I will punish you only as severely as you deserve:

I would be doing wrong if I did not to punish you at all."

<sup>12</sup> Yahweh also says this:

"You have suffered very much;

it is as though you have a terrible wound that cannot be cured.

<sup>13</sup> There is no one to help you, no one to put a bandage on your wound.

There is no medicine that will heal you.

<sup>14</sup> All your allies have deserted you and they do not want to help you anymore.

It is true that I have punished you severely,

like your enemies would wound you,

because you have committed many sins and you are very guilty.

<sup>15</sup> Because that is true, why do you protest about my punishing you, as though I had caused a wound that could not be cured?

It was necessary for me to punish you, because you had committed many sins and you were very guilty.

<sup>16</sup> But some day all those who are trying to destroy you will be destroyed;

- all your enemies will be exiled to other nations.
- All those who have stolen things from you will have their valuable possessions stolen, and all those who attack you will be attacked.
- <sup>17</sup> Everyone says that you are outcasts, and that you live in Jerusalem, a city that no one cares about." But Yahweh says, "I will heal your injuries and cause you to be healthy again."
- <sup>18</sup> This is what Yahweh says: "I will bring the people of Israel back from the lands to which they were taken and enable them to possess their land and their houses again. When that happens, Jerusalem will be rebuilt on top of its ruins, and the king's palace will be rebuilt as a place of justice.
- <sup>19</sup> People will again sing joyfully to thank me, and I will cause there to be more people in Jerusalem, not fewer; I will cause them to be honored, not despised.
- <sup>20</sup> Their children will prosper like they did before. I will cause them to be a group of people who worship me, and I will punish any nation that oppresses them.
- <sup>21</sup> One of their own people will be their king, and I will invite him to come close to me to worship me, because no one would dare to come close to me if I did not invite him.
- <sup>22</sup> You Israelite people will be my people, and I will be your God."
- <sup>23</sup> Yahweh will punish your enemies; it will be like a great storm; it will come down like a whirlwind, swirling around the heads of wicked people.
- <sup>24</sup> He will not stop being angry

until he completely accomplishes all that he has planned. In the future, you will understand all of this clearly.

31 Yahweh says that at that time, he will be the God who is worshiped by all the clans in Israel, and they will be his people.

<sup>2</sup> This is what Yahweh says: "Those people who remained alive and were not killed by their enemies' swords were blessed by me even in the desert; where they survived.

<sup>3</sup> Long ago I, Yahweh, said to your ancestors, the Israelite people, 'I have loved you and I will continue to love you forever. By faithfully loving you I have brought you close to myself.'

<sup>4</sup> And now I tell you, my Israelite people who I will think of like a chaste woman, that I will cause you to be a nation again. You will joyfully dance as you play your tambourines.

<sup>5</sup> Again you will plant your vineyards on the hills of Samaria, and you will eat the grapes that grow there.

<sup>6</sup> There will be a time when watchmen will call out from the hills of Samaria, 'Come, let us go up to Jerusalem to worship Yahweh, our God!'"

<sup>7</sup> And now Yahweh also says this: "Sing joyfully about what I have done for the people of Israel! Shout about your nation, the greatest nation! Shout joyfully, praising me and saying, 'Yahweh, has rescued his people, the ones who were still alive!'

<sup>8</sup> Do that because I will bring them back from the northeast, from the most distant places on the earth. Among them will be blind people and lame people, women who are pregnant and women who are having labor pains.

They will be a huge group of people!

<sup>9</sup> They will be weeping as they return, and they will be praying to me.

I will guide them along streams of water, on level paths where they will not stumble.

I will do this because I am like a father to the Israelite people; it is as though Israel is my oldest son."

<sup>10</sup> People in the nations of the world, listen to this message from Yahweh. Then proclaim it to people who live along the coasts far away.

Yahweh scattered his people, but he will gather them again and will take care of them like a shepherd takes care of his sheep.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh will buy his Israelite people back from those who conquered them because they were more powerful than his people.

They will rejoice about the things that Yahweh has abundantly given to them— grain and new wine and olive oil and young sheep and cattle.

They themselves will be like a well-watered garden, and they will no longer feel worn out.

<sup>13</sup> The young women will dance joyfully, and all the men, young ones and old ones, will join with them.

I will cause them to rejoice instead of mourning; I will comfort them and cause them to be happy instead of being sad.

<sup>14</sup> The priests will have plenty of things to eat and drink, and all my people will be filled with the good things that I give them.

That will certainly happen because I, Yahweh, have said it!"

<sup>15</sup> Yahweh also says this:

"Women were weeping in Ramah, on the border between Israel and Judah; they were mourning and crying very loudly.

The women who were the descendants of Ephraim and Manasseh, the two grandsons of Rachel the wife of Jacob, were weeping about their children, and no one could comfort them because their children were all dead.

'Do not cry anymore, because I will reward you for the good things you have done for your children.

Your children will return from the land where their enemies have taken them.

<sup>17</sup> I, Yahweh, am telling you that there are things that you can confidently expect me to do for you in the future. Your children will return to their own land.'

<sup>18</sup> I have heard the people of Israel grieving very much and saying to me, 'You punished us severely, like calves are beaten by their owners to train them for pulling a plow.

So bring us back to obey you again, because we are ready to return to you, because you alone are Yahweh, our God.

<sup>19</sup> We turned away from you, but we repented; after you caused us to realize that we were guilty.

We beat our hands on our legs to show that we were very ashamed of the sins that we committed when we were young.'

<sup>20</sup> But I, Yahweh, say this: The Israelite people certainly are still my dear children.

It is often necessary for me to threaten to punish them,

but I still love them.

That is why I have not forgotten them,
and I will certainly act mercifully toward them.

<sup>21</sup> You Israelite people, set up road signs;
put up posts along the roads
to mark the road on which you walked when you were taken from Jerusalem.

My precious Israelite people,
come back to your towns here.

<sup>22</sup> You people who have been like daughters who have forsaken their
parents,
how long will you continue to wander away from me?

I, Yahweh, will cause something to happen on the earth that is new:
the women of Israel will be protecting their husbands as they travel back here!"

<sup>23</sup> This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says: "When I bring them back from the countries to which they have been exiled, all the people from the towns in Judah will again say,
'I hope that Yahweh will bless this my home,
the holy place where righteous people will live!'
<sup>24</sup> The people of Judah who live in the towns, including the farmers and the shepherds, will all live together peacefully. <sup>25</sup> I will enable weary people to be refreshed with drinks of water, and enable people who are very exhausted to become strong again."

<sup>26</sup> I, Jeremiah, woke up after dreaming all those things, and I looked around. I had slept very delightfully!

<sup>27</sup> Then Yahweh said to me, "There will be a time when I will greatly increase the number of people and the number of livestock here in Israel and Judah. <sup>28</sup> Previously, I caused their enemies to remove the people from their land and to destroy their land and to bring many disasters to it. But in the future, I will enable them to build houses and to plant crops here in Israel again. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it. <sup>29</sup> Previously the people often said, 'The parents have eaten sour grapes, but it is the children's teeth that ache.' They meant that it was not fair for them to be punished for their ancestors' sins. But when I bring them back to their land, they will no longer say

that.

<sup>30</sup> But now all people will die because of the sins that they themselves have committed. It will be more like 'The person who eats sour grapes will have his own teeth aching.'<sup>31</sup> I, Yahweh, say this: 'There will be a time when I will make a new agreement with the people of Israel and with the people of Judah.<sup>32</sup> This new agreement will not be like the agreement that I made with their ancestors when I took them by their hands and led them out of Egypt. They disobeyed that agreement, even though I loved them like husbands love their wives.'<sup>33</sup> This is what I, Yahweh, say: 'This is the new agreement that I will make with the people of Israel some day: I will put my laws in their minds and write them on their inner beings. I will be their God, and they will be my people.<sup>34</sup> And it will not be necessary for them to teach their neighbors or their relatives and say, "You need to know Yahweh," because everyone, including both unimportant people and very important people, will already know me. And I will forgive them for having been very wicked, and I will never think again about the sins that they have committed.'

<sup>35</sup> Yahweh is the one who causes the sun to give light during the day, and who causes the moon and the stars to give light during the night.

He stirs up the seas, with the result that waves roar.

His name is Yahweh, commander of the
angel armies,
and this is what he says:

<sup>36</sup> 'I will not permanently reject my Israelite people
any more than I will get rid of the laws that control the universe.

<sup>37</sup> And this is what I say:

'No one can measure the sky and no one can find out what is supporting the earth.

Similarly, I cannot reject the descendants of Jacob
because of all the evil things that they have done.'

That is certain, because I, Yahweh, have said it!

<sup>38</sup>I, Yahweh, also say that there will be a time when everything in Jerusalem will be rebuilt for me, from the tower of Hananel at the northeast corner, west to the gate named the Corner Gate. <sup>39</sup>Workers will stretch a measuring line over Gareb Hill all the way southwest to Goah. <sup>40</sup>And the whole area, including the place where corpses and ashes are thrown in the Kidron Valley, and all the fields to the east as far as the Horse Gate, will become set apart for me. And the city of Jerusalem will never again be captured or destroyed."

32 After Zedekiah had been ruling Judah for almost ten years, Yahweh gave me another message, during the time that Nebuchadnezzar had been ruling Babylonia for almost eighteen years. <sup>2</sup>His army had surrounded Jerusalem, and Jeremiah was in a prison area in the courtyard where the guards of the king's palace stayed. <sup>3</sup>King Zedekiah had put me there. I continued to prophesy there about what would happen. I continued to say, "Yahweh says that he is about to allow the army of the king of Babylon to capture this city. <sup>4</sup>And the soldiers of Babylonia will most definitely capture King Zedekiah and take him to the king of Babylon for a face to face encounter. <sup>5</sup>Then his soldiers will take Zedekiah to Babylon, and he will remain there until I arrange for him to be punished. And if he tries to fight against the soldiers from Babylonia, he will not succeed." King Zedekiah asked Jeremiah why he continued to say that, but Yahweh had said this would be so.

<sup>6</sup>At that time, Yahweh gave Jeremiah another message. He said, <sup>7</sup>"Your cousin Hanamel son of Shallum your uncle, will come to you. He will say to you, 'Buy my field at Anathoth, your hometown. Because you are my closest relative, it is written in our laws that you have the right to buy it before I ask if anyone else wants to buy it.'"

<sup>8</sup>And just as Yahweh had predicted, my cousin Hanamel came to see me in the courtyard of the palace. He said, "Please buy my field at Anathoth in the area where the descendants of Benjamin live. It is written in our laws that you have the right to buy it before I ask if anyone else wants to buy it." When he said that, I knew that the message that I had received was truly from Yahweh.

<sup>9</sup>So, I bought the field at Anathoth. I paid Hanamel almost two hundred grams of silver for it. <sup>10</sup>I signed the paper it on which it was written that I was buying it, while others were watching. Then I weighed the silver and gave it to him. <sup>11</sup>Then I took two copies of the paper. One was sealed and the other was not sealed. On both of them was written the price and conditions of the purchase. I took both copies <sup>12</sup>and I gave them to Baruch son of Neriah, and the grandson of Mahseiah. I did this while my cousin Hanamel, the other witnesses who had signed the paper, and other men of Judah who were there in the courtyard, were watching.

<sup>13</sup>Then, while they were all listening, I said to Baruch, <sup>14</sup>"This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says: 'Take both copies of this paper and put them in a clay jar, to preserve them for a long time. <sup>15</sup>Do that because this is what I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, say: Some day people will again own property in this land, and they will buy and sell houses and vineyards and fields.'"

<sup>16</sup>After I had given the papers to Baruch, I prayed to Yahweh, saying this: <sup>17</sup>"Yahweh, you are my Lord! You made the sky and the earth by your very great power. Nothing is too difficult for you to do. <sup>18</sup>You show thousands of people that you will always be faithful to your covenant with them, but people suffer the consequences of the sins that their parents have committed. You are the great and powerful God. You are Yahweh, commander of the angel armies. <sup>19</sup>You make wise plans and you do mighty deeds. You see how all people behave, and you do to them what they deserve. <sup>20</sup>You performed many miracles in Egypt, and you continue to perform miracles here in Israel and everywhere else in the world. Because of that, you have become very famous. <sup>21</sup>You brought our Israelite ancestors out of Egypt by performing many great miracles, using your very great power, causing our enemies to be terrified. <sup>22</sup>You gave to us Israelite people this land that you solemnly promised to give to our ancestors, a land that is very fertile. <sup>23</sup>Our ancestors came here and conquered this land and started to live in it, but they refused to obey you or to do what you commanded them to do. Because of that, you have caused them to experience all these disasters.

<sup>24</sup> And now, the army of Babylonia has built ramps up against our city walls in order to attack our city. Because of our enemies' swords and because of famines and diseases, they will be able to conquer it easily. The things that you said would happen have now happened. <sup>25</sup> And it is evident that the Babylonian army will soon conquer this city. So now, I do not understand why you told me to buy this field with my silver, while others were watching. It seems that I have just been wasting my money by doing that!"

<sup>26</sup> Then Yahweh gave me this message: <sup>27</sup> "I am Yahweh, the God who rules over every living thing in the world. There is absolutely nothing that is too difficult for me to do. <sup>28</sup> So, this is what I say: It is true that I will enable the Babylonian army and King Nebuchadnezzar to capture this city. <sup>29</sup> The soldiers of Babylonia who are now outside the walls around the city will enter and burn this city. They will burn down all the houses where people caused me to become angry by burning incense on the tops of their roofs to honor Baal and by pouring out offerings of wine to other gods.

<sup>30</sup> The people of Israel and Judah have continually done only evil things from the time that they became a nation. They have caused me to become very angry by all their evil deeds. <sup>31</sup> From the time that this city was built until now, the people of this city have done only things that caused me to be very angry. So now I will destroy it. <sup>32</sup> The people of Israel and Judah, including their kings, their officials, the priests, the false prophets, and all the other people in Jerusalem have committed many sins that have caused me to become angry. <sup>33</sup> My people have turned away from me and have refused to return to me. Even though I taught them things many times, they would not pay attention to what I taught them, and they would not obey me. <sup>34</sup> They have set up their detestable idols even in my own temple and defiled it. <sup>35</sup> They have built on the hilltops places to worship Baal in Ben Hinnom Valley outside Jerusalem, and there they sacrifice their sons and daughters to their god Molech. I never commanded them to do such horrible deeds. I never even considered ordering such a terrible thing. And by doing it they have caused all the people of Judah to be guilty of having sinned."

<sup>36</sup> "But now I will say something more about this city. You people of Jerusalem have been saying, 'The army of the king of Babylon will conquer it, either by their swords or because of famines or diseases.' But this is what I, the God of Israel, say: <sup>37</sup> 'I will certainly bring my people back here again, from all the countries to which I will force them to go because I am extremely angry with them. I will bring them back to this city and allow them to live here safely. <sup>38</sup> They will be my people, and I will be their God. <sup>39</sup> I will give them one way of thinking and behaving, in order that they may revere me, for their good and for the good of their descendants. <sup>40</sup> I will make an agreement with them that will last forever: I will never stop doing good things for them, and they will always honor me; they will never stop worshiping me. <sup>41</sup> I will be happy to do good things for them, and I will surely enable them to return to this land and remain here; I will do that with all my inner being and all my strength.'

<sup>42</sup> And this is also what I, Yahweh, say: 'I have caused them to experience all these disasters. Similarly, some day I will do for them all the good things that I have promised. <sup>43</sup> By buying land you, Jeremiah, have predicted that some day people will buy and sell fields in this land about which you people of Jerusalem now say, "The Babylonian soldiers have destroyed it. It is now desolate. It is a land where there are no longer any people or animals." <sup>44</sup> But some day people will again buy and sell fields here. People will sign documents about buying those fields, and other people will witness them doing that. That will happen in the land where the descendants of Benjamin live and here in the villages near Jerusalem, in other towns in Judah, in the hill country and in the foothills to the west, and in the southern Judean wilderness. Some day I will cause them to prosper again. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

the one who made the earth, who formed it and put it in its place, say to the people of Jerusalem: 'My name is Yahweh.<sup>3</sup> Call out to me, and then I will tell you great and wonderful things that you have not known before.'<sup>4</sup> This is what I, Yahweh, the God of Israel, say: 'The men in this city have torn down some of their houses, and even parts of the king's palace, to get materials to strengthen the walls around the city, in order that the soldiers of Babylonia would not be able to break through the walls after they climb up the ramps that they have built against the walls, and kill the inhabitants with their swords.<sup>5</sup> You are expecting to fight against the army from Babylonia, but what will happen is that the houses of this city will be filled with the corpses of the men of this city whom I will allow to be killed because I am extremely angry with them. I have abandoned them because of all the wicked things that they have done.'

<sup>6</sup> However, there will be a time when I will cause the people in this city to be healthy and strong again. I will enable them to be prosperous and have peace.<sup>7</sup> I will bring the people of Judah and Israel back from the lands to which they were exiled. I will enable them to rebuild their towns.<sup>8</sup> I will get rid of their guilt for all the sins that they have committed against me, and I will forgive them for their sin of rebelling against me.<sup>9</sup> When that happens, all the nations of the world will rejoice, and they will praise me and honor me. They will hear about all the good things that I have done for this city and, because of that, they will revere me, and they will tremble because I have caused the people in this city to have peace and to prosper.'

<sup>10</sup> And this is also what I, Yahweh, say: 'You people have said that this is a land where there are no longer any people or animals. But in the streets of Jerusalem that are now completely empty, and in the other towns in Judah,<sup>11</sup> some day people will again be happy and laugh. Brides and bridegrooms will again sing joyfully. And many other people will also sing joyfully as they bring their offerings to me to thank me for what I have done for them. They will sing this song:

"We thank you, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies,

because you are good to us.
You faithfully hold to your covenant with us forever."

They will sing that because I will cause the people of this land to be as prosperous as they were before.'

<sup>12</sup> This land is now desolate. There are no people or animals living here. But I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, say this: 'In this land there will again be pastures where shepherds will lead their sheep<sup>13</sup> Shepherds will again count their sheep as the sheep walk by, outside the towns in the hill country, in the western foothills, in the southern Judean wilderness, in the land where the descendants of Benjamin live, around Jerusalem, and outside all the other towns in Judah.' That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it.

<sup>14</sup> Listen to this! I, Yahweh, say that there will be a time when I will do for the people of Israel and Judah all the good things that I promised to do for them.

<sup>15</sup> At that time I will appoint a righteous man who will be a descendant of King David.

Throughout the land, he will do what is just and right.

<sup>16</sup> At that time, the people of Judah will be rescued from their enemies, and the people of Jerusalem will be safe.

And people will say that the name of the city is 'Yahweh is the one who does right for us.'<sup>17</sup> And this is also what I, Yahweh, say: 'There will be descendants of King David ruling Israel forever.<sup>18</sup> And there will always be priests who are descendants of Levi who stand in front of me and offer sacrifices that will be completely burned on the altar and who will burn food offerings and other sacrifices.'

<sup>19</sup> Then Yahweh gave Jeremiah this message:<sup>20</sup> "This is what I, Yahweh, say: 'You certainly cannot annul my promise to cause nighttime to follow daytime each day.<sup>21</sup> Similarly, you cannot annul the promise that I made with King David, who served me well, that there will always be descendants of his who will rule Judah. The same is true for my agreement with the descendants of Levi who are priests who do work for me.<sup>22</sup> No one can count the stars in the sky, and no one can count the grains of sand at the seashore. Similarly, I will cause there to be a huge number of descendants of David and descendants of Levi who will work for me."

<sup>23</sup> Yahweh gave another message to me. He said,<sup>24</sup> "Surely you know that some people are saying, 'Yahweh chose two groups, the people of Judah and the people of Israel, and later abandoned them.' The people who are saying this are despising my people; they are saying that Israel no longer deserves to be considered a nation.<sup>25</sup> But this is what I say: I will not reject my people any quicker than I will change my laws that control the day and the night, the sky and the earth.<sup>26</sup> Similarly, I will never abandon the descendants of David or the other descendants of Jacob, and I will always allow descendants of David to rule the descendants of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. I will bring them back to their land, and I will act mercifully toward them."

34 King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon came with the armies of all the kingdoms that he ruled, and they fought against Jerusalem and the other towns in Judah. At that time, Yahweh gave me this message:<sup>2</sup> "Go to Zedekiah the King of Judah, and say to him, 'This is what Yahweh, the God of Israel, says: "I am about to enable the army of the king of Babylon to capture this city, and they will burn it down.<sup>3</sup> You will not escape from them; they will capture you and take you to the king of Babylon. You will meet him and speak with him face to face; then they will take you to Babylon."

<sup>4</sup> But King Zedekiah, listen to what Yahweh has promised: "You will not be killed in a battle;<sup>5</sup> you will die peacefully. When you die, people will burn incense to honor you just as they did for your ancestors who were kings before you became king. They will mourn for you, calling out, 'We are very sad that our king is dead!' I, Yahweh, promise that will happen."<sup>6</sup>

<sup>6</sup> So I took that message to King Zedekiah.<sup>7</sup> At that time the army of Babylon had surrounded Jerusalem and Lachish and Azekah. Those three cities were the only three cities in Judah that had high walls around them that still had not been captured.

<sup>8</sup> King Zedekiah had decreed that the people must free their slaves.<sup>9</sup> He decreed that the people must free their Hebrew slaves, both the men slaves and the women slaves. No one would be allowed to force a fellow Jew to continue to be his slave.<sup>10</sup> The officials and the rest of the people had obeyed what the king decreed,<sup>11</sup> but later they changed their minds. They forced the men and women whom they had freed to become their slaves again.

<sup>12</sup> So Yahweh gave me this message to tell to them:<sup>13</sup> "I, Yahweh, the God of Israel, made an agreement with your ancestors long ago, when I rescued them from being slaves in Egypt.<sup>14</sup> I told them that they must free all their Hebrew slaves after the slaves had worked for them for six years. But your ancestors did not pay any attention to what I said.<sup>15</sup> Recently, you obeyed my command and stopped doing what was wrong and did what was right. You made a solemn agreement at my temple that you would free your slaves, and then you freed them.<sup>16</sup> But now you have disregarded what you solemnly promised, and you have shown contempt for what I said by taking back the women and men whom you had freed and said they could live wherever they wanted to. Now you have forced them to be your slaves again.

<sup>17</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh, say: 'Because you have not obeyed me by freeing your fellow Israelites, I will free you to be destroyed by the swords of your enemies and by famines and diseases. All the nations of the earth will be horrified because of what happens to you.<sup>18-19</sup> Because you have disregarded what I said in my agreement with you, I will do to you just what you did to the calves that you cut in half to show that you would surely do what you solemnly promised that you would do. I will enable your enemies to cut you into pieces, you officials of Judah and you officials of Jerusalem, and you officials in the palace, and you priests and all you common people. I will do that because you have ignored the fact that you had solemnly promised to free your slaves.<sup>20</sup> I will enable your enemies to capture you, and they will kill you. And your bodies will be food for vultures and wild animals.'

Babylon to capture King Zedekiah and his officials. Although the king of Babylon and his army have left Jerusalem for a short time,<sup>22</sup> I will summon them back again. This time, they will fight against this city and capture it and burn it down. I will make sure that all the towns in Judah are destroyed, with the result that no one will live there anymore."

35 Several years earlier, when Jehoiakim son of Josiah was the king of Judah, Yahweh gave me this message:<sup>2</sup> "Go to the place where families of the Rekab clan live. Invite them to my temple. When they arrive, take them into one of the inside rooms and offer them some wine."

<sup>3</sup> So I went to see Jaazaniah and all his brothers and sons who represented the Rekab clan. Jaazaniah was a son of another man named Jeremiah and grandson of Habazziniah.<sup>4</sup> I took them to the temple, and we went into the room where the sons of Igdaiah's son Hanan, who was a prophet, stayed. That room was next to the room that was used by the men who were in charge of the entrances to the temple. It was above the room that belonged to Maaseiah, who was the temple gatekeeper and the son of Shallum.

<sup>5</sup> I set jugs of wine and some cups in front of them and urged them to drink some,<sup>6</sup> but they refused. They said, "We do not drink wine, because our ancestor Jonadab son of Rekab, commanded us, saying 'You and your descendants must never drink wine.'<sup>7</sup> And you must not build houses or plant vineyards or other crops. Instead, you must always live in tents. If you obey those commands, you all will live for many years in this land."<sup>8</sup> So we have obeyed him in all those matters. We have never drunk wine. Our wives and our sons and our daughters have also never drunk wine.<sup>9</sup> We have not built houses or planted vineyards or other crops or worked in fields.<sup>10</sup> We have lived in tents. We have obeyed all the commands that Jonadab, our ancestor, gave us.<sup>11</sup> But when the army of King Nebuchadnezzar attacked this country, we said, 'We must go to Jerusalem to escape from the armies of Babylonia and Aram.' So, we came to Jerusalem and we are living here."

angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, say: 'Go and tell this to the people in Jerusalem and in other places in Judah: "Why do you not listen to me or learn something about how to obey me?<sup>14</sup> The Rekab clan still do not drink wine, because their ancestor Jonadab told them to not do that. In contrast, I have spoken to you many times, but you ignored me and refused to obey me.<sup>15</sup> Many times I sent prophets to you. They told you, 'Turn away from your wicked behavior, and do things that you should do. Stop worshiping other gods, in order that you will be able to live peacefully in this land that I gave to you and your ancestors.' But you would not pay attention to what I said or obey me.<sup>16</sup> The descendants of Jonadab have obeyed their ancestor, but you have refused to pay attention to what I told you.'

<sup>17</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, say: 'You have refused to listen to me and you did not answer when I called you. Therefore, I will cause the people in Jerusalem and other places in Judah to experience all the disasters that I said that I would cause to happen.'"

<sup>18</sup> Then Jeremiah turned to the Rekab clan and said, "This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says: 'You have obeyed what your ancestor Jonadab told you. You have obeyed all his instructions.<sup>19</sup> Therefore, this is what Yahweh says: 'There will always be descendants of Jonadab who will do work for me.'"

36 When Jehoiakim son of Josiah had been the king of Judah for almost four years, Yahweh gave this message to me:<sup>2</sup> "Get a scroll, and write on it the messages that I have given to you regarding Israel, Judah, and the other nations. Write all of the messages, starting from the time that I gave you the first message, when Josiah was the king, up until now.<sup>3</sup> When the people of Judah hear again about all the disasters that I plan to cause them to experience, perhaps each one of them will repent. If they do that, I will be able to forgive them for the wrong things that they have done."

he wrote them on a scroll.<sup>5</sup> Then Jeremiah said to him, "I am not allowed to leave here and go to the temple.<sup>6</sup> So, you go to the temple on the next day when the people are fasting, and read to them the messages from Yahweh that you wrote while I dictated them to you. Read them aloud to all the people who are there, including the people of Judah who come there from their towns.<sup>7</sup> Perhaps they will turn from their evil behavior and request Yahweh to act mercifully toward them. They must do that, because Yahweh is very angry with them and has threatened to punish them severely."

<sup>8</sup> Baruch did what Jeremiah told him to do. He went to the temple and read to the people all those messages from Yahweh.<sup>9</sup> He did it on the ninth month, on a day when their leaders had proclaimed that all the people in Jerusalem, and the people who had come there from other towns in Judah, should fast to please Yahweh. This happened when Jehoiakim had been king for almost five years.<sup>10</sup> Baruch read to all the people the messages that he had written on the scroll. He read them while he was in the temple, in the room where Gemariah stayed. He was the son of Shaphan, who had previously been the king's secretary. That room was close to the upper courtyard of the temple, near the entrance to the temple that is called the New Gate.

<sup>11</sup> When Micaiah son of Gemariah, and grandson of Shaphan, heard these messages from Yahweh,<sup>12</sup> he went down to the secretary's room in the palace, where all the king's officials were meeting. Elishama the king's secretary was there. Delaiah son of Shemaiah, Elnathan son of Acbor, Gemariah, Zedekiah son of Hananiah, and all the other officials of the king were also there.<sup>13</sup> When Micaiah told them about the messages that Baruch had been reading to the people,<sup>14</sup> the officials sent Jehudi son of Nethaniah, and grandson of Shelemiah and great-grandson of Cushi, to tell Baruch to come and read the messages to them, also. So Baruch took the scroll and went to them.<sup>15</sup> They said to him, "Please sit down and read it to us." So Baruch did what they requested.

<sup>16</sup> After they had heard all the messages, they were afraid. They looked at each other and then they said, "We must tell these messages to the king!"<sup>17</sup> Then they asked Baruch, "How did you get this scroll? Did Jeremiah dictate to you all the messages on this scroll?"

<sup>18</sup> Baruch replied, "Yes, Jeremiah dictated them to me, and I wrote them with ink on this scroll."

<sup>19</sup> Then the officials told Baruch, "You and Jeremiah must both hide. Do not tell anyone where you are!"

<sup>20</sup> They put the scroll in the room of Elishama, the king's secretary. Then they went to the king, who was in the courtyard, and reported to him everything that Baruch had read to them.

<sup>21</sup> Then the king sent Jehudi to get the scroll. Jehudi brought it from Elishama's room and read it to the king, while all the king's officials were standing there.<sup>22</sup> It was in the cold season, and the king was in a part of the palace where he stayed when it was cold. He was sitting in front of a fire to keep warm.<sup>23</sup> Each time Jehudi finished reading three or four columns, the king cut off that section of the scroll with a knife and threw it into the fire. He did that, section by section, until the entire scroll was burned up.<sup>24</sup> Neither the king nor his officials showed that they were afraid that God would punish them. They did not tear their clothes to show that they were sorry for what they had done.<sup>25</sup> Elnathan, Delaiah, and Gemariah pleaded with the king not to burn the scroll, but he did not pay any attention.<sup>26</sup> Then the king commanded his son Jerahmeel, Seraiah son of Azriel, and Shelemiah son of Abdeel to arrest Baruch and me. But they were unable to do that because Yahweh had hidden us.

<sup>27</sup> After the king had burned the scroll on which were written the messages that I had dictated to Baruch, Yahweh said this to me:

<sup>28</sup> "Get another scroll, and tell Baruch to write everything again, the same messages that he had written on the scroll that King Jehoiakim burned.<sup>29</sup> Then go to the king and say to him, 'Yahweh says this: You burned the scroll because you did not like what was written on it, that the king of Babylon would surely come with his army and destroy this land and get rid of all the people and the animals.<sup>30</sup> Now this is what I, Yahweh, say about you, Jehoiakim: None of your descendants will rule this kingdom. Your corpse will be thrown out on the ground and not buried; it will be under the hot sun during the days and struck by frost during the nights.<sup>31</sup> I will punish you and your family and your officials for their sins. And I will cause the people of Jerusalem and the people of the other towns in Judah to experience all the disasters that I promised, because you all would not pay attention to what I said!"'

<sup>32</sup> So Jeremiah took another scroll, and again he dictated the messages to Baruch. He wrote everything that had been written on the other scroll, the one that King Jehoiakim had burned in the fire. But this time, Jeremiah added more messages.

37 After Jehoiakim died, his son Jehoiachin became king for only three months, after which King Josiah's son Zedekiah became the king of Judah. Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, appointed him to be the new king.<sup>2</sup> But King Zedekiah and his palace officials and the other people in the land paid no attention to the messages that Yahweh gave me.

<sup>3</sup> However, one day King Zedekiah sent Jehukal son of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the priest, son of Maaseiah, to me. They requested me to pray to Yahweh our God for our nation.

<sup>4</sup> At that time Jeremiah had not yet been put in prison, so he could go and come whenever and whenever he wanted to, without being hindered.

<sup>5</sup> At that time, the army of Hophra, the king of Egypt, came to the southern border of Judah. When the army of Babylonia heard about that, they stopped surrounding Jerusalem and left there to fight against the army from Egypt.

<sup>7</sup> "I, Yahweh, the God of Israel, say this: The king of Judah has sent messengers to you to ask me what is going to happen. Tell the king that even though the army of the king of Egypt came to help him, they are about to return to Egypt. <sup>8</sup> Then the army of Babylonia will return here, capture this city, and burn everything in it.

<sup>9</sup> So, this is what Jeremiah said to you Israelites: You should not deceive yourselves, thinking that the army from Babylonia has gone and will not return. That is not true.

<sup>10</sup> And even if your soldiers could destroy almost all of the soldiers from Babylonia who are attacking you, and allow only those who were wounded to remain alive in their tents, those men would come out of their tents and completely burn this city."

<sup>11</sup> When the army from Babylonia left Jerusalem because the army from Egypt was approaching,<sup>12</sup> Jeremiah started to leave the city. He intended to go to the area where the descendants of Benjamin live, in order to take possession of my share of the property from my family.<sup>13</sup> But as he was walking out the Benjamin Gate, the head guard seized Jeremiah and said, "You are deserting us and going to the soldiers from Babylonia!" The man who seized him was Irijah son of Shelemiah, and grandson of Hananiah.

<sup>14</sup> But Jeremiah protested and said, "That is not true! I was not intending to do that!" But Irijah would not pay attention to what Jeremiah said. He took Jeremiah to the king's officials.<sup>15</sup> They were very angry with him. They commanded the guards to beat Jeremiah and then to put him in the house where Jonathan the king's secretary stayed. They had changed Jonathan's house to make it become a prison.

<sup>17</sup> Then King Zedekiah secretly sent a servant to him, who took Jeremiah to the palace. There the king asked him, "Do you have any messages from Yahweh?" Jeremiah replied, "Yes, the message is that you will be put into the hands of the king of Babylon."

<sup>18</sup> Then Jeremiah asked the king, "What crime have I committed against you or against your officials or against the Israelite people, with the result that you have commanded that I be put in a prison?<sup>19</sup> Your prophets predicted that the army of the king of Babylon would not attack you or this land. Why were their messages not fulfilled?<sup>20</sup> Your majesty, I plead with you to listen to me. Do not send me back to the dungeon in the house of Jonathan your secretary, because if you do that, I will die there."

<sup>21</sup> So King Zedekiah commanded that Jeremiah not be sent back to the prison cell. Instead, he was allowed to be watched by the guards in the courtyard of the palace. The king also commanded that they should bring him a loaf of fresh bread every day, until there was no bread left in the city. So they put Jeremiah in that courtyard and he remained there.

38 Four officials, Shephatiah son of Mattan, Gedaliah son of Pashhur, Jehukal son of Shelemiah, and Pashhur son of Malkijah, heard what Jeremiah had been telling all the people.<sup>2</sup> He had been telling them that Yahweh was saying, "Everyone who stays in Jerusalem will die. They will be killed by their enemies' swords or from famines or from diseases. But those who surrender to the Babylonian army will remain alive. They will escape; they will not be killed."<sup>3</sup> Yahweh also says that the army of the king of Babylon will certainly capture this city."

<sup>4</sup> So those officials went to the king and said, "This man Jeremiah should be executed! Because of what he is saying, he is discouraging our soldiers who remain in the city. He is also discouraging the people. He is not saying things that will help us; he is saying things that will defeat us."

<sup>6</sup> So those officials took Jeremiah from his cell and lowered him by ropes into a cistern in the courtyard. The cistern belonged to Malkijah, who was a son of the king. There was no water in the cistern, but there was a lot of mud, so he sank down deep into the mud.

<sup>7</sup> But Ebed-Melek, a palace official from Ethiopia, heard someone say that Jeremiah was in the well. At that time the king was deciding people's cases at the Benjamin Gate.<sup>8</sup> Ebed-Melek went out of the palace and said to the king, <sup>9</sup>"Your majesty, those men have done a very evil thing. They have put the prophet Jeremiah in a well. Almost all the food in the city is gone, so no one will be able to bring him any food, and as a result he will die from hunger!"

<sup>10</sup> So the king told Ebed-Melek, "Take thirty of my men with you, and pull Jeremiah out of the well, in order that he does not die!"

things. There they found some old rags and discarded clothing. They took those things and went to the well. They fastened them to a rope and lowered the rope to me.<sup>12</sup> Then Ebed-Melek called down to me, "Put these rags underneath your armpits, to protect you from being injured by the ropes!" So Jeremiah did that.<sup>13</sup> Then they pulled him out of the well. So he stayed in the courtyard where the palace guards were.

<sup>14</sup> One day King Zedekiah summoned Jeremiah, and he was brought to the king, who was waiting for him at the entrance of the temple. He said to Jeremiah, "I want to ask you something. I want you to answer me truthfully, and to not conceal anything."

<sup>15</sup> Jeremiah replied, "If I tell you the truth, you will command that I be executed. And if I give you good advice, you will not pay attention to what I say."

<sup>16</sup> But King Zedekiah secretly promised him, "Tell me the truth! And as surely as Yahweh lives, I will not cause you to be executed, and I will not put you into the hands of those who are wanting to kill you."

<sup>17</sup> So then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says: If you surrender to the officers of the king of Babylon, you and your family will be spared, and this city will not be burned.<sup>18</sup> But if you refuse to surrender to them, you will not escape. And the army from Babylonia will capture this city and completely burn it."

<sup>19</sup> The king replied, "But I am afraid to surrender to the soldiers from Babylon, because their officers may put me into the hands of the people of Judah who have already joined the soldiers from Babylonia, and those people from Judah will mistreat me."

<sup>20</sup> Jeremiah replied, "If you obey Yahweh by doing what I tell you to do, they will not put you into the hands of our people. Things will go well for you, and you will remain alive.

<sup>21</sup> But if you refuse to surrender, I will tell you what Yahweh has revealed to me.<sup>22</sup> All the women who remain in your palace will be brought out and given to the officers of the king of Babylon. Then those women will say to you:

'You had friends whom you thought you could trust,

but they have deceived you and caused you to make a wrong decision.

Now it is as though you are stuck in mud,
and your friends have abandoned
you.'

<sup>23</sup> All of your wives and children in the city will be led out to the soldiers from Babylonia, and you also will not escape. The soldiers of the king of Babylon will seize you, and they will burn down this city."

<sup>24</sup> Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "Do not tell anyone what you told me; if you tell anyone, the king's officials may kill you." <sup>25</sup> If my officials find out that I talked to you, perhaps they will come to you and say, 'Tell us what you and the king were talking about. If you do not tell us, we will kill you.' <sup>26</sup> If that happens, just tell them that you pleaded with me not to send you back to the dungeon in Jonathan's house, because you were afraid that you would die if you were put there again."

<sup>27</sup> And that is what happened. The king's officials came to Jeremiah and asked why the king had summoned him. But he told them what the king told him to tell them. So they did not ask Jeremiah any more questions, because no one had heard what the king and Jeremiah had said to each other.

<sup>28</sup> So Jeremiah remained being guarded in the courtyard of the palace, until the day that the army of Babylonia captured Jerusalem.

39 After King Zedekiah had been ruling Judah for almost nine years, King Nebuchadnezzar came in the tenth month of the year with his army, and they surrounded Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup> One and a half years later, after Zedekiah had been ruling for almost eleven years, in the eleventh year and fourth month, soldiers from Babylonia broke through the city wall. Then they rushed in and captured the city. <sup>3</sup> Then all the officers of the king of Babylonia came in and sat down at the Middle Gate to decide what they would do to the city. They included Nergal-Sharezer, Samgar Nebo, Sarsekim who was one of the chief administrative officers, Nergal-Sharezer, the king's advisor, and many other officials.

<sup>4</sup> When King Zedekiah and all his soldiers

realized that the army of Babylonia had broken into the city, they fled. They waited until it was dark. Then they went out of the city through the king's garden, through the gate that was between the two walls. Then they started running toward the plain along the Jordan.

<sup>5</sup> But the soldiers from Babylonia pursued
the king, and they caught him on the plains near Jericho. They took him to the king of Babylon, who was at Riblah in the Hamath.
There Nebuchadnezzar told his soldiers what they should do to punish Zedekiah. <sup>6</sup> They forced Zedekiah to watch while they killed his sons and all the officials from Judah. <sup>7</sup> Then they gouged out Zedekiah's eyes. They fastened him with bronze chains and took him to Babyllon.

<sup>8</sup> Meanwhile, the Babylonian army burned
the palace and all the other buildings in Jerusalem. And they tore down the city walls.

<sup>9</sup> Then Nebuzaradan, the captain of the king's bodyguards, forced to go to Babylon most of the other people who remained in the city and the Jews who had joined the soldiers of Babylonia.
<sup>10</sup> But he allowed some of the very poor people to remain in Judah, and he gave them vineyards and fields to take care of.

<sup>11</sup> King Nebuchadnezzar had previously told the captain of the guard, Nebuzaradan to find Jeremiah. He said, <sup>12</sup> "Make sure that no one harms him. Take care of him, and do for him whatever he requests you to do." <sup>13</sup> So he and Nebushazban, who was one of their chief officers, and Nergal-Sharezer the king's advisor, and other officers of the king of Babylon <sup>14</sup> sent some men to bring Jeremiah out of the courtyard outside of the palace. They took him to Gedaliah who was the son of Ahikam and grandson of Shaphan. Then Gedaliah took Jeremiah to his home, and he stayed in Judah among his own people who had been allowed to remain there.

<sup>15</sup> But while Jeremiah was still being guarded in the palace courtyard, Yahweh gave him this message: <sup>16</sup> "Say this to Ebed-Melek, the official from Ethiopia: 'This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says: I will do to this city everything that I said that I would do.
Everything I told you would be done, and you will see it with your own eyes.' <sup>17</sup> But I promise to rescue you from the people you are afraid of. This is what I, Yahweh, have promised to you! <sup>18</sup> You trusted me, so I will save you. You will not be killed by our enemies' swords. You will live. That will surely happen, because I, Yahweh, have said it."

40 The soldiers from Babylonia captured Jeremiah and many other people from Jerusalem and other places in Judah. They planned to take them to Babylon. So they fastened chains around their wrists and took them to Ramah, a town north of Jerusalem. While they were there, Jeremiah was released. This is how it happened: <sup>2</sup> Nebuzaradan, the captain of the king's guards, found that Jeremiah was there. He summoned Jeremiah and said to him, "Yahweh your God said that he would cause this land to experience a disaster. <sup>3</sup> And now he has caused it to happen. He has done just what he said that he would do, because you people sinned against Yahweh and refused to obey him. <sup>4</sup> But today I am going to take the chains off your wrists and release you. If you want to come with me to Babylon, that will be fine. I will take care of you. But if you do not want to come with me, do not come. Stay here. Look, the entire country is available; you can choose whatever part you want to go to. You can go wherever you think it is best." Then he took the chains off Jeremiah's wrists. <sup>5</sup> He said, "If you decide to stay here, go to Gedaliah. The king of Babylon appointed him to be the governor of Judah. You will be allowed to stay here with the people that he is governing. But you can do whatever you want to."

Then Nebuzaradan gave Jeremiah some food and some money, and he allowed him to go.

<sup>6</sup> He returned to Gedaliah at Mizpah, and he stayed in Judah with the people who still remained in the land.

<sup>7</sup> The Israelite soldiers who had not surrendered to the army of Babylonia were roaming around in the countryside. Then their leaders heard someone say that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah to be the governor of the very poor people who were still in Judah, who had not been taken to Babylon. <sup>8</sup> So they went to talk to Gedaliah at Mizpah. Those who went included Ishmael son of Nethaniah, Johanan and Jonathan the sons of Kareah, Seraiah son of Tanhumeth, the sons of Ephai from Netophath, and Jezaniah from Maacah, and the soldiers who were with them. <sup>9</sup> Gedaliah solemnly promised that the soldiers from Babylonia would not harm them. He said, "Do not be afraid to do things for them. Stay here in this land and do things for the king of Babylon. If you do that, things will go well for you. <sup>10</sup> As for me, I will stay here at Mizpah to be your representative to the officials from Babylonia who come to talk with us. But you should return to your towns, and eat the things that are produced on your land. Harvest the grapes and the fruit that ripens in the summer and the olives, make wine and olive oil, and store it."

<sup>11</sup> Then the Jews who had fled to Moab, Ammon, Edom, and other nearby countries heard people say that the king of Babylon had allowed a few people to remain in Judah, and that he had appointed Gedaliah to be their governor. <sup>12</sup> So they began to return to Judah. They stopped at Mizpah to talk with Gedaliah. Then they went to various places in Judea, and they harvested a great amount of grapes and summer fruit.

<sup>13</sup> Some time later, Johanan and all the other leaders of the Israelite soldiers who had not surrendered to the army of Babylonia came to Gedaliah at Mizpah. <sup>14</sup> They said to him, "Do you know that Baalis, the king of the people of Ammon, has sent Ishmael son of Nethaniah to assassinate you?" But Gedaliah did not believe what they said.

<sup>15</sup> Later Johanan talked with Gedaliah privately. He said, "Allow me to go and murder Ishmael secretly. It would not be good to allow him to come and murder you! If you are killed, what will happen to all the Jews who have returned to this area? They will be scattered, and the other people who remain in Judah will all be killed!"

<sup>16</sup> But Gedaliah said to Johanan, "No, I will not allow you to do that. I think that you are lying about Ishmael."

41 Ishmael son of Nethaniah was a member of the king's family. He had been one of King Zedekiah's important officials. In the seventh month of that year, he went to Mizpah with ten other men to talk with Gedaliah. While they were eating together,<sup>2</sup> Ishmael and the other ten men jumped up, and with their swords they killed Gedaliah—the man whom the king of Babylon had appointed to be their governor!<sup>3</sup> Ishmael and the other men also killed all the Jews and the Babylonians who his soldiers found with Gedaliah at Mizpah.

<sup>4</sup>The next day, before anyone had found out that Gedaliah had been murdered,<sup>5</sup> eighty men from Shechem, Shiloh, and Samaria came to worship at the temple of Yahweh in Mizpah. They had shaved off their beards and torn their clothes and cut themselves to show that they were mourning. And they had brought grain offerings and incense to burn on the altar.<sup>6</sup> Ishmael son of Nethaniah went out of the city to meet them, weeping as he went. When he reached them, he said, "Come and see what has happened to Gedaliah!"

<sup>7</sup>But as soon as they had all entered the town, Ishmael and his men killed most of them and threw their corpses into a well.<sup>8</sup> There were only ten of them whom they spared. They were not killed because they promised to Ishmael that if he allowed them to remain alive, they would bring him lots of wheat and barley and olive oil and honey that they had hidden.<sup>9</sup> The well where Ishmael's men had thrown the corpses of the men whom they had murdered was the deep well that King Asa's men had dug in order that they would have water in the city if the army of King Baasha of Israel would surround the city. Ishmael's men filled that well with corpses.

<sup>10</sup>Then Ishmael and his men captured the king's daughters and some of the other people who had been left in Mizpah by the chief Babylonian guard Nebuzaradan so that Gedaliah would take care of them. Ishmael and his men took those people and started back toward the Ammon area.

Johanan and the soldiers who were with him, they shouted joyfully.<sup>14</sup> So all those who had been captured in Mizpah escaped, and they started to help Johanan.<sup>15</sup> But Ishmael son of Nethaniah and eight of his men escaped and fled to the Ammon area.<sup>16</sup> Then Johanan son of Kareah and the men who were with him gathered together all the people whom they had rescued at Gibeon. They included soldiers and women and children and some of the king's palace officials. They were all people whom Ishmael and his men had captured after they had killed Gedaliah.<sup>17</sup> They took them all to Geruth Kimham village near Bethlehem. And they all prepared to go to Egypt.<sup>18</sup> They were worried about what the soldiers of Babylonia would do to them when they found out that Ishmael had killed Gedaliah, who had been appointed by the king of Babylonia to be their governor.

42 Then Johanan son of Kereah and Jezaiah son of Hoshaiyah, and all the other leaders of the Israelite soldiers who had not surrendered to the army of Babylonia, and many other people, including those who were important and those who were not important, came to me.<sup>2</sup> They said, "Please listen to our request and pray to Yahweh our God for all of us. Although we were previously a huge number of people, you can see that now we are only a small number of people who have survived.<sup>3</sup> Pray that Yahweh our God will show us what we should do and where we should go."

<sup>4</sup>I replied, "Okay, I will pray to Yahweh our God, like you have requested, and I will tell you what he says. I will tell you everything."

<sup>5</sup>They replied to me, "We know that Yahweh our God will be a faithful witness against us if we refuse to do everything that he tells us to do.<sup>6</sup> We are requesting you to ask Yahweh our God what we should do. When he replies, we will obey him, whether we like what he says or not. We will do that because we know that things will go well for us if we obey him."

<sup>7</sup>So I prayed to Yahweh, and ten days later he gave me his reply.<sup>8</sup> So I summoned Johanan son of Kereah and all the other leaders of the and all the other people, including those who were important and those who were not important.<sup>9</sup> I said to them, "You told me to tell Yahweh, the God of Israel what you were requesting. This is what he replied: <sup>10</sup>'You should stay here in this land. If you do that, I will cause your nation to be strong and not be weak. I will cause you to prosper and not be exiled again. I will stop the disasters that I made you experience. <sup>11</sup>But do not be afraid of the king of Babylon anymore, because I will be with you. I will rescue you from his power. <sup>12</sup>I will be merciful to you by causing him to act kindly toward you. So as a result, he will allow you to stay here in your land.'

<sup>13</sup>But if you refuse to obey Yahweh our God, and if you say 'We will not stay here; <sup>14</sup>instead, we will go to Egypt. There we will not experience any wars, we will not hear trumpets signaling our soldiers to prepare for battles, and we will not be hungry.' <sup>15</sup>Listen now! you people who are left in Judah! Listen to what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says to you: 'If you are determined to go to Egypt, and if you go and live there, <sup>16</sup>you will experience those wars and famines that you are afraid of, and you will all die there. <sup>17</sup>That is what will happen to all you who are determined to go to Egypt and live there. Some of you will be killed by the swords of your enemies, and others of you will die from famines and from diseases. None of you will escape the disasters that I will bring on you.'

<sup>18</sup>And Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, also says this: 'Because I was very angry, I severely punished all the people of Jerusalem. I will do the same things to you when you go to Egypt. The result will be that people will curse you. They will be horrified about what has happened to you. They will make fun of you, and you will never see this land again.'

<sup>19</sup>You little group of people of Judah who are still alive, listen to me: Yahweh has told you, 'Do not go to Egypt.' So do not forget what I have warned you today. <sup>20</sup>You made a life-and-death mistake when you requested me to pray to Yahweh our God and claimed to be willing to obey everything he said. <sup>21</sup>So today I have told you exactly what he said, but I know that you will not obey Yahweh our God now, just as you have not obeyed him previously. <sup>22</sup>You want to go to Egypt and live there. So now, you can be sure of this: All of you will die there.

Some of you will be killed by the swords of your enemies and others will die from famines or from diseases."

43 So I finished telling to the people that message from Yahweh our God. <sup>2</sup>But then Johanan son of Kareah and Azariah son of Hoshaiah and some other insolent men said to me, "You are lying! Yahweh our God has not told us that we should not go to Egypt! <sup>3</sup>We think that Baruch son of Neriah has urged you to say this, in order that if we stay here, the soldiers from Babylonia will seize us and kill us or take us to Babylonia."

<sup>4</sup>So Johanan and the other leaders of the Judean soldiers and many of the other people who were there refused to obey Yahweh's command to stay in Judah. <sup>5</sup>Johanan and all the other leaders gathered together all the people who had returned from the other countries to which they had been scattered. <sup>6</sup>They included men, women, children, the king's daughters, and all those whom Nebuzaradan had left with Gedaliah, and they also took Baruch and me. <sup>7</sup>They refused to obey Yahweh, and they took us all to Egypt, as far as the city of Tahpanhes.

<sup>8</sup>While we were at Tahpanches, Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>9</sup>"While the people of Judah are watching you, take some large rocks and bury them under the brick pavement at the entrance to the king's palace there at Tahpanches. <sup>10</sup>Then say to the people of Judah, 'This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says: "I will summon Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, who does my work, to come with his army to Egypt. I will set up his throne over these stones that I told Jeremiah to bury. And Nebuchadnezzar will set up his tent there to show that he has become the king of Egypt. <sup>11</sup>When his army comes, they will attack Egypt. Then those will die who I have determined must die, those who I have determined must be captured will be captured, and those who I have determined must be killed by swords will be killed by swords. <sup>12</sup>Nebuchadnezzar's soldiers will burn down the temples of the gods of Egypt and take away their idols as souvenirs. His troops will clean Egypt like a shepherd cleans lice from his cloak and leave without having been harmed. <sup>13</sup>But before they leave, they will have torn down the pillars that are in the temple of their sun god and burned all of the temple of the false Egyptian gods."'"

44 This is the message that Yahweh gave me concerning the Judeans who were living in northern Egypt—in Migdol, Tachpanches, and Memphis—and in the region of Pathros in southern Egypt: <sup>2</sup>"This is what I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, say: You saw the disaster that I caused the people in Jerusalem and the other towns in Judah to experience. Those towns are now ruined and deserted. <sup>3</sup>That happened because I was extremely angry with them on account of their being very wicked. They burned incense to other gods and worshiped them. They were gods that you previously did not know about, and your ancestors also did not know about them. <sup>4</sup>Many times I sent my prophets who served me, to say to them, 'Do not do those abominable things that I hate!' <sup>5</sup>But my people would not pay any attention to what I said to them. They would not turn away from their wicked behavior, or stop burning incense to worship other gods. <sup>6</sup>So I poured out the consequences of my great anger on them. My punishment fell on the streets of Jerusalem and on the other towns in Judah like a fire. It caused those towns to be ruined and deserted, and they are still like that.

<sup>7</sup>So now I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, ask you: Why are you causing yourselves to experience these disasters? Do you not realize that because of what you are doing, soon there will be no more men or women or children or infants left among you who have come here to Egypt from Judah? <sup>8</sup>Why are you provoking me and causing me to be very angry by burning incense to the idols that you have made here in Egypt? If you continue doing this, you will destroy yourselves, and you will cause yourselves to be people whom all the nations on the earth will curse and despise. <sup>9</sup>Have you forgotten how I punished your ancestors for the wicked things that they did, and how I punished the kings and queens of Judah for what they did, and you and your wives for the sins that you committed in the streets of Jerusalem and the other towns in Judah? <sup>10</sup>Up until this day you have not humbled yourselves or revered me. You have not obeyed the laws and decrees that I gave to you and your ancestors.

<sup>11</sup>Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, say: I am determined to cause all of you to experience disasters and to get rid of everyone in Judah. <sup>12</sup>You people from Judah who have survived were determined to come and live here in Egypt. So I will get rid of all of you here in Egypt. Every one of you will die, including those who are important and those who are not important. Some of you will be killed by your enemies' swords, some will die from famines. You will become people whom others curse, be horrified about, and make fun of. <sup>13</sup>I will punish you here in Egypt like I punished others in Jerusalem, some of whom were killed by their enemies' swords and some of whom died from famines or diseases. <sup>14</sup>None of you people who came from Judah and now live in Egypt, none of you will be successful in any attempt to escape from Egypt; you will not grow in numbers while you live in Egypt, and you will not be able to return to Judah, even though you desire to return to Judah, you will not be able to go back there to live and make your homes. None of you will be able to return to Judah, except only a very small number of you who will be able able to escape from Egypt and to return Judah and live there."

<sup>15</sup>Then a large group of the people who had started to live in northern Egypt and southern Egypt, including all the men who knew that their wives had been burning incense to other gods, and all the women who were standing there, said this to me: <sup>16</sup>"You are saying that Yahweh gave messages to you, but we will not pay any attention to your messages! <sup>17</sup>We will certainly do everything that we said that we would do. We will burn incense to worship our goddess Asherah, the Queen of Heaven, and we will pour out offerings of wine to her, just like we and our ancestors and our kings and their officials have always done in the streets of Jerusalem and in the other towns in Judah. At that time, we had plenty of food, and we were prosperous and we did not have any troubles. <sup>18</sup>But ever since we stopped burning incense to the Queen of Heaven and giving her offerings of wine, we have had many troubles, and some of our people have been killed by our enemies or died from hunger."

<sup>19</sup> And the women said, "Furthermore, we burned incense and poured out wine offerings to the Queen of Heaven, and we also made small cakes that resembled her idol, to offer to her, and we poured drinks to honor her. But our husbands certainly knew about and approved of what we were doing!"

<sup>20</sup> Then I said to all the men and women who had answered me, <sup>21</sup>"Do not think that Yahweh did not know that you and your ancestors and your kings and their officials and all the other people in Judah were burning incense to worship idols in the streets of Jerusalem and in the other towns in Judah! He knew about it! <sup>22</sup>It was because Yahweh could no longer endure your wicked actions and the detestable things that you were doing that he caused your land to be a place whose name people say when they curse someone, a land that is ruined and which has no one living in it. And your land is still like that. <sup>23</sup>It is because you burned incense to worship idols and committed other sins against Yahweh that you experienced all those disasters. It is because you have not obeyed him or obeyed his laws and decrees and commandments."

<sup>24</sup> Then Jeremiah said to all of them, including the women, "All you people of Judah who are here in Egypt, listen to this message from Yahweh. <sup>25</sup>This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, says to you men: 'You and your wives have said that you would continue to do what you promised, to burn incense and pour out wine to the goddess whom you call the Queen of Heaven. And you have proved by your actions that you intend to continue to do that. So go ahead and continue doing what you have promised to do for her.'

<sup>26</sup> But now, all you people from Judah who are now living here in Egypt, listen to this message from Yahweh. He says, 'I have solemnly declared, using my great name, that soon none of you people from Judah who are here in Egypt will ever again use my name. There will be none of you who, when you solemnly promise to do something, will ever again say, "I will do it as surely as Yahweh lives." <sup>27</sup>Because I will be watching over you, not to cause good things to happen to you but to cause things to happen that will harm you. Almost everyone from Judah who is now here in Egypt will be killed by their enemies' swords or die from famine until almost all of you have come to an end. <sup>28</sup>Only a very few of you will not die by the sword and will return to Judah. When that happens, all those who came to Egypt will find out whose words were true, theirs or mine.'

<sup>29</sup> And Yahweh also says, 'I will do something that will prove to you that everything that I have said will happen, and that I will punish you here in this place. <sup>30</sup>I will cause Hophra, the king of Egypt, to be captured by his enemies who want to kill him, just like I caused King Zedekiah of Judah to be captured by the soldiers of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon."

45 After Jehoiakim son of King Josiah had been ruling Judah for almost four years, Baruch son of Neriah wrote down all the messages that the prophet Jeremiah had dictated. Jeremiah gave a message and he said, <sup>2</sup>"Baruch, Yahweh, the God of Israel, has a message for you. <sup>3</sup>You have said, 'Terrible things are happening to me! I have endured much pain already. And now Yahweh is causing me to be very sad, in addition to my having pain. I am exhausted from my groaning, and I am unable to rest!'

<sup>4</sup> But Baruch, this is what Yahweh says: 'I will destroy this nation that I established. This nation is like a tree that I planted and that I will now pull up with its roots. I will do this everywhere in the world. <sup>5</sup>So, should you desire that people do things to honor you in a special way? Do not desire that. It is true that I will cause all these people to experience a great disaster, but wherever you go, I will protect you, and you will not be killed."

46 These are messages that Yahweh gave to the prophet Jeremiah about other nations.

<sup>2</sup> After Jehoiakim son of King Josiah, had been ruling Judah for almost four years, this message about Egypt was given to me by Yahweh. It was when the army of King Necho of Egypt was defeated by the army of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon at Carchemish by the Euphrates River.

This is what Yahweh said: "The officers of the army of Egypt are saying to their troops,

Get into your positions for the battle; put on your helmets.

Sharpen your spears, and put on your armor!'

<sup>5</sup>But what do I see?

I see that the soldiers of Egypt will be terrified and will be fleeing.

Even the bravest of their soldiers will be running away, without even looking backward!

I, Yahweh, say that their soldiers will be terrified on all sides!

<sup>6</sup>Even the fastest runners will try to run away, but even the greatest of their warriors will not escape.

In the north, by the Euphrates River, they will stumble and fall.

<sup>7</sup>What group is this that will be covering the land like the water of the Nile River covers the land when it floods and its waves surge?

<sup>8</sup>The kingdom of Egypt rises and falls like the Nile that surging with a flood of water, and Egypt will boast that they will cover the earth and will destroy cities and the people who live in them.

<sup>9</sup>You riders of horses, charge into the battle!

You drivers of chariots, drive furiously like a crazy person!

All you warriors from Ethiopia and Libya who carry your shields,

you warriors from Lydia who shoot arrows,

you come!

<sup>10</sup>But, you need to know that this is the day when I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will get revenge on my enemies.

With my sword I will kill my enemies until I am satisfied;

my sword will be like a monster that drinks the blood of the animals it kills until it is no longer thirsty.

The enemy soldiers who will be killed in the north beside the Euphrates River will be like a sacrifice to me, the Lord Yahweh, commander of the angel armies.

<sup>11</sup>You innocent people of Egypt, go up to the region of Gilead to obtain medicine;

but it will be useless to take all those medicines;

you will not be healed.

<sup>12</sup>People in the other nations hear how you were humiliated.

People all over the earth hear you wailing.

Your mighty warriors stumble over each other and they all fall down together."

<sup>14</sup>"Shout this message throughout Egypt! Proclaim it in the cities of Migdol, Memphis, and Tahpene!

'Get into your positions for the battle; Prepare to defend yourselves, because everyone around you will be killed.'

<sup>15</sup>Why do those whose strength you trust fall down?

They cannot stand up, because Yahweh will knock them down.

<sup>16</sup>The soldiers from other countries will stumble and fall over each other, and then they will say to each other, "Let us get up and go back to our own people, to our own land. Let us get away from the swords of our enemies!"

<sup>17</sup>There in Egypt they will say,

"The king of Egypt talks loudly, but when our army had an opportunity to defeat our enemies, they failed."

<sup>18</sup>I, the King, who is called Yahweh,

- commander of the angel armies, say this:
- 'As surely as I live, an army is coming to fight against the army of Egypt. They will be extremely powerful, as though they were as tall as Tabor Hill, or as high as Mount Carmel, close to the Mediterranean Sea.'
- <sup>19</sup> All you people who live in Egypt, pack your possessions and prepare to be exiled.
- Memphis will be destroyed; it will become a ruin, and no people will be living there.
- <sup>20</sup> Egypt is like a beautiful young cow, but a powerful king from the northeast is surely coming to attack it like a horsefly bites a cow.
- <sup>21</sup> The mercenaries that Egypt has hired are like fat calves because of the Egyptians' money; but they also will turn around and run away; they will not stand there and fight, because it will be a day when there will be a great disaster for Egypt, a day when their people will be greatly punished.
- <sup>22</sup> The soldiers of Egypt will run away, as silently as a snake slithers away. The army of the enemy will advance; they will march along carrying their axes like men who cut down trees.
- <sup>23</sup> I, Yahweh, say that they will kill the soldiers of Egypt as though they were cutting down a forest of trees, because the enemy soldiers will be as numerous as a swarm of locusts.
- <sup>24</sup> The people of Egypt will be humiliated; they will be conquered by people from the northeast.'
- <sup>25</sup> I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, say, 'I will punish Amon, the god whom the people of the city of Thebes worship, and all the other gods in Egypt. I will punish the king of Egypt and all those who trust in him.<sup>26</sup> I will cause them to be captured by those who want to kill them—Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon, and his army officers. But many years later, people will live in Egypt again. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it.'

<sup>27</sup> But you people of Israel who serve me, do not be at all dismayed now, because some day I will bring you back from distant places; I will bring your descendants from the land to which they were exiled.

Then you Israelite people will again live peacefully and safely, and there will not be any nation to cause you to be terrified.

<sup>28</sup> I, Yahweh, say to you people of Israel who serve me,

'Do not be afraid, because I will be with you.'

I will completely destroy the nations among whom I have scattered you, but I will not completely get rid of you.

I will punish you, but I will punish you only as severely as you deserve: it would be wrong if I did not punish you at all.'

47 Yahweh gave to the prophet Jeremiah a message about the people of Philistia. The message was given to him before the city of Gaza in Philistia was captured by the army of Egypt.

"An army will be coming from the northeast that will cover the land like a flood. They will destroy the land and everything in it; they will destroy people and cities. People will scream out for help; and everyone in the land will wail in mourning."

<sup>3</sup> They will hear the sound of the hooves of the enemy horses, and they will hear the rumble of the wheels of their enemies' chariots.

- Men will run away;
they will not stop to help their own children but will be completely weak and helpless.
- <sup>4</sup> It will be the time for all the people of Philistia to be destroyed, and the time to stop the remaining soldiers from being able to help
the people living in the cities of Tyre and Sidon.
- I, Yahweh, will destroy the people of Philistia,
those whose ancestors long ago
came from Island of Crete.
- <sup>5</sup> The people of Gaza will be humiliated;
they will shave off all the hair on their heads to indicate that they are ashamed.
- The people of the city of Ashkelon will all be silent because they will be mourning.
- All you people who live along the coast of the Mediterranean Sea who are still alive,
how long will you gash yourselves
because you are mourning?"
- <sup>6</sup> The people of Philistia say, "Yahweh, when will you tell our enemies to stop killing us with their swords?
Tell them to put them back into their sheaths and allow them to stay there!"
- <sup>7</sup> But it would not be right for their swords to stay there, because Yahweh has commanded their enemies to do something
more;
- Yahweh intends to tell them to attack all the people living in Ashkelon and in other cities along the coast.
- 48 This is a message about Moab. Yahweh, commander of the angel armies,
the God whom Israel worships, says,
"Terrible things will happen to the city of Nebo;
it will soon be ruined.
the city of Kiriathaim will be put to shame. It is taken!
The defended fortress will be ruined, and its people will
- become ashamed.
- <sup>2</sup> No one will boast about Moab again;
the enemies of Moab will plan to destroy the capital city,
Heshbon.
They will say, 'Come, let us cause
Moab to no longer be a nation.'
- You also, You Madmen! you also will be silenced;
enemy armies will pursue you to kill you.
- <sup>3</sup> Listen to the people of Horonaim screaming;
they will be wailing because their town was completely
destroyed.
- <sup>4</sup> All of Moab will be ruined;
even the little children will cry
loudly.
- <sup>5</sup> They will cry bitterly
as they climb up Luhith hill.
Others will wail on the road down to Horonaim.
They were so very sad because their town was completely destroyed.
- <sup>6</sup> Someone will say to them, 'Flee!
Hide in the desert!'
- <sup>7</sup> But you trusted that because you were rich and powerful, you would be safe;
so you will be captured.
- Your god Chemosh and all his priests and officials
will be taken away to distant lands.
- <sup>8</sup> All the towns in Moab will be
destroyed;
none of them will escape.
Towns in the valleys and on the plateau
will all be destroyed,
because Yahweh has said that is what will happen.
- <sup>9</sup> Someone should help all the people in Moab to run away,
so that their land will be empty,
so that no one will live in it any longer."
- <sup>10</sup> May Yahweh punish anyone who will not eagerly do what he desires;
may he curse anyone who refrains from using his sword to kill the people in Moab.

- <sup>11</sup> The people of Moab have always felt secure;
they have never been exiled.
They are like wine that has been left undisturbed in a container for many days to give it good flavor, so now it is smells good, and it tastes good.
- <sup>12</sup> But Yahweh says that there will be a time when he will send enemies to attack them; they will get rid of the people of Moab like people pour out wine on the ground and then smash the wine jar.
- <sup>13</sup> Then the people of Moab will be ashamed of their god Chemosh that they had trusted in, because it did not help them, like the Israelite people were ashamed because their gold statue of a calf was smashed at Bethel.
- <sup>14</sup> The soldiers of Moab previously said, "We are warriors; we have fought bravely in battles!"
- <sup>15</sup> But now our king, who is called Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says that the country of Moab and all the towns in it will be destroyed. Their fine young men will all be slaughtered.
- <sup>16</sup> Moab will very soon be destroyed. They will soon experience disaster.
- <sup>17</sup> You people who live in nations near Moab, who know that it is very famous, should mourn for Moab, and say, "Its glorious power is completely ended."
- <sup>18</sup> You people of the city of Dibon, stop being proud because of being honored, and sit in the dust where you will thirst for water, because those who will destroy other places in Moab will attack your city and destroy your fortifications.
- <sup>19</sup> You people of the city of Aroer, stand along the road and watch.

Shout to the men and women who will be fleeing from Moab,
"What has happened there?"

<sup>20</sup> They will reply,
"Moab is ruined and we are disgraced!"
So weep and wail.
Proclaim to Amon that Moab has been destroyed.

<sup>24</sup> Kerioth and Bozrah. He is punishing cities that are near each other and towns that are far away from each other.

<sup>25</sup> Yahweh says, "The power of Moab will be finished; it is as though it will have a broken arm.

<sup>26</sup> You people of Moab thought you were powerful enough to rebel against me, Yahweh; so now I will cause you all to stagger like drunken people. You people of Moab will wallow in your own vomit and be ridiculed.

<sup>27</sup> Did you not ridicule the people of Israel? Did you think they were nothing but thieves, so that you shook your head at them with scorn, and despised them every time you spoke about them?

<sup>28</sup> You people who live in Moab, you should abandon your towns and go and live in caves. Be like pigeons that make their nests in the entrances of caves."

<sup>29</sup> We have all heard that the people of Moab are very proud; they are extremely proud and conceited.

<sup>30</sup> But Yahweh says, "I know about that, but it is useless for them to boast because it will accomplish nothing.

<sup>31</sup> So now I will wail for Moab;

I will cry about all its people.
 I will moan for the men of the city of Kir Hareseth, the old capital of Moab.

<sup>32</sup> You people of the city of Sibmah, you have many vineyards, and I will be sad when they are destroyed.

It is as though the branches of your vines extend across the Dead Sea to the city of Jazer, but the enemies of Moab will take your grapes and wine from you!

<sup>33</sup> But no one will be joyful or happy in Moab now;
 your fruit and grapes that ripen in the summer will soon be destroyed.

There will be no grape juice coming from the winepresses,
 so there will be no wine.

People will not shout joyfully
 as they tread on the grapes;
 people will shout,
 but they will not be shouting
 joyfully.

<sup>34</sup> Instead, the sound of their wailing will rise from the city of Heshbon to the town of Elealeh and the village of Jahaz,
 from the city of Zoar as far as the town of Horonaim Eglath Shelishiyah.

Even the water in the stream of Nimrim
 will be dried up.

<sup>35</sup> I, Yahweh, say that I will get rid of the people who offer sacrifices on the
 hilltops,
 those who burn incense to their
 gods.

<sup>36</sup> I moan for the people of Moab and Kir
 Hareseth
 like someone playing a funeral song
 on a flute,
 because all their wealth will
 disappear.

<sup>37</sup> The men will shave their heads and their beards to show that they are mourning.
 They all will slash their hands and wear rough cloth around their waists.

<sup>38</sup> In every home and in the town plazas in Moab there will be people who are
 mourning,
 because I will have destroyed Moab
 like someone smashes an old jar
 that no one wants anymore.

<sup>39</sup> Moab will be completely shattered with terror!
 And you will hear the people
 wailing loudly!
 They will be disgraced.
 Moab will become a nation that people ridicule.

 The people in nearby countries will be horrified about what has happened
 there.

<sup>40</sup> This is what I, Yahweh, say:
 'Look! Their enemies will be swooping down over Moab
 like an eagle swoops down to seize an animal.'

<sup>41</sup> Its cities will be captured,
 its fortresses will be seized.
 Even their warriors will be afraid,
 like a woman who is about to give birth.

<sup>42</sup> Moab boasted against me, Yahweh,
 so it will be destroyed.

<sup>43</sup> I, Yahweh, say that you people of Moab will be terrified, and fall into pits and
 traps.

<sup>44</sup> Those who are terrified and try to run away will fall into deep pits.
 Whoever climbs out of a pit will be caught in a trap,
 because I will punish them at the time that I have appointed.'

<sup>45</sup> The people will flee as far as the city of Heshbon,
 but they will not be able to go any further,
 because a fire will burn in Heshbon,
 which is the city where King Sihon
 lived long ago,
 and it will burn up all the people in

Moab
 who noisily boasted very much.
<sup>46</sup> You people of Moab, terrible things
 will happen to you!

You people who worship your god Chemosh, you will be destroyed.

Your sons and your daughters will be captured and taken away to other countries.

<sup>47</sup> But some day, I will enable the people of Moab to return to their land again.

That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

That is the end of what Jeremiah prophesied about Moab.

49 This message is about the people who descended from Ammon. This is what Yahweh says:

"There are plenty of Israelite people left to occupy the land of the tribe of Gad.

So, why are the people who worship the god Molech living in those towns?

<sup>2</sup> There will be a time when I will sound the battle cry for their enemies to attack their capital city, Rabbah.

Then it will become a heap of ruins, and all the nearby towns will be burned.

Then the people of Israel will again possess the land that the people of Ammon took away from them.

<sup>3</sup> You people of the city of Heshbon, wail, because the city of Ai will be destroyed.

You women in the city of Rabbah, weep; put on rough clothing to show you are mourning;

run back and forth in confusion inside the city walls, because your god Molech, along with its priests and officials, will be taken away in exile.

<sup>4</sup> Why do you brag about your valleys, your valleys that are so fruitful, you faithless daughter?

You think that your wealth will bring you protection against your enemies and so you dare to ask, "Who is there who can come against me?"

commander of the angel armies, will cause you to become terrified. You will all be forced to flee to other countries from the enemies all around you, and no one will be able to bring you together again.

<sup>6</sup> But some day I will enable the Ammonite people to return to their land.

That will surely happen, because I, Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>7</sup> This message is about the people of Edom. This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says:

"It seems that there are no longer any wise people in Teman district in Edom!

There are no people left who can give others good advice. The people who were wise have disappeared.

<sup>8</sup> You people of the city of Dedan, in the south of Edom, turn and flee and hide in deep caves, because I am causing disaster to happen to all the people of Edom, I will punish you!

When thieves come at night, they surely steal only as much as they want.

<sup>10</sup> But I will cause everything in Edom to be destroyed, and there will be nothing left, and there will be no place for people to hide.

Many of the children, their relatives and their neighbors, will die, and Edom will not exist anymore.

<sup>11</sup> Leave behind the orphans because I will take care of them, and the widows also will be able to depend on me to help them."

<sup>12</sup> And this is also what Yahweh says: "If those who do not deserve to suffer must suffer, you people of Edom must suffer much more! You will not escape being punished. <sup>13</sup> I, Yahweh, have solemnly promised, using my own name, that your chief city Bozrah will become a place that people will be horrified about. It will be a heap of ruins. People will make fun of it and use its name when they curse people. All the nearby towns and villages will be ruined forever."

<sup>14</sup>I heard this message from Yahweh:

"I have sent an ambassador to many nations,
to tell them to gather together to attack Edom.

They must prepare for battle!"

<sup>15</sup>And Yahweh says to the people of Edom, "I will cause your nation to become very unimportant among the other nations.

They will all despise your country.

<sup>16</sup>You have caused people of other nations to be terrified, and you have been very proud,
but you have deceived yourselves.

You live in caves in the rock cliffs;
you think that you are safe there because you live high up there.

But even if you make your homes as high up as the eagles' nests,
I will cause you to come crashing down.

<sup>17</sup>Edom will become a place about which people are horrified;
people who pass by will be horrified and will gasp when they see the destruction.

<sup>18</sup>Edom will be destroyed as completely as Sodom and Gomorrah and the nearby towns were destroyed long ago.

As a result, no one—not a single person—will live there anymore.

<sup>19</sup>I will come to Edom suddenly as a lion comes out of the jungle and leaps on sheep that are eating in good pastures.

I will quickly chase the people of Edom from their land.

And then I will appoint for them a leader whom I will choose;

I can do that because there is no one like me who can object to what I do.

No ruler can oppose me.

<sup>20</sup>Listen to what I have planned to do to the people of Teman and the rest of Edom:

even the little children will be dragged away,
and I will completely get rid of the people who live there.

<sup>21</sup>When Edom is destroyed, the noise will be extremely great,
with the result that the earth will shake,

and the wailing of the people will be heard as far away as the Sea of Reeds.

<sup>22</sup>Look! The enemy troops will swoop down over Bozrah like an eagle spreads its wings when it swoops down to seize an animal.

On that day, even the strongest warriors of Edom will be afraid like a woman who is about to give birth."

<sup>23</sup>This message is about Damascus. This is what Yahweh says:

"The people in the nearby cities of Hamath and Arpad are will be ashamed, because they have heard bad news about Damascus.

They are very anxious and restless,
like a sea in a big storm.

<sup>24</sup>The people of Damascus have become very weak,
and they all have panicked and run away in terror.

The people are anguished and in pain like a woman experiences who is about to give birth.

<sup>25</sup>But even now the people of that famous city have not yet abandoned it.

That was the city that gave me joy.

<sup>26</sup>Its young men will fall in the streets.
Its soldiers will all be killed in one day.

<sup>27</sup>And I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will start a fire to burn the walls that surround Damascus, and the palaces of King Ben Hadad will be burned down."

<sup>28</sup>This is a message about the Kedar people and the kingdom of Hazor that Nebuchadnezz-zar the king of Babylon is attacking. This is what Yahweh said:

"I will cause an army to advance to attack Kedar and destroy those people who live east of Judah.

They will take away the curtains of their tents, their camels, and all of their other possessions.

Everywhere men will shout,
'We are terrified because terrible things are happening all around us!'

<sup>30</sup> So I, Yahweh, say, 'Run away quickly! You people who live in Hazor, go and hide in deep caves, because King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon wants to attack you with his army; he is planning to destroy you!'

<sup>31</sup> But I say to Nebuchadnezzar, 'Go up and attack that nation whose people feel secure; they do not have allies who will help them and do not have walls with gates that have bars in them.'

<sup>32</sup> Your troops will seize their camels and other livestock.
I will scatter in every direction those people who will be in great mourning.

I will bring disasters to them from every direction.

<sup>33</sup> Hazor will become a place where jackals live, and it will be deserted forever.

No one will live there again;
no people will settle there."

<sup>34</sup> The prophet Jeremiah received this message from Yahweh when King Zedekiah was starting to rule Judah.

"The men of Elam are famous archers; that is how they have made their country very powerful.

But I will get rid of them.

<sup>36</sup> I will bring their enemies from every direction

and they will scatter the people of Elam in all of those directions. The people of Elam will be exiled to every nation on the earth.

<sup>37</sup> Because I am very angry with the people of Elam,
I will enable their enemies to smash Elam;
I will cause the people of Elam to experience great disasters.

I will enable their enemies, who want to kill them, to pursue them and kill them with swords until I completely get rid of all of them.

<sup>38</sup> I, Yahweh, will judge them there, and then I will get rid of their king and his officials.

<sup>39</sup> But some day, I will enable the people of Elam to return to their land. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

50 Yahweh gave to Jeremiah the prophet a message about Babylon and the country of Babylonia.

"Proclaim a message among the nations;
do not withhold any of it;
raise up a signal flag
to announce that Babylon will be captured.

Its chief god Marduk, whose other name is Bel, will be completely disgraced, and all the other statues and idols will be shattered.

<sup>3</sup> The army of a nation will come from the north to attack Babylon and destroy the city very thoroughly,

with the result that no one will live there again.

Both people and animals will run away."

<sup>4</sup> "But I, Yahweh, say that in the future, when that is about to happen, the people of Israel and the people of Judah will join together.

They will be weeping
and wanting to worship me, their God.

<sup>5</sup>They will inquire about the road to Jerusalem,
and then they will start traveling toward it.

They will say to each other,
'We must return to Yahweh again!' They will make an everlasting agreement with me that they will never forget.

<sup>6</sup>My people have been like lost sheep. Their leaders have caused them to abandon me like shepherds who have allowed their sheep to wander in the hills and mountains.

My people are like sheep that do not know the path to return to the sheepfold.

They said, 'We did not sin by attacking them, because they sinned against Yahweh; he is the one who provides what they need; he is the one to whom they should have remained faithful; he is the one whom their ancestors confidently expected to help them.'

<sup>8</sup>But now, I say to the leaders of my people, 'Depart from Babylon! Leave the land of Babylonia! Act like male goats that go in front of the rest of the flock; lead my people back to their own land.'

<sup>9</sup>Do that because I am going to gather an army of great nations to the north of Babylon.

They will join together to attack Babylon and will capture it.

Their arrows will be like skilled warriors that always hit what they are aiming at.

<sup>10</sup>Babylonia will be conquered, and those who conquer it will take away everything they want. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>11</sup>"You people of Babylon who plundered my chosen people, now you are very happy.

You run around joyfully like a calf in a meadow, and are happy like stallions are happy when they are neighing.

<sup>12</sup>But soon your people will be very disgraced as a result of being conquered.

Your country will be the most insignificant nation; it will be a wilderness, a dry land and a desert plain.

<sup>13</sup>Because I, Yahweh, am angry with you people of Babylon, I will cause your city to become completely deserted.

All who pass by will be horrified and will gasp because of the destruction there.

Tell your archers to shoot at their enemies; shoot all of your arrows at them and do not hold back, because the people of Babylon have sinned against me, Yahweh.

<sup>15</sup>Shout victorious war cries against Babylon from all sides of the city. The soldiers of Babylon will surrender; the towers and walls will be torn down.

It is I, Yahweh, who will be getting revenge on the people of Babylon, and I will use you to get revenge. Do to the people of Babylon what they have done to others!

<sup>16</sup>Take away from Babylon those who plant crops and those who reap the harvests!

Because of the swords carried by those who will attack Babylon, the people in Babylon who have come from other countries should all run away; they should go back to their own countries."

<sup>17</sup>"The Israelite people are like sheep that have been scattered by lions.

- First the army of the king of Assyria defeated them.
- Then the army of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon smashed them.
- <sup>18</sup> So this is what I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, the God whom Israel worships, say:
- 'Now I will punish the king of Babylon and the people of his land, like I punished the king of Assyria.'
- <sup>19</sup> And I will bring the people of Israel back to their own land where they will eat the food that grows in the fields of the regions of Carmel and Bashan, and the people in the hill areas of Ephraim and Gilead will have all they want to eat.
- <sup>20</sup> At that time, there will not be people in Israel and in Judah who are still guilty for having sinned, because I will forgive the small group of people whom I enable to still be alive."
- <sup>21</sup> "So, I, Yahweh, say to the enemies of Babylonia, 'Attack the people who live in the region of Merathaim and the people in the region of Pekod of Babylonia. Pursue them to kill them, and completely get rid of every single one of them, as I have commanded you to do.'
- <sup>22</sup> Shout your battle cries throughout the land; shout when you are causing great destruction.
- <sup>23</sup> The army of Babylon is like the most powerful hammer on the earth, but it will be completely shattered. Babylon, one of the nations, will be a complete ruin.'
- <sup>24</sup> You people of Babylon, listen, because I have set a trap for you without your awareness; you will be caught in that trap, because you fought against me.
- <sup>25</sup> It is as though I have opened the place where I store my weapons, and I have brought out all the weapons
- to use against the people with whom I am angry.
- I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, have a lot of work to do to punish the people of Babylonia.
- <sup>26</sup> So, you enemies of Babylonia, come from distant lands and attack it. Break open the places where they store the grain, and pile up the rubble like heaps of grain.
- Destroy everything completely; do not leave anything that is not destroyed.
- <sup>27</sup> Destroy all the young warriors who are as strong as bulls; take them to where you will slaughter them.
- It will be terrible for them, because it will be time for them to be punished.
- <sup>28</sup> Listen to the people who have fled and escaped from Babylon while they tell in Jerusalem how I, Yahweh, have gotten revenge against those who destroyed my temple in Jerusalem.
- <sup>29</sup> Summon archers to come to attack Babylon; surround the city in order that no one will escape.
- Do to the people of Babylon what they have done to others, because they have defied me, the Holy One of the Israelite people.
- <sup>30</sup> The young men of Babylon will fall in the streets; all their soldiers will be killed in one day. This will happen because I, Yahweh, have declared it!
- <sup>31</sup> I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, say this: 'You arrogant people, it is now the time; it is the day when I will punish you.'
- <sup>32</sup> Your land is full of proud people, but you will stumble and fall, and no one will lift you up again. I will light a fire in the cities of Babylonia that will burn up everything that is

- nearby.'
- <sup>33</sup>I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, also say this:
- 'The people of Israel and Judah were oppressed;
those who captured them guarded them carefully and would not allow them to leave Babylon.
- <sup>34</sup>But Yahweh is strong, and he will free them.
Yahweh is the Commander of the angel armies;
He will defend his people and enable them to return to their land where they will have peace, but the people of Babylonia will not have peace.
- <sup>35</sup>He will send enemy soldiers carrying swords to strike the people of Babylonia; they will strike the officials and wise men and all the other people who live in Babylon.
- <sup>36</sup>They will strike their false prophets with swords and they will become foolish. They will strike the strongest warriors of Babylonia, and they will all be terrified.
- <sup>37</sup>They will strike their horses and chariots and the foreign mercenaries who are in the army of Babylonia, and they will all become as weak as women.
- They will seize all the valuable things there in Babylon and take them away.
- <sup>38</sup>Yahweh will cause the streams to become dry. He will do all those things because the entire land of Babylonia is filled with idols, and those horrible idols have caused the people who worship them to become crazy.
- <sup>39</sup>Soon only jackals and other wild creatures will live there; and it will be a place where ostriches live.

- People will never live there again; it will be uninhabited forever.
- <sup>40</sup>Yahweh God will destroy Babylon like he destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah and the nearby towns; no one will ever live there again.
- <sup>41</sup>Look! A great army will come from the north. A great nation far away with many kings is preparing to attack you people of Babylon.
- <sup>42</sup>Their army has bows and arrows and spears; they are very cruel, and do not act mercifully to anyone. As they ride along on their horses, the sound of the horses' hooves is like the roaring of the ocean waves; they are riding in battle formation to attack you, you people of Babylon.
- <sup>43</sup>The king of Babylon heard their report, "The enemy is approaching." So he was frightened and became weak. Fear and anguish gripped him, like a woman who is about to give birth to a baby."
- <sup>44</sup>I, Yahweh, will come to Babylon suddenly like a lion comes out of the jungle and leaps on the sheep that are eating the good pastureland. I will quickly chase the people of Babylonia from their land. And then I will appoint for them a leader whom I will choose; I will do that because there is no one like me who can say that what I have done is not right.
- No ruler can oppose me.
- <sup>45</sup>Listen to what I have planned to do to the people of Babylon city and the rest of Babylonia: even the little children will be dragged away, and I will completely destroy the people who live there.
- <sup>46</sup>When Babylon is destroyed, the noise

- will be extremely loud,
with the result that the earth will
shake,
and the wailing of the people will be heard by the people of other
nations.”
- <sup>51</sup> This is what Yahweh says:
“I will inspire an army to destroy Babylon
like a powerful wind,
and also to destroy the people of Babylonia in Leb Kamai.
- <sup>2</sup> I will send a foreign army to come to get rid of Babylonia
like a strong wind that blows away
chaff.
They will attack from every direction
on that day of disaster.
- <sup>3</sup> I will tell them, ‘Do not allow the archers of Babylon to have time to put on their armor
or draw their bows.
Do not spare the young men of Babylon.
Completely destroy their army.’
- <sup>4</sup> Their soldiers will fall dead in Babylonia;
they will die after being impaled by spears in the streets.
- <sup>5</sup> I, Yahweh, commander of the angel
armies, whom Israel worships, have not abandoned Israel and Judah.
Even though their land was filled with people who sinned against me, the Holy God of Israel,
I am still their God.
- <sup>6</sup> You people of Israel and Judah, flee from Babylon!
Run to escape!
Do not stay there and be killed when the people of Babylon are punished!
It will be the time when Yahweh gets revenge;
He will do to them what they
deserve.
- <sup>7</sup> Babylon has been like a gold cup in Yahweh’s hand, a cup that is full of wine
that caused people all over the earth
who drank some of it to become drunk.
It is as though the rulers of the nations
drank the wine from Babylon,

and it caused them to become crazy.
<sup>8</sup> But suddenly Babylon will be conquered.
Weep for its people!
Give them medicine for their wounds;
perhaps they can be healed.”
<sup>9</sup> We foreigners would have tried to heal
them,
but now they cannot be healed.
So we will not try to help them; we will abandon them,
and return to our own lands,
because it is as though the punishment they are receiving reaches up to the clouds in sky;
it is very great, with the result that no one can measure it.
<sup>10</sup> Yahweh has vindicated us;
so let us proclaim in Jerusalem
everything that Yahweh our God has done for us.
<sup>11</sup> You enemy soldiers, sharpen your arrows!
Fill up your quivers for battle,
because Yahweh has incited your kings of Media and Persia to march with their armies to Babylon and to destroy it.
That is how Yahweh will get revenge on those foreigners who entered his temple in Jerusalem and defiled it.
<sup>12</sup> Lift up a battle flag close to the walls of Babylon!
Reinforce the guards,
and tell the watchmen to stand in their positions!
Prepare an ambush,
because Yahweh is about to accomplish all that he has planned to do to the people of Babylon.
<sup>13</sup> Babylon is a city near the great Euphrates River,
a city in which there are many rich
people,
but it is time for Babylon to be finished;
the time for the city to exist is
ended.
<sup>14</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel
armies has solemnly promised, using his own name,

- "Your cities will be filled with your enemies;
 I will cause them to be like a swarm of locusts;
 and they will shout triumphantly when they conquer your city."
- <sup>15</sup> Yahweh created the earth by his power; he established it by his wisdom, and he stretched out the sky by his understanding.
- <sup>16</sup> When he speaks loudly, there is thunder in the sky; he causes clouds to form in every part of the earth.
- He sends lightning with the rain and releases the winds from his storehouses.
- <sup>17</sup> People are as senseless as a beast, and they know very little; those who make idols are always disappointed, because their idols do nothing for them.
- The images that they make are not real gods; they are lifeless.
- <sup>18</sup> Idols are worthless; they deserve to be ridiculed; there will be a time when they will all be destroyed.
- <sup>19</sup> But the God of Israel is not like those idols; he is the one who created everything that exists; we, the tribe of Israel, belong to him; his name is Yahweh, commander of the angel armies.
- <sup>20</sup> Yahweh says about the army of Babylonia,
 "You are like my weapons of war and my war club; with your power I shatter nations and destroy many kingdoms.
- <sup>21</sup> With your power I shatter armies of other nations: I destroy their horses and their riders, their chariots and their chariot drivers.
- <sup>22</sup> With your power I shatter men and women, old people and children,

- young men and young women.
- <sup>23</sup> With your power I shatter shepherds and their flocks of sheep, farmers and their oxen, governors and their officials."
- <sup>24</sup> But, Yahweh also says, "Soon I will repay you people in Babylon and in the rest of Babylonia for all the evil things that you have done in Jerusalem.
- <sup>25</sup> Babylonia is like a great mountain from which bandits descend to plunder people all over the earth.
- But I, Yahweh, am the enemy of you people of Babylonia. I will raise my fist to strike you. I will knock you down from the cliffs and cause you to be only a huge pile of burned rubble.
- <sup>26</sup> Your city will be abandoned forever; even the stones in your city will never again be used for buildings.
- Your city will be completely destroyed."
- <sup>27</sup> Tell the nations to lift up a battle flag! Tell them to blow their trumpets of war!
- Gather all their armies to fight against Babylon! Prepare the nations to attack Babylon. Summon the armies of the kingdoms north of Babylonia —from Ararat, Minni, and Ashkenaz.
- Appoint a commander for them, and bring a great number of horses; there must be a huge number of horses; that huge number will resemble a swarm of locusts.
- <sup>28</sup> Prepare the armies of other nations, armies that will be led by the kings of Media and Persia, their governors and their officials.
- <sup>29</sup> When they attack Babylon, it will be as though the earth will shake and writhe in pain, because those armies will accomplish everything that Yahweh has planned to do to Babylon.

Then the nations will destroy it completely,
with the result that no one will live there again.

<sup>30</sup> When their enemies attack, the strongest warriors in Babylon will not fight.
They will remain in their barracks, without any strength.
They will be as timid as women.
The enemy soldiers will burn the buildings in the city and break the bars of the city gates into pieces.

<sup>31</sup> Messengers will go quickly, one after another, to tell the king that his city has been captured.

<sup>32</sup> The places at which people can cross the river to escape from the city will be blocked.
The dry reeds in the marshes will be set on fire, and the soldiers of Babylon will be terrified.

<sup>33</sup> This is what Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, whom Israel worships, says; "Babylon is like wheat on the ground where it is about to be threshed by animals tramping on it.
Very soon their enemies will trample on the city of Babylon."

<sup>34</sup> The army of Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, has attacked and crushed us Israelites, and we have no strength left.
It is as though they have swallowed us like a great monster that filled its belly with all our tasty parts, and then has spit out what it did not like.

<sup>35</sup> So the people of Jerusalem say to Yahweh, "Cause the people of Babylon to suffer like they caused us to suffer!
Cause the people of Babylonia to be punished for killing our people!"

<sup>36</sup> And this is what Yahweh replies to the people of Jerusalem:
"I will be like your lawyer to defend you, and I will avenge you.
I will dry up the river in Babylon and all the springs of water.
<sup>37</sup> Babylon will become a heap of ruins, a place where jackals live.
It will become a place that people are horrified about and will ridicule; it will be a place where no one lives.
<sup>38</sup> The people of Babylon will all roar like young lions; they will growl like baby lions.
<sup>39</sup> But while they are extremely hungry, I will prepare a different kind of feast for them.
I will cause them to drink wine until they are very drunk, with the result that they will fall asleep.
But they will never wake up from that sleep!
<sup>40</sup> I will bring them down to a place where they will be slaughtered, like someone who takes lambs or rams or goats to where they will be slaughtered for sacrifices.
<sup>41</sup> People all over the earth now honor Babylon; they say that it is a great city.
But it will become a place about which people of all nations are horrified.
<sup>42</sup> The enemies of Babylon will cover the city like huge waves of the sea.
<sup>43</sup> The towns in Babylonia will be a horror, a dry and desert plain, and it will be a land in which no one lives and which no one walks through.
<sup>44</sup> And I will punish Bel, the god that the people of Babylon worship, and I will cause the people to give back what they have stolen.
People of other nations will no longer come to worship Bel.
And the walls of Babylon will collapse."
<sup>45</sup> Yahweh also says, "My people, come out of Babylon!
Flee to escape!"

- Run, because I, Yahweh, am extremely angry with the people of Babylon, and I will get rid of them!
- <sup>46</sup> Do not be discouraged or afraid when you hear reports about what is happening in Babylon. People will report rumors like that every year, rumors about violent things being done in the land, and rumors about leaders fighting against each other.
- <sup>47</sup> But it will soon be the time for me to get rid of the carved idols in Babylon. People all over the land will be ashamed because of being defeated, and the corpses of their soldiers will lie in the streets.
- <sup>48</sup> Then all the angels in heaven and all the people on the earth will rejoice, because from the north will come armies that will destroy Babylon.
- <sup>49</sup> Like the soldiers of Babylon killed the people of Israel and also killed others all over the world, the people of Babylon must also be killed.
- <sup>50</sup> You Israelite people who have not been killed, get out of Babylon! Do not wait! Even though you are in a land far away from Israel, think about Yahweh, and think about Jerusalem!"
- <sup>51</sup> The Israelite people say, "We are ashamed. We are completely disgraced, because foreigners have entered Yahweh's temple and defiled it."
- <sup>52</sup> Yahweh replies, "That is true, but there will soon be a time when I will destroy the carved idols in Babylon, and throughout Babylonia there will be wounded people who will groan.
- <sup>53</sup> Even if the walls around Babylon could extend up to the sky, and if its walls were extremely strong, I will send armies that will destroy the city. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."
- <sup>54</sup> Listen to the people of Babylon shouting for help! And listen to the sounds of things being destroyed all over Babylonia!
- <sup>55</sup> Yahweh will be destroying Babylon. He will cause the loud noises in the city to cease.
- <sup>56</sup> Enemy troops will surge against the city like a great wave. They will capture the city's mighty soldiers and break their weapons. That will happen because Yahweh is a God who punishes his enemies justly; he will punish them as they deserve.
- <sup>57</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says, "I will cause the city officials and wise men, the army captains and soldiers, to become drunk. They will fall asleep, but they will never wake up again!"
- <sup>58</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, also says, "The thick walls around Babylon will be flattened to the ground. The city gates will be burned. People from other countries will work hard to save the city, but it will be in vain, because everything that they have built will be destroyed by fire."
- <sup>59</sup> Seraiah, son of Neraiah and grandson of Mahseiah, was an important servant of King Zedekiah. After Zedekiah had been ruling Judah for almost four years, the prophet Jeremiah gave him a message. This was when Seraiah was about to go to Babylon with the king.<sup>60</sup> Now Jeremiah had written on a scroll a list of all the disasters that he had written about, disasters that would soon happen to Babylon.<sup>61</sup> Jeremiah said to Seraiah, "When you arrive in Babylon, read aloud everything that I have written on this scroll.<sup>62</sup> Then pray, 'Yahweh, you said that you will thoroughly destroy Babylon, with the result that people and animals will no longer live there. You said that it will be desolate forever.'<sup>63</sup> Then, when you have finished reading what is written on the scroll, tie it to a heavy stone and throw it into the Euphrates River.<sup>64</sup> Then say, 'In the same way, Babylon and its people will disappear and never exist again, because of the disasters that Yahweh will bring to it."

This is the end of Jeremiah's messages.

52 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became the king of Judah. He ruled in Jerusalem for eleven years. His mother was Hamutal, the daughter of a man named Jeremiah from Libnah.<sup>2</sup> Zedekiah did many things that Yahweh says are evil, like his father Jehoiakim had done.<sup>3</sup> The events described here happened because Yahweh was angry with the people of Jerusalem and of other places in Judah, and finally he exiled them and said that he did not want to have anything to do with them anymore.

Then Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.<sup>4</sup> So, on the tenth day of the tenth month, when Zedekiah had been ruling for almost nine years, King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon led his entire army to attack Jerusalem. They surrounded the city and built dirt ramps up to the top of the city walls to enable them to attack the city.<sup>5</sup> They continued to surround Jerusalem until Zedekiah had been ruling for almost eleven years.

<sup>6</sup> When Zedekiah had been ruling for almost eleven years, on the ninth day of the fourth month of that year, the famine in the city had become very severe, and there was no more food for the people to eat.<sup>7</sup> Then the soldiers of Babylonia broke through a section of the city wall, and all the Israelite soldiers fled. But because the city was surrounded by soldiers from Babylonia, Zedekiah and the Israelite soldiers waited until it became dark. Then they left the city through the gate between the two walls behind the king's garden. Then they ran toward the plain along the Jordan.<sup>8</sup> But the soldiers of Babylonia pursued King Zedekiah, and they caught up with him on the plains near Jericho. He was alone because all his men had all deserted him and had scattered.<sup>9</sup> The soldiers of Babylonia took him to the king of Babylon, who was at Riblah in the region of Hamath. There the king of Babylon told his soldiers what they should do to punish Zedekiah.<sup>10</sup> They forced Zedekiah to watch while they killed his sons and all the officials from Judah.<sup>11</sup> Then they gouged out Zedekiah's eyes. They fastened him with bronze chains and took him to Babylon. They put him in a prison, and he remained there until the day that he died.

<sup>12</sup> On the tenth day of the fifth month of that year, which was when King Nebuchadnezzar had been ruling for almost nineteen years, Nebuzaradan, who was the captain of the king's bodyguards and one of the king's officials, arrived in Jerusalem.<sup>13</sup> He commanded his soldiers to burn down the temple of Yahweh, the king's palace, and all the houses in Jerusalem. They also destroyed all the important buildings in the city.<sup>14</sup> Then he supervised the soldiers from Babylonia while they tore down the walls on all sides of Jerusalem.<sup>15</sup> Then Nebuzaradan forced to go to Babylon some of the poorest people, those Israelites who had said they would support the king of Babylon, the rest of the craftsmen, and other people who had remained in Jerusalem.<sup>16</sup> But Nebuzaradan allowed some of the very poor people to remain in Judah to take care of the vineyards and fields.

<sup>17</sup> The soldiers from Babylonia broke into pieces the huge bronze pillars that were in front of the temple, and the large bronze water tank called "The Sea," and the ten bronze water carts, and they took all the bronze to Babylon.<sup>18</sup> They also took away the basins for holding the ashes from the burned sacrifices, the shovels for cleaning out the ashes, the tools for snuffing out the wicks of the lamps, the basins for holding the blood of the sacrificed animals, the dishes for incense, and all the other bronze items that were used when they made sacrifices at the temple.<sup>19</sup> Nebuzaradan also told his soldiers to take away the small bowls, the dishes for burning incense, the basins, pots, lampstands, bowls for incense, and the bowls used for pouring out the wine offerings. They took all the other items that were made of pure gold or silver.

<sup>20</sup> The bronze from the two pillars, the large water tank called "The Sea" and the twelve statues of oxen that were beneath it, and the water carts, was more than they could weigh. Those things had been made for the temple during the time that Solomon was the king.<sup>21</sup> Each of the pillars was 27 feet tall and 18 feet around. They were hollow, and each had sides that were 3 inches thick.<sup>22</sup> The bronze head on the top of each pillar was seven and one-half feet high and was decorated all around with a bronze network of figures that represented pomegranates.<sup>23</sup> There was a total of one hundred figures of pomegranates on the network at the top, 96 of which could be seen from the ground.

<sup>24</sup> When Nebuzaradan returned to Babylon, he took with him as prisoners Seraiah the high priest, Zephaniah who was Seraiah's deputy, and the three men who guarded the entrances to the temple.<sup>25</sup> He found some other people who were hiding in the city. So from them he took a commander of the army of Judah, seven of the king's advisors, the army commander's chief secretary who was in charge of recruiting soldiers for the army, and sixty other soldiers.<sup>26</sup> Nebuzaradan took them all to the king of Babylon, who was still at Riblah.<sup>27</sup> There at Riblah in the Hamath region, the king of Babylon commanded that they all be executed.

Many of the people of Judah were forced to leave their own land.<sup>28</sup> The number of people who were captured and sent to Babylon at that time, when Nebuchadnezzar had been ruling for almost seven years, was 3,023.<sup>29</sup> Then, when he had been ruling for almost eighteen years, his soldiers took 832 more from Jerusalem to Babylonia.<sup>30</sup> When he had been ruling almost twenty-three years, he sent Nebuzaradan to Jerusalem again, and he brought back 745 more Israelites to Babylonia. That was a total of 4,600 Israelites who were taken to Babylonia.

<sup>31</sup> After King Jehoiachin of Judah had been in prison in Babylon for almost thirty-seven years, Awel-Marduk became the king of Babylon. He was kind to Jehoiachin and ordered that he be released from prison. That was on the twenty-fifth day of the twelfth month of the year that Awel-Marduk became king.<sup>32</sup> He always spoke kindly to Jehoiachin and gave him a position in which he was honored more than all the other kings who had been exiled to Babylon.<sup>33</sup> He supplied new clothes for Jehoiachin, to replace the clothes that he had been wearing in prison. He also allowed Jehoiachin to eat with him every day, all during the rest of his life.<sup>34</sup> Every day, the king of Babylon gave him some money to buy the things that he needed. That continued until the day that Jehoiachin died.

Lamentations

<sup>1</sup>Jerusalem was once full of people,
but now it is completely deserted.

Once it was a powerful nation,
but now it is alone, like a widow.

Once everyone in the world honored it like a king's daughter,
but now it is like a slave.

<sup>2</sup>We in the city weep bitterly all during the nights,
with tears flowing down our cheeks.

We did not trust Yahweh to help us, and the people groups that we did trust failed to help us;
none of those people comfort us
now.

All the people groups that were friends
with us have betrayed us;
they are all now our enemies.

<sup>3</sup>The people of Judah have become poor and have suffered greatly.

Almost all of our people were forced to leave our land.

We now live in another country
and we have no peace.

When the people Judah were unable to defend ourselves,
that was when our enemies
captured us.

<sup>4</sup>The roads to Mount Zion are empty because no one comes here to celebrate the sacred festivals any longer.

No elders or leaders sit under the city
gates to talk any more,
and Jerusalem's priests groan in sorrow.

The young women left in Jerusalem cry
because they are suffering greatly.

<sup>5</sup>Our enemies are now masters of our city,
and they prosper.

Yahweh has punished us, the people of Jerusalem,
because of all the sins that we have
committed.

Our enemies have taken all our children and made them go to other countries.

<sup>6</sup>Jerusalem was a beautiful city,
but it is not beautiful now.

The leaders of our city are like deer that are starving
because they can find no grass to eat.

They are very weak
and cannot run from our enemies.

<sup>7</sup>We, the people of Jerusalem, are sad and have no more homes to live in;
we think about all the splendid things that once filled our city.

But now our enemies have captured the
city,
and there is no one to help us.

Our enemies destroyed our city and laughed while they were doing
it.

<sup>8</sup>We, the people of Jerusalem, have sinned very much;
our city has become like a bloody
rag between a woman's legs.

Everyone who previously honored our city now despise it;
they are like people who strip a woman bare and then mock
her.

Now we groan in the city;
we are like a woman without clothes who tries to cover herself with her hands.

<sup>9</sup>It is as if our city has become filthy because we have sinned so greatly;
we did not think about how God
would punish us.

We did not imagine how we would suffer;
there is no one to comfort us.

We all call out to God, "Yahweh, look at how we are suffering
because our enemies have defeated
us!"

<sup>10</sup>Our enemies have taken away all our treasures,
all the valuable things that we owned.

People who do not worship you, Yahweh,
are going into our sacred temple,
where you had said no foreigner must go into the place where your people worship you.

<sup>11</sup> All the people in the city cry out with pain
while they search for food.
They have given their most valuable
things
to get food to eat to restore their strength.

Yahweh, look at me,
no one values my life.

<sup>12</sup> You people who pass by,
you do not seem to care at all about
what has happened to me.

Look around and see that there are no other people who are suffering as I
do.

Yahweh has caused me to suffer because he has punished me on the day he was angry with us, his
people.

<sup>13</sup> It is as though he sent a fire from heaven
that burned in my bones;
it is as though he has placed a trap to entangle my feet,
and made me turn back.

He has abandoned me;
I am weak and alone every day, all
during the day.

<sup>14</sup> He turned the sins that I have committed into a heavy load for me
to carry;
it is as though he tied them around
my neck.

Previously we were strong,
but he has caused me to become weak.

He has allowed my enemies to capture
me,
and I was not able to do anything to resist them.

<sup>15</sup> The Lord looked at my mighty soldiers, who kept me safe.

He summoned a great army
to come and crush me to defeat my strong young soldiers.

The Lord has trampled on the people of Judah

as people trample on grapes in a pit
to make juice.

<sup>16</sup> I weep because of all these things.
My eyes are filled with tears.

There is no one to comfort me.

The one who comforts me is far
away from me.

My children have no hope because the enemy has taken us all
captive.

<sup>17</sup> The people who lived in Zion (the city
of Jerusalem)
have no one to give them comfort.
Yahweh has given the order that the people in nearby nations will become the enemies of the descendants of our father Jacob (who are also called the Israelites).

Jerusalem has become disgusting to
them.

<sup>18</sup> But what Yahweh has done to me is fair,
for I had refused to obey what he told me to do.

You people everywhere, listen to me!
Look and see that I am suffering greatly.

My young daughters and brave sons have been taken away to far off lands.

<sup>19</sup> I pleaded with our allies, in whom we trusted, to help,
but they all refused,
they told lies and did not keep their
promises.

My priests and my leaders
died within the walls of the city while they searched for food to eat.

<sup>20</sup> Yahweh, see that I am suffering very much!

Inside of my body I am in great distress.

I am sad in the center of my being,
because I have rebelled against you
and have caused you great sadness!

Our enemies kill people in the streets
with their swords;
and that makes our homes the places where the dead are kept.

<sup>21</sup> Hear my groaning!
but no one came to comfort me.

All our enemies know what happened to me;
they were all happy to hear about what Yahweh has done to his people.

Please do soon what you have promised, when our enemies will suffer like we have suffered!

<sup>22</sup> Yahweh, let those evil deeds come near to you so you may see them all! Punish them as you have punished me for all my sins!

I suffer and groan very much, and I faint within my inner self.

<sup>2</sup> The Lord was extremely angry with us; it was as though he covered Jerusalem with a dark cloud. Previously it was a beautiful city, but he has caused it to become a ruin.

At the time he punished Israel, he even abandoned his temple in Jerusalem.

<sup>2</sup> The Lord destroyed the homes of the people of Judah; he did not act mercifully. Because he was very angry, he broke down the fortresses of Judah.

He has made our kingdom to be completely helpless, and he has caused our rulers to lose all honor.

<sup>3</sup> Because he was extremely angry, he has caused Israel to not be powerful anymore.

He has refused to assist us when our enemies attacked us.

He has destroyed Israel like a raging fire destroys everything.

<sup>4</sup> He has gotten ready to kill us, his people, as though we were his enemies. He prepared to kill the people whom we love the most, members of our own families.

He is extremely angry with us people of Jerusalem; his anger is like a fire.

<sup>5</sup> The Lord has become like an enemy to us Israelites; he has destroyed us; he has destroyed our palaces and made our fortresses into ruins. He has gotten rid of many people in Jerusalem, and caused us to mourn and weep for those who were killed.

<sup>6</sup> He has caused our enemies to smash his temple as easily as if it had been a hut in a garden.

He has caused us, his people, to forget all our sacred festivals and Sabbath days.

He has hated our kings and priests because he was extremely angry with them.

<sup>7</sup> Yahweh has rejected the very altar on which we had sacrificed animals to him; he has abandoned his temple. He has allowed our enemies to tear down the walls of our temple and our palaces.

They shout victoriously in the temple of Yahweh, like we previously shouted during our sacred festivals.

<sup>8</sup> Yahweh was determined that our enemies would tear down our city wall. It was as though he had first measured the walls and then completely destroyed them.

It was as though he caused the towers and walls to lament because they were now ruins.

<sup>9</sup> The city gates have collapsed; the enemy has destroyed the bars that fastened the gates shut. The king and his officials have been forced to go to other countries, where no one teaches the laws that God gave to Moses.

The prophets do not receive any visions because Yahweh does not give them

- any.
<sup>10</sup> The old men of Jerusalem sit on the ground,
 and they say nothing.
 They are so sad that they wear rough sackcloth
 and throw dust on their heads.
 The young girls of Jerusalem bow down sorrowfully,
 their faces touch the ground.
<sup>11</sup> My eyes are very tired because of my tears;
 I am very grieved within my inner being.
 Because very many of my people have died,
 in my inner being I grieve and am exhausted.
 Even children and babies are fainting and dying in the streets because they have no food.
<sup>12</sup> They cry out to their mothers,
 "We need something to eat and drink!"
 They collapse like wounded men in the streets of the city.
 They slowly die in the arms of their mothers.
<sup>13</sup> You people of Jerusalem,
 I cannot say anything to help you.
 No people have suffered like you are suffering;
 I do not know what I can do to comfort you.
 You have fallen just as far as if you had sunk in the ocean;
 there is no one who can bring your city back to what it was.
<sup>14</sup> The prophets among you claimed that they had seen visions from Yahweh, but what they said was false and worthless.
 They did not work to save you from your enemies;
 they did not tell you that you had sinned.
 Instead, they announced to you things that they said Yahweh had told them; they tempted you to believe them, and you did.
<sup>15</sup> All those who pass by you make fun of you by clapping their hands;

 they shake their heads and hiss at you;
 They say, "Is this the great city of Jerusalem?
 Is it the city that people said was the most beautiful city in the world, the city that caused all the people on the earth to rejoice?"
<sup>16</sup> Now all our enemies laugh at you; they hate you so much that they hiss at you and grind their teeth at you.
 They say, "We have destroyed Israel! This is what we longed for, and now it has happened!"
<sup>17</sup> Yahweh has done what he planned; long ago he threatened to destroy you,
 and now he has done it.
 He has destroyed your city without acting mercifully toward you; he has enabled your enemies to be happy about defeating you; he has enabled your enemies to continually become stronger.
<sup>18</sup> I wish the city walls could speak like the people who cry out to Yahweh!
 I would tell the walls, "Cry out for help to Yahweh!
 Let your tears flow day and night!
 Let them flow like rivers.
 Do not stop grieving; do not stop crying."
<sup>19</sup> Get up during every night and cry out; tell Yahweh what you feel in your inner beings.
 Raise your arms to plead to him to act mercifully to prevent our children from dying; they are fainting on the street corners because they have no food to eat.
<sup>20</sup> Yahweh, look at your people and have mercy on us.
 Have you ever caused people to suffer like this before?
 It is certainly not right that women are eating the flesh of their own children,

- the children whom they have always taken care of.
- It is not right that our enemies are killing priests and prophets in your own temple!
- <sup>21</sup> The corpses of people of all ages lie in the streets; there are even corpses of young men and young women whom our enemies have killed with their swords.
- Because you were very angry, you caused them to be killed; you have slaughtered them without pitying them at all.
- <sup>22</sup> You summoned my enemies to attack from every direction, as though you were calling them to come to a feast.
- At that time you showed that you were very angry, and no one escaped.
- Our enemies murdered our little children, the ones whom we took care of and reared up.
- 3 I, the one who am writing this, am a man whom Yahweh made to suffer, because he was angry.
- <sup>2</sup> It was as though he caused me to walk in a very dark place without any light at all.
- <sup>3</sup> He has punished me many times, many times during each day.
- <sup>4</sup> He has caused my skin and my flesh to become old.
- He has broken my bones.
- <sup>5</sup> He has surrounded me with things that make me suffer very bitterly.
- <sup>6</sup> It is as though he has buried me in a dark place like those who have been dead for a long time.
- <sup>7</sup> It is as though he has built a prison wall around me, and fastened me with heavy chains, so I cannot escape.
- <sup>8</sup> Although I call out and cry out for him to help me, he does not pay attention to me.
- <sup>9</sup> It is as though he has blocked my path
- with a high stone wall and has caused me to wander everywhere to try to get out.
- <sup>10</sup> He has waited to attack me like a bear or a lion hides and waits to attack a man.
- <sup>11</sup> It is as though a bear has dragged me off the path and mauled me, and left me alone without help.
- <sup>12</sup> It is as though he strung his bow and made me the target to shoot at with his arrows.
- <sup>13</sup> It is as though he shot his arrows deep into my body.
- <sup>14</sup> All my relatives laugh at me; all during each day they sing songs that make fun of me.
- <sup>15</sup> Yahweh has made me suffer greatly, like someone suffers after drinking something very bitter.
- <sup>16</sup> It is as though he has caused me to chew gravel that broke my teeth; it is as though he has trampled me in the ground.
- <sup>17</sup> Things no longer go well for me; I no longer remember being prosperous.
- <sup>18</sup> I continue to say to myself, "I am not strong enough to bear any more hardships. I no longer expect that Yahweh will rescue me."
- <sup>19</sup> When I think about how I suffer and how I wander far from home, it is like drinking a very bitter liquid.
- <sup>20</sup> I will never forget this time when I feel very depressed.
- <sup>21</sup> However, I confidently expect Yahweh to do good things for me again, and this I know is true.
- <sup>22</sup> Yahweh never stops faithfully loving us, and he shows his compassion for us forever.
- He never stops acting kindly toward us.
- <sup>23</sup> Every morning he acts mercifully toward us again.
- He is the one in whom we can always trust.
- <sup>24</sup> So I sincerely say to myself, "Yahweh

- gives me what I need!"
 Because I believe this, I will confidently wait for him to do good things for me.
- <sup>25</sup> Yahweh is good to all those who depend on him,
     to those who seek him to help
     them.
- <sup>26</sup> So it is good for us to wait quietly
     for Yahweh to save us.
- <sup>27</sup> And it is good for us to suffer patiently
     while we are young.
- <sup>28</sup> Those who seek him to help them should sit by themselves and not complain,
     because they know that it is Yahweh
     who has allowed them to suffer.
- <sup>29</sup> They should lie in the dirt, with their faces on the ground,
     because they can still hope that Yahweh will help them.
- <sup>30</sup> If someone strikes us on one cheek,
     we should turn the other cheek
     toward that person in order that he may strike it, too,
     and accept it when others insult us.
- <sup>31</sup> The Lord does not abandon his people
     forever.
- <sup>32</sup> Sometimes he causes us to suffer,
     but he also acts kindly toward us because he continually and faithfully loves us.
- <sup>33</sup> And he does not take pleasure when he causes people to suffer
     or be sad.
- <sup>34</sup> If people mistreat and oppress all the prisoners,
- <sup>35</sup> or if they rebel against God
     by refusing to do for others what is right,
- <sup>36</sup> or if they cause judges to decide matters unjustly,
     the Lord certainly sees all these
     things.
- <sup>37</sup> No one can make something happen
     unless Yahweh has already decided that it should happen.
- <sup>38</sup> God in heaven is the one who commands that disasters should
     happen,
     and he also causes good things to
- happen.
<sup>39</sup> So it is certainly not right for us, who are only people on earth, to complain
     when he punishes us for the sins
     that we have committed.
- <sup>40</sup> Instead, we should think carefully
     about how we behave;
     we should turn back to Yahweh.
- <sup>41</sup> We should pray with all our inner beings and lift up our arms
     toward God in heaven, and say,
- <sup>42</sup> "We have sinned and rebelled against
     you,
     and you have not forgiven us.
- <sup>43</sup> You have been very angry and chased
     after us;
     you have slaughtered us without pitifuling us.
- <sup>44</sup> You have hidden yourself away, as if you were in a cloud,
     so that you will not hear us when we pray.
- <sup>45</sup> You have made us go among the foreign peoples,
     and they think we are only garbage.
- <sup>46</sup> All our enemies have spoken things to insult us.
- <sup>47</sup> We are constantly afraid that people will trap us,
     because we have experienced so many disasters and so much ruin.
- <sup>48</sup> Many tears flow from my eyes because my people have been destroyed.
- <sup>49</sup> My tears continually flow;
     they will not stop
- <sup>50</sup> until Yahweh looks down from heaven
     and sees us.
- <sup>51</sup> I am very grieved because of what has happened to the women of my city.
- <sup>52</sup> My enemies hunted for me
     like people hunt for a bird to kill it even though there was no reason for them to do that.
- <sup>53</sup> They threw me into a pit to kill me,
     and placed a heavy stone over the top of it.
- <sup>54</sup> The water in the pit rose above my
     head,

- and I said to myself, 'I am about to die!'
- <sup>55</sup> But from the bottom of the pit I cried out to you,
'Yahweh, help me!'
- <sup>56</sup> I pleaded with you,
'Do not refuse to hear me when I cry out to you!'
- <sup>57</sup> Then you answered me and said, 'Do not be afraid!'
- <sup>58</sup> Yahweh, you argued for me when people wanted to condemn me and execute me; you did not allow me to die.
- <sup>59</sup> Now, Yahweh, you have seen the evil things that my enemies have done to me, so judge my case and show that I have done nothing wrong.
- <sup>60</sup> You know the evil things that they are planning to do to me.
- <sup>61</sup> Yahweh, you have heard them insult me; you have heard what they plan to do to me.
- <sup>62</sup> Every day they whisper and mutter things about me, all during the day.
- <sup>63</sup> Look at them! Whatever they are doing at the moment, they make fun of me by the songs that they sing.
- <sup>64</sup> Yahweh, give them what they deserve! Pay them back for what they have done to me!
- <sup>65</sup> You permit them to do whatever they want, and you punish them by taking away their shame. That is why your curse is upon them.
- <sup>66</sup> Because you are angry with them, pursue them and get rid of them, until none of them remain on the earth."
- 4 Previously our people were like pure gold, but now they are worthless. Just as our enemies have scattered the sacred stones in the temple, so they have also scattered our young men.

- <sup>2</sup> The young men of Jerusalem were as valuable as large amounts of gold, but now people consider them to be as worthless as ordinary clay pots.
- <sup>3</sup> Even the female jackals feed their pups, but my people act cruelly toward their own children; the mothers are like ostriches in the desert that abandon their eggs.
- <sup>4</sup> My people's infants' tongues cling to the roofs of their mouths because they are extremely thirsty; the children plead for some food, but no one gives them any.
- <sup>5</sup> People who previously ate fine food are now starving in the streets; those who previously wore fine clothes now lie upon the rubbish heaps with nothing to eat.
- <sup>6</sup> The people of Sodom died very suddenly in a disaster. But God punished my people more severely than the people of Sodom, and no one was concerned about all that we suffered.
- <sup>7</sup> Our leaders used to be like pure snow or white milk, they were so clean and spotless. Their bodies were healthy, pink like coral and brilliant like sapphires.
- <sup>8</sup> Now our leaders' faces are blacker than soot, and no one recognizes them when they walk in the streets. Their skin has shriveled and it hangs on their bones, and it has become as dry as a stick of wood.
- <sup>9</sup> It is better to die in a battle than to die of hunger. There was no food to harvest in the fields, so the people slowly starved until they died.
- <sup>10</sup> Women who usually acted with love and compassion have killed and cooked their own children;

they ate them when there was no other food,
when Jerusalem was being destroyed by attacking armies.

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh has shown to everyone how angry he was with his people! His anger spread like a fire in Zion (the city of Jerusalem) that burned the city down to its rock foundations.

<sup>12</sup> None of the kings on the earth or anyone else believed that any of our enemies could enter the gates of Jerusalem.

<sup>13</sup> But that is what happened; it happened because the prophets sinned; the priests also sinned by causing innocent people to die.

<sup>14</sup> The priests and prophets wander through the streets as though they were blind. No one will touch them because their clothes are stained with the blood of those innocent people.

<sup>15</sup> These people shouted at the priests and prophets, saying, "Stay away from us! Do not touch us!" So the priests and prophets have fled from Israel, and they wander around from one country to another, but people in each country keep saying to them, "You cannot stay here!"

<sup>16</sup> It is Yahweh himself who has scattered them; he no longer is concerned about them. People do not welcome our priests any longer, and they care nothing for the elders.

<sup>17</sup> We continued to look for someone to help us before it was too late, but it was useless. We continued to watch to see if one of our allies would save us, but none of the nations that we were waiting for was willing to help us.

<sup>18</sup> Our enemies were pursuing us, so we could not even walk in our streets because they could take us as prisoners. Our enemies were about to capture us; it was time for them to kill us.

<sup>19</sup> Those who ran after us were faster than eagles flying in the sky. Even if we fled to the mountains or hid in the desert, they went there ahead of us and waited to attack us.

<sup>20</sup> Our king, whom Yahweh had appointed, the one who enabled us to live, the one whom we trusted to protect us when we had to live in the other nations as slaves—the enemy captured him, as you would capture an animal in a pit.

<sup>21</sup> You people of Edom and Uz, you should be happy while you can, but Yahweh will punish you also. You will become so drunk that you will strip off your own clothes.

<sup>22</sup> You people of Zion (whose home is in Jerusalem), the time when Yahweh punishes you for your sins will come to an end. He will bring an end to the time you must spend in exile. But you people who are from Edom, Yahweh will punish you for your sins and he will make known to everyone the wicked things you have done.

5 Yahweh, think about what has happened to us. See how no one respects us any longer.

<sup>2</sup> Foreigners have seized our property, and now they live in our homes.

<sup>4</sup> Now they make us pay for water to - drink,

and pay for firewood.
- <sup>5</sup> The enemy runs after us and is very close to us;
we are exhausted, but they do not allow us to rest.
- <sup>6</sup> In order to get enough food to remain alive,
we begged Egypt and Assyria to help us.
- <sup>7</sup> Our ancestors sinned, and now they are dead,
but we are suffering for the sins that they committed.
- <sup>8</sup> Now the people who rule over us are themselves slaves to their own masters in Babylon.
There is no one who can rescue us from their power.
- <sup>9</sup> We go far to look for food, but we are in danger of dying when we do so, because of the robbers who live in the wilderness.
- <sup>10</sup> Our skin has become hot like an oven, and we have a very high fever because we are extremely hungry.
- <sup>11</sup> Our enemies have violated the women in Jerusalem, and they have done that to the young women in all the towns of Judea.
- <sup>12</sup> Our enemies have hanged our leaders, and they have not respected our elders.
- <sup>13</sup> They force our young men to grind flour with millstones, and young boys stagger while they are forced to carry heavy loads of firewood.

- <sup>14</sup> Our elders no longer sit at the city gates to make important decisions; the young men no longer play their musical instruments.
- <sup>15</sup> We are no longer joyful; instead of dancing joyfully, we now mourn.
- <sup>16</sup> The wreaths of flowers have fallen off our heads.
Terrible things have happened to us because of the sins that we committed.
- <sup>17</sup> We are tired and discouraged, and we cannot see well because our eyes are full of tears.
- <sup>18</sup> Jerusalem has no one living any more in it,
and jackals prowl around in it.
- <sup>19</sup> But Yahweh, you rule forever!
You continue to rule from one generation to the next generation.
- <sup>20</sup> So why have you forgotten us?
Will you abandon us for a very long time?
- <sup>21</sup> Please enable us to return to you, and enable us to prosper as we did previously.
- <sup>22</sup> Please do that, or is it really true that you have rejected us forever?
Is it really true that you will never stop being extremely angry with us?

Ezekiel

1 "When I, Ezekiel, was thirty years old, I was living among the Israelite people by the Kebar Canal, which was south of Babylon. The Babylonians had taken us from the land of Judah and brought us here. On the fifth day of the fourth month of that year, it was as though the sky opened and I saw visions from God.

The fifth day of the fourth month was almost five years after King Jehoiachin had been exiled."<sup>3</sup> So God gave Ezekiel the priest, son of Buzi, messages in Babylonia while he was beside the Kebar Canal. Yahweh's power went to him there.

<sup>4</sup> In one of the visions, I saw a windstorm coming from the north. There was a huge cloud, and lightning was flashing within it continually, and a brilliant light surrounded the cloud. In the center of where the lightning was flashing, there was amber-colored fire. <sup>5</sup> In the center of the storm I saw what resembled four living creatures. They resembled humans,<sup>6</sup> but each of them had four faces and four wings. <sup>7</sup> Their legs were like human legs, but their feet resembled the hooves of calves that shined like polished bronze. <sup>8</sup> On the four sides of their bodies under their wings there were hands like humans have. <sup>9</sup> As the four creatures stood there, they formed a circle, with their wings touching each other. They did not turn when they were moving; they went straight ahead.

were moving back and forth very rapidly, so that they looked like flashes of lightning.

<sup>15</sup> While I looked at the four living creatures, I saw a wheel on the ground beside each of them. <sup>16</sup> Each of the wheels was the same, and they all shone like beryl. Each wheel seemed to have one wheel inside another wheel. <sup>17</sup> Whenever they moved, they would go straight in one of the four directions that the creatures were facing; they did not turn in another direction while they moved. <sup>18</sup> The rims of the wheels were imposing and frightening, and they were covered with eyes.

<sup>19</sup> Whenever the living creatures moved, the wheels moved with them. So whenever the creatures rose up from the ground, the wheels also rose up. <sup>20</sup> Wherever the Spirit of God, who controlled the creatures, wanted them to go, they went; and the wheels went with them, because their spirit controlled the wheels. <sup>21</sup> Whenever the creatures moved, the wheels moved. Whenever the creatures stood still, the wheels stopped. Whenever the creatures rose up from the ground, the wheels rose up with them.

<sup>22</sup> Above the heads of the creatures there was something that resembled a dome. It glistened as ice shines, and it was awesome. <sup>23</sup> Under the dome, the creatures stretched out their wings. Each one had two wings that touched the wings of the creatures on either side, and two wings that covered his own body.

<sup>24</sup> Whenever the creatures moved, their wings made a sound that resembled the crashing of waves in the sea. It also sounded like the voice of Almighty God, and like the noise of a huge army marching. Whenever the creatures stood still on the ground, they lowered their wings. <sup>25</sup> While they stood on the ground with their wings lowered, there was a voice from the dome that was over their heads.

<sup>26</sup> Above the dome was something that resembled a huge throne that was made of a huge sapphire. Sitting on the throne was someone who resembled a human. <sup>27</sup> I saw that above his waist he resembled metal that was glowing as though it had a very hot fire inside

it. And I saw that below his waist there was a very brilliant light that surrounded him. <sup>28</sup>It shone like a rainbow in the clouds on a rainy day.

That was the brilliant light that represented the presence of Yahweh. When I saw it, I threw myself flat onto the ground, and I heard him speak!

2 The voice said to me, "Son of man, stand up while I speak to you." <sup>2</sup>While he spoke to me, God's Spirit entered me and enabled me to stand up. Then I heard him speak to me.

<sup>3</sup> He said, "Son of man, I will send you to the Israelite people. They are people who have turned away from me and rebelled against me. Their ancestors rebelled against me, and they themselves are still rebelling against me. <sup>4</sup>The people to whom I will send you are very stubborn. But say to them, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says to you.' <sup>5</sup>And when you tell them my messages, perhaps those rebellious people will heed those messages and perhaps they will not heed them; but they will know that a prophet has been among them! <sup>6</sup>And you, son of man, you must not be afraid of them or afraid of what they say. Living among them will be like living in the midst of briars or scorpions, but do not be afraid of them. They are rebellious people, but do not allow them to frighten you. <sup>7</sup>Tell them my message, but do not expect them to pay attention to it, because they are very rebellious. <sup>8</sup>But son of man, you must pay attention to what I say. Do not be rebellious like they are. Now open your mouth and eat what I give to you."

<sup>9</sup> Then, as I watched, I saw his hand that was stretched toward me. In his hand was a scroll. <sup>10</sup>He unrolled the scroll. On both sides of it were written words that expressed sorrow and mourning and words about trouble.

3 He said to me, "Son of Man, eat this scroll that is in front of you. Then go and speak to the Israelite people." <sup>2</sup>So I opened my mouth, and he gave me the scroll to eat it.

<sup>3</sup> Then he said to me, "Son of Man, eat the scroll that I have given to you. Fill your stomach with it." So I ate it, and in my mouth it tasted as sweet as honey.

<sup>4</sup> Then he said to me, "Son of Man, go to the Israelite people and tell them my message. <sup>5</sup>The people to whom I am sending you are not people whose language is very difficult to learn, a language which you do not understand. I am sending you to your Israelite people. <sup>6</sup>I am sending you to people whose language you understand very well. If I were sending you to people whose language was difficult for you to understand, they would pay attention to what you say to them. <sup>7</sup>But because the Israelite people do not want to listen to me, they will not want to listen to you. They do not want to listen because they are all very rebellious. <sup>8</sup>But you—I will enable you to be as stubborn and tough as they are. <sup>9</sup>I will cause you to be as firm as the hardest stone, like flint. So, even though they are very rebellious people, do not be afraid of them; do not allow them to frighten you."

<sup>10</sup> He also said to me, "Son of Man, listen very carefully to what I say, and keep thinking about it. <sup>11</sup>Go to your fellow Israelites who are here after being exiled, and speak to them. Say to them, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says' and then tell them my message, whether they want to hear it or whether they would rather cease to exist."

<sup>12</sup> Then in the vision the Spirit of God lifted me up, and I heard behind me the sound of a large earthquake. (Praise our glorious Yahweh in the place where he lives in heaven!) <sup>13</sup>I heard the sound of the wings of the four living creatures brushing against each other, and I also heard the sound of the wheels that were beside them. It was a loud sound like an earthquake. <sup>14</sup>The Spirit took me away. Within me I was very bitter and angry, and I felt unable to do anything, as though Yahweh were pushing down on me very powerfully. <sup>15</sup>I came to the exiles who lived at the town of Tel Aviv near the Kebar Canal in Babylon. Then, where they were living, I sat for seven days. I was shocked about everything that I had seen.

<sup>16</sup> After those seven days had ended, Yahweh gave me this message: <sup>17</sup>"Son of Man, I am appointing you to be like a watchman. So listen to these messages that I will give you, and tell them those messages to warn them. <sup>18</sup>When I say about some wicked people, 'They will surely die because of their sins,' if you do not warn them or tell them that they must turn from their wicked behavior if they want to save their lives, they will die because of their sin, and it will be your responsibility since you did not act to prevent it.<sup>19</sup> But if you warn wicked people and they do not turn from all their wicked behavior, they will die because of their sins, but you will have saved yourself from my punishment.

<sup>20</sup> Similarly, when righteous people turn from their righteous behavior and do evil deeds, and I cause bad things to happen to them, they will die. But you must warn them. If they do not stop their sinful behavior, they will die because of their sins. I will not think about the righteous things that they did previously. But if you have not warned them, I will hold you responsible for their deaths.<sup>21</sup> But if you warn righteous people not to sin, and they do not sin; they will surely remain alive because they heeded your warning, and you will have saved yourself from my punishment."

<sup>22</sup> I felt Yahweh take control, and he spoke to me and said, "Get up and go to the plain, and I will speak to you there."<sup>23</sup> So I got up and went out to the plain. And I saw the glory of Yahweh there, like the glory that I had seen along the Kebar Canal. And I threw myself flat onto the ground.

<sup>24</sup> Then the Spirit of God entered me and enabled me to stand up. He said to me, "Go into your house and stay inside it."<sup>25</sup> People will tie you with ropes, with the result that you will be unable to go out among the people.<sup>26</sup> Even though they are very rebellious people, I will cause your tongue to stick to the roof of your mouth, with the result that you will be unable to talk and to rebuke them.<sup>27</sup> But then when I speak to you again, I will enable you to talk and tell them 'This is what the Lord Yahweh is saying to you.' The one who wants to hear me will hear me, but the one who ignores the message will come to an end, since they are a rebellious people!"

4 Yahweh continued and said, "Son of man, take a large clay tablet and scrape lines on it that represent Jerusalem.<sup>2</sup> Then draw figures around it to represent enemy soldiers who will build earthworks and forts around the city in order to take it. Set figures around it that represent battering rams.<sup>3</sup> Then take an iron pan, and place it to be like an iron wall between you and the carving of the city. Then stare at the image of the city. This means that enemy troops will surround the city to attack it. This will be a warning to the Israelite people.

<sup>4</sup> Then lie on your left side, and stay like that for 390 days. You will be symbolically bearing the punishment for the sins of the Israelites, the northern kingdom; you must lie like that one day for each year that I will punish them.

<sup>6</sup> After that, lie down again. This time, lie on your right side for forty days. That will symbolize that the Judean people, the southern kingdom, will be punished for their sins, one year for each day that you lie there.<sup>7</sup> Turn your face toward the drawing of Jerusalem and bare your arm like a soldier does who prepares to go into battle, and prophesy about what will happen to the city.<sup>8</sup> You will not be able to move; it will be as though I have tied you with ropes so that you cannot turn from one side to the other until you have finished symbolizing how many years the city will be besieged.

<sup>9</sup> Before you do that, take some wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet, and spelt; and put them in a storage jar, and use that to bake bread for yourself. That is what you will eat during the 390 days while you lie on your left side.<sup>10</sup> You will eat about two hundred grams of bread each day throughout the day.<sup>11</sup> Also measure out about one-half liter of water to drink each day throughout the day.<sup>12</sup> Eat that bread like you would eat a loaf of barley bread. But use your own dried dung for fuel to bake the bread while people are watching.<sup>13</sup> That will symbolize that the Israelite people will be forced to eat food that is unacceptable to me when they are living in the nations to which I will force them to go."

<sup>14</sup> Then I said, "No, Lord Yahweh! Do not force me to do that! I have never caused myself to become unacceptable to you. From the time when I was young, I have never eaten meat of any animal that was found dead or that had been killed by wild animals. And I have never eaten any meat that is unacceptable to you."

<sup>16</sup> Then he said to me, "Son of man, I will cause the supply of food to Jerusalem to be cut off. Then the people will eat the small amounts of food and drink the small amounts of water that their leaders permit them to have, and they will be very distressed and anxious as they do that,<sup>17</sup> because water and food will be very scarce. They will see each other becoming extremely thin, and they will be appalled; but this will happen because they are being punished for the sins that they have committed."

5 "Then, son of man, when you start doing those things, take a sharp sword and use it like a barber's razor to shave your head and your beard. Put the hair that you shaved off on scales, and divide the hair into three equal parts.<sup>2</sup> When the time during which you will symbolize that the city will be surrounded by enemy troops ends, put a third of the hair inside the drawing of the city and burn it. Take another third of the hair, scatter it all around the drawing of the city, and then strike it with your sword. That will symbolize that I will strike the people of Jerusalem with their enemies' swords. Then allow the wind to scatter the other third of the hair. That will symbolize that even if they flee from the city, I will still cause their enemies to pursue them and attack them with swords.<sup>3</sup> But take a few hairs and tie them to your sleeves.<sup>4</sup> Then take a few of those hairs, throw them into the fire, and burn them up. That will symbolize that a fire will spread from Jerusalem and destroy things throughout Israel.

5 This is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: This drawing will represent Jerusalem, the city that I have placed in the center of the nations, with other countries around it.<sup>6</sup> But the wicked people of Jerusalem rebel against obeying my commands, and they show that they are more wicked than the people of the surrounding countries. They rejected my laws and refused to obey my commands.

7 Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: You people of Jerusalem have been more rebellious than the people of the nations around you; you have not obeyed any of my laws. You have not even obeyed the laws of the nations around you!

8 Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: I am opposed to you people of Jerusalem. I will punish you, and the people of other nations will see it.<sup>9</sup> Because of all your detestable idols and practices, I will punish you people of Jerusalem like I have never done before and will never do again.<sup>10</sup> As a result, parents among you will eat their children, and children will eat their parents because there will be nothing else to eat. I will punish you severely, and I will cause those who will still be alive to be scattered in every direction.

11 Therefore, I, Yahweh the Lord, make this declaration! That as surely as I am alive, because you have polluted my temple with all your disgusting idols and with the other awful things that you do, I will no longer bless you. I will not pity you or act mercifully toward you.

12 One-third of your people will die inside the city because of the plagues they will experience, or by famine. One-third of your people will be killed by your enemies' swords outside the city. And one-third I will scatter in every direction, but your enemies will still pursue you and kill you with their swords.

13 Then I will no longer be angry with you; I will stop punishing you after I have avenged myself against you. And when I stop punishing you, you will know that I, Yahweh, have spoken to you because I have finished punishing you in my anger.

14 I will cause your city to be a ruins, so that people of other nations that are around you will pass by and see it and sneer at you.

15 They will scorn you and taunt you. When I severely punish you because of my great anger, they will be horrified and you will be a warning to them. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it.<sup>16</sup> And when I cut off your food supply and cause there to be more famine, it will be as though I am shooting at you with my arrows that will destroy you.<sup>17</sup> So I will cause you to experience a famine, and I will send wild beasts to attack you and your children, and all your children will be killed. You will experience plagues and wars, and I will cause your enemies to attack you with their swords. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

6 Yahweh gave me another message. He said,
2 "Son of man, turn toward the mountains of Israel, and prophesy about what will happen to them, and say,<sup>3</sup> 'Mountains of Israel, listen to what Yahweh the Lord says to you! He says this to the mountains and the high hills and to the streambeds and the low valleys. He says: I am about to send enemy soldiers with swords to destroy all the hilltops where you worship idols.<sup>4</sup> They will smash all your altars for worshiping idols and your pillars you use for astronomy, and they will kill many Israelite people in front of their idols.<sup>5</sup> Their corpses will lie in front of their idols, and their bones will be scattered around their altars.<sup>6</sup> Wherever you live, your towns will be ruined and the places where idols were worshiped on the hilltops will be smashed. Your altars will be completely smashed, and everything that you own will become a pile of ruins.<sup>7</sup> Many of your people will be killed right in front of you, and then you will know that I am Yahweh and I do what I say I will do.

<sup>8</sup> But I will allow some of you to remain alive. They will escape death when your enemies scatter you among many other nations.<sup>9</sup> When that happens, in those nations to which you have been forced to go, those of you who have escaped death will think about me. You will remember that I was very grieved because you turned away from me, because you were disloyal to me, and because you desired to worship your idols. You will hate yourselves because of the evil and detestable things that you have done.<sup>10</sup> And you will realize that I, Yahweh, have punished you. You will realize that when I threatened to punish you, I surely intended to do that.

<sup>11</sup> So this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say to you, Ezekiel: Slap your hands and stamp your feet and cry out to show that you are distressed, and groan about what will happen to the Israelite people because of all their wicked and detestable behavior. They will be killed by their enemies' swords, they will die from hunger, and they will die from plagues.<sup>12</sup> Those who are far from Jerusalem will die from plagues, those who are close to Jerusalem will be killed by their enemies' swords. Those who are still alive after that will die from hunger. That is how I will punish them.<sup>13</sup> Some of your people's corpses will lie among their idols around their altars, on every high hilltop and on all the mountaintops, under every big tree—at all the places where they burned incense to honor their idols. When this happens you will realize that I, Yahweh, have done this.<sup>14</sup> For I will display my power and cause every area in which they live in your country to become an empty wasteland, from the desert in the far south to the town of Diblah in the far north. Then they will realize that I, Yahweh, have done this."

7 Yahweh gave me another message. He said,
<sup>2</sup> "You, son of man, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say to the people of Israel: All of Israel, everything within its borders, will soon be destroyed.<sup>3</sup> You people of Israel, the end has come. I will punish you severely. I will judge you for all the wicked things that you have done, and pay you back for your disgusting behavior.<sup>4</sup> I will not pity you or act mercifully toward you. I will surely punish you for your wicked behavior. Then you will know that it has happened because I, Yahweh, have done it.

<sup>5</sup> This is also what Yahweh the Lord says: You will soon experience many terrible disasters!<sup>6</sup> This will be the end of Israel; your country will be finished! And your lives will be ended!<sup>7</sup> It will be the end of you people who live in the land of Israel. The time has come; the day when you will be destroyed is near. At that time the people who worship idols on the mountains will not be happy; they will panic.<sup>8</sup> I am very angry with you and am about to pour out my punishment on you. I will judge you for all the wicked things that you have done and pay you back for your disgusting behavior.<sup>9</sup> I will not pity you or act mercifully toward you. I will surely punish you for your wicked behavior. Then you will know that it is I, Yahweh, who have punished you.

<sup>10</sup> The day of your punishment is here! It has arrived! Disasters have come as a result of your pride.<sup>11</sup> People are acting violently and doing more wicked things. And nothing that belongs to those people will be left, none of their money, and they will not be respected by anyone.<sup>12</sup> Now is the time; that day has arrived. People who buy things should not rejoice because they bought things very cheaply and those who sell things should not be sad because they had to sell things cheaply, because Yahweh will be punishing everyone.<sup>13</sup> People who sell some of their property will never be able to buy it back—they will not even be able to return to see it; because they have sinned, not one of them will succeed in staying alive.<sup>14</sup> Your commanders will blow trumpets to get the army ready to fight, but no one will respond, because I will be angry at all the people.

<sup>15</sup> When those things happen, your enemies will be outside the city with their swords, and there will be plagues and famines inside the city. Those who are caught outside of the city in the fields will be killed by their enemies' swords, and those who are in the city will die from famines and plagues. <sup>16</sup> Those who survive and escape will flee to the mountains, and they all will moan because of their sins, as pigeons moan. <sup>17</sup> Because they will be very afraid, all the people's hands will become limp and weak, and their knees will become very weak and unable to hold them up. <sup>18</sup> They will put on clothes made from rough cloth, and they will be terrified. Their faces will show that they are ashamed, and they will shave their heads to show that they are very sad. <sup>19</sup> They will throw their silver into the streets, and consider their gold the same way they would consider garbage, because they will realize that their silver and gold will not be able to rescue them when Yahweh punishes them. They will not be able to buy food to fill their stomachs, because having a lot of gold and silver has led them to sin. <sup>20</sup> They were proud, so they used their beautiful jewelry to make detestable and disgusting idols of their false gods. So I will make them see how disgusting and unacceptable these things are. <sup>21</sup> I will give their silver and gold to foreigners who invade your country and take away your valuable treasures. I will give those things to wicked people, and I will not interfere when they will do disgraceful things to the things that they take. <sup>22</sup> I will allow robbers to enter the temple I love and protect, and they will desecrate it.

<sup>23</sup> Prepare chains to be fastened on you when your enemies capture you as punishment because the people throughout the country are committing murder, and people in the city are being violent. <sup>24</sup> So I will bring armies of the nations whose people are extremely wicked to take the houses of the Israelite people. I will make Israelite people realize that they are to no longer be proud. Your enemies will cause your places of worship to no longer be acceptable to be used. <sup>25</sup> When your enemies cause you to be terrified, you will plead for them to make peace, but there will be no peace. <sup>26</sup> You will experience many disasters, and you will continually hear rumors about disasters that are happening in other places. People will plead with prophets to tell them what visions they have received, but the prophets will not have received any visions. Priests will no longer teach people the laws that I gave to Moses. Even the wise older people will not have any answers. <sup>27</sup> Your king will mourn, and his son will no longer expect that good things will happen. The hands of people throughout the country will tremble. And I will do to them what they deserve for their wicked behavior. I will judge and condemn them the same way they have judged and condemned others. Then they will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

8 On the fifth day of the sixth month, almost six years after the Babylonians had taken us Israelites to their land, I was sitting with the leaders of Judah in my house when I felt the presence of Yahweh the Lord come on me again. <sup>2</sup> Then in a vision I saw someone who resembled a man, but below his waist his body was like fire and above his waist his body was glowing like very hot metal. <sup>3</sup> He reached out what seemed to be a hand and grabbed me by the hair of my head. The Spirit lifted me up high above the earth, and in visions God took me from Babylon to Jerusalem. He took me to the temple, to the inner north gate, to the place where there was an idol that caused Yahweh to be very disgusted and furious. <sup>4</sup> And there in front of me was the very bright light of God himself whom the Israelite people previously worshiped. It was like the vision that I had seen in the plain.

<sup>5</sup> God said to me, "Son of man, look toward the north!" So I looked, and I saw at the entrance of the gate near the altar that idol that caused Yahweh to be disgusted and furious.

<sup>6</sup> He said to me, "Son of man, do you see what the Israelite people are doing? They are doing detestable things here, things that will cause me to abandon my temple. But you will see things that are even more detestable."

<sup>7</sup> Then he brought me to the entrance of the courtyard. I looked and saw a hole in the wall. <sup>8</sup> He said to me, "Son of man, dig through the wall here." So I dug through the wall, and I saw a doorway inside.

<sup>9</sup> He said to me, "Go in and see the wicked and detestable things that they are doing here!"<sup>10</sup> So I went in through the doorway and looked, and I saw all over the walls of a big room, drawings of all kinds of creatures that crawl along the ground and other detestable animals, and drawings of all the idols that the people of Israel were worshiping.<sup>11</sup> In front of them stood seventy elders of Israel. Jaazaniah son of Shaphan, was standing among them. Each of them was holding a pan in which incense was burning, and fragrant smoke of burning incense was rising up.

<sup>12</sup> God said to me, "Son of man, look at what the Israelite elders are doing here in the darkness, each of them standing in his rooms with the carved images, worshiping his own idols! They are saying, 'Yahweh does not see us; Yahweh has deserted this country.'" <sup>13</sup> He also said, "But you will see things that are even more detestable!"

<sup>14</sup> Then he took me to the entrance at the outer north gate of the temple. I saw women sitting there, mourning for the death of the god of the people of Babylonia, Tammuz.<sup>15</sup> He said to me, "Son of man, do you see this? And you will see things that are more detestable than this!"

<sup>16</sup> Then he took me into the inner courtyard inside the temple. There at the entrance of the temple, between the porch and the altar, were about twenty-five men. Their backs were toward the temple, and their faces were toward the east; they were bowing down to worship the sun as it rose in the east.

<sup>17</sup> He said to me, "Son of man, do you see what they are doing? Do you think that it is not a serious thing that these men of Judah are doing, worshiping these detestable things here? But they are doing other terrible things. They are acting violently throughout their country, and continually provoking my anger. Look at them! They are insulting me by their actions of false worship!<sup>18</sup> So I will show them that I am very angry. I will not pity them or act mercifully toward them. And even if they shout loudly to me to help them, I will not pay attention to them."

9 Then Yahweh called out loudly, "You men who are going to punish this city, bring your tools of destruction here."<sup>2</sup> Then I saw six men coming from the north gate of the temple. Each one was carrying a weapon. With them was a man wearing a white linen robe. He carried at his side a case containing things to write with. They all came in and stood beside the bronze altar.

<sup>3</sup> Then the glory that symbolized the presence of the God of Israel rose up from above the four winged creatures and moved to the entrance of the temple, and Yahweh called to the man wearing the linen robe,<sup>4</sup> and said to him, "Go throughout Jerusalem and put a mark on the foreheads of those who are very sad because of the detestable things that are being done inside the city."

<sup>5</sup> While I was listening, he said to the other six men, "Follow the man wearing the white robe, and kill people. Do not pity them or act mercifully toward them.<sup>6</sup> Slaughter old men, young men and women, older women and children; but do not harm any of those who have that mark on their forehead. Start at my temple." So they began by killing the elders who were worshiping idols in front of the temple.

<sup>7</sup> Then Yahweh said to those men, "Pollute the temple by filling the courtyard with the corpses of those whom you kill! Start now!" So they went out and started killing people throughout the city.<sup>8</sup> While they were doing that, I was left alone. I prostrated myself on the ground and cried out, "Yahweh my Lord, are you going to get rid of all the other people of Israel who are still alive, while you are severely punishing the people of Jerusalem?"

<sup>9</sup> He replied, "The sins of the people are numerous and severe! There is murder everywhere in this country, and this city is full of people who act unjustly. They say, 'Yahweh has abandoned this country, and he does not see what we are doing.'<sup>10</sup> So I will not pity them or act mercifully toward them. I will do to them the evil things that they have done to other people."

<sup>11</sup> Then the man wearing the linen robe returned, saying, "I have done what you commanded me to do."

10 Then I saw what resembled a throne made of sapphire above the thing that resembled a dome that was above the heads of the four winged creatures.<sup>2</sup> Yahweh said to the man wearing the linen robe, "Go between the wheels that are under the winged creatures. Pick up as many hot coals as you can, and scatter them over the city." And while I watched, the man wearing the white robe left.

<sup>3</sup>The four winged creatures were standing on the south side of the temple when the man wearing the white robe entered. Then a cloud filled the inner courtyard of the temple. <sup>4</sup>And the glory of Yahweh went up from directly over the winged creatures and stood over the doorway of the temple. It filled the entire temple with a cloud and everything in the courtyard was bright because of Yahweh's glorious presence. <sup>5</sup>I also heard the sound made by the wings of the winged creatures in the courtyard outside the temple. It was very loud, like the voice of Almighty God when he speaks.

<sup>6</sup>When Yahweh commanded the man wearing the linen robe to take burning coals from among those winged creatures, the man went into the courtyard and stood beside one of the wheels. <sup>7</sup>Then one of those winged creatures reached out his hand to the fire that was there among them. He picked up some of the coals and put them in the hands of the man wearing the linen robe, and that man took them and left. <sup>8</sup>Under the wings of the winged creatures was something that resembled a human's hands.

<sup>9</sup>Then I saw four wheels alongside the winged creatures. There was one wheel beside each of the winged creatures. The wheels shone like very valuable stones. <sup>10</sup>The wheels were all alike: Each had one wheel inside another wheel. <sup>11</sup>Whenever they moved, they went straight in whatever direction one of the winged creatures faced. The wheels did not turn in another direction while the winged creatures flew. <sup>12</sup>Their bodies, including their backs and hands and wings, were covered with eyes. The wheels were also covered with eyes. <sup>13</sup>I heard someone call them 'the whirling wheels.' <sup>14</sup>Each of the winged creatures had four faces. One face was like the face of a bull, one face was like the face of a human, one face was like the face of a lion, and one face was like the face of an eagle.

<sup>15</sup>Then the winged creatures rose up. They were the same living creatures that I had seen alongside the Kebar Canal. <sup>16</sup>When the winged creatures moved, the wheels moved with them. When the winged creatures spread their wings to fly over the ground, the wheels did not leave them but stayed beside them.

<sup>17</sup>When the winged creatures stopped, the wheels stopped. When the winged creatures started to fly, the wheels flew with them, because the spirit of the living creatures was in the wheels.

<sup>18</sup>Then the glory of Yahweh left the entrance of the temple and stopped above the winged creatures. <sup>19</sup>While I watched, the winged creatures spread their wings and started to fly, and the wheels went with them. They stopped at the gate on the east side of the temple, and the glory of God, the one whom the Israelites had worshiped, was above them.

<sup>20</sup>These were the same four living creatures that I had seen alongside the Kebar Canal, and I realized that they were the winged creatures. <sup>21</sup>Each of them had four faces and four wings, and under their wings was what resembled a human's hands. <sup>22</sup>Their faces were the same as the faces that I had seen at the Kebar Canal. Each of them flew straight ahead.

11 Then God's Spirit lifted me up and took me to the gate on the east side of the temple. There at the gate were twenty-five men. Among them I saw Jaazaniah son of Azzur, and Pelatiah son of Benaiah, who were leaders of the people. <sup>2</sup>Yahweh said to me, "Son of man, these are the new leaders in Jerusalem who are planning to do evil things and who are giving wicked advice to people in this city. <sup>3</sup>They say, 'It is not the time to build houses yet, but just as pieces of meat are carefully stored in covered pots we will be protected from the bad things that will happen to others.' <sup>4</sup>So, son of man, prophesy about the terrible things that will happen to them."

<sup>5</sup>Then the Spirit of Yahweh came upon me and told me to say to the people, "This is what Yahweh says, 'You Israelite people say those things, and I know what you are thinking. <sup>6</sup>You have killed many people in this city and filled the streets with their corpses.'

<sup>7</sup>Therefore this is what Yahweh the Lord says, 'The corpses of the people whom you have killed here are like the meat and Jerusalem is the cauldron, but I will expel you people from this city! <sup>8</sup>You are afraid of being killed by enemies' swords, so that is what I will cause to happen to you.<sup>9</sup> I will expel you from this city and enable foreigners to capture you and punish you.<sup>10</sup> They will kill you with their swords; you will be punished right here in Israel! Then people will realize that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.<sup>11</sup> This city will not be a place where you will be protected like meat in a covered pot. I will punish you wherever you are in Israel.<sup>12</sup> Then you will know that I, Yahweh, have predicted that would happen, because you have not obeyed my commands and decrees; instead, you have imitated the wicked behavior of the people of the nearby nations."

<sup>13</sup> While I was prophesying that, Pelatiah son of Benaiah suddenly died. Then I prostrated myself on the ground and cried out loudly, "Yahweh my Lord, are you going to similarly get rid of all the Israelite people who are still alive?"

<sup>14</sup> Then Yahweh gave me this message,
<sup>15</sup> "Son of man, the people who are still in Jerusalem are talking about your relatives, your clan, and all the rest of the Israelites who were exiled and saying, 'They are in Babylonia, far from Yahweh. They have left their property here in Israel, so their property now belongs to us!'"

<sup>16</sup> So tell them, "This is what Yahweh the Lord says: Although I caused them to be taken far away from Israel and scattered them among other nations, for a short time I have become a sanctuary for them in the countries to which they have been taken."

<sup>17</sup> So also tell them, "This is what Yahweh the Lord says: Some day I will gather you from the nations to which you have been taken and bring you back to Israel, and you will live in your country again."

<sup>18</sup> When you return to your country, you will get rid of all the vile statues of gods and detestable idols.<sup>19</sup> I will give you Israelites one new heart and I will give you a new way of thinking when you return to Israel. You will not be stubborn, but will be obedient.<sup>20</sup> When I do that, you will carefully obey all my laws. You will be my people, and I will be your God.<sup>21</sup> But as for those who are devoted to worshiping their vile statues and detestable idols, I will punish them as they deserve for the evil things that they have done." This is what Yahweh declared.

12 Yahweh gave me another message. He said,<sup>2</sup> "Son of man, you are living among people who are very rebellious. They have eyes, but they do not see what I want them to see; they have ears, but they do not listen to what I want them to hear, because they are such a rebellious people.

<sup>3</sup> Therefore, son of man, pack your belongings as though you were going into exile. Then, during the daytime, while people are watching, prepare to go to another place. Even though the people are rebellious, perhaps they will understand what you are symbolizing.<sup>4</sup> During the daytime, while they are watching, bring out the things that you want to take, and pack them. Then in the evening, while they are watching, do what those who are preparing to go into exile do.<sup>5</sup> Dig through the city wall and take your things through the hole.<sup>6</sup> Put them in a sack on your shoulder while they are watching, and leave when it becomes dark. Cover your face so you cannot see the path. I want you to do this because I want you to warn the Israelite people."

<sup>7</sup> So I did what Yahweh told me to do. During the day I brought things out of my house as though I was packing to go into exile. Then in the evening I dug through the city wall. Then while people watched, I put my sack of belongings on my shoulder and left.

<sup>8</sup> The next morning, Yahweh gave me this message,<sup>9</sup> "Son of man, did the rebellious people of Israel not ask you, 'What are you doing?'

<sup>10</sup> So go back and say to them, 'What I did is about the king in Jerusalem and all the other people of Israel who are there.'<sup>11</sup> Tell them, 'What I did is a warning to you. What I did in front of you, they are going to have to do. They will be captured and forced to go to another country.<sup>12</sup> Their king will put his belongings on his shoulder when it becomes dark and he will try to escape. His servants will dig a hole through the city wall, and he will take his belongings through it. He will cover his face so others will not recognize him and he will not be able to see the land.<sup>13</sup> But it will be as though I will spread a net for him to be captured; enemy soldiers will capture him, blind him, and take him to the city of Babylon where the Chaldean people live. But he will not be able to see it because he will be blind; and there he will die.<sup>14</sup> I will scatter all those who have been around him—his advisors and his soldiers—in every direction; and I will cause his enemies to pursue them, with their swords ready to strike them.

<sup>15</sup> Then, when I scatter them among many nations, they will know that I, Yahweh have the power to do what I say that I will do.<sup>16</sup> But I will spare some of them from being killed by the sword, or starving to death, or dying of disease so they can record that they have been doing disgusting things, and they will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

<sup>21</sup> Yahweh gave me another message. He said,<sup>22</sup> "Son of man, the people in Israel have this proverb that says, 'The days keep passing, and what the prophets predict never happens.'<sup>23</sup> So say to them, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: I am going to prove that what they say is not correct, and then they will never say it again in Israel.' Tell them, 'It will soon be the time when everything that the prophets predict will happen.'<sup>24</sup> No longer will prophets tell the Israelite people false visions, or tell people prophecies just to please them.<sup>25</sup> Instead, I, Yahweh, will say what I want to tell the people, and what I predict will quickly happen. You rebellious people, I will cause to happen everything that I say will happen. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say."

<sup>26</sup> Yahweh also gave me this message. He said,<sup>27</sup> "Son of man, the Israelite people are constantly saying about you, 'The things that he sees in visions will not happen soon. They are about things that will happen many years from now, far in the future.'

<sup>28</sup> Therefore say to them, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: I will no longer delay causing to happen any of the things that I have prophesied. Whatever I have predicted will soon happen.'

13 Yahweh gave me another message. He said,<sup>2</sup> "Son of man, prophesy a warning against the prophets in Israel who are prophesying. Some of them are prophesying things that they themselves have imagined. Say to them, 'Listen to what Yahweh says!<sup>3</sup> He says, 'Terrible things will happen to those wicked prophets who proclaim their own ideas and have not seen any visions from me.<sup>4</sup> You Israelite people, your prophets are like jackals in the desert, they are scavengers feeding off of others' loss.<sup>5</sup> Because you were listening to them, you have not repaired breeches or strengthened your walls. That needs to be done so that the walls will be strong when I, Yahweh, send your enemies to attack you.<sup>6</sup> The visions and prophecies of those prophets are false. They say, 'Yahweh told me this.' I have not sent them to you to be my prophets, but you expect that what they prophesy will truly happen!<sup>7</sup> They say that they have seen visions, but those visions are false, and the things that they prophesy are lies. They say, 'Yahweh told me this,' but I have told them nothing!'

<sup>8</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: Because you prophets have said what is false and because your visions are lies, I am opposed to you.<sup>9</sup> I will strike all you prophets who falsely say that you have seen visions and prophesy things that are lies. You will not have any place among my people, your names will not be listed in the records of the Israelite people, and you will never return to Israel. Then you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.

<sup>10</sup> They deceive my people, saying "Things will go well for us" when things will not go well. It is like they want to make people think that there is a very strong wall when it is not strong. <sup>11</sup> So, tell those prophets who cover the wall with whitewash that the wall will surely fall down. It will rain very hard. I will send big hailstones to fall. Very strong winds will blow against it. <sup>12</sup> When the wall falls down, the people will certainly say to those prophets, "The white paint certainly did not make the wall strong!"

<sup>13</sup> So this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: Because I am very angry with you, I will send enemy armies to destroy Jerusalem. It will be as though I will send a very strong wind and hailstones and very heavy rains to destroy you.

<sup>14</sup> The false prophecies of your prophets are like a wall that they have covered with whitewash, but I will break it down, and shatter it down to the ground, with the result that people can see its foundations. When the wall collapses you also will be killed, and everyone will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do. <sup>15</sup> In that way I will show that I am very angry with the wall and with those who covered it with whitewash. And I will say, "The wall is gone and those who whitewashed it have been killed." <sup>16</sup> Those are the prophets who prophesied that things would go well for the people in Jerusalem, when things would not go well for them.'

<sup>17</sup> So you, son of man, show that you are angry with the women of Jerusalem who prophesy things that they themselves have imagined, and speak true prophesy against them. <sup>18</sup> Tell them, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: Terrible things will happen to you women who fasten magic charms on your wrists and make veils of various sizes to put on your heads in order to deceive the people. You think that you will deceive others by telling them that you know what will happen in the future, and you will save your own lives. <sup>19</sup> You dishonored me by telling lies in order to get from my people a few handfuls of barley and a few pieces of bread. My people listen to lies; and you women who are lying to them have caused people who did not deserve to die to be killed, and have spared those who should not continue to live.'

<sup>20</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say to those women: I detest your magic charms by which you deceive people like other people trap birds. I will tear those charms off your wrists, and I will cause the people whom you have deceived to no longer be deceived by you. <sup>21</sup> I will also tear off your veils and rescue my people from continuing to be deceived by you, and they will no longer be under your control. Then you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do. <sup>22</sup> You have discouraged righteous people by telling them lies when I did not do things to cause them to be sad. And you have encouraged wicked people to keep on doing their wicked behavior; if they had turned away from it, they would have continued to live. <sup>23</sup> Therefore, you will no longer falsely say that you have seen visions or tell people what will happen in the future in order to please them. I will rescue my people from being deceived by you. And then you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

14 One day some of the elders of Israel came to me and sat down in front of me. <sup>2</sup> Then Yahweh gave me this message: <sup>3</sup> "Son of man, these men worship idols, and they are allowing idols to induce them to sin. So should I answer them if they ask me for advice? <sup>4</sup> But say this to them: 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: When any Israelite person wants to worship idols that will induce him to sin, and goes to a prophet to get advice, I, Yahweh, will give him the same answer that they deserve to receive because they worship idols. <sup>5</sup> I will do this so the Israelite people, who have abandoned me in order to worship their idols, will sincerely worship me again.'

<sup>6</sup> Therefore, say to the Israelite people, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: Repent! Stop worshiping your idols, and stop all your other detestable behavior!'

<sup>7</sup> When any of you Israelite people or any foreigner living among you turns away from me and starts worshiping idols that induce him to sin, and then goes to a prophet to find out what I want him to do, I myself will answer him. <sup>8</sup> I will show that I detest him, and cause

what happens to him to be a warning to others, and cause him to be someone whom people despise. I will not allow him to associate with my people. Then you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.

<sup>9</sup> And if a prophet is deceived and gives a false prophecy, even though I have allowed him to give that message, I will get rid of him and remove him from among my Israelite people.

<sup>10</sup> Both the prophet and the one who asks him for advice will be guilty, and I will punish both of them. <sup>11</sup> Then the Israelite people will no longer abandon me, and they will no longer become unacceptable to me because of their sins. They will be my people, and I will be their God. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say."

<sup>12</sup> Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>13</sup> "You human, if the people of some country sin against me by abandoning me, and I punish them by cutting off their food supply and by sending a famine so that people and animals die, <sup>14</sup> even if Noah, Daniel, and Job were there, they would save only themselves because of their being righteous. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare.

<sup>15</sup> Or, if I send wild animals throughout the country, and they attack and kill many of the people, so that travel in that country becomes very dangerous and no one travels through that country, <sup>16</sup> as surely as I am alive, even if those three men were in that country, they could not save even their own sons or daughters from being killed. Only they three would be saved, and the country would become a wasteland. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare.

<sup>17</sup> Or, if I bring enemy soldiers to kill the people and animals throughout that country with their swords, <sup>18</sup> as surely as I am alive, even if those three men were in that country, they would not be able to save even their own sons or daughters from being killed. They would save only themselves. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare.

<sup>19</sup> Or, if I send a plague into that land and cause the people and the animals to die from the plague because I am very angry with those people, <sup>20</sup> as surely as I am alive, even if Noah, Daniel and Job were in that country, they would not be able to save even their sons and daughters. They would save only themselves because of their being righteous. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare.

<sup>21</sup> So now this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: I will cause four things to happen to the people of Jerusalem to punish them very severely. Some people and animals will be killed by swords, some will die from famines, others will be attacked and killed by wild animals, and others will die in plagues. <sup>22</sup> But some of your people will remain alive, both adults and children. They will come to you, Ezekiel. And when you see their disgusting behavior and actions, you will realize that I had good reasons for causing the people of Jerusalem to experience those many great disasters that I have sent to them. <sup>23</sup> When you see those things that they do, you will know that there were very good reasons for me to do everything that I caused to happen to them. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare."

15 Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>2</sup> "Son of man, the wood of a grapevine is certainly not more useful than the branches of the trees in a forest. <sup>3</sup> No one even makes pegs from it to hang things on. <sup>4</sup> And after a branch of a grapevine is thrown into a fire and the fire burns both ends and chars the branch in the middle, after that will it be useful for anything? <sup>5</sup> No; if it was not useful for anything before it was burned, it certainly cannot be made into something useful after the fire has burned and charred it.

<sup>6</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: The wood of grapevines is useful only for fuel in a fire. Similarly, the people who live in Jerusalem are useless. <sup>7</sup> I will reject them. It will be as though they have escaped from a fire, but there will still be a fire that will burn them up. And when I punish them, you people who remain alive will know that I, Yahweh, have done it. <sup>8</sup> I will cause your country to become a wasteland because your people have not been loyal to me. That is what I, Yahweh, the Lord, say."

16 Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>2</sup> "Son of man, inform the people of Jerusalem about their detestable behavior. <sup>3</sup> Say to them, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says to you people of Jerusalem: It is as though you are a woman whose father belonged to the

Amor people group and your mother belonged to the Heth people group.<sup>4</sup> It is as though on the day that you were born, your umbilical cord was not cut, and your body was not washed in water or rubbed with salt and wrapped in strips of cloth, like Israelite babies always are.<sup>5</sup> No one pitied you or acted kindly toward you by doing those things for you. Instead, it was as though they hated you. As soon as you were born they threw you into a field to die.

<sup>6</sup> Then it was as though I passed by and saw you lying in your own blood and kicking. And while you lay there kicking in your own blood, I said to you, "I want you to remain alive!"<sup>7</sup> It was as though I caused you to grow up, like plants in the field grow; you grew up and became tall and became like the most precious jewel of all. You developed into a beautiful woman, but you were still completely naked.

<sup>8</sup> When I saw you several years later, it was as though I spread the cloth of my robe over you to symbolize that I would marry you, with the result that you were no longer naked. I solemnly promised that I would marry you and made a marriage agreement with you, and you became my wife.' That is what Yahweh the Lord says.

<sup>9</sup> And then it was as though I bathed you and washed the blood from you and put ointment on your body.<sup>10</sup> It was as though I put a fine linen robe on you and gave you expensive clothes. I put an embroidered dress on you and put leather sandals on your feet.<sup>11</sup> It was as though I put bracelets on your arms and a necklace around your neck. Those things all had nice jewels fastened to them.<sup>12</sup> I put a gold ring in your nose and fastened earrings to your ears and put a beautiful crown on your head.<sup>13</sup> So it was as though you wore gold and silver ornaments. You had clothes made from fine linen and other expensive fabrics, and an embroidered dress. You ate fine flour, honey, and oil. You were the most beautiful woman and I made you into a queen.<sup>14</sup> You were very beautiful, with the result that people in other nations heard about you, because they knew that I, Yahweh the Lord, am the one who had caused you to become very beautiful.

made you beautiful and started acting promiscuous with every man who came along, and they all enjoyed your beauty.<sup>16</sup> It was as though you took some of your clothes to make beautifully decorated the high places, and that is where you slept with those men. Those things should certainly never occur!<sup>17</sup> You took the fine gold and silver jewelry that I gave you, and you made male idols for yourself, in order to sleep with them.<sup>18</sup> You took some of your embroidered clothes to put on those idols, and you burned oil and incense in front of them to honor them.<sup>19</sup> And the bread that was made from fine flour and the olive oil and honey that I gave to you to eat, you offered to be a fragrant sacrifice to those idols. I, Yahweh the Lord, declare that that is what happened.

<sup>20</sup> And you even took your sons and daughters who were supposed to be committed to me and sacrificed and killed them as though they were less important than your becoming a prostitute.<sup>21</sup> You slaughtered those who were like my children, and offered them to be sacrifices to these false gods!<sup>22</sup> All during the time when you were acting like a prostitute and doing other detestable things, you did not think about the time when it was as though you were very young, naked, lying in your own blood and kicking in the field.

<sup>23</sup> So I, Yahweh the Lord, declare that terrible things will happen to you. In addition to all the other wicked things that you did,<sup>24</sup> you built yourself a tall building in which you worship idols and you built a place to worship idols in every city square.<sup>25</sup> At the beginning of every street you built a tall building for the worship of idols, and showed people your beautiful body, offering it to sleep with every man who walked by, and so you were known as a prostitute and your fame for your immorality grew every day.<sup>26</sup> It was as though you had slept with men from Egypt who were eager to sleep with you, men who lived near Israel. You caused me to become very angry because you became more eager to sleep with more and more of them.<sup>27</sup> So I punished you and caused your enemies to capture some of your country. I enabled your greedy enemies from Philistia to defeat you; and even they were shocked because of your disgraceful behavior.<sup>28</sup> It was as though you slept with soldiers from Assyria, too, because you always wanted to sleep with more men. And after that, you still were not satisfied.<sup>29</sup> So you also slept with soldiers from Babylonia, a country full of merchants, but even that did not satisfy you.

<sup>30</sup>I, Yahweh the Lord, declare that you are ruining your life! When you did all those things, you were acting like a prostitute who has no shame for all the things she does.<sup>31</sup> But when you built the houses on the hills to worship idols in every city square, you were not really like a prostitute because prostitutes charge money. You refused to take money for what you did!

<sup>32</sup>You are like a woman who commits adultery: You prefer to sleep with strangers rather than with your husband.<sup>33</sup> Prostitutes are paid, but it is as though you give gifts to all your lovers; you bribe them to come to you from everywhere to sleep with you.<sup>34</sup> So although you act like you are a prostitute, you are actually the opposite of other prostitutes! Instead of them giving any money to you, you give men money to sleep with you!

<sup>35</sup>Therefore, you people of Jerusalem, you, who are like a prostitute, listen to what Yahweh the Lord is saying about you!<sup>36</sup> He says that what you have done is as though you have lusted for everyone around you and had slept with them and with the male idols you made, so that you even made your own children to be sacrifices to them.<sup>37</sup> So what I am going to do is as though I will gather those who you think have loved you and those whom you hated. I will gather them around you to attack you, and what I will do is as though I will strip your clothes off you, and they will see you when you are completely naked.<sup>38</sup> I will punish you like women who commit adultery and who murder people are punished. I will get revenge on you and get rid of you because I am extremely angry with you.<sup>39</sup> I will allow your enemies who you thought loved you break apart your high places of idol worship and pagan altars. They will strip you naked and keep your clothes and jewelry, and abandon you with nothing to cover yourself with.<sup>40</sup> They will bring a mob to attack you, and that mob will throw stones at you and cut you to pieces with their swords.<sup>41</sup> They will burn down your houses and punish you while many women are watching. I will let them do this so that you will learn a lesson for acting so adulterously and for paying people to sleep with you.<sup>42</sup> Then I will no longer be angry with you. I will stop being jealous because your punishment will satisfy me.

<sup>43</sup>You have forgotten the wonderful things that I did for you in previous years. You have caused me to become extremely angry because of all the evil things that you have done. In addition to all the other detestable things that you did, you committed many sexual sins. So I Yahweh the Lord declare that I will punish you for doing those things.

<sup>44</sup>People who like to quote proverbs will quote this proverb about you: 'Daughters behave like their mothers behave.'<sup>45</sup> You are like your mother; it was as though she detested her husband and her children. You are like your sisters, who also despised their husbands and their children. It was as though your father belonged to the Amor people group and your mother belonged to the Heth people group.<sup>46</sup> And it was as though your older sister was Samaria, and she and her daughters lived to the north of you, and it was as though your younger sister was Sodom, and her daughters lived to the south of you.<sup>47</sup> You not only imitated all their detestable behavior, but you quickly became more sinful than they were.<sup>48</sup> I, Yahweh the Lord, solemnly declare that as surely as I am alive, the people who lived in Sodom and other nearby cities never did the detestable things that you people in Jerusalem and other places in Judah have done.

<sup>49</sup>These are the sins of the people who lived in Sodom, who were like your sister people among them: they were prideful and did not think they would ever be punished. They ignored poor and hurting people around them.

<sup>50</sup>The people of Sodom and nearby cities were proud and did detestable things in my presence, so I got rid of them when I saw what they had been doing.<sup>51</sup> Also, the people of Samaria did not commit half as many sins as you commit. You have done more disgusting things than they have done. You cause the people of Samaria to appear to be good, compared to you.<sup>52</sup> Your sins are worse than their sins, so they seem to be less wicked than you are. So I will punish you more than I punished them.

As a result, you will be ashamed and disgraced.

<sup>53</sup> However, some day I will cause the people of Sodom and Samaria and the cities near to them to prosper again. And I will cause you to prosper again, too. <sup>54</sup> You will be very ashamed of the wicked things that you have done, and that will cause the people of those cities to be encouraged. <sup>55</sup> The people of Sodom and Samaria will prosper again, and you and the people in nearby cities will prosper also. <sup>56</sup> You sneered at the people of Sodom when you were proud, <sup>57</sup> before it was revealed that you were more wicked than she was. And now the people of Edom and the people of Philistia all insult you and despise you. <sup>58</sup> And you are being punished for all your immoral behavior and other detestable things that you do. This is what Yahweh is saying to you!

<sup>59</sup> This is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: I will continue to punish you like you deserve to be punished, because by rejecting the agreement that I made with you, you have despised that solemn agreement that you promised to obey. <sup>60</sup> But I will not forget the agreement that I made with you long ago and I will make an agreement with you that will endure forever. <sup>61</sup> Then you will think about what you have done, and you will be ashamed about those things when you welcome the people of Sodom and Samaria, cities which are like your daughters, but they will not have the same agreement that I will make with you. <sup>62</sup> I will establish my agreement with you, and you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do. <sup>63</sup> Then when I have forgiven you for all your sins, you will think about all the sins that you committed and you will be ashamed. You will never again boast about them, because you will be humiliated." I, the Lord Yahweh, have said so!" This is the Lord Yahweh's declaration."

17 Yahweh gave me another message. He said,<sup>2</sup> "Son of man, tell this story as an illustration to the people of Israel. <sup>3</sup> Say to them, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: A huge eagle that had strong wings and long beautiful feathers of many colors flew to Lebanon. It grasped the top of a cedar tree<sup>4</sup> and broke it off. Then the eagle carried it away to Canaan, a country that had many merchants, and planted it in one of the cities there.'

<sup>5</sup> Then that eagle took a seedling from your country and planted it in a fertile field. He planted it like people plant a willow tree, alongside a stream that had plenty of water. <sup>6</sup> It grew and became a low grapevine that spread along the ground. Its branches turned up toward the eagle, but its roots grew down into the ground. So it became a good vine and produced lots of branches and leaves.

<sup>7</sup> But there was another huge eagle that had strong wings and beautiful feathers. And some of the roots of the vine grew toward that eagle, and its branches also turned toward it, hoping that the eagle would bring more water to it. <sup>8</sup> That happened in spite of the fact that the vine had been planted in good soil, where there was plenty of water, with the result that it had produced branches and produced grapes and had become a very healthy vine.'

<sup>9</sup> Then after you have told that to the people, say to them, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: That vine will certainly not remain healthy. It will be pulled up by its roots by the eagle that planted it, and all its fruit will be stripped off and its leaves will wither. And it will not need someone with strong arms or many people to pull it out by its roots. <sup>10</sup> Even if that vine is transplanted, it certainly will not continue to grow. When the hot wind from the east blows against it, it will completely wither, there where it was planted!'"

<sup>12</sup> "Ask these rebellious Israelite people, 'Do you know what this parable means?' Tell them that it signifies that the king of Babylon went to Jerusalem with his army and captured the king of Judah and his officials, and took them back to Babylon. <sup>13</sup> Then he took one of the king's close relatives, appointed one of them as king, and made an agreement with him, forcing him to solemnly promise to remain loyal. The king of Babylon also took to Babylon the other important citizens of Judah,<sup>14</sup> in order that the kingdom of Judah would not be able to become powerful again. The king of Babylon intended that the kingdom of Judah would not continue to exist if the people did not obey that agreement that he made with the king of Babylon. <sup>15</sup> The king of Judah rebelled against the king of Babylon by sending officials to Egypt to request from them horses and a large army to fight against the army of Babylonia. But the king of Judah will certainly not be sucessful. Rulers who rebel like that and refuse to obey solemn agreements will never escape.

<sup>16</sup>I, Yahweh the Lord, declare that as surely as I am alive, the king of Judah will die in Babylon, in the city where the king of Babylon appointed him to be the king of Judah. He will die because he despised the solemn agreement and refused to do what he promised to do.

<sup>17</sup>The king of Egypt with all his very huge army will not be able to help the king of Judah: The soldiers from Babylonia will build ramps up against the city walls and set up devices to batter the walls. They will enter Jerusalem and kill many of its people. <sup>18</sup>The king of Judah despised the solemn agreement by disregarding the treaty. Although he had solemnly promised to be under the control of the king of Babylon, he sent officials to request help from Egypt. Therefore he will not escape being punished by the king of Babylon.

<sup>19</sup>Therefore this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: Just as surely as I am alive, I will cause the king of Judah to be punished for ignoring the solemn agreement that he made with the king of Babylon and then refusing to obey it, since this violates what I expect. <sup>20</sup>It will be as though I will spread a net to capture him, and he will be caught in it. He will be captured and taken to Babylon and punished because he rebelled against me. <sup>21</sup>Most of his soldiers who try to escape will be killed by their enemies' swords, and those who survive will be scattered in all directions. Then you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

<sup>22</sup>This is also what Yahweh the Lord says: "It will be as though I will take a shoot from the top of a very tall cedar tree and plant it in another place. I will plant it on a very high mountain. <sup>23</sup>It will be as though I will plant it on a mountain in Israel, and it will grow and become a beautiful cedar tree. Many kinds of birds will make their nests in the tree, and they will have shade in its branches. <sup>24</sup>And it will be as though all the trees in the field will know that I, Yahweh, get rid of tall trees and will make little ones grow. I cause big green trees to wither, and I cause dry trees to become green.

I, Yahweh have said this, and I will certainly do what I have said that I will do."

18 Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>2</sup>"You people quote this proverb and say that it is about Israel:

'Parents eat sour grapes,
but it is their children who have a very sour taste in their mouths.'

This means that you think that you must suffer for the sins that your ancestors committed.

<sup>3</sup>But I, Yahweh the Lord, declare that as surely as I am alive, you Israelite people will no longer say this proverb. <sup>4</sup>Everyone who is alive belongs to me. That includes children and their parents; they all belong to me. And it is those who sin who will die because of their sins.

<sup>5</sup>So suppose that there is a righteous person, one who always does what is fair and right.

<sup>6</sup>He does not eat meat sacrificed to idols
on the hilltops;
he does not request help from idols
as the rest of Israel has been doing.

He does not sleep with someone else's wife
or with a woman during her monthly menstrual period.

<sup>7</sup>He does not mistreat people;
if a person borrows money from him and gives him something to guarantee that he will pay the money back, this man always gives it back to that person before the sun goes down.

He does not rob people.
He gives food to hungry people.
He gives clothing to people who need clothes.

<sup>8</sup>When he lends money to people,
he does not do it to make him pay interest.

He does not do things that are evil.
He always decides things fairly.

<sup>9</sup>He faithfully obeys all my laws.
That man is truly righteous;
he will remain alive.

That is what I, Yahweh the Lord,

promise.

<sup>10</sup> But suppose that man has a son who acts violently, who murders people and does any of these other things, even though his father has not done any of them.

<sup>11</sup> He eats meat sacrificed to idols on the hilltops.

He sleeps with other people's wives.

<sup>12</sup> He mistreats poor and needy people.

He robs people.

If someone gives him something to guarantee that he will pay back money that he has borrowed, the unrighteous man never gives it back to him before the sun goes down.

He seeks help from idols.

He does other disgusting things.

<sup>13</sup> When he lends money, he charges interest.

If you think that I will keep such a person alive, you are certainly wrong. Because he has done all those detestable things, I will certainly make him die, and it will be his own fault.

<sup>14</sup> But suppose that man has a son who sees all the sins that his father commits, but he himself does not do those things.

<sup>15</sup> The son does not eat meat sacrificed to idols on the hilltops.

He does not request help from idols.

He does not sleep with other people's wives.

If he lends money to someone, he does not require that person to give him something to guarantee that he will pay the money back.

He does not rob anyone.

He gives food to those who need it.

He gives clothes to those who need clothes.

<sup>17</sup> He does not commit sins, unlike his father, and does not charge interest when he lends money.

He faithfully obeys all my laws.

I will make sure that that person does not die for his father's sins; he will certainly stay alive.

<sup>18</sup> But I will ensure that his father will die for the sins that he committed, because the father cheated and robbed people, and did other things that are evil.

<sup>19</sup> If you ask, 'Why should the man's son not suffer for the evil things that his father did?', I will answer that the son has done what is fair and right and has obeyed all my laws, so he will surely remain alive. <sup>20</sup> It is those who sin who will die because of their sins. I will not punish people because their parents have sinned, or because their children have sinned. I will reward people who live rightly, and I will punish the wicked people, those who live wrongly.

<sup>21</sup> But if a wicked person stops doing all the evil things that he did previously, and if he starts to obey faithfully all my laws, and if he does what is fair and right, he will surely remain alive; I will not kill him. <sup>22</sup> I will not punish him for the sins he committed previously. Because of the good things that he has done since that time, I will allow him to stay alive. <sup>23</sup> I, Yahweh the Lord, declare that I certainly am not happy about wicked people dying. Instead, I am happy when they stop doing wicked things and remain alive as a result.

<sup>24</sup> But if a righteous person stops doing right things and starts to commit sins and does the same disgusting things that wicked people do, I will certainly not allow him to remain alive. I will not think about the righteous things that he did previously. Because he did not faithfully do what pleases me, and because of all the sins that he has committed, he will certainly die.

<sup>25</sup> But you say that I, Yahweh, do not act fairly. You Israelite people, listen to what I say: It is certainly not what I do that is unfair; it is what you continually do that is not fair. <sup>26</sup> If a righteous person turns away from doing what is right and commits sins, he will die for committing those sins. <sup>27</sup> But if a wicked person turns away from doing wicked things and does what is just and right, he will save himself from dying. <sup>28</sup> Because he has thought about all the evil things that he did and has turned away from doing them, I will certainly allow him to live. I will not kill him. <sup>29</sup> But you, the Israelites, say that I do not act fairly. You people of Israel, I always act fairly. It is you who are acting wickedly.

<sup>30</sup>Therefore, you Israelite people, I, Yahweh the Lord, will judge each of you according to what you have done. Repent! Turn away from all your wicked behavior! Then I will not destroy you because of the wrong things you have done. <sup>31</sup>Stop doing wicked things; start thinking in a new way. You Israelite people, do you really want me to kill you because you have sinned? <sup>32</sup>I, Yahweh the Lord, declare that I am not pleased if you die. So turn away from your sins and stay alive!"

19 Yahweh said to me, <sup>2</sup>"Ezekiel, sing a sad funeral song which will be a parable about the leaders of Israel. Say to the Israelite people,

'It is as though your mother had been a brave female lion who raised her cubs among other lions.

<sup>3</sup>She taught one of them to hunt for other animals to kill, and he even learned to kill and eat people.

<sup>4</sup>When people from other nations heard about him, they trapped him in a pit.

Then they used hooks to drag him to Egypt.

<sup>5</sup>His mother waited for him to return, but soon she stopped hoping for that to happen.

So she raised another cub who also became very fierce.

<sup>6</sup>He hunted along with other lions for animals to kill, and he even learned to kill and eat people.

When he roared loudly, everyone was terrified and abandoned everything they owned.

<sup>8</sup>So people of other nations planned to kill him;

and men came from many places to spread out a net for him.

They caught him in it.

<sup>9</sup>They pulled him with hooks in his flesh and put him into an iron cage, then they took him to the king of Babylon.

There they locked him up so that the sound of his voice could never be heard echoing on the hills of Israel.'

<sup>10</sup>It is as though your mother were a grapevine fertilized in blood, and growing up beside a stream.

There was plenty of water, so it had lots of branches and produced a lot of grapes.

<sup>11</sup>That grapevine grew and became taller than all the nearby trees; everyone could see that it was very strong and healthy.

And those branches were good for making scepters that symbolize the power of a king.

<sup>12</sup>But Yahweh became very angry, so he pulled up the vine by its roots and threw it on the ground, where the very hot winds from the desert dried up all its fruit.

The strong branches wilted and were burned in a fire.

<sup>13</sup>Now Yahweh has planted that vine in a hot, dry desert.

<sup>14</sup>A fire started to burn its stem, and then started to burn the branches; it burned all the grapes.

Now not even one strong branch remains; they will never become scepters for a king.'

This funeral song must be sung very sadly."

20 Almost seven years after the Babylonians had taken us Israelites to their land, on the tenth day of the fifth month of that year, some Israeliite elders came to me to ask if I had any message for them from Yahweh.

<sup>2</sup>Then Yahweh gave me a message for them. He said, <sup>3</sup>"Son of man, speak to the elders and tell them that the Lord Yahweh says this: 'You say that you have come to ask if there is any message from me, but as surely as I am alive, I will not allow you to ask for any message from me.'

<sup>4</sup>If you are willing to warn them, remind them of the disgusting things that their ancestors did. <sup>5</sup>Then say to them, 'On the day that I chose you Israelite people to belong to me, I made a solemn oath to your ancestors while they were still in Egypt.' I said to them, 'I am Yahweh, your God. <sup>6</sup>I will bring you out of Egypt and lead you to a land that I have chosen for you. It is the most fertile and beautiful land in the world. <sup>7</sup>Each of you must get rid of the disgusting idols that you love, and the idols which you learned to worship in Egypt, and with which you made it impossible for me to accept you. I, Yahweh your God, am saying this to you.'

<sup>8</sup>But they rebelled against me. They would not pay attention to me. They did not get rid of the disgusting idols they loved; they did not reject the idols that they saw in Egypt. So because I was angry with them, I said that I would punish them in Egypt. <sup>9</sup>But for the sake of my own reputation, I decided to do something for your people so that the other people groups would not laugh at me and say I had no power. I decided that they would see me bring my people out of Egypt. <sup>10</sup>Therefore I led your people out of Egypt and brought them into the wilderness. <sup>11</sup>I gave them all my laws and decrees, in order that they would obey them, and as a result they would live for a long time. <sup>12</sup>Also, I established the Sabbath days to be a reminder between me and them, so they would know that I am Yahweh, the one who sets them apart for my honor.

<sup>13</sup>But the Israelite people rebelled against me in the wilderness also. They did not obey my commands; they rejected them, even though they would have lived a long time if they had obeyed them, and they treated the Sabbath days like any other day. So I said that I would destroy them in the wilderness, because that would show that I was very angry with them. <sup>14</sup>But again, so that the other people groups would not laugh at me, I decided to do something in order to show those people groups that I was still as powerful as when they had seen me bring my people out of Egypt. <sup>15</sup>I solemnly swore to your people in the wilderness that I would not take them into the land that I had promised to give them, a land that was the most fertile and beautiful land in the world. <sup>16</sup>I made this oath, because they had rejected and disobeyed all my laws, and because they were treating the Sabbath days like any other day. And they insisted on worshiping their idols. <sup>17</sup>But I still pitied them, so I did not destroy them in the wilderness. <sup>18</sup>I said to their children, the next generation, 'Do not do the things that your parents always do. Do not worship their idols and so make it impossible for me to accept you. <sup>19</sup>I am Yahweh your God. Carefully obey my laws and commands. <sup>20</sup>Respect my Sabbath days, in order that by doing that, it will remind you that you belong to me.'

<sup>21</sup>But their children also rebelled against me. They did not take care to obey my laws, even though anyone who obeys them will live for a long time; and they also treated the Sabbath days like any other day. So again I said that I would kill them all in the wilderness, and in this way I would stop being angry. <sup>22</sup>But I did not do that. I decided once more to do something so that the other people groups, those that had seen me bring your people out of Egypt, would not laugh and say that I had lost my power. <sup>23</sup>So I swore to them in the wilderness that I would scatter them among many people groups, <sup>24</sup>because they had rejected and disobeyed all my laws, and because they were treating the Sabbath days like any other day—and because they were eager to worship the idols that their parents had worshiped. <sup>25</sup>So I also allowed them to obey laws that were not good, laws that would not help them live a long time. <sup>26</sup>I allowed them to do things that made it impossible for me to accept them: I allowed them to sacrifice their firstborn children in fire. I allowed them to do that in order that they would be horrified at themselves, and in order that they would know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.

<sup>27</sup>Therefore, son of man, speak to the Israelite people. Say this to them, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says to you: This is one way that your ancestors dishonored me by turning away from me.' <sup>28</sup>After I brought them into the land that I had sworn to give them, every time that they saw a high hill or a big green tree, they offered sacrifices to idols there. They made offerings to them, and that caused me to become angry. They presented to those idols their fragrant incense, and they poured out wine offerings to them. <sup>29</sup>Then I asked them,

'What is this hilltop place where you go to worship idols?' So they are still called Bamah, which means 'hilltop.'

<sup>30</sup>Therefore, say this to the Israelite people: 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: Why do you imitate your ancestors in acting in ways that make me unable to accept you? You act like prostitutes, leaving their husbands for other men. In the same way, you have left me to worship disgusting idols.<sup>31</sup> When you sacrifice your children in the fire, you make me unable to accept you. It is the same as when you bow down to your idols. You Israelite people, should I allow you to ask me to direct you in any matter? I, Yahweh the Lord, say that as surely as I am alive, I will not answer if you ask me.'

<sup>32</sup>You say, 'We want to be like the other people groups in the world. We want to worship idols made of wood and stone like they do.' But what you want will never happen.<sup>33</sup> I, Yahweh your Lord, say that as surely as I am alive, I will use my great power to rule over you, and to show that I am angry with you.

<sup>34</sup>With my great power I will gather you from the places to which I scattered you.<sup>35</sup> I will bring you to a wilderness that is surrounded by other nations. There, while I am looking at you, I will judge you.<sup>36</sup> I will punish you, as I punished your ancestors in the wilderness near Egypt.<sup>37</sup> I will make you submit to me; I will force you to obey the covenant that I made with you.<sup>38</sup> I will destroy the people among you who rebel against me. Although I will bring them out of Babylonia, where they are now living, they will not enter Israel. Then you will know that it is I, Yahweh, who have the power to do what I say that I will do.

<sup>39</sup>As for you Israelite people, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: Go and worship your idols now, each of you. But afterwards, you will surely pay attention to me and no longer dishonor me by taking gifts to your idols.<sup>40</sup> I, Yahweh your Lord, declare that there on my sacred hill, Zion, that high hill in Israel, you will bring gifts to me, and I will accept them. I will require you to bring to me gifts and offerings there, and your sacrifices that you will set apart for me.<sup>41</sup> When I bring you out from the other nations to which you have been scattered, I will accept you as though you were fragrant incense. I will show the people of other nations that I have set myself apart as holy, that I might be honored.<sup>42</sup> Then, when I bring you into the land of Israel, the land that I swore to give to your ancestors, you will know that I, Yahweh, have done it.<sup>43</sup> And there in Israel you will remember how you conducted your lives previously, the actions that caused you to become unacceptable to me, and you will hate yourselves for all the evil things that you have done.<sup>44</sup> When I act toward you Israelite people to protect my reputation, and not because of your evil deeds and corrupt behavior, you Israelite people will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do. That is what Yahweh the Lord declares."

<sup>45</sup>Yahweh gave me another message. He said,<sup>46</sup> "Son of man, turn toward the south. Preach about what will happen to that dry land, to the forest there.<sup>47</sup> Say to the forest in the southern wilderness of Israel: Listen to this message that Yahweh the Lord is saying about you: I am about to start a fire in your midst, and it will burn up all your trees, both the green trees and the withered trees. Nothing will extinguish the blazing flames. And the fire will scorch the faces of everyone who lives in that area, from the south to the north.<sup>48</sup> Everyone will see that it is I, Yahweh, who have lit this fire, and no one will be able to put it out."

<sup>49</sup>Then I said, "Yahweh, my Lord, when I tell things like this to people, they do not believe me. They say about me, 'He is only telling parables.'

21 Yahweh gave me another message. He said,<sup>2</sup> "Son of man, turn toward the south. Set yourself against them. Preach against the south and prophesy against the forest in the southern Judean wilderness.<sup>3</sup> Say to them, 'This is what Yahweh says: I am opposed to you, and it will be as though I pull my sword from its sheath to kill both the righteous and the wicked people among you!<sup>4</sup> So what I will do to you will be as though I pull my sword from its sheath and strike you. I will kill everyone, including righteous people and wicked people. I will get rid of everyone, from the south to the north.<sup>5</sup> Then everyone will know that it is as though I, Yahweh, have struck people with my sword, and I will not put it back in its sheath again.'

<sup>6</sup>Therefore, Son of man, groan! Groan in front of the Israelite people very sadly and sorrowfully. <sup>7</sup>And when they ask you, 'Why are you groaning?' tell them that it is because of the news that they soon will hear. Everyone will be very fearful, and their hands will tremble uncontrollably, while their knees become as weak as water. A great disaster will soon occur. This is what Yahweh the Lord is promising."

<sup>8</sup>Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>9</sup>"Son of man, prophesy and say to them, 'This is what the Lord says:

I will sharpen my sword
and polish it.

<sup>10</sup>It will be sharp in order that I can slaughter many people with it;
I will polish it so that it will flash
like lightning.

The people of Judah will not celebrate
about their king's scepter, because it will not resist the sword
that is coming against it.

<sup>11</sup>So I will polish the sword, and the right person will then hold
it in his hand.

Now it is sharp; now it shines,
ready for the killer to use!

<sup>12</sup>So, Son of man, cry and wail, because I will use my sword to kill
my people,
including the leaders of Israel.

That sword will kill them and all the others of my people;
my sword will kill them all,
so beat your chests to show that you are
sad.

<sup>13</sup>I am about to test my people,
and what will happen if the scepter
cannot resist?
That is what I, Yahweh the Lord,
say.

<sup>14</sup>So, Son of man, prophesy;
clap your hands to show that you are very sad about what is going to happen.

My sword will strike my people again and
again;
it is a sword for slaughtering many
people,
while I attack them from every side.

<sup>15</sup>In order that people will be very much afraid

and that many people will die,
I have placed soldiers at every city gate,
ready to slaughter people.

My sword will flash like lightning,
as the soldiers slaughter the people.

<sup>16</sup>I will tell my sword to slash to the right and then to the left,
and to turn in every direction until
no one remains alive.

<sup>17</sup>Then I will clap my hands triumphantly;
and then I will no longer be angry.
That will surely happen because I,
Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>18</sup>Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>19</sup>"Son of man, draw on a map two roads for the king of Babylonia to march on with his army. When they depart from their own country, they will come to a signpost where a single road divides into those two roads. <sup>20</sup>If they take one of those roads, they will attack the city of Rabbah, the capital of the Ammon people group. If they take the other road, they will come to Judah and Jerusalem, a city with walls around it. <sup>21</sup>When the army of Babylon comes to where the road divides, the army will stop, while the king performs magic rituals to decide which road to go on. He will throw arrows; then he will consult his idols about which road to go on, and he will examine the liver of a sheep. <sup>22</sup>With his right hand he will pick up the arrow marked with the name of Jerusalem. He will then command his soldiers to go to Jerusalem. When they arrive there, they will set up rams to batter down the walls, and then the king will give the command for them to slaughter the people. They will shout the battlecry, and they will set up the rams against the city gates. They will build a dirt ramp against the walls around the city, and set walls against the city. <sup>23</sup>The people in Jerusalem who had promised to be loyal to the king of Babylonia will think that those magic rituals must be wrong. They will think that his army should not be attacking them. But he will remind them of the disloyalty of which they are guilty, and he will say that they have violated their agreement with him.

<sup>24</sup>Therefore, tell the Israelite people that this is what Yahweh the Lord says: 'You people have allowed everyone to see that you are openly rebelling against the king of Babylon, and by doing that you have shown that everything that you do is sinful. Therefore he will capture you and take you to Babylonia.'

<sup>25</sup> Also, say to the king of Judah, 'You very wicked king of Israel, it is your time to die. It is the time for Yahweh to punish you.' <sup>26</sup> And this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say to you about your king in Jerusalem, 'Take off the king's turban and his crown, because now things will be different than they were before. I will give power to those who had none, and I will disgrace those who had power.' <sup>27</sup> I will cause the Babylonians to destroy everything. No one will be king of Judah again, not until the man comes who deserves to be king. Then I will make him become king.'

<sup>28</sup> And, Son of man, prophesy and say that this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say about the Ammon people group, and about how I will disgrace them:

'My soldiers have swords and they have pulled out those swords to slaughter many
people.

They have polished them in order to kill
people,
and to flash like lightning.

<sup>29</sup> Your Ammonite prophets have given you false visions about what will happen to you,
and they have held useless
ceremonies that give you false
messages.

So swords will strike the necks of those
wicked people.

The day when I punish them has come,
because they have not been loyal to
me.'

<sup>30</sup> But later the soldiers of Babylon will have to put their swords back into their sheaths,
because the time for them to slaughter their enemies will
end.

I will judge these Babylonians in the country where they were born.

<sup>31</sup> I will pour out my punishment on

them.

Because I am very angry with them,
my breath on them will scorch
them like a fire.

I will allow brutal men to capture them,
men who are experts at killing
people.

<sup>32</sup> They will be like fuel that is burned in a fire.
Their blood will flow in their own
land.

No one will remember them anymore.
That will surely happen because I,
Yahweh, have said it."

22 Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>2</sup>"Son of man, are you ready to condemn the people of Jerusalem? It is a city full of murderers. Remind them of all the detestable things that they have done. <sup>3</sup> Then say, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: By murdering people and by defiling yourselves, by making idols, you people of this city have brought on yourselves the time when I will destroy you. <sup>4</sup> You have become guilty by murdering innocent people. You have made it impossible for me to accept you, by making idols for yourselves. You are bringing your time to an end. Therefore I will cause the other people groups to laugh at you and mock you. <sup>5</sup> People in countries that are near you and people who live far from you will make fun of you, because your city is full of confusion, and because you have made it impossible for me, your own God, to accept you.'

<sup>6</sup> Think about how each of your Israelite kings have used his power to murder people.

<sup>7</sup> Your people do not respect their parents; they have oppressed foreigners; they mistreat orphans and widows. <sup>8</sup> You despise my sacred places and practices, and you treat the Sabbath days like any other day. <sup>9</sup> Among you are men who tell lies in order to cause others to be executed. There are those who go to the hilltops and eat food offered to idols, and they openly perform evil acts. <sup>10</sup> There are men who sleep with their father's wife, and men who sleep with women during their monthly menstrual periods. <sup>11</sup> There are men who sleep with someone else's wife. Some of your men sleep with their daughters-in-law or with their own sisters or half-sisters. <sup>12</sup> There are among you men who accept bribes in order to cause someone to be executed. You charge interest when you lend people money. You become rich by forcing people to give you money. And you have forgotten me, Yahweh.

<sup>13</sup> So I will shake my fist at your unfair profits and at the murderers who live among you. <sup>14</sup> When I finish punishing you, you will no longer be courageous. I, Yahweh, have said what I will do to you, and I will do it. <sup>15</sup> I will scatter you among many people groups, and I will make you stop your sinful behavior.

<sup>16</sup> When the people of other nations see that you have been humiliated, you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

<sup>17</sup> Yahweh then said to me, <sup>18</sup> "Son of man, your Israelite people have become useless to me. They are like dross to me. They are like the useless copper, tin, iron, and lead that remains after silver is melted in a very hot furnace." <sup>19</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: Because you have all become like dross, I will gather you in Jerusalem. <sup>20</sup> People put ore containing silver, copper, iron, lead, and tin in a very hot furnace and melt them in a blazing fire to burn up the impurities. Similarly, I will gather you together inside Jerusalem, and because I am very angry with you, what I will do will be as though I am melting you. <sup>21</sup> It will be as though I am blowing on you with a hot breath that shows that I am very angry, and it will be as though you will melt, <sup>22</sup> as though you will melt like silver melts in a furnace, and then you will know that I, Yahweh, have punished you."

<sup>23</sup> Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>24</sup> "Son of man, say to the Israelite people, 'You are disgusting to Yahweh, completely unacceptable to him. So Yahweh is angry with you. There will be no rain in your country.' <sup>25</sup> Their leaders are like lions that tear apart the animals that they have killed. The leaders destroy their people. They steal treasures and other valuable things from people, and they murder many men and make their wives into widows. <sup>26</sup> Their priests disobey my laws and dishonor my sacred things by saying that there is no difference between things that are sacred and those that are not sacred, and by ignoring my laws about resting on the Sabbath days. As a result, they no longer honor me.<sup>27</sup> Their officials are like wolves that tear apart the animals that they have killed. They murder people in order to get their money.<sup>28</sup> Their prophets try to cover up those sins by saying they have received visions from God. They say, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says,' when I have said nothing to them.<sup>29</sup> The Israeli people force others to give them money, and they rob people. They oppress poor people, and they mistreat foreigners among them by not treating them fairly in the courts.

<sup>30</sup> I looked among them to find a man who would pray for the people and cause them to repent so that I would not need to destroy them. But I did not find anyone.<sup>31</sup> So because I am very angry with them, I will severely punish them for all the wicked things that they have done. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh the Lord, have said it."

23 Yahweh said to me, <sup>2</sup> "Son of man, listen to this parable about Jerusalem and Samaria. Once there were two women, daughters of the same mother.<sup>3</sup> They lived in Egypt. And from the time that they were young women, they became prostitutes. In that land, men fondled their breasts and caressed their young bosoms.<sup>4</sup> The older sister was Oholah, and her younger sister was Oholibah. It was as though they later became my wives. Later they gave birth to sons and daughters. Oholah represents Samaria, and Oholibah represents Jerusalem.

<sup>5</sup> Oholah acted like a prostitute while she was still my wife. She desired to sleep with those whom she loved—soldiers from Assyria.

<sup>6</sup> Some of them were army officers and commanders. They wore beautiful purple uniforms. They were all handsome young men who rode horses.<sup>7</sup> She acted like a prostitute toward all the important Assyrian officials. I could no longer accept her as belonging to me, because she was worshiping all the idols of the men she wanted to sleep with.<sup>8</sup> When she was a young woman in Egypt, she started being a prostitute, and she allowed young men to caress her breasts and have sex with her. When she became older, she did not quit acting like a prostitute.

<sup>9</sup> So I allowed the Assyrian soldiers, whom she wanted to sleep with, to capture her.

<sup>10</sup>They stripped all her clothes off her. They took away her sons and daughters. And then they killed her with a sword. Other women started talking about how she was disgraced, and about how she deserved to suffer.

<sup>11</sup>Her younger sister Oholibah saw those things that happened to Oholah, but she was also a prostitute, and she desired to sleep with men even more than her older sister had desired. <sup>12</sup>Oholibah also wanted to sleep with the Assyrian soldiers. Some of them were army officers and commanders. They all wore beautiful uniforms. They were all handsome young men. And they rode horses. <sup>13</sup>I saw what she did that caused me to be unable to accept her, just like her older sister.

<sup>14</sup>But she did even worse things. She saw drawings of men from Babylonia on the walls, painted in red. <sup>15</sup>The men in the drawings had belts around their waists and long turbans on their heads. They all resembled officers from Babylonia who rode in chariots. <sup>16</sup>As soon as she saw those drawings, she wanted to sleep with those men, and she sent messages to them in Babylonia. <sup>17</sup>Then the soldiers from Babylonia came to her, lay in bed with her, and slept with her. Then she became disgusted with them and turned away from them. <sup>18</sup>But when she continued to openly act like a prostitute and to show herself naked to others, I became disgusted with her and rejected her, as I had rejected her older sister. <sup>19</sup>But she became even more immoral, as she remembered when she was a young woman learning to be a prostitute in Egypt. <sup>20</sup>There she wanted to sleep with those who loved her, whose private parts were very long, like those of donkeys, and whose reproductive emissions were huge, like those of horses. <sup>21</sup>So she desired to be immoral like she was when she was young, when men in Egypt caressed her bosom and fondled her young breasts.

<sup>22</sup>Oholibah represents you people of Jerusalem. Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord say: Those soldiers who loved you but from whom you turned away because you became disgusted with them—I will make them angry with you. I will make them come and attack you from every side—<sup>23</sup>soldiers from Babylon and all the other places in Babylonia, and their allies from the regions of Pekod, Shoa, and Koa, and all the army of Assyria. Yes, all of them are handsome young men, army officers and commanders, officers who have great fame, all riding on horses. <sup>24</sup>Their huge army will attack you with weapons, riding in chariots and pulling wagons that will carry the army supplies. They will surround you, carrying large and small shields, and wearing helmets. I will allow them to capture you and punish you in the way that they always punish their enemies. <sup>25</sup>Because I am very angry with you, I will cause them to act furiously toward you. They will cut off your noses and your ears. Then, those who are still alive, they will kill with their swords. They will take away your sons and daughters, and it will be like a fire that burns up your descendants. <sup>26</sup>They will strip off your clothes and your fine jewelry, and they will take them away. <sup>27</sup>In that way, I will stop all the immoral behavior that began when you became a prostitute in Egypt. You will no longer desire to do those things; you will no longer think about what you did in Egypt.

<sup>28</sup>This is what I, Yahweh the Lord say: Those whom you hate, those with whom you became disgusted and from whom you turned away—I am about to allow them to capture you. <sup>29</sup>They will be cruel; they will take away everything that you own. They will leave you completely naked, and everyone will see that you truly are a prostitute. <sup>30</sup>It is because of what you have done that you will be punished in that way; you have been an immoral prostitute; you have slept with men of other nations, and you have made it impossible for me to accept you, because you have worshiped their idols. <sup>31</sup>You have behaved like the people of Samaria, who are like your older sister. So I will cause you to be punished as they were punished.

<sup>32</sup>This is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: You will suffer when you drink from a cup that is deep and large.

It will be as though you will drink from the same cup that the people of Samaria drank from.

And it is because you will drink what it is in that cup, many people will scorn
you and make fun of you,
because when you drink from the cup it will make you drunk and then you will be overcome with sadness.

<sup>33</sup> When you become very drunk, you will become very sad, because drinking what is in that cup will cause you to be ruined; everyone will leave you.

This is what happened to the people of Samaria, who are like your sister.

<sup>34</sup> You will drink all the liquid that is in that cup; then you will break that cup into pieces and use those pieces to cut your breasts because you will be very sad.

That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it.

<sup>35</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: Because you have forgotten me and rejected me, I must punish you for your immoral behavior and for being a prostitute."

<sup>36</sup> Yahweh said to me, "Son of man, judge the people of those two cities represented by Oholah and Oholibah. You must remind them of their detestable behavior. <sup>37</sup> It is as though they have committed adultery and have murdered people. They have been unfaithful to me by worshiping idols. They have even sacrificed their own children, who belonged to me, in fire. <sup>38</sup> They have done other disgraceful things: they have caused my temple to be an unacceptable place for worship, and they treat the Sabbath days like any other day. <sup>39</sup> On the same day that they sacrificed their children to their idols, they entered my temple, which caused it to be an unacceptable place for worshiping me. They did these things in my own house!"

<sup>40</sup> They sent messages to men in countries far away. And as those men were coming, the two sisters bathed themselves for them, painted their eyebrows, and put on jewelry. <sup>41</sup> They sat on a beautiful couch, with a table in front of it on which they had put incense and olive oil that belonged to me.

<sup>42</sup> Soon there was a noisy crowd around them. Among the crowd there were drunkards who had come from the desert of Arabia. They put bracelets on the arms of the two sisters, and they put beautiful crowns on their heads.

<sup>43</sup> Then I said about the woman who had become exhausted by sleeping with many men, 'Now those men will act toward her as though she were a prostitute, because that is all that she is.' <sup>44</sup> So they slept with those two women, Oholah and Oholibah, as men sleep with prostitutes. <sup>45</sup> But righteous men will condemn them to be punished, as women who commit adultery and who murder others are punished, because those women commit adultery and they murder others.

<sup>46</sup> So this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: Bring a mob to attack Samaria and Jerusalem, and allow that mob to cause the people of those cities to be terrified; allow the mob to rob them. <sup>47</sup> The mob will throw stones at them to kill them; they will cut them into pieces with their swords, they will kill their sons and daughters, and they will burn down their houses.

<sup>48</sup> In that way I will cause them to stop their immoral behavior. This will warn other women to not imitate what you people of Jerusalem are doing. <sup>49</sup> I will punish you people of Jerusalem for your immoral behavior and for worshiping idols. Then you will know that I, Yahweh the Lord, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

24 Almost nine years after the Babylonians had taken us Israelites to their land, on the tenth day of the tenth month of that year, Yahweh gave me this message: <sup>2</sup> "Son of man, write down what day of the month this is. On this day the army of the king of Babylon has surrounded Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup> Tell those rebellious Israelite people in Babylon a parable. Say this to them: This is what Yahweh the Lord says:

'Pour water into the cooking pot
and put the pot on the fire.'

<sup>4</sup> Put into the pot some pieces of meat
from one of your best sheep:
put in the leg and shoulder, which are the best pieces.'

Then fill the rest of the pot with the best
bones.'

<sup>5</sup> Pile wood on the fire, and cook the bones and the meat in the boiling water.'

<sup>6</sup> Do that because this is what Yahweh the Lord says:

"Terrible things will happen to Jerusalem; it is city that is full of murderers, a city that is like a corroded copper pot, and the corrosion cannot be removed.

Take the pieces of meat out of the pot, but do not choose which pieces to take out.

<sup>7</sup> The blood of the people who were murdered in Jerusalem is still there; they were murdered on the bare rocks, not on the soil, where their blood could be covered.

<sup>8</sup> But I am the one who caused the blood of those who were murdered to be smeared on the bare rock, where their blood could not be covered;

I did that in order that I could see it and then be angry and get revenge.'

<sup>9</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say:

"Terrible things will happen to that city that is full of murderers!

It will be as though I also will pile high the wood in the fire.

<sup>10</sup> So heap on the wood and light the fire!

Cook the meat well, and mix some spices with it; cook it until the bones are black.

<sup>11</sup> Then set the empty pot on the coals of the fire until the pot becomes very hot and the copper glows,

so that the corrosion will disappear.

<sup>12</sup> It is as though I tried to get rid of that corrosion, but I was not able to do it, not even by putting that pot on the fire.

<sup>13</sup> The corrosion in the pot represents your immoral behavior. I tried to cleanse you from your wicked behavior, but you did not allow me to do that. So you will not be cleansed from the guilt of your sin until I have punished you and I am no longer angry.

<sup>14</sup> I, Yahweh, have said that I will surely punish you. And it is time for me to do that. I will not change my mind; I will not refrain from punishing you, and I will not pity you. I will judge you and punish you as you deserve to be punished for your sinful behavior. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh the Lord, have said it."

<sup>15</sup> One day Yahweh gave me this message: <sup>16</sup> "Son of man, I am going to suddenly take from you your wife by means of a disease, your wife, whom you love very much. But when she dies, do not show that you are sad or lament or cry. <sup>17</sup> Groan quietly; do not cry openly for her. Keep your turban wrapped around your head, and instead of being barefoot, keep your sandals on your feet. Do not cover the lower part of your face to show that you are sad. And do not eat the kind of food that people who are mourning usually eat."

<sup>18</sup> So one morning I talked to the people as usual, and that evening my wife suddenly died. The next morning I did what Yahweh had told me to do.

<sup>19</sup> Then the people asked me, "What do the things that you are doing signify to us?"

<sup>20</sup> I answered them, "This is what Yahweh told me: <sup>21</sup> Tell the Israelite people that I am about to destroy the temple, the building that you are very proud of, the building that you delight to look at. Your children whom you left in Jerusalem when you were forced to come to Babylon—your enemies will kill them.

<sup>22</sup> When that happens, you will do as I have done: You will not cover the lower part of your faces, or eat the kinds of food that people who are mourning usually eat. <sup>23</sup> You will keep your turbans wrapped around your heads and keep your sandals on your feet. You will not mourn or cry, but your bodies will become very thin and slowly die; I will not forgive your sins at all. And you will groan for each other.

<sup>24</sup> Ezekiel will be a warning to you, and you must do what he has done. When that happens, you will know that I, Yahweh the Lord have the power to do what I say that I will do."

<sup>25</sup> Then Yahweh said to me, "Son of man, soon I will destroy their sacred temple, which they rejoice about and which they respect and delight to look at, and I will get rid of their sons and daughters also. <sup>26</sup> On that day, someone will escape from Jerusalem and come and tell you what has happened there.<sup>27</sup> When that happens, you will be able to speak again without constraint. You two will talk together. You will be a warning to the people; and they will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

25 Some time later, Yahweh gave me another message. He said,<sup>2</sup> "Son of man, turn toward where the Ammon people group lives, and prophesy about the terrible things that will happen to them.<sup>3</sup> Say about them, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: You shouted joyfully when my temple in Jerusalem was destroyed, and when the country of Israel was ruined, and when the people of Judah were exiled to Babylon.<sup>4</sup> Therefore, I am going to allow an army of the people in the east to come and conquer you. They will set up their tents in your country and live there. They will eat the fruit from your fruit trees and drink the milk from your cattle.<sup>5</sup> I will cause your capital city of Rabbah to become a pasture for camels, and the rest of Ammon, where your people are now living, to become only a resting place for sheep. Then you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.<sup>6</sup> This is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: You clapped your hands joyfully and stomped your feet, and laughed because you despised the people in the land of Israel.<sup>7</sup> Therefore, I will use my power against you, and I will enable other nations to conquer you and take you away like any other possessions of yours. I will destroy you completely, and you will no longer be one of the nations. When that happens, people will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.'"

<sup>8</sup> This is also what the Lord Yahweh says: The people of Moab south of Ammon and the people of Seir south of Moab despised Israel and said, "The people of Israel have become as unimportant as all the other nations!"<sup>9</sup> Therefore I will destroy the cities that protect the borders of Moab, starting at Beth Jeshimoth, Baal Meon, and Kiriathaim, the finest cities in Moab.<sup>10</sup> I will enable people from the east to conquer Moab and also to conquer Ammon. As the result, just as I will cause Ammon to be no longer remembered by other nations,<sup>11</sup> I will also punish the people of Moab. When that happens, people will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

<sup>12</sup> This is also what Yahweh the Lord says: "You people of Edom are guilty of getting revenge on the people of Judah.<sup>13</sup> Therefore this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: I will use my power against the people of Edom and will get rid of their men and their animals. I will ruin the land from the region of Teman in central Edom to the region of Dedan in the south of Edom, and their enemies will kill many of their men.<sup>14</sup> The Israelite people will use their power to get revenge on the people of Edom. They will show the people of Edom that I have been angry with them and that I will punish them. I will get revenge on the people of Edom. Then they will know that I, Yahweh the Lord, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

<sup>15</sup> This is also what Yahweh the Lord says: "The Philistia people group wanted very much for a long time to get revenge on the people of Judah. They very maliciously wanted to destroy Judah.<sup>16</sup> Therefore this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: I am about to use my power against the Philistia people. I will get rid of the Kereth people group and all those who live along the coast of the Mediterranean Sea.<sup>17</sup> I will get great revenge on them and show that I am angry with them by the way I punish them. And when I get revenge on them, they will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

26 It was almost eleven years after the Babylonians had taken the Israelites to their land, on the first day of the month, Yahweh gave me another message. He said to me,<sup>2</sup> "Son of man, the people of the city of Tyre shouted joyfully and they said about Jerusalem, 'Jerusalem, the city from which traders went to many nations, is now destroyed. Now people from all over the world will come to us to buy and sell things. We will prosper because Jerusalem has now been ruined!'<sup>3</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: 'I am now your enemy, you people of Tyre. I will cause the armies of many nations to come and attack your city, as the waves of the sea beat against the shores.<sup>4</sup> Their soldiers will destroy the walls around Tyre and tear down your towers. The city will be completely destroyed. Then they will scrape away the rubble and cause the city to become a bare rock.

<sup>5</sup> Out in the sea, the part of your city that is on an island will become a place where men spread their fishing nets to dry them. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh the Lord, have predicted it: People from many nations will carry off everything of value in your city.

<sup>6</sup> The people in small villages on the coast near Tyre—your enemies will kill them with their swords. Then people will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.'

<sup>7</sup> This is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say is going to happen: From the north, I am going to bring the most powerful king in the world, King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, with his army to attack Tyre. They will bring horses and chariots, and men who ride the horses and men who drive the chariots; it will be a huge army.

<sup>8</sup> In the battles in the small villages on the coast, their soldiers will kill many people with their swords. Then they will build up walls outside the city of Tyre. They will build a dirt ramp up to the top of the wall, and they will all hold up shields to protect themselves from arrows being shot from the ground. <sup>9</sup> The king will direct the soldiers who operate the rams to batter the wall, and those who will use iron bars to tear down the towers in the wall. <sup>10</sup> The king will have a huge number of horses, and the stamping of their hooves will raise dust to cover the whole city. It will be as though the walls tremble because of the noise made by the horses, the supply wagons, and the chariots when they enter the city where the enemy has broken down the walls.

<sup>11</sup> The horses will trample all of the streets of the city with their hooves. The soldiers will kill the people with their swords; they will cause the monuments that celebrated their strength to collapse.

<sup>12</sup> They will take away all the people's valuable possessions and steal the things that the merchants sell. They will tear down the walls of the houses and destroy their fine houses. Then they will throw into the sea the stones from the walls of those houses and the timber and the rubble. <sup>13</sup> No longer will the people sing noisy songs or play their harps. <sup>14</sup> They will cause the city to become a bare rock and only a place where men spread their fishing nets. And the city will never be rebuilt." Those things will certainly happen because the Lord Yahweh has declared that they will happen.

<sup>15</sup> This is also what the Lord Yahweh says about the people of Tyre: When the people in Tyre groan because the enemy has wounded them, when many people die, and when the enemy destroys the city, the people living along the coast will tremble because they are afraid.

<sup>16</sup> Then all the kings in the cities along the coast will step down from their thrones and lay aside their robes and their embroidered clothes. They will be terrified, and they will sit on the ground, trembling. They will be shocked because of what has happened to the city of Tyre. <sup>17</sup> Then they will sing a sad song about the city, like this:

'The famous city, in which many men who sailed on the seas lived,
is now no more!

The people of that city had great power
as they sailed, but now they are at the bottom of the sea;
they terrified all the people living near them.

<sup>18</sup> But now everyone living along the coast is terrified because the enemy has destroyed the great city.

It is as though the land along the coast itself were trembling;
the people on the islands in the sea are terrified because that city exists no
more.'

<sup>19</sup> This is also what the Lord Yahweh says: 'When I cause everyone to leave the city of Tyre, like people have left other cities in which no one lives any longer, and when I cause the huge waves of the sea to cover the city,<sup>20</sup> then I will bring the people of that city down to be with everyone else who is dead, those who died long ago. I will cause them to live in the place below the earth that is like old ruins, with those who have gone down to that pit previously, and they will never return to the earth, to where people are alive. <sup>21</sup> I will cause them to die in a horrible way, and that will be the end of them. People will search for that city, but it will no longer exist.' This is what the Lord Yahweh declares will happen.

27 Yahweh said this to me: <sup>2</sup> "Son of man, sing a funeral song about Tyre. <sup>3</sup> The city of Tyre is on an island at the edge of the sea, and their merchants traded with people groups who live along many seacoasts. This is what Yahweh the Lord says that you should tell them:

You people of Tyre said that your city was very beautiful.

<sup>4</sup> You controlled what people bought and sold—the people who lived along the sea.

Those who built your city made it very beautiful.

<sup>5</sup> You and your city were like a huge ship that you built from fir trees on Mount Hermon.

Then you took cedar wood from Lebanon to make a mast for the ship.

You made the deck from cypress wood from the island of Cyprus, and you covered the decks with ivory.

<sup>7</sup> You made the sails from fine embroidered linen from Egypt; those sails were like flags that people could see far away.

<sup>8</sup> Men from the cities of Sidon and Arvad pulled your oars; the men who steered the ship were experienced sailors from Tyre.

<sup>9</sup> Experienced craftsmen from Gebal were on board. They caulked the seams of your ships.

Sailors from many countries came in their ships to buy and sell goods with you.

<sup>10</sup> Men who came from the far away lands of Persia, Lud, and Put were soldiers in your army.

They hung their shields and helmets on the walls of your city; this caused many people to admire your city.

<sup>11</sup> Men from the cities of Arvad and Helek were watchmen on your city walls; men from the city of Gammad were in your towers.

They also hung their shields on your walls; they also made your city very beautiful.

<sup>12</sup> Because of the many things that you had to trade, men from Tarshish sent merchants who brought silver, iron, tin, and lead to trade for things that you had.

<sup>13</sup> Merchants from the regions of Greece, Tubal, and Meshech brought slaves and things made from bronze to trade for things that you had.

<sup>14</sup> Men from Beth Togarmah brought work horses, war horses, and mules to trade for things that you had.

People from many nations by the sea traded with you; they brought ivory and valuable black ebony wood to trade for things that you had.

<sup>16</sup> Because you had very many things to trade, people from the land of Aram brought to you valuable turquoise stones, purple cloth, embroidered cloth, fine linen cloth, and jewelry made from coral and rubies to you.

<sup>17</sup> Men from Judah and Israel brought wheat from the city of Minnith in Ammon, and cakes, honey, olive oil, and ointment to trade for your things.

<sup>18</sup> Because you had very many things to sell, men from the city of Damascus brought wine from the town of Helbon and white wool from the area of Zahar to trade for many things that you had.

<sup>19</sup> Men from the tribe of Dan and Greek men from the area of Izal brought things made of iron, cassia spice, and fragrant calamus seeds to trade for things that you had.

<sup>20</sup> Merchants came from Dedan in southern Edom bringing saddle blankets to trade for things that you had.

<sup>21</sup> Men from Arabia and all the rulers of the region of Kedar sent merchants to trade lambs and rams and male goats for things that you had.

<sup>22</sup> Merchants from Sheba and Raamah in Arabia brought many kinds of very good spices and jewels and gold to exchange for things that you had.

things to trade with you: Blue cloth, embroidered cloth, and rugs of many colors that were rolled up and tied with ropes.

<sup>25</sup>Cargo ships from Tarshish carried all those things that you sold; the warehouses on your island were full of all those things and brought you great honor.

<sup>26</sup>The men who row your ships took the ships full of cargo out onto the large seas.

But now the strong east wind has wrecked those ships.

<sup>27</sup>Everything in the ships has been lost—all the valuable cargo and many of the sailors and ship pilots, the ship workers and merchants and soldiers.

On the day that the ships were wrecked, all their crews sank to the bottom of the sea.

<sup>28</sup>The people in cities along the coast trembled when they heard your ship pilots cry out.

<sup>29</sup>All the men who pulled the oars will leave the ships; the sailors and pilots will come to the shore and stand on the beach.

<sup>30</sup>They will cry aloud because of what has happened to you, and they weep bitterly.

They will throw earth on their heads and roll around in ashes.

<sup>31</sup>They shave their heads to show that they are very sad because of what has happened to you, and they put on rough sackcloth to mourn.

They weep for you very bitterly and mourn for you.

<sup>32</sup>While they wail and mourn because of what has happened to you they sing this sad funeral song:

'There was certainly never a city like Tyre, which now is silent, covered by the waves of the sea.'

<sup>33</sup>The goods that your merchants traded were things that pleased the people of many countries.

Kings in very distant places became rich from the money they made by buying and selling with you.

<sup>34</sup>But now your city is like a ship wrecked in the sea; and everything in it is broken, and it is now at the bottom of the sea.

All of your cargo and your sailors have sunk to the bottom of the sea.

<sup>35</sup>All the people who live along the seacoast are appalled because of what has happened to you.

Their kings are very horrified; they shake with fear as they watch.

<sup>36</sup>The merchants of the other nations shake their heads because it is difficult for them to believe what has happened; now your city has disappeared, and it will not exist anymore."

28 Then Yahweh gave me another message. He said: <sup>2</sup>"Son of man, give to the king of Tyre this message from me, Yahweh the Lord:

You have very proudly claimed that you are a god, and that you are untouchable, since you sit on a throne in a city on an island in the sea!

You boast that you are a god, but you are in reality only a man, not a god.

<sup>3</sup>You think that you are wiser than Daniel was, and you think that you can understand every secret.

<sup>4</sup>Because you were wise and shrewd in business, you have become very rich; you have acquired much gold and silver for your treasures.

<sup>5</sup>Yes, it is true that by buying and selling wisely, you have become very rich; and because you are rich, you have become very proud.

<sup>6</sup>Therefore, Yahweh the Lord says that because you think that you are as wise as a god,

<sup>7</sup>he will bring a foreign army to attack your country, an army that causes other nations

to be terrified.

They will pull out their swords to strike
you,
you who think that you have
marvelous wisdom,
and they will ruin all your beautiful things and make them ugly.

<sup>8</sup> They will bring you down to your grave;
you will die violently
like those who died in the sea.

<sup>9</sup> Then you will certainly not tell those who are killing you
that you are a god,
because they will know that you are not a
god;
you are only a man.

<sup>10</sup> You will die like other people die, those who are unacceptable to God, those whom foreigners kill. That will surely happen because Yahweh has said it."

<sup>11</sup> Yahweh also gave me this message:

<sup>12</sup> "Son of man, sing a sad song about the king of Tyre. Tell him that Yahweh the Lord says this to him:

'You were completely perfect,
extremely wise and handsome.'

<sup>13</sup> You had a wonderful life, because you were in my beautiful garden in Eden.
Your clothes were decorated with many kinds of very valuable stones—

ruby, topaz, emerald, chrysolite, onyx, jasper, sapphire, turquoise, and beryl
stones.

Those stones were set in gold mountings
which I prepared for you on the day that I created you.

<sup>14</sup> I appointed you to be a strong angel to guard the people.

I placed you on my holy mountain,
and you walked among fiery stones.

<sup>15</sup> You were completely good in all that you did
from the day that you were created,
until you started to do wicked
things.

<sup>16</sup> Then you became busy buying and selling things,

you started to act violently,
and you sinned.

So I disgraced you.

You, the angel who was supposed to guard the people—I forced
you to leave my own mountain;
I forced you to leave those fiery
stones.

<sup>17</sup> You were extremely proud because you were very handsome.
Because you loved beautiful things,
you did things that wise people do not do.

So I threw you to the ground,
and allowed other kings who saw
you to laugh at you.

<sup>18</sup> By committing many sins
and by buying and selling things
dishonestly,
you caused the places where people worshiped me to become unacceptable to me.

So I will make a fire that will burn your city down.

Your city will be burned
completely,

and the people who watch it will see that what is left of the city will only be ashes.

<sup>19</sup> All the people who knew what your city was like previously will be appalled.

Now your city will disappear,
and it will not exist anymore."

<sup>20</sup> Then Yahweh gave me another message.
He said, <sup>21</sup> "Son of man, turn toward the city of Sidon, and announce the terrible things that will happen to it. <sup>22</sup> Give the people of Sidon this message from Yahweh the Lord. Tell them:
'I am your enemy, you people of Sidon.

By what I do to you,
I will show you how great I am,
and you will know that it is Yahweh
who punishes you and judges
you with justice.

You will know that I am different from you, and that I will be honored by what I do to you!

<sup>23</sup> I will send a plague on you,
and I will send enemies to come and kill you in your streets.

They will attack you from every direction,
and they will slaughter your people
inside the walls of your city.

Then everyone will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.'

<sup>24</sup>No longer will people who live near the people of Israel hurt them as painful briars and sharp thorns hurt people. And then the Israelites will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

<sup>25</sup>And this is also what Yahweh the Lord says: "I will gather them from distant countries where I have scattered them. And the other people groups will see that I am set apart and honored, when the house of Israel makes their homes in the land I gave my servant Jacob! <sup>26</sup>My people will live safely in Israel; they will build houses and plant vineyards. And when I punish the nearby people groups that despised them, my people will know that it is I, Yahweh their God, who has done this."

29 Almost ten years after the Babylonians had taken us Israelites to their land, on the twelfth day of the tenth month of that year, Yahweh gave me another message. He said to me, <sup>2</sup>"Son of man, turn toward Egypt and proclaim the terrible things that will happen to the king of Egypt and all his people. <sup>3</sup>Give the king this message from me, for I am Yahweh the Lord:

'Know this, Pharaoh, king of Egypt that I, Yahweh, am your enemy.

You are like a great monster that lies in the streams of the Nile River.

You are so bold to say that the Nile River
is yours,
and that you made it for yourself.

<sup>4</sup>But it will be as though I will put hooks in your jaws

and drag you out onto the land,
with fish sticking to your scales.

<sup>5</sup>I will leave you and all those fish to die
in the desert;

you will fall to the ground,
and no one will pick up your corpse to bury you,
because I declare that your body
will be food for the wild animals and birds.

<sup>6</sup>When that happens, all the people of Egypt will know that it is I, Yahweh, who have the power to do what I say that I will do.

The Israelite people have trusted that you would help them. But you have been like a reed pole in their hands. <sup>7</sup>And when they leaned on that pole, it broke and tore open their shoulders. When they leaned on you, you were like a pole that broke in their hand, and as a result you caused their legs to be wrenched and that made it impossible for them to stand.'

<sup>8</sup>Therefore Yahweh the Lord says, 'I will bring Egypt's enemies to attack them with their swords; they will kill Egypt's people and animals. <sup>9</sup>Egypt will become an empty desert. Then the people of Egypt will know that it is I, Yahweh, who has the power to do what he says he will do, and that he will punish the people of Egypt for saying that the Nile River is theirs because they made it. <sup>10</sup>I am against you and your streams, and I will ruin Egypt and make it into an empty desert, from the city of Migdol in the north to Syene in the south, as far south as the border of Cush. <sup>11</sup>For forty years no one will walk through that area, and no one will live there. <sup>12</sup>Egypt will be barren, and it will be surrounded by other abandoned nations. The cities of Egypt will be empty and without people for forty years, and the surrounding lands will be the same. I will scatter the people of Egypt to countries far away.'

<sup>13</sup>But Yahweh the Lord also says this: 'At the end of forty years, I will enable the people of Egypt to return home again. <sup>14</sup>I will bring back the people of Egypt whom their enemies had captured, and I will allow them to live again in the region of Pathros in the south, where they lived previously. But Egypt will continue to be a very unimportant kingdom.

<sup>15</sup>It will be the least important of all the nations; it will never again be greater than the nearby countries. I will cause Egypt to be very weak, and they will never again rule over other nations. <sup>16</sup>When that happens, the leaders of Israel will no longer think of asking Egypt to help them. When I punish Egypt, the Israelites will be reminded that they previously sinned by trusting that Egypt could help them. And the people of Israel will know that Yahweh the Lord has the power to do what he says he will do."<sup>17</sup>

<sup>17</sup> Almost twenty-seven years after we Israelites prisoners had been taken to Babylonia, on the first day of the new year, Yahweh gave me this message: <sup>18</sup>"Son of man, the army of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon fought very hard against Tyre, with the result that their heads were rubbed bare under their helmets, and their shoulders became raw. But Nebuchadnezzar and his army did not get any valuable things from Tyre to reward them for their hard work in that campaign. <sup>19</sup>Therefore, Yahweh the Lord says that he will enable King Nebuchadnezzar's army to conquer Egypt. They will carry away from there all the valuable things, in order that the king can give them to his soldiers. <sup>20</sup>Yahweh says that he will enable them to conquer Egypt as payment for what they did to Tyre, because Nebuchadnezzar and his army were working for him, doing what he wanted them to do, which was to destroy Tyre."

<sup>21</sup> Yahweh said to me, "Some day I will make Israel become a mighty nation. When that happens, I will make them listen to what you tell them. Then they will know that all this has happened because I, Yahweh, will have done this."

30 Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>2</sup>"Son of man, prophesy about what will happen to Egypt. Say that this is what I, the Lord Yahweh, say:

'Weep and wail,
because terrible things will happen
one day that is coming.
<sup>3</sup>That day is near,
the day when I, Yahweh, will punish people;
it will be like a day of full of storm clouds
and disaster for many nations.'

<sup>4</sup>An enemy army will come to attack
Egypt with their swords,
and there will be great distress for the people in Cush.

The enemy army will kill many people in Egypt;
they will take away everything of value,
and they will even tear the buildings down to their foundations.'

<sup>5</sup>Soldiers of Cush, Libya, Lydia, and all the foreigners in the land of Egypt, together with the Jews living in Egypt—they will all die because of war.'

<sup>6</sup>This is what Yahweh says:
'This army will defeat Egypt's allies,
and the power that the people of Egypt are so proud of will end.
From the city of Migdol in the north to the city of Syene in the south, they will kill the soldiers of Egypt's allies.
This is what Yahweh the Lord
declares.'

<sup>7</sup>Egypt's allies' soldiers will be shocked, and her allies' cities will be destroyed, surrounded by ruined cities in nearby nations.

<sup>8</sup>Then, when I cause everything in Egypt
to be burn down,
and when I cause their enemies to defeat all their allies,
people will know that I, Yahweh,
have the power to do what I say that I will do.'

<sup>9</sup>At that time, I will send messengers to go swiftly up the Nile River in boats to terrify the people of Cush, who still think they are safe. They will be horrified when they hear that Egypt has been destroyed. This will soon happen!

<sup>10</sup>This is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say:
By the power of King Nebuchadnezzar
of Babylon
I will destroy very many people in Egypt.'

<sup>11</sup>Nebuchadnezzar and his army, whose soldiers have no pity on anyone,
will come to destroy Egypt.
They will pull out their swords and fill Egypt with the corpses of those whom they have killed.

<sup>12</sup>I will cause the streams of the Nile River to become dry, and I will sell the nation of Egypt to evil men.'

By the power of foreigners
I will ruin the land and everything that is in it.'

That will surely happen because I, Yahweh,
have said it will happen.

<sup>13</sup>This is also what I, Yahweh the Lord,
say:

I will cause the enemy to destroy the idols in the city of Memphis.

No longer will there be a king in Egypt, and I will terrify everyone in the land of Egypt.

<sup>14</sup> I will cause all people to leave the region of Pathros in southern Egypt.

I will start fires in the city of Zoan in northeast Egypt and punish the people in the city of Thebes in southern Egypt.

<sup>15</sup> I will punish the soldiers in the fortress of Pelusium in northern Egypt, and I will destroy the people in Thebes.

<sup>16</sup> I will burn Egypt with fire; the people in Pelusium will suffer severe pain.

Enemies will conquer Thebes, and the enemies of Memphis will attack the people who live there every day.

<sup>17</sup> The enemy will kill many young men in the cities of Heliopolis and Bubastis in northern Egypt, and the people who are left will have to go to Babylon.

<sup>18</sup> It will be a dark day of destruction at the city of Tahpanhes in northeast Egypt

when I cause the power of Egypt to end; that country will no longer be strong.

It will be as though a dark cloud will cover Egypt, because the people of its villages will go to Babylon as prisoners.

<sup>19</sup> That is how I will punish Egypt, and people will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

<sup>20</sup> Almost eleven years after the Babylonians took us Israelites to their country, Yahweh gave me another message on the seventh day of the first month of that year. He said, <sup>21</sup> "Son of man, I have enabled the army of Nebuchadnezzar to defeat the army of the king of Egypt. It is as though I have broken one of the arms of the king of Egypt, and it has not been bandaged in order that it could be healed, and it has not been put in splints in order that after it heals the arm will be strong enough to hold a sword.

<sup>22</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: I am the enemy of the king of Egypt. I will completely destroy Egypt's power; it is as though now I will break both of the king's arms, the good one and the broken one, and cause the sword to fall from his hand. <sup>23</sup> I will scatter the people of Egypt among the nations.

<sup>24</sup> It is as though I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and put a sword in his hand, and as though I will break the arms of the king of Egypt, and he will groan in front of the king of Babylon like a soldier who is wounded and about to die. <sup>25</sup> I will cause the king of Babylon to become stronger and stronger, and the king of Egypt to become completely weak. When that happens, when I make the Babylonian army strong, they will use that power to attack Egypt. <sup>26</sup> I will scatter the people of Egypt among the nations. And when that happens, people will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.

31 Almost eleven years after the Babylonians had taken us Israelites to their land, Yahweh gave me another message, on the first day of the third month of that year. He said,

<sup>2</sup> "Son of man, say to the king of Egypt and to the immense numbers of his people,

'You think that there is no country whose power is as great as the power of your country.'

<sup>3</sup> You think that your country is as great as Assyria was.

Well, Assyria was like a tall cedar tree in Lebanon;

it had big beautiful branches that provided shade for other trees in the forest.

It was very tall; and the branches of the tallest trees made a treetop that was a roof over the forest.

<sup>4</sup> Water came to it from deep springs, and as a result that cedar tree grew tall and very green.

Then water flowed around the base of the tree into channels that took water to other nearby trees in the open countryside.

- <sup>5</sup> That huge tree grew very tall, higher than all the other trees
around it.
- Its branches grew very thick and long because of the abundant water at the base of the tree.
- <sup>6</sup> Birds built their nests in the branches, and wild animals gave birth to their young under those branches.
- And it was as though people of all the great nations lived in the shade of that tree.
- <sup>7</sup> It was majestic and beautiful;
its branches spread out widely because the roots of the tree grew down into the ground where there was a plentiful supply of water.
- <sup>8</sup> The cedar trees in my garden in Eden
were not as great as that tree,
and the branches of the fir trees were not as long and thick as the branches of that cedar tree.
- And the branches of the plane trees were not as long and thick, either.
- No tree in my garden was as beautiful as that cedar tree.
- <sup>9</sup> Because I caused that tree to become very beautiful
because of its magnificent green
branches,
all the leaders of other countries represented by those other trees in Eden envied the country represented
by that tree.'
- <sup>10</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: 'That tree, which represents Assyria, grew very tall; its top was higher than the other trees, and it became very proud because it was so tall. <sup>11</sup> Therefore, I enabled another mighty nation to conquer it, to destroy it as it deserved to be destroyed. I have already discarded it. <sup>12</sup> A foreign army, one that has caused people of other nations to be terrified, cut it down and left it. Its branches fell on the mountains and in the valleys. Some of its branches lay broken in all the ravines in the land. All the people of other nations came out from being under its shade and left it. <sup>13</sup> Birds of the sky settled on the fallen tree, and wild animals lived among its branches. <sup>14</sup> As a result, no other tree, even if the tree has plenty of water, will ever grow to such great height, or lift its top above the branches higher than other trees. They will all certainly die and decay; they will go to the place of the dead; they will go to the grave."

<sup>15</sup> This is what Yahweh the Lord says: "When that great tree was cut down, it was as though the springs that watered it mourned for it, because I caused the plentiful water from the springs to dry up. It was as if I had caused the mountains in Lebanon to mourn for it, and all the trees there to weep. <sup>16</sup> I caused the people of other nations to tremble when they heard that tree fall to the ground—when they heard that Assyria had been destroyed. All the other people groups had also been like beautiful, well-watered trees in Lebanon, but they were comforted when the king represented by that cedar tree arrived among them in the place where they were as dead people. <sup>17</sup> The people represented by the trees that grew in the shade of that huge tree, the allies of the great nation that the cedar tree represents, had also died and gone down to where the dead people are.

<sup>18</sup> This parable is a warning to you people of Egypt. You think that there is no other nation that is as great and glorious as yours is. But your nation will also be destroyed, along with those other nations. Your people will be there among the other people who are not fit to worship me, people who have been killed by their enemies' swords. That is what will happen to the king of Egypt and all his many people." This is what the Lord Yahweh has declared will happen.

32 Almost twelve years after the Babylonians had taken us Israelites to their land, Yahweh gave me another message, on the first day of the twelfth month of that year. He told me, <sup>2</sup>"Son of man, sing a sad song about Pharaoh the king of Egypt. Sing this to him:

'People think that you are like a lion
among the nations;
but you are like a sea monster in the river
thrashing around in the water, churning up the water with your
feet
and making all the water muddy.
<sup>3</sup> But I, the Lord Yahweh, say to you that I will send many people to throw my net over you,

- and that they will haul you up onto the land.
- <sup>4</sup> They will throw you into a field, where I will leave you to your fate.
- I will allow the birds to sit on you, and all the wild animals will eat the flesh of your corpse until their stomachs are full.
- <sup>5</sup> I will cause them to scatter your flesh on the hills and fill the valleys with the parts of your rotting body.
- <sup>6</sup> I will cause them to fill the land with your blood, and also the mountains; they will fill the ravines with your blood.
- <sup>7</sup> When I kill you, I will cover the sky and not allow the stars to shine.
- I will put a dark cloud in front of the sun, and the moon will not shine.
- <sup>8</sup> I will cause the stars in the sky to be dark, and there will be darkness over your entire land; this will surely happen because I, Yahweh the Lord, have said it.
- <sup>9</sup> And I will terrify the people of many nations when they hear how I destroy you, there where I will send you, in countries that you have never known about.
- <sup>10</sup> I will cause many people to be shocked because of what has happened to you; their kings will be horrified and shudder because I destroyed you, when I swung my sword in front of them to kill you.
- At the time that you die, all of them will tremble, fearing that I will kill them, too.
- <sup>11</sup> I, the Lord Yahweh tell you, Egypt, that the swords of the army of the king of Babylon will strike you.
- <sup>12</sup> I will cause the mighty soldiers of Babylonia to kill your best soldiers—the soldiers of Babylonia, who are more ruthless than those of any other nation.

They will cause the people of Egypt to quit being proud, because they will kill very many of your people.

<sup>13</sup> I will destroy all the cattle in Egypt, which graze alongside the streams. As a result, the water in those streams will never again become muddy because of people and cattle walking in them.

<sup>14</sup> Then I will allow the streams in Egypt to become calm again and to flow as smoothly as olive oil flows." This is what the Lord Yahweh announces.

<sup>15</sup> He also says this: "When I cause Egypt to become empty, when I strip off everything that grows on the land, and when I get rid of all the people who live there, people will know that it is I, Yahweh, who have the power to do what I say that I will do.

<sup>16</sup> There will be a sad song that people will sing about Egypt. Women of many nations will sing it; they will chant it about Egypt and all its many people." This will surely happen because Yahweh has said that it would happen.

<sup>17</sup> On the fifteenth day of that same month, Yahweh gave me another message. He said,

<sup>18</sup> "Son of man, wail about the many people of Egypt, because I will send them to the place under the earth, where they and people of other mighty nations will be. I will send them there, along with others, down to the place where the dead are. <sup>19</sup> Say to them, 'You people of Egypt, you think that you are more beautiful than the people of other nations. But you also will descend to the place where the godless dead people are. <sup>20</sup> You will die along with many others whom their enemies have killed. Their enemies have begun to attack, and they will drag away a huge number people of Egypt.<sup>21</sup> In the place where the dead people are, mighty leaders of other countries will make fun of you people of Egypt and your allies. They will say that you have come to lie dead with them, those godless people whom their enemies killed.

<sup>22</sup> The dead of the people of Assyria and their army will also be there. They will be surrounded by the dead of others whom their enemies killed.<sup>23</sup> Their graves will be there in the deep pit, and the dead soldiers of their army will lie around their graves. The dead of all those who had terrified so many others will also be there, for their enemies will have killed them, too.

<sup>24</sup> Many, many people from the country of Elam will be there, too, and Elam's servants, because their enemies will have killed them. These were soldiers who had terrified people in many places. At that time they will lie there in that deep pit below the earth, and they, along with the others who have gone there, will be disgraced.

<sup>25</sup> The people of Elam in their huge numbers will lie there among others who were slaughtered, surrounded by the graves of a huge crowd of other people. While they were alive, they caused people of other nations to be terrified; but they were godless, and now, because their enemies will have killed them, they will lie with others in that deep pit, disgraced.

<sup>26</sup> The dead of all the soldiers of the lands of Meshech and Tubal will be there, surrounded by the graves of a huge crowd. While they were alive, they also caused people in many places to be terrified. They are uncircumcised people whom their enemies will have killed.<sup>27</sup> They will not lie there beside the uncircumcised warriors who have gone to the grave highly honored with their shields over their bodies and their swords under their heads. While they were alive, they terrified many people on the earth.

<sup>28</sup> You king of Egypt, I will kill you also, and you will lie there with other godless people whom their enemies will have killed.

<sup>29</sup> People of Edom will be there, along with their kings and leaders. They were powerful, but I will kill them. They will lie there in the place where the other godless people lie.

<sup>30</sup> All the rulers of countries north of Israel, including people from the city of Sidon, will be there. Because of their power, they terrified other people, but they will lie there. They were godless, and they will lie there along with others whom their enemies will have killed. They, along with everyone else who goes down into that deep pit, will be disgraced.

<sup>31</sup> The king of Egypt and all his army will see them, and they will be comforted about the death of their many people, because they know that there were other huge groups of people whom their enemies killed.<sup>32</sup> While that king was living, I allowed him to terrify others in many countries, but he and his huge army will be there among other godless people whom their enemies have killed." This will certainly surely happen because the Lord Yahweh has said that it would happen.

33 Yahweh gave me another message. He said,<sup>2</sup> "Son of man, speak to your fellow Israelites and say this to them: 'Suppose that I bring an enemy army to attack a country, and the people of that country choose one of their own people to be a watchman.<sup>3</sup> And suppose that he sees the enemy army come into view, and that he blows a trumpet to warn everyone.<sup>4</sup> If anyone hears the trumpet but pays no attention, and if that person then dies because of the enemy, that person is responsible for his own death.<sup>5</sup> If he had paid attention, he would have saved his own life. But as it is, he will die, and it will be his own fault.'

<sup>6</sup> Now suppose that the watchman sees the enemy army coming and does not blow the trumpet to warn the people. Then suppose that one of his people dies because of the enemy. That person will die because of his own mistake, but I will hold the watchman responsible for it.

<sup>7</sup> Son of man, this parable has a meaning for you. I have appointed you to be a watchman for the Israelites. So always listen to what I say, and warn the people for me.<sup>8</sup> When I say to some wicked person, 'You wicked person, you will surely die because of your sins,' you must tell him what I said. If you do not speak to that person to warn him to turn away from his sins, that wicked person will die because of his sins, but I will make you responsible for his death. <sup>9</sup>But if you warn that wicked person that he should turn away from his sins, but if he does not do so, then he will die because of his sins, but you will have saved your own life.

<sup>10</sup>Son of man, say to the Israelite people, "This is what you all are saying: "The guilt that we feel for disobeying God's laws and sinning is like a heavy weight on us, and our sins are hurting us, and we are slowly dying. So what can we do to continue to remain alive?" <sup>11</sup>Say to them, 'Yahweh the Lord says, "As surely as I am alive, I am not happy when wicked people die; I would prefer that they turn away from their wicked behavior and continue to live. So repent! Turn away from your evil behavior! You Israelite people, do you really want to die?"'

<sup>12</sup>Therefore, Son of man, say to your fellow Israelites that if good people start to disobey me, the fact that they were previously righteous will not keep me from punishing them. Similarly, if wicked people turn away from their wicked behavior, they will not die because of those sins. And if good people start to sin, I will not allow the fact that they had been good to keep me from punishing them now. <sup>13</sup>If I tell those who do what is right that they will surely remain alive because of all the good they do, but then if they turn away and become proud of all their good deeds, then I will ignore all the good things that they had done before. I will make sure that they will die because of the evil things that they have done.

<sup>14</sup>Continue to tell the people these things: If I say to some wicked person, 'You will surely die because of your sins,' perhaps that person will stop doing evil and start doing what is just and right. <sup>15</sup>For example, he might return what he took from another person to guarantee that that person would pay back what he owes, or he might return things that he has stolen, or he might obey the laws that will enable those who obey them to remain alive. If this happens, he will surely remain alive; he will not die because of the sins that he committed previously. <sup>16</sup>I will ignore the sins that he previously committed; he will surely remain alive.

<sup>17</sup>Tell the people this: That they say that what I do is not fair, but that it is really what they do that is not fair. Then tell them these things, also: <sup>18</sup>If a good person stops doing what is good and starts to do what is evil, it is fair that he should die because of his sins.

<sup>19</sup>And if a wicked person turns away from his wicked behavior and does what is right and fair, it is fair for him to remain alive because of doing that. <sup>20</sup>Remind the people that they are still saying that what I do is not fair. They can talk all they want, but I will punish each of them for what they do. Tell them this."

<sup>21</sup>Almost twelve years after the Babylonians had taken us Israelites to their land, on the fifth day of the tenth month of that year, a man who had escaped from Jerusalem came to me in Babylon and said, "Jerusalem has been captured!" <sup>22</sup>The evening before that man arrived, Yahweh took control of me. So when that man arrived, Yahweh enabled me to speak again; I was no longer forced to be silent.

<sup>23</sup>Then Yahweh gave a message to me. He said, <sup>24</sup>"Son of man, the people who are living in the ruins in Israel are saying, 'Abraham was only one person, but Yahweh promised him that he and his descendants would possess this land. But we are many; so surely Yahweh has given us this land to possess.' <sup>25</sup>So send a message to them. Say, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: "You eat meat that still has the animal's blood in it. You still worship idols. And you still murder others. So should this land belong to you? <sup>26</sup>You rely on using your swords to obtain things that you want. You do many detestable things. Each of you sleeps with other men's wives. So should you really possess the land of Israel?"'

<sup>27</sup>Send this message to them and tell them that this is what I, the Lord Yahweh, say to them: 'As surely as I am alive, those who are left in the ruins in Jerusalem—their enemies will also kill them. And those who are living in the countryside—wild animals will kill them. Those who are living in forts and caves will die from disease. <sup>28</sup>I will cause your country to become a desolate wasteland. You will no longer be proud of being a strong country. The mountains of Israel will become very desolate, with the result that no one will walk across them.' <sup>29</sup>Then, when I have caused their country to become a desolate wasteland because of all the disgusting things that you have done, they will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

<sup>30</sup> As for you, Son of man, your fellow Israelites here in Babylon stand beside the city wall or at the doors of their houses and are talking with each other. They are saying, 'Come and listen to the message that has come from Yahweh.' <sup>31</sup> My people come to you as they often have done, and they sit in front of you to listen to what you say. But they do not do what you tell them that they must do. With their mouths they say that they love me, but in their inner beings they are eager to acquire things by doing what is unjust. <sup>32</sup> To them, you are only a man who sings them beautiful songs and plays a musical instrument well. They hear what you say, but they do not do what you tell them to do.

<sup>33</sup> The terrible things that I have said will happen to them will surely happen. And then they will know that a prophet has been among them, and that you are that prophet."

34 Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>2</sup>"Son of man, speak my message against the leaders of Israel. They should be taking care of my people, like shepherds take care of their flocks. Say to them that this is what I, the Lord Yahweh, have to tell them: 'You shepherds of Israel, terrible things will happen to you because you take care only of yourselves. You should certainly take care of my sheep.' <sup>3</sup> But you are like shepherds who eat the fat sheep, who slaughter the best animals for their wool. You are not real shepherds at all. <sup>4</sup> You have not taken care of the sick sheep; you have paid no attention to those who are wounded. You have not looked for the sheep who have wandered off. You rule over them with force and violence. <sup>5</sup> Because you did not take care of them, my people have wandered away like sheep. And while they are scattered, wild animals attack and kill them, and then eat their flesh. <sup>6</sup> My people wander like sheep all over the high hills and mountains. They are scattered all over the earth, and no one is searching for them.

<sup>7</sup> Therefore, you who should be acting like shepherds, listen to what I, Yahweh the Lord, have to say to you. <sup>8</sup> As surely as I am alive, my people are like a flock of sheep without any shepherd, and as a result it is as though wild animals have attacked my people and eaten them. You shepherds did not search for them;

instead, you only wanted to provide food for yourselves. <sup>9</sup> Therefore, you who should be shepherds of my people, listen to me. <sup>10</sup> I am opposed to you leaders. I will punish you for mistreating my people. I will remove you from taking care of my people; you will no longer feed yourselves while ignoring them. I will rescue my people from you, and you will no longer be able to butcher them and eat them.

<sup>11</sup> I, the Lord Yahweh, tell you leaders that I myself will search for my sheep and take care of them. <sup>12</sup> As a shepherd takes care of his sheep, I will rescue my people from all the places to which you scattered them, when disasters struck them and they were afraid. <sup>13</sup> I will bring them back from those countries and gather them together again in their own land. I will lead my sheep to good pastureland on the hills of Israel, in the ravines, and in the villages of Israel. <sup>14</sup> My sheep will graze in good pastures on the mountaintops. They will lie down in good grazing areas. <sup>15</sup> I myself will take care of my people and allow them to lie down and rest. This is what I, Yahweh the Lord, promise. <sup>16</sup> I will search for those who are lost; I will bring back the ones who have strayed away. I will bandage those who have been injured and strengthen those who are weak. But I will destroy those who are fat and powerful. I will act fairly toward my sheep, my people.

<sup>17</sup> And as for you, my people, my sheep, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: 'I will judge between each of you; I will separate those who are peaceful from those who are cruel and powerful. <sup>18</sup> You leaders, you who are like strong sheep who do evil to the others: It is bad that you keep the best pastures for yourselves. It is even worse that you trample the good grass with your feet. It is bad that you yourselves drink the clear water. It is even worse that with your feet you cause the rest of the water to become muddy. <sup>19</sup> You are forcing my flock to eat the grass that you have trampled and to drink the water that you have caused to become muddy!'

<sup>20</sup> Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say to you: I myself will judge between those of you who are like the fat sheep and the rest of my people, those who are like the thin sheep. <sup>21</sup> You who are like strong sheep, with your shoulders and buttocks you have shoved

the others away. You butted them with your horns, until you chased them all away from the good pastureland.<sup>22</sup> But I will rescue my people, and you will no longer steal from them. I will judge between one person and another.<sup>23</sup> And I will appoint one leader for them, someone who will be like King David, who served me very well. That leader will take care of them and be like their shepherd.<sup>24</sup> I, Yahweh, will be their God, and the one who is like King David will be their king. That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it.

<sup>25</sup> I will make a covenant with the people of Israel. I will promise to give them peace. I will promise to get rid of all the wild animals in Israel, in order that my people may live safely, even in the wilderness and in the forests.<sup>26</sup> I will bless them, and I will bless all the region close to Mount Zion, where they will worship me in my temple. I will bless them by sending them rain showers at the right season; they will be showers to bless them.<sup>27</sup> The fruit trees will produce fruit, and the ground will produce crops. And my people will live safely in their land. When I rescue them from people who made them slaves, they will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.<sup>28</sup> Soldiers from other nations will no longer take away their valuable possessions, and wild animals will no longer attack them. They will live safely, and no one will make them afraid.<sup>29</sup> I will cause their land to be peaceful and to produce good crops. There will no longer be famines in the land, and people in other nations will no longer mock them.<sup>30</sup> Then they will know that I, Yahweh their God, am helping them, and they will know that they, the Israelite people, are my people.<sup>31</sup> It is as though you, my people, are my sheep whom I take care of, and I am your God. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare."

35 Yahweh gave me another message. He said,<sup>2</sup> "Son of man, turn toward Edom and prophesy what will happen to its people. Say this to them:<sup>3</sup> 'You who live near Mount Seir in Edom, I am your enemy. I will use my power to strike you and ruin your country.'<sup>4</sup> I will destroy your cities, and everyone will leave them. When that happens, you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.

<sup>5</sup> You have always been enemies of the Israelite people. You rejoiced when they experienced a great disaster, when their enemies attacked them, when I was punishing them most severely for the sins that they had committed.<sup>6</sup> Therefore, I, Yahweh the Lord, declare that as surely as I am alive, I will allow your enemies to slaughter you. They will attack you again and again. You enjoyed watching other people die, so I will slaughter you.<sup>7</sup> I will therefore make everyone leave Mount Seir, and I will destroy anyone who enters it or leaves it.<sup>8</sup> I will cause your mountains to be filled with the corpses of those who have been killed. The corpses of those whom your enemies have killed will lie on your hills, in your valleys, and in all your ravines.<sup>9</sup> I will cause your land to be forever without people. No one will live in your towns again. When that happens, you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do.

<sup>10</sup> Your people said, 'Israel and Judah will become ours. We will take over their territory!' You said that even though I, Yahweh, was still there and protecting them.<sup>11</sup> Therefore, I, Yahweh the Lord, declare that as surely as I am alive, I will punish you for being angry with my people, for envying them, and for hating them. And when I punish you, I will make sure that the Israelites know that it is I who have punished you.<sup>12</sup> Then you will know that I, Yahweh, have heard all the disgusting things that you have said about the land of Israel; you said that the land was ruined, and that you could capture it for yourselves.<sup>13</sup> You insulted me; I heard everything that you said about me.<sup>14</sup> So this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: You people who live on Mount Seir and in all the other places in Edom, when I make everyone leave your land, everyone else in the world will rejoice.<sup>15</sup> You were happy when the land of the Israelite people was ruined, so I will do the same thing to your land. When that happens, people will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

36 Yahweh said to Ezekiel, "Son of man, give a message to the hill country and mountains in Israel just as if they were people. Tell them to listen to my message for them.<sup>2</sup> This is it: The enemies of Israel, those people groups who live nearby, are now very happy, because they are saying that Jerusalem has been destroyed, so the ancient mountains of Israel will now belong to them. <sup>3</sup>So you, Ezekiel, must tell the mountains of Israel what I, the Lord Yahweh, am saying to them: 'Armies of other nations attacked you from every direction, and everyone has left you. Those foreign armies are now in your land. They have spoken very maliciously about your people, the Israelites, and have told all kinds of lies about them. <sup>4</sup>Therefore, you mountains of Israel, listen to this message from me. I, Yahweh the Lord, have something to say to you, the hills and mountains, and to you, the ravines and valleys, and to you, the towns and cities which the enemy burned down, where no one is living any longer, from where the enemy has taken everything valuable, and whose people the people groups all around are mocking. "This is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare: I am very angry with the people of Edom and the other people groups; they have insulted your Israelite people and happily taken all their land as pastures. So Ezekiel must speak for me to you, the land of Israel, mountains and hills, valleys and ravines: I, Yahweh the Lord, am very angry because the enemy has insulted you. <sup>7</sup>Therefore, this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: I solemnly declare I will shame the people of the nations that are around you.

<sup>8</sup>But I say to you mountains of Israel that huge crops of fruit will grow on your trees for my Israelite people, because they will soon return home from Babylonia. <sup>9</sup>I will work to help you, and I will be kind to you. I will enable farmers to plow the ground and plant seed in you. <sup>10</sup>I will cause the number of people who live there on you mountains and everywhere else in Israel to greatly increase. People will live in the cities and rebuild houses where there are now only ruins. <sup>11</sup>I will cause the number of people and domestic animals to increase. People will have many children. I will enable people to live there as they did previously, and I will enable them to prosper as they did before. Then you will know that it is I, Yahweh, who have the power to do what I say that I will do. <sup>12</sup>I will enable my Israelite people to walk through your mountains. They will own the land on you; you will belong to them forever. You will always grow enough food for them to eat, so they will never again go hungry and die.

<sup>13</sup>I, Yahweh the Lord, am telling you mountains this: It is true that people have said they could not grow many crops on you, and so they died from hunger. <sup>14</sup>But that will no longer happen. <sup>15</sup>No longer will the other people groups ridicule you mountains. No longer will they laugh at you; no longer will you mountains make your nation suffer defeat. I, the Lord Yahweh, am telling you this myself."

<sup>16</sup>Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>17</sup>"Son of man, when the Israelite people were living in their own land, they defiled it by the things that they did. They made it unacceptable to me. I considered that their behavior was as disgusting as the rags that women use during their monthly menstrual periods. <sup>18</sup>So I severely punished them, because they had murdered many people and because they had worshiped idols there. They made their entire land unacceptable to me. <sup>19</sup>So I made their enemies scatter them into other lands. I punished them as they deserved to be punished because they had done so many evil things. <sup>20</sup>Wherever they went among those lands, they caused other people to mock me, when they should have honored me. Those people have been saying, 'The Israelites belong to Yahweh, but he was not strong enough to protect them. They had to leave the land that he had given to them.' <sup>21</sup>The people of Israel had disgraced me among the people groups to which they had to go, but I deserve that those people groups worship me instead.

<sup>22</sup>So you, Ezekiel, say to the Israelite people that I, the Lord Yahweh, am telling them this: 'You Israelite people, it is not for your sake that I am going to rescue you from your enemies. Instead, I will do this so that the people in these other lands will worship me as God. You have done your best to disgrace me wherever you have gone. <sup>23</sup>I will show that these other people groups should worship me as God, even though they would never know it by watching how you act. When I prove to them that I am powerful and can do anything, then they will know that I will carry out everything that I say I will do. And they will see you honor me as the God who is holy.'

I will gather you from all those places where you had to go, and I will bring you back to your own land.<sup>25</sup> It will be as though I will sprinkle clean water on you, and then you will be clean. I will make you clean from everything that has made me reject you, and I will cause you to stop worshiping idols.<sup>26</sup> I will give you a completely new way of thinking. I will enable you to stop being stubborn, and I will enable you to obey me from your inner beings.<sup>27</sup> I will put my Spirit within you and enable you to carefully obey all my laws.<sup>28</sup> You will again live in the land that I gave to your ancestors. You will be my people, and I will be your God.<sup>29</sup> I will free you from everything that made me reject you. I will cause your grain to be plentiful, and I will not send a famine to you again.<sup>30</sup> I will cause your fruit trees to produce plenty of fruit and your ground to produce plenty of good crops, with the result that the people of other lands will not mock you because you do not have enough food.<sup>31</sup> When that happens, you will think about your previous evil behavior and wicked deeds, and you will be very displeased with yourselves for your sins and the detestable things that you did.<sup>32</sup> But I, the Lord Yahweh, tell you this: It is not for your sake that I will do those things. You Israelite people ought to be ashamed of your behavior.

<sup>33</sup> I, the Lord Yahweh, also tell you this: At the time that I cleanse you from all the sins that you have committed, I will enable you to live in your cities again and to build houses where there are now only ruins.<sup>34</sup> People who walk through your country will see that you are once again cultivating your land, and that your people are living in it again.<sup>35</sup> Then they will say, "This land that was ruined has become very fertile, like the garden of Eden. The cities that were piles of ruins, empty and destroyed, now have houses around them, and people are living in those cities."<sup>36</sup> When that happens, the people who are still left in the lands that are around you will know that it is I, Yahweh, who have enabled you to rebuild what was destroyed, and to again plant crops in the fields that had nothing growing in them. I, Yahweh, have said that it will happen, and I will cause it to happen.

<sup>37</sup> This is also what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: Again I will answer your pleas for me to make your people become as numerous as sheep.<sup>38</sup> I will make them as numerous as the flocks of sheep that will be needed for offerings in Jerusalem during your regular festivals. The cities that are now ruined will be filled with people, and then you will know that I, Yahweh, have done this."

37 One day Yahweh gave me another vision. In the vision I felt the power of God on me, and by his Spirit he took me to the middle of a valley. It was full of bones of people who had been killed.<sup>2</sup> He led me to walk back and forth among those bones. I saw that there were very many bones there, bones that were very dry.<sup>3</sup> He asked me, "Son of man, do you think that these bones can become living people again?"

I replied, "Yahweh my Lord, only you know if that can happen."

<sup>4</sup> Then he said to me, "Speak a message for me to these bones. Say to them, 'You dry bones, listen to what Yahweh says.'<sup>5</sup> This is what Yahweh the Lord says to you bones: I am going to put my breath into each of you, and you will become alive again.<sup>6</sup> I will fasten tendons to your bones and cause your bones to be covered with flesh. I will cover the flesh with skin. Then I will breathe into you, and you will become alive. When that happens, you will know that I, Yahweh, have the power to do what I say that I will do."

<sup>7</sup> So I spoke to the bones as Yahweh commanded me to speak. As I was speaking, there was a noise, a sound of shaking, and the bones came together, bones joining to each other.<sup>8</sup> While I was looking, I saw tendons fastening to them and flesh covering them, and then skin covered the flesh, but they were not breathing.

<sup>9</sup> Then he said to me, "Son of man, speak a message for me to the wind. Say to the wind, 'Wind, Yahweh says to you, blow from all four directions. Breathe into these people who have been killed, in order that they can come alive again!'"<sup>10</sup> So I said what he commanded me to say, and then breath entered them, and they began to breathe. They became alive and stood up, like a huge army.

<sup>11</sup> Then he said to me, "Son of man, these bones represent all the Israelite people. The people say, 'It is as though our bones are dried up; we can hope for nothing good any longer;

our nation is destroyed.' <sup>12</sup>So speak my message to them and say, 'This is what the Lord Yahweh says: My people, it will be as though I will open your graves and cause your corpses to become alive again. I will bring you back to Israel.' <sup>13</sup>Then when that happens, you my people will know that I, Yahweh, have done this. <sup>14</sup>I will put my spirit in you, and it will be as though you will become alive again, and I will enable you to live in your own land again. Then you will know that it is I, Yahweh, who said that it would happen and who has caused it to happen. That is what I, Yahweh, declare."

<sup>15</sup>Yahweh gave me another message. He said, <sup>16</sup>"Son of man, take a wooden stick and write on it, 'This represents Judah and all the tribes of Judah.' Then take another one and write on it, 'This represents Israel and all the tribes of Israel.' <sup>17</sup>Then join them together to become as though they were one larger wooden stick in your hand.

<sup>18</sup>When your fellow Israelites ask you, 'What does this action mean?', <sup>19</sup>tell them, 'This is what the Lord Yahweh says: One of the pieces of wood in Ezekiel's hand represents Israel and all the tribes of Israel. I am joining it to the piece of wood that represents Judah, to form one stick in his hand.' <sup>20</sup>Then, Son of man, hold up the pieces of wood that you have written on, in order that the people can see them. <sup>21</sup>Say to the people, 'This is what Yahweh the Lord says: I will take you Israelite people out of the countries to which you have been forced to go. I will gather you from all those lands, back to your own land. <sup>22</sup>And I will cause you to again be one nation in your land, on the mountains of Israel. And there will be one king to rule over all of you. Never again will you be two nations or divided into two kingdoms. <sup>23</sup>No longer will you defile yourselves by worshiping idols and disgusting statues of your gods, because I will enable you to stop sinning and to stop rejecting me. You will be my people, and I will be your God.'

<sup>24</sup>The king who rules over them will always come from the family of King David. David was the one who served me well. There will be one shepherd to watch over them and to take care of all of them. They will carefully obey all my laws. <sup>25</sup>They will live in the land that I gave to Jacob, who also served me well;

they will live in the land where your ancestors lived. They and their children and their grandchildren will live there forever, and the one who will be like King David will be their king forever. <sup>26</sup>I will make a covenant with them to give them peace; it will be a covenant that will last forever. I will give them that land again and cause their population to increase. And I will put my temple among them forever. <sup>27</sup>My home, where I will live, will be among them; I will be their God, and they will be my people. <sup>28</sup>Then, when my temple is there again among them, the people of nations will know that I, Yahweh, set apart Israel for my honor."

38 Yahweh gave me another message. He said to me, <sup>2</sup>"Son of man, turn and face Magog, the country where Gog is the king. He is also the ruler of the nations of Meshech and Tubal. Announce my message about the terrible things that will happen to him. <sup>3</sup>Say this: 'This is what the Lord Yahweh says: Gog, you who rule Meshech and Tubal, I am your enemy. <sup>4</sup>It will be as though I will turn you around and put hooks in your jaws and bring you to Israel—you and all of your army, including your horses and the men carrying weapons who ride those horses, and many other soldiers carrying large shields and small shields, all of them carrying swords. <sup>5</sup>Your soldiers also include armies from Persia, Ethiopia, and Put, all of them with shields and helmets — <sup>6</sup>also all the soldiers from Gomer and an army from Beth Togarmah—both of these lands that are far north of Israel. Armies of many nations will come with you.'

<sup>7</sup>Tell Gog this: 'Get ready, and be prepared to be the commander of all those soldiers. <sup>8</sup>At some future time, Yahweh will command you to lead those armies to attack Israel, a country whose buildings have been rebuilt after they were destroyed in wars. Their people will be have been brought back from many nations to live again on the hills of Israel, where no one had been living for long time. Yahweh bring the Israelites back from other lands, and they will be living peacefully. <sup>9</sup>You and all those armies from many nations will go up to Israel, advancing like a great storm. Your army will be like a huge cloud that covers the land.'

<sup>10</sup>But this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: On that day, you will plan to do something very evil.<sup>11</sup> You will say this to yourself: "My army will invade a country where the villages do not have walls around them. We will attack people who are peaceful and think that no one will harm them. Their towns and villages do not have walls with gates and bars."<sup>12</sup> So it will be easy for us to attack these people. They are people who come back together from many countries where they had lived for many years, people who now live safely in their land with all their livestock and other possessions. They are living in the country that is in the middle of the most important countries in the world. Our soldiers will take away all their valuable possessions."<sup>13</sup> Then people of Sheba and Dedan and the merchants of Tarshish will come and say to you, "Are you gathering all your soldiers in order to attack Israel and take away all their silver and gold? Do you plan to take away their livestock and all their other valuable possessions?"

<sup>14</sup> Therefore, Son of man, take my message about Gog and say to him, 'This is what the Lord Yahweh says: At that time, when my people of Israel are living safely, you will certainly think about them.<sup>15</sup> You will come from your place far north of Israel, with the armies of many other nations, all riding horses, a huge army.<sup>16</sup> You will march toward my Israelite people, and your soldiers will cover the land like a huge cloud. Gog, I will bring your army to attack the country that belongs to me, but what I will do to you will show the people of other nations that I am holy.'

<sup>17</sup> This is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say to Gog: In past years, when I gave messages to my servants, the prophets in Israel, there were messages about you. At that time, they said for many years that I would bring your armies to attack my people.<sup>18</sup> So this is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say will happen: When your army attacks Israel, I will be very angry with you.<sup>19</sup> I will be furious, and to show that I am angry, there will be a great earthquake in Israel, where your armies will be.<sup>20</sup> The fish in the sea, the birds, the wild animals, and the animals that crawl on the ground, and all the people on the earth will tremble because of what I will do. Mountains will fall down, cliffs will crumble, and walls everywhere will fall to the ground.<sup>21</sup> Gog, on all the mountains in the country that belongs to me I will cause your soldiers to fight against each other.<sup>22</sup> I will punish you and your soldiers with plagues, and I will kill them. I will send down from the sky, on you and your troops who have come from many lands, huge amounts of rain, hail, and burning sulfur.<sup>23</sup> In this way, I will cause the people of many nations to know that I am very great, and I will show them my holiness. And they will see who I am and they will know that I am Yahweh."

39 Yahweh said to me, "Son of man, speak for me about the terrible things that will happen to Gog. Say this to him: 'Gog, I am your enemy, you who rule Meshech and Tubal.<sup>2</sup> I will turn you around and drag you and your armies from far north of Israel and send you to fight on the mountains of Israel.<sup>3</sup> When you are there, I will snatch your bows from your left hands and cause your arrows to fall from your right hands.<sup>4</sup> You and all the soldiers that are with you will die on the mountains of Israel. I will give your corpses to be food for the birds that eat dead flesh, and to the wild animals.<sup>5</sup> You will die in the open fields. This will certainly happen because I, Yahweh the Lord, have said that it will happen.<sup>6</sup> I will cause many fires to burn in Magog and to all those who live safely in the areas along their coasts, and they will know that it is I, Yahweh, who have the power to do what I say that I will do.'

<sup>7</sup> I will enable my Israelite people to know that I am holy. I will no longer allow them to mock me, and the people groups in the other lands will know that I am Yahweh, the God whom Israel worships and honors.<sup>8</sup> That day is fast approaching. I, Yahweh the Lord, declare that those things will happen soon.

<sup>9</sup> At that time, the people who live in the cities of Israel will go out and gather the weapons from the dead soldiers, and will use them to make fires to cook their food. They will burn the small and large shields, the bows and arrows, the war clubs, and spears. There will be enough weapons to use as firewood for seven years.<sup>10</sup> They will not need to gather firewood in the fields or cut wood from trees in the forests, because those weapons will be all the firewood that they will need. And they will take valuable things from those who took valuable things from them, and steal things from people who stole things from them. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare will happen.

<sup>11</sup> At that time I will create a graveyard for you, Gog, and your soldiers, in the valley east of the Dead Sea. That graveyard will block the road that travelers usually walk on, because you, Gog and all the soldiers of your huge army will be buried there. So it will be named the Valley of Hamon Gog.

<sup>12</sup> For seven months the people of Israel will be burying your corpses. It will be necessary to bury all of them, in order that the land will not be defiled because of any unburied corpses. <sup>13</sup> All the people of Israel will do the work of burying them. The day when I win that victory they will honor me, and they will remember that day forever.

<sup>14</sup> After those seven months are ended, the Israelite people will designate men to go throughout the land to bury any remaining corpses, in order that the land might not remain defiled. <sup>15</sup> When they go through the land, whenever one of them sees a human bone, he will set up a marker beside it. When the gravediggers see the markers, they will pick up the bones and bury them in the Valley of Hamon Gog. <sup>16</sup> There will be a city there named Hamonah. And by doing this work of burying the corpses, they will cleanse the land."

<sup>17</sup> Yahweh said to me, "Son of man, this is what I, the Lord Yahweh, say: Summon every kind of bird and wild animal. Say to them, 'Gather together from everywhere and come to the feast that Yahweh is preparing for you. It will be a great feast on the mountains of Israel. There you will eat men's flesh and drink their blood.' <sup>18</sup> You will eat the flesh of strong soldiers and drink the blood of kings as if they were fat animals from the region of Bashan—as if they were male sheep, lambs, goats, and bulls. <sup>19</sup> At the feast that Yahweh is preparing for you, you will eat fat until your stomachs are full, and you will drink blood until it is as though you are drunk. <sup>20</sup> It will be as though you are eating at a table that I have set up for you. You will eat all you want of the flesh of horses and their riders, strong soldiers of every kind.' That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare.

am powerful, and all the nations will see how I punish them. <sup>22</sup> At that time, the Israelite people will learn that I, Yahweh their God, have the power to do what I say that I will do. <sup>23</sup> And the people of the other lands will know that the Israelites had been forced to go to other countries because they sinned by not being faithful to me. I turned away from them, and I allowed their enemies to capture them and kill many of them. <sup>24</sup> I punished them as they deserved because of their disgusting behavior and sins, and I turned away from them.

<sup>25</sup> Therefore, this is now what I, the Lord Yahweh say: I will now bring back from exile the descendants of Jacob; I will have mercy on all the Israelite people, and I will also make sure that they honor me. <sup>26</sup> When the Israelite people are back in their own country, they will live safely in their land, with no one to cause them to be afraid. They will forget about the disgraceful and unfaithful things that they did previously. <sup>27</sup> When I have brought them back from their enemies' countries and gathered them together in Israel, the people of many nations will know how holy I am because of what I did for my people. <sup>28</sup> The Israelite people will know that I, Yahweh, have done this. They will know that because I forced them to go to other countries, and then I gathered them together in their own country. I will not leave any of them in those countries. <sup>29</sup> I will no longer turn away from them; I will give my Spirit to the Israelite people. This will certainly happen because I, Yahweh the Lord, have said it."

40 Almost twenty-five years after the Babylonians had taken us Israelites to their land, on the tenth day of the first month of that year, almost fourteen years after Jerusalem had been destroyed, Yahweh grabbed hold of me with his power, and he took me in a vision to Israel. <sup>2</sup> He set me on a very high mountain. On the south side of that mountain there were some buildings that looked like part of a city. <sup>3</sup> When he took me there, I saw a man who looked as if he had been made of bronze. He was standing inside the city gate, and he was holding a linen cord and a measuring stick in his hand. <sup>4</sup> He said to me, "Son of man, look carefully at everything that I am going to show you, and pay attention to everything that I say and everything that I will show you, because that is why God brought you here. And then later you must tell the Israelite people everything that you have seen here."

<sup>5</sup>In the vision I saw that there was a wall that completely surrounded the temple area. The measuring stick in the man's hand was three and one-tenth meters long. He measured the wall and it was three and one-tenth meters thick and three and one-tenth meters high.

<sup>6</sup>Then he went to the gate in the temple wall on the temple's east side. He climbed the steps and measured the gateway that faced outward; it was three and one-tenth meters deep.

<sup>7</sup>Next, there were alcoves for the temple guards, each being three and one-tenth meters long and deep. The distance of the wall between each alcove was two and three-quarters meters. The gateway that faced inward, which led to the temple portico, was also three and one-tenth meters deep.

<sup>8</sup>Then he measured the portico that was after the gate; it was three and one-tenth meters long. <sup>9</sup>He also measured the depth, which was three and one-tenth of a meter. The doorposts on either side were one meter thick. This was the portico attached to the temple gate on the gate's inner side, facing the temple. <sup>10</sup>Inside the east gate there were three alcoves for guards on each side of the gate. They all had the same length and depth. And the distance of wall between them was the same.

<sup>11</sup>Then he measured the opening of the gate; it was five and two-fifths meters wide, and the entrance from the gate was seven meters long. <sup>12</sup>Running along in front of the alcoves was a low wall one-half meter high. Each of the alcoves was three and one-tenth meters long on all sides. <sup>13</sup>Then the man measured the gateway's width from the roof of the alcove on one side, to the roof of the alcove on the other side. The distance was 13 and one-half, from one alcove's entrance to that of the other. <sup>14</sup>Then the man measured along the wall that separated the alcoves from each other; it was thirty-two meters long. He measured them as far as the gate's portico. <sup>15</sup>The distance from the entrance of the gate to the far end of its portico was twenty-seven meters. <sup>16</sup>There were narrow windows in the walls of all the alcoves, and also in the inner walls between the alcoves. The portico also had these same windows on its inner side. The wall that ran between the alcoves was decorated with carvings of palm trees.

<sup>17</sup>Then the man brought me to the temple's outer courtyard. There I saw some rooms, and a stone pavement in the courtyard. There were thirty rooms facing the courtyard. <sup>18</sup>The stone pavement was all around the courtyard, and it extended out from the walls into the courtyard for the same distance as the gate entrances. That was the lower pavement.

<sup>19</sup>Then the man measured the distance across the outer courtyard of the temple, between the outer gate and inner courtyard; it was fifty-four meters on the east side, and the same distance on the north side of the courtyard.

<sup>20</sup>Then he measured how long and how wide was the gateway on the north side, which was an entrance into the outer courtyard of the temple complex. <sup>21</sup>There were three alcoves for guards on each side of that gateway. From the gateway to the end of its portico was twenty-seven meters, and they were thirteen and one-half meters wide. <sup>22</sup>It had the same windows, portico, guard alcoves, and palm tree decorations as the east gate had. Like the east gate, there were seven steps leading up to it and its portico. <sup>23</sup>Across the outer courtyard from the north gate was a gate leading to the inner courtyard, just as there was on the east side. The man measured the distance from the north gate to the gate leading to the inner courtyard; it was fifty-four meters in distance.

<sup>24</sup>Then he brought me through the south gateway into the inner courtyard, and he measured the entrance. It measured the same as the other gateways. Its alcoves, its walls between the alcoves, and its entry room measured the same as the ones on the other sides. <sup>25</sup>The gateway and its portico had narrow windows along the walls, as on the other sides. The gateway and its portico measured twenty-five meters long and thirteen and one-half wide. <sup>26</sup>There were seven steps leading up to that gate and its portico. It also had carvings of palm trees on the walls that were between the rooms. <sup>27</sup>Across the outer courtyard from the south gate was a gate opening onto the inner courtyard. The man measured from that gateway to the entrance on the south side of the outer courtyard; it was also fifty-four meters in distance.

<sup>28</sup> Then the man brought me through the south entrance into the inner courtyard, and he measured the south entrance. It measured the same as the other gates. <sup>29</sup> He measured its alcoves, its walls, and its portico with the same measuring standards he had been using. The gate and its portico had windows all around. The gate and its portico measured twenty-seven meters long and thirteen and one-half wide. <sup>30</sup> The porticos of the inner gates, which led to the inner courtyard, were about thirteen and one-half meters long and two and three-quarters meters wide. <sup>31</sup> The portico's entrance faced the outer courtyard. Carvings of palm trees decorated the walls, and there were eight steps leading up to it.

<sup>32</sup> Then the man led me to the east side of the inner courtyard, and he measured the gate. It had the same measurements as the other gates. <sup>33</sup> Its alcoves, walls, and portico measured the same as the others. The gate and its portico had windows all around. The gate and its portico measured twenty-seven meters long and thirteen and one-half wide. <sup>34</sup> Its portico faced the outer courtyard. It also had carvings of palm trees decorating the walls, and it had eight steps leading up to it.

<sup>35</sup> Then he led me to the entrance on the north side and measured it. It measured the same as the other entrances. <sup>36</sup> And its alcoves and walls between them and the entry room all had small windows in the walls. It all measured the same as the other gates. The gate and its portico measured twenty-seven meters long and thirteen and one-half meters wide. <sup>37</sup> Its portico faced the outer courtyard. It also had carvings of palm trees decorating the walls, and it had eight steps leading up to it.

<sup>38</sup> In each of the inner entrances there was a room with a door. They were rooms where the carcasses of the animals that were to be completely burned on the altar were washed.

<sup>39</sup> In each portico were four tables, two on each side. On those tables would be slaughtered the animals that were to be completely burned, also the animals for offerings of sins that people had committed, and offerings that acknowledged their guilt for having sinned against other people. <sup>40</sup> Just outside the inner courtyard, to the left of the steps leading up to its north gate, there were two tables, and to the right of the steps were two more tables.

<sup>41</sup> There were four tables on the outer side of each inner courtyard gate, and there were also four tables on the inner side. The animals to be sacrificed were slaughtered on these tables.

<sup>42</sup> There were also four tables of cut stone for the preparation of the offerings that were to be completely burned, four-fifths of a meter long on each side and one-half meter high. The priests would put on those stone tables the tools for slaughtering all the animals. <sup>43</sup> The meat for the offerings would be placed on those stone tables. There were hooks on which the meat was hung, each with two prongs, each eight centimeters long, fastened to the walls of the porticos.

<sup>44</sup> Outside two of the inner gateways, on the inner courtyard side, there were rooms for those who led in singing during the worship, one on the north side and one on the south side.

<sup>45</sup> The man said to me, "The room whose door faces south is for the priests who are working in the temple. <sup>46</sup> The room whose door faces north is for the priests who are in charge of the work at the altar. They are the descendants of Zadok; they are the only descendants of Levi who are permitted to approach Yahweh while they work for him."

<sup>47</sup> Then he measured the courtyard; it was square, fifty-four meters long and fifty-four meters wide. The altar was in front of the sanctuary.

<sup>48</sup> Then he brought me to the portico of the sanctuary and measured the doorposts and their walls on each side of the entrance; they were about two and three-quarters meters thick. The doorway was seven meters wide, and the sides on each side of it were one and three-fifths meters wide. <sup>49</sup> The portico was eleven meters wide, and its depth was six meters on each side. There were steps leading up to it, and there were columns on each side of the portico.

41 Then in the vision the man brought me to into the holy place in the temple and measured the doorposts on either side of the entrance; they were each three and one-tenth meters wide.<sup>2</sup> The entrance was five and two-fifths meters wide, and the walls of each side of it were two and three-quarters meters long. He also measured the holy place. It was twenty-two meters long and eleven meters wide.

<sup>3</sup>Then he entered the inner room of the temple, the very holy place, and measured the walls to either side of the entrance; each was one meter wide. The doorway was three and one-tenth meters wide, and each of the walls on each side of the entrance was three and four-fifths meters long. <sup>4</sup>Then he measured the inner room; it was eleven meters long and eleven meters wide. Then he said to me, "This is the very holy place."

<sup>5</sup>Then he measured the wall of the temple; it was three and one-tenth meters thick. There was a row of rooms along the outside wall of the temple. Each of those rooms was two meters wide. <sup>6</sup>There were three stories of rooms, with thirty rooms on each story. There were ledges all around the wall of the temple that were supports for the side rooms above. There were no extra supports built into the sanctuary wall. <sup>7</sup>Each of the side rooms was wider than the one below it. The most narrow rooms were built first, at the bottom. Then a wider set of rooms was built over it, and the widest set was at the top. A set of stairs was built from the lowest level through the middle level to the highest level.

<sup>8</sup>I saw that there was a terrace around the temple. The terrace was the foundation for those side rooms; it was three and one-tenth meters high. <sup>9</sup>The outer wall of those side rooms was two and three-quarters meters thick. All around the sanctuary there was an open area between those side rooms. <sup>10</sup>The open areas were near the priests' rooms that were surrounding the courtyard; there was a distance of eleven meters between the two sets of side rooms all around the sanctuary. <sup>11</sup>There were two doors from those side rooms into another open area; one faced north and one faced south. This open area was two and three-quarters meters wide.

<sup>12</sup>There was a large building on the west side of the temple area. It was thirty-eight meters wide, and it had a wall two and three-quarters meters thick and forty-nine meters long.

<sup>13</sup>Then the man measured the temple. It was fifty-four meters long, and the temple courtyard, where the large building was, was fifty-four meters wide. The building and its wall measured the same. <sup>14</sup>The courtyard on the east side of the temple, across the front of the temple, was also fifty-four meters wide.

<sup>15</sup>Then he measured the building on the west side. Including its walls, it was also fifty-four meters long.

The outer walls of the holy place, of the very holy place, and the portico, <sup>16</sup>the inner walls above and below the narrow windows, and the galleries on all the storys—all these things were covered with thin panels of wood.

<sup>17</sup>All the walls inside the temple were decorated with carvings of winged creatures and palm trees; between each figure of a winged creature was a carving of a palm tree. <sup>18-19</sup>Each winged creature had two faces. One face was the face of a human, and one was the face of a lion. Those figures were carved on the walls all around the inside of the temple, and each face looked at the carving of a palm tree. <sup>20</sup>They covered all the walls, from the floor to the wall above the entryway.

<sup>21</sup>At the entrance to the main room of the temple there were square doorposts, all the same in appearance. <sup>22</sup>In front of the very holy place there was a wooden altar. It was one and three-fifths meters high and one meter wide on all four sides. Its corners and base and sides were all made of wood. The man said to me, "This is the table that is in the presence of Yahweh." <sup>23</sup>The holy place and the very holy place had folding doors. <sup>24</sup>Each door consisted of two parts that swung on hinges. <sup>25</sup>On these doors there were carvings of winged creatures and palm trees. There was also a wooden roof over the front portico of the sanctuary. <sup>26</sup>On the side walls of the portico were narrow windows with figures of palm trees carved on the sides of the windows. The side rooms around the temple also had projecting roofs.

42Then in the vision the man led me out of the inner courtyard, through the gate on the north side. We entered the outer courtyard and came to rooms that were facing the northern outer wall. <sup>2</sup>The building with those rooms was fifty-four meters long and twenty-seven meters wide. <sup>3</sup>In that building there was one group of rooms that faced the inner courtyard. The distance between those rooms and the sanctuary, the main temple building, was eleven meters. These rooms were built on three stories. Each set of rooms had a walkway over the set of rooms below it. There were rooms that overlooked the open area of the outer courtyard.<sup>4</sup> To one side of the rooms was a walkway that was five and two-fifths meters wide and fifty-four meters long. All the doors of the rooms were on their north side.<sup>5</sup> Each set of rooms was narrower than the set of rooms below them, because each upper sets had a walkway in front.<sup>6</sup> The rooms on the upper levels had no pillars to support them as there were in the courtyard, because those rooms were supported by the walls of the rooms below.<sup>7</sup> The outer wall ran parallel to the rooms that faced the outer courtyard; this part of the outer wall was twenty-seven meters long.<sup>8</sup> The row of rooms that was along the outer courtyard was twenty-seven meters long, and the row of rooms that faced the temple was fifty-four meters long.<sup>9</sup> The bottom story had an entrance on its east side, coming from the outer courtyard.

<sup>10</sup> On the eastern side, along the outer wall of the outer courtyard, next to the temple courtyard, there was also a set of rooms.<sup>11</sup> There was a walkway in front of them. These rooms were like the rooms on the north side. They had the same length and width, and also the same kind of entrances.<sup>12</sup> There were also doorways into rooms on the south side that were similar to what was on the north side. There was an inside passage with an outer door; the passage had doors into all the rooms. At the east end of the passage was an outside door leading into it.

<sup>13</sup> Then the man said to me, "The rooms on the northern and southern sides that overlook the temple sanctuary are only for Yahweh's special purposes. Here the priests who offer sacrifices to Yahweh will eat their portions of those offerings. Because these rooms are special, they will be used to store the offerings for Yahweh: The flour for the flour offerings, for the offerings for the sins that people have committed, and for the offerings that people make for their sins.<sup>14</sup> When the priests leave the temple, they will not be allowed to immediately enter the outer courtyard. First they must remove the clothes that they had been wearing inside the holy place, because those clothes are special, reserved for their work. They must put on other clothes before they enter the parts of the temple area where the other people gather."

<sup>15</sup> When the man had finished measuring the inside of the temple area, he led me out through the east entrance and measured all the surrounding area.<sup>16-19</sup> He measured the four sides of the area. There was a wall around the area that was two-hundred and seventy meters long on each side.<sup>20</sup> He measured the wall that separated what was sacred from the areas that were not sacred on four sides. The wall was five hundred cubits long and five hundred cubits wide.

43 Then the man brought me to the entrance on the east side.<sup>2</sup> Suddenly I saw the glory of the God of Israel coming from the east. The sound of his coming was like the roar of a rushing river, and all that area shone with his glory.<sup>3</sup> What I saw in this vision was like what I had seen in my earlier visions, first by the Kebar Canal and later when God came to destroy Jerusalem. I prostrated myself on the ground.<sup>4</sup> The glory of Yahweh entered the temple through the east entrance,<sup>5</sup> and then the Spirit lifted me up and brought me into the inner courtyard, while the glory of Yahweh filled the temple.

<sup>6</sup> Then, while the man was standing beside me, I heard someone speak to me from inside the temple.<sup>7</sup> He said, "Son of man, this is my temple, the place where I sit on my throne and where I rest my feet. This is where I will live with the Israelite people forever. The Israelite people and their kings will never again disgrace me by worshiping other gods at their hilltop places of idol worship, or by building lifeless idols of their past kings.<sup>8</sup> Your people placed their altars near mine, and the doorposts of their temples were next to the doorposts of my temple. There was only a wall between them. And they disgraced me by the detestable things that they did. So I was angry and destroyed them.<sup>9</sup> Now they must stop this disgusting worship of idols and these rituals to honor kings' idols. If they stop doing those things, I will live among them forever.

ple what this temple that I have shown you in a vision is like, in order that they will be ashamed of the sins.<sup>11</sup> If they are ashamed of all the evil things that they have done, tell them all about the temple that I showed you: Its design, the exits and entrances, and everything else about it. And tell them all my laws and regulations about worshiping me there. Write all these things down while they watch you, in order that they will be able to faithfully obey them.

<sup>12</sup> And this is the supreme law about the temple: All of the area on top of the hill where the temple will be built must be kept sacred and holy.

<sup>13</sup> These are the measurements of the altar, using the same kind of measuring stick that was used for the temple area: There is a gutter around the altar that is one-half meter deep and one-half meter wide. There is a rim around it that is twenty-three centimeters wide. This will compose the base for the rest of the altar.<sup>14</sup> The lower part of the gutter is one meter high to the lower ledge that surrounds the altar. The lower ledge is one-half meter wide. From that ledge to the upper ledge, it is two meters. That ledge is also one-half meter wide.<sup>15</sup> The hearth at the top of the altar is another two meters high, and there is a hornlike projection that juts up from each of the four corners.

<sup>16</sup> That place at the top of the altar is square, six and one-half meters long on each side.<sup>17</sup> The upper ledge that borders the hearth is also a square, seven and three-fifths meters long on each side, and has a rim all around that is twenty-seven centimeters wide. There is a gutter measuring one-half meter at the bottom of the altar. There are steps leading up to the east side of the altar."

<sup>18</sup> Then the man said to me, "Son of man, this is what Yahweh the Lord says: These are the regulations for sacrificing offerings that will be completely burned and for sprinkling the blood against the sides of the altar when it is built:<sup>19</sup> You must present to the priests a young bull to be an offering for the sins of the priests, the descendants of Levi, from the clan of Zadok, who come near to the altar to serve me.<sup>20</sup> You must take some of the blood from the bull and smear it on the four projections of the altar and on the four corners of the upper ledge, and all around the rim, so I will accept the altar, and to make the altar belong only to me.<sup>21</sup> You must burn that bull outside the temple in the part of the temple area designated for that purpose.

<sup>22</sup> The next day you must offer a male goat that has no defects, to be an offering, so I will accept the altar. Then you must purify the altar again, as you did with the bull that was sacrificed.<sup>23</sup> When you have finished doing all that, you must offer a young bull and a ram, both of them without any defects.<sup>24</sup> You must offer them to me, Yahweh. The priests must sprinkle salt on them and burn them completely on the altar as a sacrifice to me.

<sup>25</sup> Then, each day for seven days you must bring to the priest a male goat to be sacrificed for an offering, so I will accept the altar. You must also sacrifice a young bull and a ram, each without any defect, that the priests will provide.<sup>26</sup> For seven days the priests will consecrate the altar, so I will accept the altar. By doing that they will set it apart for my honor.<sup>27</sup> At the end of those seven days, starting on the following day, the priests will continue to put on the altar offerings to be completely burned and offerings to promise friendship with me. Then I will accept you. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare."

44 Then the man brought me back to the outer entrance to the temple area, the one on the east side, but the gate was shut.<sup>2</sup> Yahweh said to me, "This gate must remain shut. It must not be opened by anyone; no one will be permitted to enter it. It must remain shut because I, Yahweh, the God of Israel, made it to be special to me when I came in through it.<sup>3</sup> Only the ruler of Israel will be permitted to sit inside this entrance to eat food in my presence. He must enter and leave the temple area through this gate."

<sup>4</sup> Then the man brought me through the north entrance to the front of the temple. I looked and saw that the glory of Yahweh filled his temple, and I prostrated myself on the ground.

<sup>5</sup> Yahweh said to me, "Son of man, look carefully, and listen carefully to everything that I tell you about all the regulations concerning the temple. Note carefully the temple entrance and all the exits.<sup>6</sup> Say this to the rebellious Israelite people: 'This is what I, Yahweh the Lord, say: You Israelite people, I will no longer endure the detestable things that you do! <sup>7</sup>In addition to all the other detestable things that you do, you brought into my temple foreign men who had not been circumcised and who knew nothing about how to honor me. By doing that, you caused my temple to be an unacceptable place to worship me, while you offered food and fat and blood, and you disobeyed my covenant with you. <sup>8</sup>Instead of doing what I commanded you to do in regard to my holy things, you appointed foreigners to be in charge of my temple. <sup>9</sup>But this is what I, Yahweh, have said: No foreigners, no men who are not circumcised, no godless people are permitted to enter my temple, not even foreigners who live among you Israelites permanently.

<sup>10</sup>Many of the descendants of Levi deserted me along with most of the Israelite people, and started to worship idols. I will punish them for their sin. <sup>11</sup>I will permit them to work in my temple and to be in charge of the temple gates. They will be able to slaughter the animals that will be completely burned on the altar, and to burn other sacrifices for the people, and they will be able to help the people. <sup>12</sup>But because they helped the people to worship idols and caused many of the people of Israel to sin by worshiping idols, I swear that I will punish them for their sin. <sup>13</sup>They must not come near me to serve as priests. They must not come near any sacred things or the holy offerings. They will be ashamed of the things that they did, of which they are guilty. <sup>14</sup>But I will still put them in charge of the work in the temple, and allow them to do all the work that needs to be done there.

<sup>15</sup>But the priests who are descended from Levi and from the clan of Zadok faithfully worked in my temple when the other Israelites deserted me. So they must come near to me to work for me. They will stand in my presence to offer sacrifices of animals' fat and blood. <sup>16</sup>They are the only ones who are permitted to enter my temple. They are the only ones who are permitted to come near my altar to serve me and do what I tell them to do.

<sup>17</sup>When they enter the gateway into the inner courtyard, they must wear white linen clothes. They must not wear any clothes made of wool while they do their work at the gates of the inner courtyard or inside the temple. <sup>18</sup>They must wear white linen turbans on their heads and linen undergarments around their waists. They must not wear anything that would cause them to perspire. <sup>19</sup>Before they go out into the courtyard where other people are, they must take off the clothes that they have been wearing and leave them in the sacred rooms, and put on other clothes, in order that the people are not consecrated by touching the sacred clothes.

<sup>20</sup>The priests must not shave their heads or let their hair become long; but they must keep their hair trimmed. <sup>21</sup>Priests must not drink wine before they enter the inner courtyard. <sup>22</sup>Also, priests must not marry widows of men who were not priests or women who have been divorced. They are permitted to marry only virgins or widows of other priests. <sup>23</sup>They must teach the people the difference between things that are holy and things that are not, and teach them how to know what things are acceptable to me and what things are not.

<sup>24</sup>If there is a dispute between people, the priests are the ones who must serve as judges and decide matters according to my laws. They must obey all my laws and decrees concerning the sacred festivals, and they must treat my Sabbath days as special for me.

<sup>25</sup>Priests are permitted to go near the corpse of a father or mother or son or daughter or brother or unmarried sister. But they must not defile themselves by going near a corpse of anyone else. <sup>26</sup>If a priest touches the corpse of a close relative, he must perform the rituals to become acceptable to serve me again. After he performs those rituals, he must wait seven days. <sup>27</sup>Then, on the day that he enters the inner courtyard again to serve me in the temple, he must give an offering to remove his guilt for having sinned. That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare.

<sup>28</sup>The priests will not own any land. They will have only what I provide for them. <sup>29</sup>They will eat the offerings made from flour, offerings to remove people's guilt for having sinned, and offerings made when people fail to give to me the things that they are required to give. Everything else in Israel that is dedicated to me will belong to the priests. <sup>30</sup>The best fruits of the first part of each harvest and all the other special gifts will belong to the priests. You must give them the first part of your ground flour, in order that I will bless the people who live in your house.<sup>31</sup> Priests must not eat the flesh of any bird or animal that is found dead or that has been killed by wild animals.

45 When the land of Israel is divided among the twelve tribes, you must present to Yahweh one part of the land to be a sacred district. It will be thirteen and one-half kilometers long and five and two-fifths kilometers wide. This entire area will be reserved for Yahweh.<sup>2</sup> Part of that area, a square about 270 meters long on each side will be left empty all around the temple area. An additional strip of ground, about twenty-seven meters wide, will be left empty all around the temple area.<sup>3</sup> Inside the sacred district, measure a section thirteen and one-half kilometers long and five and two-fifths kilometers wide. It will be where the sanctuary is, and that is the most holy place.<sup>4</sup> It will be the sacred portion of the land for the priests who work in the temple, those who come near to Yahweh to serve him. It will be a place very special for Yahweh, for the priests' houses, as well as for the temple.<sup>5</sup> An area thirteen and one-half kilometers long and five and two-fifths kilometers wide will be for the descendants of Levi who work in the temple. That area will belong to them, and they can build towns there to live in.

<sup>6</sup> Alongside this sacred area will be a section of land that is thirteen and one-half kilometers long and two and three-quarters kilometers wide. It will be for a city where anyone in Israel may live.

<sup>7</sup> The ruler of Israel will have the land that is on each side of the area formed by the temple district and the city. It will extend to the west from the western end of those areas, and to the east from the eastern end of those areas. The far eastern and far western borders of the king's land will measure the same as the parallel borders of those other tracts.<sup>8</sup> This portion of land will belong to the ruler. So the rulers will no longer have any excuse for oppressing my people and stealing their land. They will assign the remaining parts of the land in Israel to each tribe, to be divided up among the people.

<sup>9</sup> This is what Yahweh the Lord says: You rulers of Israel must stop acting violently and oppressing the people! You must do what is fair and right. Stop taking land from the people; stop forcing them off their land!<sup>10</sup> Also, you must use accurate scales and accurate containers for measuring things.<sup>11</sup> The baskets for measuring dry things and containers for measuring liquids must be the same size; each must hold twenty-two liters—called an ephah (for dry measure) and a bath (for liquid measure).<sup>12</sup> When you weigh things, you must use weights that everyone accepts as being correct. The shekel is to be divided into twenty gerahs, and a mina will be worth sixty shekels.

<sup>13</sup> You must present to the ruler one measure of wheat or barley for every sixty measures that you harvest.<sup>14</sup> You must give him one measure of olive oil for every one hundred measures that you produce.<sup>15</sup> Also, Yahweh declares that you must take one sheep or goat from every two hundred in your flocks in the lush pastures of Israel. You must offer a sheep or a goat for various offerings: Burnt offerings and offerings to promise friendship with Yahweh, offerings to atone for the people's sins. "This is the Lord Yahweh's command."<sup>16</sup> All the people in the land must join in bringing these offerings to the ruler of Israel.<sup>17</sup> The ruler must provide the animals to be completely burned on the altar, flour for the offerings made from grain, and wine for the sacred festivals that Yahweh has appointed for the people Israel—including the festivals to celebrate the new moons, and the offerings for the Sabbath days. He must provide the animals for the offerings for the people to become acceptable to God, offerings of flour made from grain, offerings to be completely burned, and offerings to promise friendship with Yahweh, to atone for the sins of the people of Israel."

<sup>18</sup> This is also what the Lord Yahweh declares: "On the first day of the first month of each year you must take one young bull that has no defects and sacrifice it to purify the temple.<sup>19</sup> The priest must take some of the blood of the offering to atone for the people's sins, and he must smear it on the temple doorposts, on the four corners of the upper ledge surrounding the altar, and on the gateposts of the inner courtyard.<sup>20</sup> You must do the same thing on the seventh day of the month for any people who sin accidentally or without knowing that they sinned. By doing that you will purify the temple.

<sup>21</sup> In the first month of each year, on the fourteenth day of the month, you must start to celebrate the Passover festival. The festival will last for seven days. During that time you must not eat any bread made with yeast. <sup>22</sup> On the first day, the ruler must provide a bull as an offering for himself and for the other people of the country. <sup>23</sup> And every day during those seven days he must provide seven bulls and seven rams that have no defects, to be an offering to make it possible for Yahweh to accept the people. <sup>24</sup> He must also provide twenty-two liters of flour as an offering with each bull, and the same amount of flour with each ram, and also four liters of olive oil with each offering of flour.

46 This is also what Yahweh the Lord declares: 'The east gateway of the inner courtyard must be shut during the six days you work each week, but on the Sabbath days and on the days when there is a new moon, the gateway must be open. <sup>2</sup> The ruler must enter the courtyard through the entry room of the gateway, and stand alongside the gateposts of the inner courtyard. Then the priests must sacrifice the animal that will be completely burned on the altar, and also his offering to promise friendship with me. The ruler must worship me at the entrance of the inner gateway, and then he must leave. But the gate will not be shut until that evening. <sup>3</sup> On the Sabbath days and on the days when there is a new moon, the people also must worship me at the entrance of this gate. <sup>4</sup> The offering that the ruler brings to be completely burned on the Sabbath day must be six male lambs and one ram, all with no defects. <sup>5</sup> The offering that he gives with the ram is twenty-two liters of flour, and the flour that he offers with the lambs should be as much as he pleases, along with one liter of olive oil for every twenty-two liters of flour. <sup>6</sup> Then each day that there is a new moon, he must offer a young bull, six lambs and a ram, all with no defects. <sup>7</sup> He must also provide twenty-two liters of flour with the bull, the same amount of flour with the ram, and as much flour as he wants with the lambs, along with one liter of olive oil with every twenty-two liters of flour. <sup>8</sup> When the ruler enters the temple area, he must enter through gate and its entry room, and he must go out by the same way.

<sup>9</sup> When the people come to worship me at the festivals that I, Yahweh, have commanded, those who enter the temple area through the north gateway must go out through the south gateway. And those who enter through the south gateway must go out through the north gateway. People must not go out through the gateway through which they entered; they must go out through the opposite gateway. <sup>10</sup> The ruler must go in when the other people go in, and go out when the people go out.

<sup>11</sup> During the festivals that you hold for me, the king must present twenty-two liters of flour along with a bull or a ram, and as much flour as he wants to with the lambs, along with one liter of olive oil with every twenty-two liters of flour. <sup>12</sup> When the ruler gives an offering that is not required, either one to be completely burned or an offering to celebrate fellowship with me, the gate on the east side must be opened for him. He must then present his offerings like he does on the Sabbath days. Then he will go out, and after he goes out, they must shut the gateway.

<sup>13</sup> In the morning of every day, someone must provide a one year old lamb with no defects to be an offering to me, one that the priests will completely burn. <sup>14</sup> Someone must also provide each morning an offering of flour. It must be three and one-half liters of flour mixed with one liter of olive oil. You must never stop presenting these offerings of flour and olive oil to me, Yahweh, each day. <sup>15</sup> The lamb and the offering of flour and olive oil must be presented to me every morning, to be completely burned on the altar.

<sup>16</sup> This is what Yahweh the Lord declares: If the ruler gives some of his land to one of his sons, to belong to him permanently, it will then eventually belong to his son's descendants.<sup>17</sup> However, if he gives some of his land to one of his servants, the servant is allowed to keep that land until the year of the celebration of Jubilee. Then the ruler must take possession of it again. But if the ruler gives land to his sons, that land will belong to them permanently.<sup>18</sup> The ruler must not take any land that the people own and force them to live somewhere else. The land that he gives to his sons must be from his own property, not from anyone else's property, in order that none of my people will be separated from his own property."<sup>19</sup>

<sup>19</sup> Then, in the vision, the man brought me through the entrance alongside the gateway to the sacred rooms on the north side, the rooms that belonged to the priests, and he showed me a place at the western end.<sup>20</sup> He said to me, "This is the place where the priests will cook the meat of the offerings that people make because they failed to do what they promised Yahweh that they would do, and offerings to cause people to become acceptable to God, and where they will bake bread made with the flour brought as offerings. They will cook those things in their rooms in order to avoid bringing them into the outer courtyard to cook them there, lest someone might be consecrated by touching them."

47 Then in the vision, the man brought me back to the entrance of the temple. There I saw water coming out from under the entrance and flowing toward the east. The water was flowing down the south side of the entrance, to the right of the altar.<sup>2</sup> Then he brought me out through the north gate and led me around to the eastern gate at its exterior side.

the east, I saw that he had a measuring line in his hand. He measured off 540 meters and then led me through water that covered my ankles.<sup>4</sup> Then he measured off another 540 meters and led me through water that was up to my knees. Then he measured off another 540 meters and led me through water that was up to my waist.<sup>5</sup> Then he measured off another 540 meters and led me through water that was now a river that I could not cross, because the water was so deep; to continue farther would have required me to swim.<sup>6</sup> Then he asked me, "Son of man, think about this carefully." Then he led me onto the bank of the river

<sup>7</sup> and back along it toward in the direction from where we had come. There I saw many trees growing on each side of the river.<sup>8</sup> He said to me, "This water flows east and goes down into the Dead Sea. And when the water enters the Dead Sea, it stays fresh and restores the water of the Sea and makes it fresh again.<sup>9</sup> Swarms of fish will live in the water wherever the river flows. There will be many fish in the Dead Sea, because the water that flows into it will cause the salt water to become fresh water. Wherever the river flows, everything alongside it will flourish.<sup>10</sup> Fishermen will stand along the riverbank to catch fish. From En Gedi on the western side to En Eglaim there will be places to spread fishing nets. There will be many kinds of fish, as there are in the Great Sea.<sup>11</sup> But the swamps and marshes along the shore will not become fresh; they will be left to make salt.<sup>12</sup> Many kinds of fruit trees will grow on both sides of the river. Their leaves will not wither, and they will always have fruit. They will bear new fruit every month, because the water that comes from the temple flows continually to the trees. Their fruit will be good to eat and their leaves will be good for healing."

<sup>13</sup> In the vision, Yahweh also said this to me: "Here is a list of the twelve tribes of Israel and the territory that each tribe is to receive. The descendants of Joseph will receive two portions.<sup>14</sup> Divide the land equally among all of the tribes. I lifted up my hand to swear to your ancestors that I would give them this land to own permanently.<sup>15</sup> These will be the boundaries of the land:

On the north side, it will extend from the Mediterranean Sea east along the road to Hethlon, and then on to Zedad, <sup>16</sup> to Berothah, and then on to Sibraim, which is on the border between Damascus and Hamath. The boundary will run as far as Hazer Hattikon, which is on the border of the region of Hauran. <sup>17</sup> So the boundary will extend from the Mediterranean Sea to Hazar Enan on the border between Hamath to the north and Damascus to the south. That will be the northern boundary.

<sup>18</sup> On the east side, the boundary will extend between Hauran and Damascus, south along the Jordan River between the region of Gilead and the territory of Israel, along the Dead Sea as far as Tamar. That will be the eastern boundary.

<sup>19</sup> On the south side, the boundary will extend from Tamar to the springs near Meribah Kadesh. Then it will extend west along the brook of Egypt to the Great Sea. That will be the southern boundary.

<sup>20</sup> On the west side, the boundary will be the Mediterranean Sea, north to a point near Lebo Hamath.

<sup>21</sup> You must distribute this land among yourselves, among the tribes of Israel. <sup>22</sup> You must assign the land as a permanent possession for yourselves and also for any foreigners who are living and raising their children among you. You must consider them to be like native born Israelites, and they must be assigned land among the tribes of Israel. <sup>23</sup> Wherever foreigners are living, you must give them some land to belong to them permanently.' That is what the Lord Yahweh declares."

48 Here is a list of the tribes of Israel and the territory that each tribe is to receive. The northern boundary of Israel will start at the Mediterranean Sea and go east to the city of Hethlon, then to Lebo Hamath, and farther on to Hazar Enan, which is south of Damascus, and it will continue to Hamath. Each tribe will receive land that will extend from the eastern boundary of Israel west to the Great Sea.

The tribe of Dan will receive land alongside the northern border of Israel.

<sup>4</sup> South of Naphtali's land will be territory for the tribe of Manasseh.

<sup>6</sup> South of Ephraim's land will be territory for the tribe of Reuben.

<sup>8</sup> South of Judah's land will be an area that the entire nation will give to me; you will set it apart for special use. The temple will be in the center of this area. It will be as long as any of the portions of land assigned a tribe of Israel.

<sup>9</sup> This special area will be thirteen and one-half kilometers long and five and two-fifths kilometers wide. This is what you will give to Yahweh. <sup>10</sup> Within this special area, these will what you will assign to the priests: you will assign them an area of land measuring thirteen and one-half kilometers on the northern and southern side; and five and two-fifths kilometers on the western and eastern sides. The temple of Yahweh will be in the middle of this special area. <sup>11</sup> The temple area will be for the priests, those set apart for my honor, who are descendants of Zadok. They are ones who served me faithfully and did not turn away from Yahweh as the descendants of Levi did.

<sup>12</sup> When the land is distributed, you will offer that special area to me, for it to be the priests' special portion; it is land that you will treat as very special to me. Next to the priests' territory will be where the other descendants of Levi will live.

<sup>13</sup> The land that you will assign to the descendants of Levi will be the same size as the land that the priests will receive. So together, these two portions of land will be thirteen and one-half kilometers long and about eleven kilometers wide. <sup>14</sup> None of this special land, this best land, may ever be sold or traded or used by other people, because it belongs to Yahweh. It is set apart for him.

half kilometers long and about two and three-quarters kilometers wide will be allotted for other people living in the special area to use. There they may build homes and have pasture-lands, and there will be a city in the middle of this area.<sup>16</sup> The city will be square, two and two-fifths kilometers long on each side.<sup>17</sup> There will be an open area around the city, within the special area, that will be about 135 meters deep in each direction.<sup>18</sup> Outside the city there will be a farming area that will extend five and two-fifths kilometers on the east side and five and two-fifths kilometers on the west side. Men who work there will produce food for the people who work in the city.<sup>19</sup> Those who come from the various tribes to work in the city may also work in this farmland.<sup>20</sup> This entire special area, including the land given for Yahweh's use and the city, will be a square that is thirteen and one-half kilometers long on each side.

<sup>21</sup> The tracts of land to the east and to the west of Yahweh's area and the city will belong to the ruler. One area will extend east to the eastern boundary of Israel, and the other will extend west to the Great Sea. Yahweh's area, which contains the temple, will be in the middle.<sup>22</sup> The area that belongs to the ruler will be between the tribe of Judah to the north and the tribe of Benjamin to the south.

<sup>23</sup> South of Yahweh's area, each of the other tribes will receive one portion of land that extends from the eastern boundary of Israel west to the Great Sea.

Just south of Yahweh's area will be territory for the tribe of Benjamin.

<sup>24</sup> South of Benjamin's land will be the land for the tribe of Simeon.

<sup>25</sup> South of Simeon's land will be the land for the tribe of Issachar.

<sup>26</sup> South of Issachar's land will be the land for the tribe of Zebulun.

<sup>27</sup> South of Zebulun's land will be the land for the tribe of Gad.

<sup>28</sup> The southern boundary of Gad's land will extend south from En Gedi to the springs at Meribah Kadesh, and then to the west along the brook of Egypt to the Great Sea.

<sup>29</sup> This is a description of the land that you must assign to the tribes of Israel, for it to belong to them permanently.' That is what I, Yahweh the Lord, declare.

<sup>30</sup> Here are the city gates: On the north side, which is two and two-fifths kilometers long,<sup>31</sup> there will be three gates. Each gate will have the name of one of the tribes of Israel. The first one will be named for Reuben, the next for Judah, the next for Levi.

<sup>32</sup> On the east side, also two and two-fifths kilometers long, will be gates named for Joseph, Benjamin, and Dan.

<sup>33</sup> On the south side, also two-fifths of a kilometer long, will be gates named for Simeon, Issachar, and Zebulun.

<sup>34</sup> On the west side, also two-fifths of a kilometer long, will be gates named for Gad, Asher, and Naphtali.

<sup>35</sup> The distance around the city would be nine and three-quarters kilometers.

From that time on, the name of the city will be "Yahweh is there."

Daniel

1 After King Jehoiakim had been ruling in Judah for almost three years, King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon came to Jerusalem with his army and surrounded the city so that the city would be weakened before the army attacked. <sup>2</sup> After two years, the Lord gave Nebuchadnezzar's soldiers victory over Jehoiakim, who was the king of Judah. They also took some of the sacred objects that were in the temple of God, and took them to Babylonia in the land of Shinar. There Nebuchadnezzar put them in the treasure house of his god.

<sup>3</sup> Then Nebuchadnezzar commanded Ashpenaz, the chief official in his palace, to bring to him some of the Israelite men whom they had brought to Babylon. These were men who belonged to important families, including the family of the king of Judah. <sup>4</sup> King Nebuchadnezzar wanted only men who were very healthy, handsome, wise, well educated, capable of learning many things, and suitable for working in the palace. He wanted to teach them the Babylonian language so that they could understand the writings of the Babylonians. <sup>5</sup> The king commanded his servants, "Give them the fine, rich foods and wine served to me. Train them for three years and then they will become my servants."

<sup>6</sup> Among the young Israelite men who were chosen were Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, who all came from Judah. <sup>7</sup> Ashpenaz gave them Babylonian names. He gave to Daniel the name Belteshazzar, he gave to Hananiah the name Shadrach, he gave to Mishael the name Meshach, and he gave Azariah the name Abednego.

<sup>8</sup> But Daniel decided that he would not eat the kind of food that the king ate, or drink the wine that the king drank because that would make him ritually defiled. So he asked Ashpenaz, the chief of the king's officials for permission to eat and drink other food so that he might not defile himself. <sup>9</sup> God gave Daniel kindness and compassion in the relationship he had with Ashpenaz. The chief official had great respect for Daniel. <sup>10</sup> He said to Daniel, "My master the king, has chosen what food and drink you should have. If you eat other things and you become thinner and paler than the other young men who are your age, he could order his soldiers to cut off my head because you did not follow his directions."

<sup>11</sup> The chief official assigned a servant to give Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah their food and drink. Daniel spoke to him. <sup>12</sup> He said, "Please test your servants! For ten days give us only vegetables to eat and water to drink. <sup>13</sup> After ten days, see whether we look healthy or not. Also see how those who eat the king's food look. Then you do to us whatever you think is best." <sup>14</sup> The servant agreed to this test. He gave them the food Daniel requested for ten days.

<sup>15</sup> After ten days, he saw that they looked healthier and better nourished than all the young men who had been eating the food the king chose for them. <sup>16</sup> So after that he took away the king's special food and wine, and he only gave them vegetables to eat.

<sup>17</sup> God gave to these four young men wisdom and the ability to study many things that the Babylonians had written and studied. He also gave to Daniel the ability to understand the meaning of visions and dreams.

<sup>18</sup> After three years, the king chose a day when those who were in training would come before him. Ashpenaz, the chief of the king's officials, presented them all to Nebuchadnezzar. <sup>19</sup> The king talked with them and realized that none of the other young men were as capable as Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah. So they stood together, ready to begin their service to the king. <sup>20</sup> In every question requiring wisdom and understanding, the king found these men advised him ten times more effectively than his magicians and those who claimed to speak with the dead. There were none better than these four in his entire kingdom.

<sup>21</sup> Daniel remained there serving the king more than sixty years until the first year that Cyrus became king.

2 One night during the second year that Nebuchadnezzar ruled, he had a dream.

The dream worried him so much that he could not sleep.<sup>2</sup> The next morning he summoned his men who worked magic, those who claimed to speak with the dead, those who gave advice from watching the stars, and the wise men. To test their skill, he demanded that they tell him what he had dreamed. They came and stood before the king.<sup>3</sup> The king said, "I had a dream last night that worries me and I want to know what the dream means."

<sup>4</sup> The men who studied the stars replied to the king, (what follows is written in the Aramaic language). They said, "King Nebuchadnezzar, may you live forever! Tell us your dream and we will tell you what it means!"

<sup>5</sup> But the king replied to them, "I have decided that you must tell me the dream and also tell me what it means. If you do not do this, I will cut you into pieces and turn your houses into piles of dung!<sup>6</sup> But if you tell me what I dreamed and what it means, I will reward you. I will give you gifts and a reward and great honor. So tell me what I dreamed and what it means."

<sup>7</sup> Again they replied, "Tell us what you dreamed, and we will tell you what it means."

<sup>8</sup> The king replied, "I know that you are just trying to get more time because you know that I will do to you what I said that I would do.<sup>9</sup> If you do not tell me what I dreamed, you know what I promised to do to you. I think that you have all agreed to tell me lies and other wicked things before your time is up. So then, you have only one choice. Tell me the dream, and I will know you can tell me what it means."

<sup>10</sup> The wise men replied to the king, "There is no one on the earth who can do what you ask! There is no king, even a great and mighty king, who has ever asked his astrologers or those who claim to speak with the dead, or wise men like ourselves to do something like that!<sup>11</sup> What you are asking us to do is impossible. Only the gods can tell you what you dreamed, and they do not live among us!"

<sup>12</sup> The king was very angry when he heard that, so he commanded his soldiers that they execute all men who were known for their wisdom in all of Babylon.<sup>13</sup> According to the king's command, they set out to find Daniel and his friends, to execute them.

guards, came with soldiers to kill everyone in Babylon who was considered to be wise. So Daniel spoke to him very wisely and tactfully.<sup>15</sup> Daniel asked the captain Arioch, "Why has the king made a decree that must be carried out so quickly?" So Arioch told Daniel all that had happened.<sup>16</sup> Daniel went to talk with the king and requested an appointment with the king so that he could tell the king what the dream was and what it meant.

<sup>17</sup> Daniel went to his house and he told his friends Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah what had happened.<sup>18</sup> He urged them to ask God, who lives in heaven, to help them by telling them the secret of the dream of the king so that they and the other men in Babylon known for wisdom would not be put to death.<sup>19</sup> That night God gave Daniel a vision, and in that vision the secret was made known to him. Then Daniel praised God<sup>20</sup> saying,

"We praise the name of the true God

forever

because he owns all wisdom and

power.

<sup>21</sup> He makes the time move forward,
and he owns the seasons.

He removes every king when he chooses
and gives new kings their kingdom.
He gives wisdom to some, and people
become wise.

He teaches knowledge to those who
understand.

<sup>22</sup> He reveals to us things that are deep and hidden.

He can do this because he knows everything that the darkness
hides from us,
and because the light comes from
where he lives.

<sup>23</sup> God, whom my ancestors worshiped,
I thank you and I praise you because you have caused me to be wise and made me strong.

You have told me what my friends
and I asked you to tell us,
and you have revealed to us what the king demanded to know."

<sup>24</sup> Then Daniel went to Arioch, the man whom the king had appointed to execute everyone known to be wise in Babylon. He said to him, "Do not kill those men of wisdom.

Take me to the king and I will tell him what his dream means."

<sup>25</sup> So Arioch quickly took Daniel to the king. He said to the king, "I have found one of the men whom we brought from Judah who can tell you what your dream means!"

<sup>26</sup> The king said to Daniel (whose name was now Belteshazzar), "Can you tell me what I dreamed and what it means?"

<sup>27</sup> Daniel replied, "There is no one to help, even those who claim to be wise and those who claim to consult with the dead. No one can help, none of the magicians or astrologers. None of these can discover the secrets of your dream. <sup>28</sup> But there is a God in heaven who reveals secrets, and he has shown in your dream what will happen in the future. Now I will tell you what you dreamed and the vision you saw as you were lying on your bed.

<sup>29</sup> O king, while you were sleeping, you dreamed about events that will happen in the future. The one who reveals mysteries has shown you what is going to happen. <sup>30</sup> It is not because I am wiser than anyone else on earth that I know the meaning of this mysterious dream. It is because God wanted you to understand your deep thoughts hidden in the vision he gave you.

<sup>31</sup> O king, in your vision you saw in front of you a huge and terrifying statue of a man. It was shining very brightly, and it was frightening and awesome. <sup>32</sup> The head of the statue was made of pure gold. Its chest and arms were made of silver. Its belly and thighs were made of bronze. <sup>33</sup> Its legs were made of iron and its feet were a mixture of clay and iron. <sup>34</sup> As you watched, someone cut a stone from a mountain, but it was not a human who cut it. The stone tumbled down and smashed the statue's feet that were made of iron and clay. It smashed them to bits. <sup>35</sup> Then the rest of the statue collapsed into a big heap of iron, clay, bronze, silver, and gold. The pieces of the statue were as small as bits of chaff on the ground where it is threshed, and the wind blew away all the tiny pieces. There was nothing left. But the stone that smashed the statue became a large mountain that covered the whole earth.

<sup>36</sup> That was what you dreamed. Now we will tell you what it means. <sup>37</sup> You are a king who rules over other kings. The God who rules in heaven has caused you to rule over them and has given you great power and has honored you. <sup>38</sup> He has caused you to be the ruler over all people so that even the animals and birds belong to you. You are the head of the statue, that head made of gold.

<sup>39</sup> After your kingdom ends, there will be another great kingdom, but it will not be as great as yours. The silver parts of the statue represent that kingdom. Then there will be a third great kingdom whose king will rule over the whole earth. The bronze parts of the statue represent that third kingdom. <sup>40</sup> After that kingdom ends, there will be a fourth great kingdom. The iron parts of the statue represent that kingdom. The army of that kingdom will smash the previous kingdoms, just like iron smashes everything that it strikes. <sup>41</sup> The feet and toes of the statue that you saw were a mixture of iron and clay, showing that the kingdom they represent will later be divided. <sup>42</sup> Some parts of that kingdom will be as strong as iron, but some parts will not remain together, just as iron and clay do not stay together when mixed. <sup>43</sup> The mixture of iron and clay in the statue also means that this kingdom will come apart, because the different people groups will not work together, just as clay does not stick to iron.

<sup>44</sup> But while those kings are ruling, God who rules in heaven will establish a kingdom that will never end. No one will ever defeat its king. He will completely destroy all those kingdoms, but his kingdom will remain forever.

<sup>45</sup> That is the meaning of the stone that someone cut from the mountain, the stone that will crush to tiny bits the statue that is made of iron, bronze, silver, and gold. God, the great God, has told you what will happen in the future. The dream he gave you will come true. Its meaning is true, as I have told it to you."

<sup>46</sup> Then King Nebuchadnezzar lay down on the ground in front of Daniel as an act of great respect. He commanded his people to burn incense and to burn an offering of grain in honor of Daniel. <sup>47</sup> The king said to Daniel, "Your God has enabled you to tell me the meaning of this dream, so now I truly know that your God is greater than all the other gods, and King over all other kings. He reveals secrets; he makes known mysteries no one else could know."

<sup>48</sup> Then the king gave many gifts to Daniel, and he also appointed him to rule over the entire province of Babylon. He made him to be the chief governor over all the wisest men in Babylon. <sup>49</sup> Daniel asked the king to appoint Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego to serve in important positions as administrators in the province of Babylon. But Daniel remained in the king's palace and served the king there.

3 King Nebuchadnezzar made a golden statue. It was twenty-seven meters tall and three meters wide. He set it up in the plain of Dura in the province of Babylon. <sup>2</sup> Then he sent messages to all the provincial governors, the regional governors, and the local governors, the counselors, the treasurers, the judges, the magistrates, and all the high officials of the provinces. He told them to come to celebrate the new statue that he had set up to honor the god that it represented. <sup>3</sup> When they all arrived, they were all standing in front of that statue.

<sup>4</sup> A person on the royal staff shouted out the king's new law to everyone, "You people who come from many countries and who speak many languages, listen to what the king has commanded! <sup>5</sup> When you hear the sound of the horns, flutes, zithers, lyres, harps, and other flutes, and all the music they will play, you must lie down on the ground and honor the golden statue that King Nebuchadnezzar has put up. <sup>6</sup> Anyone who refuses to do that will be thrown into a blazing fire."

<sup>7</sup> So all those people who had gathered from the many people and nations, who were speaking various languages, when they heard the instruments play, they laid themselves down on the ground and gave their worship and said words of praise to the statue.

<sup>8</sup> But some Chaldeans went to the king. <sup>9</sup> They reported to him, "O king, may you never die! <sup>10</sup> You decreed that every person who hears the sound of those instruments should lie down on the ground and honor the golden statue. <sup>11</sup> You also decreed that anyone refusing to do that would be thrown into a blazing fire. <sup>12</sup> There are some men from Judah that you appointed to be officials in the province of Babylon who have paid no attention to your decree. Their names are Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. They have refused to worship your gods and the golden statue that you have set up."

<sup>13</sup> When he heard this, Nebuchadnezzar became very angry. He commanded his soldiers to bring in Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. So they brought them to the king. <sup>14</sup> Nebuchadnezzar said to them, "Have you decided that you will not worship my gods or the golden statue that I have set up? <sup>15</sup> I will give you one more chance. If you bow down to worship the statue that I have set up when you hear the sounds of the musical instruments, fine. But if you refuse, you will be thrown into a blazing fire. Then who is the god who can rescue you from my power?"

<sup>16</sup> Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego replied, "Nebuchadnezzar, we do not need to defend our actions to you in this matter. <sup>17</sup> If we are thrown into a fire, the God we worship is able to rescue us. He has the power to rescue us from you. <sup>18</sup> But even if he does not rescue us, we will not worship your gods, and we will never honor the statue you have set up."

<sup>19</sup> Then Nebuchadnezzar became extremely angry. His face showed great rage against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. He gave orders that the fire should be made seven times hotter than usual. <sup>20</sup> After that was done, he ordered some of his strongest soldiers to tie up Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, and then to throw them into the blazing fire. <sup>21</sup> When the soldiers tied them up and threw them into the furnace, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego were wearing their robes, their tunics, their turbans, and their other clothes.

<sup>22</sup> Because the king's orders were given when he was so angry and were to be followed without any delay, and because the fire was so hot, the flames leaped out of the blaze and killed the soldiers that took Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego up into the fire. <sup>23</sup> So Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, tied up, fell into the burning flames of the fire.

<sup>24</sup> But as Nebuchadnezzar was watching, he was shocked. He jumped up and shouted to his advisors, "Did we tie up three men and throw them into the flames?"

They replied, "Yes, O king, we did."

<sup>25</sup> Nebuchadnezzar shouted, "Look! I see four men in the fire! They are not tied with ropes and they are walking around and the flames are not hurting them! The fourth man is shining like a son of the gods!"

<sup>26</sup> Nebuchadnezzar came closer to the edge of the blazing fire and shouted, "Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, you who worship the Most High God, come out of there! Come here!" So they came out and away from the fire.

<sup>27</sup> Then all the king's officials saw them when they came out of the fire. The flames had not harmed them. Not even the hair on their heads was singed, and none of their clothing was scorched. There was not even any smell of smoke on them.

<sup>28</sup> Then Nebuchadnezzar said, "We must all praise the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego! He sent one of his messengers to rescue these three men who worship him and trust in him. They ignored the king's command and refused to worship any other god but their own God, even if it cost them their lives. <sup>29</sup> Therefore I am now making this decree: If any people from any nation, or those who speak any language, say anything against the God who is worshiped by Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, they will be torn to pieces and their houses will be torn down and made into piles of garbage. This decree is made because there is no other god who can rescue people like this!"

4 Several years after Nebuchadnezzar started to rule, he sent this message to every people, nation, and language in his empire. He wrote,

"I wish that all things will go very well with you!

<sup>2</sup>I want you to know about all the ways in which God Most High has shown his power, and how he has done so many amazing things for me.

<sup>3</sup>He performs great miracles that show his power;

he does wonderful things.

He will always be king;
he will rule from one generation to another without end."

<sup>4</sup>I, Nebuchadnezzar, was living in my palace without a care, and I was enjoying every luxury. <sup>5</sup>But one night I had a dream that caused me to be very afraid. I saw visions that terrified me as I lay on my bed.

<sup>6</sup>So I summoned all those in Babylon who were wise so that they could come and tell me what my dream meant. <sup>7</sup>All the men who worked magic, those who claimed to speak with the dead, the wise men, and those who made predictions from the stars came to me. I told them what I had dreamed, but they could not tell me what it meant. <sup>8</sup>At last, Daniel came to me, and I decided to tell him what I had dreamed. (He is also named Belteshazzar, to honor my own god, and I knew that the spirit of the holy gods was in him).

<sup>9</sup>I said to him, "Belteshazzar, you are the most important of all my magicians. I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in you and that you can reveal the meaning of any mystery. There is none that is too difficult for you. So tell me what my dream means. <sup>10</sup>This is what I dreamed while I was lying in bed: I saw a large tree growing in the middle of the earth. <sup>11</sup>The tree was very strong and had grown very tall. It seemed that its top reached up to the sky and that everyone in the world could see it. <sup>12</sup>It had beautiful leaves, and it had fruit for people and all creatures to eat. Wild animals rested in its shade and birds built nests in its branches. All the living creatures got food from that tree.

<sup>16</sup>Cause that man to live out in the fields among the animals and plants. Cause the dew from the sky to make his body damp each morning. Take away his sanity and let him have the mind like an animal's mind for seven years.

<sup>17</sup>"The holy ones in heaven have issued a decree. They want everyone to know that God Most High rules over all the kingdoms in this world. He is the one who chooses the people to rule these kingdoms. He sometimes places very unimportant people in places of importance.'

<sup>18</sup> Belteshazzar, that is what I, King Nebuchadnezzar, saw in my dream. Now you must tell me what the dream means. No one else can tell me. I asked all the very wise men in my kingdom to tell me what it means, but they were unable to do that. But you can tell me because the spirit of the holy gods is in you."

<sup>19</sup> Then Daniel, who was also named Belteshazzar, did not say anything for some time because he was very worried about the meaning of the dream. Then the king said to him, "Belteshazzar, do not be afraid about the dream or what it means." Daniel replied to the king, "Sir, I wish that the events that were predicted in your dream would happen to those who hate you, and that the meaning of your dream would happen only to your enemies and not to you.

<sup>20</sup> In your dream you saw a very strong and tall tree. It seemed to reach up to the sky, and everyone in the world could see it.

<sup>21</sup> It had beautiful leaves, and it had produced much fruit for all people and creatures to eat. Wild animals rested in the shade of that tree, and birds built nests in its branches. <sup>22</sup> O king, that tree is you! You have become very powerful. Your greatness has grown and reached up to the sky, and you rule people all over the world.

<sup>23</sup> Then you saw a holy angel come down from heaven; he said, 'Cut down that tree, and cut off its branches. Strip off all of its leaves, and scatter its fruit. But leave the stump of the tree and its roots in the ground. Fasten a band of iron and bronze around the stump and allow it to stay there with grass around it. Each morning bring dew from the sky to make this man, who is represented by that tree, damp. Cause him to live in the fields with the animals for seven years.'

<sup>24</sup> This is what your dream means, O king. This is what the Most High God has declared will happen to you. <sup>25</sup> You will be forced to live away from other human beings. You will live in the fields with the wild animals. You will eat grass like an ox, and dew from the sky will make you wet every morning. You will live that way for seven years until you learn that it is the Most High God who rules over the kingdoms of the world. He appoints the ones he chooses to rule over them. <sup>26</sup> But the stump of the tree and its roots were left in the ground. That means that you will rule your kingdom again when you learn that it is God who is over everything and everyone. <sup>27</sup> Your Majesty, please do what I am telling you to do. Stop sinning and do what is right. Turn away from your evil behavior. Act mercifully to those whom other people are mistreating. If you do that, perhaps you will continue to prosper."

<sup>28-29</sup> All these things happened to King Nebuchadnezzar: Twelve months later, he was walking around on the roof of his palace in Babylon, <sup>30</sup> and he looked out over the city and said to those around him, "I have built this great city of Babylon to be the place where I rule! I have built it with my own power to show people my honor and my greatness."

<sup>31</sup> The king had just finished speaking when a voice came from heaven and said, "King Nebuchadnezzar, this is what must happen: You are no longer the ruler of this kingdom! <sup>32</sup> You will live away from human society. You will live in the fields with wild animals, and you will eat grass as an ox does. You will live that way for seven years until you learn that it is I, the Most High, who rules over the kingdoms of this world, and I appoint whomever I wish to rule over them."

<sup>33</sup> At that very moment everything that had been said about Nebuchadnezzar came true. He was driven away from other human beings. He ate grass like an ox, and dew from the sky made me wet every morning. My hair grew as long the feathers of an eagle, and my fingernails became like the claws of a bird.

heaven and acknowledged that what God said was true. Then I could think correctly again, and my sanity was restored. I praised and worshiped the Most High, and I honored him, the one who lives forever.

He rules forever;

his ruling power is an everlasting authority.

<sup>35</sup> He regards all the people in the world as insignificant.

He has the power to do whatever he wants to do.

He does whatever he wants with the angel armies in heaven and with us who live on the earth.

So no one can correct him; no one can challenge him; no one can say to him, "Why are you doing these things?"

<sup>36</sup> When I was able to think correctly again, I was honored again; and for the glory of my kingdom, my splendor and the shining brightness of my reign were brought back to my kingdom again. My advisors returned to me, and I became greater and more powerful than I was before. <sup>37</sup> Now I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise and honor God, the king who rules in heaven. All of his actions are just and right.

And he is able to make the proud humble.

5 Several years later, Belshazzar became the king of Babylon. One day he invited one thousand of the most important people to a big feast, and he drank wine in front of them all. <sup>2</sup> While he was drinking, he commanded that his servants bring him the gold and silver cups that his father Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple in Jerusalem. He did this so that he and his officials, his wives, and his concubines could drink from them. <sup>3</sup> So his servants brought in all those gold cups that had been taken from the temple in Jerusalem. Then the king and his officials and his wives and his concubines drank wine from those cups. <sup>4</sup> They drank wine and praised their idols—these idols that were made of gold and silver, bronze, iron, wood, and of stone.

<sup>5</sup> Suddenly they saw across from the lampstand a man's hand and fingers. The hand was writing on the plaster wall in the palace. The king saw the hand as it was writing. <sup>6</sup> He became very frightened, and his face became pale. His knees started shaking and his legs became very weak and could not support him.

<sup>7</sup> Then he shouted to his servants to bring those who claimed to speak with the dead, the wise men, and the astrologers in Babylon. He said, "I will greatly honor anyone of you who can read this writing and tell me what it means. I will give that person a purple robe like I wear because I am the king and I will put a gold chain around his neck. I will make him the third most powerful ruler in my kingdom."

<sup>8</sup> But when all those wise men came in, none of them could read the writing or tell him what it meant. <sup>9</sup> So King Belshazzar became more afraid. His face was changed and he looked different. None of his officials knew how they could help him.

<sup>10</sup> The queen came to the place where they were eating. She heard what the king had said and that his nobles did not know how to help him. She said, "O king, may you live forever! Do not be upset about this or let this change the way you look. <sup>11</sup> There is a man in your kingdom who has the spirit of the holy gods in him. When Nebuchadnezzar was ruling, he found that this man understood many things and was wise, just like the gods. Nebuchadnezzar appointed him to be in charge of the magicians, of those who speak with the dead, of the wise men, and of the astrologers. <sup>12</sup> His name is Daniel, but the king gave him the name Belteshazzar. He is a person who can be trusted. He is very intelligent and understands many hidden things. He is able to tell the meaning of dreams, to explain riddles, and to solve problems that few others can solve. Call for him to come here and he will tell you what this writing means."

<sup>13</sup> So they went and brought Daniel in. The king asked him, "You are the famous Daniel, are you not?—one of those that my father brought here from Judah. <sup>14</sup> I have heard that the spirit of the gods is in you and that you understand many things and have excellent wisdom. <sup>15</sup> There were men who are known for their wisdom and others who speak with the dead, and they tried to read the writing on this wall and to tell me what it means, but they could not do it. <sup>16</sup> Someone told me that you can explain what dreams mean and that you can make things understandable that others cannot know. If you can read these words and tell me what they mean, I will give you a purple robe like I wear because I am the king, and I will put a gold chain around your neck, and I will make you the third most powerful ruler in the kingdom."

<sup>17</sup> Daniel replied and said to the king, "I do not want your gifts. Keep them for yourself and give the rewards to some other person. I will read what is written on the wall for you, but not because you give me any reward.

<sup>18</sup> Your Majesty, the Most High God caused Nebuchadnezzar, the man who was king before you, to become a great ruler. He was greatly praised and honored. <sup>19</sup> Because God made him very great, everyone—every nation, no matter what language they spoke—was afraid of him, and they trembled at what he could do. He put to death those whom he decreed should die, and he kept alive those whom he decreed should live. He honored those whom he chose to honor, and he brought disgrace to those whom he wanted to humble. <sup>20</sup> But when he became very proud and stubborn, he was unable to rule any longer. <sup>21</sup> He had to go away from other human beings because he lost his mind. God caused him to have a mind like animals have. He lived among the wild donkeys. He ate grass like an ox, and dew from the sky made his body wet every morning. He was like that until he learned that the Most High God is the only one who rules the kingdoms of this world and that he appoints whomever he chooses to rule those kingdoms.

<sup>22</sup> Now, Belshazzar, you have become king in your father's place. You knew all these things, but you have not made yourself humble. <sup>23</sup> You have put yourself above the Lord who rules in heaven. You called for the cups from the house of God in Jerusalem so that you could use them to drink wine. You and your officials and your wives and your concubines have been drinking wine from these cups and toasting your own gods—gods of gold and silver, bronze, iron, wood, and stone. Those gods cannot see, they cannot hear, and they do not know anything! But you have not honored God, who gives you breath and who controls everything that happens to you. <sup>24</sup> So God sent this hand to write a message for you on the wall.

'Mene' means 'numbered.' That means that God has been counting the days that you will rule, and he has decided that you will not rule anymore.

<sup>27</sup> 'Mene' means 'weighed.' God has weighed you on a scale, and you do not weigh what you should.

<sup>28</sup> 'Peres' means 'divided.' God has divided your kingdom. It will be ruled by people from Media and by people from Persia."

<sup>29</sup> Then Belshazzar did what he had promised. He put on Daniel a purple robe like the one he himself wore. He put a gold chain around his neck, and he proclaimed that Daniel would be the third most powerful ruler in the kingdom.

<sup>30</sup> But that same night soldiers from Media entered the city and killed Belshazzar, king of Babylon. <sup>31</sup> Darius, king of Media, became the king of Babylon when he was sixty-two years old.

6 King Darius decided to divide his kingdom into 120 provinces. He appointed a governor to rule each province. <sup>2</sup> The king also appointed three administrators, one of whom was Daniel. These chief administrators were to supervise the provincial governors, to give oversight so that the king's orders were followed, and to ensure that the king would not have anything stolen from his treasures. <sup>3</sup> Daniel was a very capable leader and an exceptional person, and he distinguished himself among the chief administrators. The king made plans to appoint Daniel over his entire kingdom.

<sup>4</sup> Then the other administrators and the governors became jealous. So they began to search to find some way that they could criticize the work Daniel did when he was working for the king. But he always did his work faithfully and honestly. They could not find anything to criticize. He was honest and worked hard. <sup>5</sup> They began their plot against Daniel, "The only way we can find a reason to criticize Daniel would be to use his obedience to the law of his God against him."

<sup>6</sup>So the administrators and governors put their plan in place by going as a group to the king and saying, "Your Majesty, may you live forever! <sup>7</sup>All of the chief administrators and regional governors and provincial governors and advisors and other governors have all agreed that you should make a law that everyone must obey. We want you to command that for the next thirty days people may pray only to you and to no god or person other than you. If anyone prays to anyone else, he must be thrown into a room filled with lions. <sup>8</sup>Because laws made in the lands of Media and Persia cannot be changed, we want you, the king, to issue the law and sign your name on the document." <sup>9</sup>So King Darius issued the law and signed the document.

<sup>10</sup>When Daniel found out that the king had written and signed that law, he went home, knelt in his upstairs room, and prayed. The room had a window that looked toward Jerusalem and the windows were open. Any-one could see that he was praying. This is what he did every day, three times a day. <sup>11</sup>The officials followed their plot against Daniel, and they found him praying and asking God for help. <sup>12</sup>So they returned to the king and said to him, "Is it true that you wrote a law stating that for the next thirty days people may pray only to you, and that if anyone prays to anyone else, either to a human or to a god, he will be thrown into a pit of lions?"

The king replied, "Yes, that is the law that I wrote. It is a law in the lands of Media and Persia which cannot be changed."

<sup>13</sup>Then they said to the king, "That man Daniel, one of the men who was brought from Judah, is not paying any attention to you or the law that you signed. He prays to his god three times each day!" <sup>14</sup>When the king heard that, he was very upset about it. He tried to find a way to save Daniel. He worked hard for the rest of that day until the sun set, trying to find a way to save Daniel.

<sup>15</sup>In the evening, many of those who formed the plot against Daniel spoke to the king, "You know, O king, that the law of the Medes and Persians is that no change can be made to the king's commands, and no one can change it."

his servants brought Daniel and threw him into a pit where the lions were. Before they threw him in, the king said to Daniel, "I hope your God, whom you worship all the time, will rescue you!"

<sup>17</sup>They rolled a huge stone across the entrance to the pit. Then the king sealed the entrance with his signet ring, and the other officials also sealed the entrance with their signet rings, so that nothing could be done for Daniel. <sup>18</sup>The king returned to his palace. That night he refused to eat any food. He would not allow anyone to entertain him and that night he was unable to sleep.

<sup>19</sup>At dawn the next morning, the king got up and went quickly to the pit where the lions were. <sup>20</sup>When he came near it, he was very worried. He called out, fearing the worst, "Daniel, you who serve the living God! Was your God—whom you worship always—able to save you from the lions?"

<sup>21</sup>Daniel answered, "O king, may you live forever! <sup>22</sup>Yes, my God sent his angel to shut the lions' mouths and they have not hurt me! He knows that I have done nothing wrong, and you know, O king, I never did anything wrong to you either!"

<sup>23</sup>The king was extremely happy, and he commanded his servants to lift Daniel out of the pit. When they did that, they saw that the lions had not wounded him at all. God had protected him because he trusted in him.

<sup>24</sup>Then the king commanded that the men who had accused Daniel be seized and thrown into the pit of lions—along with their wives and children. When they were thrown into the pit, the lions leaped on them and crushed their bones before they fell to the bottom of the pit.

<sup>25</sup>Then King Darius wrote this message and sent it throughout his kingdom to all the people, to every nation, and to all the people no matter what language they spoke:

"I wish that all things go very well with you!"

<sup>26</sup>I command that everyone in my kingdom should fear and revere the God that Daniel worships.

He is the living God,

and he will live forever.

His kingdom will never be destroyed;

he will rule until the end.

<sup>27</sup>He rescues and saves his people, he performs all kinds of signs and wonders
in heaven and on the earth.

He rescued Daniel from the power of the lions!"

<sup>28</sup>So Daniel was very successful all during the time that Darius ruled and during the time that Cyrus, the king of Persia, ruled.

7 In the first year that Belshazzar was the king of Babylonia, Daniel had a dream one night as he lay in bed. He saw certain things that he wrote down the next morning. This is what he said:

<sup>2</sup>"I, Daniel, had a dream during the night.
In my dream I saw that strong winds were blowing from all four directions, stirring up the water on the sea. <sup>3</sup>Then I saw four large animals coming out of the sea. Each of the four was different from the others.

<sup>4</sup>The first one resembled a lion, but it had wings like an eagle has. But as I watched, something tore off its wings and the animal was left there, standing, like a human being. It was given a mind like humans have.

<sup>5</sup>The second animal resembled a bear. It was crouching and holding between its teeth three ribs from some creature. Someone said to it, 'Stand up and eat many people!'

<sup>6</sup>Then I saw in front of me the third of these animals. It resembled a leopard, but on its back it had four wings like a bird's wings. It had four heads and it was given the power to rule people.

<sup>7</sup>In the vision I saw a fourth animal. It was stronger than the other animals and more terrifying. It crushed other creatures with its huge iron teeth and ate their flesh. The parts of animals that it did not grind with its teeth, it walked over on the ground. It was different from the other three animals. It had ten horns on its head.

<sup>8</sup>While I was looking at those horns, I saw a little horn appear on the head of that animal.
It tore out three of the other horns. This little horn had eyes like a human has and a mouth
that boasted about great things.

<sup>9</sup>Then while I watched,
thrones were set up for judges,
and God, The One who Lives Forever, sat on one of the thrones.

His clothes were as white as snow,
and his hair was as white as pure wool.

His throne was burning with fire,
and it had wheels that were also burning.

<sup>10</sup>Fire poured out in front of him like water in a river.

Millions of people were there serving
him,
and a hundred million other people
were standing in front of him.

The court was called into session,
and they opened the books.

<sup>11</sup>While I was watching, I could hear the little horn speaking very boastfully. As I continued to watch, the fourth animal was killed.
Its corpse was thrown into a fire and completely burned. <sup>12</sup>The power of the other three animals was taken away from them, but they were allowed to continue to live for a specific period of time.

<sup>13</sup>I also saw that night someone coming who resembled a son of man, that is, he had a human figure. He was coming close, surrounded by clouds, and he came to The One who Lives Forever and was presented to him in honor. <sup>14</sup>He was given authority to rule over all the nations in the world; royal honor was given to him. He will rule forever—he will never stop ruling. The kingdom that he rules will never be destroyed.

<sup>15</sup>As for me, Daniel, I was very sad by what I had seen in that vision; I was so troubled, I did not know what to think about it. <sup>16</sup>I went to one of those who were standing in front of the throne of God, and I asked him to tell me what it meant.

<sup>17</sup>He said, 'The four large animals represent four kings who will come to power on the earth. <sup>18</sup>But the Most High will enable the people who belong to him to rule in the kingdom forever.'

<sup>19</sup>Then I wanted to know more about what the fourth animal represented—the animal that was different from the other three, the animal that crushed those whom it attacked with its bronze claws and then ate their flesh with its iron teeth, the animal that walked over the parts of their bodies that it did not eat. <sup>20</sup>I also wanted to know about the ten horns on its head and about the horn that appeared later, which got rid of three of the other horns. I wanted to know what it meant that it had eyes and a mouth with which it spoke very boastfully. That horn was more terrifying than the other horns.<sup>21</sup> While I was having this vision, I saw that this horn attacked God's people and was defeating them.<sup>22</sup> But then The One who Lives Forever came and judged in favor of the people who belonged to him. Then it was time for God's people to be able to rule.

<sup>23</sup> Then the man who was standing there said to me, 'The fourth animal represents an empire that will exist on the earth; that empire will be different from all other empires. The army of that empire will crush people all over the world and trample on their bodies.<sup>24</sup> As for its ten horns, they represent ten kings who will rule that empire, one after the other. Then another king will appear. He will be different from the previous kings. He will defeat the three kings that were represented by the three horns that were pulled out.<sup>25</sup> He will say things against the Most High, and he will oppress God's people. He will try to change the times of the sacred festivals and their laws. He will control them for three and a half years.'

<sup>26</sup> But the court will be convened, and they will take his kingdom away and it will be completely destroyed.<sup>27</sup> Then the kingdom, the power to rule, and the greatness of the kingdoms under the whole of heaven will be given to the holy people who belong to the Most High. The kingdom that he rules is a kingdom that is everlasting, and all kings and rulers will serve and obey him.'

<sup>28</sup> That is what I saw in my vision. I, Daniel, was terrified, with the result that my face became pale. But I did not tell anyone about the vision that I had seen."

8 During the third year that Belshazzar was the king of Babylonia, I, Daniel, had another vision.<sup>2</sup> In that vision I was in Susa, the fortified city in the province of Elam. I was standing beside the Ulai Canal.<sup>3</sup> I looked up and saw a ram that was standing alongside the canal. It had two long horns, but the one that grew last was longer than the one that grew first.<sup>4</sup> The ram butted away with its horns at everything that was west and everything that was north and everything that was south of it. There were no other animals that were able to oppose it, and none who could stop him. The ram did whatever it wanted to do and became very powerful.

<sup>5</sup> While I thinking about what I had seen, I saw a goat come from the west. It ran across the land very quickly; it seemed that its feet did not touch the ground. This goat had one very large horn between its eyes.<sup>6</sup> It ran straight toward the ram with two horns, the ram that was standing alongside the canal, and the goat ran toward it in a terrible rage.<sup>7</sup> The goat struck the ram furiously and broke off its two horns. The goat knocked the ram down to the ground and trampled on it. No one could rescue the ram from the goat's power.<sup>8</sup> The goat became very powerful. But when its power was very great, its great horn was broken off. Four other distinctive horns grew up in its place. Each one pointed to one of the four winds in the sky: North, south, east, and west.

<sup>9</sup> Then from one of those four horns appeared a little horn. It became very great and pointed toward the south and then toward the east and then toward the beautiful land of Israel.<sup>10</sup> That horn became very strong, with the result that it attacked some of the soldiers of the army of heaven and some of the stars in the sky. It threw some of them to the earth and trampled on them.<sup>11</sup> It set itself up to be as great as the commander of the army of heaven, and it took away the daily offerings of sacrifices from him, and it also defiled the place of his temple.<sup>12</sup> Because of rebellion, the army of heaven will falter, and the constant burnt offerings will be taken away. It will throw truth to the ground. The bad things it does will succeed.

<sup>13</sup> Then I heard two angels who were talking to each other. One of them asked, "How long will the things that were in this vision continue? How long will the man who rebels against God and causes the temple to be defiled be able to prevent priests from offering sacrifices? How long will he trample on the temple and on the armies of heaven?"

<sup>14</sup> The other angel replied, "It will continue for 2,300 days. During each of those days, people will not be permitted to offer sacrifices in the morning or in the evening. After that, the temple will be purified and set in order again."

<sup>15</sup> While I, Daniel, was trying to understand what the vision meant, suddenly an angel who resembled a man stood in front of me. <sup>16</sup> And I heard a man call out between the banks of the Ulai Canal, saying, "Gabriel, explain to him the meaning of the vision that he saw!"

<sup>17</sup> So Gabriel came and stood beside me. I was very terrified, and I fell onto the ground. But he said to me, "Man, it is necessary for you to understand that the events that you saw in the vision will occur at the time of the end."

<sup>18</sup> While he was speaking, I fell into a deep sleep with my face on the ground. But Gabriel put his hand on me and lifted me up in order that I could stand again.

<sup>19</sup> Then he said, "I have come here to show you what will happen at the time when God releases his terrible anger. These things will happen at the time God has set for the end that is coming. <sup>20</sup> As for the ram with two horns that you saw, those horns represent the kingdoms of Media and Persia. <sup>21</sup> The goat that you saw represents the kingdom of Greece, and the horn that appeared between its eyes represents its first king. <sup>22</sup> As for the four horns that grew after the first horn was broken off, they represent four kingdoms into which that first kingdom will be divided. Those four kingdoms will not be as strong as the first kingdom.

<sup>23</sup> But then the time will come for those kingdoms to end. This will be after those wicked leaders will have done all the evil that God will allow them to do. Then one of those kingdoms will have a king rise up who will be very proud and very intelligent in doing evil. <sup>24</sup> He will become very powerful, but it will not be because of what he himself does. He will destroy things in many places, and he will succeed in everything he does. He will get rid of many brave soldiers and the people who are holy. <sup>25</sup> Because he is very cunning, he will succeed by deceiving others. He will become very arrogant, and he will destroy many people without warning. He will even rebel against God, the greatest king, who will destroy him without any human power.

<sup>26</sup> These are the true visions of the evenings and the mornings. But seal them up and do not reveal the vision to others, because it will be many years before those things happen."

<sup>27</sup> Then I, Daniel, was overcome and lay in bed weak for several days. Then I arose and returned to doing the work that the king had given to me, but I was perplexed about the vision. No one could understand it.

9 In the first year of the reign of Darius (who was a descendant of the Medes and son of Ahasuerus, who conquered the Babylonians)— <sup>2</sup> in the first year that he was the king, I, Daniel, was studying in the holy books the message Yahweh had given to the prophet Jeremiah, that Jerusalem would be destroyed and remain ruined for seventy years. <sup>3</sup> After I read that, I pleaded with the Lord my God by prayer and fasting to help us. I put on clothing made from old grain bags and sat in ashes.

<sup>4</sup> I prayed to Yahweh my God, and I confessed the sins we had committed:

"Lord, I beg you, for you are great and powerful. You have faithfully done what you said you would do for us. You faithfully love those who love you and who do what you have commanded them to do. <sup>5</sup> But we have sinned and done things that are wrong. We have done wicked things, and we have rebelled against you. We have turned away and disobeyed your commands. <sup>6</sup> Your prophets spoke for you, giving your messages to our kings, to our other rulers, to our other ancestors, and to all the Israelite people, but we did not listen to them.

<sup>7</sup> Lord, you act justly. However, we are covered in shame. This is true for the people of Judah who live in Jerusalem and who live in other places in Judea. It is also true about your people the Jews, that you scattered to other countries because we were very unfaithful to you. <sup>8</sup> Yahweh, we and our kings and our other rulers and our other ancestors are ashamed because we have sinned against you. <sup>9</sup> Although we have rebelled against you, you act mercifully toward us and you are willing to forgive us. <sup>10</sup> When you gave your laws to your prophets who served you, and they told us to live our lives according to those laws, we did not listen to the voice of Yahweh our God. <sup>11</sup> All Israel has disobeyed your law, and we have turned away from it and have refused to do what you told us to do. Because we have sinned against you, you have sent to us the terrible things that your servant Moses said would happen to us if we sinned against you.

<sup>12</sup> You warned us and our rulers that you would punish Jerusalem severely by causing a great disaster there, a disaster that would be worse than any disaster that any other city had ever experienced, and you have done what you said that you would do. <sup>13</sup> You punished us just as Moses wrote that you would do. But we still have not turned away from our bad deeds to the truth, or begged you for mercy. <sup>14</sup> So because we did not obey you, Yahweh, you prepared to punish us, and then you did punish us, because you always do what is righteous.

<sup>15</sup> Lord our God, you brought your people out of Egypt by your great power, and by doing that you have caused people from that time until the present time to know that you are great even though we have sinned and done wicked things. <sup>16</sup> But now, because everything you do is righteous, we request you not to be angry with Jerusalem any longer, O Lord. Jerusalem is your city, and your temple was built there on your sacred hill. Now all the people who live in nearby countries despise Jerusalem because of our sins and because of the evil things that our ancestors did.

<sup>17</sup> Our God, I, your servant, ask you to listen to my prayer and my requests. For your own sake, act kindly toward your sanctuary in Jerusalem, which has been destroyed by the armies of Babylonia. <sup>18</sup> My God, listen to my prayer. Look at us and do what you must. See, this city that belongs to you is ruined. We are praying to you because you are merciful, not because we have done what is right. <sup>19</sup> Lord, listen to us! Lord, forgive us! This city and these people belong to you. So I plead with you, my God, to pay attention to what I am saying and act to help us right now, for your own sake!"

<sup>20</sup> I continued praying and confessing the sins that I and my people Israel had committed, and pleading with Yahweh my God that he would restore the temple on the sacred hill in Jerusalem. <sup>21</sup> While I was praying, Gabriel, the angel whom I had seen in the first vision, came flying rapidly to me at the time in the evening when the priests offered sacrifices. <sup>22</sup> He said to me, "Daniel, I have come to you to enable you to understand clearly the message that God gave to Jeremiah. <sup>23</sup> When you began to plead with God to be merciful to Israel, he gave me a message to give to you. He loves you very much, so he has sent me to tell you what he said to me. So now, pay attention in order that you may understand the meaning of what he revealed to Jeremiah.

<sup>24</sup> God has decided that there will be 490 years until he frees your people and city that belongs to him from the guilt of their sins and to atone for the evil things that they have done. Then God will rule everyone justly, and he will do that forever. What you saw in the vision and what Jeremiah prophesied will come true, and the sacred temple will be dedicated to God again.

<sup>25</sup> You need to know and understand this: There will be forty-nine years and then 434 years between when a king commands that Jerusalem be rebuilt, and when the leader comes, the one whom God chooses. Then Jerusalem will be rebuilt, and it will have streets and will have a moat around it to protect the city, in spite of the fact it will be a time of great trouble. <sup>26</sup> After those 434 years, the leader whom God has selected will be killed, and everything will be taken away from him. After that, the temple will be destroyed by the army of a powerful ruler. The city and the temple will be destroyed as a flood destroys everything. When this happens, these wars and destruction will cease. <sup>27</sup> That ruler will make a covenant with many people. He will do what he promised for seven years. But when that time is half finished, he will prevent priests from giving any more offerings and sacrifices to God. After this ruler does these disgusting things, someone will pollute the temple by putting an idol in the very holy place. It will stay there until God completely destroys the one who put it there."

10 During the third year that Cyrus was the king of Persia, a message from God was sent to Daniel (who had been given the name Belteshazzar), and the message was true. It was about a great war, and Daniel understood the message because of what he saw in the vision.

<sup>2</sup>"At that time I, Daniel, had been sad for three weeks about what had happened to Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup>I did not eat any tasty food or any meat nor did I drink any wine. I did not even put any perfumed oil on my face or hair for those three weeks.

<sup>4</sup>When those three weeks ended, on the twenty-fourth day of the first month, my companions and I were standing on the bank of the Tigris River. <sup>5</sup>I looked up and saw someone there who was wearing fine white clothes and a belt made of pure gold. <sup>6</sup>His body shone like a precious beryl stone. His face was as bright as a flash of lightning. His eyes were like flaming torches. His arms and legs shone like gleaming bronze. His voice was very loud like the roar of a huge crowd.

<sup>7</sup>I, Daniel, was the only one who saw this vision. The men who were with me did not see anything, but they sensed that someone was there, and they became terrified. They ran away and hid themselves. <sup>8</sup>So I was left there by myself, looking at this very unusual vision. I had no strength left. My face became very pale, with the result that no one would have recognized me. <sup>9</sup>I saw a man there, and when I heard him speak, I fell to the ground. I fainted, and I lay there with my face on the ground.

<sup>10</sup>Suddenly someone's hand took hold of me and lifted me, with the result that I was on my hands and knees, but I was still trembling. <sup>11</sup>The angel said to me, "Daniel, God loves you very much. Stand up and listen to what I am going to say to you because God sent me to you." When he said that, I stood up, but I was still trembling.

<sup>12</sup>Then he said to me, "Daniel, do not be afraid. God has heard what you have prayed ever since the first day that you determined to humble yourself in order to understand the vision. I have come to you because of what you prayed. <sup>13</sup>The evil spirit who rules the kingdom of Persia resisted me for twenty-one days, and I had to stay there for that time with the various kings over whom the Persian king was ruling. But Michael, who is one of God's chief angels, came to help me. I left him there in Persia to resist that evil spirit. <sup>14</sup>I have come here to help you understand what will happen to the Israelite people in the future. Do not forget that the vision you saw is about things that will happen in the future, and not about things that will happen very soon."

<sup>15</sup>While he was still saying that, I looked down at the ground and was unable to say anything. <sup>16</sup>Suddenly the angel, who resembled a human, touched my lips. Then I was able to speak, and I said to him, "Sir, because I have seen this vision, I have become very weak, with the result that I cannot stop trembling. <sup>17</sup>I am only your servant, and am not able to talk to you. I have no strength left, and it is very difficult for me to breathe."

<sup>18</sup>But he took hold of me again, and enabled me to become stronger again. <sup>19</sup>He said to me, "Man, God loves you very much. So do not be afraid. I desire that things will go well for you and that you will be encouraged." When he had said that, I felt even stronger, and I said, "Sir, tell me what you want to tell me. You have enabled me to feel stronger."

<sup>20-21</sup>Then he said, "Do you know why I have come to you? It is to reveal to you what is written in the book which reveals God's truth. But now I must return to fight against the evil spirit who rules the kingdom of Persia. After I have defeated him, the evil angel who guards Greece will appear and I must defeat him. Michael, who guards you Israelite people, will certainly help me, but there is no one else to help me."

11 In the first year of Darius the Mede, I myself came to help and encourage Michael.

<sup>2</sup>What I am going to reveal to you now will truly happen. There will be three more kings to rule Persia, one after the other. Then there will be a fourth king, who will be much richer than the others. He will gain his power through money. Then he will incite everyone to fight against the kingdom of Greece.

<sup>3</sup>Then a very powerful king will rise up. He will rule over a very large empire, and he will do everything he wants to do. <sup>4</sup>But when he has become very powerful, his kingdom will be divided into four parts. Kings who are not his descendants will rule, but they will not be as powerful as he was. His kingdom will be torn up and given to others.<sup>5</sup> Then the king of the South will become very powerful. But one of his army generals will become more powerful than he is and will also become a powerful ruler.<sup>6</sup> At the right time, they will make an agreement. The daughter of the king of the South will come to the king of the North to make the agreement secure. But she will lose her power and will come to nothing—she and all who accompanied her, and her father, as well as the king of the North and his children.

<sup>7</sup> Soon after that, one of her relatives will take power in her place, and his army will attack the army of the king of the North. They will enter the fortress of the soldiers and defeat them.<sup>8</sup> They will carry off their idols and gods to Egypt, and they will take their statues (made by casting metal into a form) and many items made of silver and gold. Then for several years his army will not attack the army of the king of the North.<sup>9</sup> Then the army of the king of the North will invade the kingdom of the king of the South, but he will then return to his own land.<sup>10</sup> However, his sons will prepare to start a war, and they will gather a large army. That army will march south and spread all over Israel like a huge flood. They will attack a strong fortress in the south of Israel.

<sup>11</sup> Then the king of the South, having become very angry, will march with his army north and fight against a great army. The king of the North will gather together a very large army, but the army of the king of the South will defeat them.<sup>12</sup> The king of the South will become very proud because his army will defeat a very large number of soldiers and will kill many of his enemies. But he will not succeed.<sup>13</sup> The king of the North will again gather together an army that will be bigger than the one that he had before. After a few years, the king of the North will come again with a large army and a lot of equipment for fighting battles.

<sup>14</sup> At that time, many will rebel against the king of the South. In order to fulfill a certain vision, some violent people from your country of Israel will also rebel against him, but they will not succeed.<sup>15</sup> Then the king of the North will come with his army and pile up earth against the walls of a city that is well protected, and they will break through those walls and will capture the city. The soldiers from the South who have come to defend that city, even the best troops, will not be strong enough to continue to fight.<sup>16</sup> So the king of the North will do whatever he wants against the king of the South, and no one will be able to oppose him. He will occupy the glorious land of Israel and will have the power to destroy it.<sup>17</sup> Then the king of the North will decide to march south with all the soldiers from his kingdom. He will make an alliance with the king of the South and in order that his daughter will help him to destroy the kingdom of the South, he will give her to the king of the South to become his wife. But that plan will fail.<sup>18</sup> After that, the army of the king of the North will attack the regions that are close to the Mediterranean Sea, and his army will conquer many of them. But the army of a leader from another country will defeat him and will stop him from being proud. He will also turn his pride against him.<sup>19</sup> Then the king of the North will return to the fortresses in his own land. But he will be defeated, and no one will be able to find him.

<sup>20</sup> Then another man will succeed him. He is one who will force taxes upon the people to supply the beauty of the palace, but that king will die after a short time. However, he will not die as a result of people being angry with him or in a battle.

<sup>21</sup> The next king will be an evil man who is hated because he is not the son of the previous king, and he will not have the right to become king. But he will come in without any objection when people do not expect it, and he will become king by tricking the people.<sup>22</sup> When his army advances, they will attack any armies that oppose him and their enemies will be swept away before them like a flood. Their enemies and the head of the priests will be swept away.<sup>23</sup> By making treaties with the rulers of other nations, he will deceive them, and he will become very powerful, even though he rules a nation that does not have a lot of people.<sup>24</sup> Suddenly his army will invade a province that is very wealthy, and they will do things that none of his ancestors did: They will capture in battles all kinds of possessions from the people whom they defeat. Then the king will divide those possessions among his friends. He will also plan for his army to attack fortresses, but only for a short time.

<sup>25</sup>The king of the North will gather a large and powerful army to attack the army of the king of the South. The king of the South will meet him in battle with a huge and powerful army. However, he will fail, and his plan will not succeed because of all the plots that are devised against him. <sup>26</sup>Even the most trusted advisors of the king of the South will plan to get rid of him. His army will be defeated and many of his soldiers will be killed. <sup>27</sup>Then the two kings who both want to rule that area will sit down at the same table and talk together, but they will both lie to each other. Neither of them will get what he wants because only God will cause the result of their actions to happen, at the future time that he has determined. <sup>28</sup>The army of the king of the North will return to its land, taking with them all the valuable things that they have captured. The king will try to make the people stop obeying God's covenant with them. He will do what he wants to in Israel, and then he will return to his own country.

<sup>29</sup>When it is the time that God has decided, the king of the North will invade the South again. But this time he will not be successful as he was before. <sup>30</sup>Ships will come from Kittim and oppose his army and cause him to be afraid. So he will be very angry, and with his army he will return to Israel and seek to destroy the worship and the law. The king will show preference and favor to those who have abandoned God's holy covenant with Israel. <sup>31</sup>Some of his soldiers will do things to defile the temple. They will prevent the priests from offering sacrifices each day, and they will put in the temple something disgusting that will make it like a wilderness.

<sup>32</sup>By deceiving those who have abandoned God's covenant with Israel, he will win them over to become his supporters. But those who are devoted to their God will firmly oppose them. <sup>33</sup>The wise among the leaders of Israel will teach others also. But for a while, they will be killed in battles, or burned to death, or made slaves, or robbed.

those wise leaders suffer these things, God will make his people become the best possible people for himself. Also, God has set a time in the future when he will finish doing all these things.

<sup>36</sup>The king will do what he wants. He will boast and say that he is greater than any god. He will even insult the most high God. He will be able to do what he wants until the time when God is ready to show that he is angry with him, for what God has ordered will happen. <sup>37</sup>The king will ignore the gods that his ancestors worshiped and the god that women love. He will ignore every god because he will pretend to be greater than any of them. <sup>38</sup>But he will honor the god of fortresses. That is a god whom his ancestors did not honor. He will give gold and silver, jewels and other expensive gifts to that god. <sup>39</sup>He will employ people from another country who worship a different god to help him attack the strongest fortresses. He will greatly honor those who allow him to be their ruler. He will appoint some of them to important positions in the government, and he will reward them by dividing up the land among them.

<sup>40</sup>But when his time to rule is almost ended, the army of the king of the South will come, but the king of the North will attack first. The army will fight, moving against its enemies like a flood, and they will attack with many ships. <sup>41</sup>They will invade the glorious land of Israel and many will fall, but the people of Edom, Moab, and the people of Ammon who survive will escape alive. <sup>42</sup>He will invade other countries and conquer them. He will also defeat the people of Egypt. <sup>43</sup>The army of the North will take away the treasures of gold and silver, and the riches of Egypt. The Libyans and the Ethiopians will serve the king of the North. <sup>44</sup>But he will become very frightened when he hears reports about what is happening in the east and in the north. So he will become very angry and will send his army to fight furiously and to kill many of their enemies. <sup>45</sup>The king will set up his royal tents in the area between the Mediterranean Sea and the hill in Jerusalem, the location of the temple. But someone will kill him there, and there will be no one to help him."

12 The angel also said to me, "After those things happen, the great angel Michael, who protects the Israelite people, will appear. Then there will be a time when there will be great troubles. The troubles will be greater than any troubles since any nation began. At that time, all of your people whose names have been written in the book will be saved. <sup>2</sup> Many of those who have died will become alive again. Some of them will live in everlasting life, and some in shame and everlasting contempt. <sup>3</sup> Those who were wise will shine as brightly as the sky. Those who have shown to others the way to live righteously will shine forever like the stars. <sup>4</sup> But as for you, Daniel, close up the scroll in which you are writing and seal it until the time of the end. Before that happens, many people will travel here and there, learning more and more about many things."

<sup>5</sup> When that angel finished speaking, I, Daniel, looked up, and suddenly I saw two other angels. One was standing on the side of the river where I was, and one was standing on the other side. <sup>6</sup> One of them called to the other one who was wearing linen clothes and who was now standing further up the river, "How long will it be until the end of these amazing events?"

<sup>7</sup> The one wearing the linen clothes and standing further up the river raised his hands toward the sky and solemnly promised to the one who lives forever, "It will be three and a half years, and when God's holy people and their strength are no longer being shattered to pieces, then all these things are finished."

<sup>8</sup> I heard what he said, but I did not understand it. So I asked, "Sir, what will be the result when these things end?"

<sup>9</sup> He replied, "Daniel, you must leave now. I cannot answer your question. The words are closed and sealed until the time of the end. <sup>10</sup> Many people will be made pure, and they will be refined, but the wicked people will continue to act wickedly. Only those who are wise will understand these things. <sup>11</sup> There will be 1,290 days from the time that people are prevented from offering sacrifices each day, that is, from the time that the enemy brings into the temple the abominable thing that will make it like a wilderness unacceptable to God. <sup>12</sup> God will be pleased with those who remain faithful until the end of 1,335 days.

<sup>13</sup> So now I say to you, continue to faithfully trust God until your life on earth ends. You will die, but when everything ends, you will receive your reward from God."

Hosea

1 Yahweh gave Hosea these messages during the years that Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah were kings of Judah, and when Jeroboam son of Jehoash was king of Israel.

2 When Yahweh spoke for the first time through the prophet Hosea, he said, "Go and marry a prostitute. She will have children because she has given herself to other men. When you marry a prostitute, this will show how my people have been so shamefully unfaithful to me. It will show them how they have left me, their God." 3 So Hosea married Gomer, daughter of Diblaim. She became pregnant and gave birth to a son.

4 Yahweh said to Hosea, "Give your baby the name Jezreel, because I will soon punish the family members of King Jehu for the murders that he committed in the city of Jezreel. I will also bring the kingdom of Israel to an end. 5 On that day I will destroy the fighting strength of the army of Israel, there in the Valley of Jezreel."

6 Gomer soon became pregnant again, and this time she gave birth to a daughter. Then Yahweh spoke to him, "Give her the name Lo-Ruhamah, which means 'no mercy,' because I will no longer have any mercy for the people of Israel, and I will not forgive them for even one sin they have committed. 7 But I will have mercy on the people of Judah. I will save them—but not by deadly weapons, the bow, the sword, or battle. I will not save them by armies or by strong horses and those who ride on them. Instead, I, Yahweh myself, will save them."

8 After Gomer had weaned Lo-Ruhamah, she became pregnant again and gave birth to a son. 9 Yahweh said "Give him the name Lo-Ammi, which means 'not my people,' because you, O Israel, are not my people—and I will no longer protect you as your God."

10 One day in the future, the people of Israel will be as numerous as the grains of sand by the sea. No one will be able to count them. I have said to Israel, 'You are not my people,'—but one day I will say to them, 'You are the people whom I will protect and love.' 11 On that day I, Yahweh, will gather all the people of Judah and bring them together with all the people of Israel. They will choose from among themselves a single leader, and they will go out of that land in which they were held as exiles. On that day they will say, 'Great is the day of Jezreel!' (Jezreel means, 'God plants his people in his land.')

2 Call your male fellow Israelites, 'You are Yahweh's people,' and call your female fellow Israelites, 'Yahweh has been kind to you.'

2 Yahweh said to me, "I want you to accuse Israel, who is like a mother to you, of being like an unfaithful wife to me.

This nation is no longer like a wife to me, and I am no longer like a husband to her.

Tell Israel that they must stop acting like a prostitute; she must stop worshiping idols.

Israel must stop worshiping idols.
She must stop acting like a woman who leaves her husband and goes to other men.

3 If she does not stop,
I will take her clothes off her and make her naked like she was when she was born.

I will make her like the barren wilderness—dry and lifeless;
I will make her like a woman dying from thirst in the desert.

4 I will have no pity on her people, the people of Israel,
because their nation is like a prostitute.

5 Israel is like a prostitute;
she is like a woman who has had these children from doing shameful things with other men.

Israel decided to hurry after these idols whom she loved, to worship other gods.

She thought that it was those gods who gave her bread and water.

- She thought that it was those gods who gave her wool, linen, and olive oil, and also wine to drink.
- <sup>6</sup> So I will block Israel's road with
thornbushes,
and I will build a wall around her,
so that she cannot find the path to take.
- <sup>7</sup> Israel will run after her idols
but she will not find them.
She will search for her false gods,
but she will not find them.
- Then, like a prostitute who wants to return to her husband, she will say to me, 'I will go back to you, the one I loved at first,
because my life was better with you
than it is now.'
- <sup>8</sup> The people will say this, because they did not know that it was I, Yahweh, who had given them their grain, new wine, and olive oil.
It was I who had given them much silver and gold so they would become wealthy.
- But then they made all that gold and silver into objects to use in worshiping the idol Baal.
- <sup>9</sup> Therefore I will take away from Israel all the grain I gave them.
When the wheat is ready for harvest, I will keep them from getting it.
- The new wine that I gave them, I will take it away.
I will take away from them all the wool and linen I gave them to make clothes for themselves,
the clothes that covered their nakedness.
- <sup>10</sup> I will treat Israel as a man treats his wife when he finds her with other men.
I will strip her naked in front of her lovers.
No one will be able rescue her from what I will do to her.
- <sup>11</sup> I will make the people in Israel stop holding their celebrations;
they will stop holding their festivals
every year.
They will no longer celebrate the
- beginning of every month.
They will no longer celebrate the Sabbath days.
- They will no longer be able to hold the festivals scheduled throughout the year.
- <sup>12</sup> I will destroy all of Israel's grapevines and fig trees.
This is because Israel is like a woman who says, 'These were the things that my lovers gave me in payment.'
- I, Yahweh, will turn those places into a forest, a thicket in which no vines
can grow,
and where wild animals will devour
any fruit that grows there.'
- <sup>13</sup> I will punish this woman named Israel
for all the times that she burned
incense to worship the Baal idols.
She decorated herself with rings and jewelry, as a prostitute would adorn herself for her lovers.
She used to follow her lovers—like Israel has gone after the Baals—
those false gods that she
worshiped.
And she forgot about me." This is what Yahweh says.
- <sup>14</sup> "I will lead her into the wilderness and tell her that I love her.
I will persuade her to love me again.<sup>15</sup> I will give her vineyards back to her
once more,
and in the Valley of Achor I will cause her to hope once more.
- She will answer me with love and delight,
as it was back in the first days when we first loved each other—
when I set her free, and she came up out of Egypt.
- <sup>16</sup> At that time,
Israel will call me, 'My Husband,' as a woman would say to her human husband.
She will no longer call out to a god,
'My Baal,' but she will call out to me as 'My Husband.'
- <sup>17</sup> I will not allow Israel to speak the names of the images of Baal that she used to worship.

My people will forget the names of those Baals and their idols, and my people Israel will never worship them again.

- <sup>18</sup> At that time I will make a covenant for them: it will be with all the wild animals and birds, and even with the little animals that crawl along the ground. They will never harm my people again.

I will promise to remove all the weapons that are used for fighting battles, the bows and arrows, and the swords, and every war, I will take them all away and destroy all of them.

And I will let all of my people rest in peace; they will be not be afraid anymore.

- <sup>19</sup> You will be like my wife forever, Israel. I will promise myself to you, by doing what is right, and by loving what is just.

I promise to love you and to show you kindness even when you do not deserve it.

- <sup>20</sup> I will keep my promise to you, Israel. I will never lie to you; and you will come to know me—my name is Yahweh.

"I will give a command to the sky, and the sky will pour out rain onto the ground.

<sup>22</sup> And the ground will provide grain, new wine and olive trees, and they will grow for the people of Israel.

<sup>23</sup> At that time, I will take care of the Israelite people as a farmer plants his own land and takes care of his crops.

I will show my love to those people whom I called 'Not my People'. And those whom I called 'Not my People',

I will now call by a new name: 'You are my People'.

They will say to me, 'You are our

God.'

3 Then Yahweh said to me, "Go and love a woman, even though she is loved by another man, and she is also unfaithful to her husband. You will be like me, because I love the people of Israel, even though they worship other gods and eat raisin cakes in their honor."

<sup>2</sup> Even though she was a slave, owned by another person, I bought her for 170 grams of silver, and 330 liters of barley grain. <sup>3</sup> Then I said to her, "You will live with me from now on. You will no longer be a prostitute who sleeps with various men. You will not belong to any other man, only to me, and I will be faithful to you and live with you for the rest of my life."

<sup>4</sup> When I do these things, this is to show that the people of Israel will live for a long time and not have any king ruling over them. They will have no prince, no sacrifices or pillars set up for worship, ephods or idols in their houses.

<sup>5</sup> After some time, the people of Israel will return to Yahweh; they will hope that he will receive them back. They will hope to have a descendant of David for their king again. In the later time, they will come to Yahweh to honor him and tremble before him because of his goodness to them.

<sup>4</sup> Listen to the message Yahweh has for you.

"You people of Israel, Yahweh is accusing you, you who live in this place."

He says, "I cannot find anyone here who tells the truth.

I cannot see anyone who loves me.

None of you can honestly say that he knows me.

<sup>2</sup> You curse and lie, you kill and steal, and you commit adultery.

You have broken every law, and you commit one murder after another.

<sup>3</sup> Because of what the people are doing, the land is now a wilderness.

Every creature that lives here is dying, from the animals that live in the fields, to the birds that fly in the sky; even the fish in the sea, they are also dying.

<sup>4</sup> But you must not accuse anyone else for

- this trouble.
- You must not allow anyone to correct another person; no one has that right, because everyone is guilty.
- And I am also accusing the priests.<sup>5</sup> You priests sin during the day and the prophets with you sin at night.
- I promise you, I will destroy Israel, who is like a mother to you.
- <sup>6</sup> My people are perishing because you priests have refused to understand me.
- And why do you understand me so little? Because you have rejected the things I have instructed you to do.
- So I am rejecting you from being priests to me.
- Look at what you have forgotten: You have forgotten the instructions that I, your God, gave to you.
- Because you forgot me, I will forget your children.
- <sup>7</sup> The more numerous you priests become, the more you do the things that I have forbidden.
- You have abandoned me in order to become shameful.
- <sup>8</sup> When other people sin, they bring sacrifices to me, some of which you eat.
- So you want the people to sin more and more.
- <sup>9</sup> I will punish you priests just as I punish the people.
- I will punish all of you for your behavior;
- I will pay you all back for all the wicked deeds you have done.
- <sup>10</sup> You all will eat, but you will never get enough. You will always be hungry. They will continue to sleep with other women, but the women will not conceive, because you have all abandoned me, Yahweh.
- <sup>11</sup> You love to do forbidden sexual acts, and to drink wine and new wine. All these things have made it - impossible for you to know right from wrong.
- <sup>12</sup> My own people pray to an idol made from a piece of wood. They ask their walking staffs to tell them which way they should go!
- They are always wanting to sin in sexual ways, so they have stopped obeying me, the God whom they should worship.
- <sup>13</sup> They worship other gods in the places on the tops of the mountains where they have set up idols. They burn offerings to the idols up on those hills—in all the places where they worship those idols—under the oak trees, poplar trees, and the terebinth trees—because these trees give good shade.
- Following your example, your daughters decided to become prostitutes, and your daughters-in-law committed adultery.
- <sup>14</sup> But I will not punish the women for turning to prostitution, or your daughters-in-law when they commit adultery.
- It is the men who are doing the very same thing!
- The men sleep with prostitutes, and they offer sacrifices in the houses of idols where there are prostitutes.
- It is true: "A people who have not lived as they were taught to live, will come to destruction."
- <sup>15</sup> Israel, you have left me and gone to idols.
- But I hope that Judah will not do the same thing.
- You people of Judah, do not go to Gilgal. Do not go up to Beth Aven to worship idols there.
- Do not make solemn oaths, calling on me to make good on your promises, adding to your vows the words, 'As Yahweh lives!' <sup>16</sup> Israel is as stubborn as a young cow. Can I now feed them as if they were little lambs in a meadow?

<sup>17</sup> Ephraim has gone to join idols.
 Leave those people alone! <sup>18</sup> When they have finished drinking all their alcoholic drinks
 then they will commit even more sexual sins.

Their rulers love to do these shameful things. <sup>19</sup> Someone will attack them; he will be like a whirlwind that lifts them up and carries them away to another place.

Only then will they be ashamed because they gave offerings to the idols."

5 "Listen, you priests!
 Pay attention, you people of Israel!
 And you members of the king's family,
 you also need to listen!
 For I will punish all of you.

The things you have done have been like a trap for the people at Mizpah.
 The things you have done have become like a net spread out to catch the people who live on Mount Tabor. <sup>2</sup> Those who rebelled against me have now killed so many that they are standing deep in their blood. I tell you that I will punish them
 all.

<sup>3</sup> You, the people in Ephraim, the center of Israel—I know you.
 I know very well what you are like,
 you people of Israel.

You people in Ephraim, you have acted like prostitutes.

Yes, you people in Israel are polluted.

<sup>4</sup> Ephraim and Israel are not able to ask me to forgive them, because of what
 they have done.

They have chosen to be unfaithful and immoral,
 and they do not know me,
 Yahweh."

<sup>5</sup> Israel is proud; because of this others
 know how guilty she is.
 The sins that the people of Israel
 have committed are making them faithless to Yahweh.

Judah is becoming faithless, too.
<sup>6</sup> They are hoping to persuade Yahweh to have mercy on them.
 They are coming to sacrifice sheep and cattle to him from their flocks and herds.

But they will find that Yahweh will have no mercy on them
 because he has stopped helping them; he is leaving them alone.

<sup>7</sup> They did not keep their promises to Yahweh.
 and they have had children by foreign women.

So at the time of the new moon festivals,
 they will perish, together with their cultivated fields."

<sup>8</sup> Yahweh says, "Blow the ram horns at the city of Gibeah!
 Blow the trumpets at the city of Ramah!

Shout a battle cry at the city of Beth Aven!
 Lead us into battle, you people of the tribe of Benjamin!

<sup>9</sup> I will punish the people of Ephraim and turn their city into a pile of rubble.
 This is my promise to the tribes of Israel—I pledge to you all that I will do this.

<sup>10</sup> The leaders of Judah are as bad as people who steal farmland by moving boundary markers;
 they steal land that does not belong
 to them.

I will punish them in a way that will make them perish.

<sup>11</sup> Ephraim will suffer greatly; the people will perish when I punish them, because they were determined to worship idols.

<sup>12</sup> I will destroy Ephraim as a moth
 destroys wool;
 I will destroy Judah as rot destroys wood.

<sup>13</sup> When the people of Ephraim realized
 how weak they were,
 then they asked the people of Assyria for help.

When the people of Judah realized how weak they were,

they sent messengers to the great king of Assyria.

But he could not help you people; he could not make you people strong again.

<sup>14</sup> I will become like a lion to the people of Ephraim in Israel;
I will become like a young lion to the people of Judah.

I will destroy them and leave them;
I will carry them far away,
and no one will be able to rescue them.

<sup>15</sup> Then I will go back to where I came from;
from there I will wait for them to admit that they have sinned;
I will wait for them to come and ask me to help them."

6 The people say, "Come, let us return to Yahweh.

He has torn our flesh to pieces as a lion tears up his victim.

He did this, but he will heal our wounds.

He has hurt us and made us fall down, but he will treat our wounds and bind them up so they will heal.

<sup>2</sup> After the second day he will restore our strength;
and on the third day he will raise us up,

so we will live close to him.

<sup>3</sup> Try to know Yahweh;
do all you can to be faithful to him.

It is as certain as tomorrow's sunrise that he will come to us; he will come to us like the rain,
like the rain comes in the spring on our fields."

<sup>4</sup> But Yahweh says, "What can I do with you, you people of Ephraim?

What can I do with you, you people of the tribe of Judah?

You love me for just as long as the clouds come in the morning before they disappear again.

You love me for just as long as the dew stays before the warm sun shines on it.

<sup>5</sup> I sent my prophets to you, and it was as though I had cut you into pieces when they spoke the messages I gave them.

You were devastated by what they said to you.

It was as though I had killed you with the words I spoke to you.

I spoke about how I would punish you.
I told you by the prophets that I was angry with you, and they told you this."

"Yahweh, you will punish them by commanding that it happen;
your words are like lightning bolts."

<sup>6</sup> Yahweh says, "I want you to be faithful to me forever.

I want that more than I want you to offer me sacrifices.

I want you to know me—that is much more important to me than when you give me offerings that the priests burn on the altar.

<sup>7</sup> But like Adam, the first man, the covenant that they made with me and that I, Yahweh, made with them—they broke it.
When they did that, they were not faithful to me.

<sup>8</sup> Gilead is a city of people who do wicked things;
in the streets of that city are the footprints of murderers.

<sup>9</sup> As robbers make their plans to hide and then rob someone walking past them, so are the priests—they band together making their plans, just like the robbers,
and they commit murder along the way to Shechem.

They commit terrible crimes.

<sup>10</sup> Among the people of Israel, I have seen a horrible thing—the people of Ephraim worship idols everywhere.

The people of Israel have become filthy by what they have done.

<sup>11</sup> And for you also, you people of Judah, I have set for you a time when I will separate out your good people from your bad people.

 Just as in the harvest when you take all the crops in,
     and you keep the good and throw
         away the bad,
 that is what is coming for you, people of Judah.
 That will be the day when I bring back
     the blessings and riches of my people
         once more."

<sup>7</sup> As often as I try to heal Israel,
     the people openly show that they are sinning,
 and the people in the city of Samaria
     show the same thing.
     They lie and cheat in their buying
         and selling;
 they are like lawless men who attack
     people who are walking in the streets.

<sup>2</sup> But they do not take a moment to think that I, Yahweh, see everything they
         do.
     Everywhere they go, they commit
         evil,
 and I see it all.

<sup>3</sup> The wicked things they do bring delight
     to their king,
     and the king's officials are happy
         when they tell lies.

<sup>4</sup> They are all sexually immoral;
     they burn with lust like a baker's
         oven that is burning hot;
 once he lights the fire, he does not need
     to put any more wood on it,
 until he is ready to bake the bread.

<sup>5</sup> At the king's festivals, his officials do outrageous things because they are drunk with wine,
     and the king joins in with them as they mock me.

<sup>6</sup> But these same officials then set about making plans to murder the king.
     They are quietly angry all night,
 and they are openly angry in the morning.

<sup>7</sup> All those officials become so angry at the king,
         that they kill all their rulers.
 In the end, all their kings were killed;
     not one of them called on me,
         Yahweh, to help."

<sup>8</sup> "Israel joins with other people groups,
     but all the people are like a flat cake
         that is only cooked on one side;
         they are weak.

<sup>9</sup> People who come from far away have taken away Israel's strength.
     The nation is growing very weak,
         like an old man whose hair is turning gray.

But the nation does not know it is weak.

<sup>10</sup> Israel is so proud that everyone else sees
     it.
     Even so, they will not return to me
         — to Yahweh their God.
 They will not try to persuade me to have mercy on them, no matter what happens to them.

<sup>11</sup> Israel is like a foolish bird, a dove that anyone can easily deceive.
     He calls out first to Egypt, and then like a bird, he flies up to Assyria.

<sup>12</sup> But when they are on their way there,
     I will spread my net over them,
     I will bring them down as a hunter brings down birds from the air into a net.

I will punish them all together.

<sup>13</sup> How terrible it will be for my people, because they have abandoned me!

They will perish
     because they have rebelled against
         me.

I wanted to rescue them,
     but they kept telling lies against me.

<sup>14</sup> They do not cry out to me; they do not call to me from their hearts;
     they only lie on their beds and howl
         and cry out.

They meet together to ask their idols for their grain and new wine.
     They have rebelled against me.

<sup>15</sup> Even though I trained them and helped them become strong,
     even now they are planning to do evil against me.

<sup>16</sup> They go this way and that, but never to me, God Most High.
     They are like a bow that cannot shoot.

Their officers will be killed by their enemies' swords;
they will die because they have insulted me.

This is why the people in Egypt will insult them."

8 Yahweh says, "Get a trumpet and blow it. There are enemies swooping down over my people, as an eagle swoops down over a victim. This is because my people have left my covenant with them and have violated the law I gave them.

2 My people Israel cry out to me and say, 'Our God, we are loyal to you!'

3 But the people of Israel have thrown away what is good, so their enemies will chase after them.

4 Israel has appointed kings for themselves, but they did not consult with me about it. They chose their own kings without asking me to approve them.

They took their silver and gold and formed them into the idols they worshiped, but the people will perish as a result." 5 The prophet says, "Yes, Yahweh has rejected your idol, you people of Samaria—an idol made in the form of a calf!"

Yahweh says, "Perhaps these people will never again be innocent of evildoing. I am very angry with them!

6 The shame of it is that this idol came from Israel! A craftsman made it. It is only an idol; it cannot be the true and living God! I will ensure that someone will smash it to bits.

7 This is because these people do useless things, so something terrible will destroy them. Their grain standing in the fields will give no harvest. And even if it does, foreign soldiers will eat everything it produces.

8 Other nations have destroyed Israel's power. Now Israel is like an old, broken pot that no one wants.

9 They asked the king of Assyria for help; they were like a wild donkey wandering off by itself. The people of Israel have tried to pay other nations to protect them.

10 Although they do this, I will soon gather them up to destroy them. They will begin to become poor because they will have to pay money to Assyria's king.

11 The people of Ephraim have built many altars on which to offer sacrifices for their sins; however, these altars have become places where the people commit terrible sins against me.

12 Even if I wrote out for the people of Israel my laws ten thousand times, they would refuse to obey them. They would say they had never heard of them.

13 Let us think about the sacrifices that they give to me. They sacrifice the meat and then they eat it; but I, Yahweh, am not pleased with those sacrifices. I will think about their sins and will punish the people for them.

I will make them go back to Egypt.

14 And why has this happened? The people of Israel have forgotten me, the God who made them a nation. Instead of honoring me, they have built huge homes to live in.

And instead of worshiping Yahweh, the people of Judah have built walls around their cities for protection. So this is what I, Yahweh, will do:

I will send a fire that will destroy all their palaces and all their fortified cities."

9 Hosea says this: Do not be happy, O Israel; do not celebrate like other people groups! You have been unfaithful to your God. You have refused to do what he told you.

 At every place where people thresh their grain,
 you give your offerings and sacrifices to idols.
 You are just like men who pay money to sleep with women.
<sup>2</sup>Now you will not have enough grain or wine to feed your people.
 You will have no hope for any new wine, for the vines will fail you.
<sup>3</sup>The people of Israel will not continue to live in the land that Yahweh has chosen as his own.
 Instead, they will go back to Egypt one day.
 And in Assyria they will have to eat the kind of food that God had forbidden them to eat.
<sup>4</sup>No longer will they pour out wine to offer it to Yahweh;
 their sacrifices will not please him at all.
 Their sacrifices will be as unacceptable to God as the food that people eat at funerals;
 and everyone who eats that food becomes unacceptable to God.
 That food will be all they eat;
 they will not be able to bring it into Yahweh's house to offer it to him.
<sup>5</sup>There, in a country far from your home, you will not be able to celebrate the festivals that Yahweh commanded you to celebrate.
<sup>6</sup>Look! If you escape and the Assyrians do not kill you, the army of Egypt will capture you. You will die there, and the people in the city of Memphis will bury you.
 All your wealth in silver will be covered up and lost when the desert plants grow into your homes and take them over.
<sup>7</sup>It is now the time for God to punish you;
 the time has come in which God will pay you back for every sin you have committed.

And all you people of Israel must realize that these things will happen.
 So your false prophets are fools, and those who you thought were inspired by God are actually insane.
 This is because you have sinned so much and because you have become Yahweh's enemies.
<sup>8</sup>True prophets are people whom God has assigned to guard the people of Israel.
 But everywhere they go, others set traps for them; even in the temple of their God, others hate them.
<sup>9</sup>The people have polluted themselves by sinning as the Israelites did at Gibeah long ago.
 God will not forget the wicked things they did; he will certainly punish them.
<sup>10</sup>Yahweh says, "When I found Israel, it was like someone finding grapes growing in the wilderness.
 When I saw your ancestors, they were like the very first figs that appear in the year, figs growing on a young fig tree.
 But when they came to Mount Peor, they gave themselves completely to that disgusting idol Baal, and they became as detestable as the idol they loved.
<sup>11</sup>The honor of Ephraim is like a bird that is flying away.
 I will make their women so they cannot give birth, no woman will be pregnant, and no one will even conceive a child in the womb.
<sup>12</sup>Even if they raise children not their own,
 I will take them from their mothers.
 It will be the worst that could happen to them,
 when I abandon them!
<sup>13</sup>I have seen the people of Israel; they were like Tyre; they were like a tree planted in a beautiful meadow.

But they will have to lead their own children out to their enemies, who will slaughter them."

Give them wombs that miscarry, and let their mothers' breasts have no milk for their babies.

<sup>15</sup> Yahweh says, "Because of all the wicked things my people did at Gilgal, that is where I started to hate them.

And because of all the sinful deeds they have done,
I will drive them out of the place they live.

I will not love them any more;
all their officials fight against me.

<sup>16</sup> Ephraim is like a vine that has dried up and produces no fruit.

Even if they give birth,
I will put to death those children they love."

<sup>17</sup> Hosea says, My God rejected the people of Israel because they have not obeyed him, and they will wander from one nation to another.

<sup>10</sup> Israel is like a vine
that produces many bundles of grapes.

But the more their fruit increased, the richer they became.

With that money they made more stone columns in honor of their idols.

<sup>2</sup> They are deceitful and cannot be trusted;
but the time has come that they must pay for their sins.

Yahweh will break their altars into pieces

the places where they gave sacrifices to their idols, and he promises to destroy those pillars beside which they worshiped their false gods.

<sup>3</sup> They say, "We have no king now because we did not honor or respect Yahweh. But even if we had a king, how could a king help us?"

<sup>4</sup> The people of Israel make lying promises and false covenants; and because their promises are not kept, their sort of justice kills people, as poisonous weeds in a field would do.

<sup>5</sup> Those people of Samaria tremble with fear because of what happened to the calf idols at Beth Aven.

Those people mourn over what happened to those idols, as did the priests who served them; they rejoiced over them and praised their splendor, but now those idols have been taken away from them.

<sup>6</sup> Their idols will be carried to Assyria to be a gift for the great king.

The people of Israel will be disgraced; they will be ashamed for having trusted in the advice they received by consulting idols.

He will be like a small piece of wood that floats away down a stream.

<sup>8</sup> The hilltop places known for their wickedness—altars where the people worshiped idols—will all be destroyed.

Thorns and thistles will grow and cover all the altars that were in Samaria.

The people will beg the mountains and say,

"Cover us!"

and to the hills, "Fall on us!"

<sup>9</sup> People of Israel, since the days of Gibeah you have been sinning; it is as if you have been living there ever since then, because you think as they did.

Enemies will attack you evildoers at Gibeah.

<sup>10</sup> Yahweh says, "When I decide to act, I will punish them.

People groups will gather to fight against them;

those people groups will capture them and put them in chains because of their many sins.

- <sup>11</sup> Ephraim is like a trained calf
that loves to thresh grain, separating out the grain from
the chaff,
and I did not put a heavy yoke on her tender neck.
But now I will put Ephraim under
that yoke,
and Judah must plow.
and Jacob must break up the ground with the harrow.
- <sup>12</sup> Plow, now, and do what is right,
and you will reap the fruit of faithful love.
Do the hard work of breaking up the
unplowed ground,
for now is the time for you to ask Yahweh to have mercy on you,
so that he may come and rescue you because he does what is right.
- <sup>13</sup> You have sinned wickedly, and now
you will have to bear the consequences.
You told lies, and now you must suffer the results of the lies you told.
You have trusted in your own abilities
and wisdom,
and you have relied on the soldiers
in your armies.
- <sup>14</sup> The sound of war will be among your
people;
all your fortified cities will be
destroyed.
It will be as when Shalman destroyed
Beth Arbel in battle, when mothers were killed while they were holding their children.
- <sup>15</sup> That is what will be done to you, you people of the city of Bethel, because of all the evil things you
have done.
When the battle begins at dawn,
the king of Israel will be destroyed;
the enemy will kill him."
- 11 Yahweh says, "When the nation of Israel
was like a young man, I loved him.
He was like a son to me, whom I called out of Egypt.
<sup>2</sup> But the more I called out to them,

the more they ran away.
Day after day they offered their sacrifices
to the idols named Baal,
and they burned incense to honor
them.
<sup>3</sup> But it was I who taught them to do everything good, as a father teaches his son to walk.
I was like a father, holding them by their little arms.
But they did not understand that I was the one who was taking care of them.
<sup>4</sup> With kindness I guided them, with the tender cords of human kindness I led
them.
I loved them so much that I guided them and led by my own hand.
They worked very hard, like a yoke of oxen pulling a plow, but I made their yoke light and loosened its weight on their jaws, so they did not suffer pain.
<sup>5</sup> But Israel will certainly return to Egypt, and Assyria will certainly rule over
them,
because they refused to turn back to me
and worship me as their God.
<sup>6</sup> Their enemies will attack Israel's cities
with swords;
their enemies will destroy the bars
that keep their gates closed and
safe.
Their enemies will destroy the people of Israel and put an end to all the plans they made.
<sup>7</sup> My people are determined to turn away
from me.
They pretend to call out to me, the Most High God,
but I will allow no one to help
them.
<sup>8</sup> But you people of Israel—dear Israel—I cannot abandon you.
I cannot give you over to your
enemies.
I do not want to act toward you as I acted toward Admah or make you like Zeboyim—
cities that I destroyed along with Sodom.
I have changed my mind about punishing
you;

I earnestly long to have mercy on you.

<sup>9</sup> I have decided not to punish you severely.

I do not want to destroy you, the people of my Israel, whom I love. Human beings would easily decide to do that, but I am God, not human.

I am the Holy One who lives among you; I will not come to you and be angry with you.

<sup>10</sup> They will live their lives following my commands.

I will roar like a lion.

And when I roar, my people will hear and will come trembling.

They will come back to me from far away—

from the west they will come back to me.

<sup>11</sup> They will come fluttering into the land like a flock of birds coming up from Egypt.

And some will be like pigeons that fly in from Assyria.

I will let them live in their own homes once more, in the land of Israel. I, Yahweh, have promised this."

<sup>12</sup> "The people of Israel have continually lied to me. But the people of Judah they still obey me and are faithful to me, the Holy One."

12 The people of Israel do only what is useless; they do only things that will destroy them.

They tell more and more lies; they do more and more acts of violence.

They make a treaty with Assyria, and they send olive oil to Egypt, to persuade those nations to protect them.

<sup>2</sup> Yahweh is also accusing the people of Judah of breaking his covenant. He will punish those descendants of Jacob for what they have done.

He will pay them back; he will give them what they deserve.

<sup>3</sup> When Jacob was in his mother's womb, he grabbed his brother Esau's heel because he wanted to take his brother's place and be the firstborn. When Jacob grew up, he wrestled with God.

<sup>4</sup> When the angel appeared to him, he struggled with him and won. Jacob cried out to the angel and begged him to bless him.

Jacob found Yahweh at Bethel; it was there that Yahweh spoke with him.

<sup>5</sup> This is Yahweh, the God of the angel armies! "Yahweh" is the name by which we should worship him.

Never stop trusting in your God for him to help you.

<sup>7</sup> The merchants are wicked; they use scales that give wrong weights and measures, so they can cheat those who buy from them.

<sup>8</sup> The people of Israel boast, "We are very rich, and we have found ways to make ourselves even more wealthy than we are now.

In all our buying and selling, no one can see anything wrong in what we do."

<sup>9</sup> But Yahweh says, "I am Yahweh, whom you should worship; I am the one who brought your ancestors out of Egypt.

I will force you away from your homes and make you live in tents again, just as when you live in tents for a few days every year when you celebrate the Festival of Shelters.

<sup>10</sup> Many times I spoke to the prophets and gave them messages, for them to give to you; and I gave them many visions for you, and I gave them parables, for them to speak to you."

<sup>11</sup> The prophet says that if it is true that the people in the region of Gilead are wicked, then surely they are also worthless!
In Gilgal they kill bulls and offer them to their idols;
but these altars will be pulled down and turned into piles of stones in their fields.

<sup>12</sup> Jacob fled to the land of Aram; he, whose name God would later change to Israel, worked many years so he could marry a woman.

He took care of his uncle's sheep in order to marry her.

<sup>13</sup> Yahweh used the prophet Moses to bring Israel out of Egypt, and he took care of them by the prophet who led them.

<sup>14</sup> The people of Israel have caused Yahweh to become very angry; their Lord says that they are guilty of the death of many, and that their guilt remains on them.

He will pay them back because they have insulted him with their shameful deeds.

13 Yahweh says, "When the leaders of Israel spoke, the people trembled; they were respected in Israel.

But because they all worshiped Baal, they became guilty, and they died.

Those idols are statues that are very cleverly made, but those statues are made only by craftsmen.

But other people see that the men of Israel sacrifice to these calf-idols and kiss them to worship them.

<sup>3</sup> So the people of Israel will disappear as quickly as the clouds that form in the morning, as quickly as the dew, when the sun dries

it up.

They will disappear as easily as the chaff that the wind blows away from the threshing place.

They will disappear as easily as the smoke that goes out of the chimney.

<sup>4</sup> But I am Yahweh, whom you should worship; I am the one who brought you out of the land of Egypt.

You must worship no other God; you must worship only Me. There is no one else who can rescue you.

<sup>5</sup> I took charge of you in the wilderness, in a desert where there was no water to drink.

<sup>6</sup> When I provided food for you, you ate as much as you wanted and were satisfied.

But when you were no longer hungry, you became proud and forgot about me.

<sup>7</sup> So I will attack you like a lion; I will attack you like a leopard that waits beside the road to suddenly jump on a traveler.

<sup>8</sup> I will come against you like a female bear when someone steals her cubs, and I will rip open your chests. Like a lion that attacks— as a wild animal would tear you apart.

<sup>9</sup> You people of Israel, I will destroy you. No one will be able to help you.

<sup>10</sup> You no longer have any king who can save you in any of your cities.

You no longer have any of the rulers whom you asked me to give you.

<sup>11</sup> When I gave you a king, I gave him to you because I was angry with you.

And because I was angry with you, I took your kings away.

<sup>12</sup> I have kept track of all the wicked deeds that you people of Israel have committed; I have recorded all your guilt.

<sup>13</sup> You are like a baby ready to be born, but you are foolish, because you are like a child who refuses to be born.

<sup>14</sup> Will I really keep you from dying?

Will I rescue you from dying?

No! I will let you die

I will let you perish.

I have no more compassion left for you."

<sup>15</sup> The prophet Hosea says: "Even though you people of Israel are wealthier than those of Judah, the day is coming when Yahweh will destroy you.

You will meet disaster.

Your enemies will take everything valuable away from you.

<sup>16</sup> The people of the city of Samaria are guilty because they have rebelled against God.

Their enemies will kill them with swords.

they will throw their children far down to the ground and kill them; they will rip open their pregnant women."

<sup>14</sup> Israel, return to Yahweh your God!

You have sinned because you have done wicked things.

<sup>2</sup> So now, return to Yahweh, and think about how you will confess your sins to him.

Say this to him:

"Take away all our sins, and accept us; please be kind to us. Please accept us back, so that we may praise you in our words and song.

<sup>3</sup> Assyria cannot save us.

It is useless for us to ride horses into battle.

We will never again say, 'You are our gods' to the idols we have made with our own hands.

Even children with no fathers look to you, Yahweh, and they find that you are kind to them."

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh says, "I will forgive these people for having stopped honoring me; I will love them without ceasing, because I have decided to stop being angry at them.

<sup>5</sup> I will help the people of Israel as the dew helps the ground.

They will prosper like the lilies bloom.

They will become as strong as the cedar trees in Lebanon.

<sup>6</sup> They will be like trees whose branches spread out.

They will be as beautiful as the olive trees,

and they will please others as much as the fragrant cedar trees in Lebanon.

<sup>7</sup> They will return and live under the protection that Israel has from me;

I will protect them from hardship.

They will be successful like a field of grain that grows well, like grapevines that are growing well.

They will become as famous as the wine that people produce in the land of Lebanon.

<sup>8</sup> You people of Israel, I will completely stop you from worshiping idols.

It is I, Yahweh, who will take care of you. No idol can do that.

I am like a cypress tree that grows and stays fresh the entire year; all your good gifts come from me."

<sup>9</sup> Every wise person will understand the things about which I have written; those who have understanding will study these things and pay careful attention to them.

The way in which Yahweh wants us to live is right.

Those who do what is right live by them.

The rebellious people, however, sin, unable to obey him.

Joel

- 1 I am Joel son of Pethuel. This is a message that Yahweh gave to me.
- 2 You leaders of Israel, and everyone else who lives in this country, listen to this message!
- Nothing like this has ever happened during the time that we have lived
- or during the time when our ancestors lived.
- 3 Tell your children about it, and tell your children to tell it to their children,
- and tell your grandchildren to tell it to their children.
- 4 I am talking about the locusts that have eaten our crops.
- The first swarm of locusts came and cut many of the leaves of the crops;
- then another swarm came and ate the rest of the leaves,
- then another swarm came hopping along,
- and finally another swarm came and they destroyed everything else.
- 5 You people who are drunk, wake up!
- Wake up and wail loudly, because all the grapes are ruined, and so there will be no new wine!
- 6 Huge swarms of locusts have entered our country.
- They are like a powerful army that has very many soldiers; no one can count them.
- The locusts have teeth that are as sharp as the teeth of lions!
- 7 They have destroyed our grapevines and our fig trees by stripping off and eating all the bark,
- with the result that the branches are white and bare.
- 8 Cry and wail as a young woman does when the young man to whom she was engaged has died.
- 9 There is no more flour or wine for us to offer to be sacrifices at the temple, so the priests who serve Yahweh are mourning.

10 The crops in the fields have been ruined; it is as though the ground itself had died.

The grain has been destroyed, there are no grapes to make wine, and there is no more olive oil.

11 You farmers, grieve! You who take care of grapevines, wail, because the grain has been destroyed; there is no wheat or barley growing.

12 The grapevines and the fig trees have withered, and the pomegranate trees, palm trees, and apricot trees have also dried up.

The people are no longer joyful.

13 You priests, put on rough sack clothes and wail.

You who serve God by offering sacrifices on the altar, wear those sack clothes all night to show that you are mourning, because there is no flour or wine to be offered at the temple of your God.

14 Set apart a day for when the people should go without food.

Tell the leaders and the other people to gather at the temple and to cry out to Yahweh there.

15 Terrible things are happening to us! It will soon be the time when Yahweh, who is the Almighty God, will punish us, when he will cause us to experience more disasters.

16 Our crops are already gone, and no one is rejoicing at all at the temple of our God.

17 When we plant seeds, they do not grow; they dry up in the ground,

so there are no crops to harvest.
 Our barns are empty;
     there is no grain to store in them.
<sup>18</sup>Our cattle groan, searching for a pasture with some grass to eat, and the sheep bleat because they are
     suffering.
<sup>19</sup>Yahweh, I cry out to you,
     because our pastures and our forests have dried up in the hot sunshine.
<sup>20</sup>It is as though even the wild animals
     cry out to you
     because all the streams have dried
         up.
     The dryness is like a fire burning up
         the wilderness pastures.
 2 Blow trumpets on Mount Zion,
     God's sacred hill in Jerusalem!
     Tell the people of Judah that they should be afraid and tremble,
         because it will soon be the time for Yahweh to punish us further.
<sup>2</sup>That will be a very dark and gloomy
     day;
     there will be black clouds and it will be very dark.
 A huge swarm of locusts has covered the mountains like a black cloud.
 Nothing like this has ever happened
     before,
     and nothing like this will ever happen again.
<sup>3</sup>It is as though they bring flames of fire
     from which no one can escape.
 In front of them, the land was as beautiful as the garden of Eden, but behind them the land is like a
         desert,
         and nothing survives.
<sup>4</sup>The locusts resemble horses,
     and they run like soldiers on horses.
<sup>5</sup>Leaping over the mountaintops, they make a noise like rumbling
         chariots,
     like a mighty army that is preparing for a battle,
     or like the roar of a fire that burns
         up stubble in a field.
<sup>6</sup>When people see them coming,
     they become very pale and frightened.

<sup>7</sup>The locusts climb over walls like soldiers
     do;
     they march along in columns
     and never turn aside from their lines.
<sup>8</sup>They rush straight ahead
     without pushing each other.
 Even though people throw spears and javelins at them,
     that will not cause them to stop.
<sup>9</sup>They swarm over the city walls and enter our houses;
     they enter through our windows as thieves do.
<sup>10</sup>It is as though they cause the earth to shake and the sky to tremble.
     The sun and the moon become
         dark,
     and the stars do not shine because there are so many locusts in
         the sky.
<sup>11</sup>Yahweh leads this army of countless locusts,
     and they obey his commands.
 This time when he is judging and punishing us is very terrible,
     with the result that it seems that no
         one can survive it.
<sup>12</sup>But Yahweh says,
     "In spite of these disasters that you have experienced,
         you can return to me with all your
         inner being.
 Weep, and mourn, and fast to show that you are sorry that you have abandoned me.
<sup>13</sup>Do not tear only your clothes
     to show that you are sorry;
     more importantly, show in your inner being that you are sorry."
 Yahweh is merciful and kind;
     he does not quickly become angry;
     he faithfully loves people.
 He does not quickly become angry;
     instead, he greatly and faithfully
         loves you,
     and he does not like to punish us.
<sup>14</sup>No one knows if he will change his mind about punishing you and instead act mercifully toward
         you.

If he does that, he will bless you by giving you plenty of grain and wine in order that you can offer some of those things for sacrifices to him.

<sup>15</sup> Blow the trumpets on Mount Zion! Gather the people together! Set apart time to fast, to show that you are sorry for your sins.

<sup>16</sup> Perform the rituals to cause yourselves to be acceptable to Yahweh. Come apart and join together as a group with a purpose—the old people and the children, even the babies, and summon brides and bridegrooms from their rooms.

<sup>17</sup> Tell the priests who serve Yahweh to cry between the altar and the entrance to the temple and to pray this: "Yahweh, rescue us, your people; do not allow people from other nations to despise us; do not allow them to ridicule us and say, 'Why has their God abandoned them?'"

<sup>18</sup> But Yahweh showed that he was concerned about his people and that he would act mercifully toward them.

<sup>19</sup> When the people prayed, Yahweh answered and said, "I will give you plenty of grain and wine and olive oil, and you will be satisfied. I will no longer allow other nations to insult you."

<sup>20</sup> Another army of locusts will come from the north to attack you, but I will force them to continue past Jerusalem into the desert. Some will go into the Dead Sea in the east, and some will go into the Mediterranean Sea in the west. There they will all die, and their bodies will stink." God will certainly do wonderful

things.

<sup>21</sup> Yahweh will indeed do wonderful things! So even the ground should rejoice!

<sup>22</sup> And the wild animals should not be afraid, because the meadows will soon become green again; the fig trees and other trees will be full of fruit, and the grapevines will be covered with grapes.

<sup>23</sup> You people of Jerusalem, rejoice about what Yahweh, your God, will do for you. He will send abundant rain at the right time—in the spring and in the autumn, as he did previously.

<sup>24</sup> The ground where you thresh the grain will be covered with grain, and your vats where you store the fresh grape juice and olive oil will overflow.

<sup>25</sup> Yahweh said, "I will repay you for everything that was destroyed by those great swarms of locusts, that enormous army that I sent to attack you.

<sup>26</sup> You, my people, will eat until your stomachs are full. Then you will praise me, Yahweh, your God, for the wonderful things that I have done for you.

And never again will I let others shame you.

<sup>27</sup> When that happens, you will know that I am always among you, that I am Yahweh, your God, and that there is no other God. Never again will I let others shame you."

<sup>28</sup> "Some time later, I will give my Spirit to many people. You sons and daughters will proclaim messages that come directly from me. Your old men will have dreams that come from me, and your young men will have visions that come from me.

<sup>29</sup> At that time, I will give my Spirit even to servants, both men and women.

<sup>30</sup> I will do unusual things on the earth and in the sky.

On the earth, there will be much blood shed, and there will be very large fires and smoke that resembles huge clouds.

<sup>31</sup> In the sky, the sun will become dark, and the moon will become as red as blood.

Those things will happen before that great and terrible day when I, Yahweh, come to judge all people.

<sup>32</sup> But at that time I will save everyone who worships me.

I promise that some people in Jerusalem will escape those disasters; those whom I have chosen will survive."

"At that time, I will bring back the people whom their enemies took away from Jerusalem and from other places in Judah.

<sup>2</sup> Then in the Valley of Jehoshaphat I will gather together the people of all the other nations;

I will judge and punish them because they scattered my Israelite people and forced them to go to other countries, and because they divided up my land among themselves.

<sup>3</sup> They played games of chance to determine who would get each of my people.

Then they sold some of the Israelite boys and girls to get money to pay for prostitutes and wine to drink.

<sup>4</sup> You people of the cities of Tyre and Sidon, and you people of Philistia—you are angry at me, but you have no reason to be. If you are trying to get revenge on me, I will very quickly get revenge on you. <sup>5</sup> You took the silver and gold and other valuable things from my temple and put them into your own temples.

<sup>6</sup> You dragged away the people of Jerusalem and other places in Judah, and you took them far away and sold them to Greek traders.

<sup>7</sup> But I will make it possible for my people to return from the places to which you sold them, and I will do to you what you did to them. <sup>8</sup> Then I will cause some of your sons and your daughters to be sold to the people of Judah! And they will be sold to the Sabea people group, who live far away. That will certainly happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>9</sup> Proclaim to the people of all nations, "Prepare for a war!"

Summon your soldiers; tell them to stand in their battle positions.

<sup>10</sup> Take your plows and make swords from them; take your pruning knives and make spears from them.

Even the weak people must also say they are strong soldiers.

<sup>11</sup> All you people from the nations that are near Judah must come quickly and gather there."

But Yahweh, when that happens, send your army of angels to attack them!

<sup>12</sup> Yahweh says, "The people in the nations near Judah must get ready and come to the Valley of Jehoshaphat.

There I will sit as a judge, and I will punish them.

<sup>13</sup> They are like crops that are ready to be harvested; so strike them as a farmer swings his sickle to cut the grain.

They are like grapes that are piled high in the pits where they will be pressed; because they are very wicked, punish them severely now, as a farmer tramples on the grapes until the pits overflow with juice."

<sup>14</sup> There will be the noise of huge crowds of people in that Valley of Judgment. It will soon be the time that Yahweh will punish them.

<sup>15</sup> At that time there will be no light from the sun or moon, and the stars will not shine.

<sup>16</sup>From Mount Zion in Jerusalem

Yahweh will shout;

his voice will be like thunder,
and his voice will cause the sky and
the earth to shake.

But Yahweh will protect his people;
he will be like a strong wall behind which the people of Israel will be protected.

<sup>17</sup>Yahweh says, "At that time, you Israelite people will know that I am Yahweh, your God.

I live on Zion, the hill I have set apart for myself.

Jerusalem will be a city very special to me,
and soldiers from other countries
will never conquer it again.

<sup>18</sup>At that time, there will be vineyards
covering the hills,
and your cattle and goats on those hills will produce plenty of milk.

The streams in Judah will never dry
up,

And a stream will flow from my temple into the Valley of Acacia northeast of the Dead Sea.

<sup>19</sup>The armies of Egypt and Edom attacked the people of Judah and killed many people who had not done anything that was wrong.

So now those countries will be ruined,
with no one living there any longer.

<sup>20</sup>But there will always be people living in Jerusalem and in other places in Judea.

<sup>21</sup>I, Yahweh, live on Mount Zion in Jerusalem,
and I will get revenge on the people of Egypt and Edom who killed
many of my people."

Amos

1 This is the message that Yahweh gave to Amos, a shepherd near the town of Tekoa south of Jerusalem. He received this message about Israel in a vision two years before the big earthquake. It was when Uzziah was the king of Judah and Jeroboam son of King Jehoash, was the king of Israel.

2 This is what Amos said:

"Yahweh will shout very loudly; when he speaks from Mount Zion in Jerusalem, his voice will sound like thunder.

When that happens, the pastures where you shepherds take care of your sheep will dry up, and the grass on top of Mount Carmel will wither because Yahweh will order the rain not to fall."

3 This is also what Yahweh said to me: "I will punish the people of Damascus, the capital of Aram, because of the many sins that they have committed; I will not change my mind about punishing them, because of the cruel things that they did to the people of the region of Gilead.

4 I will cause a fire to burn the palace that King Hazael built and lived in, the fortress where his son King Ben Hadad also lived.

5 I will cause the gates of Damascus to be broken down; I will get rid of the king of Biqat Aven and the man who rules in Beth Eden. The people of Aram will be captured and taken to the region of Kir."

6 Yahweh also said this to me:

"I will punish the people of the cities of Philistia;

I will punish the people of Gaza because of the many sins that they have committed;

I will not change my mind about punishing them, because they captured large groups of people and took them to Edom and sold them to become the slaves of the people there.

7 I will cause a fire to completely burn the walls of Gaza and also destroy its fortresses.

8 I will get rid of the king of the city of Ashdod and the king who rules in the city of Ashkelon.

I will also strike the people of the city of Ekron, and all the people of Philistia who are still alive will be killed."

9 Yahweh also said this to me:

"I will punish the people of the city of Tyre because of the many sins that their people have committed; I will not change my mind about punishing them because they also captured large groups of our people and took them to Edom, disregarding the treaty of friendship that they had made with your rulers.

10 So I will cause a fire to completely burn the walls of Tyre and also destroy its fortresses."

11 Yahweh also said this to me:

"I will punish the people of Edom because of the many sins that their people have committed; I will not change my mind about punishing them, because they pursued the people of Israel, who descended from Esau's brother Jacob, and killed them with swords; they did not act mercifully toward them at all.

They were extremely angry with the people of Israel, and they continue to be angry with them.

12 I will cause a fire to burn the district of Teman in Edom

and completely burn the fortresses of Bozrah, the biggest city in Edom."

<sup>13</sup> Yahweh also said this to me:
"I will punish the people of Ammon because of the many sins that they
have committed;
I will not change my mind about
punishing them,
because their soldiers even ripped open
the bellies of pregnant women when their army attacked the region of Gilead to gain more territory.

<sup>14</sup> I will cause a fire to completely burn
the walls of the city of Rabbah and to completely burn its fortresses.

During that battle, their enemies will
shout loudly
and the fighting will be like a great storm.

<sup>15</sup> After the battle, the king of Ammon
and his officials will go into exile."

2 Yahweh also said this:

"I will punish the people of Moab
because of the many sins that they
have committed;

I will not change my mind about
punishing them,
because they dug up the bones of the king of Edom and burned them
completely,
with the result that the ashes
became as white as lime.

<sup>2</sup> So I will cause a fire to completely burn
the fortresses of the city of Kerioth in Moab.

People will hear soldiers shouting and blowing trumpets loudly while I am causing Moab to be destroyed

<sup>3</sup> and while I am getting rid of its king and all its leaders.

That will surely happen because I,
Yahweh, have said it!"

<sup>4</sup> Yahweh also said this:

"I will punish the people of Judah
because of the many sins that they
have committed;

I will not change my mind about

punishing them,
because they have rejected what I taught
them
and they have not obeyed my
commands.

They have been deceived and persuaded
to worship false gods,
the same gods that their ancestors
worshiped.

<sup>5</sup> So I will cause a fire to completely burn everything in Judah, including the fortresses in Jerusalem."

<sup>6</sup> Yahweh also said this:

"I will punish the people of Israel because of the many sins that they have
committed;

I will not change my mind about
punishing them,

because they sell righteous people to get a small amount of silver;

they sell poor people, causing them
to become slaves,

getting for each of them only the amount of money with which they could buy a pair of sandals.

<sup>7</sup> It is as though they trample the poor people into the dirt

and do not treat the helpless fairly.

Men and their fathers dishonor me
by sleeping with the same slave girl.

<sup>8</sup> When poor people borrow money,
the lenders force those people to give to them a piece of clothing for them to keep until he can pay back the money.

But at the end of each day, instead of returning that garment as Yahweh had commanded them to,
they lie down on that garment at the places where they worship their gods!

They make people pay money for various reasons,

and then they drink it in the temples of their gods.

<sup>9</sup> Long ago, to assist your ancestors, I got rid of the Amor people group.
They seemed to be as tall as cedar
trees

- and as strong as oak trees,
but I got rid of them completely,
as easily as someone cuts off the branches of a tree and then digs
out all the roots.
- <sup>10</sup> I brought your ancestors out of Egypt, and then I led them through the desert for forty years.
Then I enabled them to conquer
the land of the Amorites, Canaan.
- <sup>11</sup> I chose some of you Israelites to be prophets,
and I chose others to be Nazir who were completely dedicated to
me.
You people of Israel certainly know that what I have said is true!
- <sup>12</sup> But you commanded the prophets to not speak the messages that I gave to
them,
and you persuaded the Nazir to drink
wine,
which I told them never to do.
- <sup>13</sup> So I will crush you as the wheels of a wagon that is loaded with grain crushes
whatever it rolls over.
- <sup>14</sup> Even if you run fast,
you will not escape;
even if you are strong, it will be as though
you are weak,
and warriors will be unable to save
themselves.
- <sup>15</sup> Even if you are able to shoot arrows
well,
you will be forced to retreat;
even if you run fast or if you ride away on a horse,
you will not be able to save yourself.
- <sup>16</sup> Even warriors who are very brave will drop their weapons
when they try to flee on the day
that I get rid of them.
That will surely happen because I,
Yahweh, have said it."
- 3 "You people of Israel, I brought all your ancestors out of Egypt;
so listen to what I am saying about
you.
<sup>2</sup> From all the people groups on the earth,

- I chose and took care of only you.
That is the reason that I will punish you for the sins that you have
committed."
- <sup>3</sup> Two people certainly cannot walk
together
if they have not already agreed what place they will start walking from.
- <sup>4</sup> A lion in a forest certainly does not roar
if it has not killed another animal.
It does not growl in its den
if it is not eating the flesh of an animal that it has caught.
- <sup>5</sup> No one can catch a bird
if he does not set a trap for it.
A trap does not spring shut
when some animal has not sprung
the trap.
- <sup>6</sup> Similarly, all the people in a city
certainly become afraid
when they hear someone blowing a trumpet
to signal that enemies are attacking.
And when a city experiences disaster, Yahweh is the one who has caused
it.
- <sup>7</sup> Whatever Yahweh plans to do,
he tells his prophets about it.
- <sup>8</sup> Everyone certainly becomes terrified
when they hear a lion roar; Yahweh the Lord has given messages to prophets,
they certainly must proclaim those
messages,
even though they terrify people.
- <sup>9</sup> Proclaim to the people who guard the strongholds in Ashdod,
and to those who protect the fortresses in the land of Egypt,
and say this,
"Come together on the hills of Samaria, and see how much the people in that city are frightened, and see the way the people are suffering because of what they are doing to each other!"
- <sup>10</sup> Yahweh says that the people there do not know how to do things that are right.
Their homes are filled with valuable things that they have stolen or taken violently from others.

<sup>11</sup> So Yahweh our God says that soon their enemies will come and tear down their defenses and take away those valuable things.

<sup>12</sup> Yahweh has declared this: "When a lion attacks a sheep, sometimes a shepherd is able to snatch from the lion's mouth only two legs or an ear of the sheep. Similarly, only a few people from Samaria will escape, just as if someone could save only a part of a couch or a bed from a fire in the house." U

<sup>13</sup> Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, says this:

"Proclaim this message about the descendants of Jacob:

<sup>14</sup> When I, Yahweh, punish the people of Israel because of the sins that they have committed, I will cause the altars at the town of Bethel to be destroyed; even the projections at the corners of the altars will be cut off and fall to the ground.

<sup>15</sup> I will cause the houses that they live in during the winter to be torn down; and the houses they live in during the summer, they will also be torn down.

Beautiful big houses and houses that are decorated with ivory will be destroyed.

That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it!"

4 You wealthy women of Samaria who have grown fat like the fat cows of the region of Bashan.

You oppress poor people, and you cause needy people to suffer.

And you say to your husbands, "Bring us more wine to drink!"

<sup>2</sup> But Yahweh our God has said this: "Because I am holy, I solemnly promise this:

It will soon be the time when you all will be taken to another country; your enemies will take you away using sharp hooks to grab you.

<sup>3</sup> Your enemies will drag you out and you will go through breaks in your city walls, and they will force you to go toward Harmon.

That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it!

<sup>4</sup> Go ahead: go to the hilltop places of idol worship that are at Bethel and Gilgal, where many people worship me; go and rebel more and more against me!

Offer sacrifices on the morning after you arrive, and bring me a tenth of your crops the next day.

<sup>5</sup> Bring offerings of bread to thank me, and other offerings that are not required, and boast about these offerings that you bring, because that is what you like to do; but you do it to impress others, not to please me.

That is certainly true, because I, Yahweh, have said it.

<sup>6</sup> I am the one who caused there to be no food in any of your cities and towns, but you rejected me in spite of that.

<sup>7</sup> When it was still three months before the time of harvesting crops, at the time when your crops needed rain the most,

I prevented rain from falling. Sometimes I allowed rain to fall on some towns and prevented it from falling on other towns.

Rain fell on some fields, but it did not fall on other fields, with the result that the soil in those fields where it did not rain dried up.

<sup>8</sup> Your people would stagger from one town to another town to find water, but they could not even get enough water to drink,

but in spite of that, you have not returned to me.
That is certainly true because I, Yahweh,
have said it!

<sup>9</sup> Many times I struck your crops with disease and mildew.
The locusts devoured your gardens
and vineyards,
your fig trees and olive trees, yet you did not return to me
—this is Yahweh's declaration."

<sup>10</sup> I caused you to experience plagues like the plagues that I sent to the people of Egypt.
I caused many of your young men to die
in battles.
and allowed your enemies to capture your horses.
Many of your soldiers were killed, and your camps were filled with the smell of their corpses.
But in spite of that, you rejected
me.

That is certainly true, because I, Yahweh,
have said it!

<sup>11</sup> I got rid of many of you,
like the people in Sodom and Gomorrah.
Those of you who did not die were like a burning stick that was snatched from a fire so that it would not burn
completely.
But in spite of that, you rejected
me.

That is certainly true, because I, Yahweh,
have said it!

<sup>12</sup> So now, you people of Israel, I am going to punish you.
Prepare to stand in front of me,
your God, when I judge you!

<sup>13</sup> I created the mountains,
and the winds.
I reveal to humans what I am thinking.
and sometimes cause the daylight to become dark like the night.
I rule over everything,
and even walk on the highest mountains on the earth!
I am Yahweh, commander of the
angel armies!"

5 You people of Israel, listen to this funeral song that I will sing about you:
<sup>2</sup> "You are like a young woman, but in spite of that, you will certainly be struck down
and you will never get up again!
You will lie on the ground, abandoned,
and there will be no one to help
you stand up."
<sup>3</sup> This is what Yahweh the Lord says to the people of Israel:
"When your enemies attack you,
and when a thousand of your soldiers go
into battle,
only a hundred will survive.
When a hundred soldiers march out
from a city to fight,
only ten will remain alive."
<sup>4</sup> Yahweh continues to say to the people of Israel:
"You Israelite people, return to me!
If you do that, you will continue to remain alive.
<sup>5</sup> Do not go to Bethel to seek my help;
do not go to Gilgal to worship;
do not go to Beersheba,
because your enemies will drag away the people of Gilgal to
other countries,
and they will completely destroy Bethel."
<sup>6</sup> So come to Yahweh;
if you do that, you will remain alive.
If you do not do that,
Yahweh will come down on you descendants of Joseph like a
fire;
that fire will burn everything in Bethel and nothing will be able to save that town.
<sup>7</sup> You people distort what is right; you make others think that it is something very bitter;
you treat good things as though
they were evil.
<sup>8</sup> God created all the groups of stars
and he put them in their places.
Each morning he causes the darkness to become the dawn,
and each evening he causes the daylight to become darkness.

He scoops up water from the oceans to become clouds,
and then he dumps the water from the clouds onto the earth.
The one who does those things is Yahweh.

<sup>9</sup> He causes strong soldiers to be killed,
and he causes the high walls around cities to fall down.

<sup>10</sup> He is the one who will punish you because you hate those who challenge anyone who tries to make unjust decisions;
you hate those who tell the truth in your courts.

<sup>11</sup> You oppress poor people and force them to pay big taxes.
So you have built big stone mansions for yourselves,
but you will not be able to live in them.

You have planted vineyards,
but there will not be any grapes for you to harvest to make wine.

<sup>12</sup> I know all of your sins
and the terrible crimes that you have committed.

You oppress righteous people,
and you accept bribes.

You do not allow judges to treat poor people justly.

<sup>13</sup> This is a time when many people do evil things,
so people who have good sense say nothing at all.

<sup>14</sup> In order to remain alive,
you must stop doing what is wrong, and start doing what is right.

If you do that, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will be with you as you claim that he always is.

<sup>15</sup> Love what is good, and hate what is evil!

Try to cause judges in your courts to make decisions that are right!

If you do those things, perhaps Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, will act mercifully toward you descendants of Joseph who are still alive.

<sup>16</sup> "Because I, Yahweh, will punish you for your sins, this is what I have solemnly declared:
People will be wailing loudly in every street,
and people will be shocked in every plaza.

Farmers will be called to come and weep,
along with the other official mourners who will wail for those who have died.

<sup>17</sup> People will be wailing in your vineyards, because I will punish you severely.

That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it!"

<sup>18</sup> Terrible things will happen to you who want Yahweh to punish his enemies, because that will be a day of darkness, not of light.

<sup>19</sup> At that time, when you try to run from a lion,
you will face a bear.

When you run into your house to be safe,
and you put your hand on the wall,
it will be bitten by a snake.

<sup>20</sup> That day, when he punishes people,
will certainly be awful, like a dark night
without even a little bit of light.

<sup>21</sup> Yahweh says, "I hate your religious celebrations and the times when you gather to worship me;
I detest them all.

<sup>22</sup> Even if you bring me offerings to burn on the altar and offerings of grain,
I will no longer accept them.

Even if you bring me offerings to restore fellowship with me,
I will not pay any attention to them.

<sup>23</sup> So stop singing noisy songs!
I will not listen when you play harps.

<sup>24</sup> Instead, act justly and righteously; you should do this and never stop;
if you do, it will be like the water in a river that never stops flowing.

<sup>25</sup> You Israelite people, your ancestors wandered through the wilderness for forty years;

and during that time, they never brought any sacrifices and offerings to me!

<sup>26</sup> But you carried the two idols that you have made—Sikkuth, the god whom you call 'king,'
and Kaiwan, the image of the star that you worship.

<sup>27</sup> For I will now force you to go to a country that is far beyond Damascus! That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, have said it!"

6 Terrible things will happen to you people in Jerusalem who are not worried about anything, and also to you leaders who live on the hill of the city of Samaria, you who think that you are safe.

You call yourselves the most important people in the world, and you are the leaders to whom Israelites go for help.

<sup>2</sup> You tell them, "Just go to the city of Kalneh and look at it.
Then go to see the great city Hamath and to Gath in Philistia and look at it. They are all prosperous.

Now your lands are better than those places, and your two countries—Judah and Samaria—are bigger. So you are safe."

<sup>3</sup> Terrible things will happen to you leaders! You are trying to avoid thinking about the coming time when you will experience disasters, when your enemies will violently attack you.

<sup>4</sup> You follow foreign customs in reclining to dine on couches decorated with expensive ivory, on soft couches.

You eat the tender meat of lambs and fat calves.

<sup>5</sup> You create new songs as if you had nothing better to do, and you play them on your harps like King David did.

<sup>6</sup> You drink entire bowlfuls of wine, and you put expensive oils on your bodies, but you do not grieve about our country of Israel, which is about to be destroyed.

<sup>7</sup> Your feasting and lounging on soft couches will soon end, and you will be among the first ones to be forced by your enemies to go into exile.

<sup>8</sup> Yahweh the Lord has solemnly declared this:

"I hate the people of Israel because they are very proud; I detest their fortresses. I will enable their enemies to capture their capital city and everything in it."

<sup>9</sup> When that happens, if there are ten people in one house, they will all die. <sup>10</sup> If a relative who has the task of burning their corpses comes to the house and inquires of anyone who is still hiding there, "Is there anyone here with you?" and that person replies "No," the one who inquired will say, "Be quiet! You must not call Yahweh's attention to us by mentioning his name, or he may have a reason to kill us!"

<sup>11</sup> Terrible things like that will happen because Yahweh has commanded that the large houses in Israel must be smashed into pieces, and small houses must be smashed into tiny bits.

<sup>12</sup> Horses certainly do not run on big rocks, and certainly people cannot plow the rocks with oxen.

But you have done things that no one should do:

You have distorted what is fair; you have changed what is right and consider it to be like things that are bitter.

<sup>13</sup> You are proud because you have captured the town of Lo Debar, and you have said, "We captured Karnaim by our own power!"

"I will cause a certain nation to attack you people of Israel; they will oppress you all the way from Hamath Pass in the northwest to the brook of the Arabah.

7 Yahweh our God showed me in a vision that he was going to send locusts to destroy our crops. It was going to happen right after the king's share of the hay had been harvested and before the rest of the hay was ready to be harvested. <sup>2</sup>In the vision I saw those locusts come, and they ate everything that was green. Then I cried out, "Yahweh our Lord, please forgive us! We Israelite people are very helpless; how will we be able to survive?"

<sup>4</sup>Then this is what Yahweh our Lord showed me in another vision: He was calling to a fire to come and punish his people. In the vision I saw that the fire had dried up the water under all the land and also had burned everything on the land. <sup>5</sup>Then I cried out again, "Yahweh our Lord, I plead with you, please stop this! We Israelite people are very helpless; how will we be able to survive?"

<sup>6</sup>So Yahweh changed his mind again, and said, "That also will not happen."

<sup>7</sup>Then Yahweh showed me another vision. I saw him standing beside a wall. It was very straight because it had been built using a plumb line. Yahweh had the plumb line in his hand. <sup>8</sup>Yahweh asked me, "Amos, what do you see?"

I replied, "A plumb line."

Then Yahweh said, "Look, I am going to use a plumb line among my Israelite people, to show that they are like a wall that is not straight. I will not change my mind again about punishing them."

<sup>9</sup>The hilltop places of idolatry where the descendants of Isaac worship idols will be destroyed.

And the other important holy places in Israel will also be destroyed.

And I will enable your enemies to attack your people with swords, and they will get rid of King Jeroboam and all his descendants."

<sup>10</sup>Then Amaziah the priest at Bethel, sent a message to Jeroboam, the king of Israel. In the message he said, "Amos is plotting against you among the Israelite people. I am worried that the people of this country will not know that he is wrong. <sup>11</sup>This is what he is saying:

'Jeroboam will soon be killed by someone using a sword,
and the people of Israel will be exiled.'"

<sup>12</sup>Then Amaziah came to me and said, "You prophet, get out of here! Go back to the country of Judah! Do your prophesying there if you want to earn money! <sup>13</sup>Do not prophesy anymore here at Bethel, because this is where the national temple, the king's temple, is!"

<sup>14</sup>I replied to Amaziah, "I was previously not a prophet and my father was not a prophet; I was a shepherd. I also took care of sycamore fig trees. <sup>15</sup>But Yahweh took me away from taking care of my sheep, and he said to me, 'Go to Israel and prophesy to my people there!'

<sup>16</sup>You said to me, 'Do not prophesy and say that terrible things will happen to the people of Israel;
stop saying those things!'

<sup>17</sup>So listen to what Yahweh says about you:
Your wife will become a prostitute in this very city;

your sons and daughters will die
because their enemies will kill
them.

Others will measure your land
and divide it up among themselves;
and you yourself will die in a foreign country.

And the people of Israel will certainly have to leave their country and go into exile."

8 Yahweh showed me in a vision a basket full of ripe fruit. <sup>2</sup>He asked me, "Amos, what do you see?"

I replied, "A basket of very ripe fruit."

He said, "That indicates that it almost the end for my Israelite people. I will not change my mind again about punishing them."

<sup>3</sup>Soon the people will be wailing instead of singing in the temple. There will be corpses everywhere, and people will say nothing as they remove them. These things will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it!"

<sup>4</sup> It is as though you people were trampling on the needy people,
and you destroy the poor people.

<sup>5</sup> You habitually say,
"We wish that the new moon festival
would end soon,
in order that we may be allowed to sell our grain.

We wish that the Sabbath would end
soon,
in order that we may again be permitted to sell our wheat.—

When we sell it,
we can charge a big price for it,
and we can cheat people by using scales
that do not weigh correctly.

<sup>6</sup> We will sell wheat that is no good.
Those who are needy and poor and who do not have money to buy
things,
we will make them our slaves
by buying them with the little amount of silver with which we could buy a pair of sandals!"

<sup>7</sup> Yahweh has declared, "As I live, I, whom you should worship: I solemnly declare that I will not forget the evil things that you have
done.

<sup>8</sup> Because of those evil things, your country will certainly soon tremble,
and all of you will mourn.
It will be as though it will repeatedly rise
and fall
like the Nile River that gets full of water and overflows its banks and then settles back into its riverbed.

<sup>9</sup> At the time when I punish my people,
I will cause the sun to set at noontime,
and the entire earth will be dark in the daytime.

<sup>10</sup> I will cause your religious celebrations
to become times when you mourn;
instead of singing, everyone will be weeping.

Because of what I will do, all of you will wear rough sackcloth and shave your heads
to show that you are sorrowing.
I will cause that time to be like when people mourn after an only son has died.

All of you will be very sad all of that
time."

<sup>11</sup> And Yahweh our God says this:
"It will soon be the time when I will cause something to be very scarce throughout the country.

But it will not be a time when there is no
food or water;
it will instead be a time when there will be no messages from me
for anyone to hear.

<sup>12</sup> People will stagger from the Dead Sea
to the Mediterranean Sea, and wander from the north to the east,
searching for a message from me,
but there will not be any.

<sup>13</sup> At that time,
even beautiful young women and strong young men will faint
because they will be very thirsty.

<sup>14</sup> Those who make oaths using the name of their shameful god of Samaria, and those who solemnly promise to do something using the name of the god of Dan,
and those who swear using the name of the god of Beersheba

they will all die;
they will never get up again."

9 Yahweh showed me another vision. In the vision, I saw him standing next to the altar.
He said,

"Strike the tops of the pillars of the temple,
until they become loose and fall
down,
so that the foundation will shake.

Then cause the pieces of the temple to fall down on the people who are inside.

I will kill with a sword anyone who tries to flee;
no one will escape.

<sup>2</sup> If they dig deep pits in the ground, even
all the way to the place of the dead,
or if they try to climb up to the sky
in order to escape,
I will reach out and grab them.

<sup>3</sup>If they go to the top of Mount Carmel to escape,
I will search for them and seize
them.

If they try to hide from me at the bottom of the sea,
I will command the huge sea
monster to bite them.

<sup>4</sup>If their enemies capture them and force
them to go to other countries,
I will command that they be killed
there with swords.

I am determined to get rid of them, not to help them."

<sup>5</sup>When Yahweh, commander of the angel armies, touches the earth, it melts,
and all over the earth many people die, and the others mourn for
them.

It is as though Yahweh causes the earth
repeatedly to rise and fall like water in the Nile River rises and falls.

<sup>6</sup>He builds his beautiful palace in heaven and sets the sky to be like a dome over the earth.

He scoops up the water from the ocean
and puts it into clouds,
and then empties the clouds onto
the earth.

His name is Yahweh.

<sup>7</sup>Yahweh says, "You people of Israel,
you are certainly now no more important to me than the people of Ethiopia.

I brought your ancestors here from Egypt,
but I also brought the people of Philistia from the Island of Crete,

and I brought the people of Aram
from the region of Kir.

<sup>8</sup>I, Yahweh the Lord, have seen that you people in the kingdom of Israel are very sinful,
so I will destroy you.

But I will not get rid of all you
descendants of Jacob.

That is what will surely happen
because I, Yahweh, have said it.

<sup>9</sup>When I command it, it will be as though I will shake you Israelite people who are living in various

nations,

as farmer shakes a sieve to separate the stone pebbles from the grain

in order that they do not fall on the ground with the grain.

<sup>10</sup>From among my people, all you sinful people who say, 'We will not experience disasters;
nothing evil will happen to us,'
your enemies will kill you with their swords."

<sup>11</sup>"The kingdom over which King David ruled has been destroyed, like a house that collapsed and then became ruins.

But some day I will cause it to be a kingdom again.

I will cause it to prosper again
just like it did previously.

<sup>12</sup>When that happens, your armies will seize the remaining part of the region of Edom,
and they will also seize the other nations that previously belonged to me.

I, Yahweh, have said that I will do these
things,
and I will certainly cause them to
happen.

<sup>13</sup>There will be a time when your crops
will grow very well;
very soon after the crops are harvested, farmers will plow the ground to plant more crops in it again,
and soon after the vineyards are planted,
farmers will harvest grapes and tread on them to make wine.

And because there will be very much
wine,

it will seem as though wine is flowing down from the hills.

<sup>14</sup>I will cause you, my Israelite people, to prosper again.
You will rebuild your towns and live in them.

You will plant vineyards and drink the wine made from the grapes that grows in them.

<sup>15</sup>I will enable you to live in your land again,
the land that I gave to your ancestors;

never again will you be forced to leave it.
That is what will surely happen
because I, Yahweh, have said it."

Obadiah

1 This is a message that Yahweh our God gave to me, Obadiah, about the Edom people group.

Yahweh our God has told me this about the people of Edom:

"I, Yahweh, have sent a messenger to other nations, telling them to prepare to go and attack Edom."

2 And Yahweh says this to the people of Edom:

"I will soon cause you to become the weakest and most despised nation on the earth.

3 Your capital city is high in the rocky cliffs,
and you are very proud;

you think that you are safe because no army can attack you,
but you have deceived yourselves.

4 And I tell you that even if you had wings and could fly higher than eagles fly,
and if you could make your homes among the stars,
I would bring you crashing down from there.

5 When thieves break into someone's house during the night,
they certainly steal only the things that they want.

And people who pick grapes always leave a few grapes on the vines.
But your country will be completely destroyed!

6 Everything that is valuable will be taken away.
Your enemies will find and take away even the valuable things that you have hidden.

7 All your allies will turn against you,
and they will force you to leave your country.

Those with whom you have peace now will trick you and defeat you.
Those who eat meals with you now are planning to trap you, and then they will say to you, 'You are not as clever as you thought you were!'

8 I, Yahweh, declare that at the time that I destroy Edom,
I will punish the men who live in those cliffs who thought that they were wise.

9 The soldiers from Teman town will become terrified;
all you people who are descendants of Esau will be wiped out."

10 You acted cruelly to your relatives who are descendants of Jacob, the twin brother of your ancestor Esau. So now you will be disgraced, and you will be destroyed forever.

11 Foreigners entered the gates of Jerusalem and cast lots to share out among themselves the valuable things they found;

but you were as bad as those foreigners, because you just stood there and did not help the Israelites.

12 You should not have gloated about the disaster that the Israelites were experiencing.

You should not have been happy when their towns were ruined.

You should not have made fun of them when they were suffering.

13 They are my people, so you should not have entered their city gates when they were experiencing those disasters and you should not have laughed at them.

And you should not have taken away their valuable possessions.

14 You should not have stood at crossroads to catch those who were trying to escape.

You should not have captured them and put them into the hands of their enemies

when they were experiencing those disasters."

<sup>15</sup> "There will soon be the time when I, Yahweh, will judge and punish all the nations.

And you people of Edom will experience the same disasters that you caused others to experience.

The same evil things that you have done to others will happen to you.

<sup>16</sup> It is as though you drank a cup of very bitter liquid on Zion, my sacred hill. But I will punish all the other nations just as severely, and cause them to disappear completely.

<sup>17</sup> But some people in Jerusalem will escape, and Jerusalem will become a very holy place.

Then the descendants of Jacob will conquer and possess again the land that truly belongs to them.

<sup>18</sup> The descendants of Jacob and his son Joseph will be like a fire, and the people of Edom will be like stubble that will be completely burned in that fire.

Not one person will remain alive.

That will surely happen because I, Yahweh, have said it."

<sup>19</sup> The Israelites who live in the southern Judean wilderness are the ones who will capture Edom.

And those who live in the western foothills will capture the region of Phoenicia and the areas of Ephraim and Samaria.

And people of the tribe of Benjamin will conquer the region of Gilead.

<sup>20</sup> The great number of the people of Israel who were captured and taken away, they will return to the land, and they will capture the land that was ruled by the people of Canaan, and they will take possession of the land as far north as Zarephath.

Those people of Israel who were captured and taken away from Jerusalem, and who live in Sepharad, they will take possession of the cities in the Negev, which is the southern Judean wilderness.

<sup>21</sup> The army of Jerusalem will attack Edom and conquer it, and Yahweh will be their king.

Jonah

1 One day Yahweh said to the prophet Jonah son of Amitai, <sup>2</sup>"I have seen how wicked the people are who live in the great city of Nineveh. Therefore go there and warn the people that I am planning to destroy their city because of their sins." <sup>3</sup>But instead of going to Nineveh, Jonah went in the direction of the city of Tarshish, to get away from Yahweh. He went down to the city of Joppa. There he paid the money to travel on a ship that was going to the city of Tarshish, and he got on.

<sup>4</sup>Then he went down to a lower deck, lay down, and went to sleep. But Yahweh caused a very strong wind to blow, and there was such a violent storm that the sailors thought that the ship would break apart. <sup>5</sup>The sailors were very frightened. Because of that, they each started to pray to their own gods to save them. Then they threw the cargo into the sea to make the ship lighter so that it would not sink easily.

<sup>6</sup>Then the captain went down to where Jonah was sleeping soundly. He awoke him and said to him, "How can you sleep during a storm like this? Get up and pray to your god! Perhaps he will pity us and save us, so that we will not drown!"

<sup>7</sup>Then the sailors said to each other, "We need to cast lots, to determine who has caused all this trouble!" So they did that, and the lot indicated Jonah.

<sup>8</sup>So various ones of them asked him, "Who is the one who has caused us all this trouble?" "What work do you do?" "Where are you coming from?" "What country and what people do you belong to?" <sup>9</sup>Jonah replied, "I am a Hebrew. I worship Yahweh God, who lives in heaven. He is the one who made the sea and the land. <sup>10</sup>I am running away from Yahweh, he is the one who called me to be a prophet." After the sailors heard that, they were terrified. So they said to him, "Do you realize what trouble you have caused?"

<sup>11</sup>The storm kept getting worse and the waves kept getting bigger. So one of the sailors asked Jonah, "What should we do with you in order to make the sea become calm for us?" <sup>12</sup>He replied, "Pick me up and throw me into the sea. If you do that, it will become calm for you. I know that this terrible storm happened because I did not do what Yahweh told me to do."

<sup>13</sup>But the sailors did not want to do that. Instead, they tried hard to row the ship back to the land. But they could not do that, because the storm continued to get worse.

<sup>14</sup>Therefore they prayed to Yahweh, and one of them prayed, "O Yahweh, please do not say we are guilty if we make this man die; please do not kill us. O Yahweh, you have done what you wanted to do." <sup>15</sup>Then they picked Jonah up and threw him into the sea. Then the sea became calm. <sup>16</sup>When that happened, the sailors became greatly awed at Yahweh's power. So they offered a sacrifice to Yahweh, and they strongly promised him that they would do things that would please him.

<sup>17</sup>While they were doing that, Yahweh sent a huge fish that swallowed Jonah. Then Jonah was inside the fish for three days and three nights.

2 While he was inside the huge fish, Jonah prayed to Yahweh God, whom he worshipped.<sup>2</sup> Jonah said,

"Yahweh, when I was greatly distressed here, I prayed to you, and you heard what I prayed. When I was about to descend way down into the place where dead people go, you heard me when I called out for you to help me.

<sup>3</sup>You threw me down into the deep water, into the bottom of the sea. The currents you made in the sea swirled around me, and the huge waves crashed above me.

<sup>4</sup>Then I thought, 'You have banished me, and I will never be able to enter your presence again. But in spite of what you do to me, one day I will again see your holy temple in Jerusalem!'

<sup>5</sup>The water surrounded me and almost drowned me. Seaweed was wrapped around my head.

<sup>6</sup>I sank down to where the mountains start rising from the bottom of the sea. I thought that forever it would be as though my body would be in a prison inside the earth below me.

But you, Yahweh God, whom I worship, rescued me from going down to the place of the dead!

<sup>7</sup> When I was almost dead, Yahweh, I thought about you. You heard my prayer, up there where you are, in your holy temple.

<sup>8</sup> All those who worship worthless idols are rejecting you, the one who could act faithfully toward them.

<sup>9</sup> But I will sing to thank you, and I will offer a sacrifice to you. I will surely do what I have solemnly promised to do. Yahweh, you are the one who is able to save us."

<sup>10</sup> Then Yahweh commanded the huge fish to vomit out Jonah, and the fish vomited out Jonah onto the dry land.

3 Then Yahweh said to Jonah again, <sup>2</sup>"Go to that huge city of Nineveh, and tell them the message that I gave you previously."

<sup>3</sup> So this time Jonah obeyed Yahweh, and he went to Nineveh. That city was very big. A person had to walk for three days to completely go through it. <sup>4</sup> When Jonah arrived, he began walking through the city for one day. Then he started to proclaim to the people, "Forty days from now, Nineveh will be destroyed!"

<sup>5</sup> The people of Nineveh believed God's message. They all decided that everyone should begin fasting. So everyone, including all the important people and all the unimportant people, did that. They also put on coarse cloth, to show that they were sorry for having sinned.

<sup>6</sup> The king of Nineveh heard about Jonah's message. So he took off his royal robes, and he also put on coarse cloth. He left his throne and sat down where there were cold ashes, to show that he also was sorry for having sinned. <sup>7</sup> Then he sent messengers to proclaim to the people in Nineveh: "My advisors and I have decreed that no one may eat or drink anything. Do not even allow your animals to eat or drink. <sup>8</sup> Instead, every person must put on coarse cloth. Put coarse cloth on your animals, too. Then everyone must pray fervently to God. And everyone must stop doing evil actions, and stop acting violently toward others. <sup>9</sup> Perhaps, if everyone does that, God may change his mind and be merciful to us, and stop being very angry with us. If that happens, we will not die."

<sup>10</sup> When they all did that, God saw what they were doing, and he saw that they had stopped doing evil actions. So he pitied them, and he did not get rid of them as he had threatened to do.
